*Farrell Again Heads
N. E. Baseball Group*

John E. Farrell of Providence has been reappointed chairman of the baseball committee of the Association of New England Colleges for Conference on Athletics, for the fifth straight time. Other members of the board include Sabin Abell, graduate manager of athletics at the University of Vermont, and Russell Peterson, athletic director at American International College.

The board grades and supervises the work of the college baseball umpires in New England, and acts as a check on the approved umpiring list, on which there are 85 men. Formerly graduate manager of athletics at Providence College, Farrell joined the group in 1936. He now fills the position as a hobby, in conjunction with his duties as secretary of the Rhode Island Medical Association.

Elton Deuse

ELTON DEUSE TO GET CHANCE AT SARASOTA WITH RED SOX

Manager Joe Cronin to Give Big Catcher Once Over in Spring Practice Sessions

By J. D. McGLONE

"I'm taking Elton Deuse to Sarasota with the Red Sox because I want another look at the big Providence College catcher," says Joe Cronin.

Deuse reported to Fenwick Park last June, and at first it was suggested to Cronin by Billy Evans, head of the Sox farm system, that the collegian be sent to Canton, O., but Cronin, after working out with him, suggested that Rocky Mount in the Piedmont League was the better spot for him.

Deuse has all the physical qualifications for a catcher of the size of "a Bill Dickey or a Gabby Hartnett," the formula prescribed by Tom Yawkey in orders to Evans and his scouts.

Deuse is even taller than George Lacey, the Minneapolis catcher, who was bought, along with Pitchers Herb Hash and Bill Butland, for spring delivery. Lacey stands six feet, two and one-half inches, and Deuse rises an inch and a half higher. Both weigh 190 pounds. Dickey is far from being a midget at six feet, one and one-half inches, or half an inch taller than Hartnett.

Lacey has yet to prove himself capable of making bench warmers of Gene Desautels and Johnny Peacock, but he has had the benefit of experience in the American Association, and so holds priority over Deuse, whose professional career covers only 18 games as catcher and four other games as pinch hitter with Rocky Mount.

A great deal depends on what Deuse shows Cronin next month. He may go back to Rocky Mount, or he may be moved up to Louisville, which is partly owned by Yawkey.

The test with Rocky Mount was hardly a fair one to Deuse. Fresh from the college campus, he was tossed into night baseball. His catching did not suffer, but his batting did. Where he had battered college pitching for an average well over .300, Deuse found himself in a strange world.

As he perused the Piedmont League averages, Cronin found Deuse made only two hits, both singles, in 44 times at bat in 22 games for a mark of .045. He received two walks, but struck out 14 times.

"That doesn't sound like the husky fellow who drove half a dozen balls against the left field wall at Fenway Park and two or three over the screen in the workout he had with me," says Cronin. "Probably his debut under the lights at Rocky Mount shook his confidence. It will be up to us to restore his faith in himself at Sarasota. I know he has power, because he demonstrated it to me."

Deuse will be in the first squad of Red Sox, which leaves Boston for Sarasota on Feb. 28. Wilfrid Lefebvre of Pawtucket also will go along, although he is not scheduled to remain with the Sox. Cronin believes another season in the minors will be good for Lefebvre, who shares the manager's opinion. Present plans call for Lefebvre to pitch for San Francisco, which is sending Domenic DiMaggio to the Red Sox.

FRIARS BECOMING BASEBALL MINDED

MAR 11 1940

When and Where to Practice

Has Coach Art Quirk

Scratching His Head.

Baseball is in the air at Providence College these days and although Dr. Art Quirk, the Friar coach, is worrying about the dual problems of when and where to practice, the prospects of a good team again this season are not remote.

True Elt Deuse, perhaps the best catcher in eastern collegiate circles last spring, has gone, being currently in Florida with the Red Sox, and Hal Martin, a robust-hitter and classy fielder has departed, but the remaining talent is considerable.

Coach Quirk will have 12 lettermen available this spring and a number of other veteran performers who just missed the letter ranks a year back. The pitching should be better than last season simply because all the 1939 flingers are back and should be the better for the added seasoning.

Big Joe Kwasniewski heads the pitching talent with Walter Morris, unbeaten last season, the classy Steve Fallon and speedy Amby Reynolds rounding out the veteran staff. Charley Doyle, Lou Sibbio, Jerry O'Brien and Vin Ward will be new pitching candidates.

In addition to the hurriers, returning lettermen are Jack Barnini, an outfielder or catcher, depending upon the needs of the moment; Johnny Ayvazian, shortstop; Jim Begley, second baseman; Art Clarkin, third baseman; Bob Harrison, outfielder and first baseman; Jack Keenan, infielder; Jimmy Leo, first baseman, and Donat Brochu, who lost the sight of an eye while playing third base last spring but is planning on trying for an outfield berth.

Vinny Nugent, Johnny Werbicki and Dan McKinnon are players of considerable experience who will report and undoubtedly see plenty of service. In addition such new men as Ed Barbarito, and Paul Rylander, infielders; Ed Bradley, Ray Roy, Jack Lee, and Russ Varnum, outfielders and Johnny Yockers, a catcher, are expected to give the veterans gobs competition.

Nugent, who plays either the infield or outfield, is likely varsity timber and Werbicki, McKinnon and Barnini—an outfielder last season—will fight it out with Yockers for the catching job. Yockers caught for the freshmen last spring and did a thoroughly satisfactory job and probably is the man to beat for the berth.

Series Scheduled

Indiana and Kansas Fives to Clash at Kansas City

Kansas City, March 25.—(AP)—Indiana and Kansas, the two States where ardent mothers substitute basketballs for teething rings, send their university quintets here this week-end for the "World Series of Basketball."

Not only will Saturday's game decide a successor to Oregon University as National Collegiate Athletic Association champion but it is an unofficial battle for retribution for the two States.

Earlier in the month the University of Colorado moved into the No. 1 national ranking by winning the Metropolitan Sports Writers' tournament in New York with six members of its 12-man traveling squad from Kansas.

The same week-end Tarkio, Mo., College won the National Intercollegiate crown—with three of its from Jonesboro, Ind. through the last Heflin was returned to Scranton, where he will be joined by Waite, an 18-game winner last year with Canton. Johnson, a collegian from St. Mary's in California, will be making his start as a professional.

Dasso, who twirled a no-hit game for Little Rock last April and finished the season with Scranton, goes to San Francisco to join Wilfrid Lefebvre, Pawtucket boy, as part of the deal for Dominic DiMaggio. Both Lefebvre and Dasso are on option and may be recalled. Sayles won eight and lost that many for Little Rock before he was recalled late in the summer by the Bosox. He has been hampered this spring by a lame arm.

Irwin played for Louisville last season and batted .274. It was originally planned to sell him to New Orleans without bringing him to Florida for training, but Commissioner Landis recommended that the Sox take another look at him. They did—and now have released him outright to Little Rock. It isn't likely he'll ever be seen in a Red Sox uniform again.

Deuse Will Catch In Middle Atlantic

Cronin to Send Ex-P. C. Star to Canton Where He Will Be Active in 100 Games.

BY J. D. McGLONE

Sarasota, Fla., March 25.—Manager Joe Cronin of the Red Sox and Billy Evans, head of Tom Yawkey's farm system, went into a huddle this morning and out of it came the announcement that Elton Deuse, former Providence College catcher, would go to Canton in the Middle Atlantic League on option.

"We want Deuse to catch at least 100 games this year and by making him first-string backstop at Canton he will be sure to get that much work. If we sent him back to Rocky Mount in the Piedmont League, or to Scranton in the Eastern League, or maybe to Little Rock in the Southern Association, he would have to divide the catching chores with some other fellow," explained Cronin.

"All he needs is experience," continued Evans. "We can see now it was a mistake to throw him into Rocky Mount last June, fresh as he was from the college campus. Our first hunch was to have him play in Canton, but he showed such power with the bat in several workouts with Cronin at Fenway Park that we probably became over-enthusiastic. It may be he is what we know in baseball as a 'night blinder,' but the fact of the matter is that he didn't hit at all under the lights at night for Rocky Mount. He received well, threw well, did everything else well—except bat well."

"Yes, and he still has the heavy punch at the plate," interrupted Cronin. With the exception of Jimmy Foxx, nobody in training camp hit the ball harder in practice than Deuse—not even Ted Williams—and this has gone on all spring. I still cannot understand how it happened that he made only two hits in 22 games at Rocky Mount.

"But say—what an arm that kid's got! Right now, I'd say he is the best thrower in America and I don't except Bill Dickey or Gabby Hartnett, and you know they are tops with me. Of course, the difference between Deuse and Dickey and Hartnett is that they make their best throws under fire. The kid is a little green yet. He lacks only experience and unless we are all wrong on him he'll be back with us. He is definitely a prospect for the future."

Deuse was pleased when he was told of his transfer to Canton. "I don't care where I go, as long as they let me do plenty of catching. I think I learned a lot while I was down here. Coach Tommy Daly showed me a few new wrinkles. At least, they were new to me, and Moe Berg also helped. In fact, everybody was kind to me. Of course, I'll miss my buddy, Ted Williams, but it won't be for long. I'll be back with the Red Sox."

Others cut from the Red Sox squad were Pitchers Jim Hefin, Ralph Waite, Earl Johnson, Frankie Dasso, Bill Sayles, Alpha Brazle and Infielder Tommy Irwin.

TO CATCH FOR CANTON

Providence College's Elton Deuse, now with the Red Sox squad at Sarasota, will be sent to Middle Atlantic League club on option so he can work in at least 100 games during the season. This, Boss Joe Cronin figures, will prep him to step up to Boston in 1941.

16 Baseball Games Are Booked by Friars

Season Will Start April 18 and Close June 5; Nine Home Contests Booked.

BY BARNEY MADDEN

Providence College, one of the East's outstanding college baseball teams last season, will undertake to maintain its lofty position this spring in a 16-game schedule that embraces games with several of the better baseball colleges.

The program, calling for nine home games and seven away, opens April 18 against St. John's at Brooklyn, and closes June 5 against Holy Cross at Hendricken Field. Home and home games are arranged with St. John's, Villanova, Seton Hall, Holy Cross and Boston College, as well as the annual home and home battles with Brown and Rhode Island State.

Seton Hall is the only newcomer to the home schedule, but, the South at Villanova and Seton Hall. As a matter of fact the Friars won't show at Hendricken Field until the sixth game of the season, for the skirmishes with Holy Cross at Worcester and State at Kingston follow the road trip.

Lowell Textile will be the first home opponent, after which the Friars and Bruins open their series at Aldrich Field. The program is so arranged that it will offer a minimum of interference with the final exams and preparations therefor, since the Friars will play in Providence, with the exception of a visit to Boston College on May 15, from May 2 through the finale on June 5.

Only four of last year's 16 lettermen are missing, and adequate replacements are expected from the freshman team of a year back.

Coach Arthur Quirk Sees Fair Sailing for Friars

BY BARNEY MADDEN

Although the schedule does not open for five more days, Coach Art Quirk of the Providence College Friars, forced to call a halt yesterday by the heavy rain, exuded confidence as he discussed the prospects of his charges for next Thursday and days thereafter.

The former Friar hurler has gotten in a series of chilly workouts, had a chance to look his boys over out of doors, to see his pitchers work at length and his defence test itself under reasonably good conditions. His conclusion is that everything is going to be all right. It might be explained, however, that Coach Quirk is a born optimist.

