REVENGEFUL FRIARS OUT TO BE

Evil Band Infests Campus; Group To Kill Them Formed

Once again the clarion call of necessity is going forth to the four corners of our weedy campus (we don't really mean to disparage it, but we're sick, sick, sick of hearing it called "verdant," "kissing sweet," and other such nauseating things). Once again the trusty standard bearers of P.C. are asked to rise to the heights of altruism (or something) for the purpose of tending off disaster. Remember all those glorious times in the past when you fought for the cause? You do? Liar! Last September we asked you on bended knee to help us get rid of the mouse menace at Donnelly Hall, and what happened? Nothing. We finally had to hire one of the flutists in the ROTC band to charm them away. It ended up costing us twelve florins and a Pied Piper beanie.

Rat On Your Duties

This time, however, you cannot rat out on your duties so easily. This time it is a matter of vital concern, not only to us, but to you, all of you, as well.

If you have been out at that big hole behind Donnelly Hall any night around midnight, you will know what we are about to say. On the other

Father Doyle Given Life Membership In AMVETS Group

The Rev. Edward P. Doyle, O.P., Professor of Theology at the College, has been awarded life membership in the Amvets, according to a letter received here from Marshall E. Miller, National Commander of the Amvets. This group is a fraternal organization for World War II and Korean veterans.

Father Doyle, who was graduated from this college in 1914, has been an Amvets member for five years, and has served as Chaplain of its Rhode Island Department during that time. He is a native of Fall River, Mass.

During the last war he spent three years in the Army Chaplains Corps, and was attached to the 104th "Timberwolves" Infantry Regiment. Father Doyle entered the service as a First Lieutenant and was discharged with the rank of Major.

He accompanied the 104th on its tour through France, Holland, Belgium and Germany, and was with it at its famous meeting with the Russians at the Elbe. Father also spent one year with the 14th Armored Division in Germany. For his wartime services, Father Doyle was decorated with the Bronze Star, the European Theater Campaign Star, and the World War II Victory Medal.

The war's end found him in California waiting to go to the Pacific Theater.

Preparation For Marriage Is Topic Of Chaplain At Forum

"The most powerful force in all the world is love," stated the Rev. Charles H. McKenna, O.P., last Sunday evening in addressing the Sixth Annual Marriage Forum in Albertus Magnus Auditorium.

"The ancestry of the familiar saying 'love makes the world go round,' is long since lost in obscurity," said Father McKenna, Chaplain here at the College, "but the truth of the expression continues to gain widespread recognition among serious-minded and religious minded people."

Harvard's Prof. Gaus To Speak Tonight In Aquinas Lounge

John M. Gaus, Professor of Government at Harvard University, will address a group of business and political science majors this evening at 8 p.m. in the Aquinas Hall Lounge.

Professor Gaus, Past President of the Public Administrators Association, will discuss the function of the newly formed Rhode Island Chapter of this organization.

Since the seats in the Aquinas Lounge are limited, the attendance is restricted. Anyone who has not as yet arranged to attend the meeting and would like to do so, is requested to contact the Rev. Joseph U. Bergkamp, O.P., of the Political Science Department.

Professor John Gaus recently published a book on American history and government.

Trip To Washin Will Highlight Club's Spring T

The College Glee Club announced its schedule for this semester, the highlight of which will be a trip to the Nation's Capital April 19.

The Rev. Leo Cannon, O.P., closed that the concert has ranged with Trinity (Womalege of Washington, D. C. and patrons are now being s the junket to be made by fi bers of the club. Their sp will leave Providence on the the overnight stay will be in tinal Hotel in Washington

Another concert, possibly delphia, is being negotiated l Cannon. If plans for this co mpleted, the choristers m extension to their trip.

A St. Patrick's Day perfor the club is set for Bristol. bertus Magnus has extended idence singers an invitation 3, and it is expected that t will be accepted.

In addition to their present the Glee Club may also accey ments in New Rochelle, V and New Bedford. Howe latter concerts are still in print stage.

Over 350 people crowded into Albertus Magnus Auditorium, to hear Father McKenna tell of the problems of courtship and engagement. He outlined the preparation which are as "essential to marriage as to a successful career."

Compatibility Necessary

Father McKenna asserted that for a marriage to be a success there must be compatibility between the parties. "They must find out whether they can adapt themselves to a common life, to see whether their personal lives are compatible, whether their love can stand the test of sacrifice and persist through periods of difference and difficulty."

If they find that this is impossible and they are incompatible, he said, then there is only one thing to do, separate.

The period of engagement will prove to be the most dangerous, Father McKenna stated. This is because of the "frequent occasions when they are alone for a long period planning the future and the increased intimacy that comes as the day for the wedding gets closer."
