

John Fabian Whittaker Jubilarian

Birth: December 16, 1906 Profession: August 16, 1934 Ordination: May 31, 1940 Died: April 2, 1997

John Francis Whittaker was born in Boston, MA to James and Mary (Murphy) Whittaker. He attended St. Joseph Grammar School in Roxbury, MA. From there he went to Boston English High School (1920-1924) then on to Boston College (1924-1928) receiving a Ph.B degree. From that same institution he received the M.S. in chemistry the following year. He left his native Boston to begin a teaching career at Ohio State University where he taught for the next 5 years (1929-1933).

John entered the novitiate of St. Joseph's Province at St. Rose Priory, Springfied, KY in August 1933 taking the religious name Fabian. It was here that he made his simple profession a year later. He studied philosophy at the Dominican House of Studies in River Forest (1934-1937) and theology at the Dominican House of Studies in Washington, D.C. (1938-1941). He was ordained in that city at St. Dominic's Church by Michael J. Curley, Bishop of Baltimore.

His first assignment was to Providence College where he taught chemistry and philosophy (1941-1951). He served as Student Master at the House of Studies in Washington, DC (1951-1959). He returned to Providence College to resume his teaching of chemistry and philosophy. In 1964 he was assigned to Mt. St. Mary Motherhouse in Newburgh, NY as Chaplain. After 10 years in that position he became Chaplain at the sisters' infirmary. While laboring zealously to the infirmed of that community, he became ill. Here he died peacefully in the Lord. The Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated in New-burgh by Fr. Urban Voll, Provincial, with the homily preached by Fr. J. J. Sullivan, OP. He was buried at Newburgh.
