Faces Full Schedule

Jack Egan, above, former major league pitcher, umpire and baseball manager and present coach of the Providence College diamond forces, whose charges will play a 23-game schedule this year.

Providence College Nine

to Play 23-Game

Schedule This Spring

Brown to Make First Appearance at Hendricken Field, May 8

The Providence College baseball team will play 23 games this season, according to the schedule released today by John E. Farrell, graduate manager of athletics. Six opponents of last year will be missing on the 1937 list. The only newcomer will be Assumption College of Worcester, against whom the Friars will open their season at Hendricken Field on Saturday, April 10.

In the State series the Friars will play home and home games with Brown and Rhode Island State. Brown's appearance at Hendricken Field on May 8 in the first game will be its first since the colleges opened athletic relations. The second game will be played at Aldrich Field on May 15. Providence will meet Rhode Island at Kingston on May 1, and again at Hendricken Field on Memorial Day.

Efforts are being made by the Providence College Athletic Association to bring one or more major league teams to Hendricken Field on a late May or early June date. Last year the Friars met the Boston Red Sox in an exhibition contest at Hendricken Field. As soon as major league open dates are known exhibition games will be sought with the Yankees, the Tigers or one of the Boston clubs.

A four-game tour following the Assumption game will feature the early part of the schedule, with four consecutive games carded against St. John's University, Stroudsburg State Teachers, Villanova and Long Island University.

Two games will be played with Holy Cross and three with Boston College, the latter team closing the Providence schedule here on June 10, Commencement Day. The first game with the Crusaders will be staged in Worcester and has been moved from April to the end of May. Two of the Boston College games will be played here.

Dartmouth will come to Providence this year, and the Springfield game will be staged in Springfield for the first time. Thirteen games will be played in Providence, and the season will wind up with five straight home appearances by the Friar nine. The teams that have been dropped from this year's list are Princeton, Army, New Hampshire and Lowell Textile.

A FRIAR SHARPENS HIS BATTING EYE

Tom Hazell, veteran outfielder, fouled off this one in practice yester day, but he will put them over the heads of the infield when the season opens. Elton Deese is the catcher.

FRIARS EXPECTED TO SHOW POWER

Coach Egan Pleased with Hitting Possibilities as Squad Holds Practice.

Prospects for a big increase in hitting power on the Providence College baseball team appeared brighter as Coach Jack Egan sent his Friar squad through batting practice yesterday at Hendricken Field. Egan expects a banner year for several of his regulars and is pleased with the showing of the newer crop of Friars.

In recent seasons the Friars have not shown the punch at the plate that was necessary to win some of their major clashes, but Egan believes that his 1937 squad, which is well endowed with pitching strength, will be stronger than ever in hitting. Egan hopes to call the squad back during the Easter recess to take advantage of the opportunity for three full days' work while the rest of the college is on vacation.

While any one of the Friars may become the team's heavy hitter, the showing in batting practice yesterday brought several of the players to the fore ahead of their mates. Bill Murphy, a sophomore from Danbury, Conn., who was out of action during most of the last Freshman season with an injury, shapes up as one of the leading hitters on the 'Varsity.

Another promising candidate from last year's Freshman squad is Harold Martin, heavy-hitting outfielder, who now aspires to win the regular catching assignment on the 'Varsity nine. Martin will receive plenty of competition from Joseph "El" Deuse, Fall River product, who has all the requisites of a first-rate catcher.

Among the regulars, those playing with at least a year of service on the 'Varsity squad, Tom Hazell, top man of the Friar heavy hitters last year, and Ralph Coleman, who turned in the best average for the season, are the standouts. Fred "Lefty" Collins, ace southpaw of the staff, is a batting expert, far above what is usually a pitcher's average.

Leo Fischer, Coleman's rival at first base; Leo Ploski, one of the most agile infielders the Friars have ever had; Charlie Gallagher, consistently good as a hitter and fielder, are others who turned in fine work during yesterday's practice. It won't be long before Egan will order practice games for his squad, and not till then will he make any definite selections for a team to start against Assumption College here on April 10.

Football spring practice yesterday drew 32 players to Coach Joe McGee's outdoor school, and the Friar mentor accomplished several important duties that he has set for his out-of-season program. The return of Dick Vitullo to the Providence College football scene last week assures the Friars of a powerful set of fullbacks for next fall.

McGee has compiled a list of players that is just a notch under the 50 mark, and hopes to have a squad above that number out in the fall. Yesterday the players were sent through plays with two backfields in action. In the first set were Chick Pomfret, Dick Vitullo, George Springthorpe and Ray Bedard, and in the second set were Dom Minicucci, Larry Shattuck, Bill Spinnler and John Quimby.

He Who Hesitates, Breaks His Ankle!

DOMINICAN NINE NEARLY SETTLED

Only Spots Still Open for Assumption Tilt Are First Base, Mound.

Outside of first base and pitcher's box the Providence College baseball team that will open the Friars' schedule against Assumption College of Worcester at Hendricken Field tomorrow afternoon was settled at the end of yesterday's practice.

Coach Jack Egan believes he has one of the strongest defensive outfields since he took charge at the college. John "Wink" Crowley, former Cumberland high star, will play left field. Egan rates Crowley a much improved player and, while Crowley was highly capable last season, he has shown a sharper batting eye and greater speed this year.

Ed Bobinski, rangy New Haven product, will start in centre field. He, too, has shown improvement in hitting. Tom Hazell, of Brighton, Mass, hard-hitting star of last year's team, will hold forth in right field.

Right now there is no player on the club capable of removing Charlie Gallagher from third base. The Newton Senior has been a standout in practice, fielding in errorless style and getting his share of hits.

Bill Moge, Springfield junior, has fitted into the infield at shortstop after a year of capable work at third. The way Moge has handled his work in only two days of practice indicates that he is well able to hold the assignment.

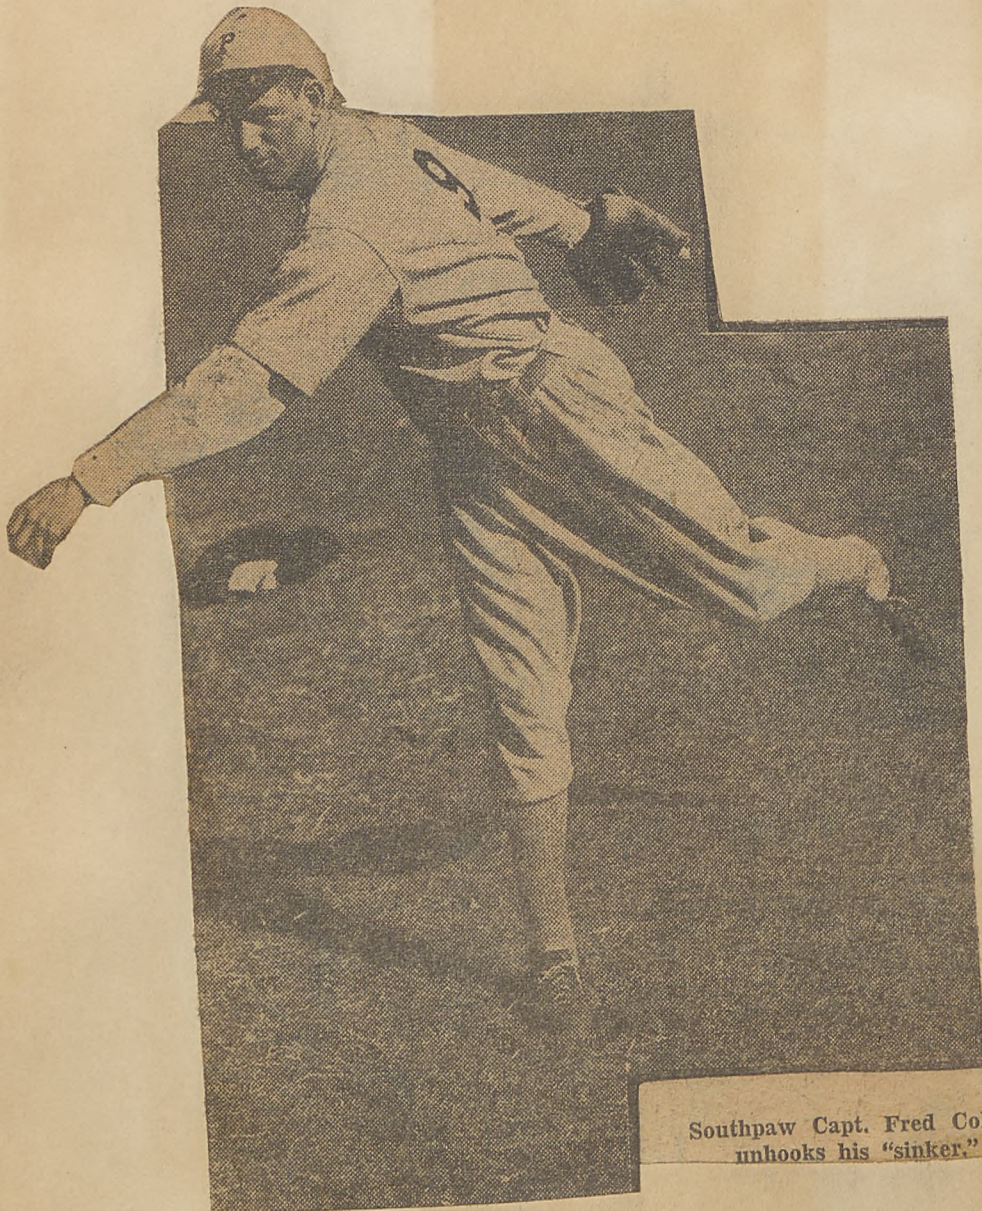

At second base will be Leo Ploski, Albany Junior. First base is still a toss-up with Ralph Coleman and Leo Fischer destined to alternate for a while.

* * *
Behind the bat it looks like Big Elt Deuse of Fall River. Deuse possesses one of the best throwing arms since the reign of George Tebbetts and he hits well, making him about the best all-round candidate for the spot.

The pitching choice loomed as a more difficult one after yesterday's practice for Paul Ryan, Haverhill Junior, moved up to the first rank with a fine day on the mound. Ryan was hit freely, but managed to keep the blows scattered most of the time. With a bit more practice the rugged Haverhill twirler will be ready to face an early Friar opponent.

Backed by extremely tight fielding Marshall Brooks allowed only two hits yesterday as the "Whites" chalked up a 6-1 decision over the "Blacks." The "Whites" garnered 11 hits off Ryan.

DATA BOOK GIVES P. C. NINE LINE-UP

Probable Starters Listed in Annual Publication of College A. A.

Baseball practice at Providence College was cut short yesterday because of the cold weather, but baseball talk on the campus received fresh impetus from the appearance of the varsity Baseball Data Book issued each season by the Providence College A. A.

Facts and figures compiled by Graduate Manager John E. Farrell for the information of sport correspondents in the cities the Friars visit are contained in the pamphlet. At this period of the year, before the Friar baseball season is officially under way, one of the items that is of chief interest on the Dominican campus is the "probable starting lineup" in the data book.

Coach Jack Egan and Manager Farrell put their heads together and some serious thinking about the line-up. All the players are given careful consideration and the resulting line-up is usually one that carries through the season without much change.

This season the battery choices will be changed from game to game more than usual, for the Friar squad boasts eight capable pitchers and four strong catchers. The rest of the squad of 27 players is divided into groups, nine infielders and six outfielders.

The probable starting line-up of the 1937 team is listed as follows: Leo Ploski of Albany, N. Y., second base; Charles Gallagher of Newton, Mass., third base; Ralph Coleman of Providence or Leo Fischer of Springfield, Ohio, first base; William Moge of Springfield, Mass., shortstop; Thomas Hazell of Brighton, Mass., or William Murphy of Danbury, Conn., right field; John Crowley of Cumberland, left field; Edward Bobinski of New Haven, centre field, and Alfred Hagstrom of Gloucester, Mass., catcher.

The top-ranking pitching corps is listed as follows: Capt. Fred Collins of New Milford, Conn., Karl Sherry of Pawtucket, Marshall Brooks of New Haven, Vic Lynch of West Caldwell, N. J., and Paul Ryan of Haverhill, Mass.

COLLINS ELECTED FRIAR CAPTAIN

Southpaw Pitcher Named to Lead 1937 Baseball Team.

Fred Collins, New Milford, Conn., Senior, was elected captain of the Providence College baseball team for the coming season at a meeting of the lettermen yesterday. Collins is a southpaw pitcher who has been one of the mainstays of the Friar nine since he entered the Dominican college as a Freshman in 1933.

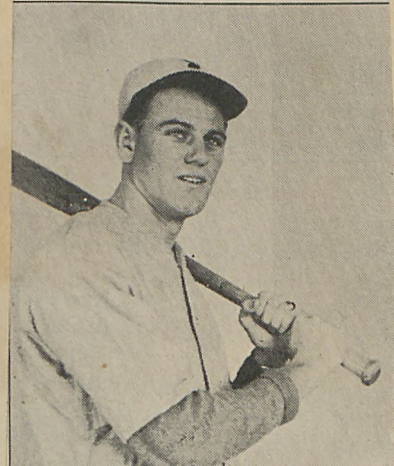

The announcement of Collins's election to the Friar captaincy was made last night by Coach Jack Egan at the conclusion of the showing of "Heads Up Baseball," the latest baseball picture produced by the American League. "Cy" Perkins of the Detroit Tigers gave a short talk on the fine points of the picture prior to its showing.

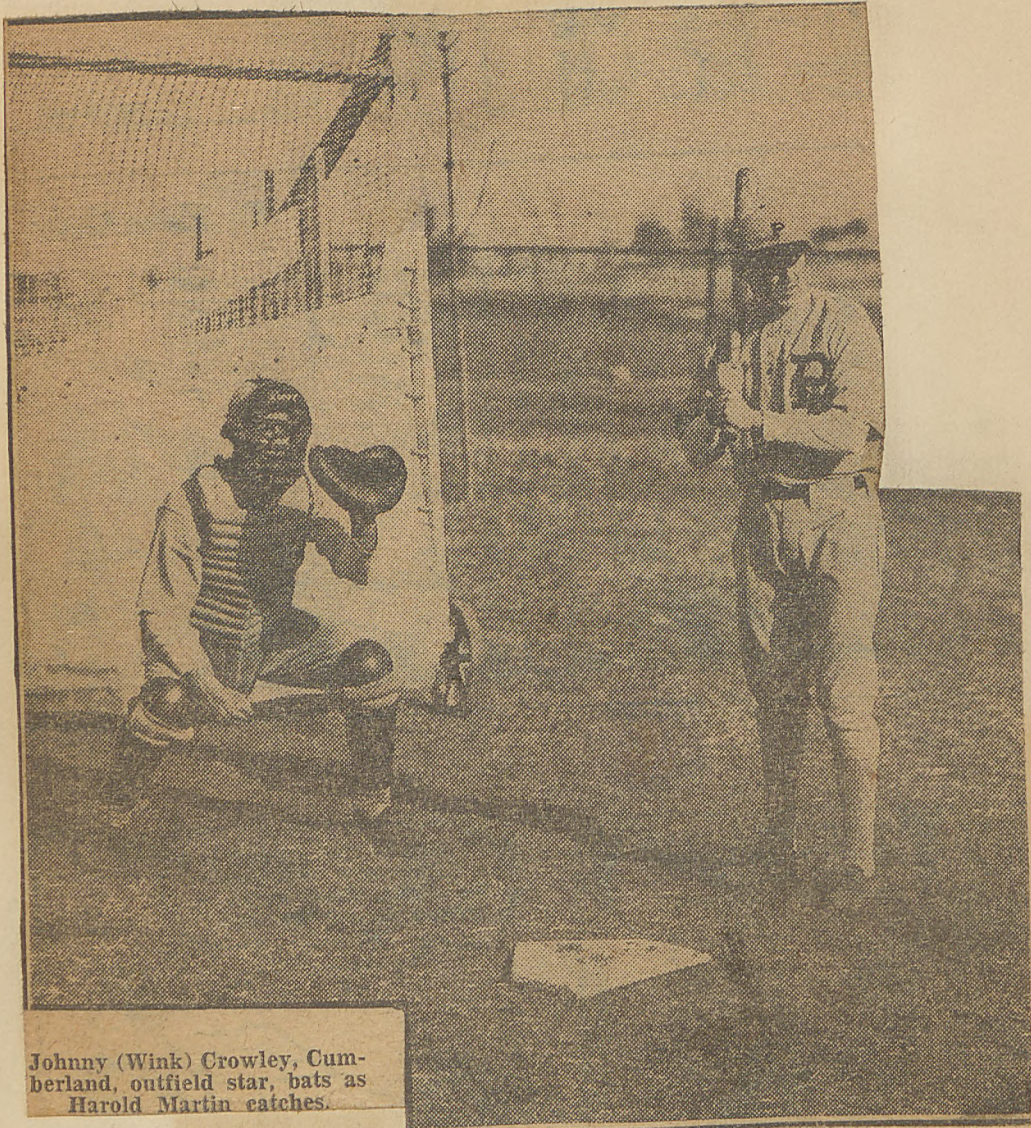

Several hundred students witnessed the picture in Harkins Hall and saw American League luminaries in action in their training camps, many problem plays, instructions in hitting and fielding and a short summary of the highlights of each of the last World Series games. Coach Jack Egan spoke briefly following the picture.

The new Providence College baseball captain is a letterman in basketball and baseball and recently withdrew from the court game to give all his attention to baseball. At New Milford High he played baseball for four years and basketball for three seasons. He was a member of the New Milford nine which annexed the Housatonic Valley League title several years in a row.

During his Freshman year Collins won three of the four games he started and was a member of the undefeated basketball team. As a Sophomore he enjoyed a fine season in baseball, winning eight of 11 games. Illness hampered his pitching last season, but he turned in five victories in eight games. Collins is a capable hitter and also a good outfielder.

Providence College's Friars tomorrow inaugurate their 1937 varsity baseball campaign at Hendricken Field against Assumption College of Worcester. The game also will mark Assumption's initial start of the season.

Rated on the hitting and pitching strength apparent in their pre-season drills, the Friars are top-heavy favorites to win over the invaders, who have but recently moved up to intercollegiate competition.

Two posts on the Friar starting array remained in doubt as Coach Jack Egan sought to name his strongest contingent for the season's opener. The Friar mentor's definite decision on the starter at first base and in the pitching box probably will not be made until game time.

Ralph Coleman of Providence and Leo Fischer of Springfield, O., have maintained a neck-and-neck race for the first base job throughout the early drills. Captain Fred "Lefty" Collins, southpaw ace of the Dominican mound corps, and Karl Sherry, veteran right hander, head the list of probable mound starters. Collins, because he is the leader of the Friar nine, doubtless will get the assignment, albeit Coach Egan would not announce a definite choice.

When the Friars move on to the Hendricken Field diamond to open against Assumption they will be starting a 23-game schedule. This game also marks the start of Coach Egan's third season as head mentor of baseball on Smith Hill.

Tomorrow's contest opens the second season of inter-collegiate baseball for the Worcesterites who are coached by Ed Skelly, former diamond star at Holy Cross. A year ago the Greyhounds won seven games in a 10-game schedule. The club boasts a veteran infield, a veteran catcher in Gene Berube and a veteran centre fielder in Tillie Frechette.

Leo Fischer, P. C. first baseman, and Bill Moge, Friar shortstop, are shown scoring on Ed Bobinski's double to left field. The Friars won, 13 to 0, in seven innings.

Friars Trounce Assumption 13 to 0 in Season's Opener

Capt. Collins Limits Worcester
Club to Five Hits and Fans
12 in Seven Innings

The Providence College baseball team pounded out a 13 to 0 victory over Assumption College of Worcester in the opening game for both colleges at Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon. The game was cut to seven innings by agreement of the coaches because of the cold weather.

Capt. Fred Collins, Friars' southpaw ace, had the opposition in check throughout the game. He struck out 12 of the 27 men who faced him and allowed only five hits. In the sixth inning, when the visitors bunched three singles to threaten, the Friar defence tightened and cut off the rally.

Providence made at least two hits in each inning. Lenny Cadorette, southpaw who started for the visitors, went to the showers in the fourth inning with the score 7-0 against him. The Friars made eight hits off his offerings. Leon Lampron, right-handed hurler, replaced Cadorette and had three runs scored against him before he retired the side in the fourth. The Friars belted Lampron's pitching for six hits and six runs.

Heading the Friars' hit parade were Leo Fischer, Charlie Gallagher, Leo Ploski and Ed Bobinski, each with a double. Capt. "Lefty" Collins had the best hitting average for the day with .667, for two out of three. The .500 hitters were Leo Ploski, Leo Fischer, and Elt Deuse, each with two out of four.

John "Wink" Crowley opened the scoring in the first inning. He singled to left, stole second and romped home on Fischer's two-bagger into deep right. Providence filled the bases in the third as Ploski singled. Gallagher doubled and Fischer was given an intentional walk.

Game played: April 10, 1937

Tom Hazell, Providence College right fielder, being put out at first by Roger Aubuchon of Assumption College.

The decision to walk Fischer placed Cadorette in a difficult spot. Moge grounded sharply to the box and Cadorette caught Ploski at home plate, but the Assumption hurler was unable to bear down and issued three walks to send in three runs.

In the fourth inning Cadorette strained his ankle in making a delivery and hobbled off the field after the Friars had put over three more runs with none out. Lampron issued a walk and a single and three more Friar runs crossed the plate before the side was retired.

Deuse's single, passes to Crowley and Ploski and a fumble by Gene Berube, Assumption catcher, resulted in three runs for the Friars in the sixth. Collins, who started auspiciously by striking out the first three men to face him, struck out Roland Achin, pinch hitter, to end the game.

The Assumption players who turned in the best defensive work for the visitors were Tillie Frechette in centre field and Norman Pelletiere in left. The entire Friar cast turned in steady play in the field and each of the nine starters contributed at least one hit to the total.

About 300 brave fans huddled in the stands to witness the contest. Many of them left in the fourth inning after the Friars had taken a 10-0 lead.

It was worth the price of admission to see Capt. Fred "Lefty" Collins, in top pitching form, mow down the first four men to face him. Collins was bothered by illness last year, at this time, but now is apparently ready for a banner season.

The Friars used only nine men. This team will bear much of the burden during the season and practice sessions have been all too few in the opinion of Coach Jack Egan. In spite of the one-sided score he kept them in there for the experience.

Gloomiest player on the field—Roger Aubuchon, Assumption first baseman, after he dropped an easy fly.

Happiest player on the field—Bill Moge, Friar shortstop, after he singled in the fifth. Up to that time Bill was the only Friar who had not hit safely.

Collins Fares but Little Better.

(Special to the Providence Journal)
Dexter Park, Brooklyn, N. Y.,
April 14—The Providence College varsity nine opened its four-game road trip here today by scoring a 7 to 6 victory over the strong St.
John's University team, conqueror of Princeton and undefeated in its four previous starts this spring. The Friars were outhit two to one, but managed to bunch their seven blows and to play fine defensive ball.

Fred Collins, captain of the Friars, had to come to the rescue of Karl Sherry, starting pitcher, in the fourth inning. Collins fared little better, however, giving up eight hits and five passes.

* * *
Bill Moge and Leo Ploski shared the hitting honors for the Friars, the former getting two safe hits in four trips, while Ploski put Providence out in front in the third inning with an exceptionally long home run drive over the right field fence 340 feet from home plate.
Sherry, who had singled, was on first at the time.

* * *
Unable to spot Larry Shea's fast ball at the beginning of the game, no less than six of the first eight Providence batters were retired on strikes. Sherry came through with the first hit and then Ploski made the circuit.

In the fourth Fischer was hit in the leg, moved to second on Moge's first single and to third when Shea juggled Hazell's roller. Then after Bobinski flied to short centre, Deuse was walked, forcing in Fischer.

A single by Zenir, followed by Polzer's long double which Crowley trapped in deep left, set the stage for the St. John's rally in the fourth and paved the way for Sherry's withdrawal. With two out, Salerno pushed a scratch hit through the box and both runners counted. Hagen singled to left, and Coach Egan called for Collins

Game played: April 14, 1937

Crowley opened the fifth by tripping to left and Ploski drew a walk. Shea tried to pick him off first and the throw was wild. Crowley scored and Ploski moved to third from where he tallied when Fischer skied to centre.

St. John's came right back in its half of the inning to add two runs. Collins walked Tallon, Sheehan singled and Zenir drew a pass. A fast double play, Moge to Fischer, relieved some pressure. Although a run scored on the play. A moment later Amoroso poked a roller to Ploski's left and Sheehan came home from third.