Last year's classy mound corps of Big Joe Kwasniewski, Steve Fallon, Walter Morris and Amby Reynolds is intact, and scattered about the Hendriken Field premises are a preponderance of veterans. In fact it is doubtful if any newcomers, with the exception of Catcher Johnny Yockers, will break into the starting lineup.

Although he readily admits that he can't make definite decisions until he sees the boys in action, Coach Quirk's tentative first stringers are Yockers and Johnny Werbicki, catchers; Jimmy Leo, first base; Jim Begley or Carl Toti, second base; Johnny Ayvazian, shortstop; Art Clarkin, third base; Donat Brochu or Ray Roy, left field; Slip Barnini, centre field and Ray Harrison or Jerry O'Brien, right field.

Brochu, robbed of the sight of his right eye when struck by a batted ball last season when he was the regular third baseman, is in line for the left field job. His fielding has been good and his hitting satisfactory.

"He is the most courageous lad I have ever seen," Coach Quirk said yesterday. "He stands right up there without flinching, no matter how much speed is turned on. His hitting has been good even though a curve fools him now and then. He has the heart and the head and certainly is still in the running for a regular berth."

Yockers, a fine catcher and hitter, has been the source of bad news and good news the past few days. Struck on the thumb, it was first feared that he had sustained a broken bone, but an X-ray yesterday dispelled that worry. However, the finger is still far from its usual self and it is doubtful if Johnny will see much service in next week's three-game road trip.

Werbicki relieved the tension Yockers' injury created by going behind the bat and turning in a fine performance.

Leo, a long hitter and a clever fielder, appears a fixture at first and Clarkin enjoys a similar distinction and feeling of security at third. Begley, second baseman through much of the last campaign, is playing better ball than ever this spring and his hitting has sharpened considerably.

Toti, a sophomore, is showing plenty of promise and, although a step behind Begley right now, is virtually a certainty to be the regular second baseman next year and the year after.

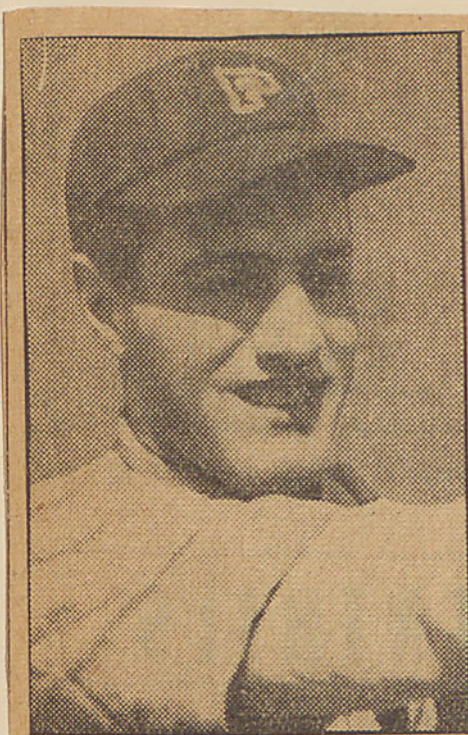

George Avery and Vinny Nugent, outfielders, and Jack Keenan and Tony Barbarito, infielders, are still in the battle for regular jobs. In fact there is such spirited competition going on that none of the tentative starters can consider himself elected to a steady job.

The P. C. squad faces a rugged schedule and will need all the strength available, but until something happens to prove otherwise, Coach Quirk is going along feeling good about it all.

His pitchers are far ahead of the hitters and Reynolds's reversal of form is very encouraging. Reynolds has undergone a delivery shift, made possible by the change in pitching rules, and he is faster and has better control as a result. In addition he has developed a good curve and should be ready for a regular turn.

The Friars tee off next Thursday against St. John's, then tackle Villanova and Seton Hall on the next two days, all away from home. Those teams are reported to be stronger than usual and because he is eager to get away to a good start, Coach Quirk plans intra-squad games today and tomorrow and plenty of batting practice between now and Thursday.

Friar Baseball, Football Squads Practice Outdoors

Coach Art Quirk Optimistic
About Diamond Prospects; Devore Seeks Backs.

By HERB MURRAY, JR.

Favored by weather that suited both, the Providence College baseball and football squads turned out yesterday. Coach Art Quirk of the diamond squad was optimistic about the way his players performed and said that some of the problems that had looked impossible on paper were not as difficult as they seemed.

Coach Hugh Devore and his staff, Assistant Coaches Ed Crotty, Joe Dulkie, Gig Pariseau and Dan "Red" McKinnon had a full afternoon with a squad of some 40 huskies on the field. Devore is looking for halfback material. He plans to hold regular practice sessions through mid-May.

One of the problems that faded out of Coach Quirk's horizon was that of selecting outfielders. Two of the standouts there are Gerald O'Brien, who hits well and is a ball hawk, and Bob Harrison, who turned in a sparkling first day chasing flies.

Just who will win the other position is still a matter to be determined. Harrison also has prospects at first base, where veteran Jim Leo has first call. Harrison has had experience at covering the initial sack and the competition there should be keen.

Early birds on the field included Joe Kwasniewski, Leo, Johnny Ayzasian, Jim Begley, Joe Buckley and Donat Brochu. Three pitchers who went through their paces in the course of the workout were Kwasniewski, Vin Ward and Lou Sibbio. With copious material in the hurling corps, Coach Quirk feels he may have to make a cut there.

Ray Roy, outfield candidate, was not at practice as he had a tooth extracted. He is one of the players Quirk expects to be of real aid in forming another strong outfield trio.

Third base was covered yesterday in satisfactory style by Art Clarkin. The way he handled the position there is little cause to worry, the Providence coach feels. Back of the plate Johnny Yockers has the post clinched. He handled all of the pitching.

Quirk was pleased with the way Begley worked at second base. That was a problem he foresaw in looking over his material earlier but Begley came through yesterday with a brand of coverage that was A-1.

Despite a chill wind that provided an added hazard at the plate the players laid into the ball lustily. Some of the long hitters noted were Werbecki, Kwasniewski, O'Brien, Harrison and Ayzasian.

The baseball squad:

Chief problem on Coach Devore's list is conversion of players to his halfback squad where he has only three dependables. The loss of Joe Juges and Ray Kowalski by injury and illness has cut into the backfield strength.

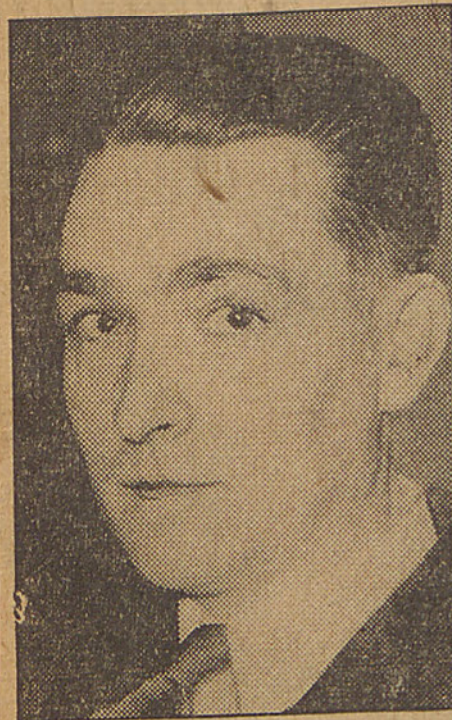

Devore had an exceptional turnout but has much weeding to do. Drill on plays took up most of the afternoon.

The football men listed were:

Alexakos, Avedisian, Borzilauskas, Bradley, Brennan, Budnowski, Burpee, Buzidragis, Cabe, Carciari, Cimini, Coyle, Cronin, Daley, Ditri, Di Luglio, Dunn, Edack, Ezyk, Fay, Franco, Haponik, Iorio, J. Juges, W. Juges, Karshner, R. Kowalski ('42), R. Kowalski ('43), Larkin.

Marone, Marr, Mogayzel, Moore, J. Murphy, L. Murphy, Newton, J. O'Connell, H. O'Connell, Pariseau, Pettine, Pliska, Potera, Pyne, Quegan, Quinn, Rafferty, Roth, Reilly, Roy, Sarris, Scanlon, Sterniak, Stonkus, Sullivan, Vaghi, Vitale, Werbecki, Yockers, Zenobia.

Has Squad Outdoors

Coach Arthur Quirk of the Providence College baseball team was well satisfied with his charges as they turned out on the diamond for the first time yesterday.

Kwasniewski Is Named To Pitch For Friars

Providence College's baseball squad left for New York on the Meteor last night to open its schedule against St. John University in Brooklyn this afternoon. Joe Kwasniewski of New Milford, Conn., was named to pitch and Johnny Yockers of West New York, N. J., as his battery mate.

Infield assignments will go to Jim Leo at first base, Jim Begley at second, John Ayvazian at short and Arthur Clarkin at third.

FRIARS-ST. JOHN'S GAME IS CANCELLED

(Special to the Providence Journal)
Brooklyn, April 18.—Providence College was halted by rain today in an attempt to open its baseball season against St. John's College here, the scheduled contest being cancelled. The Friars will make a second attempt to get going tomorrow at Villanova.

Jupe the Gyp (Surname Pluvius) Steals the Show And College Athletes Spend the Day Back Stage

By BARNEY MADDEN

Who says his name is Gyp Pluvius?

Think of the good he did.

Didn't the Providence College baseball team start homeward last night from a three-day road trip into New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania with an unsullied record?

Didn't Brown's conquerors of Holy Cross go to bed happy in the realization that they are still undefeated on their home lot?

Didn't State see its date with Northeastern come and go without damage to its flawless record?

Gyp Pluvius indeed!

How about Coach Art Quirk of the Friars? Remember the quandary he was in when the Friars embarked? Recall his misgivings, his apprehensions? He didn't know whether to pitch Big Joe Kwasniewski against St. John's or Seton Hall. Who other than Pluvie could scatter his worries so perfectly?

Consider Coach Jack Kelleher of Brown. Whom could he pitch against Amherst? Ray McCulloch, you say—but then what? How about left field? Didn't McCulloch snag a brace of drives labelled 'home run' at Holy Cross Friday?

And Coach Frank Keaney of State; why Frank hasn't even decided on his lineup yet, and Northeastern is of sufficiently high calibre to raise rucktions with an undecided lineup.

Don't malign Gyp, pardon, Jupe.

Didn't he give the Brown and Holy Cross, State and Connecticut trackmen a reprieve, allowing them more time for preparation before straining their sturdy bodies in stirring combat? And Brown's Cubs, in baseball and tennis? They have their chance to perfect right hands and left hands, forehands and backhands—and so have Worcester Academy's baseballers and tennisers.

Pluvie the perspicacious! It's uncanny.

Think of the news value in his treatment of the intercollegiate regatta on the Seekonk yesterday. Remember well that what's seldom is wonderful.

Where or when did you ever hear of a dinghy regatta being called off because of wet grounds? Jupe performed that little trick, under wraps.

You call Jones, Hoppe and Louis marvels of consistency for their golfing grand slam, 20 straight billiard victories and long line of knockouts. How about Jupe?

Yes, how about Jupe? Didn't he wash out baseball, tennis, golf, track, spring football, strolls in the moonlight and the starting power from the family hack?

Consistency! And how!! In that department, Jupe, the Gyp, is a jewel.

In other words, nobody played anything around these parts yesterday.

An old rivalry that always brings out the best from each team will be renewed this afternoon at Worcester, where the Providence College and Holy Cross College baseball teams meet at 3 o'clock. Coach Arthur Quirk has switched his batting order, has named Joe Kwasniewski as his starting pitcher and pronounced the Friars ready for a bang-up game with their opening opponents.

