"Well, I've never played here before, but just from listening to the enthusiasm over the NCIT being in Albany, I would say that Albany fans must be at least comparable to any in the cities where I have played. Other fellows who have played here told me that the fans are good natured and quick to cheer for either team."

A thrilling nip and tuck battle and a record-breaking victory marked the opening night's action in the National Catholic tourney in the Armory as Albany court fans saw Loras edge St. Francis, Pa., 59 to 58 and Siena wallop Providence, 86 to 49, in the opening rounds of the National Catholic Invitational Basketball Tournament. The soaring young man in the picture on the left is Siena's Ed Lange. Lange is caught as he drives, or flies, into the basket for a shot. Watching in awe are Bill Gagnon, Providence (14), George Bruda, Siena (9), and Sam Nissell, Providence (24). To right, Jim McCabe, Loras point getter, keeps ball out of the reach of St. Francis' Andy Hleba (12) and Walt Stapleton (11) while teammate Jack Rohan comes into the play.

LANGE SOARS—Ed Lange, Siena scoring star, leaps high for a one-hand shot as Providence college players: Gagnon (14) and Nissel (24) watch. Siena won opening NCIT game easily.

Iona, Providence in Dark Horse Roles

Iona College of New Rochelle and Providence of Rhode Island, are slated for darkhorse roles in the National Catholic Basketball Tournament which will start tonight at the Washington Ave. Armory.

The Gaels of Iona boast the finest record of any of the competing teams (20-2). The lone setback came at the hand of Hofstra and Montclair. One of the best wins of the season for the Gaels was the 41 to 40 victory over Siena in the Albany drillshed. They also racked up an 11-point win over Providence.

John O'Hagen leads the scorers with a 14.2 point per game average, while Frank O'Shea boasts a 12.8 average.

For the Friars of Providence, who are to meet the Siena Indians tonight in the second contest, it was the best season in many years as the cagers took 14 of 22 games. Among their victims were Rhode Island State, Springfield, St. Peter's, St. Anselm's and Boston College.

Tops in the tally-making for the Friars is Jim Schlimm, who netted 342 points. Frank Pelligrino is second high scorer for the Providence five with 235.

Here are the two teams' 1949-50 records.

Siena and Loras Win

Indians Set Two Records In Armory

By BOB POWELL

Siena College, host team in the National Catholic Invitation Basketball Tournament, swamped Providence College, 86 to 49, and Loras of Dubuque, Iowa, nosed out St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., 59 to 58, in first round games in the Albany Armory last night as Ed Lange of the Indians copped individual honors.

With one of the finest scoring exhibitions ever seen in the armory, Lange, a former Cathedral Academy player, paced the Loudonville Indians to two scoring records. The 86 points represented a new high for the school and for the tournament, eclipsing Loyola of Baltimore's total of 75 set last year in Denver.

Lange accounted for 25 of the points, just one short of the Siena record, getting 20 in the last half and 12 in the final four minutes as his mates fed him the ball.

Siena to Meet Loras Tonight

Siena meets Loras in the nightcap of tomorrow night's semi-final twin bill, with the winners last night, playing the 7:45 opener. Jumpin' Jim McCabe, who came here with a 21.9 average, and who scored 23 points in his team's win over St. Francis, Pa., will be Siena's man to watch.

Siena's team played exceptionally well in swamping Providence, 86-49. The Indians were clicking on all types of shots, far out and up close. George Bruda, Siena senior guard, was particularly brilliant in the early stages of the game, with his favorite one handers.

Siena Romps, 86-49;

Siena, Loras Take Openers

ALBANY, N. Y., March 29 (P)—Siena and Loras of Dubuque, Iowa, will meet in the semi-finals of the National Catholic Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament.

They scored first-round victories last night as the second annual tourney got underway.

Two other opening round games will be played tonight. Creighton University of Omaha, Neb., top-seeded in the eight-team event, meets St. Francis of Brooklyn and second-seeded Iona of New Rochelle, N. Y., is pitted against St. Michaels of Burlington, Vt.

Siena, steered by the 25-point performance of Ed Lange, swamped Providence College, 86-49. Loras edged St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., 59-58, in the opener.

Fourth-seeded Loras was paced by Jim McCabe, who netted 23 points. George Banchansky had 11 for St. Francis.

The Pennsylvanians took an early lead and maintained a 37-31 half-time advantage. During the second period, the score was knotted at 51, 53 and 55.

In racking up 86 points, third-seeded Siena, the host team, cracked two scoring records. The Indians eclipsed their own team scoring mark of 79 and the previous tourney high. Loyola of Baltimore held the tournament record, 75 points, scored last year at Denver.

Winners of tonight's game will meet in the first semi-final tomorrow night. Siena and Loras are scheduled for the afterpiece.

The final will be Saturday night.

The eight teams in the National Catholic Basketball Tournament were feted yesterday at the Ten Eyck by the tournament committee at a luncheon at which Albany's mayor, Erastus Corning II, was a guest speaker.

The mayor extended the heartiest welcome to the teams and wished them the best of luck in Albany's new civic move.

"Although Siena is only 13 years old," said the mayor, "we Albanians are Siena grads. The school has found a place in the Capital District residents' hearts and minds and we feel proud that they will act as host team to the second annual NCIT.

We hope to see the tourney in Albany again and again and in years to follow."

The Rev. Father Mark Kennedy, OFM, president of Siena College, also extended a welcome to the visitors from Iona, New Rochelle, Creighton of Omaha, Loras of Dubuque, St. Francis of Pennsylvania, St. Francis of Brooklyn, Providence of Rhode Island and St. Michael's of Vermont.

The main speaker at the event was Walter Kennedy, National Basketball Association public relations manager, who commented on the national publicity the city was receiving for its work in presenting the tourney.

Tommy Thomas, who is promoting the NCIT, praised the people of Albany for their "kindness and aid in helping to put over the tournament."

"The big test is to see if Albany and the Capital District are basketball minded," he said. "If the fans turn out to see out-of-city teams play," Thomas added, "we will know that this city is the place for the annual affair."

THREE QUARTER MARK . . . 4-4-50 Coates

We have just about hit the three-quarter mark in the school year, not only in our academic work but in sports activity, also. The last page in the basketball agenda has been written, and everyone must agree that it was a successful season despite the poor showing made in Albany in the tournament last week. The boxing program was very commendable under the direction of trainer Pete Louthis. The events staged in Harkins Hall, March 15, and in Dartmouth the following week were both praiseworthy operations.

The intramural basketball leagues gave a maximum of enjoyment to the greatest percentage of the student body who partook in this extra-curricular activity. Track, the swiftly developing major sport at P. C., had its best season in the three year history of the sport at the College. The indoor track season is completed, and now outdoor track will take the prominence. Coach Harry Coates has several dual meets scheduled in addition to the Penn Relays, Seton Hall Relays, and the New England Inter-collegiate Championships.

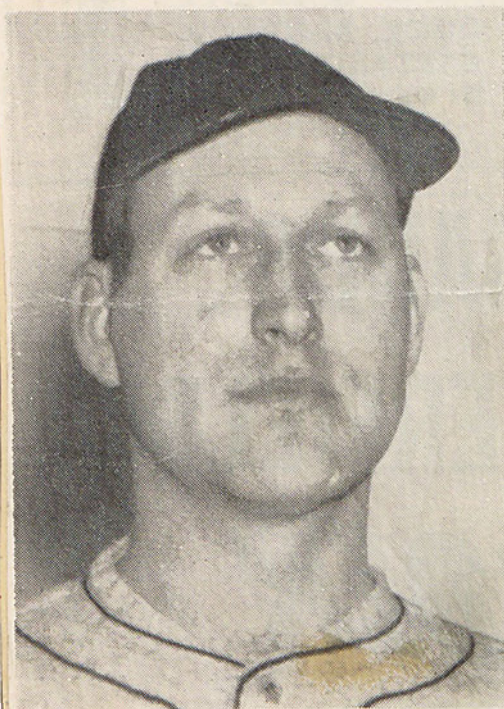

BASEBALL . . .

You think you have troubles? I think I have troubles? How would you like the task of playing a 17-game baseball schedule in the short time of four and a half weeks with less than two weeks actual practice time? That is the unenviable job of baseball coach Hal Martin. Because the Easter vacation comes when it does, little time for practice is allotted to the baseball mentor. But, as has been the case in past years, we feel that Hal Martin will have the know-how to pull his team through a good season.

FRIAR SUBS IN ACTION . . .

The latter part of last week P. C. basketball players who did not make the trip to Albany took part in a tournament in Westerly, R. I. Under the organization of Bill Higgins the group won their first game against the Moores, a perennial champion in southern R. I. basketball circles. Alex Becker led the team to victory by hooping 22 points. In the semi-final encounter last Thursday evening the Friar subs were eliminated by a combination of the Westerly High and the Stonington High luminaries (and a couple of "homer" referees). Last year the Providence athletes won the tournament under the leadership of high-scorer Jim Schlimm.

TRACK CANDIDATES

All those interested in competing in out-door track should report to Coach Harry Coates of the P. C. track team. Field events men are especially needed. Practice will be held for those who can attend during vacation. The first dual meet will be with R. I. State at Kingston, April 15.

Dormuralites

By Joe Laughlin

It is just two weeks since the completion of a successful basketball season and already the softball schedule has been filled out. Joe Beatrice, as usual, has worked ardently in constructing this schedule in such a manner as to provide both players and spectators alike, with a maximum of enjoyment. The fact that there are 15 teams in the league indicates spirited interest on the part of the dorm students.

The New Haven Club, last year's champion, has been given the honor of inaugurating the league. The New Haven roster shows the same team which swept through the league undefeated last year. The addition of five new teams plus the infiltration of many baseball stars such as Larry De Palmer, Ted Mezjewski, Walt Lozoski and others will make it difficult for them to repeat.

The season started officially at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon and the splendid cooperation shown during the basketball season is expected to be repeated.

Friars End Season With Tourney Loss

Cowl #4-50

The Providence College Friars were knocked out of the National Catholic Intercollegiate Basketball tournament by the Sienna Indians in the quarter finals, at Albany, N. Y., 86-49. After convincingly defeating the Friars, Sienna went on to win both its semi-final and final games, thus annexing the tourney championship.

It was the P. C.'ers misfortune to run into Sienna on its hottest night of the season, a night on which most observers felt it could have given any team in the country a good game. Providence led for the first period, and managed to stay with the Indians until the final three minutes of the half, when they opened up a 33-24, lead.

At the start of the second half the Indians, paced by Ed Lange and Wally Harrell, hit on four of their first five outside sets, and, in so doing, seemed to knock the zip out of the Friars. Thereafter, Sienna better known for its defense could do little wrong offensively and rolled 86 points, 53 in the second half, both season highs for them. Meanwhile, the Providence offense and defense wilted before the terrific pace set by the victors.

Jim Schlimm was high man for P. C. for the night with 15 points, making his season record 357 in 23 tilts. However, game scoring honors went to Sienna's Ed Lange, whose 25 markers brought his four-year total to within 16 of the 1000 mark.

Drew Calls Frosh For Baseball Squad

By Charlie Sakany

Coach Larry Drew's call for Freshmen Baseball candidates has been answered by a great number of the Frosh. Many of these boys are sporting noteworthy high school records while a few have received State honors.

The most encouraging factor of the coming season is the number and quality of the pitchers which Larry Drew will have at his disposal. Nine Freshmen are making a bid for a spot on the mound staff. Most of the prospects were quite impressive in high school, and chances are that they will prove to be a valuable asset to the squad this season and possibly to the Varsity next year.

As yet it is hard to say how the Freshmen will fare. It is very probably, however, that will have at least a fair season inspite of a rough schedule.

BASEBALL NINE SHAPING-UP WELL TO FACE SETON HALL IN OPENER

Count of 4-50
By Dick Boulet

After almost a week of outdoor practice sessions it becomes more and more evident that the key to success for this season's varsity nine lies mainly in an inexperienced pitching staff and in the fifteen sophomores presently on the squad. In two intra-squad games over the week-end, the team displayed speed, defensive alertness, and an ability to hit, as a team composed primarily of veterans scored a 9-2 win over a lineup sprinkled with sophomores on Saturday and as the sophs came back to reverse the tables on the vets, 10-1, on Sunday afternoon.

Main headaches for Coach Hal Martin right now are his battery positions. Although the overall pitching situation is not too bright, the catching picture is drastic. Captain Art Weinstock is the only dependable experienced receiver on the team. Hank Downey, on whom Hal was planning to use as a replacement for Art, has been hospitalized by the recurrence of a neck injury, and is expected to be unavailable for an indefinite period. It may turn out that Weinstock will be called on to perform iron-man duty during the course of the long, packed schedule.

The biggest question mark on the team is the pitching staff, which unquestionably will decide the Friars success or failure this season. Southpaw Frank Higgins, a junior, appears at the moment to be top man on the staff. During practice sessions, he has been very fast and has displayed a remarkable assortment of stuff. His only trouble is a tendency toward wildness. Southpaw portsiders Bill Fagan and Billy McKeon have also shown a lot, Fagan being especially impressive in his mound stint in the first intra-squad tilt, retiring the nine men he faced, and requiring but 29 pitches to do so. Johnny Grimes and Joe DeStefano appear to have the inside track on the openings for right handers, although Al Becker, Jim Fox, and Dick Blanchard may have something to say about that.

At the keystone sack veteran Dick Maloney, first sacker last season and a second baseman the campaign before that, is having to content with sophomore Buzz Barry, an all-state selection while at Warren High, for the opening berth. Maloney is a smooth, experienced player, who has shown up well in both intra-squad tilts. Barry's main assets are his speed and his ability with the bat.

Veteran Ed Mooney, a junior, is having a difficult job retaining his starting berth at third. However, sophomore Georgie Ducharme, who has been doing such a hustling job before baskeballer Mooney reported, suffered a recurrence of an old shoulder injury which, it is feared, may remove him from the picture. Over the weekend, Mooney came up with some excellent defensive work, and, on Sunday rapped out two hits and drew two walks in four trips to the plate, indicating that he has no intention of being relegated to the role of benchwarmer.

Hottest battle of all is being waged for the shortstop slot vacated by Walt Lozoski, whose teacher training schedule has made it impossible for him to report for the team. Skippy McGurkin, Lozoski's sub last year, is again out for the club, but is going to have his hands full attempting to win the starting berth from two up and coming sophomores who have their sights trained on the opening spot. Steve Sulavic, a star of last year's frosh nine, has been all over the field in the practice contests, on one occasion robbing Ed Mooney of a hit on a ball which seemed labeled for centerfield, on another occasion taking what seemed to be a sure-fire bingle from Dick Duignan. If Sulavic can maintain this pace, he stands an excellent chance of displacing McGurkin. The other soph who is in the thick of the fight for the position is Howie McGuinness, another former all-R. I. choice while at La Salle. McGuinness' hitting has been especially resounding, and his fielding has been more than adequate. The choice between these three boys is really to be a difficult one for Coach Martin to make.

The outfield is a wide open scramble, with three veterans and four sophomores all in the fight for the three openings. Best showing thus far has been made by Soph Dick Duignan, who is gunning for the center field post. Duignan has a couple of hits over the weekend, but the highlight of his play was his throwing, which was little short of spectacular. Jom Costello and Jim Sullivan, holdovers from last season's nine, are making strong bids for starting berths. Both have been hitting the ball solidly in batting sessions thus far. Glen Russell and George Carroll, both members of last year's yearling squad have also looked good. Norm Dube, the left-handed slugger who is a first base candidate, may break into the outer garden if he fails to make the grade at first.

National Cage Event for Albany Is a Good Thing

THE National Catholic Intercollegiate Invitation basketball tournament coming to Washington avenue armory a week from Tuesday may well become an annual affair for Albany, provided it gets proper support.

As I understand it, Tommy Thomas, Denver, Colo., newspaper man who originated the tourney idea, would be happy to make Albany its permanent home if the fans come out in large enough numbers to make it a financial success. I believe the fans will do just that.

A national tournament would be a good thing for Albany, or any other city. It would bring in some of the finest basketball teams in the country, thus providing the fans with topnotch basketball at the fag end of the season. It also would mean much to Albany from a publicity standpoint, since results and stories on the event would be carried in most of the nation's newspapers.

THIS DEPARTMENT hopes ways and means can be found to keep it here. I know Siena officials, Rev. Maurus Fitzgerald, OFM, athletic director, and Coach Dan Cunha, are also desirous of making the tourney an annual event in Albany.

FATHER MAURUS sees the day when Albany will have a municipal auditorium seating upwards of 8,000, and will be a stopover for doubleheader programs in addition to being a tournament site.

The Catholic tournament originated in Thomas' mind when he was overseas during the war as a Seabee. At the conclusion of the war, Thomas started to query colleges throughout the country, and the response was astounding. It seems that everyone wanted the tourney.

So last year when Thomas lined up his Denver meet, he wound up with 16 teams, but could have had 32, if he wanted.

FROM THIS corner, the coming tourney stacks up as a well rounded affair. True, there are some weak clubs, but then again, there are plenty of strong ones.

According to a member of one of the nation's top sports publications, Loras of Dubuque, Iowa, is rated the dark horse. Another expert likes Creighton, and still another picks Iowa. Area folk will back Siena. Probably the aforementioned quartet will be top seeded in the four-day affair.

Providence College Five Accepts Tournament Bid

Providence, R. I., March 20—(AP)—The Providence College Friars have accepted a bid to the National Catholic Invitation basketball tournament to be held March 28, 29, 30 and April 1 at Albany, N. Y.

The Rev. A. B. Begley, O. P., athletic director, made the announcement after the members of the P. C. squad, which beat Rhode Island State and Boston College among others, voted unanimously in favor of the post-season play.

The Friars had a 14-and-8 record for the season, one of their best seasons in recent years under the direction of Coach Vin Cuddy in his first year.

The presence of John Joe Barry and a flock of stars from Seton Hall has added lustre to the Providence College relays next Saturday. John Joe is going to ruin both the intercollegiate mile and two mile records in the next three years, provided he continues at Villanova.

Keen Contests Loom In P. C. Relay Races

Providence, March 20 — With seven college teams and 20 high school teams entered in the Providence College Second Annual Outdoor Board Track Relay Carnival Saturday at Henricken Field, spectators are assured of some tremendous competition in the College and Interscholastic races. Seton Hall, Holy Cross, Rhode Island State, Fairfield University, Boston University, Bryant College and Providence College all have teams and individuals entered in the collegiate races. The University of Connecticut and Springfield College may also be in the field by Saturday.

Seton Hall of course with one of if not, the best track squads in the country headlines the collegiate teams. Always at the top of the field, or close to it, in the track world, the Pirate squad of runners is always a treat to watch. Especially in the relay races and the special events will the aggregation of stars from the New Jersey College be prominent.

Seton Hall, Holy Cross, Rhode Island State, Fairfield University, Boston University, Bryant College and Providence College all have teams and individuals entered in the collegiate races. Seton Hall of course with one of, if not, the best track squads in the country, headlines the collegiate teams. Always at the top of the field, or close to it, in the track world, the Pirate squad of runners is always a treat to watch. Especially in the relay races and the special events will the aggregation of stars from the New Jersey College be prominent.

The interscholastic field also presents a first class field of teams and from a local viewpoint the battle looming between LaSalle Academy and Mt. Pleasant High School in the relay races promises to be a thrilling one. Practically all the local high schools have teams entered in the meet and some first rate competition is in order. Boston Trade, Brandeis Vocational, and Plymouth High lead the Massachusetts delegation and could very well take the honors away from Mt. Pleasant and LaSalle.

Most of the local CYO organizations have teams entered in the two CYO relay races. These two races will be one-lap affairs.

Stansfield To Oppose Dwyer

Harry Coates, track coach of Providence College and director of the Providence College second annual outdoor track relay carnival at Hendricken Field, Providence, Saturday at 1:30, announced today that he has three of the greatest figures in the track world matched in two special races Saturday.

In the 60-yard dash, Andy Stansfield of Seton Hall, winner of the indoor and outdoor national and intercollegiate championships this year, will be pitted against Billy Dwyer of Providence, who won the national championship last year in the time of 6.1 seconds, equalling the world record.

Herb McKenley, who for the past eight years has been one of the best runners in the world, may be a third starter in this race, but Coates has him definitely matched with Stansfield in a special 320-yard dash.

With these two specials, the appearance of John Joe Barry and more special races and outstanding contestants to be named, Saturday's meet begins to appear as the greatest track extravaganza ever presented to Rhode Island track enthusiasts.

Last year's meet, which drew over 4000 people to Hendricken Field, was one of the most successful track meets ever held on a college campus.

McKenley to Run In Providence Meet

PROVIDENCE, March 22—Harry Coates, track coach of Providence College and meet director of Providence College second annual outdoor track relay carnival, to be held Saturday at 1:30 at Hendricken Field, announced today that he has three of the greatest names in the track world matched in two of the special races on Saturday.

In the 60-yard dash Andy Stansfield of Seton Hall, winner of the indoor and outdoor national and intercollegiate championships, will be pitted against Billy Dwyer of Providence, who won the national championship last year. Herb McKenley who for the past eight years has been one of the great runners in this race. It is possible that in the world may be a third starter McKenley may not run in this one as Coates has him matched also in a special 320-yard dash against Stansfield.

Stanfield Enters Providence Relay Dash Specials

PROVIDENCE, March 22—Andy Stanfield of Seton Hall, indoor and outdoor national and intercollegiate sprint champion, will compete in two special events in the second annual Providence College outdoor track relay carnival Saturday at Hendricken Field.

Stanfield, who has won nine of his 10 sprints this season, will participate in the 60-yard dash, with Billy Dwyer of Providence his chief competition, and in a 320-yard dash against Herb McKenley, world quarter-mile record holder. The 320 field may also include Charlie Slate of Seton Hall and Frank Fox.

Besides these two specials, there will be a feature mile event in which John Joe Barry, the great Irish miler now studying at Villanova, will make his Rhode Island debut.

Boston Trade and Brandeis Vocational have entered the second annual Providence College track meet Saturday. . . . Both Boston schools have entered quartermile relay teams.

Three Top Men Ready

For Track Meet on Saturday at Providence College

Harry Coates, track coach of Providence College and meet director of Providence College Second Annual Outdoor Track Relay Carnival to be held at Hendricken Field, Saturday, announced today that he has three of the greatest names in the track world matched in two of the special races on Saturday.

In the 60-yard dash Andy Stansfield of Seton Hall, winner of the indoor and outdoor national and intercollegiate championships this year will be pitted against Billy Dwyer of Providence, who won the national championship last year in the great time of 6.1 seconds, equalling the world's record. Herb McKenley who, for the past eight years has been one of the great runners in the world, may be a third starter in this race. It is possible that McKenley may not run in this one as Coates has him matched also in a special 320-yd. dash against Stansfield.

McKenley holds the Central American championships in the 200, 440 and 100 meters. In the 440, McKenley ran one of the fastest races at that distance ever recorded when he turned in the wonderful time of 45.9 seconds.

McKenley and Stansfield have definitely been decided on as the opponents in the 320-yd. special and Coates said that possibly he will have Charley Slade of Seton Hall and Frank Fox as entrants also in this special.

With these two specials and the appearance of John Joe Barry and with more special races and outstanding contestants to be named in the next day or so, Saturday's meet begins to appear as the greatest track extravaganza ever presented to Rhode Island track enthusiasts.

Last year's meet drew over 400 people to Hendricken Field was widely acclaimed as one of the most successful track meets ever held on a college campus and this year's promises to even surpass the one of a year ago.

Saturday's meet will start at 1:30 p.m.

PC Outdoor Board Track Relay Carnival Saturday

With seven college teams and 20 high school teams entered in the Providence College Second Annual Outdoor Board Track Relay Carnival Saturday at Hendricken Field, spectators are assured of some tremendous competition in the College and Intercollegiate Races.

Seton Hall, Holy Cross, Rhode Island State, Fairfield University, Bryant College and Providence College all have teams and individuals entered in the collegiate races. The University of Connecticut and Springfield College may also be in the field by Saturday.

Seton Hall of course with one of, if not the best, track squads in the country headlines the collegiate teams. Always at the top of the field, or close to it, in the track world, the Pirate squad of runners is always a treat to watch. Especially in the relay races and the special events will the aggregation of stars from the New Jersey College be prominent.

The Interscholastic field also presents a first class field of teams and from a local viewpoint the battle looming between LaSalle Academy and Mount Pleasant High School in the relay races promises to be a thrilling one. Practically all the local high schools, including Cranston have teams entered in the meet and some first rate competition is in order. Boston Trade, Brandeis Vocational, and Plymouth High lead the Massachusetts delegation and could very well take the honors away from Mount Pleasant and LaSalle.

Noted among the college coaches scouting the rich array of talent were John "Honey" Russell, former Celtic star, of Seton Hall, Bob Morris of Brown, Al "General" McClellan of Boston College, and Vin Cuddy of Providence College.

BARRY FACES WADE
PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 24 (UP)—Flashy John Joe Barry, Ireland's distance running ace, and Yale's George Wade will renew their season-long rivalry tomorrow in a three-quarter mile race at the Providence College outdoor board track relay carnival.

One of the outstanding collegiate mile runners in the United States and the greatest in the history of Yale, Wade will run against John Joe Barry of Ireland and Villanova and Phil Thigpen of Seton Hall, in the special three-quarter mile race.

During the indoor season, Wade won the K.C. mile at Boston, placed in every mile run, and ran a 1:52 leg on the Yale two-mile relay team which ran the distance in 7:52.6, just a second behind Seton Hall's world record.

Bob Black will run on the Rhode Island State two-mile relay team, while Jon Toby will run in the one-mile handicap and Josh Toby in the 600-yard handicap. Saturday's meet will start at 1:30.

9 CYO R Named to

John Joe Barry, Phil Thigpen, George Wade, Herb McKenley, Frank Fox, Billy Dwyer, Andy Stansfield, Charley Slade, Don Evans, Bob Black, Josh Toby and

Jon Toby all great names in the track world will participate in the collegiate share of the meet. Most of these great stars will run in special invitation events and also as members of their college relay teams.

In the special 60-yard dash McKenley, Stanfield and Dwyer will be matched in what should be a thrilling race. In the special 320-yard dash McKenley, Stanfield, Slade and Dudley O'Leary, the great Boston University Freshman star will compete against each other.

Teams from 11 colleges and 20 high schools have been entered in the many relays and dashes.

Sports Briefs

George Wade of Yale university, Bob Black of Rhode Island State, and Jon and Josh Toby of Brown university are listed to compete in Providence college's second annual Outdoor Board Track Relay Carnival to be held Saturday afternoon, starting at 1:30, states Harry Coates, meet director.

John Joe Barry Will Oppose Wade Again in Providence Meet

PROVIDENCE, March 23—Ireland's John Joe Barry and Yale's George Wade will renew their foot racing rivalry over an unorthodox distance Saturday afternoon in the Providence College outdoor board track relay carnival.

The pair who were principals in several thrilling mile duels indoors this Winter will compete in a special three-quarter mile race. In the same event will be Phil Thigpen of Seton Hall, national 100-yard champion.

Meet Director Harry Coates has also lined up some of New England's top athletes for the second annual games. The Tobey twins, Josh and Jon of Brown University, have entered handicap events and Rhode Island State's Bob Black will appear as a member of the Rams' two-mile relay team. The meet will start at 1:30 p. m.

Track

If the personnel is any indication, the Providence College Outdoor Board Track Relay Carnival should prove better this year than it was in its inaugural last season. In addition to last year's competitors, Herb McKinley and Phil Thigpen, also present will be Yale's star miler, George Wade, as well as the Irish great spike shoe lad, John Joe Barry. Bob Black of Rhode Island State and Jon and Josh Tobey of Brown University are other competitors in this star-studded field.

The C. Y. O. will be represented by grammar and junior high school relay teams in a special set of races for them.

Holy Ghost will break into the C. Y. O. track circles this year under the leadership of their great baseball and basketball coach, Al Morgera. Knowing the success Al has had on the diamond and court, it seems hardly beyond his scope to produce a group of fine tracksters from Federal Hill. The field captain is Ray Gemma, one of the leading runners.

Teams from 11 colleges and 20 high schools have been entered in the relays and dashes. Seton Hall's team naturally is the outstanding attraction in the college class although all the others will be out to better the Setonians. Nine CYO teams have also been entered in the meet.

Providence College officials are making plans for accommodating a record attendance. A year ago 4000 people were on hand at the meet. The P. C. board track, which is one of the fastest in the country, is placed directly in front of the high football stands. This gives every spectator a good view of the events on the track. The meet will start at 1:30.

Sophomores Key to P.C. Nine's Success

Second-Year Group Includes

3 Pitchers, 5 Infielders and 3 Outfielders

By PETE McCARTHY

A group of talented sophomores, whom Coach Hal Martin places in the category of prospects, will hold the key to the success or failure of the Providence College baseball team this season.

The contingent moving up from last year's freshman team to augment the list of six returning lettermen includes three pitchers, five infielders and three outfielders. And Martin believes, as did Vin Cuddy, the Friars' basketball coach, these second-year men possess sufficient ability to plug the vacancies and to make the varsity holdovers hustle to retain their first-team status.

"Of course," Martin emphasizes, "these men may be a year away because only a couple of them had outstanding seasons as freshmen. As a group, however, they're the best we've had here in some time and don't be surprised if they dominate the picture by mid-season."

The P.C. nine faces a 17-game schedule which opens with a four-game road trip Apr. 19 and Martin has encountered more than his share of snags in attempting to get the practice program started. The baseball candidates had to pitch in last week and help remove the board track from the field and four of the regulars were with the Friar basketball team which participated in the National Catholic College tournament in Albany last week. Now, Easter vacation starts Wednesday and continues until Apr. 17, two days before the Friars' opener with Seton Hall, leaving the Friar coach a little more than a week's practice time to get the squad ready.

Ready for Action

The pitchers have had the benefit of a month's work indoors and Martin plans to stage intra-squad games daily beginning this afternoon. These contests, he hopes, will give a fairly good idea of his playing strength by Wednesday.

The returning veterans include catcher Art Weinstock, infielders Ed Mooney, Francis "Skip" McGurkin, and Dick Maloney, and outfielders Sam Nissel and Jim Sullivan. Weinstock, Nissel, Mooney and McGurkin were with the basketball team. Mooney played third last year, McGurkin alternated between short and second, Maloney, a second baseman two years ago, played first last year, and Nissel and Sullivan operated in center and right field, respectively.

Three other 1949 varsity members, although still in school, are not available. Larry DePalma, slugging left fielder, signed a contract with the Boston Braves at the conclusion of last season and thereby disqualified himself from further varsity competition. He had two years of eligibility left. Walt Lozoski, a four-year basketball standout who was also a baseball letterman for three years, has decided against playing this spring in order to complete his teacher-training classes which conflict with the practice schedule. Hank Downey, second-string catcher last year, is in the hospital to undergo an operation to correct a gland condition and his services can't be counted upon at this time.

Pitching Problem

Pitching will be Martin's chief problem. Frank Higgins, a junior, saw some action last year but not enough to win a letter. He may be the Friars' No. 1 hurler this season unless sophomores Bill McKeon, Bill Fagan and Joe DeStaphano prove otherwise. Other mound candidates are Alex Becker, a junior, John Grimes, Jim Fox, and Jim Schlimm, the basketball player.

The bulk of the sophomore talent is concentrated in the infield and comprises several former R.I. school-boy stars. Don McDonald, former De La Salle All-Stater, has the inside track on first base; Bob "Buzz" Barry of Warren paced the freshmen batters last year with an average close to the .400 mark and may get the nod over Maloney at second; Steve Sulavic and Howie McGuinness, the latter a former La Salle standout, will battle it out at short-stop with McGurkin; and George Ducharme of Burrillville will vie with Mooney for third base.

The leading outfielders include Dick Degnan of Stamford, Conn., George Carroll of Woonsocket and Norm Dube of Providence. The latter was a first baseman at Hope High but Martin wants to take advantage of his hitting power and intends to use him in the outfield.

The outlook, aside from pitching, isn't too bad but as Coach Martin points out, a few games may determine whether or not the many promising sophomores are a year away.

All in the Game

Hendricken Field Memories . . .

COLLEGE baseball is beginning to trip bashfully into the sports pages. The way things are nowadays, the college game probably won't cause much public commotion, even when the season is at what is jokingly known as its height, but it still kicks up a lot of memories among some of us ancients.

I know I've been thinking about it ever since the afternoon a week or so ago when the mercurial minds of the press and the golden voices of radio gathered at Hendricken Field for the Providence College track meet. It was there and then that a golden voice, Warren Walden, remarked to a mercurial mind, me, that there had been plenty of good, colorful baseball played on this field.

It could be that both of us were a bit out of our element at a track meet. Anyway, we spent quite a bit of time reviving memories of the baseball-playing collegians of another era while the hardy young men of the present were scampering around the track in their scanties in the chill March wind.

From Early Days . . .

We went back even to the early days, when Jack McCaffery was pitching for the Friars and from there on through the exploits of Joe McGee, the late Heck Allen, Charlie Reynolds, Johnny Halloran, Leo Marion, Oc Perrin, Lefty Collins, Ollie Roberge, Eddie Wineapple and, of course, Birdie Tebbetts. We remembered Ownie Carroll of Holy Cross pitching on the Friar Field. We also talked about the crack Japanese college team playing there when the Japs still were merely "those clever little people who certainly have taken to baseball." We remembered a night game at Hendricken Field, one of the first played under floodlights in Rhode Island, with, I think, Long Island University as the Friars' opponent.