The Friars counted their winning margin in the eighth when they forced Shea to retire. Moge singled to centre and Hazell moved him up. Bobinski drove a line drive into left and Moge tallied. Bobinski moved up to third on the throw-in. Deuse hit to Shea, and Bobinski was run down between the bases, but Deuse reached second. He brought in the winning run when Collins laced a single to right.

Collins's unsteady pitching filled the bases in both the sixth and seventh innings, but he escaped without damage. In the sixth Ploski retired the side on a fine pickup of Zenir's grounder, and in the seventh the Friar captain broke up the attack by striking out Shea. However, in the eighth, singles by Tallon and Sheehan, followed by Zenir's infield out, and then Polzer's third hit of the game, accounted for two more St. John's runs.

Tomorrow, the Friars meet the State Teachers' College at Stroudsburg, Pa., and then move to Villanova on Friday.

Coach Egan plans to use Marshall Brooks against the Teachers, and Paul Ryan against Villanova.

STROUDSBURG TEACHERS TRIM FRIARS

P. C. BEATEN, 2-1; PIESTRAK YIELDS BUT FIVE BINGLES

Brooks Walks Six; Paves Way for Winning Run in Seventh.

(Special to the Providence Journal)
East Stroudsburg, Pa., April 15.—
Henry Piestrak, sophomore right hander from Wilkesbarre, held the touring Providence College nine completely in check here this afternoon to give the State Teachers College a 2-1 victory, the second triumph the locals have registered over the Friars in eight years.

The teams meet again a week from Saturday at Providence.

The game was eight innings by agreement, and although the rainstorm drove the players from the field for a minutes at the end of the sixth inning, nothing seemed to bother Piestrak. He yielded but five hits, four of which went to Moge and Brooks, and his fine change of pace and varied assortment of slow curves kept him out of trouble throughout.

Marshall Brooks, starting pitcher for the Friars, was unsteady, and although not hit hard he aided his own downfall by his liberal distribution of passes. Six men drew walks, the last one eventually scoring.

With the score tied in the seventh, and time running out due to a pre-game agreement to halt the game at 5:30, Jack Egan sent Elt Deuse in to catch in place of Martin to forestall any base stealing on the part of the locals. However, Brooks walked Gregoria, the first batter to face him.
Murray dropped the expected bunt, and was tagged out by Brooks. Bly-sak pumped a slow roller to Ploski, who completed the play to first for the out as Gregoria moved along to third. Then Capt. Henning hit hard through the box and Gregoria scored the deciding run.

Game played: April 15, 1937

In the eighth Brooks tried to repair some of the damage by lacing a single to centre, but he was forced at second a moment later on Crowley's roller. Ploski grounded out to end the game.

Brooks and Martin provided the only scoring punch when they touched Piestrak for successive doubles in the third inning. The fielding of the Friars was below form, with only Hazells's fine running catch of Leininger's bid for a triple in the sixth outstanding.

Tomorrow Providence moves on to meet the strong Villanova nine, which yesterday blanked Pennsylvania. Paul Ryan, Haverhill junior, will endeavor to give the Friars better pitching than they have had so far on their trip, while Elt Deuse will return to the catching post which he relinquished to Martin for today's game.

After nibbling away at the edges of their schedule the Villanova baseball team returned to the home loam to sink the Providence Friars yesterday afternoon. Coach Doc Jacobs' team put together an assortment of four hits and a pair of bases on balls and a stray error or so for seven first-inning runs that were the highlight of the 9-4 decision they gained over the Rhode Island nine on the Maine Line field.

The victory also marked the first victory gained by Southpaw Pitcher Bill McLaughlin, but it wasn't a well-rounded triumph for the Camden youth. After pitching superb ball for five innings the big port-sider uncorked a series of wild pitches in the sixth to give the aliens two runs. Taking no chances Coach Jacobs straightway pulled out his ace and sent Sophomore Joe Desmond to the hill.

(Special to the Providence Journal)
Villanova, Penn., April 16.—A wild first inning which netted seven runs assured the Villanova College nine of victory over Providence College here this afternoon. The final score was 9 to 4.

Paul Ryan was the starting hurler for the Friars, but he was forced to yield his post to Karl Sherry with but one out in the opening stanza.

Sheftic, first Villanova batter of the day, was hit by Ryan, and then Bond drew a walk. Stoviak singled to right and Hazell let the ball go through his legs, allowing Sheftic to score and Bond to reach third. Garbark skied to right, and then Del Umo pushed a hit past second to score Bond and move Stoviak to second. Wannemacher followed with a long double to left field to bring in the third Wildcat score, and Coach Egan of the visitors called Sherry from the pen.

Sherry walked Crawley, filling the bases. Len Merullo, South Boston sophomore, pushed a slow grounder to short and Moge made the play to second too late for a force-out and all hands were safe with another run registering. McLaughlin forced Merullo at second when he grounded to Ploski, but Wannemacher scored. Sheftic, up for the second time in the inning, drew a walk.

Bond cleared the right field stadium wall for a double, sending in Villanova's sixth and seventh runs. The free scoring was halted at this point when Crowley gathered in Stoviak's fly into left.

The Friars made a valiant effort to get back into the game, but it was not until the fourth that they were able to score. In that frame, with two out, Moge was ruled out of the game by Plate Umpire Dillon for objecting to a decision, and Collins went to bat for him. On the first pitch the Friar captain smashed one of the longest home runs made on the local field, the ball landing far over in the football stadium.

FRIARS LOSE TO L. I. U., 6-4

DOMINICANS LOSE AFTER BAD START

Long Island Gets Four Runs in Opening Inning to Assure Victory.

Dexter Park, Brooklyn, N. Y., April 17.—Once again a fatal first inning proved the undoing of the Providence College nine as the Friars bowed, 6 to 4, to Long Island University here this afternoon.

The Black Birds, registering their ninth straight win of the season, took to the offerings of Fred Collins in the opening inning and, after two were out, collected four hits and as many runs. The defeat was the third straight for the Friars and concluded a four-game trip to this district.

Providence went away to a one-run lead in the first half of the opening inning, when Crowley, leading hitter of the Friars on their trip, singled to left. On a hit-and-run play, Ploski punched out the first of his hits, a bounder into right which sent Crowley to third and thence home when Mitchell juggled the ball and pegged late to the plate.

This lead was short-lived. Grant, lead-off batter, singled to left, but Jankowsky flied to Hazell, Fonte forced Grant at second when Moge handled the chance on a roller. The danger was apparently over, but Abramowitz, Long Island's slugging first baseman, thought otherwise, and drove Bobinski to deep centre for his three-base fly. Rocklein pumped a hit past Ploski into right field, scoring Abramowitz, and Caruso followed with a single to the same spot.

On a hit-and-run play, Mitchell came through with a hard smash to deep right which Hazell just missed catching. Rocklein and Caruso tallied on the hit. Collins continued unsteady, and walked Lowe, but Pearlman ended the inning by flying out to Bobinski.

Providence lost a fine scoring chance in the third, Crowley opened with a single and Gallagher was safe on an infield error, but when Ploski tried to move the runners up, his bunt was fielded to third to force Crowley, and then Collins popped out weakly to short, and Moge grounded out.

Game played:

April 17, 1937

In the sixth the Friars picked up a run when Ploski singled, stole second and scored on Hazell's double along the left field foul line.

Long Island added its fifth and sixth runs in the last of the sixth to take a commanding lead. With one out, Mitchell singled into centre and Lowe followed with a drive to right. Hazell made a long throw into third trying to get Mitchell, and on the peg home dashed safely to second. Pearlman rolled to Fischer, who held the runners on base and then tossed to Ploski, covering first, for the out. Grant hit between third and short and Moge made a strong but unsuccessful try for a pick-up, with Mitchell scoring Long Island's fifth run. Lowe romped in with the final score a moment later when Deuse let one of Collins's fast shoots get away from him.

Playing the best ball they have shown to date, the Friars came back in their half of the seventh to collect two scores. Deuse opened the inning by drawing a walk, and Bobinski sent him around to third when he doubled hard down the right field lane. Crowley grounded to short and while he was being tossed out Deuse scored. Gallagher bounced a hit off Janowsky, who played a brilliant game at short for the locals, and Bobinski scored. Ploski continued the barrage with a single to right, but Brooks, hitting for Collins, struck out, and Moge forced Ploski at second. Brooks took over the pitching work for the final two innings and aside from the walk granted to Lowe, not a man reached first.

The hitting of Crowley and Ploski, and the fine field work of the latter, was only surpassed by the spectacular work afield of Jankowsky of the Black Birds, who handled 11 chances with but one error.

Karl Sherry Will Hurl for Friars

Against Strong Dartmouth Nine

Hammond May Go to Shortstop

Former Pitcher May Take Over Moge's Spot
in Lineup

Karl Sherry, top ranking right-hander of Jack Egan's mound staff, will be the Providence College pitching choice for tomorrow's important clash on Hendricken field with Dartmouth. The Indians from the North have set a fast pace in early season campaigning, and after a successful Southern tour opened their defence of the Eastern Intercollegiate League title by defeating Pennsylvania last Saturday, 5 to 2.

Last spring the Friars managed to eke out a win over Dartmouth up in New Hampshire when Frankie Zavadskis pulled through with a 7 to 6 verdict in a game that was halted when darkness made playing conditions unfavorable. Zavadskis is no longer with the Friars, having entered a Dominican novitiate in California to prepare for the priesthood.

As Dartmouth tied Harvard for the league title last year, the non-league defeat at the hands of the Friars was a sore spot with many of the players, and they will be anxious to upset the Eganmen tomorrow at the Smith Hill diamond. Either Fred Bruce, a senior, or Carl Ray, Varsity football centre for the past three years, will be favored with the pitching work for Dartmouth. Both are experienced hurlers, and the Friars will need to show more hitting strength than they have to date if they hope to emerge on the long end of the score.

HOME TOWN RIVALS

The rival catchers, Urban of Dartmouth and Deuse of the locals, provided the latter gets the starting call, will have much in common, as both are Fall River products and have waged many a battle in their home city in baseball competition. Urban prepared at Worcester Academy after he was graduated from Durfee high. There is a strong possibility that Gus Hagstrom, Friar senior, will be given the catching assignment tomorrow, however, as the Gloucester lad has recovered from the arm injury which prevented his making the trip to New York and Pennsylvania last week.

April 22, 1937

Far from satisfied with the work of Bill Moge at shortstop, Coach Egan is toying with the idea of moving Tom Hammond in at that position. Hammond, a jack of all trades on a diamond, has confined his work to pitching the past three years, although he is the type of player who is ready to fill in where needed to round out a team. His play at short the past week has been very good, and there is a strong possibility that he will get a chance at the post either tomorrow, or when the Friars entertain Stroudsburg here on Saturday afternoon.

GALLAGHER SAFE ON THIRD

Moge is a good third baseman, the position he played last spring, but he doesn't cover enough ground to satisfy for the shortfield work. And Charlie Gallagher is turning in such a fine job at third base there is little likelihood that he will be moved back to the outfield again. Coleman is still pushing Fischer for first base, and if the latter doesn't show some hitting power soon, the local lad will edge his way back into the lineup.

The tops in the outfield is "Wink" Crowley, protege of Barney Norton of Cumberland. Crowley shapes up as one of the best of the long run of flychasers the Friars have had the past decade. In spite of his lack of heavy weight, he hits hard, has a strong throwing arm, and covers his field with the idea that every ball hit should be caught.

Bobinski has been dropped in the batting order, and apparently the shakeup had its effect for he hit hard against Long Island. If Bobinski and Hazell fail to hit this week-end, Coach Egan will undoubtedly consider the possibility of using Fred Collins in the outfield when he is not pitching.

DARTMOUTH, 11-5

Sherry's Hurling, Support Keep Green Bats in Check

Hagstrom Gets Three for Four,
Drives in Three Runs;
Fielding Gems Many.

Providence College overcame the "first inning jinx" that has proved disastrous in two recent games and handed Dartmouth's baseball team an 11 to 5 setback at Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon. In spite of the cold weather and intermittent rain the game was well played.

Dartmouth scored three runs in the opening inning, but Providence came right back and tied the score in their half. The Friars went ahead in the second frame, never to be headed.

* * *

The steady hurling of Karl Sherry, right-hand ace, and strong support by his mates made Dartmouth's 11 hits almost fruitless. Sherry issued no passes, struck out four and spiked the gun of the Indians' clean-up batter, Ed Casey, who had three chances in four times at bat to send home needed runs.

Providence made six hits off Carl "Mutt" Ray, right-hander, and another half dozen off the southpaw curves of Bud Clifford, Dartmouth sophomore. All were singles, but, coupled with four passes from Ray and two from Clifford and a pair of sacrifices, they brought the Friars 11 runs.

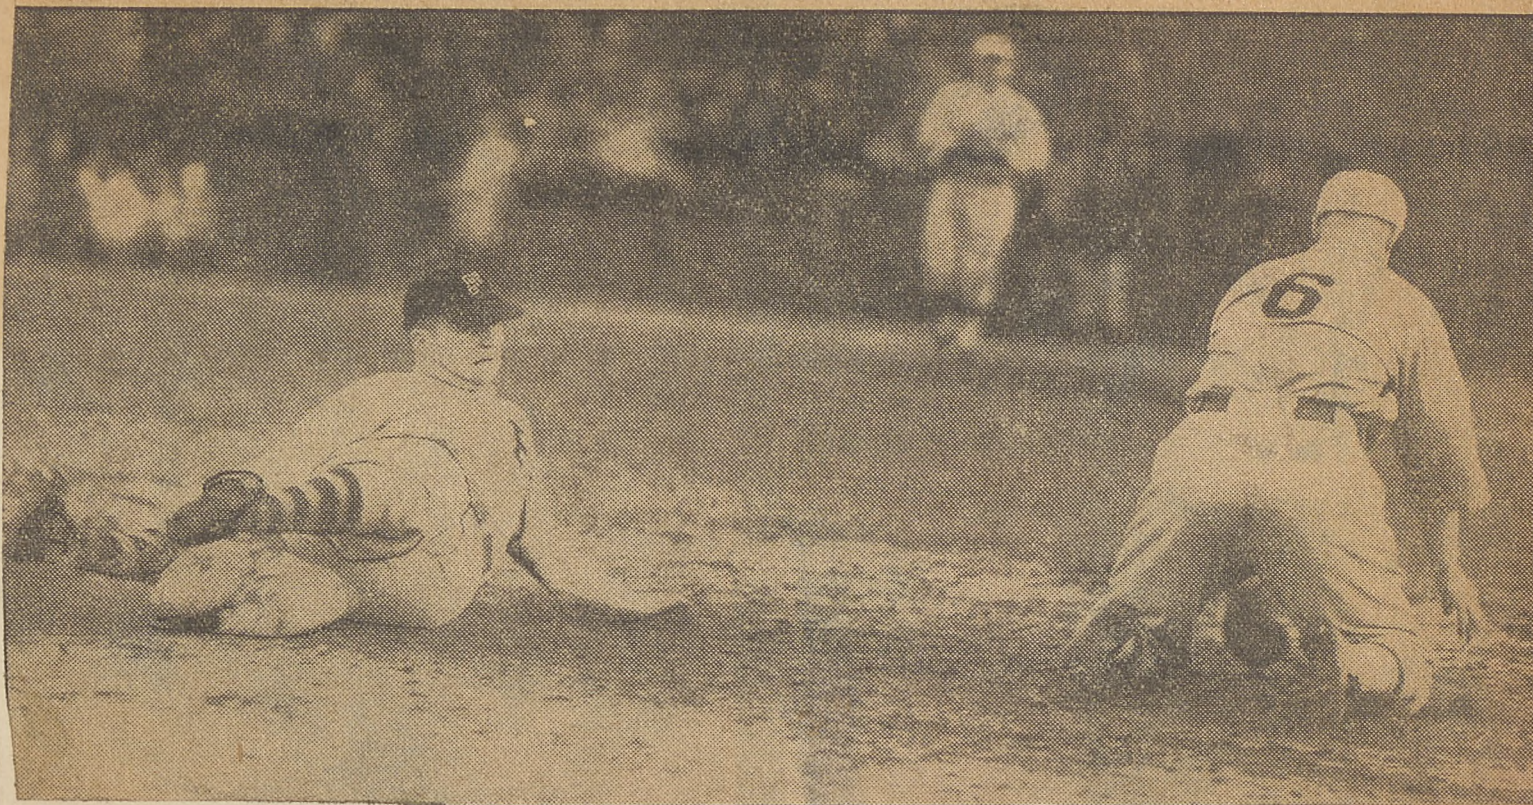

Gus Hagstrom, Friar catcher, was the hitting star of the Providence cast, driving in three runs with three singles in four tries. Bill Moge, Tom Hazell and Ed Bobinski made two singles each. Capt. Ray Ratajczak, Dartmouth's smart shortstop, had two doubles and a single, and Buddy McLaughlin a triple to top the Indians' hitting. Ratajczak and Brad Jenkins at third turned in fine fielding work for the visitors.

Throw Was Wide, Moge Takes Unnecessary Slide

Bill Moge, Friar third baseman, rapped a "hot" grounder down to Brad Jenkins, Dartmouth third sacker, in the third inning of the Providence-Dartmouth game at Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon. He streaked for first and is shown above sliding safely into the canvas. Jenkins found the grounder too "hot" to handle and made a wide throw. Bill's noble effort was wasted as he was caught in a double play soon afterwards. The Friars won 11 to 5.

Spectacular fielding plays were numerous. Leo Ploski, Friar second baseman, had to make a backward somersault to complete a leaping glove-hand catch of a short fly. Bill Moge just got one hand under a foul fly and Tom Hammond raced back to take a pop to short centre. Gus Hagstrom roared toward the Friar bench in the last inning to snare a foul fly that to all appearances was out of reach. Each team made one double play.

Dartmouth opened with three runs. Hanna's roller along the third base line stayed on the playing field for a scratch hit and the tricky wind blew Ratajczak's fly to centre out of Bobinski's reach. McLaughlin rapped a clean single to left and Crowley's accurate peg bounced off Hanna's legs as he raced home.

Sherry raced after the ball, which had stopped up against the first-base stand, and Hagstrom caught Ratajczak at the plate. According to a ground rule agreed on before the game, Ratajczak was entitled to score and the run was allowed.

* * *

Sherry forced Casey, fourth Indian batter, to roll out to the box. Loveday sent McLaughlin home with a single to centre, but was caught off first on a snap-throw by Sherry. Jenkins beat out a slow grounder to Ploski. Tesreau struck out to end the scoring.

Providence evened the count with singles by Hammond, Ploski, Moge and Hazell, following a base on balls to Crowley. Crowley drew another pass in the second inning, went to second and scored as Ray lost control and made two wild pitches.

Bobinski added run No. 5 in the fourth as he walked, was moved to second by Hagstrom's sacrifice, and scored when Jenkins's throw to Tesreau, on Sherry's grounder, got away from the Dartmouth first baseman. The Friars gained two more runs in the fifth as a result of Ray's wildness, another error by Tesreau and Hagstrom's long drive to the centre field fence, which was held to a single.

Dartmouth rallied in the seventh to send in two runs as the Providence fielders committed a couple of errors and Ratajczak and McLaughlin banged a double and triple off Sherry. Ray left the game at the end of the sixth and Clifford took up the burden, but fared poorly.

With Dartmouth's seventh-inning threat stopped, the Friars took to Clifford's style with relish and collected four more runs.

FRIARS DEFEAT TEACHERS, 8-7

Nip Stroudsburg Uprising in Ninth with One Run in,
Two Men On.

Providence College just managed to check a last inning rally by Stroudsburg to defeat the Teachers, 8 to 7, at Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon in a loose exhibition of baseball. The close victory for the Friars gave the teams an even split in their home and home series as Stroudsburg won the first encounter, 2-1, 10 days ago.

Errors in the field and pitching were the factors that made the game anybody's contest up to the last inning. Providence held a 3-0 lead at the end of three innings, but Stroudsburg tied the score, 3-3, in the fourth. The Friars had the better of the going until the sixth when Stroudsburg staged another rally and drew up, 7-6.

In the sixth inning Tom Hammond, Friar shortstop, made a move that eventually proved to be the factor that won the game for the home club. First up in the inning the Fall River boy drove a triple to deep centre. Leo Ploski, P. C. second baseman, rapped a sharp grounder to short. Hammond hesitated till Henning threw to first and then raced for home plate, beating out Franklin's peg by a foot.

Wally Doolan, Friar hurler, who relieved Brooks in the fourth, faltered in the ninth and Stroudsburg took advantage of his slump to start a rally that netted one run, and just missed a victory. Coach Jack Egan rushed Karl Sherry, Friar ace, into the game at this point with one out and two men on the sacks. Keller singled off Sherry to score a run, making the count, 8-7, for Providence.

The 500 spectators probably expected the game to blow wide open when Stroudsburg had the bases full as Sherry walked Gregoria but the Pawtucket boy pitched his way out of the hole. He forced Murray to foul out to Deuse and Blysak to ground out to the box to end the game, with Stroudsburg's tying and winning runs still on the bases.

Safe At This Point, But He Was Later Put Out

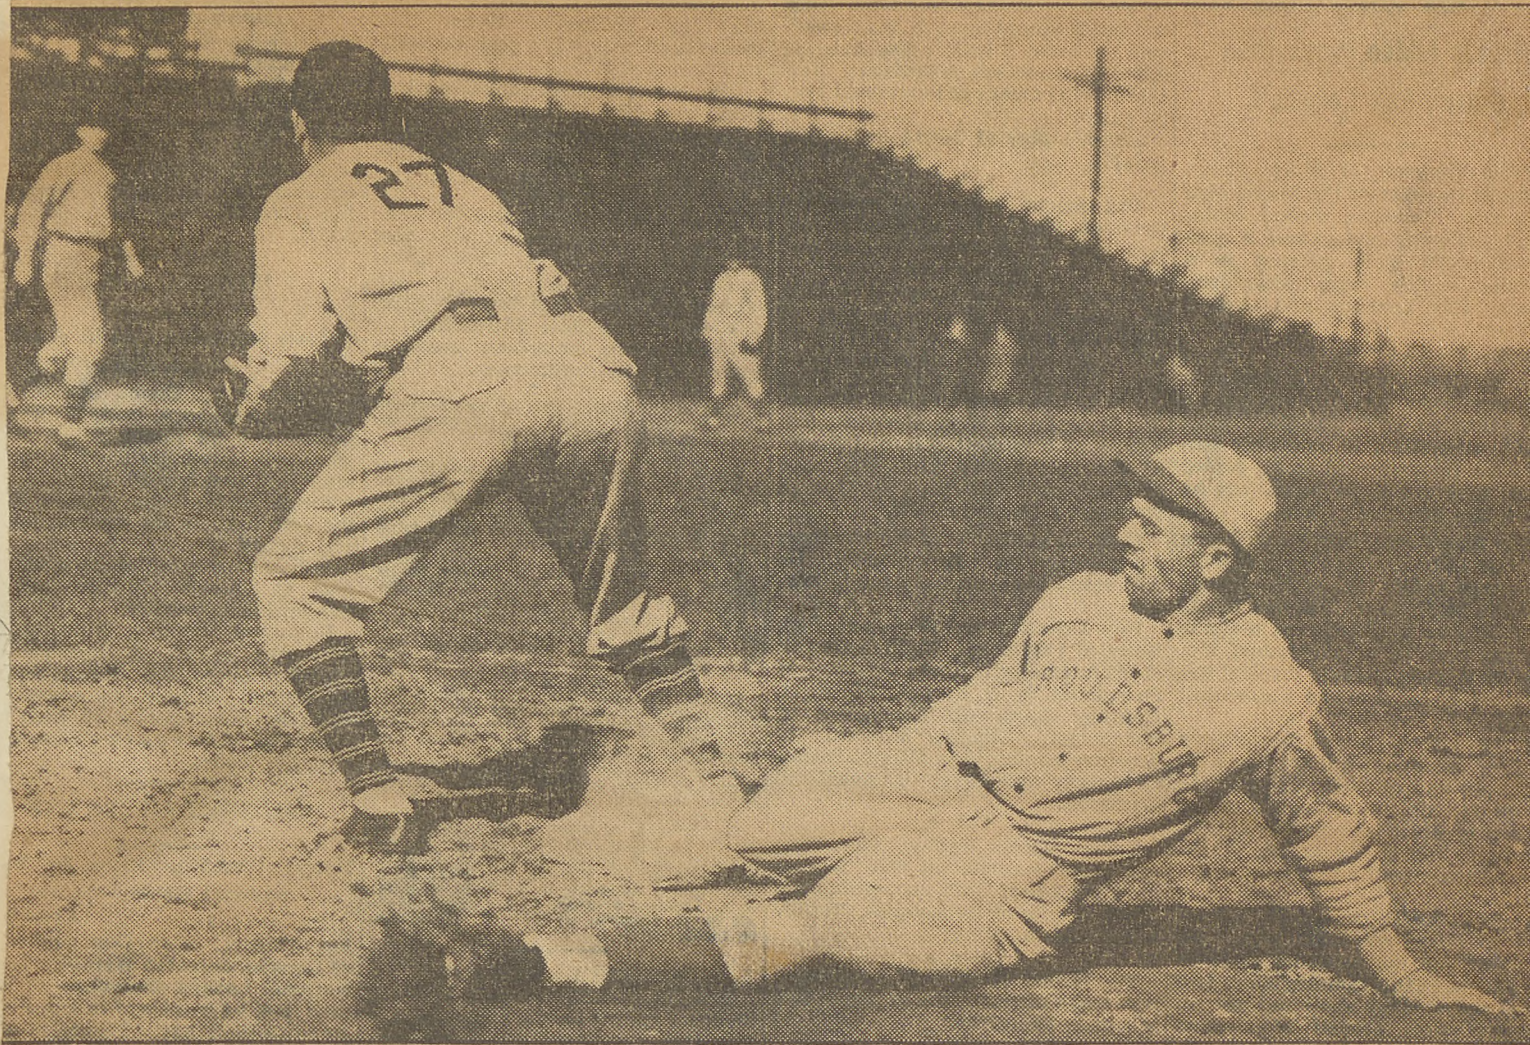

Photo shows Leininger of Stroudsburg Teachers safe at first base after Pitcher Marshall Brooks of Providence College had tried to catch him off the bag. Leininger was later put out trying to steal second. Ralph Coleman is the Friar first baseman. The Dominicans won 8 to 7.