Rained out in their first three games, the Friars will face a team that has one game under its belt, a 7-6 loss to Brown University. Coach Quirk has named Johnny Yockers to do the catching. He has Johnny Werbecki, who did a fine job of catching in practice yesterday, in reserve.

Without a game to judge his players' ability at the plate Quirk has selected a lineup that should give George (Pinky) Woods, starting Crusader hurler, plenty of worry. Following Ayvazian, who is a real artist at getting on base, are Art Clarkin, Jim Begley, Jim Leo and John Barnini who have been walloping the ball.

Three games have been scheduled for the Providence Freshman club. The first-year team will meet R. I. State Freshmen at Hendricken Field on May 1; La Salle Academy at La Salle Field on May 17 and the R. I. State Freshmen at Kingston on May 25.

WOODS LIMITS P. C. NINE TO TWO HITS IN VARSITY DEBUT

Leads Attack.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)
Worcester, April 24.—George (Pinky) Woods, regarded as one of the outstanding sophomore pitching prospects in recent Holy Cross history, hurled two-hit ball in his varsity debut today and spoiled Providence College's hopes of victory in its opening game. The Crusaders, collecting 10 hits, won, 7 to 3.

Woods baffled the Friars most of the way, blanking them in every inning except the fourth, striking out nine and issuing only three walks. The Crusaders, showing marked improvement offensively, collected a double and two triples as they reached Walter Morris for all their hits.

They started early, Casey opening the first with a single, going to second when Marty O'Brien's attempted sacrifice went for a hit, reaching third on Nahigian's sacrifice and scoring when Morris passed Williams. Two hits, a walk and an error gave the Crusaders two more in the third, but then the Friars came to life.

Art Clarkin walked with one out in the fourth, reached third on Jim Begley's double and scored when Dick Blasser booted Slip Barnini's grounder. Begley and Barnini worked the double steal, Begley scoring and Barnini subsequently tallying when Bob Harrison singled.

Woods's single, O'Brien's double and Nahigian's triple gave Holy Cross two more in the fourth; singles by Casey and Nahigian produced another in the sixth and Malinowski's triple and Duplessis's long fly manufactured the final run in the seventh.

O'Brien with a double and two singles, paced the Crusader attack and provided one of the fielding gems on Bagley's grounder in the ninth. Blasser tossed in another, a fine running catch of Leo's foul fly in the sixth. . . . Morris gave five walks, Woods three. . . . Steve Fallon, who pitched the eighth for the Friars, gave one but otherwise stopped the Crusaders.

FRIARS TROUNCE RAMS, 8-0

Other Major Changes Pay Dividends; Two Splurges by Friars Ice Game.

A surprise move which saw big Amby Reynolds on the hill and other major changes in the lineup, paid dividends for the Providence College Friars yesterday afternoon, when they blanked the Rhode Island State College Rams, 8-0, in the first of their annual two-game series at Kingston.

Reynolds, nominated in place of the expected Joe Kwasniewski, turned in a brilliant effort in setting the State batters down with three scattered hits, while his mates cut loose in two splurges to sew up the ball game.

The other change that worked to an advantage for the Friars was the initial appearance of Slip Barnini as a catcher. Barnini, who played the position in high school, had been an outfielder with Providence up to this season, but from the way he performed yesterday, his remaining days will be behind the plate.

Held in check for three innings by Warner Keaney, State's ace, the Friars took advantage of some erratic pitching and fielding in the fourth to pile up five big runs, and added three more in the seventh with a salvo that saw the finish of Keaney. Bill Rutledge finished up for the Rams and escaped unscathed.

While the honors for the day were unquestionably the property of Reynolds, several fielding plays that bordered on the spectacular were turned in by the rival clubs. Louis "Duke" Abbruzzi, back at his first love—first base—pulled a gem when he raced into foul territory in front of the Rhode Island dugout to snatch

Ray Roy's low foul in the seventh, while Art Clarkin made the best play for the Friars with a back-hand stop of Cliff Pace's bid for a hit in the fifth.

Both clubs made threatening gestures in the first, but neither was able to break into the scoring column. The Friars got Johnny Ayvasian and Jimmy Leo on the base paths through an error and walk, but the runners died when Beauchamp threw out Harrison for the third out. A walk and a hit batsman put two on the sacks for the Rams in their half of the first, but a fast double play, Clarkin to Leo and then back to the former, erased the threat without damage.

After Leo had grounded out to open the fourth, Harrison started the Friars on their way with a line single to right. Slip Barnini and Roy both worked Keaney for walks to crowd the bases. Keaney's control continued to be erratic, and a curve that failed to break, struck Capt. Donat Brochu in the back to force in the first run.

The one run proved to be enough to win, but Reynolds stepped in to strike a blow for his cause, when he drove a single into left. The ball got away from the outfielders and three runs crossed the plate. The Friar hurler pulled up at third. He crossed the plate a moment later after Ayvasian fled to Cranston in deep right centre.

Another hit batsman and Cranston's muff of Begley's fly in centre set the stage for the Friar uprising in the seventh. Before it was over Leo and Barnini had both rattled doubles off Keaney's delivery, and the Friars had three more runs.

With a comfortable lead to work on, Reynolds kept the weak-hitting Rams at bay, setting them down in order in four of the last five frames. In the eighth, Bud Jones got a life when Ayvasian mused up his roller, but died at second. In all, the Rams were able to get only three balls out of the infield, a scratch double by Reinhalter in the second, a single by Zammarchi in the fourth and a fly to centre by Abbruzzi in the eighth.

Providence College, with an even break in its two games, will open its home campaign this afternoon at 4 o'clock, Lowell Textile being the party of the second part.

Steve Fallon, Pawtucket left-hander, is slated to hurl for the Friars, opposing Art Proulx, the Textile ace.

Coach Art Quirk has decided to string along with the team that defeated State last week, with the exception of Johnny Werbicki, who has been named to start in centre-field in place of Ray Roy. Slip Barnini, erstwhile outfielder, again is listed to catch. Barnini gave an impressive performance against the Rams.

Providence has been beaten by Holy Cross and has defeated State, its other scheduled games having been rained out. Lowell has been hard hit by the weather too, but in the past few days had an opportunity to get in some serious practices, and should be stronger than when drubbed by State, April 19.

Brown and Providence College, collaborators in one of the most exciting of intercollegiate baseball series, resume their rivalry this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Aldrich Field and prospects for new thrills are bright.

Both teams are in excellent condition for this — their 20th annual series, pitchers are well rested—if not too well rested—and everything points to a rousing battle this afternoon.

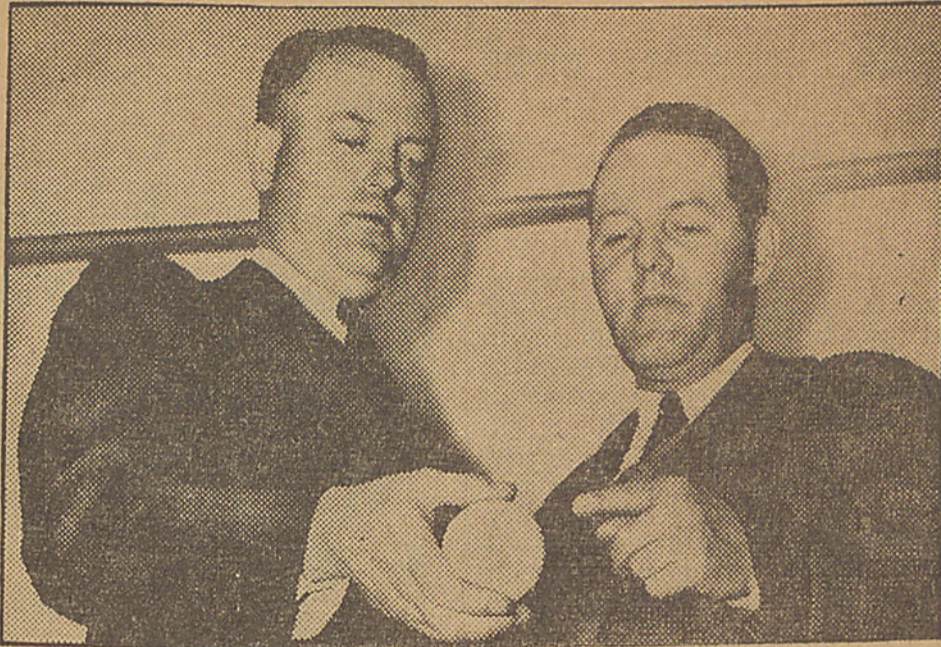

Coach Jack Kelleher of Brown has his little ace, Walter Juszczyk, in readiness and the West Warwick knuckle-baller has shown enough stuff in early games to lead to the general expectation that he will give the Friars plenty of trouble. On the other hand, Coach Art Quirk of the Friars has his entire staff available, headed by big Joe Kwasniewski, who hasn't worked since the opening game.

Kwasniewski was ill for a few days and because of that was unable to make a scheduled appearance against Rhode Island but Amby Reynolds, who started in his place, turned back the Rams with three hits and no runs, and enhanced the strength of the Friar mound staff no little. Kwasniewski, however, is the likely starter today.

Since today's game is one of the State series contests, it carries considerable additional importance. Coach Kelleher probably will use a revised lineup, having planned some alteration for the B. C. game Thursday that was rained out. Hitting strength where it was not expected, and lapses by stickers with robust averages last season led to the revision.

Brown has gained much prominence in recent games by victories over Holy Cross and Yale and will have a decided edge in actual playing experience. The Friars have gone to the wars only twice, losing to Holy Cross and winning from State.

Heroes of 20-Inning Duel To See Successors Today

Duggan, Reynolds, Hurlers in 1924 Classic, Will Watch Bruins, Friars Today.

Sixteen years ago, Elmer Duggan, short, sturdy, black-haired portsider and Charley Reynolds, slim, sorrel-topped, right-hander, trudged wearily out to the pitching mound from rival dugouts at old Andrews Field for 20 long innings, as Brown and Providence College fought in one of the most thrill-jammed classics in the history of college baseball. For 19 innings, which consumed five hours of playing time, the two hurlers pitched shut-out ball, but in the first half of the 20th, Billy Beck of Providence College smashed one of Duggan's fire-balls to left field, scoring Ray Doyle and the Friars triumphed 1-0.

This afternoon the two twirlers of that 1924 marathon battle will sit side by side in the stands at Aldrich Field to watch the 1940 editions of their alma maters clash in the first game of the 20th annual Brown-Providence College intra-city series.

Good friends, even back in the days of their diamond rivalry, Reynolds and Duggan have never missed an opportunity to discuss that five-hour duel of 16 years ago, but today will mark the first time that they have ever attended a Brown-Providence College game together. The assembly of this afternoon has not been prompted by any particular occasion, other than that they happened to meet in the city a few days back and decided to take in the game.

In that 1924 contest, both performed memorable feats, some of which are probably all-time college baseball marks. Duggan struck out 29 Friar batsmen, allowed five hits and walked five men. Reynolds fanned 11, and was nicked for eight hits.

Beck, who produced the winning bingle, had previously fanned five times, and in answer to what he threw the Friar on that fatal pitch, Duggan declares, "It was a fast ball with a hop, with which I had been fooling him all afternoon, but he fooled me on that one and the game was over."