As I thought back over the conversation yesterday, I began to wonder just when it was during the period we discussed, that college baseball was at its heights in popularity. That shouldn't be hard to find out. The answer ought to be available from Johnny Farrell, long time a leading force in baseball at Providence College, first as student manager and then as graduate manager of athletics.

It's John E. Farrell, executive secretary of the Rhode Island Medical Society, now. His last connection with college baseball was cut a year or so ago, when the pressure of duties with the medical association caused him to resign as chairman of the baseball committee for the New England Association of Colleges. But he was glad of the opportunity yesterday to get back to the diamond, via the conversational route, for a short while.

At the Peak . . .

Farrell places the college peak sometime between 1923 and 1928. He says the game began to hit the skids with the depression in 1929, "when people weren't paying to watch anything," and never really came back after that, because of the greater emphasis being placed on football and the way baseball was forced to share the public and student interest with other sports.

"As for the absolute height in baseball," Farrell went on, "let's say around 1924 or 1925, about the time when Ownie Carroll and Doc Gautreau were playing for Holy Cross. I can remember covering a Holy Cross-Boston College game for the Journal at that time when there was a crowd of 25,000 at Fenway Park. Of course, they used to sell out Fitton Field in Worcester, too. And that's when our games with Brown were drawing around 6000 regularly."

Jerry Prior

Variety in Spring . . .

"You look out the window nowadays, even at this time of year," he says, "and you're likely to see three or four youngsters shooting at an outdoor basket. In our day, that was unheard of. Then, too, now you have spring football in the colleges. And look how young boys are when they start playing golf now. The kids have just as much spectator interest in baseball as they did in the old days, but their competitive interests are divided."

It's generally agreed that the caliber of baseball has fallen away off since those days and that seems the chief reason why the game is showing no signs of a comeback. And the cause for the drop in caliber? Well, a good many people think it's the major league farm-club system. The big leaguers, they say, are taking talented youngsters out of high schools and sending them to farm clubs. One time, before the farm systems became so extensive, major-loop teams made a widespread practice of putting kids through the colleges, knowing they'd be getting excellent baseball training, under, say, Jack Barry at Holy Cross, or Jean Dubuc at Brown, or Jack Flynn or Jack Egan at Providence College or Andy Coakley at Columbia.

Farrell, however, believes that the interest of the average boy in playing baseball isn't so great as it was and that this has more to do with the present decline than any conflict with farm systems.

In addition to his secretarial post with the Rhode Island medical group, Farrell holds similar positions with the New England and national associations right now. That cuts down the time he has in which to keep an eye on sports, but he can't help having a keen interest in this year's American League pennant race, which may turn into a three-cornered fight among the Red Sox, Yankees and Detroit Tigers.

It's the Red Sox, first, of course with Farrell, for Birdie Tebbetts is the closest friend Johnny has among the hundreds of athletes who were under his guidance at Providence College. But he's also very friendly with Red Rolfe, the Tigers' manager, and with Freddie Hutchinson, Detroit pitcher, with whom Farrell became acquainted when Hutchinson and Tebbetts were batterymates at Detroit. And then, too, for several years, Johnny was a New England scout for the Yankees.

So for Farrell the coming major league season certainly should be interesting in more ways than one. But I guess it will pack plenty of interest for all of us, even though some of us ancients also would appreciate the return of college baseball as we knew it when.

Schoolboy Used Corridor To Train for Title Run

By FRED FOYE

Slippery floors of a high school corridor hardly rate as good substitute for a board track, but Jimmy Cameron, Plymouth High senior, already has parlayed those conditions into a most notable early-season outdoor victory. With the corridors as his training site he went outdoors last Saturday not only to win the 1000-yard event in the Providence College Meet but his victims included Dick Allen of Cranston, R. I., the New England indoor champion.

Peppy Friars Go To Albany Tourney

By JOE McHENRY

The Providence College Friars shoved off for Albany today with high hopes for success in the National Catholic basketball tournament which gets under way tomorrow night in New York's capital city.

The Friars, full of pep and enthusiasm, were undaunted by the fact that they are scheduled to face the strong Siena College team, host college for the tourney and one of the strongest teams in the field, in the opening round.

This is the Friars' third try at post-season play but their first appearance in the National Catholic event, now in its second season. During the coaching regime of General Al McClellan, the Friars played Springfield for the New England title and the right to represent this area in the NCAA. The Gymnasts won that one, however, at Harvard.

Good Season

Last season Providence was invited to the New England qualifying tourney for the N.A.I.B. but the record of the Friars wasn't one to demand any post-season recognition. This time the Friars have made the grade with one of their best seasons in years in the first year of Coach Vin Cuddy's direction.

Cuddy, who was a captain in the 82nd Airborne and a former all-around athlete at Connecticut, has brought the Friars along in fine style this season, with key victories over Rhode Island State and Boston College. The Friars have played hustling ball and shouldn't be awed by Siena's imposing record.

The Siena team ranks with one of the best small college teams in the country, winning 24 out of 29 games this season and again posting an impressive defensive record. They play a possession game in contrast to the Friars' scrambling but effective type of attack.

Siena Favored

On form the Albany Indians are favored. They are playing on their home court, where they have beaten some of the best teams in the East over the years. They have a veteran team and won their first 15 games in a row before being upset by Niagara, 59-49, at Buffalo. They are predominantly a senior team, headed by Ed Lange, a rangy forward who is 41 points short of 1000 for his college career.

Coach Cuddy says his team is well rested and in fine fettle for the tournament, although realizing that the Indians are a tough first-round foe.

"After all," Cuddy says, "the cinderella teams seem to have a field day in these tournaments. Take San Francisco in the National Invitation last year and C.C.N.Y. this year. And we're a pretty good club for this tournament. They're all tough and we could surprise them just as well as not."

Good Spirit

"We've a spirited team and we can play good basketball. I don't know a great deal about Siena but we've contacted a man in up-state New York who scouted them all season, so we'll know something about their style and their personnel."

"Frank Pelligrino, who has been bothered by a minor ailment, is in fairly good shape. He has played some fine games for us and he'll have more help around the boards, now that Sam Nissel is ready and available. Sam's finger doesn't bother him a bit and he has been really driving in the workouts. We missed him against Brown and he'll help."

Lozoski's puffed hand has come around in the workouts and he'll start at guard along with Art Weinstock.

PC Friars Face Siena In Catholic Tournament

ALBANY, NY — Coach Vin Cuddy's Providence College Friars will be underdogs against Siena College of this city tonight as the National Catholic Basketball Tournament gets underway. The PC-Siena clash will get underway around 9:30 and over the last three seasons, Siena has won 69 games, including 15 straight during the 1949-50 campaign.

But Friars Considered 9 Points Under Siena For Catholic Tourney

By JOE McHENRY

Albany, N.Y., Mar. 28.—A great practice session doesn't always mean a fine ball game but if last night's workout is any criterion, the Providence College Friars are ready, willing and able for their opener with favored Siena College here tonight in the National Catholic basketball tournament.

The Friars are 9-point shortenders against the Siena Indians, host club and the popular favorite locally to win this second annual tourney. However the Providence club is in an excellent frame of mind and was really at its best in last night's workout at the Vincentian Institute court.

Hereabouts the folks can see nothing but a Siena victory. However, the Indians are not unbeatable although a tough nut to crack on their home court, where tonight's tournament game will be played.

Veteran Team

The Friars' victories over Boston College and Rhode Island State are equal to anything the Siena team has done this season, although the Indians won 24 games while not mixing too much with court royalty.

Siena has height and practically a veteran team. The only non-senior in the Siena opening lineup is Willie Harrell, Negro star, who has been offered a berth with the famed Harlem Globe Trotters touring team if he wishes. He's only a sophomore and a good rebounder, working with four seniors.

The Friars are in better shape for this game than they were for the last ones on their regular schedule. Both Sam Nissel and Co-Capt. Walt Lozoski will be in tonight's opening lineup after having been missing with injuries. Nissel looked particularly good in last night's workout, while the folks who managed to get into the gym were much impressed with the shooting of slim Jim Schlimm.

Fran Pelligrino, Nissel and Schlimm represent the Friars' front court strength, with Lozoski and Art Weinstock at the guards. Ed Mooney, Ray Garcia and Tom Bauer will spell the forecourt operatives, with Ray Korbusieski and Ronnie Gagnon slated for guard duty. The latter have done their job with more or less little praise but they have been effective.

Sellout Seen

Tonight's game is expected to be a sellout, for Siena, winning 69 and losing 18 over three seasons and gaining national recognition for its solid defensive operations, has made many friends and fans. The game will be broadcast over WXXW at 850 on the dial, starting at 9:30 o'clock.

The Friars arrived here late yesterday, being the first visiting team on the scene when Creighton, flying in from Omaha, was grounded at Newark after making an effort to land at New York, Hillsgrove and Boston.

Walt Scanlon, who played tackle for the Friars under Hughie Devore and was a former Coyle athlete, is a three-sport coach at Vincentian.

The entire Providence squad attended Mass this morning out at Siena in Loudenville, N.Y., with the Mass being celebrated by the Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., president of Providence College. Fr. Slavin is on a speaking tour but is staying over in Albany for tonight's game and naturally picks the Friars.

Tall Men

Coach Dan Cunha of Siena says he's worried over tonight's game, remembering last year his team was knocked out in the first round of the first annual tourney at Denver after being favored. The Siena lineup for tonight includes Charlie Northrup (6 feet, 5) at center, Willie Harrell and Ed Lange (both 6-1) at forwards, and Charlie Bruda and Bill Boland (both 6 feet) at guards.

Walt Lozoski and Art Weinstock, both in their fourth and final season of college basketball, played against Lange and some of the others in their freshman and sophomore seasons, with Siena winning both games, one by five points and the other by 13 points.

P.C. Five Works Well

Friars Downed by Siena In Catholic Tournament

By JOE McHENRY

Albany, N.Y., Mar. 29—Coach Dan Cunha, a little guy with a fine basketball brain who has been likened to Coach Henry Iba of Oklahoma A & M, settle dan old score here last night and it was just too bad that the Providence College Friars had to be victims of his fine Siena team, playing at its best.

When the ESCIT tourney was but a babe, Cunha brought to Newport a crack team that had won 26 straight games. His charges were koncked off in the first round, much to his disappointment and amazement, but went on to win the Glen Falls tournament.

Here last night Cunha's Indians played one of their greatest games of this or any other season in scoring an 86-49 victory over the Friars in the opening round of the National Catholic basketball Tournament.

Unusual

For a team known far and wide for its defensive ability—they paced the East a year ago—these Indians put on a running game that would have been fitting for a Holy Cross or a good Rhode Island State at its best. They were so good they even surpassed the expectations of their loyal fandom and that's something, for they rate with the best in Albany's opinion.

And on last night's game, they are a fine ball team. The Friars gave them some trouble in the early going. At least the Friars played them even for the first 17 minutes of the first half, trailing, 26-23, at that point. And Providence was doing an excellent job on its own account up to then.

Siena left the court with a nine-point lead, 33-24, but they blew the game right out the window with their second-half start, in which they rolled up a 16-point lead. They hit four out of their first five pop shots, mostly from well out. The shooting gave the Albany fans a thrill and perhaps disheartened Coach Vin Cuddy's Friars, who were quite adequate in the opening 20 minutes.

It was Siena's best scoring game of all time and one of their most impressive games in the three years that they have specialized in top-flight ball. Siena, in popping in nine baskets in 12 shots early in the second half, would have been a match for anybody last night, Bradley, Holy Cross, CCNY notwithstanding. That's how good they were.

As far as the tournament is concerned, Siena was head and shoulders over the Friars, Loras College of Dubuque and St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., last night's competing teams.

Ed Lange, an Albany boy who is winding up four years on the Siena team, had the biggest scoring night of his career with 25 points, just three short of the tournament record. Lange was having a hot night and his mates were trying to get his all-time point-scoring total over the 1000-point mark. Accordingly, they helped him to shots that he wouldn't have gotten ordinarily.

Hook Shots

Slim Jim Schlimm was given the best hand of any of the visiting players, for his hook shots were the kind that the most partisan fans would appreciate. Schlimm scored 15 points, high for the Friars. Fran Pelligrino did a good rebound job in the first half, and Ray Garcia, Art Weinstock and Walt Lozoski had moments of brilliance.

NOTES: It was Ray "Ga Ga" Garcia's birthday and the boys serenaded him with "Happy Birthday." Ray put in a basket that would have done justice to Max Zaslofsky or Bob Davies. . . . Loras' Jim McCabe played well for the winning Iowans against St. Francis, but unsung Gene Ternes won the ball game in the closing minutes. . . .

The Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., president of Providence College, was one of the chief speakers at the tournament luncheon yesterday. . . .

While the Friars were pressing Siena in the early going, you could have heard two pins drop. But there'd be a tremendous roar when the Indians scored or made a good play.

The Rev. Charles "Chuck" Hayes, O.F.M., of the Siena faculty was of divided loyalty last night. Te now teacher a tSiena, but formerly was a student at Providence and graduated with "Slip" Barnini and Sweeney. . . . Brother Marcin, C.S.C., the athletic director at Vincentian Institute, was rooting for the Friars, as was Walt Scanlon. Brother Marcin is a former Taunton resident and a Coyle High grad.

Track Stars Go South After P.C. Meet Here; Stanfield Rio Bound

By PETE McCARTHY

The board-track season, more or less accurately labeled the "indoor" season, was brought to a fitting conclusion in these plantations Saturday with the second running of the Providence College Invitation Meet and most members of the spiked-shoe circuit will use the next few weeks to rest up before subjecting themselves to the rigors of the outdoor campaign.

The latter won't be the case with some of the national champions—fellows like Andy Stanfield of Seton Hall, Mal Whitfield, the Olympic 800-meter king from Columbus, Ohio, or John Joe Barry, the champion miler from Ballincurry, Ireland.

Make no mistake, these men are just as glad to be relieved of the pressure that accompanies the weekly carnivals on the big-time circuit, but this is the time of year when they can cash in on their reputations and travel about and abroad in as grand a style as befits their amateur standing under the rules of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Rhode Island State, Brown and Providence College had their baseball teams in action, and the Rams' football club went to work on Meade Field. Brown's gridmen, however, continued work in Marvel Gym.

How Will Mahoney Go with Stars Like Cousy? Great, Cuddy Asserts

F. B. 4-7-50
By JOE McHENRY

Tournaments and playoffs galore seen to stretch the basketball season all out of proportion. And yet, court fans are anxious to see just what Brown's Moe Mahoney will do when he gets on the court with the likes of Bob Cousy, Kevin O'Shea and Dick Schnittker. And he'll play with just such boys against the Harlem Globe Trotters in Boston a week hence.

Mahoney is something of an enigma in New England college basketball. He was an exceptional player and yet he might have been a great one with a better supporting cast.

Just the other day, Coach Vin Cuddy of Providence College was saying that Mahoney was far and ahead of most anybody the Friars ran up against. True, they didn't see Bob Cousy, but they did play against some good men.

Cuddy says that Mahoney can do everything, and he's not the first coach to say that. Cuddy says Mahoney is about as good as any college player he has ever seen and that covers a lot of territory.

Fakes and Shots

"Mahoney would have been as much an All-American as Cousy or Paul Arizin with a strong team," Cuddy says. "He surprised me with some of his fakes and shots and he's murder on the backboards. And you don't realize what a job it means being a star on just an average team. I'm not criticizing Brown or Coach Bob Morris but if Mahoney was working with some other outfit, say La Salle or North Carolina or Holy Cross, the pressure wouldn't be on him the way it was."

Another angle on Mahoney was the one that was frequently brought up—you know Moe doesn't look as if he's hustling all the time. Jim Duffy, who worked some of the Brown and Rhode Island State games, had an answer for that. Twice Jim stopped ball games to ask Moe if he felt o.k.

And the reason—the dry foam that was on Mahoney's lips and chin. He had practically played himself into exhaustion, like a man running a tough long distance race or a cross-country grind.

Moe says he's passing up baseball this spring but his game with the

All-Americans would veto that anyway. But it would be nice to watch the clever Mahoney when the opposition had to keep an eye on Arizin and Cousy and Schnittker and O'Shea and Mahoney all at the same time—even the classy Globe Trotters.

3 Catholic Colleges Form New Athletic Conference

ALBANY, N. Y., March 31 (AP).—The National Catholic Intercollegiate Association was formed today by athletic directors of eight colleges from six states.

The sports officials are here for the National Catholic Intercollegiate Basketball tournament, which ends tomorrow.

Thomas Thomas, of Denver, Col., tournament director, was named executive secretary of the new athletic association.

Thomas said "all Catholic conferences will be invited into the program. The N. C. I. A. wishes to encourage the operation and formation of such Catholic leagues throughout the nation."

The eight colleges forming the N. C. I. A. are: Siena of Loudonville, N. Y.; St. Francis College of Brooklyn; St. Francis of Loretto, Pa.; Iona of New Rochelle, N. Y.; Creighton of Omaha, Neb.; Loras of Dubuque, Iowa; Providence, R. I.; and St. Michael's of Winooski, Vt.

17 Games on Friars Card

Freshmen Slate to Open on May 2nd
in Providence

The Rev. A. B. Begley, OP, athletic director of Providence College, announced today that the Providence College nine will play a 17-game schedule this spring. The Friars, who have been working indoors, will start outdoor practice this week as soon as the board track which has been on Hendricken Field is dismantled.

The Friars will open their campaign on the road, playing their first four contests on foreign diamonds. Seton Hall will be the first foe of the Friars on Apr. 19, at South Orange, N.J., followed by Upsala College the following day, the 20th, at South Orange. Apr. 22, Providence College will play Yale at New Haven, Conn., followed by an exhibition game the next day against the Bridgeport team of the Colonial League.

The opening home contest for the Friars will be on Apr. 27 against Upsala at Hendricken Field. Providence College has home and home contests slated with Holy Cross, Upsala, Rhode Island State, Brown University, Boston College and Springfield College.

On May 5, the Providence College nine will play Holy Cross here, the next afternoon, the 6th, travel across town to play Brown and then on the 7th, Boston College will be the opponent at Hendricken Field, three tough games against arch rivals on consecutive afternoons.

Providence College will travel to Kingston, R.I., to play Rhode Island State on May 12, and then will play host to the Rams here on the 17th of May.

Providence College is also expected to field an excellent representation for the 1950 Outdoor Track Season, its second year under Coach Harry Coates. Outstanding among its weight prospects are Tony Fratantuono, last year's mainstay in the discus and newcomer Rocco DiFalco in the shot and hammer. Rocco, a former LaSalle Academy ace, has been improving steadily and Coach Coates predicts great things for the husky young Friar. In fact, Coates has had Bob Bennett, former Brown and Olympic weight star, up at P. C. to give DiFalco a look see and from all appearances, Rocco can make Coach Harry's predictions a reality.

BRUIN, P.C. NINES IN ACTION TODAY

Brown Meeting Holy Cross at Worcester; Friars to Play
Seton Hall

By JOHN HANLON

Two of the state's college baseball teams will be in action out of town today. Brown meets Holy Cross at Worcester and Providence College opens its season—and a four-game road trip—at Seton Hall. Coach Lefty Lefebvre of Brown, an old Crusader himself, will try the hometown touch in his batterymen for the day. Left-hander Norm Ebenstein will pitch and Ben Patrick will catch. Both are natives of Worcester.

Holy Cross playing its first game of the season, will spread the pitching work among three men—Jim O'Neill, Matt Forman and Dick Shelanbach.

One Change Possible

Lefebvre plans to stand pat on his lineup of the Wesleyan game, with one possible change. In the event Holy Cross uses a left-handed pitcher, Glenn Flanders will operate at shortstop in place of Bob Wheeler.

The Friars, handicapped like the others by lack of practice, face their opener at South Orange, N.J., with still more difficulties. Their two first-line catchers will not be available.

Capt. Art Weinstock, the regular receiver, has a sore throwing arm and will not make the trip. His replacement, Bill Downey, had an operation and will not be ready for at least a month.

Sullivan to Catch

As a result Coach Hal Martin will use Jim Sullivan, regular right-fielder, behind the plate. Dick Duignan, heavy hitter on last year's freshman team, will take Sullivan's place in the outfield.

On Thursday the Friars will play Upsala at East Orange, N.J., and then move up to Connecticut for two games over the weekend. Yale will be the opponent on Saturday and, on Sunday, the Friars will play an exhibition game at Bridgeport with that town's entry in the Class B Colonial League.

State will play two home games this week, with Maine coming in on Friday and Boston College on Saturday.

PC Friars Will Play Four Out-Of-Town Tilts

PROVIDENCE—The Providence College Friars baseball nine will open their season away from home this afternoon at South Orange, New Jersey, against the strong Seton Hall nine. This will be the first of four away from home games on this trip. Thursday afternoon, the Friars will be in East Orange, New Jersey, to play Upsala. Saturday Coach Hal Martin's team will invade Connecticut, where the Friars will tangle with Yale at New Haven, and on Sunday afternoon the Friars will complete their trip when they play an exhibition game at Bridgeport against the Bridgeport team of the Colonial League.

R. I. STATE TRACKMEN WIN OVER PROVIDENCE

Kingston, R. I., April 15—The Rhode Island State College track team scored an easy 91-44 victory today over Providence College in the first outdoor meet of the season for both. The Rams swept five events — the Hammer, Broad Jump, Mile, Two-Mile and Shotput. Eleven first places were snared by the Rhode Island State team.

P.C. Mile Relay Team Scores at Seton Hall

Newark, N.J., Apr. 22.—Providence College's mile relay team won its race here this afternoon at the annual Seton Hall Relays in 3:30.4.

The Friars' quartet, John McMullen, Jim Pendler, Jerry McGurkin and Jack Cassidy, defeated Fairleigh-Dickinson, the Merchant Marine Academy and Bayonne in that order.

NYU took three of the seven championship events of the meet, which was featured by the victory of Morgan State in the mile. The Baltimoreans were clocked in 3:15.3, breaking their own record by more than three seconds.

YALE NINE SOCKS

PROVIDENCE, 14-4

NEW-HAVEN, April 22 — (AP) Yale pitchers set the Providence college baseball team down with only one hit today as the Elis romped to a 14-4 victory in a haphazardly played game.

Sam Nissel, Providence center-fielder, lined a single between third and short in the seventh inning for the Friars' only hit. Since Jack Little's bid for a no-hitter was spoiled, Yale Coach Ethan Allen started Ben Klimczak on the mound in the eighth inning. Klimczak, one of eight Yale subs to see service, allowed no hits but walked in three runs. Another scored on an error.

Yale got only seven hits off a quartet of Providence pitchers. They included a double and a homer by Paul Lambert.

Yale Hands Friars' Nine Third Straight Loss, 14-4

Four P.C. Pitchers Unable to Hold Blue Batsmen;
Little Stars

Special to The Providence Sunday Journal

New Haven, Apr. 22.—Taking advantage of the wildness of four Providence College pitchers, Yale experienced little difficulty in defeating the Friars, 14-4, at Yale Field today.

Johnny Little, ace of the Eli staff, held the losers hitless until Sam Nissel lined a hit to left as the leadoff batter in the seventh inning. The lanky right-hander set the succeeding three batters down and retired in favor of Ben Klimczak as the eighth inning began.

Klimczak issued four walks, which coupled with a hit batsman and an error, provided Providence with all of its runs in that inning.

Frank Higgins, a local youth, started on the mound for the Friars and was touched for two unearned runs in the opening inning. Frank McGurkin's error with two out set the stage for Paul Lambert's two-run homer into the left-field stands.

Higgins lost control in the third and was replaced by Jim Schlimm after passing the first batter in the fourth. The latter also proved ineffective and Bill McKeon, from nearby Hamden, came in and retired three consecutive batters with the bases loaded. He pulled a muscle in his shoulder in the sixth inning and Bill Fagan, the fourth southpaw, pitched the remainder of the way.

The victory was Yale's eighth in 11 starts and the third straight setback for the Friars.

Two Newporters probably will win regular spots on the Providence College nine. Ed Mooney seems to have his old third base position clinched and Donald MacDonald, former all-star at De La Salle, has the inside track at first base. Always a nifty fielding first sacker, MacDonald showed a potent batting punch for the Knights of Columbus in the Sunset League last summer. He batted .386, about 100 points over his 1948 average in the same loop.

In addition to Harvard, the Eagles will play home-and-home series with Dartmouth, A. I. C., Boston University, Providence, Northeastern, Tufts, Rhode Island State and Holy Cross. Single games will be played with M. I. T. at Cambridge, St. Michaels at Chestnut Hill, Colby at Chestnut Hill and Amherst at Amherst.

Bruin Golfer Defeat Friar Squad, 6 to 1

Paced by Joe McVicker's 77, Brown University's golf team opened its season with a 6-1 victory over Providence College yesterday afternoon at the Metacomet Golf Club.

McVicker was matched against the Friars' No. 1 man, Howie Dooley, and the Bruin golfer was forced to break 80 in order to win out, 2 and 1. This was the closest match of the competition. Dooley carded an 80, as did Frank Fisher of P.C., the Friars' only winner. The latter defeated John Hurley, 5 and 4.

The Bruins are scheduled to oppose R.I. State this afternoon at the Point Judith Country Club at 2 o'clock.

The summary:

McVicker (B) defeated Dooley, 2 and 1.
McKinley (B) defeated Thompson, 3 and 2.

Gibney (B) defeated L. Codega, 3 and 2.
Daggett (B) defeated Petrarca, 8 and 7.
Fisher (PC) defeated Hurley, 5 and 4.
Van Note (B) defeated Rao, 7 and 6.
Wellerdieck (B) defeated Lynch, 7 and 6.

Brown - State, P. C. - H. C. Headline College Sports

By JOHN HANLON

Rhode Island college athletic teams of all varieties will launch a king-size slate of activity beginning Wednesday, after a midget weekend as far as victories go.

Leading events on the future book are the Brown and Rhode Island State College baseball game at Kingston on Wednesday, the Providence College-Holy Cross track meet in Worcester on the same day and, on Saturday, three baseball games on home—all top attractions.

The baseball teams can look forward to the coming games with hope, for there is not much in their favor in Saturday's games. State lost to Boston College, 7-6, at Kingston, and Brown and the Friars wound up road trips by losing to Navy and Yale, respectively.

Rams Close

Of the three, the Rams came closest. Down six runs in the ninth, they pushed five across, but couldn't get another. Freedom with bases on balls and untimely errors got the Rams in trouble in the early going. Sal Vento's triple with the bases loaded was the State's big blow in that ninth-inning rally.

The Friars' loss to Yale by a 14-4 score was their third straight defeat on the road. Their exhibition game with Bridgeport of the Colonial League scheduled for yesterday was cancelled because of rain. The main cause of their defeat at New Haven was the pitching of Johnny Little. He allowed just one hit, which came in the seventh inning.

The Friars' mile relay team won its race at the Seton Hall Relays, defeating Fairleigh - Dickinson, the Merchant Marine Academy and Bayonne. The quartet of John McMullen, Jim Pender, Jerry McGurkin and Jack Cassidy, turned in a time of 3:30.4.

Providence College resumes baseball on Thursday, meeting Upsala at home. State's track team also will be in action against Springfield at Kingston.

Friday's baseball card has three games listed. Bates will visit State and Dartmouth will play Brown at Aldrich Field. Gilbert School will take on State's Freshmen at the latter's field. Navy's tennis team comes here for a match with Brown and the Bruins' golf team will play Harvard at the Dedham Country Club.

Three more baseball games lead Saturday's doings. Providence College meets M.I.T., Connecticut plays State, and Cornell takes on Brown. All games are at home for the state's clubs. Brown's Freshmen will visit Worcester Academy for baseball and tennis, and M.I.T. comes to Brown for a track meet, varsity and freshmen.

Cuddy Calls Players For Spring Tune-up

In an effort to get a head start on next season's basketball program, Coach Vin Cuddy has called out the hoopsters for spring practice. Those athletes who are not baseball players and who are otherwise available have answered. The group is now being conducted in daily workouts in the gym.

Cuddy hopes to work with the players and attempt to clear up some of the weaknesses prevalent during the season. As next season's schedule is somewhat similar to last season's, Cuddy feels that the added practice will be a boon not only to the squad as a unit but it will give the individual athletes an opportunity to round themselves into more perfect form for the season which opens next December. The workouts will continue for about three weeks till the final exams begin.

Now that the warm weather has arrived, the dorm softball league has become a center of action. Due to the fact that many games must be played in such a short time, a new field is being used. Most of the players claim that the new field is much better than Donnelly field. A very exciting feature about it is that it has a leftfield wall at which the batters can aim. So far the only man to clout one over it is Al D'Ambruoso.

So far last year's champs (New Haven) are still in the lead with a 4-0 record. In second place is a newly organized club called the Discards who are sporting a 3-0 percentage. The clash between these two teams for league honors will be held the 24th of April at 4 p. m. on Admiral Field. There has been much talk concerning this game and rumors have it that certain things will be waged.

Joe Beatrice, who has been working very hard on this league, told me that he is going to try and work in the play-off games earlier this year with the idea of having a banquet for the victors.

Mile Relay Team Captures Seton Hall Relay Plaque

By JOHN SALESSES

Last Saturday the one-mile relay team of Harry Coates captured the relay championship of the heralded Seton Hall Relays. In a field of nine of the top college relay teams in the East, the Friars won in the very acceptable time of 3:30.4. The fourth renewal of this annual event at the Seton Hall Relays produced some top-flight competition, but the quartet of John McMullen, Capt. Gerry McGurkin, Jim Penler, and Jack Cassey proved that they were the best. This was the East's first important outdoor meet. Conditions were poor as the track was soft and cuppy from the rain and the afternoon was chilly. Nevertheless the Friars turned in a good time while beating the strong teams of Farleigh-Dickinson, 2nd, the Merchant Marine Academy, 3rd, and the Bayonne, 4th.

The Friars have entered this mile relay race every year since the beginning of the sport of Track at Providence College three years ago. In the other two attempts Harry Coates fielded an inexperienced aggregation and did not fare too well, but this season it was a far different story. The little known runners from P. C. made a name for themselves and copped the title from the more well-known and respected track groups around the East. It has been a hard three years for track at Providence, but the seeds of determination and fighting spirit planted in these athletes by Harry Coates three years ago are already being harvested.

One week ago Saturday, the track Friars engaged Howie Tootell's crew at Kingston. Even though the Rams came out on top 91-44, P. C. showed plenty of promise. These men trained without benefit of a cinder track whereas State and the other opponents are not handicapped in the same way.

John McMullen, Jim Penler and Jerry Alexander were the stand-outs. McMullen is about the most versatile man on the team. At State, he won the 220 yard low hurdles, took third in the 110 yard high hurdles and third in the high jump. He also can run in the 440 yard dash and 880 yard run. In the fall he runs cross country. Jim Penler turned in good performances in the 100 yard and 220 yard dashes. In the 220, he led the way in the only event in which P. C. swept every place. Jerry Alexander whipped the javelin for over 194 feet, an excellent distance considering the time of the year, or any time of the year for that matter.

Lack of team depth really hurt P. C. in the distance races and in the field events especially in the weights. Tony Fratantono won the discuss and Alexander the javelin, but State took everything else including sweeps in the hammer, shot put and broad jump. The Rams also swept the mile and the 2-mile.

Bob Black, Ray Dwyer and Art Sherman, all seniors, paved State's way to victory with victories and places in two or three events each. The times set in the running events were good considering the condition of the track after a week of inclement weather and a chilly and windy afternoon.

Friars Open Here Tomorrow

Cowley 4-26-50

Tangle With Upsala; MIT Saturday Foe

Cowley 4-26-50
By DICK BOULET

After a rather disastrous road trip, the Providence College varsity nine will open its home season against Upsala at Hendricken Field tomorrow afternoon. Frank Higgins, ace left hander of Coach Hal Martins riddled mound corps, will open the game for the Friars. Upsala is expected to counter with Roy Hunt, a right-hander who held the P. C.'ers to seven hits on the road trip. Saturday afternoon the Martinmen will play M.I.T. in their second home game of the year. Lefty Bill Fagan is scheduled to be the Friars' starting hurler.

Despite the three straight losses suffered on the trip, the team acquitted itself well, when it is taken into consideration that they had had little good weather for getting into condition, and that their opponents all had at least seven games under their belts before taking on the Friars. Coach Hal Martin is expected to stick to the same nine which started the three road tilts, with one exception. The lone lineup change will be at short-stop if Howie McGuiness' ailing arm has improved enough to enable him to play. Skip McGurkin who did very well at short while McGuiness was injured, is expected to move out to the left field post. Either Jim Costello or left-hander Norm Dube will open in right field depending on whether a right or left-hander starts on the mound for the invaders. The remainder of the lineup will be the same with Don MacDonald first baseman, Dick Maloney, second sacker, Ed Mooney, hot-corner guardian, Sam Nissel, center fielder, and Jim Sullivan, catching.

Main weaknesses displayed while in New Jersey and Connecticut were exactly as had been expected before the campaign opened. They were lack of experience and a definite shortage of pitchers. In the opening game at Seton Hall, the Friars proved their own worst enemies as they committed nine errors allowing the winners to score seven unearned runs in their 10-5 triumph. Jim Schlimm, a surprise addition to the mound staff pitched fairly creditable ball over the last four innings.