Providence collected 14 hits from Henry Piestrak. Stroudsburg collected 13 hits, getting to Brooks in the fourth for three runs and to Doolan in the sixth for three more.

Noel Doyle took the hitting honors for the Friars with a double and two singles. Hammond, Ploski and Bobinski each banged out a triple and Ploski had a double.

Doyle scored the Friars' first run in the second inning on his single, a Stroudsburg error and Bobinski's Texas Leaguer. Providence scored two more in the third. Hammond singled, Ploski lined out a triple and Doyle beat out a grounder to short.

Bobinski's triple paved the way for two more tallies in the fourth. Bobinski beat the throw home on Gariepy's long drive to left. Crowley drew a pass, stole second and scored on Hammond's ripper into centre.

The Friars added a couple in the fifth, Doyle doubled, Hazell beat out a rap to short. Henning erred on Doolan's hard grounder, permitting Doyle and Hazell to score. Hammond squeezed out the eighth P. C. run in the sixth.

Gariepy singled in the seventh and went to second on Doolan's roller. Gariepy was struck on the head and knocked out moments later when Piestrak tried to catch him off second. Ahern ran for Gariepy. The Friars went out in this inning on three pop-ups.

In the eighth Ploski hit a double but was caught off second. Coleman singled immediately after this play. Doyle and Hazell popped out.

Brooks went to pieces in the fourth, issuing three passes, hitting a player and allowing a single and a double.

Stroudsburg hit Brooks and Doolan freely. Gregoria's double to right was the visitors' only extra base blow but they collected a dozen singles to stay with the Friars to the last. Gregoria, Henning, Piestrak and Hontz were the Teachers' hitting stars.

Yale-Friars Face Today In Ball Tilt

Eddie Bobinski and Marshall Brooks Coming With Providence to Yale Field.

Playing what will be its next-to-last game before taking to the road for more than three solid weeks, Yale's baseball team will meet Providence College at Yale Field this afternoon at four o'clock. Yale defeated Providence last year, 4-2, behind Lou Waker's fine pitching. Coach Joe Wood probably will use Moe Jubitz, his Sophomore southpaw, against the Friars.

John Egan, Providence coach, will pitch his captain, Fred Collins, a New Milford boy, against the Blue. Eddie Bobinski, the former Hillhouse star, will play center field. The team is essentially a veteran organization, only one Sophomore, Elton Deuse, having a chance to start.

Marshall Brooks, New Haven boy and Providence's senior hurler, faced Stroudsburg on Saturday, and so will hardly be in line for service this afternoon, unless in a relief role.

Providence has not compiled too brilliant a record so far this season. It defeated Assumption, 13-0, in its first game and St. John's of Brooklyn, 7-6 in its second. It then lost, however, to Stroudsburg Teachers, 2-1, Villanova, 9-4, and Long Island 2-1, Villanova, 9-4. It defeated Dartmouth, 11-5, Friday though, and beat Stroudsburg, 8-7 in a return game Saturday.

Clyde Engle's Freshman team, which has been playing games at a furious rate this month, will play Providence's Freshman nine on Freshman Field at the same time. It is the first time that these two Freshman teams ever have played.

Greg Doonan Bats In 3, Scores Once For Elis

Fred Collins, Friars Southpaw, Is Loose on Mound and Gives Out 12 Bases on Balls—Walks Three in Row to Force in Run in Seventh—Kohlman Kills Off Home Run Threat

By DANIEL F. MULVEY
Sports Editor

A pair of southpaw flingers, Moe Jubitz of Yale and Capt. Fred Collins of Providence College, hooked up in a mound duel yesterday and allowed seven and six hits, but Collins was otherwise loose and he came out on the wrong end of a 4 to 1 score.

Both portsidiers found themselves in trouble too many times during the contest, but Jubitz managed to extricate himself on all occasions except in the third frame when three consecutive hits and an error by Bill Loveday brought in the only Providence run.

Jubitz passed seven batsmen, but he struck out seven, too, and he made it impressive by striking out three of the four men who faced him in the ninth.

On the other hand Collins franked a dozen men to first, struck out five, and allowed his offerings to be belted, by Greg Doonan especially, when they counted most.

Doonan got to Collins for three hits in five times up, one of them a double, and he drove in three of the Eli runs. Doonan may not be so hot on the bags himself, but he knew what to do when they were populated yesterday and he added a bit of his own ambling to score. Thus he can be given credit for the entire score—three batted in and one he tallied himself.

Yale again showed how to get runs without hitting as it did in winning over Penn on Saturday—that is, without prolific hitting and in one inning without hitting at all.

They scored a cheap run in the third to tie up the score without a ball going out of the infield and without a hit being registered. Collins handed out three successive walks and Doonan's infield out on a grounder to second scored Billy Albinger.

In the seventh the Elis pushed two across, with the help of Providence Collins and a double by Doonan. Eddie Collins got on forcing Albinger, who had made first because the lanky Deuse, Providence catcher, tipped his bat. Yale's Collins moved up on a steal and scurried home when Doonan spanked a double into center. Then Pitcher Collins franked Klimczak, Loveday and Blake in order and Doonan walked home.

The Elis finished up their offensive in the eighth. Albinger, on with a walk and advanced to second by Collins' fielders' choice, scored when Doonan lined to center again.

Bert Kohlman did another fine job in left field, reaching over the bleacher fence in the eighth to rob Deuse of a homer and to stall Eddie Bobinski at second. The New Haven boy doubled with two down and Deuse's near homer would have been damaged.

Larry Kelley got a hit in the first inning but after that drew a pair of walks, lofted once to third and struck out once. Jubitz joined Doonan for Yale's extra basing with a double in the sixth and on the other side Ploski and Hazell ranked with Bobinski in two-play hitting.

Deuse, the big Providence catcher, was a life saver for the rather wild Collins. He took many of them out of the dirt that might have gone for wild pitches.

Drives Home Three As Blue Wins, 4-1

Moe Jubitz and Fred Collins, Rival Southpaws, Issue Plenty of Passes in Yale Field Game;
Albinger Scores Twice for Winners.

By BILL HARDING
Sports Editor

Greg Doonan, local boy roaming right field for Yale, was the man of the hour as the Elis defeated Providence College, 4 to 1, in a breezy baseball battle at Yale field yesterday. Doonan delivered three hits, driving in three runs and scoring once himself as Moe Jubitz of the Bulldogs, and Captain Fred Collins of the Friars, hooked up in a southpaw mound duel punctuated by numerous free tickets to first.

The visitors broke the scoring ice in the third inning Crowley pushed a hit over second base after Captain Collins had fanned the breeze, and scored when Hammond hammered one of Jubitz offerings into right field, and Loveday's toss to Albinger on Crowley at the plate was low. Yale came right back and tied it up in her half of the third.

Dick Kohlman drew a walk and so did Catcher Billy Albinger. Kohlman was forced at third on a fielder's choice on Eddie Collins, Jr.'s poke. Captain Larry Kelley drew a pass, home as Doonan was tossed out at first. Polski to Coleman.

The Bulldogs added two more in the lucky seventh, Albinger again starting the fireworks when he was hit in the foot by one of Collins' low slants. He was forced at second however, Collins to Hammond, as Eddie Collins made first on a fielder's choice.

Kelley lifted to Doyle, Friar third sacker, and Doonan doubled to centerfield, driving Collins home to give the Blue a lead which it never relinquished. Doonan's smash so unsettled Collins the invading southpaw that he walked Walter Klimczak, Bill Loveday and Dex Blake in order, forcing Doonan in with the third run.

The final Yale run was manufactured in the eighth, when passes to Albinger and Kelley, plus Doonan's third hit of the contest which sent Albinger across the platter for his second counter. Klimczak also walked, but was forced by Loveday for the final out.

Neither twirler was helped a bit by the sharp wind that swept the diamond, Collins giving up no less than 12 free trips to first base, and Jubitz being worked for seven free issues. The Eli flinger stuck out seven while Collins sent five back to the bench.

Sparkling defensive play by Kohlman in left field, and Doonan in right helped Jubitz greatly, Kohlman's catch off Deuse in the eighth frame which he took by draping himself over the leftfield fence, was a honey. Eddie Bobinski, former Hillhouse star was on second at the time, having doubled, and had Deuse' clout gotten away from Kohlman for a homer it would have tied the game up at three all.

Bobinski helped himself to two of the Friars' hits, getting a single and a double besides making a nice catch on Jubitz in centerfield. Larry Kelley's error allowed Ploski to reach first in the third but no harm resulted and the Blue leader made up for it with a great pickup on Klimczak's first-ball toss to catch Crowley at first in the seventh.

Providence pulled one for the book in the sixth when they connected for two doubles and got two walks but failed to score a run for their efforts, Jubitz shiffing Deuse with the sacks loaded.

Ploski, Hazell and Bibinski wacked doubles for Providence while Doonan and Jubitz did likewise for the Elis. A fairly good crowd sat in on the festivities and the general opinion is that Yale has a club that will bear watching this season.

While the varsity was pulling out a victory, the Providence frosh walloped the Yale yearlings, 16-0, on the freshman field.

Yale Defeats P. C., 4-1, As Jubitz Bests Collins

Kohlman's Running Catch of Deuse's Long Fly is Turning Point.

(Special to the Providence Journal)

New Haven, Conn., April 26.—Steadier pitching by Monroe Jubitz, Yale's Sophomore left-hander, enabled the Elis to emerge victorious over Providence College, 4 to 1, on a windswept diamond today. Capt. Fred Collins, Friar southpaw veteran, turned in a performance that was brilliant at times, but was marred by 12 passes and a hit batsman.

Jubitz allowed only seven safe hits and struck out seven batsmen. Although he passed seven Friars he inserted three strikeouts at crucial moments and was given tight support by his mates in the pinches.

Bert Kohlman's running catch of Elt Deuse's long pole into left field in the eighth proved to be the turning point of the game. It nipped the Friars' greatest threat. The hit looked like a home run and would have scored two for the Friars as Ed Bobinski was on second as a result of a double.

But Kohlman stretched over the bleachers' edge to reach Deuse's lengthy drive. Had he been unable to reach the ball, Yale's 3-1 lead would have been wiped out and the game might have been forced into extra innings.

Both clubs scored one run in the third. Singles by Johnny Crowley and Tom Hammond and Bill Loveday's fumble of Leo Ploski's ground-er gave Providence its only run. Bill Albinger walked and another base on balls to Kelley along with two outs permitted him to score for Yale.

Yale rallied in the seventh to score twice more and assume a 3-1 lead. Eddie Collins, who forced Albinger, stole second and scored on Greg Doonan's two-base drive. Two more passes and Doonan came home. A pass to Albinger in the eighth, Eddie Collins's sacrifice and another timely drive by Doonan yielded Yale its last run.

Oddly enough, Providence was unable to increase its score in the sixth on a pair of doubles, a sacrifice and two bases on balls. Leo Ploski, who led off with a stinging double to left, advanced on Ralph Coleman's sacrifice and attempted to score on a short wild pitch. Albinger quickly recovered the ball and Ploski tried to return to third, but was cut off by Albinger's rifle peg to Klimczak. With the bases filled on two passes, Jubitz fanned Deuse to end the inning.

Catcher Elt Deuse and Pitcher Marshall Brooks of Providence College took the winning of the Friars' game with City College of New York, at Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon, into their own hands and clouted successive home runs in the eighth to give the Dominicans a 5-3 victory over the Beavers.

The game was nip-and-tuck for seven innings, as both Brooks and John Morris, C. C. N. Y. hurler, waged a tight duel. Both pitchers upheld their end of the contest by limiting the opposition to five hits. Going into the eighth inning the clubs were tied, 3-3, and extra innings loomed until the Friar battery came through with a pair of circuit wallops.

Continual bickering by the City College squad, both on the field and from the bench, marred the enjoyment of the game from the spectators' standpoint. The tension reached the breaking point in the seventh inning when Capt. Lew Haneles, City College catcher, lashed out with his feet at Ploski's legs after sliding into the bag. Ploski, the Friars' second baseman, took exception to this bit of action and the players traded a punch or two before their mates separated them.

Providence jumped into the lead with two runs in the first inning. These tallies were the result of City College lapses. Crowley drew a pass and stole second. Gallagher sent a hot drive to Pitcher Morris, who whipped the ball to Frank, covering second. The ball went through Frank's hands into centre and rolled almost to the fence, as Novack failed to check it. Crowley and Gallagher scored on this play.

City College tied the count in the third. Frank drew a pass, went to second on Novack's fielder's choice as Ploski dropped the ball in trying for a force out and scored on Rosenblum's single to left and Deuse's error. Crowley relayed Rosenblum's hit, along the left field foul line, to Gallagher who tossed to Deuse at home, but Deuse let the ball get away from him. Novack moved to third on this play and scored after Hubschman's fly-out to Crowley in left centre.

THE UMPIRE WAS RIGHT—HE'S OUT

Here's a photographic finish of a play in the Providence College-C. C. N. Y. game at Hendricken Field yesterday. Pitcher Marshall Brooks tossed to First Baseman Fischer to catch Novack, Beavers' centrefielder, off the bag. The picture shows Fischer tagging Novack with the latter's hand still in the air over the bag.

The Friars took command again with a run in their half of the third. Crowley was hit and went to third on Gallagher's single into centre field. Ploski forced Gallagher at second and then the ball was handled by every City College infielder except the pitcher. When the ball finally came to rest at third base, Crowley was safely across the plate, Gallagher had been tagged out twice, City College players were a bit nonplussed and the crowd was highly amused.

Following this inning, the players on both sides settled down to serious ball playing. From the fourth to seventh innings the Friars could not solve Morris's offerings and went down in order. City College was required in order in the fourth, fifth and sixth but in the seventh frame six Beavers came to bat and Fliegial tallied the tying run on a fielder's choice, Gallagher's error and Frank's single to left.

Tom Hammond, the Friars' fleet-footed shortstop, stabbed Souplous's line drive in the eighth and caught Rosenblum off second for an unassisted double play to halt a strong bid for victory by the Beavers. Following the home run duet by the P. C. battery, the Friars' inner defence took care of retiring the Beavers, Hammond making another grand individual play by spearing Morris's line drive to short with his gloved hand to produce the final out.

Marshall Brooks played the best game of his career at Providence College, twirling five-hit ball and clouting a home run to the left field fence. Brooks scored seven strikeouts, with successive killings in the second and fourth. Deuse pulled down two foul flies in fine style and led off in the eighth with his homer over the right-centre fence, one of the longest drives at the park in several years.

Rams Win Seventh In Row; Take Lead in State Race

BY F. C. MATZEK

The pitching mastery that is Georgie Hines's stock in baseball trade was exerted to good advantage at Kingston yesterday and the R. I. State Rams rode to a 2 to 0 triumph over Providence College mainly on the strength of the three-hit pitching of their ace right hander. The crowd numbered 1500.

Victory for the Rams left them undefeated in seven starts this season and put them two up on the Friars and the Brown Bears in the race for the State intercollegiate baseball crown. It marked Hines's sixth triumph of the campaign.

Limited to three singles, one of them scratch, in as many innings, the Friars got but six men on first base and only one as far as second.

The Ram batters fared much better at the expense of Karl Sherry, Providence right hander who twirled seven innings. The Keaneymen collected eight hits, including a triple by Chet Jaworski, off Sherry and fashioned both of their runs while the bespectacled right hander was on the mound. Captain Fred "Lefty" Collins finished out the game and set the Rams down in order in the one inning he worked.

Hines's three-hit, six-strikeout and two-pass hurling performance left little room in the hero department yet two of his mates, Ed Fay, shortstop, and Jaworski, second sacker, managed to squeeze in for a share of the game's honors.

Jaworski's triple to right field in the first inning was unproductive, for Fay grounded to short and Hammond threw to Gus Hagstrom to nip Jaworski at the plate. It was a brilliant play, but it cost the Friars the services of Hagstrom who went out of the game with three spike cuts in his right leg as the result of his collision with Jaworski.

However, Fay then stole second and scored when Bobby Mudge smashed a single through the pitcher's box.

Morris Fabricant, playing in centre field for the Rams, gave State its second run in the third inning when he led off with a driving single to centre, advanced on Hines's sacrifice bunt and scored on Jaworski's one-base wallop to left. Crowley's wild heave on his throw into the infield was a two-base miscue that allowed Jaworski to race all the way to third. But the Ram second baseman remained there as Bobinski made a fine running catch of Fay's long drive to centre.

Only One Friar Reaches Second Base; Hagstrom Injured.

The Rams threatened again in the fourth and fifth frames when Mudge and Butler opened those respective innings with singles. But the threats were dissipated through tight defensive work by the Friar infield. Mudge stole second in the fourth but was nipped at third on another attempted steal, Deuse to Gallagher.

Butler got to second on Fabricant's sacrifice in the fifth, but was tagged at third on a fielder's choice play on Hines's roller to Hammond. Entin, Ram catcher, led off the seventh with a single and reached second when Ploski's throw to Coleman went over the Friar first sacker's head. But he remained there as the next three batters went down in order.

Gallagher got the first of the three Friar hits in the opening inning when his pop fly in front of the plate fell safely as Entin lost it in the sun. The Friar third baseman then was forced at second by Ploski who in turn was thrown out at the keystone station on an attempted steal.

Bobinski got the second Friar hit in the fifth, a clean single to left. But he remained anchored at first as Hazell flied out and then was forced at second as Fay and Butler combined on a double play on Hammond's roller to short. Coleman singled to centre for the third Friar hit in the seventh but was forced at second, Butler to Fay, for the third out of the inning.

Coleman, lone Friar to reach second, gained that cushion on a walk and a play at first on Hazell's ground-er to the box after Bobinski had fanned. Hammond flied to centre to end that threat.

Tigers Seek Collins?

Max Bishop, talent scout for the Tigers, and Capt. Fred Collins, Friar southpaw pitching ace, are shown above, walking across Hendricken Field following Providence College's 7-6 victory over Tufts yesterday. Bishop saw the entire game and had a long chat with Collins afterward. It has been rumored that Collins would join the New York Yankees after graduation next month. The Tigers already have George Tebbetts, former Friar catcher, in their fold

FRIARS GET ALL THEIR RUNS IN THIRD TO BEAT TUFTS, 7-6

Dominicans Score Fifth Straight at Home Park

Check Threatening Rallies by Jumbos After Driving Foe's
Hurler to Showers.

Seven runs in the third inning spelled victory for the Providence College baseball team, which had a close call as it nosed out Tufts, 7 to 6, yesterday afternoon at Hendricken Field. The triumph was the fifth straight for the Dominicans at their own ball park.

With this lead in their favor the Friars held clear command until the seventh when Collier's homer into left field sent in three runs and made the Tufts total five.

Spurred into action with this turn of affairs, the Jumbos made a strong bid for the decision in the ninth. Collins forced three of five batters to hit into infield putouts to check a threatened rally.

Loose fielding by the Friar inner defence, which was charged with six errors, figured in the scoring of three of Tufts' runs.

Singles by Gallagher, Ploski, Collins and Hazell, coupled with a walk and a hit batsman, gave the Friars six runs in the third. Then Deuse hit a hard blow to left which was misjudged by Wood and the Friar catcher slid into third on the error. Wood's throw to third got away from Silvestri and Deuse jumped to his feet and raced home. Silvestri's desperate peg home was wild, and Deuse scored.

Tufts' downfall was credited to Tony Wojciechowski, whose slants suited the Friars. Two lapses by Wojy and four Friar singles accounted for six runs in the third and a pair of errors on Deuse's single enabled the Friar catcher to circle the bases with the seventh tally. Wojy left the game with one out in the third.

Game played:

May 5, 1937

Al Galuszka, Wojy's successor, turned in fine work on the mound for Tufts, allowing only three hits and two walks in four and two-thirds innings. Hughes, who replaced Galuszka in the eighth, allowed one hit, a double by Crowley.

The visitors were completely checked in the first three innings as Collins struck out four of the 11 men to face him and no Jumbo was able to hit the ball out of the infield. Two passes and two errors accounted for two runs for Tufts in the fourth.

A walk, an error and Collier's four-base clout lifted Tufts into a threatening position in the seventh.

Collier came through with a single in the ninth with two out and Tominey sent him home with a two-base drive. Keith fouled out to Gallagher to end the game.

The Friars had three men on base in the opening inning but Tominey hauled down Fischer's high hoist to right and threw in quickly to catch Gallagher off third base and end the inning.

Collier was best at bat with a home run and single in three times at bat. The Friars had 10 hits with Crowley's double the only extra-base bingle.

Friars at Home to Bruins For First Time in Series

May 8, 1937

32nd Game of 14-Year-Old Struggle Slated for Hend ricken Field Today.

The 32nd game of a 14-year-old baseball series is on tap this afternoon at Hendricken Field, where the Providence College Friars entertain the Brown Bears in the opening game of their 1937 State and city series. Play is scheduled to start at 3:15 o'clock.

For the first time in the history of the intra-city rivalry which was inaugurated on old Andrews Field on May 2, 1923, the Friars will be playing Brown on Providence's home field. On that distant date the Bruins won, 4 to 0, but the first game of the 1924 two-game series went to the Dominicans, 1 to 0, on the strength of Charlie Reynolds's remarkable 20-inning pitching exhibition. To date 31 contests have been played, with the Friars having a 21 to 10 margin in victories.

The first of the Friar triumphs, by that 1 to 0 count, set the pattern for close scores. Of the 31 games played in the series 10 have been decided by a single run, six by two runs and four by three runs.

Except in the total of victories over the entire stretch closeness has marked the series. Pre-game favoritism has meant little in a majority of the games. Tight, keen battles have predominated with victory going to the underdog on numerous occasions.

This afternoon Karl Sherry, Senior on Smith Hill, has been selected to carry the pitching burden. Facing him for the Bruins will be a College Hill Senior and another right hander, Bob Kurlansky.

The remainder of the lineups on both sides will be much the same used in earlier tilts this season by the respective mentors, Jack Egan of Providence and Jack Kelleher of Brown. There's still a question as to which of his first basemen Egan will start, Leo Fischer or Ralph Coleman. They are on a par in so far as ability is concerned and have divided the first base work fairly evenly this spring. Coleman is the probable starter.

The inclusion of Cad Arrendell at right field in the Bruin lineup in place of Bob Pitocchelli is the lone change contemplated by Kelleher. He plans to use Bob Brush back of the plate and is hopeful that the arm injury Brush sustained in the R. I. State game on Tuesday will have healed sufficiently to permit him to get into action. If Brush is forced out Irving "Shine" Hall, Bruin athletic star who has been kept busy with spring football drills, probably will be pressed into service. Brown's catching problem is fairly acute with Brush on the doubtful list because Floyd Hinckley, first string catcher, also is definitely on the side-lines with a knee injury.