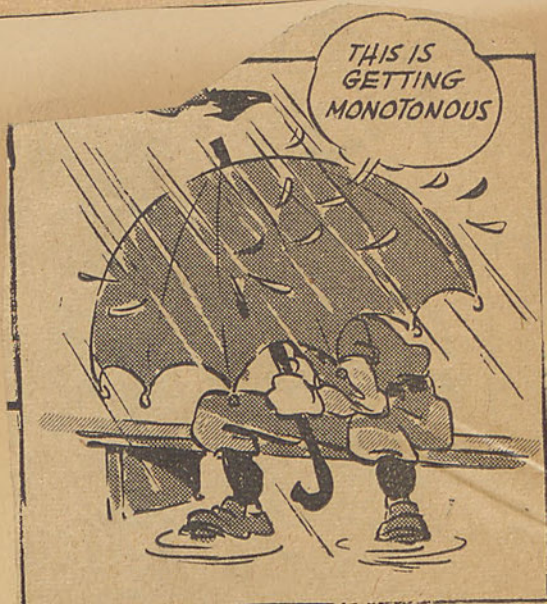

Heavy Rain Postpones Brown-Providence Tilt

Brown and Providence College got as far as infield practice yesterday and then were chased into the gymnasium by the shower that visited Providence yesterday. As a consequence the game was postponed, as several previous attempts had been. It's the third "no game—rain" for Brown and the fifth for the Friars.

The game will be rescheduled when the examination commitments and other games permit.

Providence rescheduled the Lowell Textile game yesterday, making arrangements to play the game here June 1.

Pitching Duel Ends in 8th
When Visitors Break Out;
Heavy Seas Bother Fallon.

By BARNEY MADDEN

Teeing off on Joe Kwasniewski in the fourth and eighth innings, and continuing against Steve Fallon in the eighth and ninth, a snappy St. John's College team from Brooklyn defeated a listless Providence College brigade, 9 to 4, at Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon.

The Friars were in command of a hurling battle between Kwasniewski and Al Dellamore of the Saints through the seventh, single runs in the first and second and a pair in the fifth offsetting the damage done by the visitors' three-run outburst in the fourth.

In the eighth, however, the Saints went to town. DeStefano opened with a double, a ground ball. Pecora fanned, but Ferrara walked and Rutner singled, scoring DeStefano and taking second on the throw-in. Rosen's single scored Ferrara and Rutner, and when McCarrick also singled Big Joe departed and Fallon took over.

Steve's first contribution was a low throw trying to pick Rosen off second, and both runners advanced. Hicks and Rosen worked the squeeze play, and Hicks got a life when Fallon fell, fielding his grounder, and Leo dropped a perfect peg from the recumbent Steve. Dellamore attempted another bunt, but it went for a hit when Fallon, reaching to grab it, fell again, McCarrick scoring. It was labelled double play.

Donat Brochu's triple and Kwasniewski's squeeze bunt gave the Friars a run in the second, and Clarkin's double led to one in the third, but the Saints moved ahead in a hectic fourth. With one out, Ferrara singled and was safe at second on a close play on Rutner's grounder to Ayvazian. Ferrara took third on a wild throw, Rutner strolled to second and both scored on Rosenbaum's single. Rosenbaum subsequently tallied on Hick's single.

Providence went ahead in the sixth. Ayvazian singled with one out, Clarkin walked and Begley reached on a boot by Pecora at third. Leo then lashed a double against the right field fence, sending two runs across. Barnini walked, filling the bases, but Werbecki flied to centre.

The Friars lacked punch in the right spots. They left 15 men stranded, three in the first, third, fifth and sixth innings and two in the eighth. Dellamore forced them to hit routine flies or harmless grounders.

The big St. John's hurler was knocked out in the fifth, when a smash from Jimmy Leo's bat struck him in the side, but he gamely continued, retired the side and held the upper hand thereafter, excepting in the sixth.

Good fielding plays were numerous, Rutner making several fine running catches in left field and Haggerty and Pecora coming up with speaking stops at short and third.

In the sixth Rutner was nailed trying to steal home, and on the next pitch McCarrick, trying to score from second on a wild pitch, was snuffed out, Barnini to Kwasniewski.

Rained out yesterday at Brown, Providence College makes another attempt to perform before the home folks this afternoon when St. John's College of Brooklyn will be opposed at Hendricken Field. The game is scheduled for 3:15 o'clock.

Big Joe Kwasniewski, slated to oppose the Bears yesterday, has been nominated by Coach Art Quirk for today's pitching chores and probably will be opposed by either George Zitter or Joe Dooley, both of whom worked against Fordham last week.

The Brooklyn outfit, one of the classier in Metropolitan New York, is a distinct threat. Several lusty hitters are in the lineup, several of whom have shown their wares in Providence in previous campaigns.

The Friars, washed out of five games in seven attempts, have the makings of an outstanding team if they ever can get into action. There are four dependable pitchers available in Kwasniewski, Amby Reynolds, Steve Fallon and Walter Morris.

Slip Barnini is slated to catch. Barnini moved from the outfield to catch when Johnny Yockers, a highly promising sophomore, received a bang on the thumb of his throwing hand.

REYNOLDS PITCHES NO-HIT

ERRORS TO BLAME FOR RUN IN NINTH BY SPRINGFIELD

New Haven Junior Deserves
Shutout as He Fans Eleven and Passes Two.

BY BARNEY MADDEN

Amby Reynolds, long and lean speedballer of the Providence College mound staff, throttled Springfield College without a hit yesterday, struck out 11 and passed only two as the Friars scored a 7 to 1 victory at Hendricken Field.

The six-foot, four-inch New Haven junior deserved a shutout as well, but successive errors by Shortstop Johnny Ayvazian and Catcher Slip Barnini in the ninth permitted Frederick to reach second base. An infield out advanced him and he scored on Don Nerhoff's fly to left.

Although Ayvazian set up the Springfield run, his spectacular backhand stop of George Dodge's slashing grounder in the fifth and his long peg to Jimmy Leo at first retired Dodge and kept Reynold's hitless streak intact. Leo assisted nobly on the play, deftly flicking the hurried throw out of the dirt.

Springfield came closest to hits in the third and fourth. In the third Dick Sisson got a life when Art Clarkin's wide throw pulled Leo off the bag and in the fourth Al Harrison dropped Bill Gibney's high fly in right centre. Sisson reached second on the muf, moving along when Harrison fell down, but Reynolds merely bore down and fanned Miller, Schmidt and Nerhoff in succession.

All told the Maroon pitched balls out of the infield and only four of them reached first base.

... only four
... field and only six
... first base.

The Friars, on the other hand, started scoring early. Clarkin walked in the first, took third on Jim Begley's single and scored on Leo's single, Begley being erased at third on the play when Gibney pegged beautifully from centre field to Joe Fenton.

They added another in the second when Barnini tripled and stole home and two more in the third on Leo's second single, Harrison's triple and an error by Fenton. Donat Brochu added the fifth run in the sixth. He was hit by one of Tom Johnston's pitches, stole second and scored when Ayvazian's single got away from Gibney.

In the eighth Barnini and Johnny Warbicki walked in succession and advanced on Brochu's infield out. Barnini was waved in on Johnston's balk and Warbicki tallied on Reynolds's smash into centre.

It was Reynolds's second victory of the campaign, and that unearned run in the ninth was the first scored off him. He handcuffed Rhode Island State on April 27, allowing the Rams only three scattered hits and no runs. Yesterday he boosted his strikeout total to 17 and issued his third and fourth walks.

Walter Morris will pitch, if his physician permits, Steve Fallon will play centrefield and George Barbarito will replace the injured Art Clarkin at third base today as Providence College entertains Brown at Hendricken Field at 3:15 o'clock.

Morris, struck Thursday by a batted ball, received a broken nose and Clarkin was struck over the eye during infield practice prior to the Springfield encounter Wednesday. His eye is badly swollen and discolored.

If Morris is adjudged ready to play, he will be the starter against Walter Juszczyk, ace of the Bruin staff. If the Cranston junior is ruled out by his physician, Big Joe Kwasniewski will get the call.

Today's skirmish represents the second attempt of the local colleges to launch their annual home-and-home series and finds them well matched offensively and defensively. One of the better games of the campaign should result with, in all probability, the rivals hurlers engaging in a close duel.

Bruin Victory Over P. C. First in Three Seasons

By BARNEY MADDEN

Relying upon his abundant fortitude when his pitching artistry suddenly abandoned him in the ninth, little Walter Juszczyk struck out Pinch Hitter Johnny Yockers with the bases full and gave Brown a 2 to 1 victory over Providence College yesterday at Hendricken Field.

That triumph, first scored over the Friars by a Rhode Island team since Coach Art Quirk took command of the Friars back in 1938, propelled the Bruins into the fight for the State championship and gave Juszczyk a triumph he richly deserved.

True, it was a sorry defeat for courageous Walter Morris who, despite the handicap of a broken nose and a badly discolored eye received Thursday, yielded only six hits and saw his victory hopes go glimmering when errors paved the way for both Brown tallies.

For eight innings, Juszczyk was complete master, yielding only two hits and two passes and keeping third base inviolate. In six of those eight innings he retired the side in order and, after Morris had opened the third with a single, Juszczyk really took charge, setting down the next 18 batters with ease and despatch.

Brown scored in the fourth with one out, after Morris had permitted only 10 men to face him in three innings. Johnny Marsolini walked, was safe on an attempted steal when Slip Barnini's throw went into the dirt and scored on Ray McCulloch's single over second.

The Bruins threatened in the eighth and had men on second and third with one out but Morris forced McCulloch to pop to Leo and then Donat Brochu relieved the tension with the second of his fine running catches. Steve Fallon, playing centre field, turned in two comparable fielding gems.

But in the ninth the Bruins collected the run that eventually saved the day for them. Bob Ochomurka, the Bruins new third baseman, got a life when Jimmy Leo dropped George Barbarito's throw, stole second and scored when Johnny Ayvazian let Pie Pietrusza's roller go through his legs.

The Friars, inept at the plate all afternoon, still had plenty of fight left. Ayvazian drilled a hit through Bill Sheehan at short and advanced on a balk. Juszczyk then fanned Al Harrison and was saved from considerable difficulty when Hank Gossler made a spectacular stop of Jim Bagley's smash and threw the Friar out at first. Jimmy Leo's sharp single scored Ayvazian and Juszczyk then lost his touch, passing Barnini and Fallon in succession.

Then it was that he rode home on his gameness, recovering sufficiently to fan Yockers and send the Bruin adherents home happy.

Both lineups were shifted. Fallon, a P. C. pitcher, played centre field like a veteran and Marsolini, transferred from third to first, came up with a fine performance, as did his replacement at third, Ochomurka.

Umpire Burke checked Morris's pitching stance in the second, claiming his foot wasn't touching the rubber. After standing in the infield to watch Morris for a few pitches, he returned to the first base regions.

Juszczyk and Pietrusza singled in succession in the seventh and when Walt tried to score on a wild pitch Morris got him at the plate on a fine throw from Barnini. Morris's nose

Reynolds Splits Finger; Barnini Suffers Dislocated Shoulder in Crash.

BY BARNEY MADDEN

Four home runs, a succession of brilliant fielding plays, a twisted neck, dislocated shoulder and split finger were crammed into nine of the most exciting innings played at Hendricken Field in years, as Villanova outlasted Providence College, 8 to 6, yesterday afternoon before 1500 fans.