Despite playing their best game of the trip the Friars dropped a 7-1 division to Upsala. Showing considerable all-around improvement, the Friar's inability to hit in the clutch cost them the decision. They left thirteen runners stranded. The third game resulted in a 14-4 loss to Yale. In this tilt, the lack of experienced pitchers really hurt the P. C.'ers. While they themselves were held to but one hit, the Eli were racking up fourteen on seven hits and fourteen walks, with four errors tossed in.

While the defensive play and the pitching left much to be desired, the hitters held up their end, doing well in each game except the one with Yale. It is interesting to note that each team rated the Friars highly enough to toss their ace moundsmen against them. Skip McGurkin, Dick Maloney, Jim Costello, and Sam Nissel, all did well in the hitting department, while Jim Sullivan did well in handling the catching chores, an entirely new position to him.

Cowl 4-26-50

In the annals of institutions of higher learning, there usually stands out above all others, a figure or character, who, throughout the years holds the reverence and honor of everyone concerned with the college. He may be an All-American football star, he may be a baseball player who made the big leagues, he may be a politician, he may be an organizer of some kind, he may be an athletic trainer.

The short history of Providence College has been a colorful one. And it has been long enough to provide us with a gentleman who exemplifies all the integrity and goodness imaginable. This gentleman has overwhelmingly captured the hearts of all connected with Providence College. This gentleman was a member of the Class of 1933, athletic trainer of all sports from 1933-1939—Malcolm Hollis Brown.

In the spring of 1939 the graduating class began to pack their luggage and bid farewell to Providence College, cherishing the memories of their school days. Among them was Mal Brown. Mal didn't go home, for P. C. was his home. He was hired by the athletic association to be the athletic trainer for all sports. Mal Brown was an outstanding halfback on Coach Archie Golembeski's football team and had experience with the tape and bandages.

While at Providence, Mal was the most popular man on the campus and undoubtedly one of the most hard-working. He paid his school expenses with part-time work. He became an inspiration to all who came to him for his friendly advice. As an undergraduate Mal was converted to Catholicism, and was an example of good conduct and righteousness to everyone.

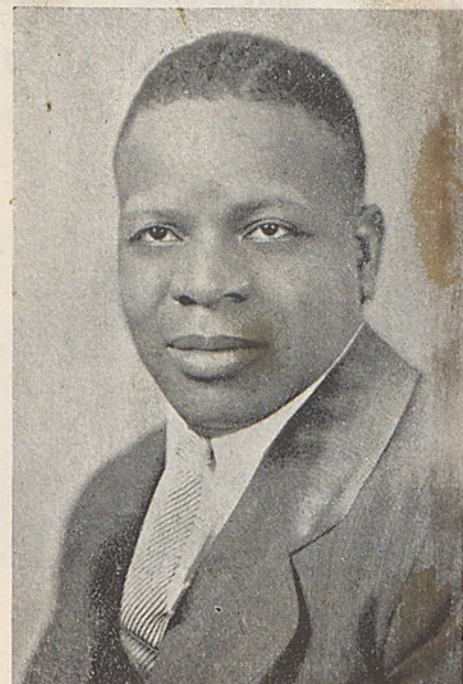

Mal Brown was born in Amherst, Mass., in 1905. He was the greatest athlete in the history of the local high school. He matriculated at Connecticut State University in 1925 and spent two years there as a four sport athlete. When he came to Providence in 1927 he starred on the football team.

From 1927 till 1939 when he died, Mal Brown was Mr. Providence

College. Wherever and whenever P. C. athletics were mentioned, the name of trainer Mal Brown inevitably came into the discussion. His was a name that never made the headlines, he was but the athletic trainer; it is the athletes who write the sport columns. But, however, no one could underestimate his importance as a member of the athletic association. His very presence in the locker room, his jovial laughter, his big black derby were all his trademarks.

His rubbing table was a conditioner in more ways than one. In addition to getting rid of their physical pains through him, the players found Mal in whom they could confide, a ready and sympathetic listener to all sorts of troubles dealing with love affairs, family squabbles, difficulties in the class room or athletes. There were several cases in his eight years of service where his few words of advice and encouragement prevented many an athlete from quitting under pressure to spur them on to greater achievement. Numerous athletes can tell the story that it was Mal whom they sought whenever their spirits were broken down. It was under this role that Mal accomplished the most good. It made him indirectly responsible for the success attained by Providence teams and those of several individual stars.

At the beginning of the football season in 1939, a typhoid epidemic came complicated with an attack of bronchial pneumonia. He was moved to St. Joseph's Hospital for further diagnosis. The headlines in the COWL that day read: "Mal Brown Misses First Football Game in Ten Years." The entire student body was praying for his recovery. Coach Hughie Devore told his boys to win the Niagara University game (the following Saturday) for Mal Brown. And they did!

But the Almighty works in mysterious ways, and Mal Brown died. Despite the fact that four students were chosen to give blood for transfusions, Mal's day had come. The turnout to donate blood was tremendous, so one person from each of the four classes was accepted to serve. The sad headlines read: "Mal Brown, P. C. trainer, Succumbs to Fever". Hugh Devore asked his team to win another for Mal Brown—the A. I. C. game the following Saturday. The Friars won that contest by the largest score they racked up in four years, 27-0.

In one of the most impressive funerals ever seen in the city of Providence, Mal Brown was laid to rest. Friends came from near and far to view the body and to say a prayer for Mal, their friend. The procession from Harkins Hall to St. Pius Church was magnificent.

Hundreds upon hundreds of Mal Brown's friends were there to pay their last respects. The Very Rev. John J. Dillon, O.P., President of Providence College, sang the solemn high Mass. Spiritual bouquets were sent from everywhere. Many of Mal's distinguished friends throughout Rhode Island and elsewhere came to bid farewell to the popular athletic trainer. Among them were George "Birdie" Tebbetts, a school buddy of Brown's; John E. Farrell, former graduate manager of athletics; Dr. Daniel J. O'Neill, secretary-treasurer of the alumni association; Hank Soar of the New York Giants football team and now an American League umpire; and Rev. Paul J. Redmond, recent director of the Holy Name Journal.

Mal Brown had passed away but his beloved memory has lived on throughout the intervening years. Never have the "old timers" in the College forgotten his deeds and his influence on the life of Providence College. His life at P. C. began in 1927 as a lowly freshman, and after his graduation he was the athletic trainer. During the summer months he worked around the school, and especially on Hendricken Field where it was his task to convert the baseball diamond to a football gridiron each year. He toiled with the superintendent of maintenance, John Donnelly grooming and shaping up the beautiful campus that we have here today.

Today we look back eleven years in admiration to an institution at P. C.—the undying memory of Malcolm Hollis Brown. Our chaplain, the Rev. Charles McKenna, O.P., very aptly sums up Mal Brown's contribution to the college. He declares that Mal Brown was a fixture in school life. He was a "link" between student and faculty, between old alumni and new, and between alumni and the College. His memory will never pass from those who knew and loved him.

Bruin Golfers Beat Friars At Metacomet

Cowl 4-26-50

On Monday afternoon the Friar golfers began their season on the links by dropping a 6-1 decision to the Bruins of Brown. At the Metacomet Golf Club the Vin Cuddy-coached crew were able to take only one of the seven scheduled matches.

Howie Dooley, the Friar ace, carded a very acceptable 80 but took second place to his rival from Brown, Joe McVicar, who took top honors with a neat 77 for the 18 hole course. This was the closest match of the competition.

The sole P. C. victory came when Frank Fisher defeated John Hurley of the Bruins, 5 and 4, with an 80 for the course.

The summary:

McVicar (B) defeated Dooley (P), 2 and 1.

McKinley (B) defeated Thompson (P), 3 and 2.

Gibney (B) defeated Codega (P), 3 and 2.

Daggett (B) defeated Petrarca (P), 8 and 7.

Fisher (P) defeated Hurley (B), 5 and 4.

Van Note (B) defeated Rao (P), 7 and 6.

Wellerdieck (B) defeated Lynch (P), 7 and 6.

In the back court, Ray Garcia stands out as the top man. After playing forward last season, Gabby returns to his original guard post where he will be relied upon to carry the brunt of the play-making activities. As the situation shapes up, Ray Korbusieski deemed for the other guard post. A hustler and an excellent team man, he fits into Cuddy's plans nicely. However, he will be pressed for his job by a quartet of other capable performers. They include the Power brothers, Jerry Lembo, and Ronnie Gagnon.

From this point of view, the team should be a most successful one. A well rounded starting lineup supported by an outstanding reserve list is a combination tough to cope with. Since Clark University has been dropped

College Nines Get Rolling

F. B. 4-18-50
P.C. at Seton Hall;
Brown at Holy Cross
After 6-to-1 Triumph

By JOHN HANLON

Providence College will open its baseball season tomorrow afternoon at Seton Hall, the first contest on a four-game trip this week; and Brown, victorious in its opener yesterday, will meet Holy Cross at Worcester.

These are the pertinent items on a busy baseball calendar for the state's college baseball teams. Later in the week Rhode Island State College will play two games and Brown will take a two-game tour of its own.

The Friars, handicapped like the others by lack of practice, face their opener at South Orange, N.J., with still more difficulties. Their two first-line catchers will not be available.

Capt. Art Weinstock, the regular receiver, has a sore throwing arm and will not make the trip. His replacement, Bill Downey, had an operation and will not be ready for at least a month.

Sullivan to Catch

As a result Coach Hal Martin will use Jim Sullivan, regular right-fielder, behind the plate. Dick Duignan, heavy hitter on last year's freshman team, will take Sullivan's place in the outfield.

Frank Higgins, the only returnee from last season's pitching corps, will be the Friars' starter, with Bill McKeon, sophomore, ready in relief.

For an infield Martin will go with Don MacDonald at first, Dick Maloney at second, Francis McGurkin at short and Ed Mooney at third base. Sam Nissel and Jim Costello will be the other outfielders.

On Thursday the Friars will play Upsala at East Orange, N.J., and then move up to Connecticut for two games over the weekend. Yale will be the opponent on Saturday and, on Sunday, the Friars will play an exhibition game at Bridgeport with that town's entry in the Class B Colonial League.

Loose Fielding Hurts As Brown, P.C. Nines Bow to H.C., Seton Hall

By JOHN HANLON

The rough edges common to early-season baseball games were the downfall of Providence College and Brown in contests yesterday.

The Friars, opening their season and a four-game road trip, made nine errors against Seton Hall at West Orange, N.J., and lost by a score of 10-5. The club will return to action this afternoon, meeting Upsala at East Orange.

Two untimely Brown errors and a Holy Cross pitcher named Dick Shellenbach combined to give the Crusaders a 6-1 opening-game victory over the Bruins at Worcester. Shellenbach, despite a touch of wildness, paced eight hits as the Bruins lost their first of two games this season.

Rams Play Tomorrow

Brown will continue its busy week beginning tomorrow by visiting Princeton for its first contest in the Eastern Intercollegiate League. The Bruins also will play Navy Saturday in another league game.

Rhode Island State College will open its home season tomorrow against the University of Maine and entertains Boston College at Kingston on Saturday. Bob Underhill is the Rams' probable pitching choice in the first contest.

Two sophomores, Bill McKeon and Jim Schlim, pitched for Providence College in its opener and they might have done better if the club's defenses were tighter. McKeon, for instance, worked four innings and gave up six runs, three of which were unearned. The Friars' facility for the error also hindered Schlim.

Dick Maloney and Jim Costello led the Friars at bat with two hits each in three trips. The former drove in a pair of runs and Costello had a double to go with his single. Ed Mooney's double was the only other extra-base hit of the game.

Brown and Friars Are Beaten in Baseball

Metastation 4-20-50
Brown University and Providence College bowed in baseball games yesterday.

The Bruins dropped a 6 to 1 decision to Holy Cross at Worcester, while the Friars on a three-game tour were upended by a good Seton Hall nine at South Orange, N. J., 10 to 5.

PC Plays Loose Ball, Loses To Seton Hall

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J.—Making nine errors which permitted seven unearned runs to cross the plate, Providence College went down to the hands of Seton Hall. Bill McKeon and Jim Schlim, PC hurlers, allowed 12 hits. The Friars collected eight, two each by Maloney and Costello.

Brown, PC Teams Lose

Holy Cross, behind the eight-hit pitching of Dick Shellenbach, walloped Brown yesterday, 6-1, at Fitton Field before a crowd of 2,000.

At South Orange, N. J., Providence College suffered a 10-5 defeat by Seton Hall. The Friars committed nine errors, allowing seven unearned runs to score in a lopsided contest.

Yale Pitchers Give Providence One Hit, Romp to Win, 14-4

NEW HAVEN, April 22 (AP) — Yale pitchers set the Providence College baseball team down with only one hit today as the Elis romped to a 14-4 victory in a haphazardly played game.

Sam Nissel, Providence center-fielder, lined a single between third and short in the seventh inning for the Friar's only hit. Since Jack Little's bid for a no-hitter was spoiled, Yale coach Ethan Allen started Ben Klimczak on the mound in the eighth inning. Klimczak, one of eight Yale subs to see service, allowed no hits but walked in three runs. Another scored on an error.

Yale got only seven hits off a quartet of Providence pitchers. They included a double and a homer by Paul Lambert.

Bears, Friars Beaten Again, Continue Trips

Tigers, Faces Navy as P.C. Moves to Yale

By JOE McHENRY

The Providence College Friars and the Brown Bruins each met up with its second successive baseball setback on the road yesterday. The Friars dropped a 7-to-1 decision to Upsala at East Orange, N.J., while the Bruins ran into some hot pitching at Princeton and were shut out 8 to 0, by the Tigers.

The Friars were scheduled to play at Yale this afternoon, which chalked up a 4-0 victory over Amherst yesterday, while the Brown forces move on to Annapolis to play the Navy coached by Max Bishop, the former infield star with the A's and Red Sox.

Two Victories

Upsala won a doubleheader yesterday, taking the Friars in the opener and Hartwick, 10 to 3, in the nightcap. Roy Hunt, the Vikings' pitching ace, won his fourth game at the expense of the Friars, giving up seven hits but keepink them fairly well scattered. Bill Fagan and Joe De Stephano did the mound work for the Friars, with Fagan the starter and losing pitcher.

Upsala combined a pair of singles with four walks by Fagan for four runs and the ball game in the second inning. They made it 5-0 before P.C. put over its only run in the sixth. Skip McGurkin, junior shortstop from East Hartford, was the only Friar to get two hits. Sam Nissel, Dick Maloney, Norman Dube, Eddie Mooney and Fagan collected the Friars' other bingles, all singles. Henderson, Veccio and Gronger paced the Upsala attack.

Friars Suffer 7-to-1 Setback From Upsala

East Orange, N.J.—Apr. 21.—Providence College suffered its second straight setback at the hands of a New Jersey school today, as Upsala College drubbed the Friars, 7-1, at Viking Field. The contest, rained out Thursday, was started at noon to allow Upsala to play its scheduled tilt with Hartwick College later in the afternoon.

Viking right hander Roy Hunt gained his fourth straight victory as he scattered seven hits. Meanwhile, Upsala took advantage of Bill Fagac's wildness and combined four walks with a pair of timely singles for four runs in the second.

NYU UNIT CHOICE IN PENN RELAYS

Phillips, Borjeson of Brown,

P.C. Relay Team Listed

Among Entries

Philadelphia, Apr. 27.—(AP)—New York University, boasting as fleet a band of runners as ever donned the Purple and White, is expected to dominate the 56th University of Pennsylvania Relays opening tomorrow at Franklin Field.

Off their performances in the Seton Hall Relays last week, the New Yorkers are favored to carry off the honors in at least three of the eight championship relays. They are the sprint medley, 440 and half-mile baton events.

More than 3000 track and field athletes from 500 schools and colleges will compete at Franklin Field during the two days with the climax late Saturday when a hand-picked field of runners races in an invitational mile.

Rhode Island will be represented in the relays by Dick Phillips and Gil Borjeson of Brown and a one-mile relay team from Providence College, composed of John McMullen, Jim Penler, Gerald McGurkin and John Cassidy.

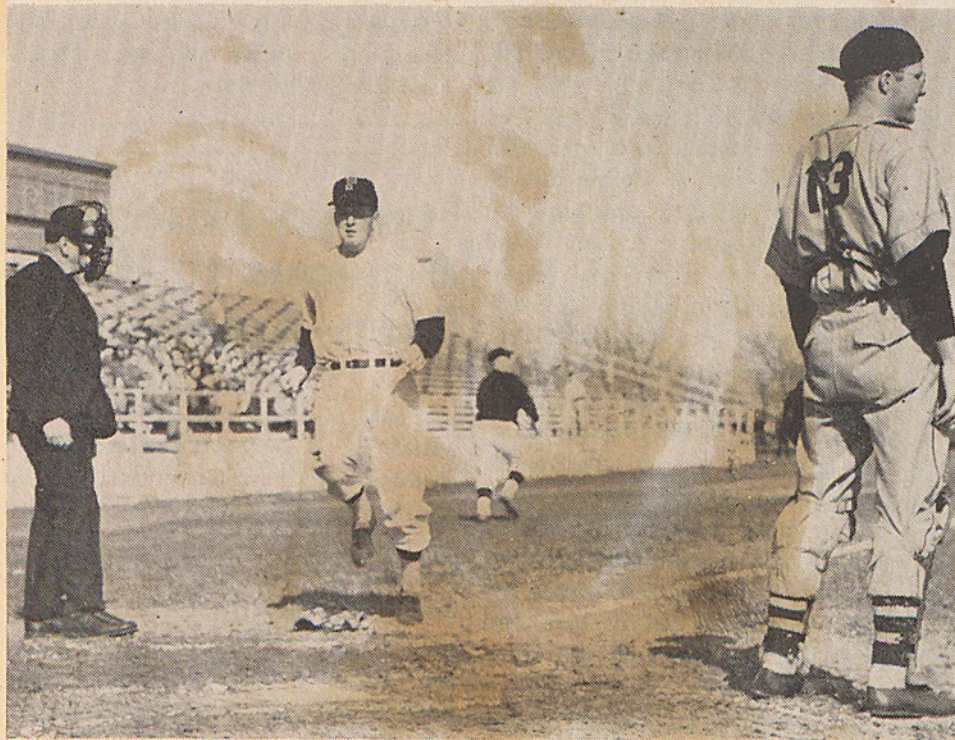

Phillips is the defending champion in the high jump while Borjeson will compete in the hammer throw. The Friars have drawn the outside position in the relay and will run against Pennsylvania Military College, Alfred University, the Naval Air Station at Lakehurst, N.J., Springfield and Drexel.

Collision at Home: Catcher Bob Peterson of Upsala is holding on to the ball for dear life and looking for a spot to land after tagging the Friars' Don MacDonald at home plate in the sixth inning of yesterday's game at Hendricken Field. Bill Groezinger, Upsala right fielder, made a fine throw and beat MacDonald after Dick Duignan's single to right. The collision, seconds before, spun both Peterson and MacDonald off their intended paths.

Friars Upset Upsala On Nissel's Tripple

Cover 5-3-50
The Providence College Friars opened their home baseball season in a successful manner, trouncing the Upsala Vikings 3-2 at Hendricken Field last Thursday. This was the first win of the young campaign for the Martinmen, who were avenging a previous defeat inflicted by the team from East Orange, New Jersey. The game with M.I.T., postponed on both Saturday and Monday, has been permanently cancelled.

Lefty Frank Higgins turned in the best game of his career as he went the route, limiting the invaders to five hits. Though inclined to be a bit wild, Frank's curve was breaking very sharply and he consistently fooled the opposing batters with his change — up pitches. An excellent indication of the extent to which the P. C. southpaw collared the Vikings is the fact that there were only three outfield putouts during the entire game, and a total of but six balls hit to the outer gardeners during the whole nine innings.

The deciding run was scored in the eighth inning when Sam Nissel unloaded a tremendous wallop to left field, a hit which sailed way over the fielder's head, and rolled to the fence at the 430 foot mark. Nissel went all the way to third on his blow and was able to score when the center fielder's relay went past the catcher.

The Friars had their anxious moments in the top of the ninth when the Upsala nine loaded the bases on three walks with but one away. However, Higgins was equal to the occasion and forced Bill Satchel, who had previously touched him for two bingles, to hit right back to him. Higgins fired to catcher Walt Sullivan, forcing the man coming in from third, and Jim, in turn, gunned a perfect strike to third sacker Steve Sulavik, nabbing the runner who had rounded the bag.

Coach Hal Martin's charges took a 2-0 lead in the first inning. Skip McGurkin reached on an error and later scored on Dick Maloney's double to left. Don MacDonald hit a sharp single to right and Maloney came across with the second tally. MacDonald was able to go all the way to third as the right fielder let the ball get through him, but was stranded as the next two batters went out. Upsala knotted the score in the seventh on two singles, a walk, and a costly wild pitch, thus paving the way for Nissel's payoff blow.

P.C. Relaymen Place At Penn. To Duel Gymnasts Saturday

By John Salesses

Last Saturday, the Providence College relay team of John McMullen, Jim Penler, Gerry McGurkin and Jack Cassidy took third place in their section of the mile relay behind Alfred and Springfield at the Fifty-Sixth Annual Penn Relays in Philadelphia. Alfred's winning time was 3:23.6.

The Friars drew the outside lane for their race. Gerry McGurkin ran the best 440 of his track career. He was clocked at 49 seconds. Jim Penler had the second best quarter-mile with a time of 51 seconds. P.C.'s quartet turned in a 3:25 mile.

A fact in Providence's favor is that their race was the fourth best of the twelve one-mile relays in which many of the outstanding track powers of the country in collegiate circles participated.

Jerry Alexander's best toss of about 177 feet could not gain for him a place in the javelin event.

The next events on the track calendar has P.C. meeting Springfield College in a duel meet at Springfield, Mass., this Saturday afternoon and Brown University at the Brown Stadium the following Tuesday.

Yearlings Do Battle With Leicester Coll.

By CHARLIE SAKANY

The Freshman Baseball Team opened their season yesterday against Leicester Jr. College. The scheduled battery for this game was Gallagher and Quinn.

On Sunday the Frosh played the Varsity and were defeated by a close, 2-1 score. In this game the mound chores were ably handled by Gallagher and Mullen while Quinn did a nice job of running the team from behind the plate.

As far as pitching and catching is concerned, Coach Larry Drew is quite satisfied. Gallagher has exceptional control and a wide variety of curves. Mullen's fast ball is very impressive and on Sunday he caught the Varsity Men looking on many occasions and had the onlookers awed. Quinn has been handling the backstop position with ease, demonstrating a good arm plus "know how."

To date the big weakness has been hitting but the boys are beginning to respond and it should only be a matter of a few days more of practice before they are up to par.

P.C. FACES ROUGH

FIVE DAY SCHEDULE

AIC THIS AFTERNOON, HC FRIDAY BROWN ON SATURDAY, BC SUNDAY

Coach Hal Martin's charges open the most strenuous week of their schedule today with an afternoon tilt against American International College at Springfield this afternoon. Lefty Frank Higgins, who hurled a five hit win in the Friars' last outing, is expected to handle the mound chores for the P. C.'ers, while the

A. I. C.'s starting pitcher hasn't been determined as yet in a home game. Friday afternoon the Friars take on a very strong foe in the Holy Cross Crusaders. On Saturday the scene will shift to Aldrich Field, Brown's home park, where the P. C.'ers take on the capable Bruins in the first contest of their home and home series. The Friars return home for a Sunday afternoon encounter with the powerful Boston College Eagles.

Faced with these four major games in one week, Coach Hal Martin is going to have to juggle his pitching staff to make the best possible showing. Lefty Frank Higgins, the most experienced of Hal's hurlers, is scheduled to open this afternoon's contest, and he is slated to go again in the Sunday Tilt with the high-powered Eagles from Boston. Friday's pitching choice is not certain, but the starter is likely to be selected from among Southpaws Bill Fagan, Jim Schlimm and right hander Joe DeStefano. Lefty Bill McKeon, a good control flinger who showed so well against the frosh in last Sunday's Frosh-varsity game, is expected to get the nod against the Bruins on Saturday.

The tremendous improvement displayed by the squad in the Upsala contest has encouraged everyone as the Friars ready themselves for the weekend tilts, which are against the best opposition to be found in Eastern college baseball circles. For, Boston College's Eagles have been the Eastern NCAA representatives in the college world series finals for the past two seasons, while the Crusaders from Holy Cross were runners-up to the Eagles last year, and have an even stronger nine this season. The third weekend opponent, Brown, is currently fielding one of its best teams in recent years.

The only major lineup change contemplated by Coach Martin will be the replacing of right fielder Skippy McGurkin by either of two right handed hitters, Jim Costello or George Carroll, or left handed swinger Norm Dube, depending on the opposition's hurler, if McGurkin's infected heel fails to respond to treatment. Steve Sulavik's superb fielding seems to have earned him the starting nod over Ed Mooney at third, but Mooney will definitely see service. Buzz Barry may start at second base instead of Dick Maloney, but Don MacDonald and Howie McGuinness will keep their starting jobs at first and short, respectively. Jim Sullivan, who has shown remarkable improvement since taking over the catching chores will open behind the plate. Sam Nissel and Dick Duignan will hold down the center and left field posts.

Cowl 5-3-50

While browsing through some back issues of the COWL, we came across an interesting article in the Alumni News (The COWL, Friday, October 11, 1940.) The story was in a letter form written by George "Birdie" Tebbetts. On these dreary days when baseball is taking second place to the weather conditions, we feel that this account will somewhat liven up the interest in baseball here at the college.

While a student at P. C. George Tebbetts was the sports editor of the Alembic. In 1934 the Alembic was also the college newspaper as the Cowl was not founded till 1935. In 1940 when "Birdie" was the backstop for the Detroit Tigers, he turned literary again for his alumni friends at Providence College. The text of the letter is as follows:

Dear Fellow-Alumni:

No doubt you'll think I'm pretty nervy asking for the space allotted in the COWL for alumni news. However, it is the best possible way for me to contact all of you and express my sincere thanks for all the many inspirational and congratulatory telegrams sent me during the past week.

Recalls P. C. Days

Realizing full well that I'm lucky enough to be the first graduate of Providence College ever to play in a World Series I can't begin to tell you how happy I was to be in such a position. During the past six years I've "made most of the stops" as they say in baseball but let me inform you that I will never have more pleasant days than those spent in Providence as a member of the Class of 1934. My thoughts on innumerable occasions retrospect on those days as an undergraduate when the late Jack Flynn's word was law on the baseball team and Al "Gen." ("was that a foul, Ref.") McClellan was the charmer of the basketball tossers. Although I never went out for football due to baseball contracts I always admired Joe McGee and respected his football teams. Then, too, there was Johnny Farrell to whom I will always be indebted for the inspiration and guidance he afforded. I'm not preaching a sermon, fellows, because they just don't allow it in this league but believe me when I say I feel justly proud to be numbered among the alumni of Providence College where the Dominicans instill the proper fundamentals for a successful start in life.

About the Series

As for the series there isn't too much to talk about since yours truly let you down by going hitless instead of smacking that Redleg pitching for extra bases. However, there were a number of interesting incidents some of which I will gladly pass along. The most surprised man in the ball park the day Del Baker put me in pinch-hitting was Mrs. Tebbett's son, George. Understand I didn't get any hits but I was having pretty fair luck in hitting the ball squarely. Well, I was in the dugout when I got the sign to step to the plate and believe me fellows when I tell you the thought that slipped through my mind was a fleeting glimpse of "Chief" Marsella tagging one for "keeps" when he "ran" the outfield for the Friars. However, I was dreaming as I hit an in-curve letter high and it was an easy out. A scene which I will never forget was the determination expressed in Bobo Newsom's face when informed about his late father's turn for the worse and the great Tiger hurler decided that Bobo would have to win another one for "Dad". As you know he went on to pitch a shutout and appeared to grow stronger as the game progressed. As for the Reds they play percentage baseball and could probably go through the winter season with one run but in the American League . . . well, I think we'll leave that to the experts.

American League

Although the World Series is considered the "big" show and rightly so, I must inform you that our stretch drive in the American League had many a thrill. Those games with the Cleveland Indians when we saw so much of Bob Feller we thought he was a member of the Tiger pitching staff. There is a pitcher, men, and don't ever sell him short. Feller, Feller, and Feller seemed to be the menu although Mel Harder pitched some great ball for the Indians. Our thumping twins, York and Greenberg, couldn't wait days to get to the ball park and guess their records prove as much. These two giants can really powder that apple and if Hughie Devore can offer them enough they might consider playing those tackle "slots" for him in football.

These and many incidents have impressed me indelibly, but none will remain as long as will the pleasant and thoughtful telegrams you various Alumni brothers sent me. May I reiterate, I'll never forget it.

Sincerely,
GEORGE TEBBETTS

Dormurales

NEW HAVEN (7) - DISCARDS (2)

Last Monday saw what was supposed to be the best tilt in the dorm league. It was between last years champs, the New Haven Club, and a new aggregation that has shown itself possibly the fact that they were playing to be very good so far this season. The reason the champs was the reason the Discards fell short of expectations.

A competent pitcher was on the mound for the losers and although walking many he showed signs of becoming one of the best pitchers in the league. The Tiger continued his winning streak by pitching superb ball handcuffing the best the Discards could offer. The individual star of the game was Al D'Ambrouso. Al, whose bat has been loud all season, drilled out a few extra-base hits. Al's fielding was flawless and one play in particular was the finest piece of fielding that we've seen on Donnelly field. The lopsided score was due to walks and errors and if these can be remedied their next contest should prove to be interesting.

ST. THOMAS FRESHMAN (3) NO-GOODIES (4)

One of the most thrilling games of the past week was between these two teams. The No-Goodies drew first blood in the first inning by scoring 1 run. St. Thomas Freshmen with a barrage of hits managed to tally 3 runs only to have the No-Goodies tie it up in the 4th. The tie-breaking run came from a slash by Fahy of the No-Goodies in the latter part of the 7th with two outs. This particular win enabled the No-Goodies to slide into second place in the league standing.

So far the schedule has been made for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and includes 19 games which should provide much softball entertainment for those who desire it. Joe Beatrice has informed us that the play-offs will start the week before exams and that they will include the first four clubs. As the league stands now, all the teams are still in contention but it is expected that the play-off pattern will form this week.

It Looks Like a Tie: Ed Mooney of Providence College slides back into first base on one knee just beating a desperate dive for the bag by Holy Cross' Bob Manning trying for a double play. Catcher Jim Sullivan of the Friars hit a short fly to Manning, who raced Mooney for the base in going for a twin killing. The play occurred in the second inning of yesterday's game at Hendricken Field. Holy Cross won, 12 to 2. R.I. 5-6-50

Crusader Ball Club Hops on P.C. For 5th Decision in 6 Starts, 12-2

26 Walks, 30 Left on Bases

Among Statistics; P.C.

Gets Only 6 Hits

P. J. 5-6-50
By JOE HENRY

The Holy Cross Crusaders handed the Providence College Friars a 12-to-2 setback yesterday at Hendricken Field for their fifth victory in six starts. Actually the teams may have set a record or two for this series for there were 26 walks and 30 men left on the basepaths.

The Friars couldn't hit when it counted, although they had plenty of baserunners. The Cross, who can get the men on the bases but can't get them around this season, were setting something of a futility record with 17 left when they came up with six unearned runs in the ninth.

The Friar pitching was handled by Bill Fagan, Jim Schlimm, Joe De Stephano and Frank Higgins, with Schlimm and De Stephano doing a good job. For the Cross, Jim Dilling and Dick Shellenback, a pair of fast-balling right-handers, held the Friars to six hits, with Shellenback, son of the former Red Sox coach, being most impressive. Shellenback put out the Friars' fire in the sixth and gave up two hits over the last three innings.

After each team left five men on in the first two innings, the Crusaders broke the ice with four runs in the third. After two walks and Buck Manning's single loaded the bases, Fagan hit Billy Heon forcing in the first run. Bill Stetter walked, bringing in the second, and Dilling, more noted for his spot work in basketball, clipped a ground ball single to left, sending in the third and fourth runs.

A pair of scratchy bingles, one a double by Manning and the other a pop single behind third by Heon, gave the Cross a 5-0 lead in sixth. Dilling passed the first three Friars—Ed Mooney, Jim Sullivan and pinch hitter Art Weinstock—in the sixth. Mooney scored the first Friar run on Howie McGuinness' fielder's choice and the second came home on Bob Barry's single.

Here Coach Jack Barry brought in Shellenback and the Friars didn't threaten too seriously thereafter.

One of the highlights of the game was Schlimm's arrival on the mound in the fourth with the bases loaded and no outs. He struck out two men and got another on a fly ball.

The Crusaders contributed five double plays, including a third-to-home-to-first twin killing after P.C.'s first three men reached in the opening inning.

By Springfield In Track Meet

Springfield, Mass., May 6.—Springfield College's track team showed more depth than it figured on this afternoon in its third track meet of the season and the Maroons wound up with an overwhelming 99½-to-35½ triumph over Providence College at Pratt Field before 250 spectators.

Capturing 13 firsts in the 15 events, Coach Leslie J. Judd's forces were never forced to extend themselves for the most part in the dual meet, the last one for Springfield before it runs in the Easterns here next week.

Curt Guild, Springfield boy and former Classical High trackman, continued to excel in the discus throw, his specialty in the field events, by breaking his own record set earlier in the season. Guild heaved the discus 134 feet, 8½ inches in fashioning the new Maroon mark.