Friar-Bruin Game Postponed to May 26

Cold weather and wet grounds yesterday morning brought about the postponement of Providence College-Brown baseball game scheduled for Hendricken Field yesterday. The postponement decision was reached at a conference between Athletic Directors Fred W. Marvel of Brown and John E. Farrell of Providence College.

The game has been re-scheduled for Hendricken Field on Wednesday, May 26, and will start at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

READY FOR BACKSTOP DUTY

Gus Hagstrom, Providence College all-around athlete, will be back of the plate tomorrow at Hendricken Field

SHERRY HURLS FRIARS TO VICTORY

Johnny Crowley's Homer Figures in 7 to 2 Victory

Singles by Fischer, Hagstrom and Sherry Also Have Part in St. John's Defeat.

Providence College 7, St. John's 2.

It was a repeat performance for the Friars at Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon, but this time Karl Sherry, star right-hander, managed to play the leading role through to a finish, scattering nine hits over eight innings and striking out eight Redmen. Two thousand saw the Friars win their seventh game in 12 encounters.

In the opposite cast, Tom Ananicz, slim St. John's southpaw, allowed 11 hits, a three-run homer by Johnny Crowley in the second and a two-run double by Tom Hammond in the eighth doing the main damage. Ananicz had airtight support that verged on the spectacular more than once.

One big inning again proved to be the turning point in the Friars' favor. Yesterday it was the second stanza that decided the issue. Four runs were scored by the Friars in that frame on singles by "Buzz" Fischer, Gus Hagstrom and Karl Sherry, with Johnny "Wink" Crowley knocking a home run to the left field fence to climax the attack.

During the next four innings Ananicz and his mates checked the Friars' run-making, but a small uprising in the seventh netted the Dominicans another run, and a more spirited drive in the eighth added two more tallies. Gus Hagstrom, who hit three clean singles in four trips, figured in three of the Friar runs in the course of the contest.

After the first inning St. John's proceeded to get a hit an inning until the eighth when they managed to couple a pair of bingles. But Sherry's smart hurling tactics spiked the Redmen's scoring guns with the result that only two visitors scored while 11 were left on base, six of them in scoring position.

Game played:

May 9, 1937

Sherry was a bit more generous with passes than usual and gave five Redmen free trips. One of them to Jim Hagen, in the fifth, paved the way for the Saints' first run. Hagen reached second safely when Hammond dropped Fischer's throw on Capt. Tommy Tallon's roller to first base. Paul O'Hale came through with a hard rap to right and Hagen scored.

With two out in the eighth, Wolf drove a single into right and went to third on a hit and run play, Joe Salerno providing the passage with a grounder through the Friar infield into centre. Salerno then baited Hagstrom into throwing down to second and Wolf raced home, well ahead of a high throw to the plate.

Sherry finished the game practically single-handed, sending three Redmen down swinging in the ninth. His strikeout pitch came in handy on two other occasions as he drew upon it to make killings with men in scoring position in the third and fifth. Sherry's capable performance also included two "pick-offs" to Fischer at first base.

ENCORES

Capt. Fred "Lefty" Collins of the Friars spent most of the game warming up. He had to relieve Sherry when the teams met in Brooklyn, but yesterday his services were not necessary. The energy was not wasted, however, as the Friars have an important meeting with Boston College on Wednesday at Boston and the Friar captain will be ready for the Eagles.

* * *

Crowley's home run blow was a hard hit. Charlie Wolf, Redmen's left fielder, came in fast expecting the usual bounce but the ball skipped past him and he staged a losing race after it for Crowley was well around third when Wolf had retrieved the sphere.

* * *

In the fifth the Redmen threatened seriously. After scoring one run they had men on second and third and only one out. Crowley made a fast return of a fly to left to hold the Redmen on base and Sherry struck out the next batter to solve the problem.

* * *

Cy Zenir, St. John's first baseman, pulled a stunt in the second inning that your sport cartoonist does upon. He raced down the first base path and made a flying catch of Tom Hazell's short foul fly, ending up flat on his face but the ball resting securely in his mitt.

* * *

Before the game Coach Jack Egan had several visitors at the Providence bench. One of them was George Hines, the R. I. State pitcher. Egan, Hines and Capt. Collins discussed baseball in general and baseball in particular and it was not hard to perceive from the conversation that they are all interested in one particular sport, BASEBALL.

* * *

Charlie Polzer, the Saints' third baseman, was very intent upon reaching first base in the fifth inning. The count against him was 3-0 and on the next ball he headed for first. Umpire Finnell called it a strike. Again Polzer headed for first on the next pitch, another called strike. In desperation, apparently, Polzer struck out, going down swinging.

FRIARS BEATEN BY EAGLES

Dominicans' Pitchers Are No Puzzle as B. C. Wins, 8-2

Fred Collins and Bill Moge Hit Freely While Mates Fail to Find Kelly.

(Special to the Providence Journal) Newton, Mass., May 12.—Boston College batsmen found the offerings of Fred Collins and Bill Moge to their liking and defeated Providence College 8 to 2 this afternoon at University Heights.

John "Muggsy" Kelly hurled steady ball for the Eagles after the second inning, when the Friars scored their two runs. Boston College, meanwhile, had taken a 3 to 0 lead in its half of the first inning. Collins passed Tilly Ferdenzi, lead-off man, who raced from first to third on Goode's smash to centre and scored on Gavin's infield roller. Goode and Gavin subsequently counted when Eddie Bobinski miscued on Norm Pilote's drive to centre field for a two-run error.

The New Haven athlete atoned for this important error in the second when he led off with a fine home run over third base. The ball appeared to be a double as it landed in far left field but Bobinski completed the circuit in ample time for a legitimate home run.

Kelly then lost Leo Fisher, with an outside pitch on a 3-2 count, put out Hazel and Hammond, but fed a fat one to Elt Deuse, who laid into it. The big catcher reached third before Ferdenzi had returned the ball.

Kelly was effective during the rest of the afternoon.

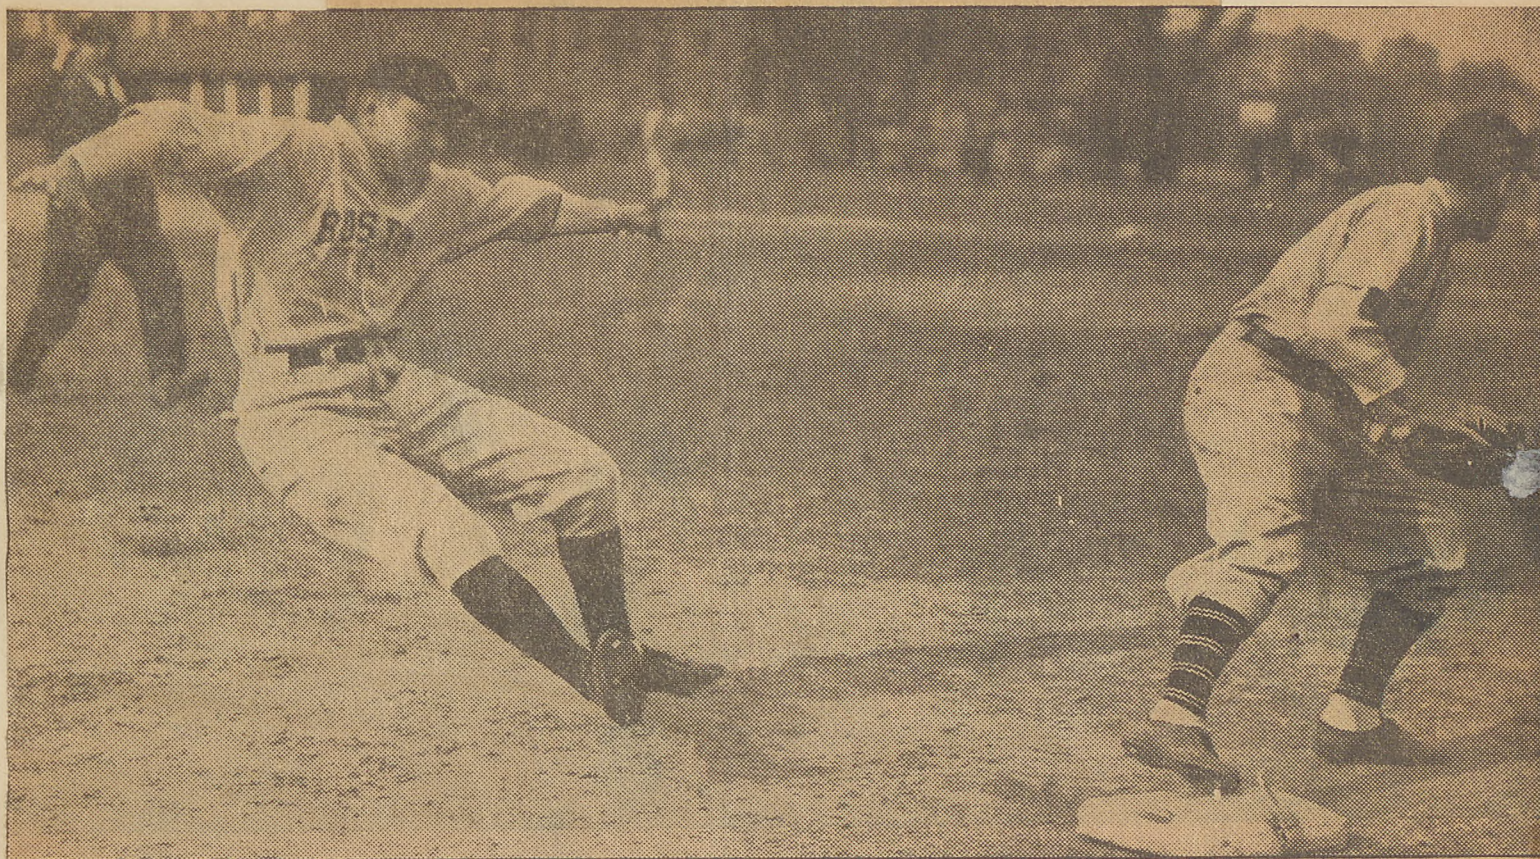

Paul Sharkey, who was hit on the elbow by a throw to second by Deuse, and subsequently left the game, scored a run for B. C. in the second. Deuse tried to pick him off third, but threw wild.

Pilote's scorching triple and Tommy Palumbo's single through the box accounted for a single run in the fifth for the Eagles. A three-run sixth sewed up the verdict. Three passes by Collins, an error at short and O'Flaherty's two-base drive to right on which Hazell made a beautiful running stop, rolled the runs across the plate.

BROOKS LIMITS VILLANOVA

TO FIVE HITS

AS FRIARS WIN 4-1

P.C. Nine Hands Main Liners First Defeat in Nine Games

Averages Early Season Setback; Friars Crowd Scoring
Into Three Innings.

Hitting opportunely in three innings when Villanova's defensive play became ragged, the Providence College baseball team defeated the Main Liners, 4 to 1, yesterday at Hendricken Field. Marshall Brooks, Friar speed-ball hurler, chalked up his second triumph of the season in an impressive manner, holding the visitors to five hits.

Villanova's lapses in the field proved costly in all five instances, as the Friars moved around the bases and eventually scored on the miscues. The opening Friar run was the result of two clean hits, a double by Bobinski and a single by Fischer. Brooks scored in the fifth on his own single, an error and singles by Crowley and Gallagher.

In the eighth Gallagher reached first on an error, stole second and romped home on two more errors. Then the Friars strung three more singles together and McLaughlin walked Hazell to force in the last P. C. run.

* * *

The Friars were well on their way to a shutout when Garbark came to bat in the eighth and rapped a triple to deep left centre, the best blow of the game. The Villanova catcher scored on the following play as Del Umo grounded out to Fischer. Fischer made a spectacular one-hand stop of Del Umo's hard-hit grounder and threw to Brooks, who raced over and just beat the Villanova player to the base.

Game played: May 13, 1937

Main Liner Nailed at Home Plate

Ray Stoviak, of Villanova, shown being put out by Catcher Gus Hagstrom, of Providence College, while attempting to score on Lou Wannamacher's grounder to Third Baseman Charles Gallagher in fourth inning of game at Hendricken Field yesterday. Gallagher made a perfect throw to Hagstrom. The Friars won, 4 to 1.

Things looked gloomy for Brooks on several occasions but he and his mates managed to check the Main Liners on most of them. In the fourth a pass to Stoviak, Brooks's error on Garbark's sacrifice and Del Umo's sacrifice put Villanovans on second and third.

On Wannamacher's grounder to third Gallagher made a perfect throw to Hagstrom at home plate to nip Stoviak. Crawley forced Wannamacher to end the threat.

Again Brooks got into trouble in the fifth. With two out Sheftic walked and went to third on Bond's clean single to centre. Stoviak also drew a pass but Garbark couldn't get the ball out of the infield and forced Stoviak at second. A double play by Ploski, Belliveau and Fischer spiked the visitors in the sixth.

* * *

Villanova made its only run in the eighth but threatened again in the ninth. Merullo reached first as Ploski lost his grounder in the dirt and went to third on Bond's sharp drive to right. Stoviak tried hard but went down swinging for the final out. Villanova used two pinch hitters in this frame but both flied out.

WILDCAT WOE

Up to yesterday's contest Villanova had established a noteworthy victory string, losing one to Princeton and then defeating eight opponents in a row, the Friars included. Providence gained an even split with the Main Liners who won at Villanova, 9-4. Last year the clubs also broke even in their home and home series.

* * *

Brooks found difficulty in fielding Villanova's sacrifice bunts and two of them got away from him before he finally managed to throw out a Villanovan at first. On two plays the Friar pitcher covered first in capable style to make important putouts.

In the seventh, Ray Belliveau, back in the Friar lineup to strengthen the defensive work of the nine, turned in a brilliant running stop of McLaughlin's grounder toward right field and threw out the Villanova pitcher to Fischer. Ray had eight putouts and two assists for the day, his first as a starter since last season.

* * *

Outside of a single bobble at short, Leo Ploski, who moved over from second base for the game, turned in steady play. He handled four assists and made two putouts. Other fielding highlights were turned in by Charlie Gallagher on a foul fly well beyond third and Gus Hagstrom on a high foul near the first-base stand.

* * *

Ed Bobinski, Friar clean-up batter, continued to boost his batting average by getting two hits in three official times at bat. Both blows figured in the Friar run-making.

* * *

Among the spectators at yesterday's game were Coach Jim McGeough of St. Raphael Academy and Steve Fallon, his ace pitcher, who holds the strikeout record for the current Interscholastic League season. Fallon may enter Providence College in the fall.

Big League Prospect

Marshall Brooks, big right handed pitcher with the Providence College nine, has drawn the attention of New York Yankee scouts. Captain Fred "Lefty" Collins of the Friars also is regarded by the Yankees as possible major league pitching timber.

FRIAR VARSITY. FRESHMEN DEFEAT SPRINGFIELD,

Brooks Holds Gymnasts To Six Scattered Hits

Only Two Men Reach Third

Base, Only One Walks;

Belliveau Leads Attack.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)

Springfield, Mass., May 18.—Marshall Brooks, a big right-hander who makes his home in New Haven, limited Springfield College to six hits at Pynchon Park this afternoon and Providence College blanked the Maroons, 9-0. This was the second half of a double-header program, the Dominican Freshman nine, with Anthony Scavatto of Thompsonville on the firing line, making it a twin triumph for the visitors by defeating the Springfield yearlings, 13-2, in an eight-inning contest.

Paying its first visit to western Massachusetts in 14 years the Friar varsity displayed plenty of punch at the plate in continuing to exercise a time-honored jinx over the home forces. Not in the 10 years that Coach H. S. De Groat has been coaching Springfield has one of his teams been able to set down Providence.

The Friars, coached by the veteran Johnny Egan, collected 13 hits off moundsmen, Harold Hall and Kip Mantor. One of these blows was a home run over the left field fence by Johnny Crowley with one man aboard in the fourth inning.

Brooks did not allow more than one safety in any frame and passed but one. Only two Gymnasts reached third base.

Belliveau had a perfect day at bat for the visitors, with four safeties, one of them a double.

Providence started its scoring in the second by pushing over a single counter. Leo Fischer was safe on a bunt and was boosted along to third on Belliveau's double to left. Tom Hazell lifted a high one to Allen in centre and Fischer raced home after the catch.

Two more tallies came over for the Friars in the third. Brooks singled to centre and went to second as Crowley was safe on an attempted sacrifice. Charley Gallagher also laid the ball down, Hall throwing Crowley out at second while Brooks reached third. Leo Ploski skied one to Allen and Brooks crossed the plate. Ed Bobinski's roller went through Huston's legs and Gallagher made the rounds.

Hall met his finish in the fourth, when Providence scored three runs. Belliveau opened with a walk. Hazell sacrificed him to second and he came home on Elton Deuse's two bagger to right. Brooks fled out to Stan Towle. Here Crowley inserted his homer.

Bobinski strolled, stole second, went to third on an infield out and spiked the plate on Belliveau's single to left in the fifth.

Providence finished its run making in the seventh. Another pass started the fireworks. Ploski was given a base on balls, stole second and moved to third on an outfield fly. Fischer scored him with a single to right. Belliveau advanced Fischer to second with another single. Hazell's hit to left brought Fischer home.

Karl Sherry, Providence College curve-ball pitcher, who has twice hurled the Friars to victories over Holy Cross, will attempt his third victory this afternoon at Worcester, when the Friars meet the Crusaders in the first game of a home and home series.

Opposing Sherry will be Al Jarlett, Holy Cross right-hander, who was bested by Sherry in their last duel. Six of the Friars who took part in the Friars' last triumph over the Cross will be in the starting Providence lineup today. They are Sherry, Gus Hagstrom, who will catch, Ray Belliveau, Leo Ploski, Leo Fischer and Johnny Crowley.

In the modern series between the colleges, the Crusaders have won eight contests and the Friars seven. The home field advantage has been an important factor in the series, as Holy Cross has won six at home and two at Hendricken Field, while Providence has taken six home contests and only one at Fitton Field.

The Crusaders' 2-0 victory over Brown yesterday was the ninth straight this season for the Worcester outfit. The Friars have won nine and dropped six games to date.

Purple Win Streak Broken by Friars

Crusaders Handed First Loss In Col- lege Campaign Before Crowd of 3000—Gallagher Big Batting Star

By ED SCANNELL, Worcester Post Sports Editor

Holy Cross had the first defeat of the season smeared on its record today when it was bested by Providence College at Fitton Field in the first game of the annual series with the Friars.

Unbeaten before tackling the strong Providence team, the Crusaders found their winning streak checked after eight straight victories.

About 3000 were in the stands when the game got underway.

After two scoreless innings, Providence broke the ice in the third, scoring three runs when Gallagher hit a home run with two on base.

The Friars added another run in the fourth inning when Bobinski doubled, advanced on an infield out, and came home on an outfield fly.

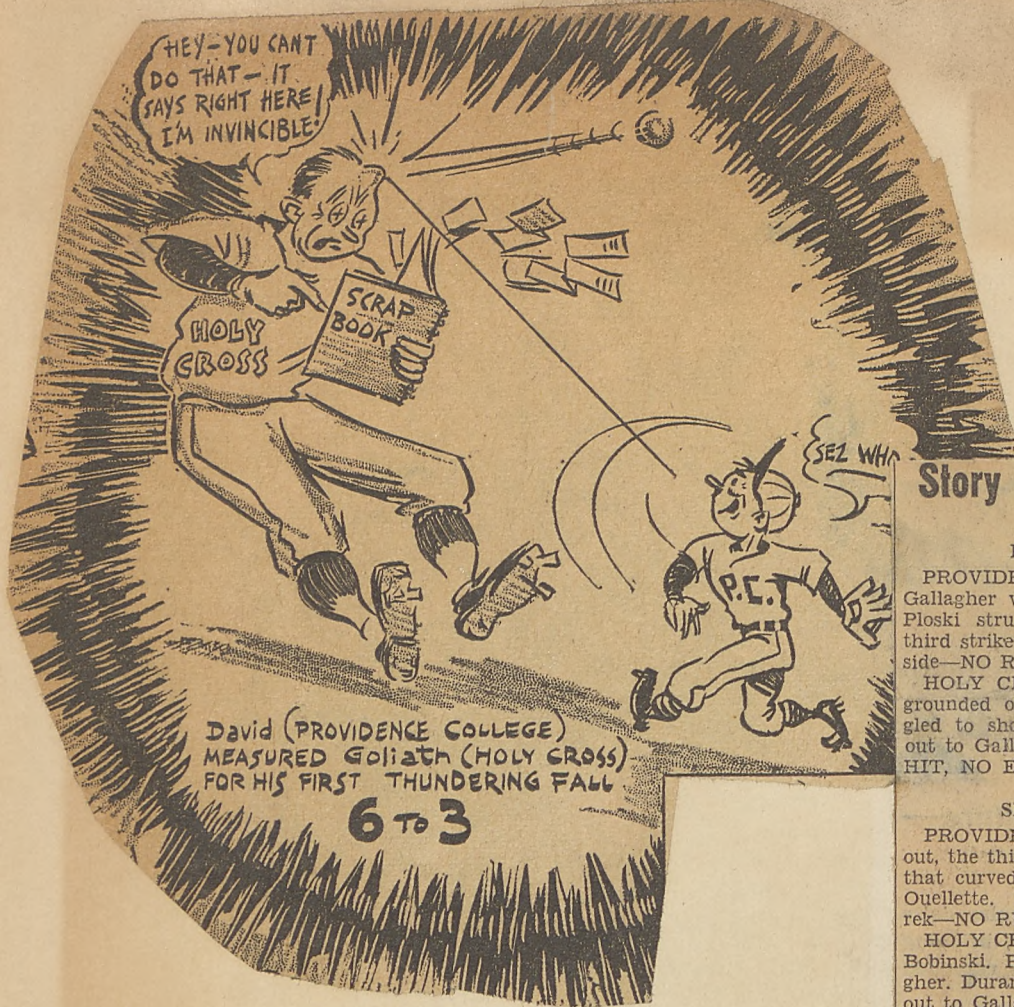

Providence scored again in the fifth when Hagsstrom walked and tallied on Gallagher's triple.

The Friars made it 6 to 0 in the sixth, scoring one run on Bobinski's single and a triple by Fischer.

Jarlett replaced Bruninghaus on the mound for Holy Cross in this inning.

After being blanked for seven innings, Holy Cross scored one run in the eighth, on Bracken's triple and an infield out.

The Crusaders rallied in the ninth inning, pushing over two runs, and made the final score, Providence 6, Holy Cross 3.

CRUSADERS. 6-3

Karl Sherry Proves Real Puzzle to Purple Hitters

Fitton Field, Worcester, Mass., May 22.—Karl Sherry today again proved a "jinx" to the Holy Cross baseball team when Providence College turned back the unbeaten Crusaders, 6 to 3, before a crowd of 3000. The Friar victory snapped a string of nine triumphs by the Holy Cross team.

In a way, the victory was nothing new to the Friars or to Karl Sherry, ace right-handed pitcher for the Dominicans. For it was the third time he has successfully outguessed the Crusaders' heavy hitters, once in Providence, and twice on this field in successive seasons.

Back in 1935, when Sherry was a sophomore, he pitched the Friars to a 4-1 triumph over the Cross at Hendricken Field. The next year he turned the same trick, by the same score, here in Worcester. Sherry's feat equalled a Fitton Field record set by Ray McNamara, New York University pitcher, a few years ago. McNamara also hurled his club to two victories over Holy Cross here and scored another one in the N. Y. U. ball park.

The Friars did all their scoring off the pitching of Roy Bruninghaus, senior speed-ball hurler, who started in place of Al Jarlett, Coach Jack Barry's earlier choice. In all they made only five hits off the big Millbury, Mass., twirler but every blow figured in the Providence team's scoring.

Sherry did his full share from the mound, using change of pace, curves and his "fast one" to good advantage. Back of him was as tight a defence as the Friar fielders have put up all season. Two double plays and a half dozen or so brilliant individual manoeuvres spiked the Crusader guns at crucial moments.

Charles Gallagher, who more than once has been the deciding factor in Providence basketball victories, played that role in baseball today, smashing a home run into deep centre in the third inning. Crowley and Hazell were on base at the time. This drive started the Friars off to their noteworthy victory. With Friar run-making given this boost, the visitors scored single runs in the next three innings to take a lead that was not seriously threatened until the very last inning.