The Wildcats, gaining their seventh straight victory, pounded the combined offerings of Joe Kwasniewski and Amby Reynolds for 13 hits, two of which were homers, two triples and one a double. Meanwhile an aroused Friar team, playing its finest ball of the campaign, collected only eight hits, but by including two circuit smashes and a double in their consolidated attack, managed to fashion six runs.

The three injuries came in the eighth. First, George Flood, who tripled two runs across, snapped his neck sliding into third and needed first aid before he could arise and needed a courtesy runner if he was to return to his catching post in the Friars' half of the inning.

Nick Basca, the Wildcats' All-America back, was chosen to run for the ailing catcher, and almost immediately became involved in the crash that sent Slip Barnini to the hospital with a dislocated shoulder. Cliff Choquette, the Villanova pitcher, fled to Donat Brochu in left and after the catch Brochu fired a perfect strike to Barnini at home. As Barnini set himself to tag out Basca, Nick lowered his head and charged into Slip, knocking him flat and injuring his left shoulder. Slip, however, hung onto the ball, completing the double play.

In the Friars' half of the inning Reynolds hit to Choquette but Cliff booted the ball, recovered and, in trying to throw out Amby at first, hit him with the ball on the index finger of his pitching hand, splitting the back of the finger. Reynolds finished the game, giving up a triple and a single, good for the eighth run, in the ninth.

Providence started well, scoring twice in the first on a walk to Johnny Ayvazian, Al Harrington's infield single—an attempted sacrifice converted into a hit by Harrison's fleetness, and a slashing single to centre by Jimmy Leo.

The Wildcats got one back in the second, Lloyd Rice singling and Joe Yednock getting a scratch hit when Ayvazian stumbled going after his lazy grounder before Flood singled sharply, scoring Rice. Yednock tried to follow suit, but was picked off going back to third when Kwasniewski intercepted Brochu's fine return and threw to George Barbarito.

In the third Woody Reitmeier blasted the first homer of the day over the right field fence, but the Friars went ahead again as Jim Bagley and Barnini homered in their half, Bagley poling a towering fly over the right centrefield fence and Barnini a liner over the wire in right.

Villanova tied it in the fifth on a double by Choquette and singles by Reitmeier and Mike Lazorchak, the basketball star. The visitors moved ahead in the sixth, when Bob Pash punted a homer over the fence in right and almost did more damage, but Harrison ended the inning, making a dazzling gloved hand catch on Reitmeier's smash into deep right centre.

Kwasniewski opened the Friars' sixth with a double—his third straight hit—and scored when Yednock threw to the fence on Ayvazian's roller, Ayvazian following across on Harrison's single. Reynolds replaced Kwasniewski in the seventh and got by easily, but in the eighth Ayvazian's error on George Balmore's grounder, Yednock's single down the right field line and Flood's triple down the other foul line produced two more runs. Lazorchak's triple and Donoghue's single fashioned the final run in the ninth. Bagley had prevented further trouble by leaping high and making a one handed catch of Reitmeier's liner at the start of the inning.

The game ended on a thrilling note. Jimmy Leo, with two out, slapped a looping liner into centre that had base hit written on it, but Balmore, racing in, made a diving catch, sliding along several feet after snagging the ball.

Barnini had played his best game behind the bat before his injury. He threw out two would-be-base stealers, hit a homer and chased outfielders back for two other drives.

MORRIS TO JOIN PRO BALL TEAM

Cranston Boy, Friar Mound
Ace, Leaves College; Heads for Sherbrooke Today.

Pitcher Walter Morris yesterday left Providence College, and today will head for Canada to join the Sherbrooke, P. Q., team in the Provincial League, which this year has moved definitely into the ranks of organized baseball.

Morris, a member of the junior class, has ranked as one of the mainstays of the Friar pitching staff. He entered Providence College after shining as a schoolboy pitcher at Cranston high.

In his farewell to college baseball Morris put on a game, but losing performance, while hurling for the Friars against Brown last Saturday.

Entering the game with a broken nose, received in batting practice Thursday, Morris gave only six hits, but Friar errors, coupled with Walter Juszcyk's four-hit pitching for Brown, enabled the Bruins to win, 2-1.

Morris's present plans, do not include a return to college.

Eagles Reach Kwasniewski
for Four Runs in Seventh;
Reynolds Tires Early.

(Special to the Providence Journal)

Chestnut Hill, May 15.—Rebounding from two successive defeats, Providence College's baseball forces collected 12 hits off two Boston College pitchers as they edged the Eagles, 9-8, here this afternoon. It was the third victory for the Friars and the seventh setback for the Boston nine.

Amby Reynolds, six-foot, four-inch speed baller from West Haven, Conn., who hung up a no-hitter against Springfield last week, started on the mound for the Friars and although reached for only four hits tired early and was removed for a pinch hitter in the Providence sixth. He gave up four runs, three walks, hit two men, and fanned five. Joe Kwasniewski finished and had difficulty in the seventh when the Eagles batted around, combining three hits and three walks with a passed ball and a wild pitch for four runs.

Coach Art Quirk opened the game with a revised lineup, shifting Jim Bagley from second to third to replace Barbarito who had been filling in for Art Clarkin, regular third sacker injured last week. Carl Toti played second and Vin Nugent played his first game in centre field. Bagley and Nugent came up with fielding gems, the former with his stop of a high bouncer in the first and Nugent with a fine running catch on Sawyer's line drive in the fifth.

Boston jumped into a two-run lead in the first on two walks, a sacrifice, and a single by Davis. The Friars counted once in the second without the aid of a base hit and bunched three errors and a walk with Toti's infield hit in scoring two more in the third. The Eagles evened the score in the third when Burns' double scored Kerivan, who had reached on an error.

Bagley accounted for three more P. C. runs in the fourth, hitting a home run to centre field which scored Ayvazian and Harrison, who had reached first on a fielder's choice and a hit respectively. Another three-run uprising in the seventh, featured by Johnnie Yockers's home run, gave the Friars a 9-4 margin but the Eagles landed on Kwasniewski in their half of the inning and cut the Providence edge to one run.

BOSTON COLLEGE THUMPS FRIARS

Scores Seven Runs in First Before Reynolds Comes in to Halt Bombardment.

BY MICHAEL J. THOMAS

What glory Providence College's baseball forces acquired by beating Boston College earlier in the week they tossed back in the return meeting between the two teams at Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon. The Eagles, scoring seven runs in the first inning, won, 12 to 9. The Friars made the most hits, 13 to 9, but they also made the most errors. The miscues cost them the decision. Scoring three more runs in the fifth and two in the sixth, the Eagles held a 12 to 9 advantage when the Friars went to bat in the sixth.

Providence's first two batters singled. The Eagles' pitcher, Dick Ferriter, who had relieved Ronnie Corbett in the third, appeared to be weakening. The next three batters all had been hitting. Jimmy Leo flied out, John Yockers drew a walk with Vinnie Nugent on deck.

Nugent, who had hit a homer and a double in his previous two attempts, hit into a double play and with this twin killing went the Friars' hopes of victory. Ferriter was in trouble the remainder of the game, but he escaped damage.

Steve (Lefty) Fallon started pitching for the Friars, but the first seven batters to face him all scored and he was replaced by Ambrose Reynolds, hard-working right-hander, who gave up only six hits the nine full innings he worked.

The Eagles made only two hits while scoring their first seven runs, one of which was a homer by Catcher Bob Sliney. The circuit hit climaxed the uprising, Ambrose going to work at this point and retiring the next three batters in order. Four errors and a passed ball figured in this parade.

Singles by Johnny Ayayzian and Yockers, a base on balls and an error gave the Friars two runs in the first and they collected three more in the fourth on Nugent's homer, Donat Brochu's single, a walk and an error.

The Providence infield crumbled again in the fifth to allow the Eagles three more runs, but the Friars countered with four of their own in this inning when they banged out five straight hits to reduce their deficit to one.

The Eagles bounced back with some heavy hitting in the sixth, scoring two runs on doubles by Brad Martin and Joe McGuire. When the Friars missed their big chance in this inning, the Eagles coasted home.

Nugent's one fielding chance in centre field was a gem of a catch of Charley Green's line drive in the eighth inning. Vinnie circled the bases with the speed of a sprinter on his homer.

Jim Bagley had his troubles at third base, but he was his old self when returned to his regular second base post in the sixth inning. George Barbarito replaced him at third, Carl Toti, who had hit two straight singles, being benched.

It wasn't until the eighth inning that any side was retired in order. It then happened three times straight.

Friars Defeat Rams, 3-2, On Leo's 11th Inning Double

By BARNEY MADDEN

Jimmy Leo's slashing double against the right field fence in the 11th inning yesterday scored one run, broke up a pitcher's duel between Amby Reynolds and Warner Keaney and gave the Friars a 3 to 2 verdict over Rhode Island State before 1200 fans at Hendricken Field.

With one out Keaney momentarily lost his excellent control, passing Art Clarkin and Jim Begley in succession. Then up came Leo, a clutch hitter who had delivered eight times in 12 trips to the plate this year when men were aboard, and promptly made it nine in 13.

It was a thrilling climax to an exceptionally well played game, one that abounded with good plays, pitching and timely hitting. Reynolds, in scoring his second verdict over the Rams, allowed only four hits, two of which Keaney himself collected, fanned five, gave three walks and hit one batsman.

Keaney was reached for eight hits. He fanned two and walked two.

State jumped into the lead when Reynolds passed Lyman Cranston, first man to face him. Cranston, a fleet individual, promptly stole second and reached third on an infield out. With two gone he stole home, getting such a flying start that Reynolds's hurried pitch was wild, but he had it beaten anyway.

For three innings Keaney retired the Friars in order but in the fourth Johnny Ayzasian singled and advanced on Clarkin's sacrifice. Then, with two out, Keaney apparently intended to pass Leo, but Jimmy reached for a low, outside pitch and golfed a single into centre, knotting the count.

Providence went ahead in the seventh when Ray Harrison chipped in with his third straight single and scored on Johnny Yockers' triple—a ball slashed so hard at Ed Beauchamp at second that it caromed off him into deep right field.

Jones, hitting for Beauchamp, opened the eighth with a single, advanced on a sacrifice and infield out and scored on Frank Zammarchi's single to centre.

Only two errors were made, the rival shortstops being guilty, but both boots set up double plays. In the sixth Ayzasian threw to the stands after making a brilliant stop of Zammarchi's grounder, Frank reaching second. Bud Conley fied deep to Viny Nugent in centre and Nugent's throw to third was so good that Ayzasian cut it off and nailed Zammarchi far from the bag.

On the other, Conley, who had earlier robbed Yockers by a dazzling stop and throw, let Reynolds' soft roller go through, but promptly engineered a twin killing that eradicated the evil.

Nugent's play in centre was outstanding. He had five putouts, three of them after long runs.

Strong Seton Hall Nine Will Meet P. C. Today

Providence College tackles another powerful opponent this afternoon when the Seton Hall nine invades Hendricken Field at 4 o'clock. Joe Kwasniewski is slated to pitch for the Friars. Seton Hall, one of the better college teams in the East, has been sailing along in fine style this season and is well off in hitting, fielding and pitching talent.

The visitors have won six games and lost two in addition to a tie with Fordham. They will start their southpaw star, Steve Nagy. Red Gendron, former P. C. outfielder, now with Seton Hall, is unlikely to play because of a side injury.

When Things Looked Dark for the Friars

Jimmy Leo reaches in vain for a bad throw by Johnny Ayvazian in the sixth inning of the Friar-State game and Frank Zammarchi reaches first safely. He took second as the throw went to the stands. He was doubled off second, however, on a great throw by Vinny Nugent from centre field.