The Springfield Freshmen defeated the P.C. Freshmen, 92-44.

Bruin Rally In Eighth

Beats Friars

Three Run Uprising Leads to 8-5 Victory; Hayes Stops P.C. in Late Innings

S.J. 5-7-30

By JOHN HANLON

Brown's baseball team broke out of a tie with a three-run rally in the eighth inning and defeated Providence College, 8-5, yesterday afternoon at Aldrich Field.

Al Gauthier's pinch single scoring Harv Lapidés started it for the Bruins, and Bob MacConnell's second double of the day, scoring Ivan Spangenberg, wrapped it up. For good measure, Paul Wasseth squeezed Gauthier home and Brown had its fourth victory in eight games.

The Friars themselves had the making of a big eighth, but it fizzled. Jim Sullivan and Howie McGuinness singled and then Capt. Art Weinstock, out of action with a sore arm, blasted a pinch double to left center. Sullivan scored, but McGuinness was out at the plate on an excellent relay from Lapidés to Bob Wheeler to Bob Rinfret.

Hayes Stops Rally

At that point, Bill Hayes, Brown's third pitcher, relieved Norm Ebenstein and got Norm Dube on strikes for the third out. Hayes thereafter allowed one hit, struck out two other batters and received credit for the victory, his second.

Bill McKeon, a sophomore southpaw, started for the Friars and gave up a single run in the first and two in the second and fourth. He was nailed for only seven hits during his seven-inning hitch, but allowed seven walks.

Jim Schlimm took over in the eighth and was the victim of the Bruins' rally, and, as a result, was the losing pitcher. Joe DeStephano, formerly of Mt. Pleasant High, finished up.

Giles Powell was Brown's starter and held the Friars hitless for three innings. They got their first in the fourth and two more in the fifth. In the latter inning, Buz Barry reached on a fielder's choice and scored on Dick Duignan's double.

Powell fundered in the sixth, giving successive walks to Skip McGurkin and Steve Sulavik. Both Sullivan's double off Ebenstein, who took over after Sullivan's hit.

Walks Hurt Friars

Jack Thompson's double after Wheeler had walked accounted for Brown's first run and Lapidés drove in a pair in the second with a single through the mound.

Three walks off McKeon and an error brought the Bruins two more in the fourth. Wheeler, who had singled, scored on Sulavik's error and Powell was forced home when McKeon gave the sixth of his seven walks to Chuck Nelson.

Sam Nissel and McGuinness led the Friars' hitters with two singles apiece. Three Bruins—MacConnell, Thompson and Lapidés—got two hits each, MacConnell, particularly, had a large day, with seven putouts and four assists to go with his pair of two-baggers.

The victory was Brown's 19th in 49 games with its intra-city rival. The Friars, who play Boston College at Hendricken Field this afternoon (2 o'clock), lost their third in a row. They have won one of their seven games.

Yale Plays Providence In Afternoon Tilt Here

By JOHN J. LEARY JR.

After gaining its seventh victory in 10 starts this season at the expense of Amherst yesterday, Coach Ethan Allen's Yale nine opposes Providence College at Yale Field this afternoon. Action is slated for 3 o'clock.

Johnny Little, junior right-hander, is scheduled to toe the mound for the Elis. Coach Hal Martin of the Friars is expected to counter with Frank Higgins, junior southpaw, one of three New Haven area youths on the Providence squad.

Bill McKeon, sophomore left-hander, who pitched for Hamden High and The Register team in the New England Newspaper League, will be held in reserve. Steve Sulavik, former St. Mary's High star, a substitute infielder, is the other New Havener on the Friar squad.

Friars Suffer 7-to-1 Setback From Upsala

East Orange, N.J.—Apr. 21.—Providence College suffered its second straight setback at the hands of a New Jersey school today, as Upsala College drubbed the Friars, 7-1, at Viking Field. The contest, rained out Thursday, was started at noon to allow Upsala to play its scheduled tilt with Hartwick College later in the afternoon.

Viking right hander Roy Hunt gained his fourth straight victory as he scattered seven hits. Meanwhile, Upsala took advantage of Bill Fagan's wildness and combined four walks with a pair of timely singles for four runs in the second.

Friars Down Upsala For First Victory, 3-2

Providence, April 28 — Frank Higgins pitched nifty five-hit ball and his mates delivered a game-winning run in the eighth frame as Providence College yesterday topped Upsala College, 3 to 2, for its first baseball victory of the season.

Tomorrow, the Friars will engage Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Hendricken Field, and Coach Hal Martin has nominated Bill Fagan, a southpaw like Higgins, as his starting pitcher.

Yale Hands Friars' Nine Third Straight Loss, 14-4

Hold Blue Batsmen;

Little Stars

Special to The Providence Sunday Journal

New Haven, Apr. 22.—Taking advantage of the wildness of four Providence College pitchers, Yale experienced little difficulty in defeating the Friars, 14-4, at Yale Field today.

Johnny Little, ace of the Eli staff, held the losers hitless until Sam Nissel lined a hit to left as the leadoff batter in the seventh inning. The lanky right-hander set the succeeding three batters down and retired in favor of Ben Klimczak as the eighth inning began.

Klimczak issued four walks, which coupled with a hit batsman and an error, provided Providence with all of its runs in that inning.

Frank Higgins, a local youth, started on the mound for the Friars and was touched for two unearned runs in the opening inning. Frank McGurkin's error with two out set the stage for Paul Lambert's two-run homer into the left-field stands.

Higgins lost control in the third and was replaced by Jim Schlimm after passing the first batter in the fourth. The latter also proved ineffective and Bill McKeon, from nearby Hamden, came in and retired three consecutive batters with the bases loaded. He pulled a muscle in his shoulder in the sixth inning and Bill Fagan, the fourth southpaw, pitched the remainder of the way.

The victory was Yale's eighth in 11 starts and the third straight setback for the Friars.

Providence Nine Held To One Hit In Loss To Yale

New Haven, April 22.—(AP).—Yale pitchers set the Providence College baseball team down with only one hit today as the Elis romped to a 14-4 victory in a haphazardly played game.

Sam Nissel, Providence center-fielder, lined a single between third and short in the seventh inning for the Friars' only hit. Since Jack Little's bid for a no-hitter was spoiled, Yale Coach Ethan Allen started Ben Klimczak on the mound in the eighth inning. Klimczak, one of eight Yale subs to see service, allowed no hits but walked in three runs. Another scored on an error.

Yale got only seven hits off a quartet of Providence pitchers. They included a double and a homer by Paul Lambert.

Weekend Proved Rough For RI College Nines

Brown Freshmen dropped their first game in three starts, Saturday, bowing to Harvard, 8-5, at Providence.

Dave Traynor, charged with the defeat, was the victim of seven errors by his mates. The southpaw had allowed but four hits, and had driven in two runs with a double and single when he was removed at the end of the seventh. He had previously copped the decision over the Yale Frosh.

Providence College suffered its third straight defeat, 14-4, at the hands of Yale at New Haven. Jim Sullivan of this city did the catching for the Friars, and Lefty Bill Fagan of Taunton finished up for the losers.

Brown Nine at State; PC, HC Vie in Track

The Brown-Rhode Island State College baseball game at Kingston and the track meet between Providence College and Holy Cross at Worcester headline tomorrow's sport card for local colleges.

In addition, Brown's tennis team will take on the Rams at Kingston and State's freshman baseball team will play the Brown Cubs at Aldrich Field.

The varsity baseball clubs at State and Brown are off to slow starts—the Rams have lost two and the Bruins have lost three in a row after winning their opener.

Hal Melkonian

Capt. Hal Melkonian is scheduled to do the pitching for the Rams in the first game of this season's intrastate series. Melkonian lost his first start, against Boston University, by a 2-0 count, and worked six-and-one-third innings in relief against Boston College. The Rams' third game of the year, against Maine, was rained out after two innings.

Brown's pitching nominee will be either Norm Ebenstein or Fred Kopf. This pair shared the bill in the Bruins game with Holy Cross. Ebenstein, a lefthander, gave up four runs on five hits in three innings; Kopf, a sophomore, two runs on four hits in five innings.

The Friars will send both their varsity and freshman track teams to Worcester for individual meets with Holy Cross. Coach Harry Coates of the Friars feels his club is strong in several events, but lacks the depth to pull off a victory in dual meets.

Two Missing

The Friars will be further handicapped by the absence of two top men. Dan Walsh, the sprinter, is out with a leg injury and John Shanley, pole vaulter, is sidelined with a sprained ankle.

Jack Cassidy and Jerry McGurkin, members of the Friars relay team that won its first major trophy in the Seton Hall Relays last Saturday, are ready for the 440-yard run. In the hurdles, Coates has Lawrence Mara and John McMullen.

Other leading entrants for the Friars include Bill Sherry in the half-mile (he won the event in the same meet last year) and Fran Lusier in the mile.

Upsala Plays Friar Nine

N.J. Team Defeated P.C. Earlier; Return Game Here Tomorrow

The Providence College Friars will open their home baseball season tomorrow afternoon at Hendricken Field, tackling the strong Upsala College team from East Orange, N.J. Upsala is enjoying a prosperous era in college sports and has a good baseball team this season.

The Friars, who lack pitching strength this spring, dropped their first three starts on the road last week, bowing to Seton Hall, Yale and Upsala, but they are hopeful of breaking into the victory column tomorrow.

Providence got in a few additional batting licks this week under the direction of Coach Hal Martin and the Friars look for their batting to pick up as the season goes along. Both the infield and the outfield did a fairly good workmanlike job on the road, but the attack was lacking.

Bill Fagan, an 18-year-old sophomore from Coyle High in Taunton, or Frank Higgins, a junior from New Haven, are the possible Friar hurlers for tomorrow's opener. The Providence hurling needs experience as it is mainly a sophomore corps with the exception of Higgins. It's a young P.C. team all around for 14 of the 22-man squad are second-year students.

Coach Martin will probably start an infield of Don MacDonald at first, Dick Maloney at second, Skip McGurkin or Howie McGuinness at short and Dick Mooney at third. The outfield will have Sam Nissel in center, flanked by Dick Duignan and Jim Costello. Nissel got the Friars' only hit against Yale. Maloney, McGurkin and Costello hit well in some of the other games.

Upsala, which had a 16-and-3 record last season, has a top-flight pitcher in righthander Roy Hunt, who beat the Friars at East Orange last week. Fagan started that game for the Friars, with the Vikings getting to him for two hits, coupled with four walks, for four runs in the second inning.

Among the sophomore players MacDonald, the Newport schoolboy star from De La Salle, looks like a good hitting prospect. Norm Dube from Hope and Bob Barry from Warren are other second-year players who may play leading roles before the season moves along. Jim Sullivan, Fall River senior, has been doing a good job behind the plate at a position that is strange to him. He played short, pitch and the outfield in other seasons.

Brown Beats P.C. In Golf Match, 6-1

Paced by Joe McVicker's 77, Brown University's golf team opened its season with a 6-1 victory over Providence College yesterday afternoon at the Metacomet Golf Club.

McVicker was matched against the Friars' No. 1 man, Howie Dooley, and the Bruin golfer was forced to break 80 in order to win out, 2 and 1. This was the closest match of the competition. Dooley carded an 80, as did Frank Fisher of P.C., the Friars' only winner. The latter defeated John Hurley, 5 and 4.

The summary:

McVicker (B) defeated Dooley, 2 and 1.
McKinley (B) defeated Thompson, 3 and 2.

Gibney (B) defeated L. Codega, 3 and 2.
Daggett (B) defeated Petrarca, 8 and 7.
Fisher (PC) defeated Hurley, 5 and 4.
Van Note (B) defeated Rao, 7 and 6.
Wellerdieck (B) defeated Lynch, 7 and 6.

Providence College Nine Plays At Home Tomorrow

PROVIDENCE—The Providence College Friars baseball nine, defeated in all three of their games to date, will open their home schedule at Hendricken Field tomorrow afternoon against Upsala.

The Friars opened their schedule last week with three road games against Seton Hall, Upsala, and Yale and went down to defeat in all three. Loose fielding and poor hitting on the part of the Friars cost them the games. Coach Hal Martin feels that with these three games under their belts the Friars will show a definite improvement in their play. The team had only about a week of practice before the road trip.

P. C. Coach To Speak

PROVIDENCE—Coach Vin Cuddy of Providence College will speak on the fast break in one of a series of lectures in an extension course on the techniques of basketball coaching tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock at the R. I. College of Education.

Vin Cuddy to Speak At Basketball Clinic

Vin Cuddy, coach at Providence College, will speak on the fast break, as used by his team, tonight at Rhode Island College of Education in one of the series of lectures in an extension course on the techniques of basketball coaching. The program runs from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Cuddy will be the third guest speaker in the 15-session course being given by Coach Dan O'Grady of La Salle. The course is being held as an aid to teachers in the field who are working for their master's degrees. A group of the Friar sq will serve as a demonstration unit.

Brown Nine Nips State, 6-5; Friars In First Triumph

By PETE McCARTHY

Errors and walks, chief menaces to a baseball coach's peace of mind, continue to represent the major ingredients of the game as played by the colleges. Yesterday 18 bases on balls and nine miscues were recorded as Brown edged R.I. State, 6-5, at Kingston, while up at Providence College's Hendricken Field, eight free passes and a like number of bobbles were noted as the Friars won their first victory of the season, a 3-2 triumph over Upsala.

Oddly enough, however, it was a bit of excellent clutch pitching in a relief role on the part of Brown's Joe McOsker that swung the loosely-played contest the Bruins' way. The former Mount Pleasant High hurler replaced starter Fred Kopf in the sixth inning with the score tied at 4-4 and checked the Rams on one run and two hits. McOsker was generous with free tickets, giving up five, but he also had five strikeouts, the most important one coming in the eighth, when he fanned State's cleanup batter with the bases loaded.

The Scoring

Brown scored once and State twice in the first inning and the Bruins evened the count in the second. The Rams went ahead, 4-2, in the fifth and Brown pulled up even again in the sixth. Brown broke the tie when Chuck Nelson scored from third after Bob Wheeler's fly to right and Al Gauthier, who led the Bears' attack with two hits, tallied the clincher on an error. Joe McElroy was the top Ram sticker with two hits.

Like the Bruins, the Friars wrapped up their victory with sound baseball after experiencing some uneasy moments. Frank Higgins, the P.C. hurler who gave up only five hits, loaded the bases on walks with one out in the ninth and had to face Bill Satchel, who had made two of the visitors' bingles. Satchel topped a roller toward third and Higgins threw to the plate for a forceout. Then, when Bobo Del Monte overran third, catcher Jim Sullivan pegged to Steve Sulavik at third for a double play and the final out.

The Records

Don McDonald, Friar first baseman, led P.C.'s nine-hit assault with two safeties. Dick Maloney and Sulavik chipped in doubles and Sam Nissel scored the deciding run with two away in the eighth after tripling when the relay from left field went by the Upsala catcher.

As a result of yesterday's games, Brown has a record of two victories and three defeats; P.C., one and three, and State none and three.

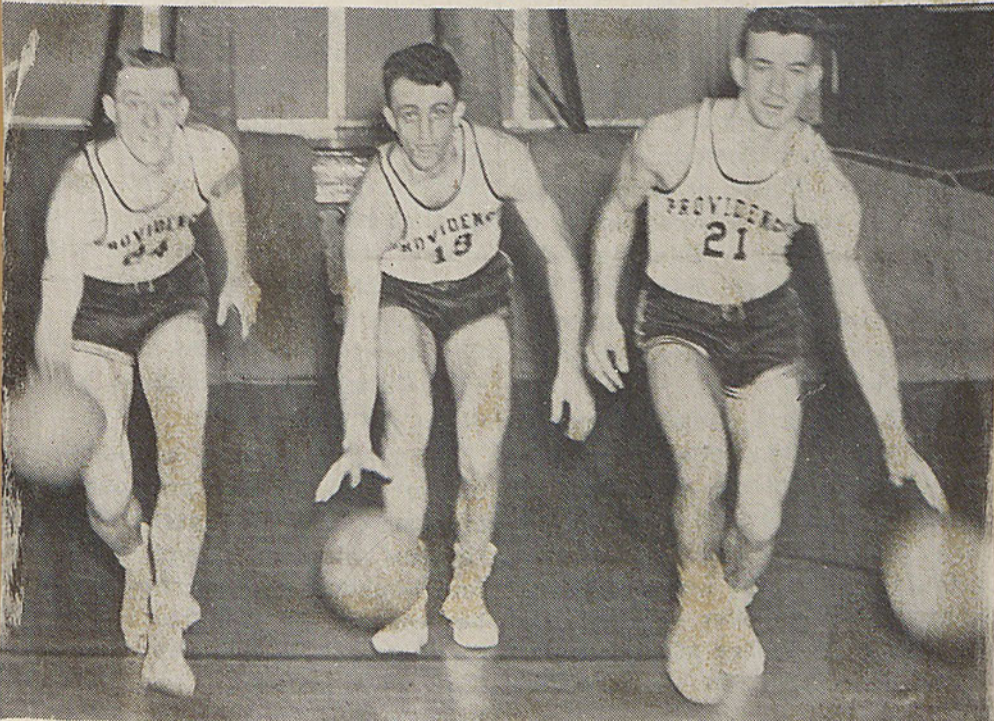

All three teams will see action on their home fields tomorrow. Brown entertains Cornell at Aldrich Field with Giles Powell slated to pitch. State will probably send Bruce Blount against the University of Connecticut at Kingston and P.C. will play M.I.T. at Hendricken Field. The P.C. and Brown games will start at 3 o'clock and the Rams' contest will get underway an hour earlier.

On other fronts, the Brown Freshman baseball and tennis teams will meet Worcester Academy at Worcester, and State's tennis team will face Connecticut at Kingston.

Three Alarm Friar

At a testimonial banquet for the successful edition of the 1949-1950 Providence College basketball team, three co-captains were elected for the 1950-1951 Friar hoop team. For the first time in the basketball history of P. C., three athletes will lead their cohorts on the court for the oncoming season. The co-capt. are: Ray Garcia, Frank Pelligrino, and Sam Nissel. All are now juniors.

Tri-Captains

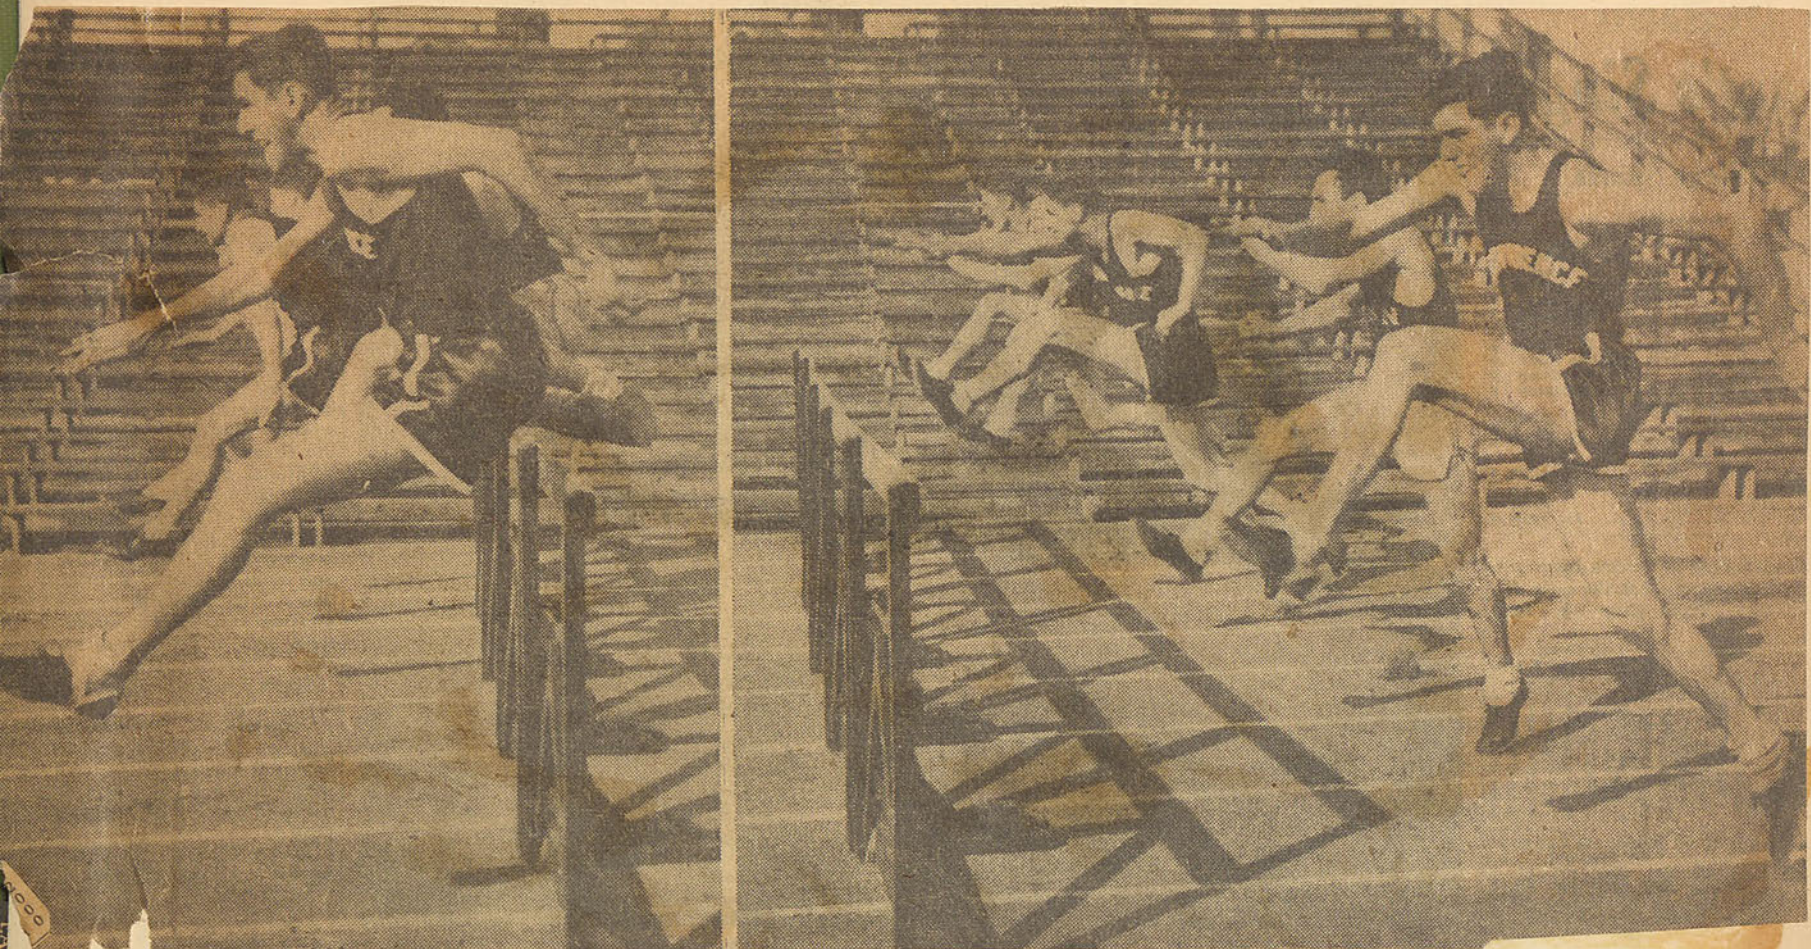

Co-Captains Nissel, Pelligrino, and Garcia.

This capable trio of hoopsters seems to be a perfect choice for the captainship of next season's team. With three co-captains, the team should be a well knit and more compact organization. For the first time in history we have three co-captains, maybe for the first time Providence College will field an NCAA championship aggregation. This supposition is more than a mere possibility. Think so?

Garcia is a Newport product where he graduated from Rogers High School as a three sport star. He spent 17 months in the Navy and came to Providence College three years ago as a member of the freshman class. He was a standout on the Frosh five and has two years of varsity competition behind him. A husky six-footer, he has been the sparkplug and one of the top play-makers of recent Friar basketball teams. Next season could possibly see Ray return to his original guard post. He has played forward this season.

From Westerly, R. I., Frank Pelligrino makes up the other half of the duet of Rhode Island captains. He is an alumnus of Westerly High where he performed on the basketball court and on the gridiron. After spending a semester at Long Island University he came to Providence and immediately became one of the top scorers on the squad. His defensive ability and backboard rebounding make him a necessary asset to any basketball team. Working from an offensive forward position this season, Pelly has been effective from both inside and outside. Big things are expected from him next season from his basketball fans.

One of the few non-New Englanders on the squad, Sam Nissel is the third co-captain. He hails from St. Mary's, Penn., and has quite a name for himself in P. C. athletic circles. He was the high scorer on the freshman basketball team three seasons ago, and has been outstanding in his sophomore and junior years on the basketball court. His deft set-shots and one-handers have been very heartwarming on not too occasional times to basketball fans of Providence College. Also, Sam has been the regular center fielder for Hal Martin's baseball nine the past two seasons.

At right (looking from camera to stands) are John Keenan (PC), Jerry Zeoli (Brown), Jerry Kallman (PC), Ray Leeth (Brown) and Larry Marra (PC). Leeth was the winner, Keenan was second and Marra third. Brown won the meet, 94½ to 39½.

Brown Varsity, Freshman Track Teams Score Sweep Over Providence College

Bruins Run Up 94½-39½

Tally Over Friar Varsity;

Yearlings Romp, 92-43

BY PETE McCARTHY

Brown University's track team captured 12 firsts and swept all scoring places in five events in handing Providence College a 94½-to-39½ defeat in a dual meet yesterday afternoon at Brown Field. The victory was the Bruins' second in four meets.

The Brown freshmen made it a sweep by downing the Friar yearlings, 92-43.

Ray Leeth, Josh Tobey, and Gil Borjeson came up with double victories for the Bruins, Leeth winning the high and low hurdles, Josh the mile and two-mile, and Borjeson the shot and hammer.

The Bruins picked up the biggest part of their point margin in the field events wherein they outscored the Friars, 50½-to-11½. Brown's edge in the running events was 44-28.

The clean sweeps by Brown occurred in the hammer, broad jump, shot put, discus and two-mile. The Friars managed to gain three first-places, Jim Penler winning the 220, Bill Sherry the 880 and John Shanley the pole vault.

Sherry's triumph was one of the best of the day as he beat the Bruins' ace, Jon Tobey in the half-mile. Jon set the pace and stayed in front for a lap and a half. Sherry was running a close second and began to move up as they hit the 130-yard stretch run to the tape. He pulled even with Tobey with 100 yards to go but the Brown runner spurted and the two ran practically even for the next 60 yards.

Sherry finally overtook him 40 yards from home and crossed the finish line about two yards to the good. He was clocked in 1 minute, 59.2 seconds.

Josh Tobey had no trouble at all in chalking up his mile-two-mile double, winning both by at least 120 yards. In the mile, however, he really put out in an attempt to break the Brown Field record of 4:19.4 set 12 years ago. With the small crowd urging him on, Josh turned on a great sprint at the finish but the stop watch caught him in 4:20.8.

Bruce Ford of the Bruin Cubs and Rocco DiFalco of the P.C. freshmen had a day for themselves, each win-

P.C. Nine Plays Bruins; Rams to Face Springfield

Brown and Providence College resume their baseball rivalry this afternoon at Hendricken Field beginning at 3 o'clock, the second game between the intra-city rivals in five days. Brown won the first, 8-5.

Each club will send a sophomore lefthander to the mound in this game, the 50th in the series, Bill McKeon, who pitched in Saturday's contest, will go for the Friars and Fred Kopf will work for Brown. Neither has won or lost a game this season, though both have made several appearances.

Rhode Island State College also will be in action today, meeting the Springfield College nine at Springfield. The Rams have been on the low end in their last two contests and have a season's record of two victories and four defeats.

Brown's record is climbing. The Bruins have won four of their last five games and now have a mark of five victories and four defeats. After a rocky start, the club is settling down—and showed it yesterday in defeating Connecticut, 5-0.

The Friars still are having troubles. They have won just one of their eight games, though, surprisingly, they have been hitting well. Weak fielding and not-too-effective pitching has handicapped the club. Boston College, for example, collected 11 runs on four hits Sunday.

Coach Hal Martin will go with the same lineup he used against Boston College, which means that Capt. Art Weinstock will be in right field. Weinstock is a catcher by trade, but he is out of action with a sore throwing arm. His hitting is too good to leave him out of the lineup, so he will be in right.

Other teams active are the Friars freshman baseball team, which plays Holy Cross at Worcester, and Brown's tennis team, listed to meet Yale at New Haven. The Bruins' golfers will play at Wesleyan.

Good Hit, No Field BC 11, Providence 8

April 5-10-50
Despite outhitting their opponents, 14-4, the Providence College Friars were unable to break into the win column for the second time this season, dropping a disappointing 11-8 decision to the Eagles of Boston College at Hendricken Field on Sunday afternoon. The P. C.'ers contributed 8 errors and fourteen walks to B. C.'s cause, as they dropped their seventh game in eight starts.

Coach Hal Martin's charges put on their best offensive show thus far, but were victims of their own lapses.

Pitcher Bill Fagan turned in the most impressive hurling stint to date, as he held the thundering Eagles hitless during five and one third innings of relief hurling. He registered six strikeouts and doled out eight free tickets in the process.

Breaking into the starting lineup for the first time this season, Art Weinstock hit one of the longest balls ever hit at Hendricken Field, a drive which carried at least 425 feet on the fly and went over the fence on the first hop, thus restricting him to a ground rule double. Dick Duignan broke out of his hitting slump with four solid singles, while Buzz Barry banged out three hits, one of them a line drive home run which carried well over 400 feet. Barry also scored three runs for the Friars.

P. C. Golfers Beat R. I. State; Downed By Quonset Flyers

Conrad 5-10-50
P. C. 5½—R. I. STATE 3½

QUONSET 9—P. C. 0

In the second outing of the newly formed Friar Golfers, P.C. defeated State 5½ to 3½ at Metacomet last week. P.C. went ahead 3-0 when Dooley and Codega won best ball and individual match. Each had one over par best ball for 15 holes. State's Dinger and Roache tied the match up by taking 3 points from the Friars' Accetturo and Morgan. This left the match upto Lynch and Thompson who took 2½ of the remaining 3 points to clinch the victory for the Friars.

Monday, also at Metacomet, P.C. golfers, fighting high winds, lost to a strong Quonset Flyers team, 9-0. Joe Slizem, Flyers, had to shoot an excellent 75 to defeat Jack Thompson who shot a 79 for the Friars. Captain Lou Codega of P.C. lost a close match to Joe Briguglio, golf professional and coach at the air station.

HAWKERS 4—TERRIFICS 3

Conrad 5-10-50
The most thrilling game last week was between the Hawkiers and the Terrifics. The score was 4-3 and it took the Hawkiers extra innings to overcome the powerful Terrifics.

The Terrifics scored their first run when Ramsey flied out; Redden singled. Finn hit a single and Turbridy flied out; Collins hit a single, scoring Redden, and Woolen flied out to end the inning.

The Hawkiers tied it up when Marcuccie singled and was advanced to third by a long single by O'Malley—Marcuccie later scoring on a fielder's choice of a ground ball hit by Smoe McGinnis.

The Terrifics then stepped out in front 3-1 in this fashion in the third inning: Redden singled to open the third; Finn walked, Collins singled, Wooley doubled scoring Redden and then went out to end the inning.

The Hawkiers got one back when Rallison reached on a fielder's choice and moved to third on a bobble of McEneaney's ground ball. Rallison scored as Marcuccie singled to center, making it 3-2 in favor of the Terrifics.

The tying run was brought about by a smashing triple to right off the bat of Joe Lane who later scored on Moore's grounder. The winning run was scored in the last of the 8th when Bob McElroy doubled down the left field line; O'Malley flied out to center moving McElroy to 3rd. McGinnis was credited with driving in the winning run by a long fly to right—McElroy scoring after the catch.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT ... Carol 5-10-50

When spring training was first originated in the major leagues some years ago, many sport fans and writers frowned upon the practice as useless and an expensive vacation for the ballplayers. Nowadays not one major league could do without the all important conditioning program during the late winter months in the warm sunshine of the South. In these pre-season days the athletes are conditioned into top shape for the playing days in the spring and summer.

In college baseball, of course, there can be no actual spring training and conditioning program. But wherever college baseball is played, if it be New England, the South, or the Midwest, time is afforded for some preseason workouts. Here at P.C., Coach Hal Martin has really had his back up against the wall. A little more than 10 days did he have to whip a baseball team into shape. It was nobody's fault. The cold weather made it impossible for the squad to work outdoors in March, and in April the spring vacation came at a beautiful time to dismiss any possibilities for practice. So, Hal Martin had to field a team in the last week in April with a minimum of practice time. Especially last Sunday did we see the effects of that curtailed preseason workout program. The fact was—the team was not in the shape it should be to carry on a collegiate baseball schedule. Pitching has, of course, been a problem, and a major one, but it does not tell the whole story. In a word of passing, let us express our wish that Hal Martin has a little better luck next year with the weather and vacations to adequately prepare the Friars for the baseball season.

OFF TO HARTFORD . . .