Game played:

May 22, 1937

While his mates were hitting in timely fashion, Sherry offered the Crusaders little in the way of scoring blows. For seven innings, he shut out the home club, allowing singles in the first, third and sixth. Not until the Crusaders saw the end of the game approaching did they connect for extra bases.

Coach Jack Barry sent Bracken in to pinch-hit for Ouellette in the eighth, and with a 3-2 count against him Bracken walloped a triple to right. Dowd scored Bracken with a single over second base. Brucato walked, but two were out and Tom Hazell made a sensational running, one-hand catch of Kelley's drive to right to end the threat.

In the ninth, the Crusader power was on in full force and the home crowd, which called louder and louder for Purple hits as the innings winged by, was doing its share to rattle Sherry. Karl was nicked for three hits in the last inning but the anxious Crusaders hit "high ones" and the game was brought to a close with putouts being made on fly balls.

Barry, who replaced Catcher Ryan in the eighth after a foul tip had injured Ryan's throwing hand, rapped a single into centre to open the Crusader ninth. Conway skied to Hazell. Piurek dropped a single into left and "Red" Durand, former R. I. schoolboy luminary, scored Barry and Piurek with a lusty triple to right field.

Bracken again came to bat but popped out to Gallagher, behind third. Durand was still at third. Al Jarlett, who replaced Bruninghaus in the sixth and effectively silenced the Friar bats thereafter, lined what appeared to be an extra-base hit to left but Johnny Crowley, Friar left fielder, leaped into the air and hauled down the ball to end the game.

This play was a breath-taking one, but it was a fitting finale to an afternoon of spectacular work afield by the Friars. The Friar trio of Ploski, Belliveau and Fischer executed double plays in the third and fourth innings to put a tight lid on the Crusader attack at that stage of the contest.

In the sixth, Ploski leaped into the air and made a one-hand stop of Kelley's line drive to nip another Purple threat. Then Hazell made a grand play on Kelley's crack to right field in the eighth grabbing the ball in one hand and making a complete somersault. Crowley's putout in the ninth capped the acrobatics.

Although Bruninghaus was nicked for the hits that spelled victory for Providence, he turned in a capable performance. He struck out seven Friars and contributed one of the Crusader hits that might have figured in a score if the Friar defence had been at all shaky.

Al Jarlett, Bruninghaus's successor, was the Friars' nemesis. After he took over, there were no more Friar hits. He struck out five batters and only two of the other seven batsmen to face him got the ball out of the infield. Five grounded out and two flied out.

Well-wishers of the rival pitchers presented watches to their "boys". When Sherry went to bat in the third, time was called while friends from Albion, R. I., led by Nelson Pelletier, gave him a timepiece in recognition of the fine work he has done for the Friars in baseball.

When Bruninghaus came to the plate for his first "licks" in the third he was presented a watch by friends from Millbury, Mass. Another watch was given to Chet Shaw, Crusader first baseman, by the Millbury delegation.

The Friars who figured in the run-making in addition to Gallagher were Ed Bobinski, who doubled in the fourth and scored on Belliveau's line-out to far right, and Leo Fischer, whose triple in the sixth sent Bobinski home.

Sherry of Providence Beats H. C. 3rd Time

By ROY MUMPTON

Karl Sherry did it again!

Providence College's bespectacled right-hander became the first college pitcher in modern times to defeat Holy Cross baseball teams three years running as he steered the fancy-fielding and hard-hitting Friars to a 6-3 victory over the Crusaders in a sparkling battle at Fitton Field yesterday afternoon.

The cunning soft-ball curver, who pitches more with his head than his arm, blasted the Purple pounders from the ranks of the unbeaten after they had scored nine triumphs this Spring, just as he also snapped their 14-game winning streak at Providence two years ago and exploded their 13-game victory skein here last season.

No other enemy pitcher has even come close to wreaking such havoc with Holy Cross baseball records.

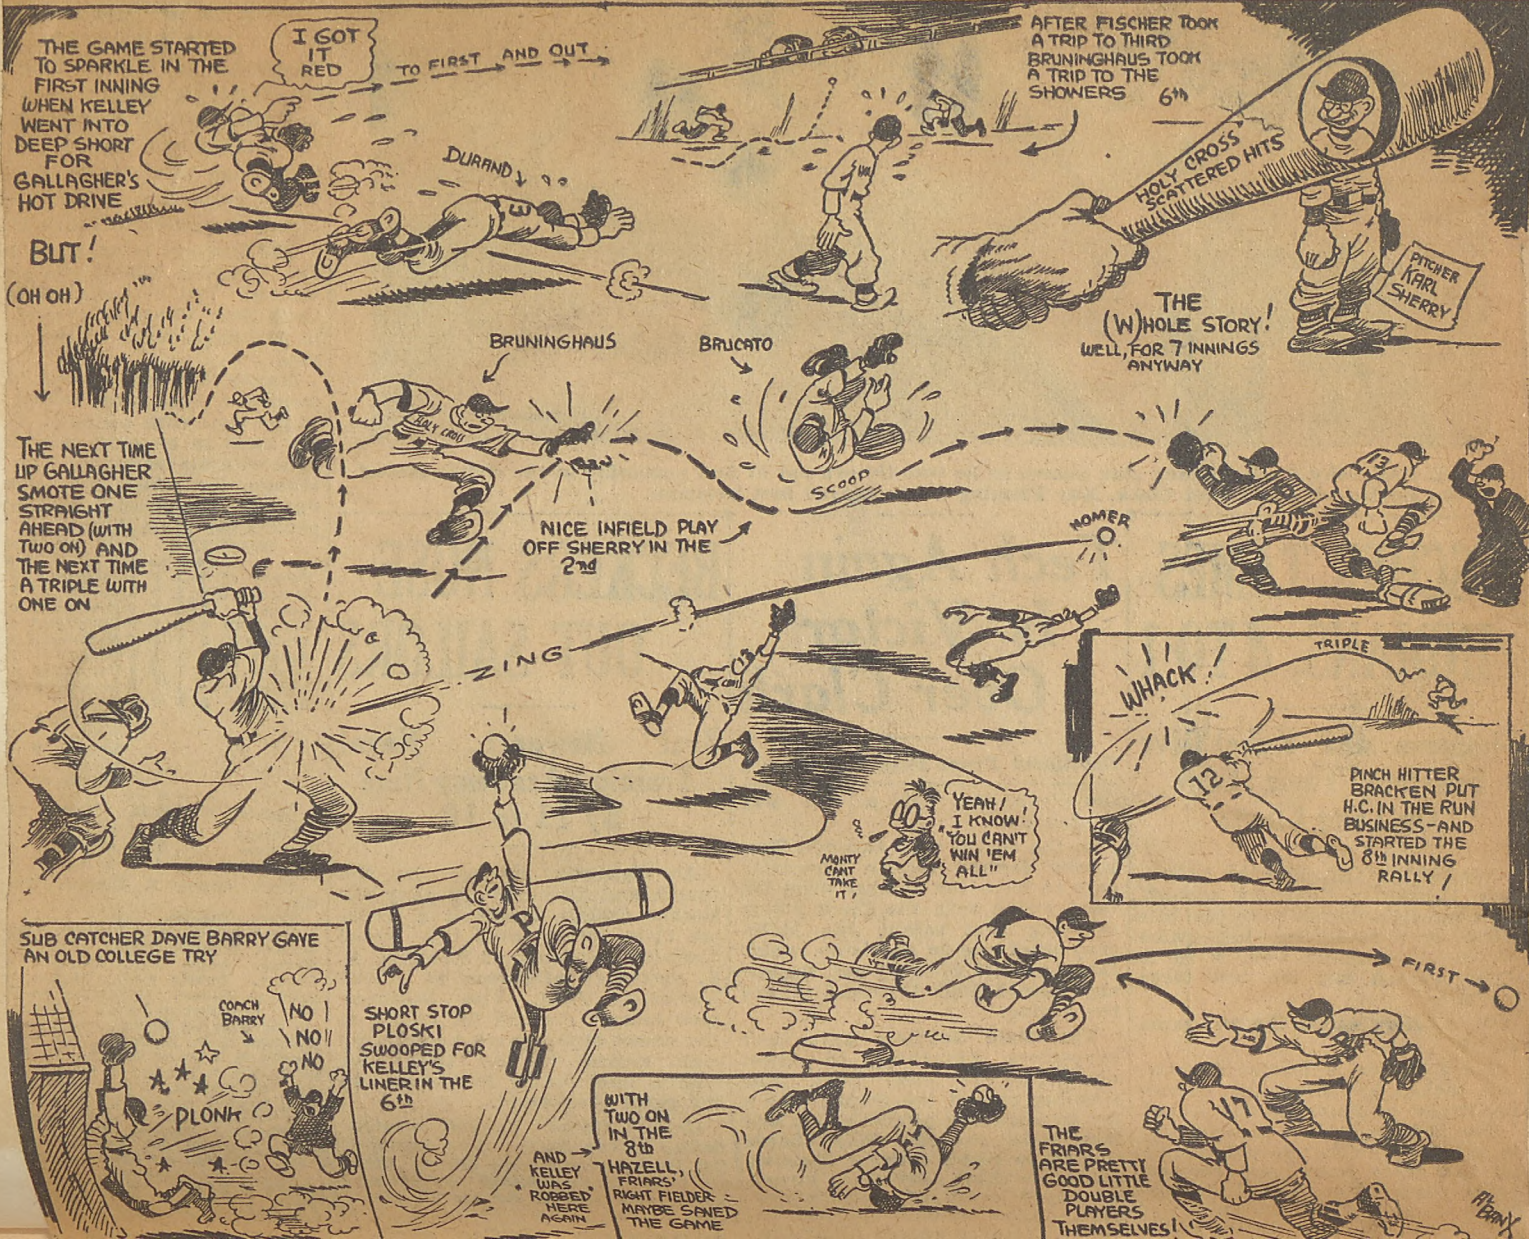

Gallagher Homers

Sherry, although complete master of the Crusaders for seven and one-third innings, didn't exactly whip them alone yesterday. Big Charlie Gallagher staked him to a three-run lead with a tremendous home run smash in the third inning. And other long-range belts by Ed Bobinski, this same Gallagher and Leo Fischer gave the Friars single counters in each of the next three frames before Roy Bruninghaus finally quit the peak with six earned runs charged against him on five hits and three passes.

And then as Sherry tired and faltered badly in the last two innigs—when the rallying Crusaders struck five of their eight nits, scored all their runs and mustered two mighty challenges—the Providence defense which had functioned so brilliantly all afternoon rushed to his rescue with a pair of beautiful plays which blotted out Holy Cross' last bold threats.

Drama In Late Innings

The partisan crowd of nearly four thousand spectators found most of the day's heavy drama and their biggest thrills in these exciting closing innings. It was then that the pendulum of a game which had belonged almost entirely to the crafty Sherry and the slugging Gallagher suddenly swung to Relief Pitcher Al Jarlett and the stretch-fighting Purple.

The seemingly inspired Friars had taken full command earlier, with Sherry stifling the Crusader clubs and with Gallagher rocking the game from under Bruninghaus with his monumental four-master in the third. Gallagher hit that three-run smash—a long, low drive which roared over Ouellette's head in deepest center—with two out and after Bruninghaus had passed Tom Hazell and Johnny Crowley.

Providence had added another run in the fourth when Bobinski led off with a double down the right field line, moved to third on an infield out and home after Ray Belliveau's long hoist to Conway in right. Gallagher's second long drive—a triple far down the left field line—scored Gus Hagstrom, who had walked to start the fifth. And the Friars counted their sixth and last run against Bruninghaus in the sixth when Fischer tripled up the right field bank to push home Bobinski, who had beaten out a high bouncer to the box.

Jarlett Pitches Perfectly

Jarlett, the cocky Watertown, Conn., blonde who seems the best of all the fine Holy Cross pitchers, rushed out to rescue the fallen Bruninghaus here and promptly proceeded to squelch the enemy clubbers with one of the greatest exhibitions of relief pitching ever unfolded anywhere.

Fischer was on third and none was out when Jarlett appeared. And Al came in practically cold, for he had had time for only a few warm-up pitches. Surely he was in a spot. And, although the breezy right-hander was plainly nervous for the first time during his colorful career on Mount St. James, he quickly curve-balled the Friars into humble submission.

He forced Belliveau to tap weakly to the box, threw him out at first and then hooked beautiful third strikes past the swinging bats of Hazell and Hagstrom, leaving Fischer to die on third. That isn't all Jarlett did. He set the Dominicans down in order in each of the next three innings, retiring 12 men in rapid succession and never permitting a single one to get his wood solidly against the marvelous curves he was throwing. Five of them whiffed

The manner in which Jarlett cool-off those red hot Providence batters caused the fans to marvel in admiration of his brilliant toiling. But it didn't materially help the Crusaders' chances. For Sherry, the great Holy Cross nemesis, was merely breezing. His spot pitches and his slok stuff had handcuffed the Purple with three singles going into the eighth. He hadn't permitted a single Crusader to move past first base, and he was getting grand support.

Bracken Hits Pinch Triple

Walter Bracken broke his charm in the eighth, however. With one out, Bracken batted for Henry Ouellette and blasted a towering triple up the right field banking. He scored while Jarlett was ground-out to Ploski at shortstop. And then Sherry suddenly lost command.

Worcester's Pete Dowd laced a single over center and Sherry, encountering trouble with his control for the first time, passed Charley Brucato. This brought up the dangerous Capt. Joe Kelley, who twice before had been robbed on well-hit drives. Bobinski had sacked his long liner into center in the fourth and Ploski had leaped high into the air to make a gloved-hand catch of his smash in the sixth.

Hazell Makes Great Catch

But these bits of thievery were petty compared to the larceny Tom Hazell perpetrated on the Holy Cross captain in this eighth inning. For Kelley pushed a long fly down the right field line. It seemed certain to push home two runs and to be at least a two-bagger. But just as the ball was about to plunk the earth, the madly sprinting Hazell dived frantically, clutched his shoe tops, somersaulted and came up with the catch.

That spectacular circus clutch just about saved the day for Sherry. For if the ball had gotten away from Hazell the Crusaders would have at least two more runs. And Sherry showed in the ninth that he no longer was any mystery to the homesters.

They teed off against him for three solid smacks in the last frame with Dave Barry and Whitey Piurek striking singles and both racing home ahead of Red Durand's long triple into the deep right field sector. But Bracken, who had given the Purple its start in the eighth, popped out and although Jarlett slammed one of the best-hit drives of the day, it went straight at Crowley, who leaped high for the catch and the final putout. A yard or two to either side and Jarlett might have had a homer.

Gallagher Homers - - Sherry Honored

Charlie Gallagher, Providence College third baseman, and Karl Sherry, pitcher, stole most of the honors as the Friars defeated Holy Cross, 6 to 3, at Fitton Field yesterday. Picture at left shows Gallagher scoring after his three-run homer in third inning. At right Sherry, who gained the distinction of being the only college pitcher to whip Holy Cross three years running, is being presented a gold watch by Nelson Peltier, president of the Providence College Boosters' Club of Albion, R. I.

Sherry Hurls Providence Nine To 6-3 Victory Over Crusaders

Friars' Ace Beats Erratic Roy Bruninghaus

To Hand Holy Cross First Defeat of Year

Sund. May 23, 1937.

Special Dispatch to the Globe

WORCESTER, May 22—Holy Cross baseball team lost its first game of the season today when Karl Sherry, Providence College ace, turned back the Crusaders, 6 to 3, aided by sensational work by his teammates. It was the third time Sherry has beaten the Crusaders and the only pitcher in recent years to boast three victories over Holy Cross.

Roy Bruninghaus, Purple right-hand pitching star, was erratic. Two walks and a homer gave the Friars three runs in the third, a double and outfield fly one in the fourth, a walk and triple one in the fifth and a single and triple another in the sixth. Jarlett, who relieved Bruninghaus, held the Friars hitless the rest of the game.

Holy Cross was held scoreless until the eighth when a triple by Bracken and an infield out scored one run. In the ninth two singles and triple by Durand brought two more. The score:

Sherry had that sort of support all afternoon. Twice his infield came up with snappy double plays on hard hit balls in the early innings and frequently the Crusaders' fiercest smashes went straight at fielders. The Purple also fielded flawlessly with Kelley's play on Gallagher's smash to deep short in the first and Jarlett's handling of Crowley's bunt in the seventh being the best of their putouts.

Diamond Dust

Sherry has now whipped Holy Cross three times in as many years . . . and he has permitted the Crusaders only six runs and 18 hits in 27 innings. . . . Also he has snapped their three long winning streaks. . . . No other college pitcher has whipped the Purple three times running . . . at least no one can remember any such a feat previously. . . . Bob McNamara of New York U. came the closest. . . . He shut out the Purple twice . . . and the third year he beat them with a home run, but he was playing the outfield and not pitching that day.

"Sherry doesn't throw them hard enough to hit," said one disgusted Holy Cross batter. . . . More truthful is: He doesn't throw them good enough. . . . His control and his curve make him a master at pitching to batter's weaknesses. . . . He will have a chance to make even more history next Saturday, for Coach Jack Egan plans to send him back against Holy Cross in the return game at Providence.

Gallagher got plenty of wood against his homer and triple off Bruninghaus . . . who really didn't have his usual stuff. . . . It may be that he was jinxed by the presentation which Millbury fans made to him and Chet Shaw in the third inning. . . . Led by Arthur Dempsey, they paraded to the plate and presented Roy and Chet gold watches. . . . Sherry also was honored. . . . The Providence College Boosters' Club of Albion, R. I., led by Nelson Peltier, presented the Friar ace a watch the first time he came to bat.

Mike Ryan, Holy Cross catcher, suffered a split finger on a foul from Gallagher's bat in the seventh. He gave way to Dave Barry, who made one of the Purple hits in the ninth . . . and who crashed heavily against the press box while chasing Fischer's foul in the eighth. . . . It was one of the best played and most exciting ball games Fitton Field has seen in many a season.

Ed Bobinski's Home Run In Eighth Decides Issue

Collins and Dye, Starting Hurl-ers, Forced from Game After Brilliant Starts

Delayed somewhat in proving their superiority over the Brown Bears in baseball, because of Bobby Dye's steady seven-inning pitching exhibition, the Providence College Friars crashed through with a brace of tallies in the eighth to come from behind and outscore the Bruins, 4 to 3, yesterday afternoon at Hendricken Field.

Ed Bobinski, lusty thumping centre fielder for the Dominicans, headed the reception committee for the Bears first visit to the Smith Hill diamond with a game-deciding homer, with one out and Leo Ploski on base, in the last of the eighth.

Close to 2000 fans saw the Friars exert diamond mastery over their intra-city rivals from College Hill for the 22nd time in 32 games. Starting as a tight pitching duel between a captain of the home team, Fred "Lefty" Collins, and Dye, ace right-hander of the Bruin mound corps, the game ended on a slugging note with both starting hurlers on the sidelines.

Collins went out at the end of the sixth after he had suffered a leg injury when he collided with Bob Welch at first base. The Friar southpaw had pitched four-hit, six-strike-out ball up to that point, had issued four passes and moved out with the score deadlocked at two-all. Karl Sherry took command then with a three-hit, one-run achievement for the final three frames and was credited with the victory.

Dye limited the Friars to six hits and two runs up to his unfortunate eighth inning. Gallagher opened the eighth by flying out to Cad Arrendell in right field. Ploski drew the fifth and last pass Dye issued during the afternoon and scored ahead of Bobinski who drove a four-ply wallop to the left centre field fence. Sherry grounded out but Leo Fischer, Ray Belliveau and Tom Hazell made successive singles to fill the bases and usher Dye out of the ball game. Devaney got out of trouble when Deuse ended the uprising with a looping drive to Hicks.

While the top action of the game and the blow-off came in that second half of the eighth there was a lot of good baseball contained in the earlier innings. The Friars started off with a run in the first when Crowley opened with a single, went all the way to third on a wild pitch by Dye and scored on Ploski's infield out.

The Bears moved to the fore with a two-run spurt in their half of the sixth. Hicks drew a walk to start the inning and scored when Collins took Clements' sacrifice bunt close to the third base line and heaved it over Fischer's head at first. Clements went to third on their miscue and scored when Swallow singled to centre.

Providence came back with the trying run in the second half of the sixth. Gallagher singled, went to second on Ploski's sacrifice, to third on Bobinski's infield single and scored when Collins forced Bobinski at second. Brokaw put the Bears in the van again in the seventh when he singled, advanced on Arrendell's bunt and scored from second on Clements' hit to centre.

Tight defensive play, featured by two double killings, proved of material aid to Collins during his stay on the mound. The Bears filled the bases with one out in the fifth on an error, a walk and a hit batsman, but Collins, Deuse and Fischer came through with a two-ply killing to shut off Brown's scoring attempts. Belliveau and Fischer combined on another double play after the Bears had scored their two runs in the sixth.

Arrendell turned in two sparkling catches at opportune times to keep Dye out of trouble. The first one, made on Fischer's long poke in the fourth after Collins had doubled, saw the Bruin outfielder backed up against the right centre field fence. After a shift in the Bruin lineup had sent him from centre to right field Arrendell robbed Gallagher of a second chance when he roamed into foul territory to snare the Friar third sacker's long wallop.

The win put the Friars back in the race for the State championship as well as in front in the intra-city series with the Bears. Providence's State series standing now is one game won and one lost and leaves them tied with the Bears. R. I. State with two games won and one lost is in the lead

CRUSADERS TRIP FRIARS

Eight-Run Rally in Ninth Gives Purple 11-3 Victory

By F. C. MATZEK

An eight-run uprising in the ninth inning that shattered a three-all deadlock gave the Holy Cross Crusaders an 11 to 3 triumph over the Providence College Friars before close to 3500 spectators yesterday at Hendricken Field.

The victory broke two precedents and upheld another. It was the first setback of the season for the Dominicans on their home field and the first defeat Karl Sherry, bespectacled right-handed hurler, ever sustained at the hands and bats of a Crusader nine. Sherry started the game and pitched creditably until driven from the mound in the wild ninth.

Holy Cross's triumph upheld the series tradition between these two Catholic College rivals which has yet to see either sweep an annual series. Providence won from the Purple at Worcester a week ago. Yesterday's victory squared this year's home-and-home series and sent the Crusaders into a 9-8 lead in the modern series that was inaugurated in 1930.

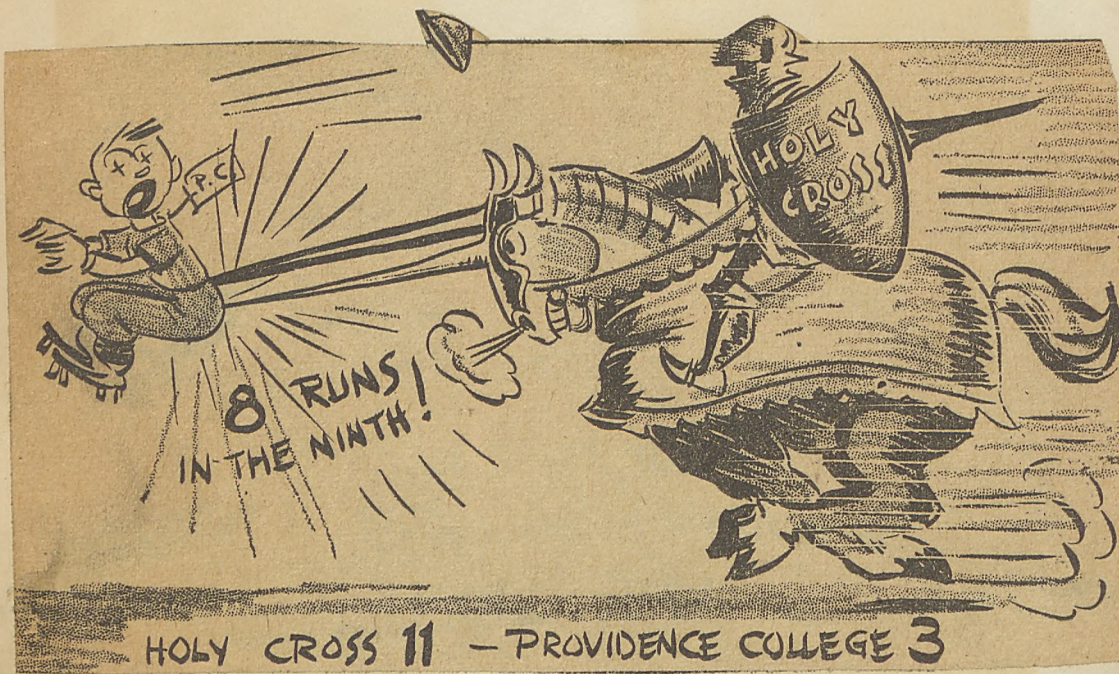

* * *

The eight-run splurge in the ninth broke open an otherwise even game that was tied up in the last of the seventh by the captain of the home forces, Fred "Lefty" Collins, who led off the inning in the role of a pinch hitter for Catcher Gus Hagstrom and poled a homer over the right field fence.