FRIARS SUBDUE LOWELL

Kwasniewski Limits Lowell To 6 Hits as P. C. Wins, 12-1

Friars, Scoring Runs in Clusters, Pounce on Enemy Early.

By HERB MURRAY, JR.

Collecting 10 hits off Art Proulx, the Providence College baseball team registered a 12-1 victory over Lowell Textile at Hendricken Field yesterday.

Six hits were all the visiting team could get off Joe Kwasniewski, New Milford, Conn., senior.

Providence batted right down the list in the first inning and scored four runs on as many hits. Proulx handed them a gift run in the second inning, issuing four passes.

The fifth inning likewise was a run - parade for the Providence team. Seven Friars came to bat and put over three runs. A singleton in the sixth and three in the eighth rounded out the scoring.

Captain Johnny Ayzavian and Johnny Kwasniewski led Providence at the plate with a pair of hits apiece, each getting a double and single. Ayzavian and Kwasniewski turned in fine defensive play with three and five assists.

Proulx was handicapped by poor support on a number of occasions. The visiting team's run was made in the fourth. Staklinski singled and went to second when Swiatek drew a walk. He advanced as Harper grounded out and scored on Tartikoff's bingle.

Cy Harper was the best afield for the Lowell club, hauling down three lengthy flies in smooth style.

Ayzavian opened the Providence hit-parade in the first by smacking a double into left. He streaked around to third on Art Clarkin's smash to left. Bagley walked, advancing Clarkin. Leo came up with a clout into centre, sending home Ayzavian and Clarkin.

Leo stole second. Nugent walked, filling the bases. After Harrison went down swinging, Yockers lined one past first base and Bagley and Leo romped in.

Harrison's double started the Friar run making in the fifth. Donat Brochu lofted one into left, scoring Harrison. Third Baseman Jordan Tartikoff heaved wildly to first and Brochu travelled all the way home. He was sent back to third by Plate Umpire "Pard" Pearce because of the two-base ground rule. Brochu counted on Ayzavian's smack into centre.

Kwasniewski, who walked following Brochu, rounded to third on Johnny A's bingle and tallied when Bagley grounded out to second.

Lowell's fielding hi-jinks in the eighth, when the visitors put together a string of four miscues, enabled Providence to get three runs.

Affair with Lift Over the Fence.

BY BARNEY MADDEN

George (Pinky Woods) Holy Cross' Sophomore sensation, exercised his pitching mastery over Providence College for the second time yesterday, limiting the Friars to two hits as the Crusaders scored their 13th consecutive victory, 4 to 1, at Hendricken Field.

For six and one-third innings, or until Vinny Nugent came to bat in the seventh, Woods had the Friars completely handcuffed, but Nugent drilled a sharp hit between first and second, and the rapidly expanding hopes for a no-hitter went aglimmering.

Jimmy Leo made the one run a personal affair, dumping the first ball pitched in the ninth over the right field fence for a homer. It was the first earned run off Woods in 45 innings. The big fellow, shooting for his seventh victory and fourth shutout, had an earned run average of .58 for the 60 2-3 innings he had worked prior to yesterday's outing.

Long Amby Reynolds was equally as effective as Woods for five innings, yielding only two hits and an unearned run. In the sixth the skin on the middle finger of his pitching hand broke and he lost his effectiveness, and the Crusaders teed off, collecting five hits and three runs before Joe Kwasniewski appeared, fanned Woods and hurled one-hit ball the rest of the way.

The Crusaders' first run was a gift. First Johnny Ayzavian booted Bruno Malinowski's roller and then, as Bruno faked a break for second, Yockers threw into centre field, Malinowski taking second. He advanced on an infield out and scored when Joe Pullano, Central high's gift to Holy Cross, bounced a single off Jim Begley's chest.

In the sixth the Crusaders got hot. Hanlon singled and Malinowski fanned, lessening the tension. Dick Blasser, however, singled, Hanlon taking third when he tallied on Duplessis' single. Pullano chipped in with his third hit, and Blasser scored. After Woods fanned, Casey singled to short, scoring Duplessis. Kwasniewski came in then, and ended the uprising by fanning O'Brien.

Nugent was the first Friar to get as far as second base, advancing as Yockers walked, following Vin's single.

Leo made several sparkling plays at first, while the Crusader second base combination, Duplessis and O'Brien came up with a series of nifties. Casey looked good going back for Ayzavian's drive in the sixth.

Reynolds fanned six and Kwasniewski three. Amby walked three and Joe two. Woods fanned five, walked four and helped his own cause no end by making five assists.

Woods started his personal winning streak at the expense of the Friars in the first meeting at Worcester. In that game he gave two hits also, Begley and Harrison connecting.

Brown's 2 to 1 Victory Deadlocks College Race

State, Providence College and Bruins End Season Just Where They Started.

BY BARNEY MADDEN

Walter Juszcyk of Brown gained a 2 to 1 verdict over Joe Kwasniewski of Providence College at Aldrich Field yesterday in one of the finest pitching duels of the Rhode Island college season, letting the Friars down with three hits while his mates were collecting five, all of the infield variety.

Juszcyk fanned six and walked two, Kwasniewski whiffing seven and passing one. As a consequence the State title race ended just where it began with the Bruins, Friars and Rhode Island State tied at two victories and two defeats apiece. The Bruins won both games from Providence, the Friars took two from the Rams and State, in turn whipped Brown in both starts.

For seven innings yesterday the rival hurlers were in complete command, Johnny Ayvazian's brilliant running catch off Pietrusza representing the sole bit of unusual assistance that Big Joe needed and Bill Sheehan coming up with a lightning double play at the expense of Clarkin and Jim Begley in Walt's only troublesome moment.

True each had uneasy moments in the first through no particular fault of theirs. Clarkin, second man up for the Friars, walked and went to second on a passed ball but died a-languishing. Then, in Brown's half, Pietrusza got a two-base life when Clarkin threw over Jimmy Leo's head after taking Pie's easy hopper but the Bruin lead-off man was erased at the plate, Clarkin to Johnny Yockers, as he attempted to score as Clarkin overran Bill Sheehan's sacrifice bunt.

Then came the eighth and trouble. Yockers, first man up, reached second as Hank Gossler threw badly after handling his grounder and scored on Ayvazian's single. Ayvazian took second on a wild pitch but Juszcyk struck out Clarkin.

In Brown's half Pietrusza singled and stole second, scoring on Sheehan's single, Bill taking second on the throw in and third on a wild pitch. He scored as Lou Sigloch was safe at first as Ayvazian attempted to complete a double play.

Capt. Dave Redford got two of Brown's hits, both being close plays at first after dazzling work by Ayvazian. Ayvazian made another great stop at Pietrusza singled in the eighth, snagging the hard hit grounder and probably preventing a two-bagger.

Marsolini hit the hardest drive of the day, a smash that almost took Clarkin's glove off as he leaped for the ball in the sixth.

In the first of the sixth Yockers somersaulted over the wall of the stand chasing Sigloch's foul fly.

Sheehan, as has been his custom most of the season, came up with several fine plays at short and Ray McCulloch prevented some embarrassment in the seventh when he outguessed Leo and snared his line smash into left.

The Bruins stole three bases on Yockers and Sigloch, the only one Johnny had beaten, was safe when the ball went into the dirt.

Ring Down Curtain on R. I.
College Competition at Aldrich Field.

Brown and Providence College will ring down the curtain on the Rhode Island college baseball season this afternoon as they clash in the second and concluding game of their 1940 series on Aldrich Field. The game will open at 3:00 o'clock, and will be a determining game in the intra-city and intra-State championship. Brown defeated Providence College, 2 to 1, in the first encounter played on Hendriken Field.

Walter Juszczyk, the Bruin mound ace who held the Friars to four scattered hits in the first game, will toe the slab for the Bruin, and Dr. Arthur Quirk will use either Amby Reynolds or Joe Kwasniewski. Reynolds pitched five innings on Wednesday, and Kwasniewski pitched four and the latter's one hit performance makes him a logical choice.

Brown must win this game to share in the State title. Providence College can win the series outright if it can triumph. Providence defeated Rhode Island State twice, Rhode Island State defeated Brown twice, and Brown has one triumph over Providence College. If Brown wins, all three teams will have a record of two triumphs and two losses in the State series.

Brown has one more game after today, the team moving to Cambridge to meet Harvard on June 12. But today will mark the final appearance on the home field of Lou Sigloch, Dave Bedford, Norm Cheever, Ray McCulloch, Ed Pietrusza, Bill Kelly and Harry Platt. Providence College has six seniors who will be closing their careers, the list including Kwasniewski, John Avvasian, Jim Leo, Jim Begley, Vin Nugent, John Barnini and Donat Brochu.

R. I. College Baseball Ends in Triple Tie

Bruins, Rams, Friars Win Two, Lose Two in State Series

BY JOE NUTTER

The Rhode Island college baseball race is back again just about where it started with all three of the teams bracketed for first place. Brown, Rhode Island State and Providence each won two games and lost two, the results of the play being of a most unusual nature.

Brown lost both games to Rhode Island, Rhode Island lost both games to Providence College, but Providence lost both games to Brown. Each team won two and lost two. It has been years and years since a like result was posted.

Brown turned in one of the best performances of the season in defeating Providence, 2 to 1, in Saturday's fine battle on Aldrich Field, and now all that remains of the Brown season is Wednesday's game with Harvard at Cambridge. Walter Juszczyk pitched three-hit ball, and Joe Kwasniewski let Brown down with five hits.

Princeton defeated Yale, 2 to 0, in Saturday's offering in the Eastern Intercollegiate League, the defeat dropping Yale into third place, one game below Dartmouth. Boston College hammered Al Hatch of Tufts and came off with an 8 to 3 triumph, and the great Holy Cross team rode over Harvard by the same count. Holy Cross has just about clinched all claims to the New England leadership. Its only loss is the opening game to Brown.

Yale and Dartmouth meet on Saturday in the only league game on the schedule. Cornell, the leader; Columbia, the fourth place team, and Princeton and Penn., fifth and seventh on the listing, have closed their seasons.

The team record in the Eastern League:

Clarkin Elected 1940 P. C. Baseball Leader

15 Awarded Varsity Letters — 16 Freshmen Honored

By BARNEY MADDEN

Arthur Clarkin of Norwood, a third baseman, was chosen 1941 Providence College baseball captain by the Friar lettermen this morning.

Clarkin, a junior, has been a varsity player for two seasons, after having been the only member of the 1938 Freshman team to play every game on the schedule. During the past season, Clarkin had a fielding average of .852 and batting average of .200. His averages suffered considerably in the Springfield game where an eye injury, received in in-field practice, minimized his effectiveness.

A brilliant fielder, Clarkin has been a dependable hitter, one especially reliable in the clutches.

Last year he served as a utility infielder, but became a fixture at third base after Donat Brochu was injured in the Boston College game. During his Sophomore year he hit for .363 and fielded for 1.000.

The Providence College Athletic Association awarded varsity letters to 15 players and a manager this morning and Freshmen insignia to 16, including two managers.

Those rewarded were: Varsity—John Ayvazian, Providence; George Barbarito, New Haven; John Baranini, Pittsfield; James Begley, Brighton; Donat Brochu, Warren; Arthur Clarkin, Norwood; Stephen Fallon, Pawtucket; Robert Harrison, Fall River; Joseph Kwashiewski, New Milford, Conn.; James Leo, Fitchburg; Vincent Nugent, Providence; Ambrose Reynolds, New Haven; Earl Toti, Providence; John Werbecki, Providence; John Yockers, Tenafly, N. J.; and Donald Albro, Newport, manager.