The pride of New Haven, Conn., Larry DePalma of Providence College, will return to the professional baseball wars as soon as school is finished. He is assigned to the Hartford Chiefs of the Eastern League. Last summer Larry was signed by the Boston Braves and was sent to Milwaukee for his trial. He had an accident at the beginning of the season and wasn't given much opportunity to show his stuff. This season, though, he'll be in his own neck of the woods and should pour on the steam. After having watched Larry play ball for Hal Martin last year we feel that he is a potential big leaguer and will be a credit to the College.

FLYING FRIARS . . .

The Dorm Softball League is running along schedule now at about 19 games a day, but it appears that no games are more interesting than those staged by the "Flying Friars," a team composed of members of the faculty. At the present time, this aggregation of athletes are in second place in the league standing with but one defeat. And from this corner it looks like this team is the "dark horse" of the league. (Prediction of the Week). The Friar line-up goes something like this: catch, Fr. Sullivan; pitch, Fr. Fallon; third base, Fr. McBrien; shortstop, Fr. Jurasko; second base, Fr. James; first base, Fr. O'Connell. The outfield includes Fr. Foster, Fr. O'Connell, and Fr. Mahler. The substitutes to date are Fr. Conway and Fr. Georges. (Nicknames have been censored by the Master-General of the Dominican Order).

Springfield, Brown Top Friar Trackmen; PC In East Intercollegiates Saturday

By John Salesses

This Saturday the Eastern Inter-Collegiate track and field championships will take place at Springfield, Mass. It will be the first outstanding track meet to be held in New England this season. Harry Coates will enter members from both the Varsity and freshman track teams. The following men are to be sent from the varsity:

100: Penler, Walsh, Aldrich.
220: Penler, Walsh, Aldrich, Cassidy, McGurkin.

440: McGurkin, Cassidy, Aldrich.
1 mile: Sherry, Lussier, Couture.
2 mile: Lussier, Couture.

110 High Hurdle: McMullen, Marra, Kallman.

220—Low Hurdle: McMullen, Marra, Kallman.

Discus: Fratantuono.
Pole Vault: Shanley, Keenan.
880: Sherry, Lussier, McGurkin, Keenan.

High Jump: McMullin.
Javelin: Alexander.

The freshmen will enter a medley relay team of Jim Gannon and Joe Tetrault for the 220; Bob Tiernan, 440; and Dick Johnson, 880.

In last year's meet, the Friars gained 11 points with Jerry Alexander's win in the javelin, Tony Fratantuono's second in the discus, and the freshmen medley relay team's second in their event. The P.C. team will improve upon last year's showing and should increase the team point totals after an additional year's experience.

Last week, the track and field men ran into more rugged competition. In dual meets, the varsity lost to Holy Cross, 73-44, Tuesday afternoon at Worcester, and bowed to the Gymnasts, 99½-35½, Saturday at Springfield while the frosh split in their dual meets with the freshman clubs of the same teams. They edged the Crusaders, 58 2/3-57 1/3, and lost to Springfield, 91-44.

The most outstanding and exciting race of the Holy Cross meet was turned in by Bill Sherry. He had previously placed second to the fine Ahearn of the Crusaders in the mile run. These two men were next slated to meet in the 880 yard run. In last year's meet, Sherry came from behind to nip Ahearn at the finish. This race did not shape up to be a repeat performance until the last 200 yards. At this time, it seemed that the Friar was turning on his kick as he moved up one position and then another. No one thought that he had much of a chance as Ahearn did not lose much ground. Then, in the last 100 yards, he really turned on his kick about 15 yards in back of the leader Ahearn and nipped him at the tape.

The other leading point-makers for P.C. were John McMullen, Jerry Kallman and Bill Keenan. Frank Lussier showed much promise with a third in the mile run.

In the freshman duel meet at Worcester, every point was important as the narrow margin of victory indicates. Pop Johnson led the scoring with 11, after victories in the mile and 880 and a place in the high jump. Rocco DiFolco scored 10 points by copping the discus and shot put events. Bob Tiernan barely won over Jim Gannon in a close 440 which gave him a total of nine.

After the meet, Pop Johnson and Bob Tiernan, both graduates of La Salle Academy of Providence, were elected co-captains of the freshman track team for the outdoor season by members of the squad. Times of both meets were good considering the condition of the track.

Last Saturday, the track team dropped both the varsity and freshman meets to Springfield. Jerry Alexander and Bill Sherry were the stand-outs for Providence.

Brown, Holy Cross Hand Friars Losses

Count 5-10-50
The Providence College Friars continued to cost themselves ball games by loose fielding and erratic hurling. Coach Hal Martin's nine dropped its first two weekend tilts to Holy Cross and Brown respectively, mainly because of errors afield and walks doled out by the hurlers. Holy Cross Crusaders took the Friday game, played at Hendricken Field, by a 12-2 score, while the Bears from Brown University staged off a late rally by the Friars in winning by an 8-5 count.

The contest with Holy Cross was marred by 26 walks and 30 runners left stranded on the bases by the two teams. Highlight of the game was Jim Schlimm's arrival on the hill in the fourth with the bases loaded and no one out. The lanky lefthander promptly struck out the next two hitters and got the third on a fly ball. Buzz Barry and Don MacDonald, sophomore infielders, each had two hits for P. C., whose hitters managed to ground into five costly double plays.

Brown Bears raced out to an early 5-0 lead as they defeated the Smith Hillers 8-5. The Friars rallied to within one run of a tie, but the Bruin's were not to be denied before their home crowd, and rallied for three runs in the eighth to sew up the decision.

Martinmen To Face Brown At Home Travel To RI State Fri., Meet BC Sun.

Carol 5-10-50 By Dick Boulet

Eager for revenge, Coach Hal Martin's youthful Friars take on the Bruins of Brown University this afternoon at Hendricken Field. The P. C. nine is bent on squaring the season's series with their city rivals, since the Bears took the first tilt, 8-5. Lefty Bill McKeon is scheduled to get the starting assignment for Providence, while Brown may counter with Bill Hayes or Norm Ebenstein. Friday, the Friars journey to Kingston for the first contest in a home series with the Rams. Jim Schlimm will probably get the nod from Coach Martin in that game. Boston College, conquerors of the P.C.'ers by an 11-8 count last Sunday, will play host to the Smith Hillers at Newton this coming Sunday.

Despite the weaknesses which have been displayed in some of the previous contests, it is expected that Coach Hal Martin's team will do much better in the coming tilts. The hitters are starting to find the range, and the very overworked five man pitching staff will have had a chance to rest. This squad assembled by Coach Martin is a young team, composed primarily of sophomores, who continue to show improvement with each game.

Three sophomores are pacing the squad in hitting. Second sacker Buzz

Barry has the highest average, a .454 mark on 5 hits in 11 trips to the plate. Barry has also drawn 10 walks, leading the team in that department also. He is closely followed by first sacker Don MacDonald who has banged out 12 hits in 30 tries for a cool .400. Left fielder Dick Duignan moved into third spot by garnering four bingles against B.C. Sunday. Duignan has 9 for 31 a .290 average.

The starting lineup for the coming tilts is expected to remain the same. Sophomores Howie McGuinness and Steve Sulavik round out the infield at short and third respectively. Sam Nissel will continue to hold down the center field post, while Art Weinstock has been moved to right field to make use of his potent bat. Jim Sullivan will handle the catching chores. Ed Mooney, who has alternated at third with Sulavik will also probably see service.

Leicester Defeated By Frosh In Opener

Carol 5-10-50
By Charlie Sakany

The Freshman baseball team got off to a good start by trouncing Leicester Junior College, 14-1, at Hendricken Field last week.

Behind the brilliant pitching of Jim Gallagher, the Frosh rolled to an easy victory. They gathered a total of twelve hits, one, a triple by Grenier, off the offerings of Leicester's Billy Lynds. In the first inning P. C. touched the opposition for three runs, two of which scored when Bill Quinn singled with the bases full. They then picked up another in the second, three in the third and seven in the sixth.

But even more impressive than the power exhibited by the Freshmen at the plate was the spectacular hurling of Jim Gallagher. During his four innings on the mound Jim allowed no hits or walks and struck out six.

Beaver Power relieved Jim in the fifth so that he would not be overworked so early in the season. In the final three innings, the game called in the seventh, Leicester collected four hits and one run off Beaver.

A second game with Leicester Junior College, scheduled for last Friday, was cancelled because of poor weather.

Wildness in Early Innings Costs Sophomore Shutout

Bruin Infield Helps With Two Doubleplays in Game at Hendricken Field

BY BARNEY MADDEN

Herb Kopf, Brown sophomore, weathered a discouraging streak of wildness at Hendricken Field yesterday and ultimately pitched a no-hitter as Brown defeated Providence College, 10 to 3.

Kopf's troubles, mainly of his own creation, came in the first and third. In those innings he issued six passes and hit one batter. An error after a walk and a passed ball enabled the Friars to score in the first and they picked up their other two in the third when Kopf became very generous.

In that inning he retired the first hitter, then passed five men in a row, only breaking the base-on-balls routine when he hit Whitey Weinstock with a pitch. However, the right-hander from Baldwin, L.I., ended the Friar's feast then and there by forcing Jim Sullivan to hit into a double play.

Thereafter he faced only 19 men in six innings. A double play erased a Friar runner who had reached on an error in the fifth and another double play eliminated one who got aboard on a walk in the seventh. Those twin killings were engineered by Bob Wheeler, Bob MacConnell and Jack Thompson.

Actually only one Friar came close to breaking Kopf's hitless job and then MacConnell came up with a sparkling play on a grounder over second by Don MacDonald in the eighth and threw him out with a remarkably fast and accurate throw. Kopf struck out five, including three men, two of them pinch hitters, in the ninth.

Meanwhile his mates were combining 13 hits with eight walks for their 10 runs and, except for a couple of alert defensive plays by the Friar infield, might have added several more. The Friars, however, reacted swiftly to threatening situations and wiped out Bruins trying for extra bases.

In the eighth Brown filled the bases on three walks but when Thompson smashed a drive back at Frank Higgins, who had relieved the starter, Bill McKeon, Higgins started a double play. He threw to the plate forcing the front runner and when Hank Downey tried for a double play at first, and missed, Harvey Lapidès tried to score but was erased on a fine throw from MacDonald.

Chuck Nelson's single drove in two runs in the first for Brown and DiMott's long fly chased in a third. In the third Lapidès tripled and scored on Wasseth's fly. Four singles and an infield out gave Brown two more in the fifth and Wheeler's smash over the right center-field fence in the sixth added two more. A hit by Thompson, a passed ball and a wild pitch gave Brown its ninth run in the seventh and singles by MacConnell, Whiston and Kopf himself brought in the final run in the ninth.

Wheeler, at short for Brown, had nine assists, pacing the infielders in an afternoon of sound baseball. It was, all in all, one of the best college games around Rhode Island in several seasons, helped along by plenty of hustle by both teams.

Bears' Kopf Hands P.C. No-Hit Loss

By PETE McCARTHY

Fred Kopf, a rangy sophomore righthander from Baldwin, Long Island, revived some pleasant memories out of the distant past in Brown University's long baseball history by pitching a no-hit game yesterday as the Bruins defeated Providence College at Hendricken Field.

The Bruin finger was spared some of the stress and strain of an impending perfect performance by virtue of his own wildness in the early innings. An error coming after a walk and a passed ball gave the Friars one run in the first inning and five walks and a hit batsman added up to two more tallies for P.C. in the third. That was the extent of the Friar run production, however, and Kopf and his mates combined 13 hits and eight bases on balls for a 10-2 victory.

After the third inning Kopf faced only 19 batters and he struck out five. Don MacDonald, the P.C. first baseman, came the closest to spoiling Kopf's no-hit job. He drove a grounder over second, but Bob MacConnell scooped it up and threw him out on an excellent play.

Winning Ways

Brown scored three runs in the first inning, two in both the fifth and sixth and singletons in the seventh and ninth. Jack Thompson paced the Bruins' attack with two singles and a double. Bob Wheeler contributed a two-run homer over the right-centerfield fence and Harvey Lapiques chipped in a triple. Wheeler also had a busy day afield, getting nine assists.

The victory was Brown's sixth in 10 games and gave Coach Lefty LeFebvre's charges a 3-0 mark in the R.I. college series with State and P.C. The Bruins hold one decision over the Rams and two over the Friars.

The R.I. State nine lost another close on yesterday, 8-7, at Springfield. Two wild pitches in the eighth inning gave the Gymnasts their winning margin.

Tomorrow the Bruins will play Columbia in New York. R.I. State will entertain New Hampshire in a doubleheader at Kingston. The Providence College Freshmen will oppose the Bruin Cubs at Brown Field.

Coach Fred Tootell's R.I. State track team will defend its title in the annual Yankee Conference Championships tomorrow at Kingston. Trials will start at 9:30 a.m. and the finals will get under way at 2 p.m.

The Brown tennis team will be at home to Holy Cross. The crew race between the Brown and Amherst, originally scheduled for tomorrow, was moved up to today. The Bruin dinghy sailors will compete in the Boston Dinghy Club Challenge Cup races at New London tomorrow.

Bryant's undefeated track team will meet American International College at the Hope High School field.

E. B. 5-12-50 By Jerry Prior

Jerry Prior

At this point let me state that never am I going to argue with Lefty Lefebvre, the former big leaguer who coaches baseball at Brown. Nor will I venture to contradict Harold Martin, who fills the same position at Providence College. Both young men are too handy at furnishing proof for their arguments.

The other day both of them told me that college baseball is, as they say around the race tracks, "on the improve." It was more heavily hit by the war than any of the other college sports, but it almost has recovered, they said. Organized baseball has been gobbling up the high school talent before it reaches the colleges, but now the rosters of the minor leagues are getting filled up and the colleges are beginning to get some of the stars, they pointed out.

"If you could get a big crowd of fans out once to see college baseball, most of them would be back," Lefty said. "You hear people talking about how slow college baseball is played, how the games drag out. Well, I've got figures to prove that our games last season averaged only two hours, 10 minutes, which would be pretty good for a big league team these days."

"And you hear them talking about all the errors in college baseball," Martin chimed in. "But they go to a big league game and sometimes they see the same kind of errors, but they don't give up on the game because of that. Right now, I'm telling you, college baseball is pretty fair baseball to watch and it's going to be better."

No-Hitter . . .

Oh yeah, I thought. What could you expect these guys to say? After all, they're not exactly disinterested observers, so far as college baseball is concerned. Still, maybe it wouldn't be a bad idea to step up to Hendricken Field and see just what kind of baseball the teams coached by Messrs. Lefebvre and Martin are putting out this year. So up I went yesterday, more or less fearing that I was in for a pretty dull afternoon in which the collegians would boot the ball around for some three hours while the rest of us dozed in the May sunlight.

So what happened? Well Brother Lefebvre came up with a sophomore pitcher named Fred Kopf who, at the end of the afternoon, had a no-hit game to his credit. Brown beat Providence College, 10-3, through Kopf's pitching and with the help of an infield that doesn't have to give anything to any of the Brown infields in the days when the game was at its peak. As for Providence College, it's largely a sophomore team, but none of the old Friars of baseball in the days of the college's diamond glory needs be ashamed of the way Coach Martin has it operating. If Martin had a top-flight pitcher on hand, that game yesterday might have turned into a really close battle. He has, I might add, some very promising pitchers on his Freshman team. No wonder he says college baseball is "going to be better."

"In Any League" . . .

In all, the handful of us at Hendricken Field yesterday saw some mighty interesting baseball, even if it hadn't been for the no-hit angle, in a game that was played in a commendable two hours and 15 minutes. Sure, there were boots, but there wasn't anything you really could call sloppy play. If Lefebvre and Martin had been of the wrestling fraternity, you would have thought they had staged the whole thing to back up their statements of the day before.

It was a game that had everything, including plenty of the old college try. Best of the tryers was Jimmy Sullivan, an infielder filling in at catch in a Friar shortage of backstoppers. Twice in one inning Sullivan crashed to the ground going after high twisting fouls in that Hendricken Field wind that does zany things to fouls. He snagged a third of the same variety in the same inning and got a hand that equaled the one Kopf received at game's end. Bobby Wheeler, the little whiz from the Brown hockey team, clouted a 320-foot homer into right center. And in the eighth, Bob MacConnell, Brown's second baseman, saved Kopf's no-hitter with a backhand stop and throw on a poke that might have gone for a hit in any league.

Those words "in any league" recall Martin's remark about the fans seeing the same kind of errors in the big leagues as in the colleges. While we were watching the Friars and Brown perform, portable radios in the stands were giving out with the disconcerting news that the best team in the American League wasn't having exactly a perfect afternoon.

Sad Young Man . . .

In the Providence College locker room after the game, the radio still was carrying the news of Red Sox double woe. Beside it sat a usually cheerful young man, suddenly grown old and disillusioned. Dave Connors, the Friar publicity man and No. 1 Red Sox fan, was taking it hard.

Kindly men all, we tried to cheer him up. Father Begley, the athletic director, Coach Martin, Pete Louthis, the trainer, and Larry Drew, the intramural sports head, joined your scribe in this work of mercy. After all, someone pointed out to Connors, he might do well to consider Vin Cuddy, the basketball coach. Cuddy had a heavy blow when the Yankees had to give up on Frank Shea, Cuddy's Naugatuck, Conn., neighbor, because Shea's arm wouldn't come back to shape. Then Walter Dropo, Vin's fellow alumnus from the University of Connecticut, had come up to the Red Sox and was doing well. So Cuddy went up to yesterday's doubleheader filled with a new interest in life. And now hadn't the radio just carried the news that Dropo had made an error? Yes, Connors might do well to think of Cuddy there in the stands and thus feel alone in his sorrow.

Just then, however, the voice on the radio was saying something about how the only thing to be said for these games, from the Red Sox standpoint, was that the Sox got a lot of bad baseball out of their systems.

Kindly men all, we still couldn't help pointing out to young Mr. Connors that it was a bad time to pick to get the bad baseball out of your system when you were playing two games with the team that loomed as your main opposition for the championship.

P.C. Freshmen Pummel Rams On Big 6th, 7-4

Providence College's freshman basketball team defeated the R.I. State Freshmen, 7 to 4, yesterday at Hendricken Field behind the four-hit pitching of Bill Mullins.

Mullins had a no-hitter going into the seventh when Bill Servant singled as leadoff for the Ramlets.

State took a 1-0 lead in the first inning but the Friars went ahead on a two-run burst in the fourth and added four in the sixth.

Gregg Krawczyk's single with the bases loaded was the big blow in that sixth-inning rally as the Friars bunched four of their seven hits.

RAMS EDGE FRIARS

IN 10TH, 9-8

Joe McElroy, R.I. Infielder, Fractures Arm in Fourth

Accident Happens in Crash
With Duignan of P.C. on Steal Attempt

BY PETE McCARTHY

Rhode Island State's baseball team outlucked Providence College in a ragged 10-inning game at Kingston yesterday, but in the process of gaining a 9-8 triumph, the Rams lost the services of third baseman Joe McElroy, one of the club's most consistent hitters.

McElroy suffered a fracture of the left forearm in the fourth inning when Dick Duignan, P.C. left fielder, crashed into him on an attempted steal of third base. McElroy was treated at the field by Dr. S. J. P. Turco, State College physician, who then ordered him removed to the South County Hospital. The State third sacker will play no more baseball for the Rams this season. Joe Gulizio replaced him at third.

The Rams finally wrapped up the game with one out in the 10th when Ray Mansolillo dropped a perfect sacrifice bunt with the bases loaded, scoring Ira Murphy from third base with the clincher. State had filled the sacks when relief pitcher Steve Sulavik of the Friars walked two men and hit another.

Bases on balls and fielding lapses by both teams played a major part in the three-hour and 10-minute game with the Friars contributing seven errors and the Rams three. Bruce Blount, starting pitcher for State, gave up 10 walks until he was relieved by Hal Melkonian with nobody out in the ninth. Jim Schlimm, who hurled the first eight innings for the Friars, was nicked for five passes and Sulavik yielded three.

P.C. opened the scoring with an unearned run in the first inning and State moved ahead, 2-1, with two runs in the third without the aid of a hit. Three P.C. errors, a fielders choice and an outfield fly did the trick. The Friars regained the lead in the fourth when a walk, a double by Don MacDonald and a single by Duignan chased home two runs.

The Rams picked up two runs in the fifth, one in the sixth, two in the seventh and one in the eighth. Meanwhile the Friars added one in the seventh, two in the eighth and tied the score with two in the ninth.

Melkonian replaced Blount after the latter had walked the first two men in the ninth. Mel got the next two batters on infield putouts but Duignan lined a single to center scoring Jim Sullivan and Skip McGurkin.

Jim Andrews paced State's nine-hit attack with two singles and a double. Murphy collected two singles and scored three other runs in addition to the winning tally. MacDonald with two doubles and Duignan with a pair of singles paced the Friar hitters. Sam Nissel hit a two-run triple in the eighth.

The victory was State's second against five defeats and the loss was the Friars' ninth in 10 starts.

Rams Shade Friars, 9-8; Brown Spills Penn. 9-1

R.I. State and Brown collected baseball victories yesterday, with Providence College the Rams' victim by a 9-8 margin in 10 innings at Kingston. The Bruins spun a neat 9-1 web around Pennsylvania at Al-drich Field.

The Friars, boasting only one victory in 10 games, play tomorrow afternoon at Boston College.

Brown, with three straight good pitching jobs pushing its season record to seven victories and four defeats, stood out in yesterday's games. The Bruins, in addition to having the best flinging, made more hits and fewer errors than their state neighbors. Giles Powell gave Penn six hits, making a total of 10 granted by Brown pitching in three games. He fanned six and walked a like number, while the Bears were errorless. Brown has won twice and lost three times in Eastern Intercollegiate League play.

Leadoff man Steve Fenn had three hits, Lapides and Flanders two each among the 12 for the Bruins, who scored twice in the second, three times in the fifth and four times in the eighth. Allowing only one hit in the first five innings, Powell was in charge until Penn tallied in the seventh.

R.I. State's victory cost it the services of Joe McElroy, hard hitting third baseman. He suffered a fracture of the left forearm in the fourth inning when he was crashed by Dick Duignan on an attempted steal.

The game was ragged all the way and included 10 errors and 18 walks. Bruce Blount, starting pitcher for State, issued his ninth and 10th passes with no one out in the ninth and the Rams leading by 8 to 6. Hal Melkonian retired two men, but Duignan singled home the tying runs.

In the 10th with the bases full of Rams, Ray Mansolillo dumped a perfect squeeze bunt.

Among the Rams' nine hits were three by Andrews and two by Murphy. Duignan and MacDonald had two each in Providence's total of eight.

A four-run rally in the sixth inning gave Providence College's freshmen a 7-4 victory over the State freshmen yesterday at Hendricken Field. Bill Mullins allowed no hits until the seventh, when the Friars collected three runs. He allowed four in all as he and his teammates made seven.

'Birdie' Can't Recall Top Baseball Thrill

By ALEX MacLEAN

He's the last of the 1936 Tigers but he almost seems ageless. Birdie Tebbetts who was honored before the first game of Sunday's double-header tried to remember some of the biggest thrills he has received in his 14 years in the majors, but finally gave up saying, "there weren't any, I guess. I've played a lot of games and had thrills in all of them so I couldn't honestly say which gave me my biggest thrill."

From the time that he was fuz, checked 21-year-old Kid recalled from Beaumont by the Tigers, Tebbetts has caught 1000 games in the majors. Sunday was the start towards the second thousand—his 1001th game. The one particular game that stands out so clearly in his mind was one in which he did not play, but one which was the turning point of his career.

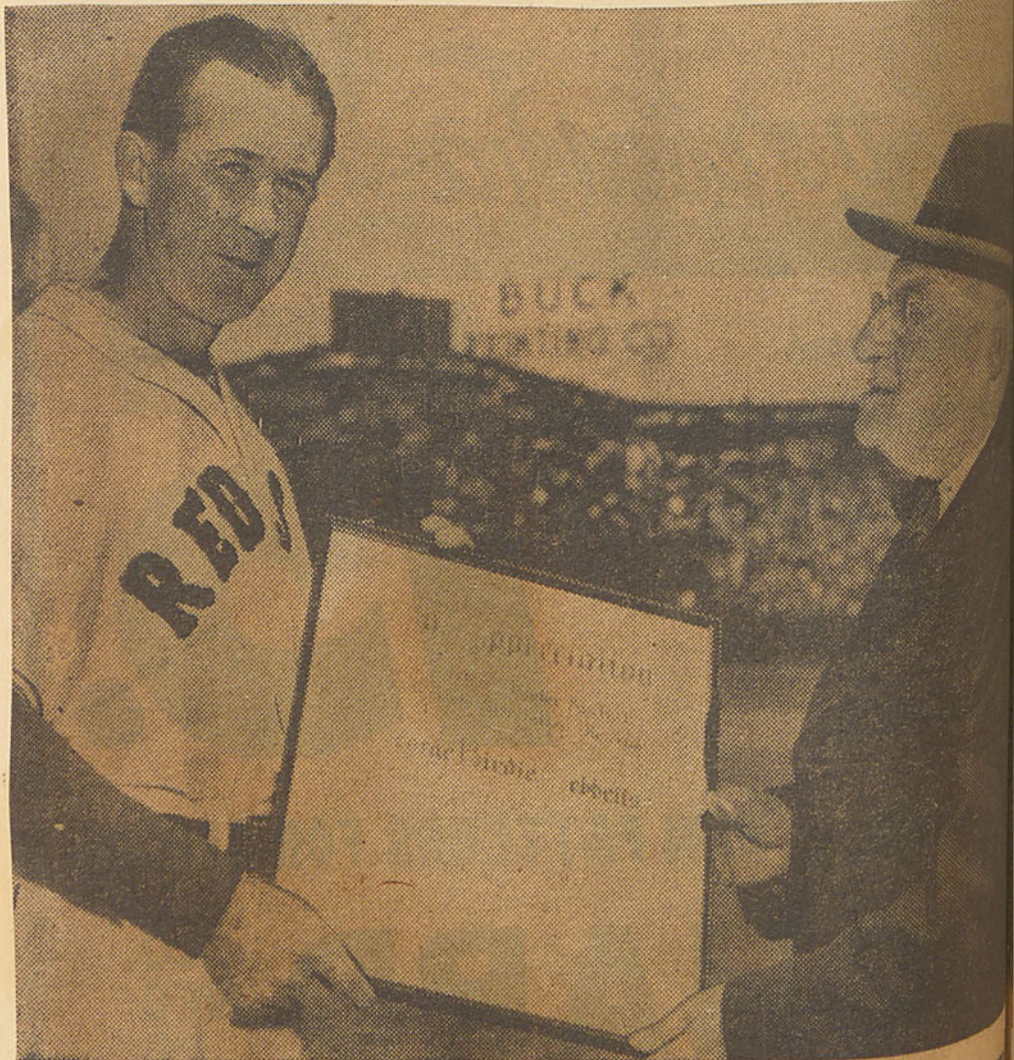

It was in 1940 and the site was the Yankee Stadium when he sat hunched on the dugout steps. Bump Hadley was pitching for the Yankees and Mickey Cochrane was the batter. The count ran to three and one (Hadley remembers too.) and Cochrane leaned far over the plate, trying to work Hadley for the fourth ball. Hadley wound up, threw and Cochrane was hit on the right temple, he went down and was almost killed by the impact.

Tebbetts replaced Cochrane and since that time he has been a regular. The same year the Tigers went on to win the A. L. pennant. Despite the fact that he has been around the major leagues for 14 years, it was the only championship team on which he played.

After he had taken his batting practice, Tebbetts slouched in the dugout and reflected the fellows who were around the American League when he first joined the Tigers. There was Hank Greenberg, Charlie Gehringer, Marvin Owen, Elden Auker, Tommy Bridges, Schoolboy Row, et al. None are still left in the majors. But Tebbetts, classed as one of the best catchers in baseball today, seems ageless.

His only complaint is that it isn't the celebration of his 1500th game that was celebrated. Had it

'Tweet-Tweet' Gets Plaque for His 1000th Game

George "Birdie" Tebbetts, Red Sox catcher, gets plaque from Melville E. secretary, Boston Chapter, Baseball Writers' Ass'n. of America, commencing appearance Saturday in 1000th major league game. "Birdie" started in Detroit Tigers and has been major league catcher 14 years. He starred at Providence, R. I., College.

Fagan Hurls Best Game of Season; Hot Weather May Improve Tauntonian

Besides his mound duties, Fagan came close to clipping the horsehide for an extra base hit in one of his three trips to the plate. Only a one-hand leaping catch by centerfielder Ed Walsh of a heavy-hit ball robbed Bill of at least a two-bagger.

Hal Martin, coach of the Friars, stated after the game it was best showing Fagan has displayed since the start of the season. We figure with warmer weather coming around, Fagan will continue to develop into the best pitcher on the Providence College squad. Bill did a very good job on the mound for the Gazette team during the hot weather months in 1949.

Providence outhit Boston College 14-4 but the 14 walks and the eight errors was enough to hand the Eagles the 11-8 decision. The Friars are host to Brown University Wednesday afternoon, play at Rhode Island State Friday and meet Beecee in a return game Sunday at the Eagles' diamond.

Two other former Coyle high school students played a good game for the Friars against Boston College, Jim Sullivan and Eddie Mooney. Sullivan accepted 12 chances without an error behind the plate and, although not making any hits in two official times at bat, worked Gerry Levinson, Boston hurler, for two walks.

Mooney, former Coyle High captain and hot-corner guardian, banged out a double and a single in five times at bat. Incidentally, Mooney, who was living in Newport, has returned to reside in Attleboro. Sullivan lives in Fall River. While a member of the Warriors, Eddie made the All-Bristol Baseball Team.

Friars Pitcher Bill Fagan Holds Boston College Hitless

Young southpaw Bill Fagan of Whittenton did an excellent job of relief work in the Boston College-Providence College baseball game played Sunday afternoon at Hendricken Field, Providence. Although the Friars dropped a 11-8 tilt to the Eagles, Fagan held the visiting Beecee team hitless for the entire five and one-third innings of mound duty.

Both Bill Cleary, working behind the plate and yours truly, working the bases, agreed Fagan was the best pitcher on the field Sunday. Bill had plenty of stuff on the ball. Although wild at times, allowing eight walks, Fagan kept the free passes scattered with no great harm done.

Fagan held Beecee to two runs, both scored as a result of errors, one when an outfielder dropped a fly ball and the other on a wild throw by an infielder which scored a Boston College runner from second. Besides holding Beecee hitless, Fagan fanned eight of the visiting batters.

Fagan, star pitcher-outfielder on the Gazette team in the New England Newspaper Baseball Program, former Coyle High and Immaculate Conception player in the CYO Baseball League, relieved Lefty Frank Higgins after seven runs were scored in the fourth inning with two outs and a runner on second base. Fagan proceeded to strike out the batter for the third out. The score was 9-2 in favor of Beecee when Fagan took over the mound duties.

BILL FAGAN

Southpaw Bill Fagan Clinches Berth on Providence College Team

Southpaw Bill Fagan of Whittenton, star pitcher-outfielder on the Gazette nine in the New England Newspaper Baseball Program, is one of the three former Coyle high school baseball stars on the Providence College Friars nine which opened its season Wednesday afternoon with Seton Hall College at South Orange, New Jersey.

At present, the Friars are on a four game road trip and will return to play the first home game in Providence next Thursday afternoon with Upsala College. Coach Mal Martin's team plays Yale today and is the guest of Bridgeport of the Colonial League on Sunday. Larry Fontes, Jr., is a member of the Bridgeport Bees in the Class B circuit and may see action against the Friars in the exhibition contest.

Fagan is one of the five starting hurlers carried on the Friars squad and is expected to see action today or tomorrow. Bill McKeon and Jim Schlimm opened the season in the 10-5 loss to Seton Hall. The other two hurlers are John Grimes of Pawtucket and Joe DeStefano of Providence.

Bill, who also bats left, is six feet tall, weighs 155 pounds and is a Sophomore at PC. He played for Immaculate Conception in the grammar school league and continued to Coyle High where he pitched and played the outfield for Coach Jim Burns. After playing with the Eyecees in the CYO Baseball League, Fagan started to play for Polish Athletic Association and for the Gazette team.

BILL FAGAN

Two Other Coyle High School Grads Members of Friars Team

Making a big hit in the New England Newspaper Baseball tournament, sponsored by the Boston Braves, Fagan was selected to the Tourney All Star Team last season. The Taunton Gazette nine lost out to Stamford in the tourney finals at the Wigwam.

The two other Coyle High students now playing with Providence College are Eddie Mooney and Jim Sullivan. Both played for the Friars last season with Jimmie now a senior while Eddie is a junior and has one more season, after the present campaign, in collegiate baseball.

Sullivan, who lives in Fall River, held down the second base position last season for the Friars but for this season is listed as an outfielder by Dave Connors, Jr., sports publicist for Providence College. Sullivan is 5 feet, 10 inches tall and weighs 158 pounds.

Mooney, who lived in Attleboro while attending Coyle high school and now makes his home in Newport, R. I., was one of the mainstays in the Friars infield last season. As during the 1949 season, the former Coyle High hot-corner guardian and captain, started the present season at third base for Providence.

In the opener against Seton Hall, Eddie drove in one of the five Providence runs with his single, scored one run and accepted five chances without a single miscue at the third base position. While at Coyle, Mooney made the All-Bristol Baseball Team.