The Crusaders were first to score and built up a 3-0 lead going into the last half of the sixth by virtue of single runs in the third, fifth and sixth cantos. The Friars cracked through with two runs in their half of the sixth and then Collins knotted the score with his four-ply wallop in the seventh.

Game played: May 29, 1937

Gallagher's bobble on Brucato's grounder, with one away in the third, paved the way for Holy Cross' initial tally, Brucato scoring on Ryan's double to centre. Kelley of the Crusaders walked to open the fourth, advanced when Ryan was hit by one of Sherry's slants and scored on Conway's single to centre.

Al Jarlett, pitching for the Purple, who turned in a six-hit performance, led off the sixth with a single to left. He went to second on Dowd's sacrifice bunt and scored on Brucato's single which Ploski stopped back of second base, after a head-first dive.

* * *

Limited to one single up to the sixth, the Friars collected two more and combined them with a base on balls and an infield out to garner their first two runs. Gallagher led off with a single to right. Ploski walked and Gallagher scored from second on Bobinski's sharp single to centre. Fischer advanced both runners with a sacrifice bunt, and Ploski scored from third on Brucato's throw to first on Belliveau's grounder.

After Collins had knocked his homer over the right field fence to open the Friar seventh the score was knotted. Sherry singled and advanced on Crowley's sacrifice but was left stranded when Gallagher and Bobinski fanned.

The nightmarish ninth opened with Sherry dealing out a pass to Kelley. Ryan singled over second and Kelley dashed to third, drawing a throw from Ploski that enabled Ryan to reach second. Conway's single to centre scored Kelley and pushed Ryan around to third. Piurek followed with a single to left to score Ryan.

Camille Durand, of Georgiaville, regular third sacker with the Crusaders, attempted a sacrifice bunt which Sherry fielded and threw to Gallagher at third in a vain effort to force Conway. All hands were safe and the bases loaded. Brachen's grounder got away from Fischer and Conway crossed the plate leaving the bases still choked.

Marshall Brooks relieved Sherry and was greeted by a single by Jarlett which sent Piurek and Durand across the plate. Dowd then singled to right and Brachen and Jarlett both scored when Hazell let the ball go through his legs. Dowd reached second on the hit and error, and went to third when Deuse, who had replaced Gus Hagstrom behind the plate in the eighth, threw wild to second. Bobinski, backing up second, then heaved the ball over Gallagher's head at third and the runner scampered home.

The rally ended shortly thereafter, Brucato grounding out and Kelley singling to right but being caught in a double-killing on Ryan's grounder to Ploski.

Sherry encountered some difficulties in the early innings, but settled down after the Friars had scored in the sixth and retired the Crusaders in order in the seventh and eighth. It was but a lull before the storm, however. Altogether Sherry was nicked for 12 hits. Brooks was found for three in the one inning he worked

Tom Hazell Makes Great Try For Homer—Fails!

Dominicans' right fielder attempts to elude Mel Entin, Rhode Island State catcher, at plate as he tries to stretch triple into circuit clout. The Friar runner forced the Rams' receiver to drop the ball but Bill Butler came in from first, picked up ball, seen in foreground, and made putout. Entin was injured on the play and retired from the game. Providence won, 2 to 1.

FRIARS DEFEAT RAMS 9 TO 1 TO LEAD IN STATE SERIES

Rams' Battlers Get Only Three Singles Off Collins

Friars Unleash Strong Attack, Against Hines's Delivery,
Getting 13 Hits.

By F. C. MATZEK

Fred "Lefty" Collins, captain of the Providence College baseball nine, matched yesterday's hot weather with a hot pitching exhibition—a three-hit performance—and the Friars set down the Rhode Island State Rams, 9 to 1, before a crowd of 2000 at Hendricken Field.

The victory, attributable both to Collins's pitching mastery and to a group of Friar batsmen who suddenly found their hitting eyes, assured the Friars of at least a tie for the State collegiate championship. The Dominicans now lead in the State title race with a mark of two games won and one lost. State has won two and lost two, and Brown, with one more game to play with Providence, has won one State series game and lost two.

Yesterday, 13 hits rattled off the bats of Collins and his Friar mates as they handed Georgie Hines, ace of the Keaney clan's mound staff, one of the few setbacks he has received this spring. Four of the 13 hits collected by the Friars were triples; two were doubles.

Hines ran into early trouble as he gave up two hits and two runs in the opening inning. He settled down then and pitched one-hit ball until the sixth when the Friars found the range again. They garnered five hits for four runs, got two more for another run in the seventh and then finished with three hits and two runs in the eighth.

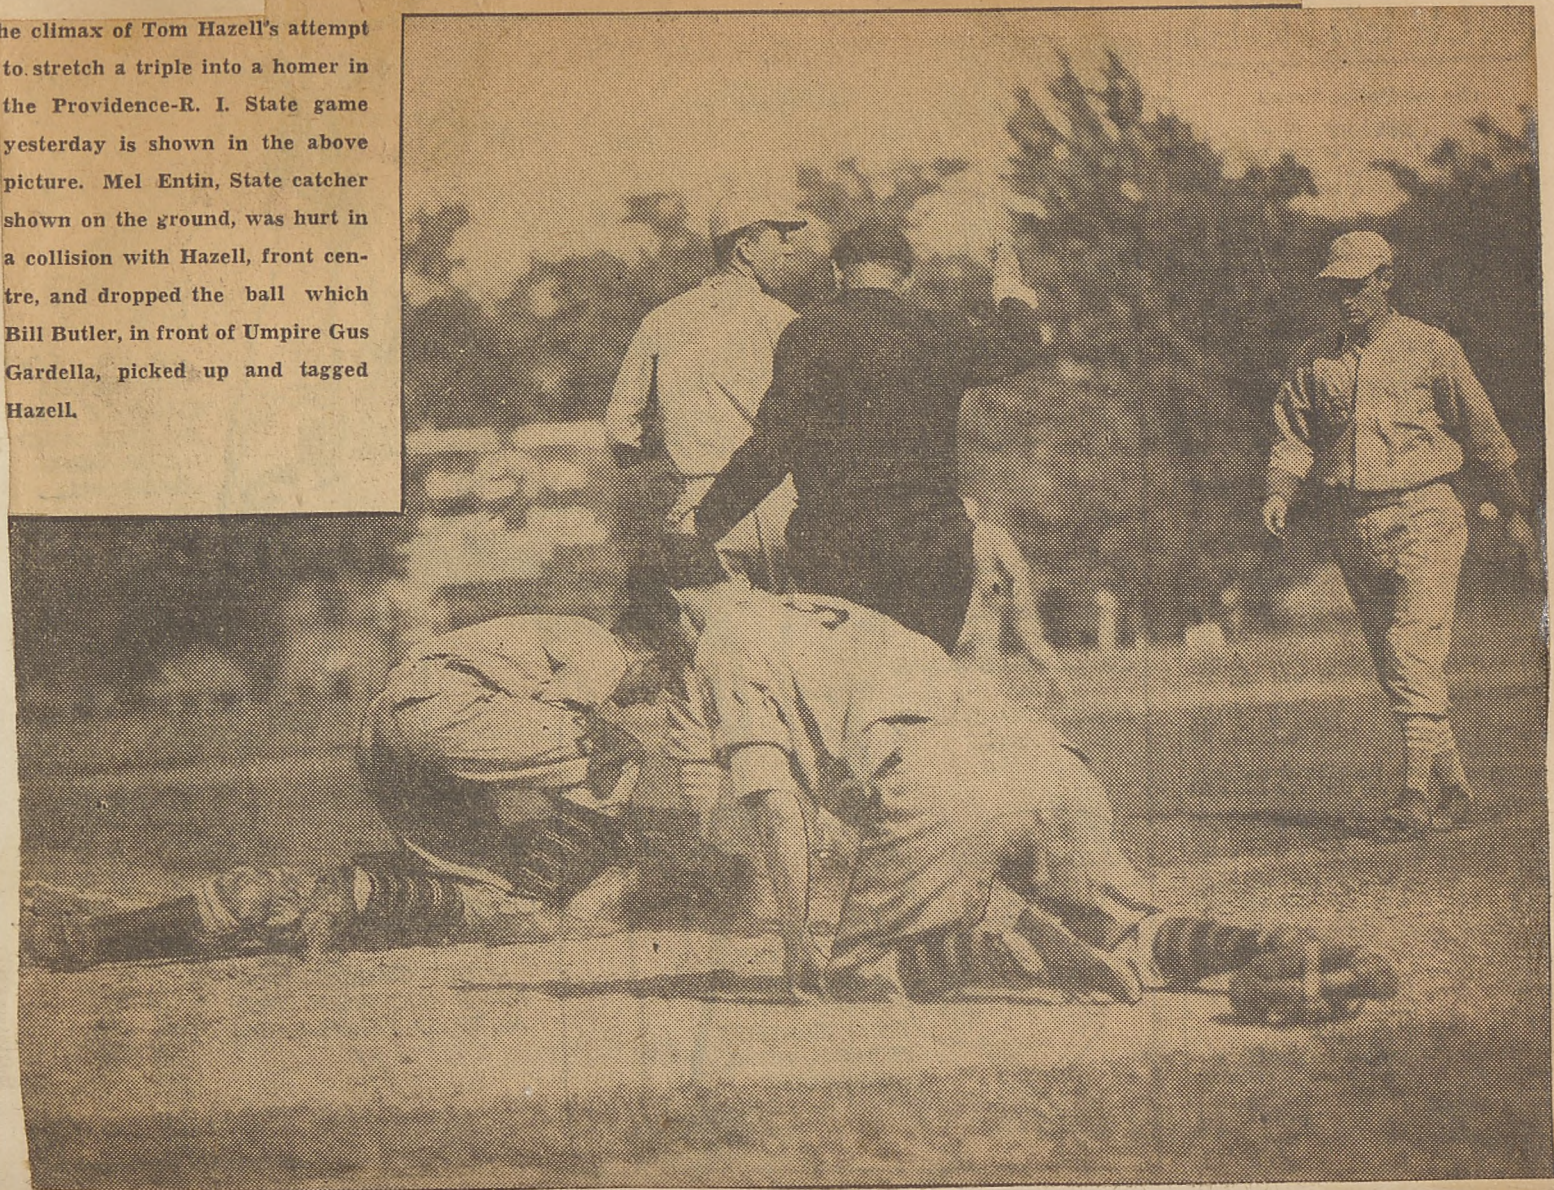

Bobinski and Fischer were the leading gunners for the home club, with a triple and two singles apiece as their hitting contributions to the game. Deuse and Hazell also cracked out three-ply wallops. Gallagher and Belliveau hit doubles.

A TRIPLE MISSES CONNECTIONS AS A HOMER

The climax of Tom Hazell's attempt to stretch a triple into a homer in the Providence-R. I. State game yesterday is shown in the above picture. Mel Entin, State catcher shown on the ground, was hurt in a collision with Hazell, front centre, and dropped the ball which Bill Butler, in front of Umpire Gus Gardella, picked up and tagged Hazell.

Crowley opened Providence's hit barrage in the first inning with a single to centre. Gallagher grounded to Ed Fay, at short, and was safe when the latter's throw drew Butler off the cushion at first. Crowley reached third and scored after Mudge had taken Ploski's long fly in right. Bobinski's triple to the left field fence drove Gallagher in with the second run.

Gallagher led off the sixth inning uprising with a double to left. He went to third when Ploski was thrown out by Ed Fay and scored on Bobinski's single to short. Collins singled to right, and both runners romped home on Fischer's three-base poke to left field. The Friar first baseman scored on Belliveau's infield out and Tom Hazell was out at the plate trying to stretch his triple into a home run. Entin blocked off the plate and left the game after being hurt in a collision with the runner who was tagged out by Butler after Entin had dropped the relay from Messina. Goff finished the game in place of Entin.

Deuse tripled to left to open the seventh and scored on Bobinski's scratch single to short. Fischer led off the eighth with a single to right that Fabricant let get past him for a two-base error and Fischer reached third. He walked home on Belliveau's double to centre. Belliveau went to third on a single by Hazell and scored when Deuse forced Hazell at second.

State's lone run in the fifth resulted from two singles and an infield out. Irving Fay got State's first hit off of Collins, a single to right, after one was out. Goff was sent in to run for Fay and he went to third on Butler's clean single to centre and scored when Hines was thrown out at first. Ed Fay got the only other hit off Collins when he singled to open the ninth but he was forced at second and the Rams went down in order for the next two outs.

Collins was in almost complete command. He set the Rams down in order in five innings, struck out six and gave out but four passes. Hines struck out four batters and issued two passes.

Providence College, victorious in all but one of its home games, will face the Long Island University nine, college champions of New York city, in Rhode Island's first night baseball game at Hendricken Field this evening at 8:30 o'clock. Long Island has won 18 of 21 games, the team having played an extraordinary schedule of over 30 contests this season.

The visitors will have two undefeated pitchers to choose from, and another who has suffered defeat only once in six starts. Pearlman, who hurled the Blackbirds to a 7-2 decision over Providence in Brooklyn early in the season, has won eight games, and Grant has won two. Neither of them has been defeated. Burger, another L. I. U. moundsman, has won five and lost 1.

Facing the visitors, for Providence, will be the same array of batting talent that downed Rhode Island State on Monday. Marshall Brooks, the Friars giant speed-ball hurler, will do the pitching to Elton Deuse. In the first clash between the clubs in Brooklyn, Brooks relieved Collins in the seventh inning, and checked the Blackbirds from that point on without a hit.

A LIVELY EXPERIMENT

PROVIDENCE College, with assistance from Long Island University, will conduct a lively experiment tomorrow night by staging the first night baseball game to be put on by colleges in New England, or, for that matter, in the East, as far as we can make out.

There will be no more danger of the collegians getting hit on the head by fly balls under the floodlights than there is of their receiving such whacks during the day time, the firm that rents out the lights has assured Johnny Farrell, Friar graduate manager of athletics. Of course, there is always danger of collegians getting hit on the head by fly balls, night or day.

At any rate, Walter Hapgood, the veteran baseball man, who is the big gun with the floodlight company, after looking over Hendricken Field, assured Farrell that the job of turning night into day for baseball purposes there can be done with considerable success. The company is the same outfit which supplied the lighting effects for the Friar-Rhode Island State football game last fall. The lights of course, will have to be ranged higher for baseball than for football.

If the lights are really top-grade, neither spectators nor fielders will have trouble following the flight of the ball, those who have watched night baseball tell us. The odds are against the batters, though, they also tell us, for there's a shadow around the waist line of the hitter, when he's at the plate, that can't be eliminated by any of the lighting systems now in use. It is unlikely that any of the young men of Providence College or Long Island University will fatten their batting averages tomorrow evening.

* * * *

BLACKBIRDERS COLORFUL

THE FRIARS have made a wise move in choosing Long Island University's visit as the occasion for staging the night game. In the past few years, L. I. U. has moved into an important spot in the Eastern collegiate world by building up long winning streaks in basketball and baseball. The current Blackbirders aren't undefeated, but when they beat Columbus Council, K. of C., by 9-3 Saturday, it was their 19th win in 22 starts.

In basketball L. I. U. has been little short of sensational. A year ago the Blackbirders cleaned up about everything that came their way. They passed up a chance to compete for a place in the Olympics that year, not having any desire to be connected with anything that was linked up in any way with a man named Hitler.

An energetic operator, who rejoices in the somewhat unusual name of Clair Bee, is responsible in a good part for L. I. U.'s sport prominence. Dr. Bee, who holds a couple of collegiate degrees and is shooting at another, also finds time to coach the Blackbirders in basketball and baseball. He has had plenty of success in digging up athletic talent and bringing it to Long Island. On his present baseball squad he has but 14 players, but they are all good.

The Blackbirders hold one decision over the Friars this year. It was registered by the score of 6-4 during the Dominicans' early spring road trip through New York and Pennsylvania, when the Blackbirders scoured Lefty Collins' offerings for four runs in the first inning. In may be, though, that while the lights are turning night into day tomorrow night Providence College will be able to turn past defeat into present victory.

Errors Aid Victors.

Long Island University's baseball team, perfectly at home under artificial lighting, defeated the Providence College nine, 11 to 6, last night at Hendricken Field before over 3000 fans. The victory was the 21st for the Blackbirders in 24 contests. It was the first night baseball game in Rhode Island.

The heavy-hitting visitors garnered 13 hits off Pitchers Marshall Brooks and Karl Sherry of Providence College, two of them home runs by Abramowitz and Fonte. The Friars made six errors, all of them figuring in their opponents' scoring.

Larry Burger, big L. I. U. southpaw, gave up eight hits but was in serious trouble on only one occasion, in the fourth, when the Friars made four bingles and scored their first two runs. Up to the fourth the game was close, but L. I. U. loaded the bases in the fifth and Rockelein doubled to the right field fence, clearing the sacks.

* * *

A single run in the sixth on an error and two infield outs and four runs in the seventh when the Blackbirds sent Brooks to the showers gave the visitors a lead that was never threatened seriously. Sherry went into action in place of Brooks, but gave up two hits, one of them a double good for two runs.

Brooks's downfall came in the seventh, when Fonte hit a fly over the lights in midfield and circled the bases as the throw back to the infield struck one of the light standards and bounded out to centre field. Brooks became mixed up in a play at first that Fischer had the best chance to complete and the resulting error placed another Blackbird on base.

With Sherry in the game for Brooks the Friars spent most of the seventh in pulling out of the trouble left by the New Haven lad. In the eighth and ninth the visitors went out quickly, a single in the ninth marring a 1-2-3 killing for the Friars.

Game played:

June 2, 1937

The Friars made their first rally in the fourth when Gallagher, Ploski and Bobinski hit consecutive singles.

Bob's blow scored Gallagher and Ploski came home on Fischer's high loft to Rockelein in centre. Rockelein's peg, however, caught Bobinski napping off first for a double play.

Belliveau was hit and it looked like the Friars were going to drive Burger from the game when Hazell rapped a bingle to right. However, Burger bore down and struck out Deuse. In the sixth the homesters scored when Bobinski walked, took second on Burger's wild pitch and tallied on two infield outs. Hazell added another run when he singled, stole second and came home on Deuse's hit to centre. Rockelein pegged to Catcher Lowe who threw out Deuse as he attempted to go down to second.

In the eighth Ploski singled to right. Bobinski hit to Fonte and both were safe on the latter's error. Fischer fanned but Belliveau came to the rescue and lined a double to left field, Grant getting his hands on the ball but being unable to hold it on the run. Ploski scored on this blow and Bobinski came home on Hazell's lift to Rockelein.

Doyle, pinch hitting for Sherry in the ninth, fanned as did Crowley. Then the Friars drew two walks but Bobinski forced Ploski at second ending the contest.

FRIARS DEFEAT EAGLES

Hagstrom Leads Assault Against Eagles' Pitchers

Ably Seconded by Belliveau as Dominicans Trounce Boston College, 8 to 5.

BY F. C. MATZEK

Providence College's Friars yesterday gave Coach Jack Egan his first chance to look at a Friar nine winning over Boston College's Eagles. The Friars coupled a slugging attack with a keen, seven-hit pitching exhibition by Karl Sherry to outscore the Eagles, 8 to 5, at Hendricken Field.

The victory, first that the Friars have scored over the Eagles in the three-season baseball regime of Egan on Smith Hill, deadlocked the current series. The two teams are to play again on the Friars' Commencement Day, next Thursday afternoon.

Leader of a Friar slugging attack that made 12 hits good for 18 bases was chunky Gus Hagstrom with a batting mark of 1.000 for the afternoon. He banged out two doubles and two singles out of four trips to the plate and drove in four of the Providence club's runs. Ray Belliveau, Friar second baseman, collected a brace of doubles, walked once, counted three runs himself and drove in another.

* * *

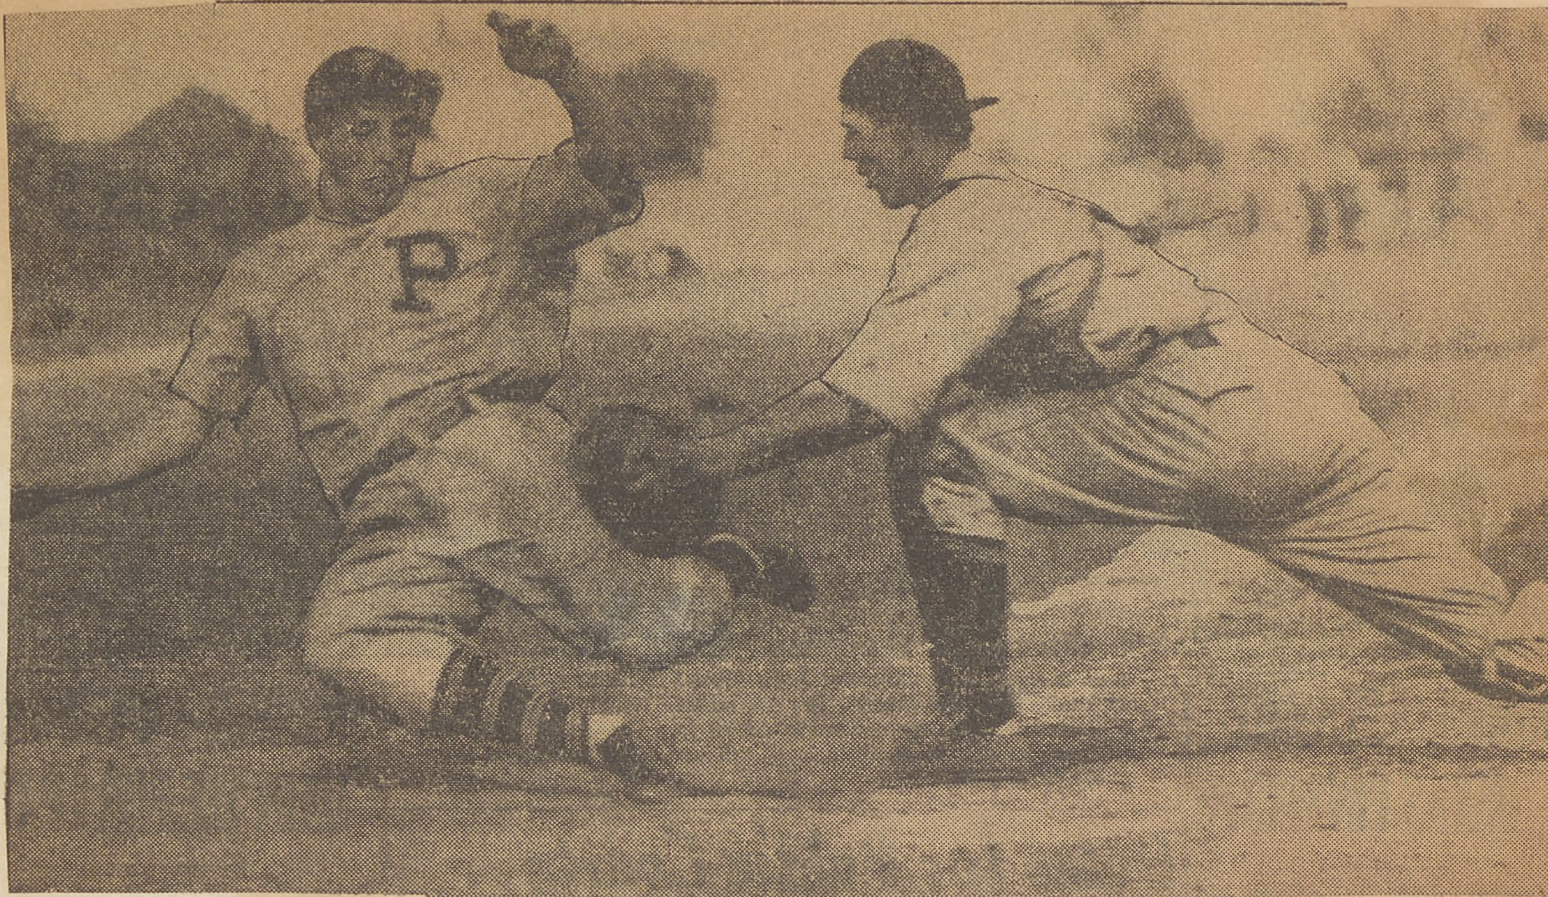

Leo Ploski added his bit to the Friar attack with a triple that accounted for the Friars' sixth run and put them out ahead in the sixth frame. The Dominican shortstop was but a stride short of stretching his three-ply wallop into a homer, a three-man relay from deep left just nipping him at the plate. Ploski was the home club's defensive giant with a record of seven assists and two putouts to his credit, as he turned in a perfect day afield.