FRIAR STARS JOIN BOSOX FARM CLUB

Kwasniewski, Ayvazian to Play Pro Baseball with Canton Team.

By BARNEY MADDEN

Big Joe Kwasniewski and Johnny Ayvazian, Providence College pitcher and shortstop for the past three seasons, launched upon a professional baseball career yesterday, affiliating with the Red Sox farm system and signing with the Canton club of the Middle Atlantic League.

Kwasniewski, one of the outstanding pitchers in Friar history, suffered only one reverse during Sophomore and Junior years but this year, following an early season illness, he was unable to round into top form until late in the campaign. He lost his last start, against Brown, but hurled excellent ball all the way, limiting the Bruins to five hits, three of them infield balls snared by Ayvazian.

In addition to his pitching prowess—Big Joe is fast, has good control and boasts a sharp curve—Kwasniewski is a lusty hitter and an exceptionally classy fielder.

Ayvazian holds a similar position among the all-time Friar stars, his work at shortstop for the past three seasons having stamped him as a player of much promise. He covers much ground and goes to right or left with equal facility. He hits well and should improve.

Kwasniewski and Ayvazian left for Canton yesterday.

JIMMY LEO BEST OF FRIAR HITTERS

Rings Up Average of .289 and Drives in 12 Runs; Reynolds Leads Hurlers.

Jimmy Leo, hitting .289 and driving in 12 runs, was the offensive leader of the Providence College baseball team during the past season, according to averages released yesterday by Paul Dunne, athletic association business manager.

Amby Reynolds, with four victories and two defeats, during which he compiled 44 strikeouts, was the leading pitcher. Leo, in addition, had the best average of any of the Friar infielders, fielding for .982 in 12 games. He made two errors in 116 chances. The Friar outfielders, Bob Harrison, Vinny Nugent, Donat Brochu, Ray Roy and Johnny Werbicki, went through the campaign without an error.

Among the Freshmen, Ed Lee of Attleboro, a second baseman, was the leading hitter with an average of .450. Four others hit over .300—Chet Zabek, outfielder, .391; Vin Eldred, outfielder, .357; Bob Reilly, catcher, .353, and Jim Wilkins, first baseman, .304.

Joe Moore, a catcher who switched to shortstop, was the defensive leader, boasting a perfect average in five games during which he handled 37 chances flawlessly.

The averages:

Friars Present Jim Leo with Mal Brown Award

By BARNEY MADDEN

The Malcolm Hollis Brown Award, a trophy to be presented annually to the Providence College senior who has done the most for the college in athletics during his collegiate career, was awarded for the first time last night at Parents' Night, and the recipient, James J. Leo of Fitchburg, Mass., received rousing acclaim as he accepted the award from its donor, Edward P. Conaty, '33.

Coaches of all Providence College sports, two newspapermen, the faculty director of athletics and Mr. Conaty comprised the committee selecting the outstanding senior athlete, and in choosing Leo selected a three sports star whose achievements have been many and notable since he matriculated four years ago.

Leo has been a dominant performer in football, basketball and baseball, a fine team player and one whose outstanding work was done when the opposition was strongest.

Eight times the big Fitchburg boy has been awarded Varsity letters, three in football, three in basketball and two in baseball. In addition he earned Freshman insignia in those three sports, participated in several campus activities, and reached his theatrical heights as a 'chorus girl' during junior year, starring in the production, "Friar Away."

POPULAR RECIPIENT OF AWARD

Leo is a particularly popular recipient of the Mal Brown Memorial, for he and Brown were intimate friends, and frequently combined their talents of wit and humor to dispell the gloom that followed defeats in sports and revive a team's morale.

As a Freshman Leo was an end in football, a centre in basketball and a first baseman in baseball. He continued to play end during the next three years with the exception of his junior year when a dearth of tackles led to his temporary transfer to that squad and once again he performed creditably.

As a sophomore, - playing Varsity basketball for the first time, he did excellent work at forward, showing to such advantage that he remained at forward during his next two seasons, with the exception of a few games when injuries or illness made it imperative that he be switched to centre or guard. In those circumstances his versatility stood him in good stead and his play was on the same high plane.

PLAYS BRILLIANTLY AGAINST BROWN

He climaxed his basketball career with a brilliant performance against Brown in his last game, setting such a terrific pace that the Friars upset their highly favored opponents and brought a triumphant finish to a season that had been of doubtful quality.

As a football player Leo was steady and sturdy. He was in virtually every game during his three varsity years and proved himself a power on attack and defence.

Leo didn't play baseball as a sophomore, but in Junior and Senior years he was outstanding. Last year he batted for .328 and had a fielding average of .975, collecting the most hits and driving in the most runs.

ONCE AGAIN PROVES STAR CLUTCH HITTER

This spring he continued his spectacular fielding, finishing with a mark of .982, and batted for .289. Once again he was the best of the Friars' clutch hitters, driving in the most runs and collecting the most hits. In 14 trips to the plate this spring when runners were aboard Leo produced hits that brought one or more across.

He brought his Hendricken Field career to a close by hitting a home run off George (Pinky) Woods of Holy Cross in the final inning of the final home game.

In making the award last night Mr. Conaty said in conclusion:

"Fortunately there is in this year's class a man whom we feel sure that Mal would have approved highly. He combined in three years of inter-collegiate activity sportsmanship, honor and courage to a marked degree, with the ability to be respected by both his teammates and opponents. In every way he is worthy of the award. It is a real pleasure to present the Mal Brown award for the first year to James J. Leo."

Dick Mahoney Strikes Out 15 and Allows Five Hits in Scoring 8-3 Victory.

Dick Mahoney gave only five hits and struck out 15 yesterday as the Providence College Freshmen defeated Brown's Cubs, 8 to 3, at Hendricken Field. The Friar youngsters collected only four hits off Ginsberg and Price, but four Bruin errors contributed heavily to the scoring.

Ed Lee's triple drove in two runs in the first and Bracq's single, with the bases loaded in the eighth, drove two more across.

The Cubs did most of their damage early—Nissley's triple, after two men had reached on errors, producing two runs. Myer drove in the final Bruin run in the ninth.

FRIAR FRESHMEN GARNER 13 HITS IN WINNING, 7-3

Overcome Early Deficit to Triumph Over Boston College Foes.

(Special to the Providence Journal)

Newton, Mass., May 6.—Landing on Ed Lannigan, Boston College Freshman left hander, for 13 hits, Providence College Freshmen sent the Eaglets down to a 7 to 3 defeat here today.

The Friars started rather slowly, letting the Eaglets take a one-run lead in the first inning, but they came to life in the third and bunched an error, four singles and a walk to push across five runs.

In the eighth, however, Lannigan again felt the Friar power in singles by Bob Reilly and Ed Lee. A wild pitch advanced both runners and Chet Zabek singled both runs across.

While all this was going on, George O'Reilly, who worked the first six frames, and "Harry" Harrington, who finished the contest, limited the Eaglets to nine hits. O'Reilly was charged with seven of the hits and all three runs, but he spaced them over a three inning stretch.

FRIAR FRESHMEN WHIP CUBS, 7 TO 3

Victory Gives P. C. Club
Series; Zabak Hitting Star with Four for Four.

The Providence College freshman nine made it two straight to win the intra-city first-year series by defeating the Brown freshman, 7 to 3, on Aldrich Field yesterday afternoon. The Friar cubs had won the first game, 8 to 3, on their own field.

Providence pecked steadily away at the offerings of Earl Nichols, and tallied one run in the first on a walk and a passed ball, one in the second on two singles, two in the sixth on three singles, two in the seventh on a pass, a sacrifice and two singles, and one in the eighth on Zabak's triple and an outfield fly-out.

Brown countered with single runs in the third, fifth and eighth. A walk, a single and an infield error gave them the run in the third, two singles and an attempted run-down on Wadbrook with the Bruin out for leaving the base-path brought the run in the fifth, and three singles were good for only one run in the eighth.

The batting honors went to Zabak, the Friar left fielder, who hit four for four, including three singles and a triple. Dick Mahoney and his successor, Harrington, pitched steadily for the Friar and gave up six hits, while Nichols was being touched for nine.

FRIAR CUBS WHIP NEW HAVEN CLUB

Seven to Four Victory Is 4th
Without Defeat for Providence College Nine.

The Providence College freshman nine yesterday defeated Junior College of Commerce of New Haven, 7 to 4, on the wind-swept reaches of Hendricken Field. The triumph was their fourth straight and left the Friar cubs undefeated.

Providence College scored five runs in the fifth and two more in the sixth, and then held the game well in hand until the seventh, when O'Reilly weakened and Harrington was called to the mound to finish the game. It was the third time in the four starts the Friar has made that Harrington has finished and he has done a masterful job as is attested by the undefeated record.

FRIAR FRESHMEN CRUSH EAGLETS

Collect 14 Hits for 13-4 Triumph; Reilly and Eldred
Bat Hard.

Collecting 14 hits, two of them triples and two doubles, the undefeated Providence College Freshman team crushed the Boston College Freshmen yesterday at Hendricken Field, 13 to 4.

Ed Reilly, Friar's catcher, and Vin Eldred, right fielder, collected three hits each and drove in four runs apiece. Reilly's contributions were two doubles and a triple.

Meanwhile Charley Harrington coasted along, yielding nine hits, but seldom getting into much trouble. His support was good.

Al Sutkus, Boston centrefielder, made five putouts, three after sizeable runs.

YOUNG CRUSADERS WHIP FRIAR FROSH

9 to 6 Victory Is Sixth in Seven Starts for Holy Cross
First-Year Men.

Holy Cross Freshmen dealt the Providence College Freshmen baseball team a losing hand in the form of a 9 to 6 defeat yesterday at Hendricken Field. Hits were plentiful, the young Crusaders getting a Baker's dozen and the young Friars, 9.

John Bezemes and Kevin Mulcahey poled out circuit clouts for the visitors, the latter with one aboard.

The Crossmen gave "Ike" Mahoney just two-thirds of an inning of work, as they got to him for four hits and as many runs. Joe Harrington finished for Mahoney.

The victory was the sixth for the Crusader yearlings in seven games.

Friars Club Honors Sophomore Quegan For Greatest Achievement in Football

Presents Medal to Taunton
Player at Annual Gathering.

180-Pound Back Has Become Best Passer on Squad,
Good Kicker, Blocker.

BY JOE NUTTER

Sophomore Leo L. Quegan, a self-effacing football blocker, passer, and kicker who has reached a high level of proficiency by dint of hard work and sacrifice, was called from the ranks yesterday afternoon and awarded a medal of merit by the Friars Club of Providence College. The occasion was the annual presentation dinner at the Crown Hotel, and Quegan was the recipient of the award in the second annual meeting for this purpose.

The medal carried the notation of "greatest achievement and improvement in football" and was based on specified qualities of workmanship as judged by the Providence College coaches. Hugh Devore, the head coach, announced the award and eulogized the recipient as a man of the highest type, on and off the field.

Behind the award is a long story of effort by Quegan to gain a place in the football organization at Providence College. Quegan is a graduate of Coyle high school in Taunton, and he came to Providence College as an end with few attributes for greatness. He was moved to quarterback last fall, and performed as a second-string signal-caller. Always dependable and always giving his best, he lacked the ability to reach the top starting team.