After next Thursday, the Providence schedule is as follows:
 April 29—M.I.T.; May 2—at American International College;
 May 3—Holy Cross; May 6—at Brown; May 7—Boston College;
 May 10—Brown; May 12—at R. I. State; May 14—at Boston College;
 May 17—R. I. State; May 20—Springfield; May 24—at Springfield; May 27—at Holy Cross.

QUONSET GOLFERS TROUNCE FRIARS

The Quonset Flyers' golf team defeated Providence College, 8½ to ½, yesterday afternoon at the Potowomut Golf Club. The victory was the Flyers' second over the Friars this season.

Joe Slizen of the Flyers posted a 73 for low medal score. Howie Doolley of P.C. had the next best card with a 76, though he was tied in match play by Bill Dickens.

The Friars will play their postponed match with R.I. State tomorrow afternoon at the Point Judith Country Club.

The summary:

- Joe Briguglio (Q) defeated Lou Cordega, 2 and 1.
- Bill Dickens (Q) and Howard Dooley (PC), all even.
- Quonset won best ball, 2 and 1.
- Joe Slizen (Q) defeated Joe McNiff, 5 and 3.
- Charles Kelley (Q) defeated Jack Thompson, 1 up.
- Ben Hood (Q) defeated Earl Lynch, 4 and 2.
- Robert Moon (Q) defeated Joe Accetturo, 3 and 1.
- Quonset won best ball, 3 and 1.

State, Brown Ball Clubs Playing Key Games Today

Victory Over P.C. Will Keep Rams' Title Hopes Alive;
Bruins Meet Yale

Rhode Island State College has a chance for an ultimate tie for the intrastate baseball title and Brown has the opportunity of moving up a notch in its league in games in Providence today.

The Rams will take on Providence College at Hendricken Field at 3 p.m., and Brown will play Yale at Aldrich Field, same time.

The Bruins, winners in two of six league games, now stand in a tie with Pennsylvania for seventh place in the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League. A victory will move Brown to sixth place and put Yale, now in fourth, in a tie for fifth with Harvard.

Fred Kopf will be the Bruins' pitcher today. This sophomore left-hander threw a no-hitter his last time out, beating P. C., 10-3. Wildness on Kopf's part and errors by his teammates accounted for the runs.

Yale's pitcher will be Johnny Little, a junior, with a record of 2-1. He has allowed 18 hits in 20 2-3 innings. Kopf has permitted 10 hits in 20 innings.

The Friars' game with State has a bearing on the Bruins' chances for the state title. These matters sometimes are quite involved, but here's how things stand:

The Friars are out of it with three defeats and no victories. But a triumph by the Friars over State will clinch the title for Brown, for that would leave the Rams' record at 1-2. Brown's is 3-0 with one more to go. If the Friars lose, though, State's card will stand at 2-1. That would give State a chance to tie for the title when it meets Brown May 24. Everyone clear on that, now?

The Rams will be favored over the Friars, having won the first meeting between the two by a 9-8 score in 10 innings, State's record is five victories and five defeats.

The Friars, on the other hand, have been getting their lumps. They have won just one of their 11 games. The club can hit (it has averaged almost five runs per game), but the opposition has hit harder and capitalized on weak pitching and errors by the Friars. Frank Higgins, a left-hander, will try his hand on the mound in this one.

Bruce Blount or Hal Melkonian, both of whom worked in that first Friars-Brown game, will do the pitching for State. Melkonian was the winner in the previous contest.

State's Freshmen will play in the only other baseball game of the day, meeting Connecticut at Storrs.

The P.C. golf team will play its match with State — postponed by rain yesterday — this afternoon at the Point Judith Country Club.

Frosh Win One and Drop Two Last Week

Crawl 5-17-50
A victory over the Rhode Island State Frosh and two losses to the Brown Cubs marked last week's Freshman baseball schedule. The Drewmen now have a two-win-two-lose record for the season.

On Friday, with Bill Mullen chucking, the P. C. Yearlings notched a 7-4 victory over the R. I. Frosh. The big right hander was in rare form allowing no hits in six innings.

The Brown Frosh handed the Friars a 7-4 defeat at Brown last Wednesday. Beaver Powers chucked for the Friars and was charged with the lose.

At Hendricken Field on Saturday, the Bruins made it two in a row over the Freshmen, handing them a decisive 8-1 defeat. The Cubs touched Army for six runs in the first four frames. Ed Sullivan, who relieved in the fifth, pitched creditable ball allowing only four hits and two runs.

Friars Face RI Rams Today In Quest of Second Victory

Frank Higgins To Hurl For P. C.
On Hendricken Field At 3:00

By DICK BOULET

The Providence College Friars, thwarted in seven consecutive attempts to gain their second win of the season, will play host to the high-flying Rams from Rhode Island State at Hendricken Field this afternoon. Game time is 3:00 p. m., lefty Bill Higgins, who pitched the P. C.'ers to their lone triumph thus far is slated to handle the mound chores for the Martinmen. State is expected to counter with either Bruce Blount or Hal Melkonian. Saturday the Friars play their final home game before exams, when they take on Springfield. Jim Schlimm will open on the mound for P. C.

Despite the poor record thus far, the Friars have displayed a lot of hustle and chatter on the field, and also the ability to come up with a big inning in the scoring department. The problem has been keeping the opposition from coming up with a big scoring splurge. Coach Martin's charges are expected to do better on their home diamond, where they have showed a decidedly strong offense, with the exception of one game. In the previous meeting with State this season, the Friars lost a heart-breaker, 9-8, in ten innings. They are anxious to avenge this loss and feel that they have a better than even chance of doing so, and, at the same time, of breaking out of their losing streak.

Coach Hal Martin is planning to use the same lineup which he has started the most recent games. Don MacDonald, leading sticker, will start at first. Sophomores Howie McGuinness and Steve Sulavik will hold down the shortstop and third base posts, respectively. Dick Maloney, who reached four times as leadoff man against B. C., will be the second sacker. Hank Downey will replace Jim Sullivan as catcher, with Sullivan being held in reserve for pitching duty if needed. Dick Duignan, who has had ten hits in his last five games, Sam Nissel and Whitey Weinstock, will patrol the outfield for the Martinmen.

B. C., R. I. S. Topple P.C. Over Weekend

Count 5-17-50
Once again, lack of control by the pitchers and loose fielding on the part of teammates cost the Friars a couple of ball games last week. An error which paved the way for seven unearned runs in the sixth enabled the Boston College Eagles to defeat the P. C.'ers, 9-4, at Newton on Sunday afternoon. Previously, Coach Martin's charges had tossed away an 9-8 decision in ten innings to Rhody Rams on Friday.

In the contest at Newton the Friars managed to hang on to a 2-1 lead until the last of the sixth when the Eagles aided by an error by pitcher Bill Fagan pushed across seven unearned runs to gain the win. Until this time Fagan had the Eagles eating out of his hand. However, his own error unsettled him and the roof really fell in on him, and the Eagles had seven markers and the ball game before Jim Sullivan, erstwhile catcher came in to put out the fire. Dick Duignan, Black and White left fielder, tagged one of the longest hits of the season when he sent a 420-foot belt into deep left center in the top of the ninth. The ball sailed far over the left fielder's head for a triple, but Duignan was out trying to stretch it to an inside the park homer.

Friday's game was decided on a squeeze bunt with the bases loaded and one out in the top of the tenth. Steve Sulavik who had come in relief of Jim Schlimm in the ninth was victim of the uprising. Schlimm pitched adequately in the first eight innings but eight errors by his mates offset his work. Don MacDonald with two doubles and Dick Duignan with two singles were the top stickers for the Friars.

Trackmen Seek NE Honors At Bowdoin Fri. and Sat.

Bill Sherry Wins Half-Mile In Eastern Collegiates

By JOHN SALESES

Members from the Providence College freshmen and varsity will take part in the New England Inter-Collegiate Championships at Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine, to be held this Friday and Saturday afternoons. Trials will be held on Friday and the finals on Saturday. Coach Harry Coates has entered Bill Sherry in the 88, John Shanley (pole vault), Tony Fratantuono (discuss), Jim Penler (220), Jerry Alexander (javelin) and the freshmen medley relay team of Jim Gannon (220), Joe Tetrault (220), Bob Tiernan (440) and Pop Johnson (880).

Last Saturday, the P. C. track entries scored a total of 13½ points in the Eastern Inter-Collegiates at Springfield. Bill Sherry and the freshmen medley relay team led the way. After being boxed and jostled around by his opponents at the start, Sherry came from behind with a terrific kick in the last 220 yards as he did against Holy Cross and Brown to win the 880 yard run in the exceptionally good time of 1:57.6.

The freshmen medley relay quartet with Jim Gannon, 220, Joe Tetrault, 220, Bob Tiernan, 440, and Pop Johnson, 880, won their event and set a new mark in doing so. Their time of 3:36.5 erased the record of 3:39.5 set last year by the freshmen team from Worcester Polytech. Springfield placed second and the University of Connecticut third to the "flying Friars".

Jerry Alexander's second in the javelin and John Shanley's tie for fourth in the pole vault added to Providence's total.

This year's graduation will see the departure of five seniors from the track squad. Gerry McGurkin leads the list. The popular and well-liked red-head will be sorely missed. The most improved man on the squad and the second captain in the short history of track at Providence College, Gerry ran cross-country, the 300, 440, 660 indoors, and in outdoors, the 440 and 220. It was in the 440 that he showed his best. At the Penn relays this year, the boy from East Hartford, Conn., ran the fastest 440 for Providence. Running the third leg for the mile relay, he was clocked in the excellent time of 49.5 seconds. This is the record for any P. C. man. Quite a performance, considering too that McGurkin had to learn track in the short time of two years.

Tony Fratantuono is also leaving. A native of Providence and alumnus Classical High School. His loss will be felt in the field events. Smiling John Shanley, former all-state pole vaulter from LaSalle Academy, will be missed for he competed in the 220 low hurdles, broad jump and the pole vault. Another LaSalle grad, Bill Morris, one of the first to join P. C.'s track team as a distance runner, will leave this June. The popular Jack Shea, senior track manager from Manchester, Conn., is also a member of this year's graduating class.

This is the first year in which, school letters will be awarded to track men. A total of sixteen points scored in indoor and outdoor track are required for a member of either the varsity or freshmen track teams to gain the letter in the course of a year. The following men from the varsity won letters this year: Cassidy, McGurkin, Keenan, McMullen, Aldrich Sherry, Penler, Kallman, Lussier, Shanley and Walsh. Shea, Casparian, and Rawlinson received manager's letters. Freshmen letter-men include Johnson, Tetrault, Gannon, DiFolco and B. Tiernan.

Other events on the schedule include a dual meet for the Freshmen with the freshmen of R. I. State at Kingston this afternoon and a varsity dual meet with Worcester Polytech at Worcester next Wednesday.

- Friar Folio -

by BOB FLANAGAN

With the closing of the school year in the near future, and today being the last issue of the paper, it seems appropriate to sum up the spring sport season of Providence College athletic teams. In won and loss percentages both baseball and track have not had successful seasons, but the most consoling fact attainable is the prospect of a fine athletic program next season in spring sports.

It is not the story of "wait till next year" then watch our dust, it is the story that P. C. is continually building for the future years in their athletic policy. As every sport fan can readily see, great teams are not built in a day or a season or a year. It takes time and labor to accomplish the grueling task of fielding sport teams of championship calibre. We should keep this truth in mind when we comment on the sport situations anywhere.

Track is expanding by leaps and bounds since its inauguration at the college three years ago. From a handful of beginners to a present talented aggregation of athletes, track, under the tutelage of Harry Coates, has astoundingly progressed. Since the war years baseball has never regained its prewar status in intercollegiate competition. Many factors have contributed to this situation. Slowly but surely, though, baseball is making its bid, and it will not be too long before teams from P. C. will again rule the intercollegiate circles in the East. Basketball, of course, has the most pleasant outlook. A tremendous building program is underway, and under the efficient coaching of Vin Cuddy basketball of the future years is destined to be of top calibre.

Speculation about the proposed gymnasium is no longer a possibility in the distant future, but almost an actuality on the campus. Officials believe that the need for a gym is more than likely to begin very soon. With the building of a gym the outlook for sports will become brighter and just the idea of its actual construction will be a moral boon to P. C. athletics.

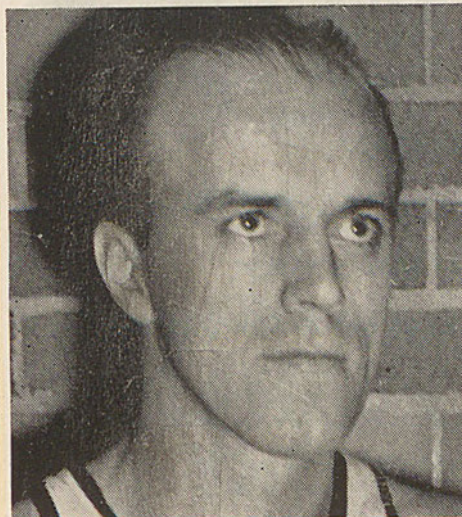

NO. 1 ATHLETE . . .

Our nomination for the top athlete of the spring campaign is P. C.'s half-miler, Bill Sherry. Bill has done an outstanding job for the Coatesmen in three years of track at the college. He climaxed his three-year career with a sensational victory in the half-mile last Saturday in the Eastern Collegiate Meet at Springfield College. In near record-breaking time he beat the best that the East could afford including the talented Josh Tobey of Brown. Bill is now a junior and has one more year of track competition before him. He has been the most consistent point-getter on the squad, and will be the nucleus of next season's team.

BIG THREE . . .

When June 6 rolls around, three outstanding athletes will graduate from Providence College. The captains of P. C.'s three varsity sports will terminate their collegiate athletic careers this season. Basketball co-captain Walt Lozski, popular two-sport letterman and president of the Monogram Club, will hang up his sneakers and cleats with an outstanding record of athletic achievement in his four year stay at Providence College. Fans will always remember his coolness of play on the basketball court and his peppery play in the infield of Hal Martin's baseball nine.

WALTER LOZOSKI

Art Weinstock, basketball co-captain and leader of the baseball team this season, has another enviable record in P. C. sports in his collegiate career. Besides holding down one of the guard posts for the past three seasons on the basketball team, Whitey has established himself as one of the best hitters to come out of P. C. for some time. Right now Hal Martin has the big blond in right field. Because of his sore arm he is useless as a catcher, but his big bat is desperately needed in the Friar lineup.

Track captain Gerry McGurkin completes the list of Providence College sport leaders. Gerry has done a remarkable job since track began at the College three seasons ago. With no actual experience in running, whatsoever, the red-headed sprinter has displayed that aggressive spirit of competition and hard-working attitude that makes champions. When Harry Coates, in his debut in Harkins Hall two years ago, made the call for men who were willing to work and fight to build a track team at Providence College, he was directing his remarks toward athletes like Gerry McGurkin. And it is Gerry who is one of the stalwarts who is making track a success at the College.

Till next September, we'll be P.C.ing you!

P.C. FRIARS SQUEEZE OUT

OVER R.I. STATE

5-TO-3 VI

Out at Home: Chuck Varney, R.I. State catcher, is about to put the ball on the Friars' Art Weinstock completing a spectacular play in the seventh inning yesterday at Hendricken Field. Weinstock, the P.C. captain, tried to score from second on Sam Nissel's single to center but Ira Murphy made a fine throw to the plate and Varney put the ball on Weinstock for the final out of the inning. However Dick Duignan scored what proved to be the winning run seconds before on the same hit.

Rams Tie Up Game in 7th, But Lack Punch to Win It

in Last 4 Innings; Fagan
the Winning Pitcher

By JOE McHENRY

If Frank Higgins could have survived one more out, he might be the Providence College Friars' winningest pitcher of the year. But he didn't and today shares the honors with Bill Fagan, who came on in the seventh and hurled the Friars to a 5-to-3 victory over Rhode Island State yesterday at Hendricken Field.

However, "winningest pitcher" among the Friars isn't too exclusive a label, for an athlete can gain it by winning just one game. That's what Fagan did yesterday. Higgins won the Friars' only other decision over Upsala. Both Higgins and his Joe Page did a fairly good job in helping the Friars to their second victory in 12 starts and their first in intrastate competition in four games.

The Friars held a 2-0 lead going into the seventh, when Higgins lost his stuff and the Rams tied up the game. The Friars and Higgins could have got out of the inning without a run if Dick Maloney's throw on Ray Mansolillo's grounder had been truer on what should have been the third out. The Rams scored their first run on that play, as the bases were loaded at the time, and when Higgins walked home another, he was done for the day.

Fagan, a sophomore from Taunton, got dangerous Joe Malikowski on a hard shot back to the box and retired the side. Faced with a 2-2 deadlock, the Friars came up with two runs in the last of the seventh. The first one was tainted somewhat. The Rams tried for an around-the-horn double play with the tie-breaking run on second. They missed connections, with an error, and the run scored. Then Sam Nissel's line single scored Dick Duignan with the winning run.

The Rams threatened to break the game wide open in the late innings, but couldn't come up with a solid hit with men in scoring position and left 11 on the bases in their last four times up. Chuck Varney singled in a Rhody run in the ninth, but Maloney and Howie McGuinness teamed on a force play at second for the final out with the bases loaded.

Around and About: Ira Murphy threw a strike from center field and nailed Art Weinstock trying to score from second in the seventh. . . . Weinstock led the hitters with three hits. . . . Duignan had a long double. . . . Al Johnson, son of Eskil, Johnson, the former State great, figured in three Rhody scoring bids with

P.C. Plays H.C. Tomorrow; Ram Trackmen Triumph

Providence College and R.I. State lead off an active baseball weekend tomorrow for college nines. The Friars will meet Holy Cross at Hendricken Field, starting time 3 o'clock, and the Rams will play Maine at Orono.

The Friars, who currently are engaged in a scheduled of four games in five days, lost the first of them yesterday to American International College, 12-8. Coach Hal Martin's club came up with five runs in the ninth, but three big innings in the middle going kept AIC in front.

Holy Cross, with a combination veteran-rookie team, has one of the strongest clubs in the area. Dick Shellenbach, son of Frank Shellenbach, former Boston Red Sox coach, is the Crusaders' possible pitching choice. This righthander defeated Brown two weeks ago.

Fagan to Start

Bill Fagan, a lefthander, probably will start for the Friars. Coach Martin has been making game-to-game changes in his lineup, but probably will use Jim Sullivan as catcher, Dick Maloney at second, Skip McGurkin at short and Ed Mooney at third. Don MacDonald, who had five hits in five trips against AIC, will be at first.

H. C. Trackmen Defeat Friars

With Dan Kelley taking the 440 and broad jump and finishing second in the 220 and high jump for highest scoring honors, the Holy Cross track team defeated Providence College 73 to 44 in a track meet at Fitton Field yesterday.

The Holy Cross freshmen track men were nosed out by the Providence College freshmen 58½ to 57½. First and second in the 880 gave the young Friars their victory.

McManus in the shot put, Ahearn in the mile, Gould in the 100, Gilson in the low hurdles and Gould in the 220 were the other Holy Cross winners.

Providence College Coach Speaker at Holy Family Fete

James Vincent Cuddy, head coach of basketball at Providence College, will be the principal speaker at a testimonial banquet in New Bedford Hotel next Sunday honoring the Holy Family High School basketball team.

Coach Cuddy, a native New Yorker who completed his first season successfully at the helm of the Friar cagers, will be making his first appearance in Southeastern Massachusetts as a guest speaker.

A graduate of the University of Connecticut where he was a three letter man, participating in basketball, baseball and football, Coach Cuddy was engaged by Providence officials to rebuild the Friar quintet to national prominence.

James A. Flanagan, chairman of the committee in charge of the first fete to the Blue and White cagers, has announced a reservation deadline for the affair has been extended to tomorrow.

The program will include a dinner, presentation of awards to the hoopsters, brief talks by other dig-

Sunday afternoon Boston College will be at Hendricken Field.

Open With Victory

Providence College's freshmen opened their diamond season successfully yesterday by trimming Leicester Junior College, 14-1. The game was called in the seventh.

Kelley Scores Double to Pace Purple Victory; Crusader Frosh Bow

The Holy Cross track team romped to an easy 73-44 victory over Providence College at Fitton Field yesterday. In the freshman meet the Providence yearlings edged the Purple frosh 58 and $\frac{2}{3}$ to 57 and $\frac{1}{3}$.

Holy Cross's Dan Kelley swept individual honors by winning the 400-yard run and the broad jump and finishing second in the 220 and the high jump. Crusader Dick Ahearn turned in an outstanding performance in the mile run, outdistancing his nearest competitors by a good thirty yards. With the exception of the 20-yard high hurdles, Bart Sullivan's charges looked extremely well balanced with surprising strength in the field events, always a Crusader weakness.

The Freshman meet was close until the next to last event when the Providence harriers went ahead to stay by annexing first and second place in the 880 run. Summary:

Kelley Sparks H. C. Trackmen Over Friars, 73-44

WORCESTER, May 2—The Holy Cross track team romped to a 73-44 victory over Providence College at Fitton Field today. The Crusaders were led by the sparkling 16-point performance of Dan Kelley of Milton.

Kelley took firsts in the 440 and broad jump and seconds in the high jump and 220.

He was never behind in the 440 and held a five-yard advantage at the tape over Providence's McGurkin.

Capt Bill Gould of the Crusaders, New England titlist in the 220, captured his specialty as well as the 100-yard dash. He led from the gun in both and was clocked in 21.8s in the furlong.

Providence College's Bill Sherry provided the thrills of the day when he overtook Holy Cross ace Dick Ahearn in the last five yards of the 880. Ahearn had defeated the Friar earlier in the afternoon in the mile run.

The freshman meet wasn't settled until the final event. The Crusaders needed a clean sweep in the 220 to cop the meet, John McGumas and John Toner of the Purple finished 1-2, but Providence's Gannon took third place and the meet, 58 2-3 to 57 1-3.

Providence College Bows To AIC Baseballers, 12-8

SPRINGFIELD — Despite a five run rally in the ninth inning, Providence College went down to a 12-8 defeat here yesterday afternoon at the hands of American International College. AIC picked up three runs in the third and three more in the fifth to cop the verdict. Third Baseman McDonald had five hits in as many tries for the Friars who used Higgins, McKeon and De-Stephano on the mound.

Howie McGuinness

Coach Hal Martin of the Providence College Friars baseball nine made a few changes in the lineup against Upsala last week and it paid off in victory. Skippy McGurkin was replaced by Howie McGuinness at shortstop and Howie played a nice game for the Friars.

Friars Elect 3 Stars Basketball Captains

By JOE McHENRY

The captains will be in the majority when the Providence College Friars take the court next season for the basketball squad has elected three men as its leaders. Selected as the Friars' first tri-captains are Ray Garcia of Newport, Sam Nissel of St. Mary's, Pa., and Frank Pelligrino of Westerly.

The Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., president of Providence College, told the boys that he was very well satisfied with their showing of the past season and complimented them and Coach Vin Cuddy on the fine spirit they engendered on the Providence College campus. Father Slavin spoke at a dinner for the team last night at Johnson's Hummocks.

"The spirit must come from the boys," Father Slavin said, "and your victory over Rhode Island State did more to start the ball rolling than anything else. The faculty, as much as they might like to, can not make the spirit of a college, that must come from the students and you fellows provided the spark."

Each of the new captains played a prominent part in the past season, which was one of the Friars' best in recent years. It culminated in a bid to the National Catholic Tournament at Albany, N.Y., and included victories over State and Boston College in Coach Cuddy's first season.

Garcia, who served in the Navy, had his biggest sports thrill on the gridiron when he caught a sleeper forward pass, juggled the ball a couple of times and scored a touchdown on the first play of the second half in the annual Rogers-De La Salle game. He was the Rogers' captain in basketball and experienced one of the worst days of his life when Rogers forfeited every game on its 1945 schedule because of an ineligible man. "I just cried and cried," he said.

Pelligrino played on some of Westerly High's great teams under Jim Federico and uses the one-hand shot taught him by the former State athlete, but made famous by Ernie Calverley. Pelly, who once scored 48 points in a game, was All State with the Bulldogs and got his biggest sports thrill in beating the Rams last season at the Auditorium. He was an important defensive and offensive cog with the Friars last season.

Nissel is studying arts and education and would like to be a teacher.

coach. He was banged up several times last season, but he managed to star in several key games. He's playing center field in baseball, but says he gets a bigger kick out of basketball, with the victory over Rhode Island his top sports thrill.

Last season the Friars had two captains, Walt Lozowski and Art Weinstock, who with Tom Orr and Manager Tom Reilly, are the only ones departing the P.C. basketball family this year via graduation.

Coach Cuddy praised the work of some of the players individually and gave the credit for any success to the players.

The Rev. A. B. Begley, O.P., athletic director, told to what length he went personally in the selection of Cuddy as coach. Hal Martin, Friars' baseball coach, the players and managers attended the dinner.

Baseball

The Providence College nine will face a tough schedule this week-end when the Friars tackle three of the strongest teams in New England Collegiate baseball. Today Holy Cross is coming from Worcester to meet P. C. in the Friar's backyard, Hendrickson Field. Tomorrow, the Friars will travel across town to engage Brown University, at Aldrich Field. On Sunday Providence College will be host to the Boston College Eagles at Hendrickson.

The Bruins have a strong team this year, while Holy Cross and Boston College are perhaps the best in New England. Boston College is also the defending collegiate champion in N. E.

H. C. NINE PLAYS AT PROVIDENCE

By HUGH McGOVERN

Holy Cross will be gunning for its fifth victory in six games and fourth in a row when it meets the Providence College nine at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Hendrickson Field, Providence.

Jim Dilling has been nominated by coach Jack Barry to hurl against the Friars, who, in years past, have proven tough nuts for the Crusaders.

Although Holy Cross holds a 23-13 command in the 36 previous games between the rivals, Providence has more than once spoiled Crusader records. Many Worcester fans will recall how Karl Sheary used to baffle crack Purple arrays of the late 1930's with his slow stuff.

Barry is hopeful that Dilling will be able to prevent this year's Providence array from derailing his high-flying Crusaders.

Schoolboy Star

It will be the first start for the slender six-foot-four righthander, who came to Holy Cross with a reputation as one of the finest schoolboy pitchers in Ohio.

Holy Cross will rule a favorite over Providence today as the Friars have found the going very rugged so far. They have only one victory in five games, defeating Upsala while bowing to the same school in a return game. Seton Hall, Yale and American International College also have turned back the Friars.

Bill Fagan, coach Hal Martin's ace, will face the Purple this afternoon.

Sophomores Don McDonald and Dick Dunningan are rated the top hitters in the Friars' youthful starting cast. Lineups:

A.I.C. Beats Friars, 12-8, Despite Ninth-Inning Rally

P.C. Club Scores 5 Runs in Last Frame; MacDonald
Bangs Out 5 Hits

Special to The Providence Journal

Springfield, Mass., May 3.—American International College thwarted a ninth-inning rally by Providence College today before a crowd of 750 and picked up its fourth victory of the season, 12-8. The Aces were well in the van going into the last inning but a sudden uprising by Coach Hal Martin's Friars produced five runs and forced Coach Henry Butova to relieve his starter, Bob Flagg.

Flagg had scattered eight hits through eight innings. In the ninth, however, he tired and loaded the bases. Providence scored two runs when sophomore Dick Duingan lashed a single to right field. Roger Geoffrey put out the fire after allowing three runs.

P. C. Trimmed By Aces, 12 To 8

SPRINGFIELD, Mass.—American International College staved off a ninth inning uprising by Providence College yesterday and picked up its fourth victory of the season, 12-8.

The Aces were far out front as the last inning started but the Friars made a sudden bid to get back into the ball game by producing five runs to drive out the Ace starting pitcher, Bob Flagg. Flagg had scattered eight hits through the first eight frames.

PC Friars Card Frays With Cross, Eagles, Bears

PROVIDENCE—With a record to date of one win and four losses, the Providence College baseball nine will attempt to get back on the winning trail this week end but the task looms as a tough one as the Friars play Holy Cross, Brown and Boston College, three of the top teams in New England collegiate circles.

The Friars play Holy Cross and Boston College at home, the former at Hendricken Field today and the latter at the same place Sunday. Both games will start at three o'clock. Tomorrow afternoon, the Friars will go across town to meet Brown at Aldrich Field.

Hank Soar's friends got their first peek at the big fellow dressed in his major league umpire's blues last Tuesday at Fenway. Big Hank was stationed at first and the close call he made on his former Providence college chum, Birdie Tebbetts, didn't even cause a ripple. Hank was right on the play.

Friar Nine to Face Three Tough Rivals

Providence, May 5—With a record to date of 1 win and 4 losses, the Providence College baseball nine will attempt to get back on the winning trail this weekend but the task looms as a tough one as the Friars play Holy Cross, Brown and Boston College three of the top teams in New England collegiate circles.

The Friars play Holy Cross and Boston College at home, the former at Hendricken Field today and the latter at the same place on Sunday afternoon. Both games will start at three o'clock. Saturday afternoon the Friars will go across town to meet Brown at Aldrich Field.

P. C. will be meeting all three teams for the first time this year. The Friars one win came against Upsala, while they sustained their losses at the hands of Seton Hall, Upsala, Yale and American International.

Holy Cross Defeats PC, RI Rams Bow At Maine

PROVIDENCE — Collecting 11 hits and receiving 14 bases on balls from four Providence College hurlers, Holy Cross racked up a 12-2 win yesterday afternoon at Hendricken Field. Cross tallied four runs in the third period and six in the ninth.

Brown, P.C. in 49th Game

By JOHN HANLON

Brown and Providence College will meet for their 49th baseball game tomorrow afternoon at Aldrich Field starting at 3 o'clock.

Giles Powell, a righthander who has broken even in two starts this season, will pitch for the Bruins; Bill McKeon, a sophomore without a victory, will work for the Friars.

Both clubs, after suffering early-season runs of rather shoddy baseball, have improved with competition and now are playing in a satisfactory, if not winning style. The errors and pitching lapses of the first few games are gone and the brand is improving.

P. C. Wins 31

The Friars, with several sophomores in their lineup, have won just one game in five; Brown has won three of its seven games. In the all-time records between the two clubs, Providence College has won 31 games.

Powell was Brown's winning pitcher against Wesleyan, allowing three hits in the five innings he worked. He lost to Princeton. McKeon's last turn came Wednesday against American International College. He pitched two innings of relief and allowed two hits.

R. I. State, idle over the coming weekend, kept a pleasant custom going yesterday by defeating the Boston College nine, 4-2, at Boston. Joe Malinkowski accounted for three of the Rams' runs with a homer in the fourth and Hal Melkonian took care of the other side with a three-hit pitching job. The victory was State's third in four games over the Eagles in the past two seasons.

Other events on tomorrow's list include a three-way golf match among Brown, M.I.T., and Holy Cross at Worcester; Brown's freshman baseball game at Phillip Andover Academy and tennis matches between Brown and Springfield at Springfield and the Brown and M.I.T. freshmen at Providence.

Brown's informal crew will race at Derby, Conn., with the varsity meeting Yale's third boat and its junior varsity taking on the Eli's second freshman crew. The Bruins' third crew will race St. George's School at Middletown tomorrow at 11 a.m.

Two Newporters are swinging their bats with commendable zeal for Providence College. Ralph Ardito, Rogers High's high average batter in 1949, playing right field for the Freshmen, banged out two hits against Leicester Junior College recently. And Donald MacDonald, Varsity first baseman, realized every player's dream when he rattled off five hits in as many tries Wednesday against American International College. The former all-state first baseman at De La Salle has had an offer to play in the Blackstone Valley League.

BROWN, P.C. PLAY 49TH BALL GAME

Traditional Rivals Meet Today

at Aldrich Field; N.Y.U.

Trackmen Visit

Brown University will be upstage center in today's college sports scene, with a track meet and a baseball game in Providence and other teams active away.

The Bruins' trackmen will meet New York University at Brown Field at 1 o'clock and a meet between Brown's freshmen and Hope High School will be sandwiched in with the varsity events.

In baseball, Providence College will visit the Bruins at Aldrich Field at 3:30 o'clock for the 49th contest of this diamond rivalry. Brown's freshman team will play at Andover Academy.

Giles Powell, a right hander with a 1-1 record, will be Brown's pitching choice. Bill McKeon, a sophomore and a southpaw, will work for P.C. Brown's season's mark is three victories in seven games; the Friars have won one in five.

N.Y.U., fresh from a big day at the Penn Relays, is favored over the Bruins. The Violets' half-mile and sprint-medley relay teams won their events in the Penn games last Saturday and their Stan Lampert took the shot put. Lampert set a field record of 52 feet, 11½ inches, in last year's meet with Brown. N.Y.U. won that meet, 92-43.

Other events on today's list include a three-way golf match among Brown, M.I.T. and Holy Cross at Worcester and tennis matches between Brown and Springfield at Springfield and the Brown and M.I.T. freshmen at Providence.

Brown's informal crew will race at Derby, Conn., with the varsity meeting Yale's third boat and its junior varsity taking on the Eli's School at Middletown at 11 a.m.

Holy Cross Tops Providence 12-2

Sophomore Jim Dilling pitched Holy Cross to a 12 to 2 triumph over Providence College yesterday at Providence for the Purple's fourth win in a row.

Dilling, making his first start, permitted only three hits in the six and one-third innings, he hurled. Holy Cross was leading by 5 to 2 when Dick Shellenback was sent in to relieve in the cold weather.