A base on balls to Fallon followed by Cummings's triple to right centre, put the Eagles in front in the first of the second. Fischer then led off a Friar attack in the second half of the second that brought two markers. The Friar first baseman singled to centre, advanced on a pass to Belliveau and reached third as Hazell beat out a bunt down the first base line. Hagstrom's single to deep centre drove in Fischer and Belliveau and sent Hazell to third. Sherry grounded out to the box, and Crowley fanned, but the bases were choked again when Gallagher drew a pass. That threat faded when Ploski fouled out to Fallon back of the plate.

Out Trying to Stretch Hit Into Home Run

Leo Ploski, Providence College shortstop, being put out at home by Catcher Charlie Fallon of Boston College in sixth inning of yesterday's game at Hendricken Field. Ploski's triple scored Charlie Gallagher. Ploski made seven assists and two putouts as Friars won 8 to 5.

The Eagles went ahead again in their half of the fifth with a two-run splurge, but again their lead was short-lived, the Friars counting three times in their half. Somy led off the Boston fifth with a single to deep short. Ferdenzi walked and both runners advanced when Umpire Cleary called a balk on Sherry as he pitched to O'Flaherty. The latter eventually flied out to Bobinski, with Somy after the catch and Ferdenzi going to third, from whence he scored on Ploski's fielder's choice play on Goode's grounder to short. The runner beat the throw home by a stride.

Providence made short shift of moving out ahead again. Ploski and Bobinski walked and advanced on Fischer's sacrifice bunt. Belliveau's double to right sent Ploski across the plate and Bobinski to third. "Bob" scored from there when Pilote dropped the relay to second that was thrown in an attempt to catch Belliveau. Hazell pushed Belliveau around to third when he flied out to deep centre, and the runner scored on Hagstrom's double to left.

Boston deadlocked the count in the sixth with another two-run spurt. Fallon singled to left and Cummings was safe on Gallagher's fumble of his grounder. Both runners moved around on Palumbo's sacrifice bunt and scored on Pilote's single to left that Crowley batted down with his bare hand after a high leap into the air.

Gallagher's single followed by Ploski's triple to the left field fence gave the Friars their winning run in the last of the sixth. Ploski was caught at the plate on a relay that went from Goode to Palumbo to Somy to Fallon. Belliveau doubled in the seventh and scored on Hagstrom's double. In the eighth Crowley walked, went to third on Gallagher's single and scored after Goode's catch of Ploski's fly to left.

Belliveau's double in the seventh ushered Sigmund Somy off the pitching hill. It was the 10th hit off the big right hander. Harry Lane relieved him, and was nicked for but two hits the rest of the distance.

Alert Eagles Prevent Friar Score

Charlie Gallagher, Providence College third baseman, is shown above being put out at home plate by Catcher Fallon of Boston College. The action occurred in the first inning of the Commencement Day baseball game between the Friars and Eagles at Hendriken Field yesterday afternoon. Gallagher attempted to stretch his triple to a home run but the accurate relay to Fallon caught the big Friar at the plate. The Eagles won 9-6, to take the 1937 series with two victories in three meetings.

Boston College Defeats Friars, 9-6, in Series Final

Dominicans' Inability to Hit in Pinches Negates Several Scoring Opportunities.

Ability to shunt runners off the tracks and send them across home plate was, in the main, responsible for a 9 to 6 triumph chalked up by the Boston College Eagles over the Providence College Friars yesterday at Hendricken Field. Only a handful of fans was on hand for the "rubber" game of the B. C.-P. C. series, the Commencement Day sports feature on Smith Hill.

The Eagles used hits and Friar errors to clear the sacks of runners. In the final analysis it was a four-base miscue that gave the Eagles their three-run margin of victory. Karl Sherry, usually an unerring gunner on throws to the bases, got off a wild heave to Charlie Gallagher at third in the fifth frame and three runs counted when the ball rolled back of the third base stands.

Beyond a tendency to err on the part of the Friar fielders there was a heavy-hitting Eagle crew to contend with. The invaders, triumphant over the Friars 8 to 2 at Newton earlier this season and then humbled by the Dominicans 8 to 5 at Hendricken Field last week-end, collected 11 hits off of three Friar hurlers yesterday. And those hits counted even more heavily than did the Friar miscues.

* * *

The Eagle attack started rolling in the first frame with one run being scored. Another came in the second, clusters of three in the fourth and fifth and another singleton in the sixth. The Friars collected single markers in the first and fourth and rallied with two-run spurts in the seventh and eighth.

They garnered eight hits off O'Hara, capable southpaw hurler, in seven and two-thirds innings but were handcuffed the rest of the way by Georgie Fallon, cousin of the Eagle captain and catcher, Charlie Fallon. O'Hara's pitching performance was featured by eight strikeouts and was the leader of a three-run attack in the fourth after two were out.

Boston left six men stranded but the Friars left 10, their inability to push runners along contributing heavily to their downfall. In both the seventh and eighth frames the bases were choked when the final outs were made.

Game played:

June 10, 1937

Heavy hitting was divided, each side collecting a brace of triples. Gallagher and Belliveau were the long distance gunners for the Friars, Charlie Fallon and Goode for the Eagles.

The Eagles' victory enabled them to keep intact a four-year record of not losing a series to the Dominicans. Providence's last series win over the Eagles came in 1933 when Al Blanche pitched two straight triumphs.

The Eagles counted in the opening frame when Ash walked, advanced on Palumbo's sacrifice and scored on Charlie Fallon's single to centre. The second B. C. tally came in the second when Gavin romped home from third on a fielder's choice play on Palumbo's slow grounder to Gallagher. It was a squeeze with two out and when Pilote attempted to score from second on the play he was caught at the plate.

O'Hara singled with two out in the fourth, starting Boston's first three-run splurge. Ash and Palumbo drew walks from Brooks and all three runners scored on Goode's triple to right centre. O'Flaherty and Gavin singled in the fifth and both runners, as well as Laronde, scored when Sherry threw wildly past Gallagher after fielding Laronde's sacrifice bunt. A pass to Goode, followed by Charlie Fallon's triple, brought Boston's ninth and last run in the sixth.

Providence broke into the scoring in their half of the first, Crowley getting a walk and scoring on Gallagher's triple to left. The Providence third baseman was thrown out at the plate on a three-man relay when he tried to stretch his hit into a homer. The second of the Friar tallies came in the fourth when Belliveau tripled to centre, after two were out, and scored on Tom Hazell's single.

The Friars filled the bases at the start of the seventh. Belliveau singled, Hazell walked and Deuse was hit by a pitched ball. O'Hara then came close to duplicating his fifth inning performance of three straight strikeouts. He fanned Gus Hagstrom, pinch-hitting for Karl Sherry, who had relieved Marshall Brooks, the starting Providence hurler, in the fifth frame. Then he threw a called third strike past Wink Crowley.

Gallagher, however, spoiled the performance when he was safe on Pilote's fumbler of his sharp grounder to short, Belliveau scoring on the play. Hazell followed him home when Leo Ploski singled but Bobinski grounded out, ending the rally. In the eighth a single by Hazell, an error by O'Flaherty on Deuse's grounder and a single to right by Lefty Collins brought the Friars another run. Crowley then dropped a single into short centre filling the bases.

O'Hara was relieved by George Fallon after he had pitched two balls to Gallagher. Fallon threw two more handing Gallagher a walk and forcing in Deuse with the second run of the inning. Ploski fanned, ending that rally.

Brooks started on the mound for the Friars but gave way to Sherry with one on and none out in the fifth. Sherry was replaced by Collins in the eighth after the Pawtucket right hander had given way to Pinch-hitter Hagstrom in the seventh. The Eagles collected seven hits off Brooks, three off Sherry and a lone single off Collins.

Friars and Bears Battle Saturday: Title at Stake

Victory by Latter Would Virtually Make Honors Even

All Around

Brown will be host to the Providence College baseball team at Aldrich Field on Saturday, when the two city colleges meet in the second game of their series. This contest will involve all three Rhode Island colleges participating in the round-robin series for the State title.

If Brown triumphs, the State collegiate baseball championship will be shared with Providence and R. I. State. A victory for the Friars, who are now ahead in the race for the State title, will give them clear possession of the title.

At present the Friars hold the lead with victories over Brown and State and one defeat at the hands of the Rams. The Kingstonians have scored victories over Brown and Providence, and have also lost one game to each rival. The Bruins have defeated State and lost to the Friars and Rams.

Coach Jack Kelleher has two pitching possibilities on his Bruin squad. He may elect to start Bob Dye, who held the Friars in check for seven innings of their first meeting. If Dye does not start, Vin Devaney, who has come back to first-class form after being out of action most of the season with an injured hand, will face the Friars. Devaney pitched 1-3 inning against the Friars on May 26.

Devaney's claim to the top ranking spot on the Brown pitching staff is based on fine performances against Holy Cross and Harvard. Devaney played a prominent role in the Holy Cross game which went to the Crusaders by a 2-0 score. He turned back the Harvard nine with only three hits as Brown won, 4-2.

Coach Jack Egan also has two choices for his starting pitcher, Capt. Fred Collins, southpaw, and Karl Sherry, ace of the Friar staff. Collins allowed four hits in six innings in the first game, and gave way to Sherry after injuring his ankle in a collision at first base. Sherry allowed three hits in the remaining three innings.

Saturday's game was originally listed for Aldrich Field on May 15, but unfavorable weather conditions forced the officials to postpone the encounter. Brown has only the game with Providence on this week's sport schedule. On June 15, the Bears will close their season against Indiana University at Aldrich Field.

The Friars will meet Boston College on Thursday in their next-to-the-last 1937 game and the "rubber" contest of their three-game series. This game will be a part of the Friars' Commencement Day activities, and will start at 3:15 o'clock. In the past few seasons the supremacy in this series has rested with the Eagles, and the best the Friars have been able to gain has been an even split when two games constituted the series.

Karl Sherry, who held the Eagles to seven hits in the Friars 8-5 victory over the B. C. nine yesterday, may face the Eagle nine again. If he is selected, the work in the Brown game will fall to Capt. Fred Collins with Marshall Brooks held in reserve.

Graduation exercises on the Dominican campus on Thursday will bring to a close the collegiate athletic careers of 24 Friars, who have been engaged for one year or more in competition for Providence College as players or team managers.

BEARS TRIP FRIARS, TIE FOR STATE AND CITY TITLES

Devaney Pitches Brown To Victory Over Friars

Bears Win 3 to 2 as Collins's
Wildness Sets Stage for All Three Tallies.

BY F. C. MATZEK

Brown's Bears of the baseball diamond projected themselves into the State and city collegiate baseball title picture yesterday at Aldrich Field with a 3 to 2 triumph over the Providence College Friars. Backed by Vincent Devaney's two-hit pitching performance and aided by the wildness of Capt. Fred Collins, starting mound performer for the Friars, the Bruins counted all three of their runs in the first two frames and then coasted to victory.

Through their triumph the Bruins forced a three-way deadlock for the State championship. All three of the contending teams, Brown, State and Providence completed the series with two victories and two defeats apiece. The Bruin win also forced a tie in the intracity championship. Yesterday's game was the second in the city series, Providence having won the first 4 to 3 at Hendricken Field.

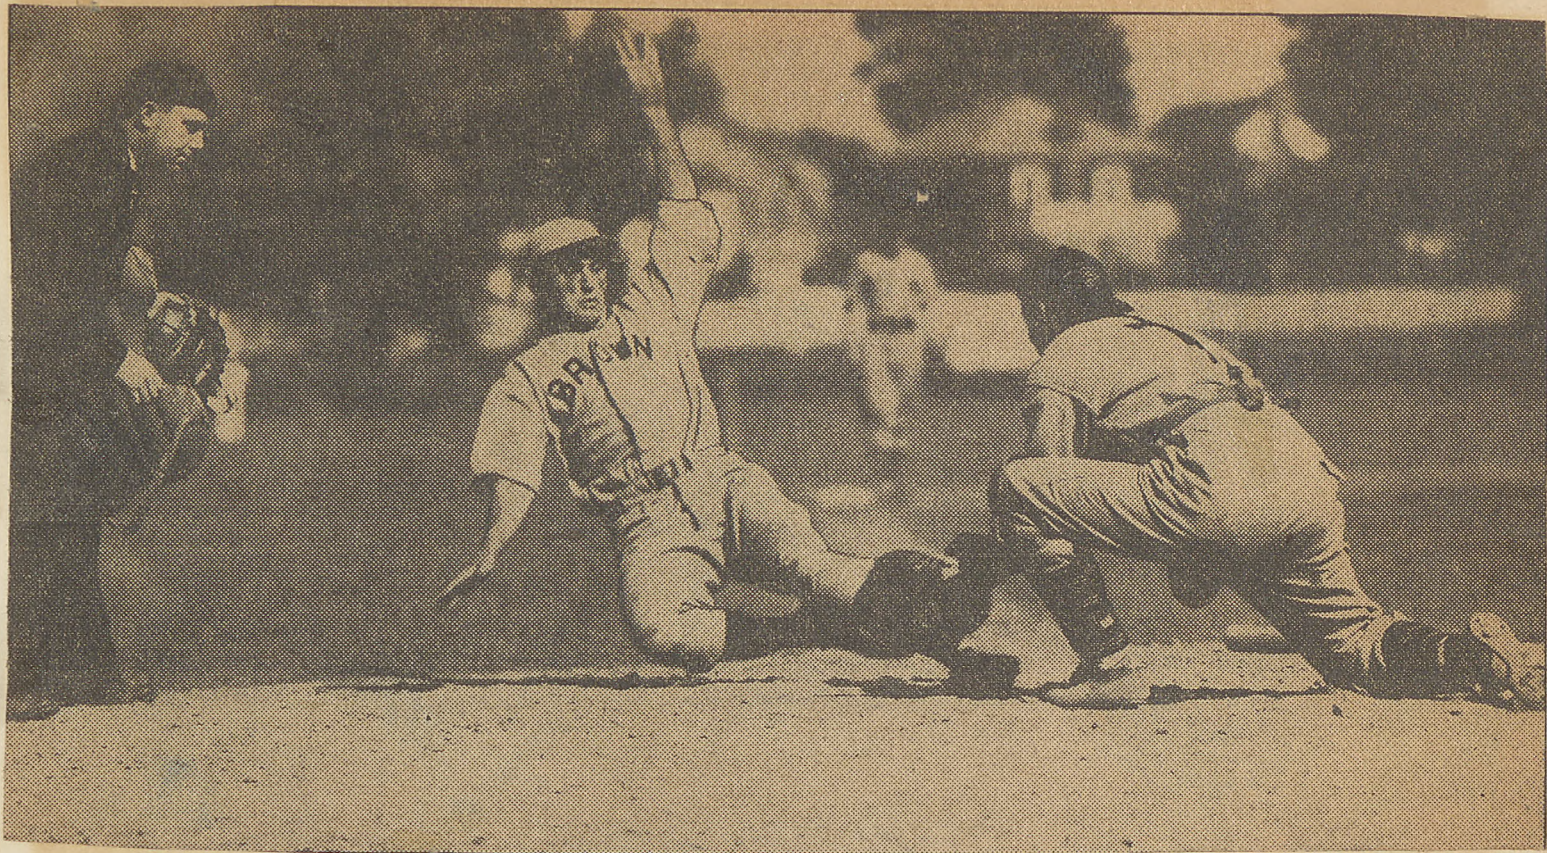

The victory also enabled the Bears to shorten the gap between themselves and the Friars in their all-time series. Yesterday's game was the 33rd in that series and gave Brown its 11th victory as against 22 for the Friars.

* * *

Collins's wildness, more than any one other thing, was responsible for Brown's scoring. The Friar captain walked three batters in the opening frame and those walks, combined with two errors, gave the Bruins two runs. An error, a single and a walk filled the bases in the second and the Bears got their third run when Collins hit Clements with a pitched ball, forcing in a counter.

Game played: June 12, 1937

He Shall Not Pass!—Gus Hagstrom

After clouting a lusty triple to right centre in the fifth inning of the Brown-Providence College baseball game at Aldrich Field yesterday afternoon, Capt. Paul Clements attempted to score on Jim Swallow's grounder to Karl Sherry, Friar pitcher. Sherry feinted to first, turned and whipped the ball to Catcher Gus Hagstrom who was waiting for Clements as he slid for the plate. There was no opening for Clements and he was out, Plate Umpire Walsh calling the play. The Bruins won, 3-2, to tie up the State and City series at .500 all a round.

Karl Sherry, right-handed ace of the Friar mound staff, pitched the rest of the distance and all but handcuffed the Bruin batters. He was nicked for four hits, including a triple by Clements in the fifth, but held the home side scoreless. He fanned six batters and issued no walks.

Devaney's mound performance was especially noteworthy in that he pitched a two-hit game in the face of repeated arguments on the part of the Friars that he was using an illegal stance. The arguments prolonged the game but failed of disturbing the equanimity of the Bruin right hander. Both hits registered off his delivery were made by Leo Fischer, lead-off man, who collected a single and double.

The Bears got away to a good start after one was out in the opening frame, when Wright, Welch and Hicks drew successive passes. Wright scored when Clements hit to Belliveau at second and Ploski dropped the Friar second sacker's toss to the keystone cushion that would have forced Hicks. Atwell rolled a slow grounder to Fischer and Welch counted when the Friar first baseman's throw to Hagstrom drew the latter off the plate. The rally ended when Swallow fanned and Brush forced Atwell at second.

Brokaw walked with one out in the second, but was caught at second on an attempted steal. Belliveau then let Wright's grounder get past him and the runner went all the way to third when Welch singled to centre. Hicks walked, filling the bases, and Wright was forced across the plate when Collins hit Clements with a pitched ball. Sherry came in at that point and retired the side, Atwell flying out to Ploski.

The Friar right-hander was in trouble only twice in the remaining innings. Clements opened the third with a triple to right centre, but was caught at the plate when he attempted to score on Swallow's roller to Sherry. A double play, Belliveau to Ploski to Fischer, halted another Bruin rally in the eighth after Atwell and Swallow had opened the inning with successive singles.

Providence picked up its first run in the sixth, Fischer opened the inning with a double down the first base line that Wright touched but couldn't stop. Gallagher and Ploski grounded out but Bobinski was passed and Sherry hit on the knee by one of Devaney's slants, filling the bases, Devaney then passed Belliveau, forcing Fischer in with a run.

Ploski and Bobinski drew passes to open the eighth and advanced on Sherry's sacrifice bunt. Ploski scored from third after Swallow's catch of Belliveau's long fly to left but Bobinski was left stranded with the tying run when Hazell grounded out.

The game was the last of the season for the Friars who completed their campaign with a mark of 13 victories and 10 defeats in 23 games. The Bears play one more game, against Indiana University at Aldrich Field on Tuesday. Yesterday's victory was their seventh of the season. They lost eight and tied one.

CROWLEY CHOSEN TO CAPTAIN FRIARS

Brilliant Outfielder Gained Regular Berth During Sophomore Year.

Johnny "Wink" Crowley, Providence College left fielder, from Valley Falls, was elected captain of the 1938 Friar baseball team by Dominican lettermen before yesterday's Brown-Providence game. Crowley has been an outstanding defensive player the past two years.

The Friar captain-elect prepped at Cumberland High School, where he starred in baseball and basketball, winning all-State recognition in both fields. He was developed in his sport activities by Bernard Norton, then coach, and now Superintendent of Schools of Cumberland.

Norton starred at Providence College as a shortstop on one of Jack Flynn's outstanding teams.

The new Friar baseball captain won a regular berth as a Freshman and in his Sophomore year clinched the varsity outfield post, playing most of the season in centre field. This spring he was shifted to left where he has turned in some of the finest fielding ever contributed by a Friar athlete.

Crowley will have six lettermen, besides himself, available next spring including Elt Deuse, catcher; Leo Fischer, Leo Ploski, Noel Doyle and Bill Moge, infielders, and Ed Bobinski, centre fielder.

Ex-Friar Star to

New Orleans

GALLAGHER GOES TO NEW ORLEANS

The Cleveland Indians, it was learned today, have definitely taken Charley Gallagher, Providence College product, into the fold and have ordered the former Friar athlete to report to their farm club, the New Orleans Pelicans, of the Southern Association, March 5.

Cleveland's action in hooking on to Gallagher marks the entrance of another Friar star into the big league baseball picture in which George "Birdie" Tebbetts, former Dominican backstop, is now holding forth as understudy to Rudy York with the Detroit Tigers.

Gallagher, who starred both as an outfielder and a third baseman with the Friars and in summer baseball, will try out with the Pelicans at third base, in which position he shone last spring during the greater part of his final season with the Dominican 'varsity.

Cleveland has been interested in Gallagher for some time. Last summer, after he had played for a time in the Cape Cod League, and later with Glace Bay in Nova Scotia, the Indians invited him to spend the latter part of the season travelling with the team. Gallagher gives credit for much of the Indians' interest in him to "Bad News" Hale, Cleveland third baseman, who gave the rookie from Providence College some useful tips on guarding the hot corner.

Gallagher was brilliant both in basketball and baseball at Providence College. He came to the Friar institution in 1933 from Newton Centre, Mass., and in his first year was a member of the undefeated Freshman basketball team, which scored 19 victories in as many games. He captained the Freshman baseball team to eight victories in 11 starts. He was a member of the 'varsity basketball and baseball teams for three seasons.

COLLINS AND BROOKS OF FRIARS SIGN YANKEE CONTRACTS

Pitching Recruits Ordered to Report to Newark Club

Expected to Be Farmed Out for Year's Seasoning
After Tryouts.

Capt. Fred "Lefty" Collins of New Milford, Conn., and Marshall Brooks of Hamden, Conn., members of the Providence College baseball team during the past three seasons, were signed by the New York Yankees yesterday afternoon at a conference with Paul Critchell, head Yankee scout, in the Biltmore Hotel. Both received their degrees at the Providence College commencement exercises on Thursday.