Although he commutes daily from his home in Taunton, he turned to the spring football work with a spirit and drive that appears to have won him a starting role as the right half-back this fall. First man on the field and the last man to leave it at night, he has developed from a mediocre punter to a consistent 50 or 55-yard kicker, he is the best passer on the squad, and he is a blocker to warm a coach's heart. Weighing 180 pounds, standing 5:11½, this 19-year-old lad's determination alone won him the highest award that the Friars Club has to offer.

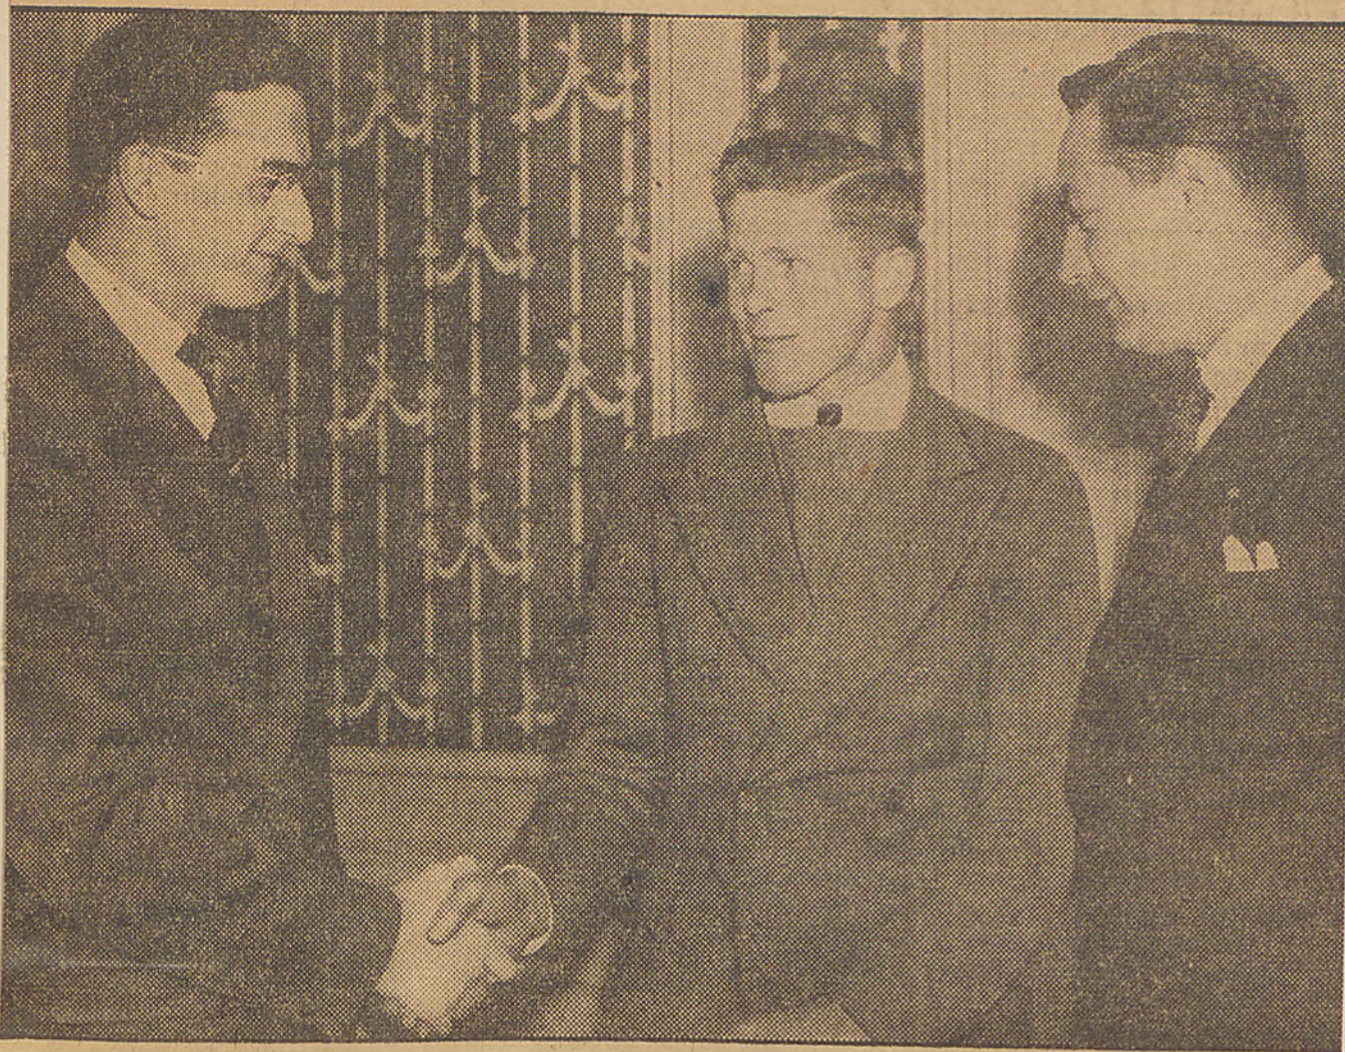

The Friars Club, the organization that holds the place in Providence College that the Green Key has at Dartmouth and the Brown Key holds at Brown, made this award to Ted Alexakos a year ago, and will perpetuate the honor by a similar presentation each year.

Bernard T. White, the president of the club, presided at the dinner meeting and called on administrative officials and coaches of the college to extoll the work of the club and the worth of Leo Quegan. Rev. Henry E. Schmidt, O. P., Moderator; Rev. Jeremiah T. Fitzgerald, O. P., Vice President, and Rev. Vincent C.

Dore, O. P., Athletic Director, of the college, praised the work of the Friars Club in its public relations work, and Dr. Arthur Quirk, Ed Crotty and Hugh Devore, coaches, pointed to the work that the club has done in building up the relations of the college with other institutions. Coach Devore made the presentation to Quegan, and praised the Taunton recipient as a worker whose efforts had earned nothing but praise, and who has won a distinct honor in Providence College by his work.

Officers of the Friars Club for next year were announced as follows: William Nesbit, '41 of Pittsfield, president; William Danahy, '41 of Hopkinton, Mass., vice president; Ross E. Muenzen, '42 of New Rochelle, N. Y., secretary; Joseph J. Reynolds, '41 of New Haven, Ct., treasurer. The several speakers at the dinner were announced as new honorary members of the club by retiring president White, and Father Schmidt in a humorous trend assigned each of the recipients of honorary memberships with subservient duties about the baseball field for the Saturday game with Boston College.

The Forgotten Man Is Remembered

Eight Football Games for Next Season.

BY BARNEY MADDEN

Providence College will play eight football games next fall, one entirely new opponent and another not met since 1930 being included in the program released by Rev. Vincent C. Dore, O. P., supervisor of athletics.

Holy Cross, Long Island, Niagara, Rhode Island State, Springfield and St. Anselm, regular rivals of the Friars, will be played again and Canisius returns to the schedule after a lapse of a decade.

The stranger to Friar football will be La Salle University of Philadelphia, one of the better small college elevens in the Philadelphia district.

La Salle has progressed steadily in football the past few years under the tutelage of that former Notre Dame ace, Marty Brill, one of the most brilliant blocking backs developed by Knute Rockne. La Salle and Providence have met in sports only once, having played basketball two years ago at Philadelphia.

Marty Brill's Team Makes
First Appearance Here;
Crusaders Listed.

Canisius and the Friars have met three times on the gridiron, in 1922, 1929 and 1930. Canisius won the first game, 15 to 6, at Buffalo, while the next two ended in scoreless ties.

The Rhode Island-Providence College date is not definitely set, plans calling for a Wednesday or Friday night meeting. A conflict with a schoolboy game is the cause of the uncertainty.

The program calls for four games away from Providence, three at home and the eighth, with the Rams, is set for Cranston Stadium and will be State's home game.

Friars Add Catholic U. To Football Schedule

Game Will Be Played in Washington, Nov. 23; Nine Tilts on P. C. Card.

Catholic University of Washington, a team that has been clicking nicely in the past few years, has been added to the Providence College football schedule for next fall, it was announced last night by Rev. Vincent C. Dore, O. P., Friar athletic director.

The game with the Cardinals extends the Providence College season until Nov. 23, brings the total of games listed to nine and rounds out a rigorous program.

The game with Catholic University, to be played at Washington, gives the Friars six games away from Hendricken Field and four at home.

The Friars and Cardinals have played three times, Providence winning 7 to 0 in the opener in 1923 and dropping 13 to 7 and 6 to 0 verdicts to Catholic U., in 1931 and 1932. The game will be a battle of "Notre Dame" teams, Dutch Bergman, the C. U. coach, being, like Hugh Devore of the Friars, a graduate of the South Bend institution.

In addition to announcing the Catholic U. skirmish, Fr. Dore disclosed that the date for the Long Island-P. C. game at Brooklyn had been shifted from Friday, Oct. 4, to Sunday, Oct. 6.

Providence will play five Sunday games and one Wednesday game, the Wednesday date being with Rhode Island State, Oct. 23. It will be staged at Cranston Stadium and will be State's home game.

The completed schedule:

- Sept. 28—Holy Cross at Worcester.
- *Oct. 6—Long Island at Brooklyn.
- *Oct. 13—Niagara at Niagara.
- *Oct. 20—Canisius at Hendricken Field.
- Oct. 23—R. I. State at Cranston.

FRIARS ANNOUNCE COURT SCHEDULE

Bates, Hartwick, Siena Col- lege Added to 1940-41 Basketball Program.

Three new opponents will be played and as many old rivals encountered for the first time in several seasons when Providence College starts basketball activities next winter, it was disclosed yesterday when Paul Dunne, business manager of the Friar athletic association, released the 1940-41 schedule.

The newcomers will be Bates of Lewiston, Me., Hartwick of Oneonta, N. Y., and Siena College of Albany. Back on the card after lapses of varying lengths will be Holy Cross, St. John's and St. Francis, both of Brooklyn.

Coach Ed Crotty's charges will play a 17-game schedule, opening with Assumption Dec. 11 here and closing with Brown March 12 at Marvel Gymnasium. Seven of the games will be played in Providence.

Deviating from the program followed last season, the Friars will play games the Christmas recess next season, meeting Assumption, Bates and St. Anselm on Dec. 11, 13 and 19. The Assumption and Bates games will be played here, the Hawks at Manchester, N. H.

Providence plans two trips into New York, the first on Feb. 10 and 11 for the games with St. John's and St. Francis, and the second on March 7 and 8, when they go up-State for the sessions with Hartwick and Siena. The Hartwick and Siena games are in the tentative stage, but undoubtedly will be played.

Holy Cross, reviving basketball, with "Moose" Krause, former Notre Dame All-American as coach, will meet the Friars here Jan. 18. The series with Rhode Island State will be played Jan. 11 and March 1.

The schedule:

- Dec. 11—Assumption.
- 13—Bates.
- 19—St. Anselm at Manchester, N. H.
- Jan. 11—Rhode Island at the Auditorium.
- 14—Springfield.
- 18—Holy Cross.
- Feb. 10—St. John's at Brooklyn.
- 11—St. Francis at Brooklyn.
- 15—St. Anselm.
- 19—Becker at Worcester.
- 22—Springfield at Springfield.
- 24—Lowell Textile at Lowell.
- 26—Assumption at Worcester.
- Mar. 1—Rhode Island at Kingston.
- *7—Hartwick at Oneonta, N. Y.
- *8—Siena at Albany, N. Y.
- 12—Brown at Marvel Gym.

*Tentative.