Billy Porter, Purple captain, played errorless ball at shortstop handling 10 chances and reached base four times with a pair of singles and two walks. Manning and Stetter also had two hits.

Friars Facing Busy Week-End

PROVIDENCE—The Providence College baseball nine will attempt to get back on the winning roll this week-end but the task seems as a tough one as the Friars play Holy Cross, Brown and Boston College, three of the top teams in New England collegiate circles.

The Friars play Holy Cross and Boston College at home, the former at Hendricken Field this afternoon and the latter at the same field Sunday afternoon. Both games will start at three o'clock. Saturday afternoon the Friars will go across town to meet Brown at Holy Cross Nine Easily Wallops Providence, 12-2

By HUGH McGOVERN

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Saturday—The Holy Cross baseball team easily disposed of Providence College, 12-2, at frigid Hendrickson Field here yesterday afternoon.

It was a cold and raw afternoon—the type that usually produces poor baseball. It proved so for the Friars.

They could only manage four singles, two of them infield bingles, while four P. C. pitchers were yielding 10 hits, 13 bases on balls, two hit batsmen and one wild pitch. The losers also committed six errors to smooth the way for the Purple.

While everything appeared to be going badly for the host forces, Holy Cross was giving a fancy performance for such miserable weather.

5 H. C. Double Plays

The Crusaders, who were capturing their fourth consecutive victory and fifth in six games, received strong pitching from sophomore Jim Dilling and Frank Shellenbach and, although making three errors, came up with five double plays to eliminate the sting of the miscues.

Sophomore Bobby Manning, captain Billy Porter and senior Bill Stetter were the bright batters, each poling two hits.

Dilling, who was making his first start, was wild, probably from lack of work and the cold. But the Lakewood, Ohio, stringbean was rough in the pinches until the sixth inning.

Dilling Replaced

Then he loaded the bases with his eighth, ninth and tenth walks. The first Friar tally came across on an infield out and the second on Paul Barry's single.

Shellenbach replaced Dilling at

This juncture and tamed Providence with one hit the rest of the way.
Dilling and Shellenbach also struck offensive blows in their own behalf. Jim banged a two-run single in the four-run third while Shellenbach set up one run in the eighth with a single and batted in another in the sixrun ninth with a long fly to left field.

Captain Porter was a busy fellow yesterday . . . He handled 10 plays perfectly and was on base four times himself with two singles and two walks . . . Red Lavery made a fine running catch of Dick Duignan's long blast to right in the fifth . . . Manning's double in the sixth was the only extra-base hit . . . Stetter is the leading Holy Cross hitter with nine hits in 20 tries.

Friars Beaten By Crusaders; State Loses

30 Stranded, 26 Walk
In 12-2 H.C. Victory;
Maine Nips Rams, 6-5

Rhode Island collegians fared poorly in baseball yesterday as Holy Cross ran its 1950 record to five victories in six starts with a 12-2 beating of Providence College and the R.I. State Rams were edged, 6-5, in the 11th inning at the University of Maine.

Hendricken Field was a crowded diamond as Crusaders and Friars cluttered up the bases practically all afternoon. Although H.C. managed to push more runners around to the plate, there were 17 Crusaders left on base before the invaders scored six unearned runs in the ninth. Holy Cross made 11 hits; Providence six.

Stranded

In all, 30 runners were left stranded. Each team failed to rescue five in the first two innings, which were scoreless. Three of the 14 walks given by home pitching were the foundation for four Crusader runs in the third inning. The winners added another in the sixth and one more in the eighth.

Meanwhile, there were plenty of Providence baserunners, 12 of them on passes, but Holy Cross pulled five on double plays. In the sixth the first three Friars walked. Howie McGuinness' fielder's choice and Bob Guinness' fielder's choice and Bob Barry's single brought home two runs. Dick Shellenback relieved Jim Dilling on the mound for Holy Cross and that was all for the Friars. Shellenback, son of a former Boston Red Sox coach, allowed only two hits and two walks the rest of the way.

Schlimm Plays Fireman

Jim Schlimm, second P.C. pitcher, entered the game in the fourth inning with the bases loaded and none out. He fanned two men and forced the third to fly out.

Providence Will Start Track Program Today

Friars Send Varsity and Freshman Squads Against Springfield Here in Dual Meets

Competition, which always has been lively between Springfield and Providence College in basketball and baseball, will be extended to track athletics today in the form of dual meets this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Pratt Field. It is a feature of the Prom Week program and both the varsity and freshman teams will be involved in the invasion of the Friars.

Yearlings Keep Going

Coach Judd's Maroon varsity now has a two and one record, losing only to the perennially powerful Rhode Island State. The yearlings, under fiery Coach Bill McCurdy, have scored impressive wins in their opening meets against Choate, R. P. I. and Amherst. This extends the freshman victory skein to a total of 11 consecutive wins over a three-year period.

The Providence tracksters are in a good position for today's meet. A virtual unknown squad up until a few years ago the Friars hope to take both meets in their opening conflict with SC. Stopping the powerful Maroon varsity and breaking the long win streak certainly would prove the worth of veteran Coach Harry Coates' youth-building program.

Some of the best races of the day should come off when Springfield's top varsity sprint and middle distance quartet of Chuck Davis, Bill Peters, Jim Hufsey and Jesse Wade tackle the four members of Providence's New England champion mile relay team, in events including the sprints, 440 and 880. Two other Maroon high scorers will have the opportunity to test their wares against tough competition. Co-Captain Carl Rees, who recently placed second in the hammer throw at the Penn Relays, will be aiming for the big points in both the 16 pound hammer and the javelin. Pole vaulter Leroy Brain, who set a new college record in his last outing, will be making an attempt to push the record of 12' 4 3/8" even higher.

The Providence yearlings have outstanding power in the hammer, shot, sprints and middle distances. Some of the top contests of the day should take place in the 440, 880 and mile when Coach McCurdy's crack middle distance quintet of Bill Hillman, George Davis, Arthur Farnham, Bob Goodwin and Bill Coughlin tangle with the thin clad first year men of Providence.

Providence, May 5—The Holy Cross Crusaders chalked up their fifth victory in six starts with a 12 to 2 win over the Providence College Friars here this afternoon. Jim Dilling and Dick Shellenback pitched six-hit ball for the Crusaders, who were helped out at bat by 16 walks off four Friar hurlers. Summary:

B. C. Wins, 11-8, on Four Hits Against Friars

PROVIDENCE, May 7—Although getting only four hits from two Providence College pitchers, the Boston College baseball team today scored an 11 to 8 victory over the Friars, the sixth victory for the Eagles in nine games this season. Jerry Levenson pitched for the Boston club and gained his third victory of the season.

The Eagles bunched their four hits, one of them a home run by Ed Walsh with a man on, in the fourth inning when they scored seven runs and took a lead the Friars could never overcome. Several bases on balls and Providence errors contributed to the B. C. scoring in the fourth.

The Friars touched Levenson for 14 hits, but could not make them into enough runs.

Upsala Bows, 3-2

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Friday (AP)—The Providence College Friars scored their first victory in four starts with a 3-2 decision over Upsala here yesterday. The Vikings threatened to tie it up in the ninth but the Friars pulled off a double play to kill off the rally.

The Friars scored the winning run in the eighth as Sam Nissel tripled to the left field fence and came home as the Vikings messed up the relay to the plate. Nissel probably would have scored anyway for Steve Sullivan followed with a double. Score:

Duignan's Two Home Runs Help Friars Get 2nd in Row

Friberg of Springfield Also Clouts Round-Tripper; Schlimm Good

Two home-run blasts over the right field fence by Dick Duignan, sophomore left fielder, and a sterling pitching performance by Jim Schlimm proved too much for the Springfield College nine yesterday and Providence College prevailed over the Gymnasts, 6 to 4, at Hendricken Field.

The victory was the Friars' third this season and second in a row. It was a tough uphill battle, Springfield although never ahead threatened all the way. When Dom MacDonald, frair first baseman, caught a pop fly off the bat of Tom Simos, ending the game, the Gymnasts had the tying and potential winning runs on base.

Duignan's round-trip blasts came in the third and fifth innings, each with the bases empty. However, both clouts seemed to rattle Norm Swenson, Springfield hurler, and the hits opened the gates for more runs.

Duignan's first homer in the third made the score, 2-0, as the Friars had jumped into the lead in the first inning.

Art Weinstock, the Friar captain, followed Duignan's initial home run with a triple to the fence in right field and scored on Sam Nissel's fly-out to center.

Bill Friberg, the Springfield left fielder, got into the home-run act himself and hit a three-run round-tripper in the fifth inning, giving the Gymnasts a short-lived tie.

Springfield scored another run in the sixth. Matt Mactozo of Bristol, R.I., walked and came around on a fielder's choice and single.

Friar Baseball Team

75 Loses Pair of Games

Providence College dropped two games over the weekend, losing to Boston College, 11-8 yesterday, and Brown, 8-5, on Saturday.

Jim Sullivan of this city, ex-Coyle star, caught both games for the Friars. Against Brown he had two for three, one a double and two runs batted in, but failed to connect in the BC contest.

Lefty Bill Fagan of Taunton, another former Coyle athlete, took over the pitching duties in the fourth yesterday, and didn't give up a hit the rest of the way, but did put eight Eagles on base with free tickets. BC got only four bingles, against 14 for PC, but the Friars committed eight errors.

Connecticut Nine Plays At Brown Tomorrow; P.C. Bows to Eagles

By BOB ENGLERT

The University of Connecticut, which opened a two-day baseball invasion of Rhode Island at Kingston this afternoon when it dueled the State Rams, concludes its stay tomorrow at 3 o'clock when it takes on Brown University at Aldrich Field.

The Bruins, victorious over Providence College in their last outing, will be striving to climb above the .500 mark and notch their fifth triumph of the campaign. Thus far, Brown has split even in eight starts.

Coach Wilfred "Lefty" Lefebvre is expected to send either Big Bill Hays, junior righthander, or sophomore Fred Koph to the mound. Hays has won two games and lost a like number and ranks as the leading hurler on the Brown staff.

Connecticut, which went into today's game with State owning a four and three record, will use its veteran southpaw, Dick Love, against the Bruins. Love is the ace of the Uconn's mound department and has already enjoyed two highly successful seasons. As a sophomore he won seven games without a defeat and last year he compiled a 5-2 slate.

Track Meet

Brown has a track meet scheduled with Providence College at Brown Stadium for both freshmen and varsity teams tomorrow at 3 o'clock.

The Friars' diamond forces rapped out 14 hits at Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon, usually enough to win many a game, but their pitchers were overly generous with bases on balls and the Boston College Eagles registered an 11-8 triumph, although limited to four safeties.

Had the Providence College hurlers been as stingy with walks as they were with hits, things might have been different but 14 free tickets, combined with eight errors, contrived to give the Eagles their sixth victory of the season.

Despite the abundance of walks and the Friars' loose play, it was a 2-2 game going into the fourth, when Boston College wrapped things up with a seven-run outburst and drove starter Frank "Lefty" Higgins to cover.

Three walks, an outfield error, a fielder's choice and B. C.'s four hits accounted for the scoring. Ed Walsh's two-run homer, a drive that center fielder Sam Nissel couldn't find in the tall grass bordering the outfield fence, was the big blow of the uprising although Len Ceglarski chipped in with a two-run double.

No Hits

Southpaw Bill Fagan replaced Higgins and pitched effectively the rest of the way. He didn't allow a hit in the five and a third innings he worked and he fanned six. However, he gave up eight bases on balls and they contributed to the final two B. C. markers.

The Friars, catching up with Gerry Levinson, who went all the way for the Eagles, in the late innings, got two runs back in the fifth on four hits, including three doubles, and then broke loose for four markers in the seventh. Triples by Howie McGuinness and Don MacDonald were the big blows.

Levinson tightened thereafter and held Providence College scoreless. He finished strong and fanned three of the last four batters. Dick Duigan with four-for-five and Bob Barry with three-for-four, including a first-inning homer, paced the Friars at the plate.

PC Baseballers Defeated By Brown, Boston College

PROVIDENCE—Coming through with three runs in the eighth inning, Brown handed Providence College an 8-5 setback last Saturday afternoon at Aldrich Field. Excellent relief pitching by Bill Hayes who fanned three and pitched one hit ball in one and a third innings, clinched the decision for the Bears. Lapides, Thompson and MacConnell had two hits each for Brown, while Nissel, Sullivan and McGuinness had a pair each for PC.

Yesterday at Hendricken Field, PC pitchers held Boston College to four hits but issued 14 walks and their mates made eight errors as they went down to an 11-8 defeat. The Friars made 14 base knocks, but the Eagles tallied seven runs in the fourth inning to take a commanding lead. Duigan had four hits for the losers.

7 Runs in 4th Win For B. C.

PROVIDENCE (AP) — The Providence College Friars outhit the Boston College Eagles 14 to 4 but the Friars contributed eight errors and 14 bases on balls as the Eagles scored an 11 to 8 decision. The Eagles put the game on ice with a seven-run fourth inning during which Ed Walsh homered with one aboard.

Gerry Levinson went the route for B. C. for his third victory and the Eagles' sixth. Bob Barry homered for the Friars, who were dropping their third game in three days. Bill Fagan pitched fairly effective relief ball for the Friars over the last 5 1-3 innings.

The Eagles put the game on ice with a seven-run fourth inning during which Ed Walsh homered with one aboard.

Brown Nine at P.C. Tomorrow; Connecticut Downs State, 19-14

By BOB ENGLERT

Brown and Providence College resume their long baseball rivalry at Hendricken Field tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in a game that will find the Bruins seeking a clean sweep of this year's home-and-home series with the Friars and their 20th victory in 50 meetings with the Dominicans.

With a sophomore-studded club that lacks experience and consequently has made numerous mistakes, P.C. has been having its troubles this season. The Friars have only one victory in eight starts but Coach Hal Martin is hoping his youngsters will settle down and play the brand of ball they're capable of.

The club has been hitting well, with Bob Barry, Art Weinstock and Dick Duignan leading the way, but the fielding and pitching have left much to be desired. Bases on balls and miscues have proved costly and Martin has been devoting a good deal of time trying to correct those weaknesses.

McKeon Picked

The Friars' pilot has named Bill McKeon, young sophomore from Hamden, Conn., to pitch against the Bruins. McKeon started Saturday's game against Brown and did fairly well until lifted in the seventh inning for a pinch-hitter. Jim Schlimm then took over and was charged with the defeat when the Bruins rallied in the eighth and pulled out an 8-5 triumph.

The remainder of the Providence College lineup will remain pretty much the same as in recent games with the exception of the outfield where Art Weinstock, hampered most of the spring with a bad arm, will be a definite starter in right field. Weinstock is the top hitter on the club.

Freddie Kopf, sophomore right-hander from Baldwin, N.Y., is expected to toe the rubber for Brown.

which was to face the University of Connecticut at Aldrich Field this afternoon. Big Bill Hays is slated to do the pitching against the Uconns, who captured a marathon contest from Rhode Island State College at Kingston yesterday, 19-14.

The game lasted three hours and 15 minutes as the teams pounded out a combined total of 32 hits and the pitchers gave up 15 bases on balls. Connecticut scored in every inning but the ninth and collected 19 safeties off four State pitchers.

Early Foot

The Rams jumped off to a 4-1 lead in the first inning but the invaders rebounded with three runs in the second and then went ahead to stay with two more markers in the third. After five frames, Connecticut sported a 12-4 lead.

It was the Uconns' fifth victory in eight games and State's fifth loss in seven outings. Joe McElroy continued his long ball hitting for the Rams and poled his third homer of the season in the opening inning with a mate aboard.

State will travel to Springfield tomorrow to meet Springfield College. Also on tap is a freshman baseball game between Providence College and Holy Cross at Worcester. The Brown tennis team travels to New Haven to meet Yale while the Bruin golfers play at Wesleyan.

Kopf in No-Hitter; Brown 10-3 Victor Over Providence

PROVIDENCE, May 11 — Herb Kopf, Brown sophomore pitcher, today hurled a no-hitter as the Bruins defeated Providence College 10 to 3.

The young twirler came through a streak of wildness which found him issuing six passes and hitting one batter, in the first and third innings.

The Friars scored a run in the opening inning and the other two in the third. After that, only 19 men faced Kopf.

He climaxed his performance by striking out three men in the ninth for a total of five strikeouts.

The Bruins combined 13 hits and eight walks off two pitchers for their ten runs.

Andrews had three hits for State, Duignan and McDonald two each for the Friars.

At Providence, Brown collected 12 hits to rout Penn, 9-1, as Giles Powell held the Quakers to six hits. Fenn had three bingles, Lapides and Flanders two apiece for the Bears, while Third Baseman Wasseth was the defensive star.

State Freshmen Conquer Friar Yearlings, 4-3

The Rhode Island State College freshman baseball team pushed across one run in the last of the ninth and edged the Providence College freshmen, 4-3, at Kingston yesterday.

The Ramlets were trailing 3-1 at the end of the fourth inning but single runs in the fifth and sixth tied the score.

In the ninth, the Friar's pitcher, Bill Mullins hit Rocco Negriz with a pitch. Dick Malinfant sacrificed Negriz to second. Emil Mendillo missed the hit-and-run play but Negriz was safe at third when third baseman Bob Petit dropped the catcher's throw. Mendillo grounded to short and Negriz beat the throw home with the winning run.

It was a hard game for Mullins to lose. The P.C. hurler gave up only five hits and struck out 11 Ramlets but errors hurt his chances. Malinfant struck out only one but he had tight fielding behind him. Gene Malgeri, who started for the Kingstonites, was touched for two hits and three walks for two runs before retiring the side in the first. Malinfant took over in the second.

Bill Servant got the only extra base wallop for the Rams when he doubled in the first and drove in the first Rhode Island run. He was out trying to stretch it into a triple. Don Sweeney doubled in the fourth and scored on a balk and a single by Mullins.

Seven Colleges Enter Springfield ECAC Meet

SPRINGFIELD, May 9 (AP)—Due to a conflict with the Yankee Conference Meet at Kingston, R. I., only seven member colleges have entered the Eastern College Athletic Association track meet at Springfield College next Saturday. Defending champion Tufts will vie against entries from Boston University, Bowdoin, Middlebury, Providence College, Williams and Springfield.

Rams at P. C. Tomorrow, Yale Nine Visits Brown

By JOHN HANLON

The semifinals for the intrastate college baseball title will take place tomorrow when Rhode Island State College plays Providence College at Hendricken Field. The game will start at 3 p.m.

Brown will meet Yale at Aldrich Field at 3 o'clock. This contest has no immediate bearing on the Bruins' chances in the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League.

The Rams-Friars game, however, has considerable to do with Brown's possibilities for the state title. These matters sometimes are quite involved, but here's how things stand:

Complicated

The Friars are out of it with three defeats and no victories. But a triumph by the Friars over State will clinch the title for Brown, for that would leave the Rams' record at 1-2. Brown's is 3-0 with one more to go. If the Friars lose, though, State's card will stand at 2-1. That would give State a chance to tie for the title when it meets Brown May 24. Everyone clear on that, now?

The Rams will be favored over the Friars, having won the first meeting between the two by a 9-8 score in 10 innings. State's record is five victories and five defeats.

The Friars, on the other hand, have been getting their lumps. They have won just one of their 11 games. The club can hit (it has averaged almost five runs per game), but the opposition has hit harder and capitalized on weak pitching and errors by the Friars. Frank Higgins, a left-hander, will try his hand on the mound in this one.

Bruce Blount or Hal Melkonian, both of whom worked in that first Friars-Brown game, will do the Providence College will be represented by Jerry Alexander in the javelin, Bill Sherry in the 880, Jim Penler in the sprints, and John Shanley in the pole vault and will also enter a freshman relay of Bob Tiernan, Dick Johnson, Jim Gannon and Joe Tetrault.

Tomorrow's trials will start at 3:15 p.m. and Saturday's finals will get under way at 1 p.m.

On Saturday afternoon the Providence College Friars will play host to Springfield College at Hendrickson Field in the opening game of a two game series. The game will start at three o'clock.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Thursday (AP)—The Providence College Friars scored a 5-3 victory over Rhode Island State here yesterday, snapping a seven game losing string. Lefty Bill Fagan's relief hurling stopped the Rams in the late innings. Frank Higgins and Fagan gave up only five hits between them but walks put the Friars in hot water in several instances.

The Friars broke a 2-2 deadlock in the seventh, with Sam Nissel driving in what proved to be the winning run with a line single. Score:

Providence College Takes On Springfield

PROVIDENCE—Providence College teams will be participating on two fronts tomorrow. The baseball nine will play host to Springfield College at Hendricken Field, while Coach Harry Coates will send a group of his runners to Brunswick, Maine, to compete in the New England Intercollegiate Championships at Bowdoin College.

Finally snapping out of their long losing streak the Friar baseballers will attempt to make it two victories in a row at the expense of Springfield College at Hendricken Field.

Providence College had two men in action yesterday and both qualified. Jerry Alexander placed third in the javelin trials with a 170-foot throw and Bill Sherry finished third in the first heat of the 880. Jim Penler will run in today's 220 semi-finals and John Shanley will compete in the pole vault.

Maroons Play Providence Nine

Rain wiped out the baseball game scheduled yesterday between Springfield College and the University of New Hampshire at Durham, N. H., and the booking was cancelled for this season. Springfield will travel to Providence College today for the first game of a home-and-home series with the Friars.

The Maroon lacrosse team will face its toughest session of the year in the annual combat with the aggressive lacrosse team of Rennselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, N. Y. The prowess of the Engineers in lacrosse has been so outstanding the team was picked to tour England and Europe last summer.

Springfield enters the fray with a record of two wins, two losses and one tie, while RPI boasts the fact that it has had only a single defeat this season, that to top-notch Syracuse.

The Engineers have been averaging 20 points per game, romping over Western Maryland, Adelphi and playing a 16-16 tie with Princeton. All American attack ace Dick Powell has scored 12 goals for the Engineers. Other all Americans on the RPI squad include Les Eustace, Ken Martin and Dick Coons. Each has scored at least eight goals.

Set For N.E. Meet: Bob Black (left), R.I. State distance ace, and John Shanley (right), Providence College pole vaulter, are expected to figure in the scoring in the N.E. Intercollegiate A.A.A. track and field championships at Bowdoin today and tomorrow.

Bob Mahoney of Vermont in the 440 and 880; Al Dell Isola of M.I.T. in the sprints and 440; Ed Olney of M.I.T. in the quarter and winner of last year's 880; Irving Howe of Boston College, defending champion in the 440; and Don Mullen of New Hampshire, 1949 hammer titlist.

Providence College will be represented by Jerry Alexander in the javelin, Bill Sherry in the 880, Jim Penler in the sprints, and John Shanley in the pole vault and will also enter a freshman relay of Bob Tiernan, Dick Johnson, Jim Gannon and Joe Tetrault.

Today's trials will start at 3:15 p.m. and tomorrow's finals will get under way at 1 p.m.

Friar Teams To Be Busy Tomorrow

PROVIDENCE—Providence College teams will be participating on two fronts tomorrow. The baseball nine will play host to Springfield College at Hendricken Field, while Coach Harry Coates will have a group of his runners at Brunswick, Me., to compete in the New England Intercollegiate Championships at Bowdoin College.

Finally snapping out of its long losing streak the Friar baseball nine will attempt to make it two victories in a row at the expense of Springfield College at Hendricken Field.

Coach Hal Martin is going to pitch Jim Schlimm, portside thrower, against Springfield. Hank Downey, who caught a good game against State, will be behind the plate. The rest of the lineup will be the same as that which played against State. Dick Duignan, Sam Nissel, and Capt. Art Weinstock will be in the outfield, from left to right, respectively. Steve Sulavik will be on third, Howie McGuinness at shortstop, Dick Maloney at second base, and Don MacDonald will be on first.

Defensively the Friars looked much improved in their win over Rhode Island State although the pitching was still poor in spots. The Friar hurlers gave up 10 bases on balls something that they have been doing all year.

Saturday's game will start at 3 o'clock.

Eight runners are representing Providence College at Bowdoin. John Shanley is entered in the pole vault, and Gerry Alexander in the javelin throw in the field events. The P. C. Freshmen medley relay quartet is composed of Bob Tiernan, Dick Johnson, Joe Tetrault and Jim Gannon. Bill Sherry, who has been running excellently of late, is one of the favorites in the 880-yard run. Jim Penler is the other P. C. entrant. He is competing in the 220-yard dash.

Keenan, Ex-P.C. Star, Complains About Control, But Racks Up Four Victories for Flint Arrows

By JOE McHENRY

Tommy Keenan, former Providence College southpaw, has four victories for the Flint Arrows in the Class A Central League. He says his control isn't as good as it might be what with the cold weather they've been having in Central Michigan, but is well satisfied with his pitching

Tommy, a standout in the Blackstone Valley League before he got into pro ball with the Detroit organization, beat Muskegon, 9 to 5, for his fourth victory. He also set Muskegon down with four hits, winning 12 to 1, for his first decision and helped out the attack with a home run.

Keenan's best effort to date was a 3-hit shutout over Saginaw in his second start. Tommy has had a hit in every game and is pitching consistently steady ball. Flint, managed by Gene Desautels, the former Holy Cross and Red Sox catcher, and Grand Rapids have been setting the pace.

Keenan, who lives in Central Falls in the off-season, has been studying for a master's degree in education at Boston University. He trained with the Arrows at Kissimmee, Fla., and appears headed for a fine season. Some of the loop's baseball figures include Dolf Camilli, managing Dayton, and Jimmy Wallace and Luke Hamlin, active pitchers. Tommy has come along well under Desautels' handling.

QUONSET FLYERS WIN OVER PROVIDENCE, 5-1

Providence, R. I., June 3 (AP)—Carl Brown pitched the Quonset Flyers to a 5 to 1 victory over Providence College here this afternoon, turning in a 3-hitter for the Sailors. The Friars, completing their season today, had fairly good pitching but made several key errors. Four of the Quonset tallies were unearned although the collegians could do little with Brown, a 21-year-old seaman from Falkville, Ala. Score:

H. C. Freshman Nine Opposes Providence

The Holy Cross Freshmen will be after their third straight diamond triumph when they meet the Providence Freshmen at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Fitton Field.

Don Slattery, former Chicago high school moundsman, or Ed Lyons, who starred for Mission High last year, will pitch for Hop Riopel's strong Crusader Cubs.

Billy Mullins, ace pitcher at St. Stephen's for several years, is the possible starter for the Providence Frosh.

The Crusaders, who have decisively defeated Brown, Boston College and Harvard, look upon today's contest as one of their toughest, according to Coach Riopel.

The batting prowess of outfielders Dick Horan, Artie Mossman, who hit a home run in the Harvard game Tuesday, and catcher Pete Naton, plus superlative pitching, have kept the Crusaders winning.

FRIARS' HURLER

Former St. Stephen's High pitching star Billy Mullins, who may be on the mound for the Providence College Freshman nine this afternoon against Holy Cross Freshmen at Fitton Field.

New Jersey Track Captain

PROVIDENCE—William Sherry, a junior, was elected captain of the Providence College track team for the 1950-51 season, at a meeting held yesterday by the members of this year's track squad. Sherry, son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Sherry, 310 High street, Hackettstown, N. J., has been the highest point getter on the Friars' track squad for the past two years. Sherry has run on the two-mile relay team at Providence College with the 880 yard dash, and the 580 yard run his freshman season at the Eastern Collegiate in Springfield, Mass. He won the 880 yard run in 57 seconds.

Crusaders Stop Friars, 9 to 6, Sweep Series

S.T. 5-21-50

By JOE McHENRY

Worcester, May 27.—Timely batting by Johnny Turco and Matt Formon was a major factor as Holy Cross' Crusaders scored a 9-to-6 victory over Providence College and swept the season's series today at Fitton Field.

Turco, who came to the Cross tabbed as an outstanding football player, is making a greater reputation on the ball field. Today he came through with a double with the bases loaded and drove in four runs.

Formon, whose relief hurling wasn't too effective, contributed a two-run double as the Crusaders scored four times in the seventh and just about put the game on ice. His hit with two down, accounted for the Cross' seventh and eighth runs.

Again, bases on balls hurt the Friars, for five of the 10 Crusaders who reached via walks eventually scored. Providence though hitless through the first four innings against Dick Shellenbach, outhit the Cross for the route, 9 to 8.

Holy Cross, still leading the field for the New England bid to the NCAA playoffs, won its ninth game, with only Boston College ahead.

Back in the Game

Frank Higgins started for PC and ran into some difficulty when he walked three, filling the bases, in the second. Then Turco came through with a double down the left-field line. All the base runners were moving with two down and scored. Again in the fourth Higgins walked the first two batters and Coach Hal Martin replaced him with another lefty, Bill Fagan. Fagan got out of that jam, though he did have to walk Turco.

The Friars got back in the game when walks to Hank Downey and Fagan, a scratch hit by Dick Maloney and Don MacDonald's fielder's choice accounted for two runs in the fifth. Providence tied the score at 3-all in the sixth, when Howie McGuinness drove in Ed Mooney, who had singled, and got to second on an error.

Leading, 4-3, after Turco had driven in his fourth run in the sixth, the Cross made four runs on four hits, a walk and an outfield fly in the seventh. Johnny Concannon's hard shot off Fagan's left leg, Mike Cariglia's walk and Joe Frechette's safe bunt loaded the bases. Bob Heon's long fly brought in one run, Bill Stetter singled home another and Formon supplied the coupe de grace.

Around and About... Mike Cariglia from Warren finally broke into the Cross lineup in the seventh. He turned in the slickest catch of the day on a deep foul fly by McGuinness in the eighth... Coach Jack Barry came about 15 yards off the bench and shouted "A little life out there" after the Cross had been lax in covering home plate on a wild pitch by Shellenbach.

Ed Mooney dropped a liner and started a rhabarb involving players, coaches and umpires in the fifth, but the play finally was ruled a twin killing for the Friars...

Formon, with today's game, has pitched 29 innings against five teams in 10 playing days, facing Fordham, Brown, Braves, Harvard and the Friars.

James Sullivan Wins Holland Medal at P.C.

James "Jim" Sullivan of Fall River was the recipient of the Dr. Francis A. Holland medal for baseball proficiency among senior members of the Providence College baseball team at the annual Parent's Night exercises last night in Harkins Hall on the Providence College campus. The Rev. Vincent C. Dore, O.P., dean of students and a former Friar athlete, made the presentation to Sullivan in behalf of Dr. Holland.

Sullivan was selected for this honor by a committee of sports writers and members of the P.C. athletic staff. He's one of the most versatile Friar ball players in recent years as he has played short, left field, pitched and caught on the P.C. teams. He did a good job in the backstopping department this season, after two others became incapacitated.

Sullivan, who will graduate with an A.B. degree in Social Science today, is a graduate of Monsignor Coyle High in Taunton where he also played baseball. He served in the U.S. Navy. He has played extensive summer baseball in Fall River, the Blackstone Valley League and the Nova Scotia Central League. He is one of three seniors on the team this year. The others are Art Weinstock and Dick Maloney.

Previous winners of this baseball award donated by the former Friar baseball captain were Tom Keenan in 1949 and John Barchi in 1948. Keenan is now in professional baseball with the Flint Arrows of the Central Association.

H. C. NINE PLAYS FRIARS TODAY

By HUGH McGOVERN

Holy Cross entertains Providence College this afternoon at 2 o'clock on Fitton Field and the Crusaders possible selection as the New England representative in the NCAA tournament may hinge on the outcome.

The Crusaders, who loomed a sectional power in pre-season ratings, stumbled for the fourth time in 12 games Wednesday when they absorbed a 5-0 whipping from Harvard and its crack Ira Godin.

Another defeat, or two, would probably eliminate Holy Cross from further consideration as New England NCAA representative.

Consequently, today's game with Providence is important. It will be the second meeting of the rivals this season, the Purple previously having trounced the Friars, 12-2.

Coach Jack Barry will send Dick Shellenbach against the Friars today. The senior right-hander has a record of three victories and no defeats this season. He worked three innings against the Boston Braves in Monday's exhibition and one in relief against Harvard Wednesday.

Providence will retaliate with either Frank Higgins or Bill Fagan, both lefthanders.

This will be the 38th meeting between the schools on the diamond . . . Holy Cross has a 24-13 command . . . Captain Billy Porter, who was forced to leave the lineups Wednesday with a pulled leg muscle, is hopeful of returning to action today . . . Porter is an inspirational leader and his absence again today would be sorely missed. Lineups:

PROVIDENCE	HOLY CROSS
Maloney 2	ss Porter
MacDonald 1b	lf Gebhardt
Duignan lf	2 Concannon
Weinstock rf	1b Manning
Nissel cf	cf Turco
Mooney 3	rf Frechette
McGuinness ss	3 Heon

P. C. TO WIND UP SEASON
Providence College will wind up its baseball season with two games away from home this week playing Springfield College at Springfield this afternoon and meeting Holy Cross at Worcester on Saturday. P. C. beat Springfield in the first game this season played at Providence but lost to Holy Cross on the home field. The Saturday game will be the final contest as a college player for third baseman Eddie Mooney of this city.

P.C. Away Tomorrow

Rhode Island State's baseball team, winner of five of its last six games, will meet Springfield tomorrow and Kingston. Providence College will play Holy Cross at Worcester.