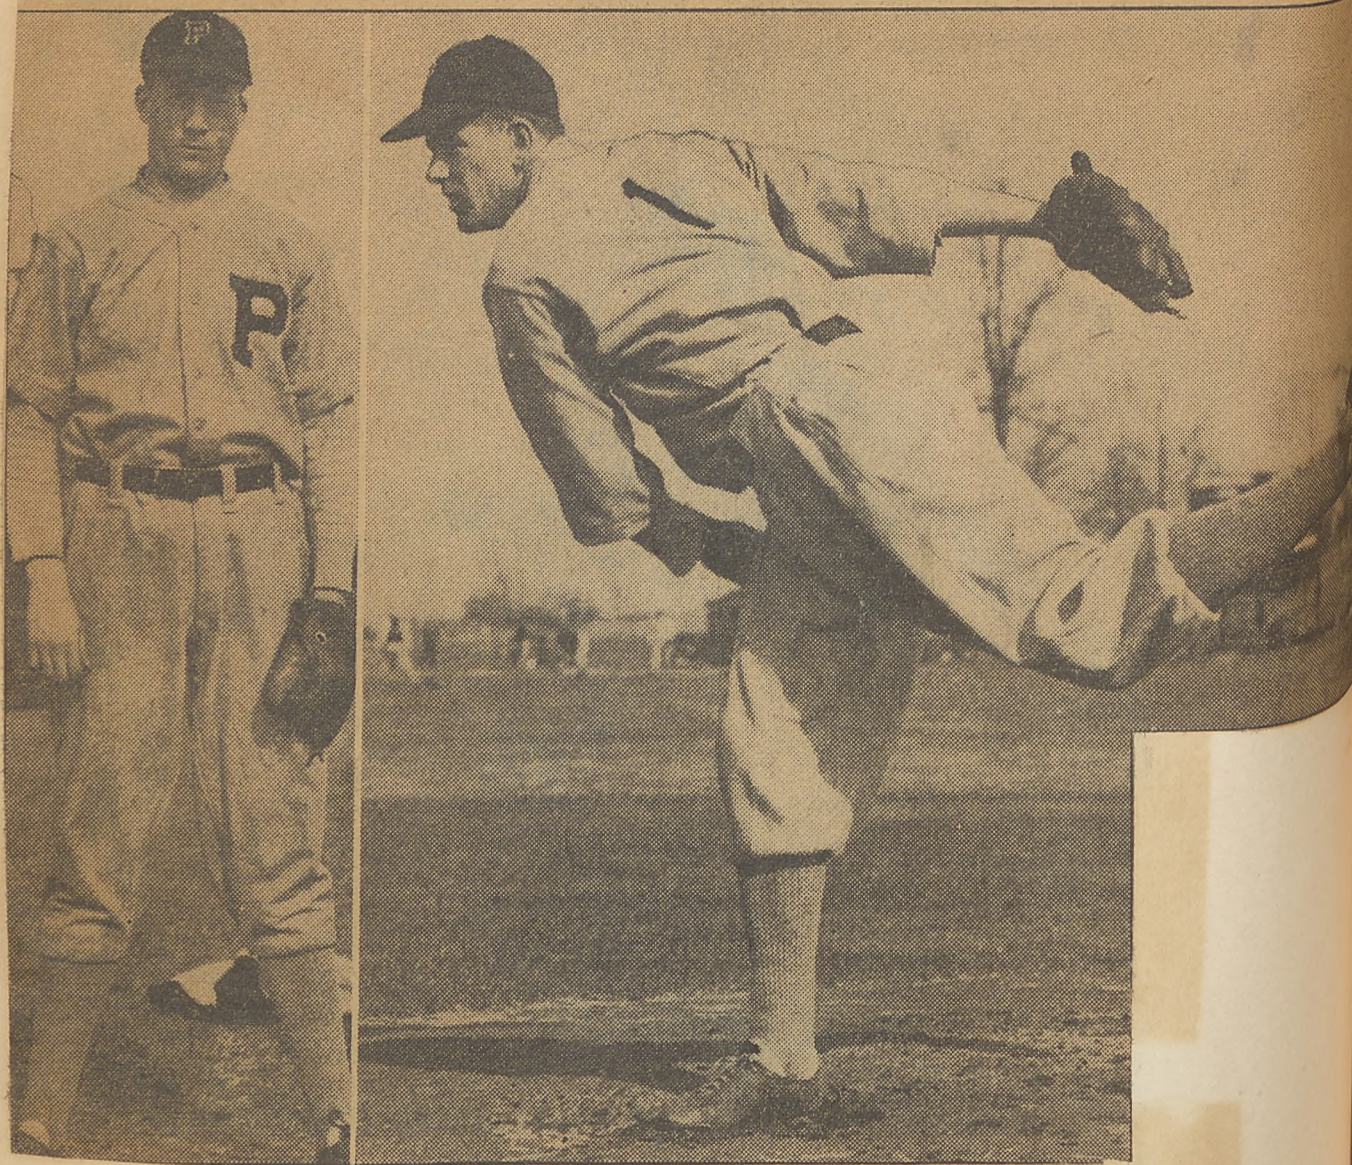

The two pitching recruits have been under the eyes of Critchell on several occasions during the past Friar campaign. Both will report to Newark, present leaders of the International League, tomorrow for preliminary tryouts, and then will be sent to farm teams for a year of seasoning. It is expected that Collins will go to Norfolk in the Piedmont League and Brooks to Akron in the Middle Atlantic League.

In his comments yesterday following the signing of the players, Critchell had high praise for both boys. With a year of experience behind them and satisfactory development, he expects to see both move up a step in the farm system and eventually work into the majors.

Collins expressed a wish yesterday to be given a test as an outfielder, a post he has played well both in high school and at P. C., when he has not been pitching. A natural hitter, Collins was rated by Wild Bill Corry, former Albany International League manager, as one of the best outfield prospects to come under his eye in several seasons. Collins played under Corry with the Plattsburg team the past two summers and hit .300.

Friars Signed Yesterday by New York Yankee

Marshall Brooks of Hamden, Conn., left, and Capt. Fred "Lefty" Collins of New Milford, Conn., right, members of the Providence College baseball team during the past three seasons, were signed by the New York Yankees yesterday. Paul Critchell, head Yankee scout, brought the contracts to Providence and after the signing ceremonies at the Biltmore Hotel ordered both to report to Newark of the International League tomorrow.

Collins will not be 21 until September. He left last night for his home in New Milford to obtain his parents' signatures to his contract. The Friar captain prepared for Providence College at New Milford high, where he was captain of the team for two seasons. During his four years in school, the New Milford team won the Housatonic Valley championship each season. Collins led his mates in hitting and when not pitching played in the outfield.

As a freshman at Providence College the Yankee recruit was the ranking pitcher, winning all four games he started. His sophomore season was his best. He won eight and lost three during that campaign. Illness hampered his work as a junior, but nevertheless he turned in a record of six victories and three losses. The past year his record was four victories and four defeats.

Brooks attended Commercial high in New Haven, where he played one season on the baseball team, winning 10 games in 14 starts. He was graduated in 1932, and stayed out of school a year before entering Providence College. In New Haven schoolboy circles, Brooks was the unanimous choice for all-scholastic pitcher.

Gallagher Reports To Indians Saturday

Glance Bay, N. S., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Charlie Gallagher, an outfielder for the Glance Bay Miners in the Cape Breton Colliery Baseball League, said tonight he had been ordered to report to the Cleveland Indians at Boston Saturday. Gallagher came here subject to recall by the Indians, who acquired him from the Cape Cod League this year.

COLLINS' TWIRLING TURNS BACK MINERS

Art Doll Loses Mound Duel; Hafey's Brilliant Fielding Aids Bings

SCRANTON, Pa., July 8 (A. P.)—Southpaw Fred Collins bested Righthander Art (the Moose) Doll today and Binghamton edged out Scranton, 4-3, in 94-degree heat before 300 frying fans here today.

Successive doubles by McCullough and Remerenko at the start of the sixth inning together with Collins' outfield fly gave the Triplets their tying and winning runs in the sixth inning. Ogorek's single and Stavracos' double brought one run in the first and McCullough's single and Billy Marshall's two-base error on Tom Hafey's liner resulted in another tally in the fourth.

Hafey's spectacular fielding in the sixth when the Miners filled the bases on three walks killed Scranton's threat in that frame

Leo Ploski will play amateur ball in Albany, his home town, and Bill Moge of Springfield will again join the Troy Garage club of Stockbridge, Mass., in independent ball. Ed Bobinski will play with one of New Haven's leading amateur clubs.

Two Providence College graduates who appear to have a baseball future are as yet undecided about entering the field. Karl Sherry, top-ranking pitcher, worked out with Detroit when that club was in Boston last summer, and made a fine impression. He has had no offers yet, and will again be in charge of the playground system in Pawtucket this summer.

Charlie Gallagher of Newton, Mass., the Friars' third baseman, has had offers from minor league teams, but prefers something more tangible before attempting a career on professional diamonds. Both Sherry and Gallagher were standouts during the past Friar campaign

FRIAR FRESHMEN

WIN OPENER, 11-7

New Bedford, Mass., April 21.—The Providence College Freshmen opened their baseball campaign here this afternoon by defeating New Bedford Textile School, 11-7, in a 10-inning game played under poor conditions at Buttonwood Park. A cold wind swept the diamond and it rained and hailed throughout.

The Providence lads opened up an early 4-0 lead and Kwasniewski had his team in front, 4-2, when he left the game in the fourth. Jim Padden relieved him, but, with the visitors leading, 6-2, in the eighth, Textile rallied and tied the score, Tom Barry's triple with the bases loaded doing the damage.

With one out in the Providence half of the 10th, Barnini singled, his third hit of the game, and went to second on Ashworth's poor throw to first. He stole third. Chick Pomfret walked. Alexander singled, scoring Barnini, and Les Burdge beat out a hit to short, filling the bases. Pitcher Scavatto then put the game safely away by slamming a triple to centre, clearing the sacks.

P. C. FRESHMAN NINE
TOPS HARVARD '40

Harvard Youngsters Play Ragged, Lose 9 to 6

Game played: May 1, 1937

Five runs in the eighth inning, when the Harvard Freshman baseball defence split wide open, gave the Providence College Freshmen their third straight victory, 9 to 6, yesterday afternoon at Hendricken Field, in a very loose exhibition. The triumph enabled the P. C. yearlings to maintain their undefeated status.

The fact that both pitchers gave an "in and out" performance left much of the defensive play to the fielders and they in turn booted enough chances to make the ball game "anybody's contest" right up to the completion of the final out.

Jim Padden, Providence Freshman hurler, was steadier than John Woodward of the Crimson first-year nine for most of the contest. Opportune Harvard hitting and Providence errors gave the Crimson an edge until the eighth. Then Harvard miscues turned the tide the other way.

Even in the ninth, the visitors had prospects of tying the score, or even pulling out a victory, as Padden weakened, allowed a single and passed three batters, forcing in a run. Harvard sent two pinch hitters to the plate in an effort to score the men on bases but Padden came through with two strikeouts and forced a man at third to stop the marathon.

On the right side of the statistics' ledger Padden made 13 strikeouts and held the Crimson to six hits, two of the scratch variety. Woodward struck out seven and was nicked for eight hits. Across the page, Woodward issued 13 passes, made a balk and hit a batter while Padden passed seven and made a wild pitch.

The visitors completed a pair of double plays to check the home club in two crucial spots. Curtis pulled down three hard-hit flies in centre, with the bases loaded on two occasions.

At the end of the seventh the visitors were leading, 5-4. Padden's strikeouts and alert Friar fielding sent Harvard down in its half of the eighth, Barnini, first up in the eighth for the Friars, struck out, but, following Padden's single to right, three Harvard errors, two passes and Nugent's double scored five runs.

FRIAR YEARLINGS TROUNCE EAGLETS

Providence College Freshmen Win, 7 to 0, to Score Their 4th Straight Victory.

Anthony Scavatto, ambidextrous Providence College Freshman pitcher, yesterday twirled the undefeated Friar Yearlings to their fourth straight victory, when they won, 7 to 0, from the Boston College Freshmen at Hendricken Field.

Scavatto hurled with his left hand yesterday but is equally effective with his right. He held the Eaglets hitless for four innings and finally allowed only six hits. His mates backed him up with alert fielding, which included two double killings.

The Friar Freshmen jumped into a commanding lead with five runs in the first inning. Nugent walked and Brochu singled. Both runners advanced on a passed ball and came in on Gendron's hit. Ayzasian sacrificed and Barnini was hit to put two more Friars on base. Leo then cracked out a triple, clearing the bases. Leo scored on Alexander's long fly to centre.

The Friar yearlings added another run in the sixth, Scavatto beat out a grounder, advanced on Nugent's single and scored when Sarafian misjudged Brochu's high fly.

The winner's last run came in the seventh, Ayzasian singled, moved up as Barnini walked and scored as Leo was being thrown out at first.

Vin Nugent turned in outstanding defensive work for the Friar Freshmen, handling eight chances and figuring in two double plays. Donat Brochu took care of five chances at third.

"Red" Gendron had the best day at bat with two singles. Leo's triple was the only extra base hit of the game.

Cromwell, Green and McGovern turned in capable work afield for the Eaglets. Lydon's single to centre and Sarafian's bingle to right were the only clean Eaglet hits.

"SQUEEZE" BEATS FRIAR YEARLINGS

(Special to the Providence Journal)
Danvers, Mass., May 7.—A squeeze play in the 10th inning scored Johnny Yacukoos and gave St. John's Prep a 7 to 6 victory over Providence Freshmen this afternoon.

Kivesneuski of Providence Freshmen and O'Leary of the home nine engaged in a hurling duel during most of the game, the former striking out seven and the latter 12. Scavato finished up the contest for the visitors.

A home run by Nahigian and a triple by Sidenas featured the 13 hits made by St. John's off Hurlers Kivesneuski and Scavato and were the basis of three and two run rallies in the third and fourth innings. Providence mixed passes and hits off O'Leary for a 5 to 1 lead going into the third until the St. John rallies.

Padden's Pinch Single in Extra
Inning Breaks 5-5
Deadlock.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)
Newton, Mass., May 10.—Jim Padden, pinch hitting for Catcher Don Morrell, singled in the 10th inning, scored two runs and started the Providence College Freshmen off to an 8 to 5 victory over the Boston College Freshmen this afternoon at University Heights.

Following Barnini's fly to centre field, Bagley drew a pass and Leo advanced him and reached himself with an infield hit. Pomfret forced Leo, Bagley reaching third. Padden dropped a single into centre field scoring Bagley, Pomfret moving to third.

Nugent singled scoring Pomfret and when the local players began throwing the ball around Padden came in with the third run.

Pomfret for the visitors and Cromwell for the locals led the respective hitting.

FRIAR YEARLINGS WHIP BEARS, 13-6

Dominicans Uncork Seven-Run
Scoring Spree in Sixth;
Padden Pitches Well.

Uncorking a seven-run drive in the sixth inning, the Providence College Freshman baseball team scored its sixth victory in seven starts by subduing the Brown yearlings, 13 to 6, at Aldrich Field yesterday.

Jim Padden, former La Salle Academy athlete, pitched a fine game for the Friars. He allowed 10 hits, but was effective in the pinches.

The teams battled on even terms for five innings, but Canner, of the Bears weakened after an excellent start in the sixth, and the Friars tallied seven runs to take a 10-3 advantage.

Pomfret, first up in the sixth, grounded out, but Leo doubled and then followed base hits by Padden and Ayzasian, which coupled with two walks and two errors, gave the Friars their seven markers.

The Bears rallied in the ninth and tallied three runs.

YOUNG CRUSADERS BEAT FRIAR CUBS

7 to 6 Ten-Inning Defeat,
Second in Eight Games for
P. C. Freshmen.

The undefeated Holy Cross Freshman baseball team scored its eighth straight victory, 7-6, at the expense of the Providence College Freshmen at Hendriken Field yesterday afternoon in a 10-inning battle. It was the second defeat for the young Friars in eight games.

Staging a four-run rally in the ninth inning the home team tied the score and had the winning run safe at home when a block was called by Umpire Bill Halloran and the runner sent back to third. Two were out and Leo and Barnini were on second and third at the time.

Barnini raced home as "Clete" Theriault, Holy Cross yearling pitcher, started his delivery. Catcher Jim Keating of Holy Cross let the ball go past him and Barnini was safe. Meanwhile Leo was speeding home as Keating went after the ball. A youngster near the stand picked up the ball and by the time Keating had retrieved it and thrown to Theriault at the plate, Leo had scored.

Players swarmed from both dug-outs and Halloran soon was surrounded by an excited group. After consulting both coaches Halloran ruled a block ball and sent Leo back to third. Pomfret, who was at bat, struck out to end the inning.

In the 10th Kwasniewski issued a pass to Medford. He went to third when Kwasniewski made a wild peg to Leo trying to pick him off first. Medford scored the winning run on McAuliff's grounder to Avazian.

Two passes by Scavatto and a sacrifice put Medford and McAuliff in scoring position in the second inning. Both tallied when Theriault hit to left and Burdge erred on Barnini's fine peg to the plate. Giardi's triple, another error by Burdge and Keating's single gave the visitors two more in the third.

Giardi's single and a home run by Medford to deep left centre gave the visitors two runs in the fifth. Kwasniewski replaced Scavatto in the sixth and the Holy Cross scoring was checked for the next four innings.

Pomfret drove in Barnini, who had singled and stolen second in the second inning, for the Friars' first tally. Leo sent Avazian home with another run in the eighth with a triple to left field. A walk, an error, two singles and a passed ball enabled the young Friars to tie the score in the ninth.

FRIAR FRESHMEN

LIST FOUR GAMES

Play State, Springfield and Brown in Final Week of Schedule.

Providence College tennis and Freshman baseball schedules will come to a close this week. The tennis team will face Springfield, Clark and American International College on the latter's courts.

Providence's first-year club won a 13-6 decision over the Brown Freshmen last week. The game with the Ramlets was originally listed for May 6, but was postponed because of wet grounds. On Friday afternoon the Ramlets will pay a visit to Hendricken Field to engage the Friar Freshmen.

Brown's first-year team will come to Hendricken Field on Wednesday. The Friar yearlings will be busier this week than they have been any other week all season as they will play the Springfield College Freshmen at Springfield on Tuesday.

Providence's varsity nine which has turned in a "hot and cold" performance lately will tackle two rivals of long standing during the week. On Tuesday the Friars travel to Springfield and on Saturday they invade Worcester to meet the Holy Cross team.

RAIN WASHES OUT FRESHMAN GAME

Rain saved the R. I. State Freshman ball team from probable defeat at Kingston yesterday afternoon, when a downpour forced cancellation of the contest with Providence College in the first half of the fourth inning.

The visitors scored two runs in the third and a pair of tallies in the fourth, as rain suddenly interrupted the play. The offerings of Bob "Lefty" Hale were no puzzle to the Providence Freshmen. The teams meet in Providence Friday in a regularly scheduled contest.

The game between the Brown Freshmen and the Providence College Freshmen, rained out yesterday, will be played this afternoon at Hendricken Field at 4 o'clock. Called upon to meet two intra-State rivals in two days, the P. C. Freshmen will have Jim Padden, former La Salle pitcher, on the mound today and Joe Kwasniewski will be sent against the R. I. State first-year nine tomorrow.

George Whitford, another La Salle graduate, will catch this afternoon. Padden turned in a fine game against the Bruin Cubs last week, when the Friar Freshmen won, 13-6, and Coach Jack Egan is banking on him to turn the trick again today. Off their performance at Springfield Wednesday and their first showing against the Bruin Cubs, the Friar Freshmen will be favored to win.

BRUIN CUBS BOW TO YOUNG FRIARS

Providence College Nine's 14-4 Victory Second Straight Over City Rivals.

Jim Padden, former La Salle athlete, pitched the Providence College Freshmen to a 14-4 triumph over the Brown Freshmen at Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon. The victory was the second straight for Providence, and also for Padden, over the Bruin Cubs.

Errors marred the Brown team's play and gave the home team an edge which it followed up with some lusty clouts to take a decisive victory. The Bruin Cubs made their most serious threat in the opening inning, but the Friar Freshmen scored four runs and piled up a wide margin with runs in five of the next seven innings.

Len Canner started on the mound for the Bruins but gave way to Bill Glatfelter in the third inning. Poor support nullified the efforts of both Canner and Glatfelter, who allowed three and five hits, respectively.

Ed Pietrusza, Brown Freshman third baseman, hit a home run in the sixth. Cook's triple drove in Nelson in the first inning. Johnny Ayzasian was outstanding at bat for the Friar Freshmen, with a triple, two doubles and a single in five times at bat.

FRIAR YEARLINGS WHIP STATE CUBS

11 to 6 Victory Gives Domini- cans City and State Freshman Titles.

Providence College's hard-hitting Freshman baseball team closed its schedule at Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon with an 11-6 victory over the Rhode Island State freshmen. The triumph brought the young Friars' season record to nine victories and two losses, and gave them the city and State yearling baseball championships.

State's freshmen took a 3-0 lead in the second inning, but Hale weakened in the fourth and the young Friars scored seven runs on a hit barrage including a homer and four triples mixed in with three passes and an error.

The visitors rallied in the sixth to score twice, but the young Friars tallied two in the seventh and two in the eighth to assume a commanding lead that was sufficient to win. Hale, State's starting twirler, gave up seven hits in the 3-2-3 innings he was on the mound and Pace was nicked for five hits.

FITZPATRICK IS TENNIS CAPTAIN

Will Coach and Lead Friar Varsity Netmen In '37 Competition

Francis Fitzpatrick, one of the outstanding netmen in New England, will lead the 1937 tennis team.

Varsity letter men elected Fitzpatrick to the captaincy at a meeting held last Tuesday. He will lead his teammates through an impressive nine-game schedule which was released this week by the Providence College Athletic Association.

Fitzpatrick was elected vice-president of the New England Intercollegiate Lawn Tennis Association last season, and is the only undergraduate to hold office in the organization this season. The new captain has twice reached the semi-finals in the New England Intercollegiate championships. He will select and coach the Friar netmen. Last year's team won nine out of ten matches, and he will have a difficult task in forming a team to equal that of last season's. The other lettermen returning are Maury Regan and Paul Farley.

It is possible that the schedule may be increased by one or two matches within the next few weeks. Otherwise the schedule will stand as follows:

"FRIAR BOY,"
Dalmatian hunt dog, the college mascot.

Friar Mascot Is Dead; Had Ruled Three Years

"Friar-Boy"—for the past three years official Providence College mascot, died last night.

Given to the school in the fall of 1934 by the What-Ho Kennels in New Jersey, the Dalmatian Hunt dog was legally known as the Friar of What-Ho. To the 800 students, he had become a tradition.

Little is known of the cause of the dog's death and authorities last night simply revealed that he is "no longer with us."

New England Colleges to Use Selected List of Baseball Umpires

CONFERENCE NAMES GROUP OF 46 APPROVED OFFICIALS

Five Rhode Islanders Included. — Athletic Directors and Coaches Aid New Plan

BY JOE NUTTER

For the first time in the history of college baseball in New England, and that embraces a period of almost 80 years, the colleges will work under officials who have been selected from an approved list. Thus baseball follows the path carved out by basketball as the colleges seek greater proficiency in officiating.

A list of 46 officials, five of whom are Rhode Islanders, has gone out to the members of the New England College Conference. The athletic directors of those institutions will have this list at their disposal in seeking officials for their games. While use of the list is not mandatory, it is expected that practically all of the New England nines will operate their games under officials from the list.

WORK STARTED DURING '36 SEASON

The assembling of a list for the forthcoming baseball season brings to a conclusion the efforts of the Baseball Committee of the Association of New England Colleges for Conference on Athletics. That committee comprises John E. Farrell of Providence College, chairman; A. W. Marsh of Amherst and Dr. Frederick W. Marvel of Brown. The committee has worked through a period of years to bring the idea to its present status.

* * *

During the 1936 season, a temporary set-up was established so that the committee would have data on which to work this year. A tentative list was made out, and colleges were asked to make a report on the proficiency of the work of the officials. Many of the colleges co-operated and now the committee has taken that data and used it as a basis for making out the present approved list.

* * *

The list from which officials will be drawn this spring:

Daniel Barry, Boston; William Cleary, Cambridge; Leonard Collins, Arlington; Henry Devron, Providence; J. E. DuLong, Wakefield, Mass.; John Finnell, Providence; Augustus Gardella, Arlington; C. C. Hayden, Rutland, Vt.; D. W. Kelleher, West Somerville, Mass.; John McDonald, Malden; J. W. Mooney, Boston; J. L. Mullin, Cambridge; Daniel Silva, Everett, Mass.; and James Sullivan, John Whalen and John E. Winters, all of Springfield.

Arthur Ayer, Boston; Ralph Brewer, Wiscasset, Me.; H. L. Brophy, Conn.; F. R. Corkin, Meriden, Conn.; Walter Elliot, Hartford, Conn.; Christopher Leary, Holyoke, Mass.; J. McDonough, Augusta, Me.; Edward McKeon, Somersworth, N. H.; Muldoon, Hartford, Conn.; Frank Rudderham, Providence; Milton Schroeder, Hamden, Conn.; Albert Slade, Springfield; George Tyler, Lowell, Mass.; John J. Walsh, Holbrook, Mass.; Thomas Whelan, Lynn; Charles Wotton, Rockland, Me.

J. F. Berry, Burlington, Vt.; John J. Burke, Providence; Cleary, Waterbury, Conn.; Frank Gibson, Augusta, Me.; W. T. Halloran, Providence; Charles Hoffman, Boston; Thomas Keady, Melrose; Vincent Murphy, West Roxbury, Mass.; William O'Connor, Somerville, Mass.; Walter I. Pearce, Providence; Peterson, Middletown, Conn.; George Skelly, New Haven; Edward Soucie, Brewer, Me., and Arthur Taylor, Auburn, Me.

OFFICIALS TO BE GRADED

Farrell, the prime mover for this approved list, will check on the work of the officials. His post, assumed voluntarily, is under appointment of the Association of New England Colleges. Farrell will send out a block of cards to each athletic director, and those cards in turn will be returned to him with data for compilation in extending the list.

* * *

Officials will be graded on a 5, 4, 3, 2, and 1 basis, according to whether their work was excellent, good, fair, unsatisfactory, or incompetent. The designation of the place the official worked will be made, his rating given, and that card signed by the coach and athletic director.

The executive committee of the New England Colleges for conference on athletics, comprises: Malcolm Farmer of Yale; A. M. Brown of Middlebury; Lloyd Jordan, Amherst; Johnny Harmon, Boston University, and C. P. Houston, Tufts.