Officially, these are the last scheduled games for the Rams and the Friars, but postponements and an addition will carry the schedule into next week. Each team has a postponed game to play and the Friars will entertain the Quonset Flyers on Alumni Day, June 3.

Holy Cross was an easy winner in its first game with the Friars, taking that one by a 12-2 score. In all the Friars have won just three of 13 games.

Jim Schlimm or Frank Higgins will pitch for Providence College and either Matt Formon or Dick Shellenbach for the Crusaders.

Bob Underhill is the probable pitching choice for State. Springfield took an 8-7 victory in the team's first game. State's season record is 7-6.

Crusaders Host To Friar Nine

An in-and-out Holy Cross diamond team will attempt to swing back in the winning groove at Fitton Field tomorrow afternoon when it clashes with Providence College.

The Friars were no match for the men of Barry the last time the two clubs squared off. Behind the neat four hit hurling efforts of tall Jim Dilling and Dick Shellenbach the Crusaders blasted out a 12 to 2 triumph.

Barry may decide to give the fast throwing Dilling another opportunity to crush the Rhode Island representatives, although Jim O'Neil and Shellenbach are starting possibilities.

The Crusaders have been playing splendid ball afield but there are only two or three members who are giving the apple a safe ride. Backstop Bill Stetter and Capt. Bill Porter, two of the leading hitters on the squad, hope to zoom their average at the expense of Providence pitching.

It was noticeable in the Purple's showing against the Boston Braves the other afternoon that third sacker Bobby Heon and first sacker Bobby Manning were stepping into pitches and driving the ball for distance. Yet against Harvard, the club went back to its futile swinging tricks. It could only reach Ira Godin for four safeties.

The pitching hasn't been phenomenal, but Matt Formon has looked great in all starts even in the games he's lost. There is a chance that spark plug Billy Porter will be ready for the Friar invasion. He came up with a pulled muscle in the Harvard clash, but the injury was not serious.

Without Porter's fancy fielding and timely hitting the Crusaders are just another college baseball team. In the event Porter is only ready for pinch hitting duties the capable Red Coyle will attempt to solve Jack Barry's shortstop headaches.

Bruins Rained Out; P.C. Game Cancelled

The traditional Memorial Day baseball game between Brown and Harvard was cancelled yesterday because of wet grounds. The Bruins completed their season with an 8-and-8 record under Coach Wilfred "Lefty" Lefebvre. Brown captured the Rhode Island college baseball title, beating Providence College twice and splitting with R.I. State.

The game between the Friars and Springfield, scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at Springfield, has been cancelled, the Rev. A. B. Begley, O.P., athletic director at Providence College, said today.

Sherry to Captain Friars' Trackmen

PROVIDENCE, May 31 (AP) — Providence College track lettermen have elected William J. Sherry, a Junior from Hackettstown, N. J., captain for next season, it was announced here.

Sherry, who has been the Friars' top point getter the past two seasons, won the half-mile in 1:57 at the recent Eastern Intercollegiates at Springfield.

He has run on the 2-mile relay team, the 880-yard run and the mile.

Sophomore Leads Holy Cross to Win Over Providence

WORCESTER, Mass., May 27 (P)—With Johnny Turco providing the key hits, Holy Cross defeated Providence College, 9-6 at Fitton field this afternoon.

Turco banged a three-run double in the second inning that gave the Crusaders an early 3-0 lead and, after Providence tied the game with two in the fifth and one in the sixth, the sophomore centerfielder came through with a run-producing single in the sixth that gave the Crusaders the lead for good.

Dick Shellenbach started for Holy Cross, but was forced to yield to Matty Formon after walking the first two Friars in the fifth. Shellenbach didn't give any hits during his stint.

Sherry Named Captain By Friar Track Squad

William J. Sherry of Hackettstown, N.J., has been elected captain of the Providence College track team for the 1950-51 season. The New Jersey junior, who never participated in track until he came to P.C., has been the leading point getter on the Friar squad.

During the past two years, Sherry had run the two-mile, the 880 and the mile. The 880 has been his speciality however and he won first place in the 880 at the Eastern Intercollegiates in Springfield this season.

Sherry succeeds Gerry McGurkin in the captaincy.

Timely Hits by Turco Help HC Nine Prevail

Johnny Has Four RBI to His Credit During Victory by 9-6 Over Providence College Friars at Fitton Field Baseball Diamond

By J. EARL CHEVALIER

Worcester, May 27—Today at Fitton Field, where one who vividly recalls the pristine caliber of Holy Cross College baseball and the paying public's sustained interest in it is now gripped by a mournful feeling the present HC team warmed up for its major tilt with Boston College on Memorial Day by defeating the Providence College team, 9 to 6. Scarcely 1000 viewed what what proved to be the ninth triumph of the season for Coach Jack Barry's combine, which has met with four reverses. Holy Cross

Friars Have Some Power

The Providence College Friars, coached by Hal Martin solved two HC twirlers for nine bingles good for 14 bases. From three Providence chuckers the HC batsmen obtained eight hits that totaled only 10 bases. But the Providence hurlers issued 11 free tickets and thereby reminded the older spectators of what allegedly drove George Stallings, manager of Boston's National League miracle men back in 1914, to his grave at a later date.

Holy Cross went to the fore by 3 to 0 in the home half of the second inning this afternoon. Frank Higgins, Providence portsider, gave passes to Robert Heon, Bill Stetter and Dick Shellenbach, all three of whom are to be found in the lower section of the HC batting order. Johnny Turco got the sign to caress the three-and-one pitch if said pitch appealed to him. Turco thumped a sharp, curving liner down the left field line for a double that sent his three mates scurrying across the plate.

Providence did not register until the fifth, partly because Dick Shellenbach, seasoned Holy Cross right hander, who was bothered by a blister on one finger of his pitching paw, had the benefit of some good support. Shellenbach passed first Hank Downey and then Bill Fagan, who had taken over as hurler for the distressed Frank Higgins of the Friars. Coach Jack Barry thereupon lifted Shellenbach in favor of Matt Formon.

Maloney Delivers

Dick Maloney, Springfield Cathedral High grad, then nudged Formon's first serve sharply past first base for a singleton that scored Downey and sent Fagan to third. Fagan registered as HC made a vain bid for a twin-killing following McDonald's grounder to Shortstop "Red" Coyle who turned in a sprightly job as sub for lame Capt. Bill Porter of the Crusaders. Duignan singled but Formon averted a headache by eventually getting Sam Nissel on strikes.

The Friars from the Clam City evened the count at 3-all in the first of the sixth. Mooney singled. He moved to the midway when First Baseman Bob Manning returned the pellet haphazardly to Pitcher Formon after Matt had tried to catch Mooney napping off the initial sack. A single by Howie McGuinness accounted for Mooney with the equalizer.

But HC went ahead in its half of the sixth as Johnny Turco got himself another run-batted-in on a long, strong single to left where Duignan played the drive rather cautiously. Holy Cross led by 4 to 3. Then in the last of the seventh "Lefty" Fagan of the Friars went the way of all flesh. Jack Concannon nearly made the Providence pitcher's left shin black and blue with a sharp grounder toward the box. Ceraglia, sub for Manning, drew a pass. Joe Frechette beat out a flawless bunt toward third base. Bill Stetter singled and Matt Formon doubled. Jim Flynn, another southpaw, soon took over for Fagan but HC had a clust of four tallies and a lead of 8 to 3.

"Ev" Mooney tripled as the Friars fashioned one run in the top half of the eighth. Concannon again led off with a single as the Crusaders scored once in their portion of the same frame and made the count read 9 to 4. Don McDonald doubled. Dick Duignan tripled and Art Weinstein singled after Maloney had gone out in the top of the ninth. But Weinstein grew, excited and tried futilely to scamper from first base to third on a passed ball when the hour and the situation in this long game called for caution on the part of all the Friars.

All in the Game

By Jerry Prior

Old Friars . . .

Providence College is planning to start building its new gymnasium in the fall and that, of course, is welcome news to the old Friars. The old Friars have good reason to boast of the progress their alma mater has made educationally, but they've had to fall back on the Good Old Days largely when the talk turns to sports.

With the erection of the gymnasium things are likely to take a turn so that the old Friars will be able to vary their conversation, mixing a bit more of the present with the colorful past. Fortunately for them the past was colorful. They always have had plenty to talk about when they managed to swing the conversation around to the Good Old Days.

I know I'm talking as an old Friar myself right now and swinging the conversation back to the golden past. But it really is amazing, the outstanding figures that loom up when you begin to go back into the brief history of sports at Providence College. Hang on now. This isn't going to be more of this old Friar talk about guys like Birdie Tebbetts and Hank Soar. Instead, I'm going to talk about one or two of the greats who played against the Friars.

Mickey of B.U. . . .

There was a guy at Boston University, for instance. A lean, hard, dark-thatched character he was with a determined chin. I saw him play against Providence College once. Ever since then I've wondered if Gordon "Mickey" Cochrane wouldn't have been one of football's all-time greats if he had played for a better team. B.U. didn't give Mickey much protection. Maybe the rest of the team couldn't keep up with him. Anyway he seemed to be pretty much on his own when he was running with the ball.

And Mickey ran high, head up, as if disdaining to go into the crouch. But he was shifty, so that even though he seemed an easy target it was hard to get much of a shot at him. But when some big husky did, he frequently bounced off. Cochrane, on occasion, seemed made of iron. He wasn't though, for before the football season was half over Mickey would be almost a solid mass of bruises. But he kept going, bouncing off tacklers, sprinting goalward, head high. None of us who saw him play at that time was surprised at the spirit he showed when guarding the plate for the Detroit Tigers later on.

Joe McGee, who played against Mickey that day, also was a teammate of Cochrane. That was in the early days of pro football and before the NCAA. College football players frequently put in a busy weekend, performing for their college on Saturday and a pro team on Sunday. One time, in fact, two college teams played a close game on a Saturday and had a return game the next day. They played to the same score, too, only in the return game they were wearing the uniforms of the Providence Steam Roller and the Pawtuxet A.C. But, anyway, in those days McGee, the P.C. star, and Cochrane, the B.U. brilliant, were Murphy and Hickey respectively of the Steam Roller.

Overheard . . .

McGee is the ideal man to have around for a discussion of the old days on Hendricken Field, since Joe starred in both football and baseball for the early Friars. There is room here, however, for a few words about one other brilliant Friar opponent, Ownie Carroll, the Holy Cross pitcher.

McGee doesn't hesitate to name Carroll as the best college pitcher he ever saw. That's no light rating, considering the close association Joe had with two other college pitching brilliants of that era—his own teammate, Charlie Reynolds, and Elmer Duggan of Brown.

"But you can't say I saw much of Carroll's stuff," Joe says. "He made it hard for you to see it. And that guy must have had pretty good hearing."

Hearing? How was that? What did hearing have to do with it.

"It had something to do with the chance I had of getting a real clout off Carroll," Joe says. "I was going hitless against him one day and when I came to bat in the ninth they were away ahead of us. My friend, Tim Ryan, was catching for Holy Cross and I said to him: 'Hey, Tim, how about it? Tip me off on the signal, so I can get set for the pitch.' So Tim, figuring it would do no harm, tipped me of the next pitch would be a low curve. I got set for the pitch and then the ball came, a high hard one that made me back away and gave Tim a passed ball. And Tim said: "Sorry, Joe, it's all off. The so-and-so heard us and he's mad." fl

Friars and Flyers To Tangle Tomorrow In Exhibition Game

The Providence College Friars will wind up their 1950 baseball campaign tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at Hendricken Field when they entertain the Quonset Flyers in an exhibition game that will be part of the Alumni Day program.

Righthander Frank Higgins is expected to be the pitching choice for the Friars with Jim Sullivan behind the plate. Sullivan and Capt. Art Weinstock, seniors, will be playing their final game for P.C.

Harriers Prepping For October Meets

By Gil Cipriano

Whatever the results produced by the 1950 Providence College cross-country team, the Friars will definitely begin the season with a brighter outlook than was noted in the two previous seasons of Coach Harry Coates' reign.

Prime reason for this optimism is based not only on the returning veterans, only one of whom was lost via graduation, but more so on a group of talented Sophomores who will put on their varsity regalia for the first time.

The Friar track captain for the year, Bill Sherry, who, incidentally, is the only Senior on the team, will lead the varsity returnees, composed of John Cassidy, Bill Keenan, John McMullen, Frank Lussier, Paul Berthume, Jim Penler, Dan Walsh, and Bill Heeny. Heading the Sophomore contingent is Dick "Pop" Johnson, former all-state cross-country ace from La Salle. Other outstanding candidates for the team are Dick Lee, Jim Gannon, and Dick and Bob Tiernan (no relation). Finally, a prospect who cannot be overlooked is Herb Waters from New Bedford. Herb was something of a sprinter last year, that is, until Coates saw him run a two mile race against Holy Cross in the spring. Herb lost by a couple of steps but demonstrated that he has both the form and endurance to become a capable distance man.

The construction of P.C. track forces undertaken by Providence College under the supervision of Coates is also continuing with increased vitality in the Freshman ranks as a top-notch array of former school boy harriers is reported to have entered the Black and White fold this year. In bagging three out of four of the 1949 All-Rhode Island cross-country team, Mr. Coates took the cream of last year's local distance men. Foremost in this group is Bill Newman, from Hope, the leading long distance schoolboy in the state, followed by Omer Thibodeau, Mt. Pleasant, and Bill Hennigan, La Salle. In addition there are Gerry Absi, Classical, Bob Gilligan from Pawtucket East and Lou Tarsa from Aldrich. Among the out-of-staters, Chris Lohner from St. Benedicts, New Jersey, appears to be the best so far along with Jim Faher, West Hartford; the Zipoli brothers, Dick and Tom from Waterbury and Lou Gomez.

Although incomplete, the following is the latest schedule on hand. Providence College will hold an informal meet among the members of the squad at Hendricken Field on Oct. 15. These meets have been definitely booked for the season: R.I. State at Kingston, Oct. 20; Holy Cross at Worcester, Oct. 24; Worcester Polytechnic Institute at Worcester, Nov. 4; N.E. Intercollegiate Cross-country 4 A Championship at Van Courtland Park, New York, Nov. 20; Eastern Catholic Conference Championship at Van Courtland Park, Nov. 25; Boston College and Brown have yet to contact the College for possible meets.

CUDDY TO CALL HOOPSTERS OUT

By Charlie Sakany

Coach Vin Cuddy has begun preparations for the coming basketball season. The coach will begin preliminary practice within three weeks with an optimistic outlook for the coming season.

The addition of more height plus the experience of last year's varsity members will insure the Friars of a good offensive punch, and an all-around strong club.

Under the guidance of Cuddy in his initial year as coach at the College the varsity came a long way. They wound up the season with a fine record, in addition to registering a ticklish upset over the Rams of Rhode Island State.

The varsity is pretty much intact with the exception of Lozoski and Weinstock who were lost through graduation. Though their talents will be missed, many good boys are available to fill their shoes.

When the first game arrives we can all be sure that a strong club with a spirit to win will be on the court representing the Black and White, and when the final game is played the club will have a fine record of which we can all be proud.

Athletic Department Plans For Coming Sports Seasons

Circle 10-1-50

As the 1950-1951 athletic season commences here at Providence College, we take this occasion to introduce and re-introduce the Athletic Department of Providence College.

Under the capable leadership of the Rev. Aloysius B. Begley, O.P., athletic director of the College, the Friars are preparing to enter their sixth post-war season on the athletic fields. Since his inauguration as athletic director in 1941, Father Begley has efficiently handled the reins of the sport teams of P. C. At the end of the war, sports were resumed at the College, and it was the task of Father Begley to direct the rebuilding program so that the Friars would resume and also surpass their prewar peak of outstanding sports competition.

Basketball, the most popular sport on the campus, is ably coached by James "Vin" Cuddy, graduate of the University of Connecticut, where he captained his baseball team in his senior year. In the coaching field, Vin gained a reputation for himself at the University of Connecticut, Fort Trumbull Branch in New London, Conn. He came to P. C. last year to spur the Friars to their best season in several years. This season Vin Cuddy has numerous veterans from which to choose a team to represent Providence on the basketball court.

Harold T. "Hal" Martin, baseball coach since 1947, is a member of the Class of '39. Hal has had much coaching experience while in the service and on his shoulders fall the task of rebuilding the sport of baseball here at P. C.

Track enters its third year at Providence under the direction of Harry Coates. After many years at Seton Hall, Harry came to Providence College and in a very short time, gave the school a name in the track world.

Larry Drew is the Director of Intramurals. He is a graduate of the College and was a basketball player of exceptional ability during his college days . . . Larry is also the coach of Freshman baseball.

As the trainer of all the athletic teams, Pete Louthis, another graduate of Providence, has proved himself to be of great value to the college's athletic program. He also directs the boxing at the annual smokers.

Marcucie Elected To Monogram Club

Camel 12-4-50

Yesterday afternoon at one o'clock the Providence College Monogram Club had their initial meeting of the year. Plans for the coming year were discussed and the election of officers highlighted the program.

Stephen Marcucie, '51, of New Haven, Conn., was elected president. Steve has been very active in school affairs since his freshman year. He has been student manager of the varsity basketball team for the past three seasons.

Basketball Co-Captain Ray Garcia, '51, of Newport, R. I., was chosen vice-president. Ray has been one of the outstanding performers on Friar basketball teams for the past three years. Along with Sam Nissel and Frank Pelligrino, he leads the 1951 edition of the Friar hoopsters.

The post of secretary was awarded to Francis "Skip" McGurkin, '51, of Hartford, Conn., talented athlete, who is a member of both the basketball and baseball squads. Track Captain Bill Sherry, '51, of Hackettstown, N. J., was elected treasurer of the organization.

ANOTHER STEP ON THE LADDER . . .

It will not be too long before action in P. C. sport circles is resumed for the 1950-1951 season. Cross-country will lead the parade as meets, both varsity and freshman, will begin in about two weeks. Coach Harry Coates is now in the process of rounding a squad into shape not only for the cross-country season, but also for the all-important indoor track season during the winter. Basketball practice will commence in the very near future, and Vin Cuddy promises a highly eventful year for the Friar court fans.

Intramural director Larry Drew^o is now undertaking plans for the forthcoming intramural leagues. This phase of the College sport program can never be emphasized too much, since this activity affords the entire student body to partake in athletics. More detailed information will appear in future editions of the EASTERN CATHOLIC CONFERENCE . . .

The year 1950 marks the first full season in which the recently formed Eastern Catholic Athletic Conference will operate. As a charter member, Providence College plays an important role in this league. According to the Rev. A. B. Begley, O.P., athletic director of the College and a member of the Board of Governors of the ECAC, Providence will not actively engage in league competition in basketball for two years, because previous commitments with non-league schools do not permit the college to play the required number of ECAC league teams. But P. C. continues in the Conference as a non-playing member. However, in the sports of track and cross-country the Friars will actively engage in league competition this season. ECAC baseball is organized only in the metropolitan New York area.

MONOGRAM CLUB . . .

At the end of last year's athletic season the following received their varsity monogram for baseball. They are: Barry, Duignan, MacDonald, Maloney, McGurkin, Downey, McGuinness, Mooney, Nissel, Sulavik, Sullivan, Weinstock, Fagan, Higgins, McKeon, Schlimm, Costello, and managers Gorman and Sproul

For the first time in the history of Providence College, the sport of track has been recognized as a major sport. Letter-winners include Capt. Gerry McGurkin, Capt.-elect Bill Sherry, Jack Cassidy, Bill Keenan, John McMullen, Bob Aldrich, Jim Pемler, and Gerry Kallman. Also Frank Lussier, Dan Walsh, John Shanley, Tony Frantantuono, Gerry Alexander, and Dick Casparian. The student managers were Jack Shea and Jay Rolison. These athletes automatically become the first track members of the Monogram Club.

Birdie Tebbetts Cited By College Associated Clubs

By John Salesses

Last Saturday night, George "Birdie" Tebbetts of the Boston Red Sox, and the P. C. Class of 1934, was honored at a testimonial dinner given by the Associated Clubs of Providence College in the Providence Sheraton-Biltmore Hotel.

Approximately seven hundred people including many dignitaries of baseball and government, some of Birdie's professors and classmates, alumni from every P. C. graduating class and friends of the College, gathered to give a great tribute to one of the finest catchers in the history of baseball.

Albert B. "Happy" Chandler, high commissioner of baseball, said at the dinner that he had hoped that Tebbetts would stay in baseball after his playing days were over.

Explaining many of his duties, Chandler said, "I gave the first honor for good conduct in baseball to Birdie Tebbetts. His has been above and beyond the average call of baseball duty."

The commissioner also spoke of how he asked the club owners not to sign boys right out of high school. It would not be fair to the boys if they were prevented from getting a college education.

He then mentioned the importance of the presence of such men as "The Bird" in baseball. The manner in which these men have conducted themselves on and off the diamond has made the game what it is today.

One of the chief resources of the country. This is proved by the fact that seventy million people watched the organized baseball last year.

Very Rev. Robert J. Slavin, O.P., speaking of the pride of the Fathers of Providence College for Teb's work in baseball and the credit that he has brought to the school, said, "Birdie is just a friend of the College, but a great son. We are proud to hail him not only as an athlete, but as a student—a very superior student."

Johnny Pesky, star third baseman of the Red Sox, and first baseman of the Dropo, the Yawkey-Men's contender for "Rookie of the year" honors, declared their own and the team's love and respect for Tebbetts.

They also told of Birdie's generosity in giving helpful hints of the game to members of the team, especially to the rookies.

Ed Doherty, who graduated with the P. C. Class of 1924 and is now president of the Louisville Club, the Red Sox farm team in the American Association, spoke on behalf of the Red Sox.

Continuing the tributes paid to the great ball player he said, "Birdie, I hope your star never sets. You are a great leader. And, I hope you will be a great leader on the bench."

He also cited the changeability in the baseball of today by mentioning the pennant races in the major and minor leagues.

John E. Farrell, class of '26, and graduate manager of athletics of the college in Birdie's time and now president of the Rhode Island Medical Association, presented the gift, a moving-picture camera, to Tebbetts.

Upon receiving it, George said, "I have dedicated my life to baseball and I shall continue to dedicate it to baseball."

He then showed why he is known to be the self-less, humble and generous man, yet, the driving aggressive type of ball player on the field that he is.

"Sometimes the game isn't exactly a glamorous profession, when things aren't going right out there on the field. But for whatever success I may have in the future, I shall credit you people here tonight with an assist in my personal boxscore," he said.

A former professor of Tebbetts at Providence College and now the president of St. Joseph's College, in Maine, Dr. Daniel J. O'Neill, gave another excellent talk which was humorous and entertaining.

Dr. O'Neill said, "Birdie Tebbetts is our own, our very own baseball great."

John O. Pastore, governor of Rhode Island, and Theodore Francis Green, senior United States senator from Rhode Island, also paid tribute to the great man.

Senator Green told the audience: "I congratulate you on honoring such a man, as great an athlete—a wonderful combination of brains and strength."

The Rev. Jordan Baezler, O.P., athletic director during Birdie's stay at Providence College, spoke on behalf of the Metropolitan Club of P. C.

A classmate of Tebbetts, Paul Conolly, handled the speaking program and turned in an excellent job as toastmaster.

The long list of dignitaries included such men as Major Richard I. Butler, a member of Commissioner Chandler's staff; Charlie Reynolds, class of '26 and the acting committee chairman (the man who pitched the 20-inning game against Brown); Michael Keller, Boston fire commissioner; Jean Dubuc, the man who discovered Birdie Tebbetts; Chief Justice Edmund W. Flynn of the Rhode Island Supreme Court; Charlie Tebbetts, Birdie's brother; Joe McGee, former Providence College football coach; Councilman John Moakler, representing Mayor Roberts; James Gallogly, president of the Providence College Alumni Association; Bill Haylon, Tebbetts' room mate at P. C., and Joe McGlone, sports writer of the Providence Journal-Bulletin.

Telegrams and messages of congratulations were received from John Quinn, general manager of the Boston Braves, the Yankees' Casey Stengel, the Giants' Leo Durocher, Eddie Dyer of the Cardinals, Connie Mack of the Athletics, and Joe Cronin and Steve O'Neill of the Red Sox.

Messages were also received from J. Howard McGrath, Attorney General of the United States and honorary chairman of the dinner, and Francis T. Murphy, former governor of New Hampshire.

BASKETBALL SCHEDULE . . .

Nov 10-11-50

The Rev. Aloysius B. Begley, O.P., athletic director of the College, has released the 1950-1951 basketball schedule. Of the 22 games slated for the season, 11 are to be played as home games for the Friars. As compared to last season's calendar, this year's lineup fares quite favorably in respect to the strength of the opposition. All but two of the 15 P. C. rivals are old friends to the Friars. The University of Massachusetts and Bowdoin College are the newcomers.

On the evening of Dec. 2 the Providence College basketekers will engage their traditional opening game opponents, Assumption College of Worcester Mass. American International College of Springfield Mass. will invade Mount Pleasant Gym Dec. 6 to do battle with the Cuddymen. This will be the first occasion for the Friar fans to catch a glimpse of the aggregation which Coach Vin Cuddy is calling out this afternoon.

Other notable contests on the card for the season include the Rhode Island State game at the R. I. Auditorium, Jan. 18. This affair is a must for all basketball fans not only of Providence College but for all sport enthusiasts in the state of Rhode Island. No one can possibly forget last season's Auditorium engagement. The Friars proved themselves equal to the task of upset by edging the vaunted Rams by the score of 59-57.

The Cuddymen travel to Boston Jan. 9 where they will meet the powerful Eagles of Boston College, who are rated about tops in New England for this season. One of the final highlights of the year, the Holy Cross encounter, will fall on March

3. This is one game when the Friars really want to be on their toes. Last year the Crusaders unmercifully drubbed them by 26 points.

These are the more spectacular games from the pre-season standpoint, but let us not forget the extra tough opposition which is expected from such clubs as Brown, Springfield, St. Anselm's, R.P.I., and Colby.

SPIKE AND SHOE . . .

Keep an eye on this freshmen cross-country team. Under the tutelage of Harry Coates, this talented group is not going to be beaten by any mediocre harrier squad. This club is championship bound.

INTRAMURALS . . .

It has always been the policy of the COWL to stress not only the academic phase of school life but to accentuate also the extra curricular activities promoted for the advantage of the student. In this case we should like to emphasize intramural athletics.

As a special part of the athletic program here at P. C., intramural sports are carried on very extensively. It is the desire of the athletic department that a majority of the student body will participate in the leagues. Varsity sports, of course, dominate the atmosphere of athletics in college, but intramurals are not given the impetus they deserve. Participation in sports is a medium for a more balanced school life and an opportunity for the student to "keep in shape" the easy way.

Under the direction of Larry Drew, Providence offers a varied program in participation sports. In the very near future the touch football leagues will be under way. During the winter months basketball will provide the entertainment, and when the spring weather rolls around softball will take the precedence. Plans for volleyball, ping pong, and other activities are also being planned.

VARSITY BASKETBALL PRACTICE TO BEGIN IN HARKINS THIS AFTERNOON

Carol

By Charlie Sakany

Today Coach Vin Cuddy will make a call for all upperclassmen who wish to try for a berth on the varsity basketball squad. Amongst those reporting will be 15 lettermen from last year's team and several members of the past Freshman aggregation.

For the first two weeks the Coach will concentrate on conditioning with indoor drills limited to about one hour a day. Actual basketball practice will begin on or about the 25th of October.

The club promises to be strong both offensively and defensively, and to accomplish this Cuddy is striving for at least a 20% defensive improvement. This check alone will make the squad a formidable opponent for the toughest on the schedule.

Co-captains Sam Nissel, Ray Garcia, and Frank Pelligrino will lead the Black and White during the coming season. These hustling cagers will have in their command such outstanding hoopsters as Jim Schlimm, Ray Korbusieski, Jerry Lembo, and Ronnie Gagnon. The past season saw the rangy Schlimm break Ted McConnon's scoring record by dropping in a total of 357 points.

The Friars will also receive a boost with the addition of more height in the person of 6'5" Bob Prendegast. This big fellow has a fine hook shot and also a better than average set.

Even with all these favorable factors the season will be rough. P. C. will engage Boston College who will probably be tops in the New England section, and also Holy Cross who ranks with the best in the country. They will meet also strong opposition from such improved clubs as St. Anselm's, Colby, Springfield, and the University of Mass. Then there is R. I. S., who on their home court could complicate things for C. C. N. Y.

Martin To Call Out Freshmen Monday

Correct 10-11-50
By Phil Griffin

There's good news for all potential Ralph Beards and George Mikans in the freshman class. You don't have to keep your talent hidden any longer. Basketball practice starts at the beginning of next week.

Coach Hal Martin has checked the jumbled freshman schedule and has set a practice time. Next Monday afternoon the frosh mentor will meet all candidates. Also, the schedule of opponents is incomplete, but that too will be ironed out in due time.

Naturally, the call is out for one and all to attend court sessions. The frosh play an imposing number of encounters against prep school and college competition and the experience gained is invaluable. The yearlings are the varsity's farm team, so to speak, and naturally a good showing in your first year will mean a crack at a varsity sport next year.

Everybody starts out with a clean slate in freshman ball. There are no letter winners to contend with and the next fellow is no better than you until he proves otherwise.

Coach Martin is looking for some good boys to improve on last year's mediocre record. Varsity mentor, Vin Cuddy, will be watching the frosh too. That's where his future stars are born.

Friars Schedule Two Newcomers

Providence, R. I., Oct. 11—(AP)—The University of Massachusetts and Bowdoin College are the only newcomers on a 22 game basketball schedule which was announced tonight for Providence College by the Rev. A. B. Begley, O.P., athletic director.

The Friars will play Massachusetts in one game of a Boston Garden doubleheader. Bowdoin will visit Providence for the first time. All home games, except one against Rhode Island State will be played at Mount Pleasant High School gym.

Nissel, Pelligrino, Garcia Vie For Triple Threat Year

By Gil Cipriano

There is an old superstition about it being bad luck to light three cigarettes with one match. Coach Vin Cuddy will be attempting to pull something of form reversal as he sets out to ignite one basketball team with three captains. His sparkplug trio for this venture will consist of Sam Nissel, Frank Pelligrino and Ray Garcia, all seniors who have spent three years together and two as regulars of the Friar's court forces. This triple combination will also form the first tri-captains in Providence College's basketball history.

In the election of these leaders for the 1950-51 campaigns, the Friars couldn't ask for a better set of players, who, in addition to their individual court skill have displayed an all around ability on the basketball floor such as shooting, ball-handling and defensive work.

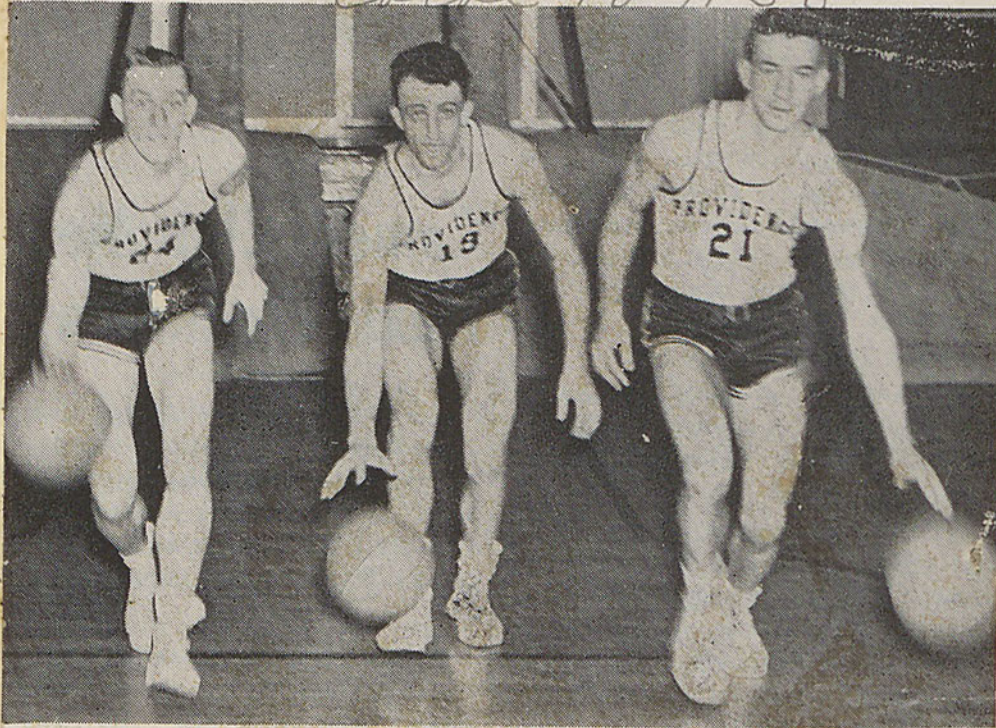

Frank Pelligrino, tallest of the trio at 6' 2", has been the defensive giant of the team. The Westerly "whiz kid" has been an ideal backboard clearer on the Friar quintet as well as being the possessor of a good one hand shot. Frank, who graduated from Westerly High, one of the perennial baseball powers in Rhode Island schoolboy circles, has consistently demonstrated the spirit and finesse at P. C. so well known in Westerly athletes.

Rhode Island can boast a two-thirds majority of the captaincy with Ray Garcia from Rogers high in Newport. Rogers, which has a faculty in turning out a fine set of cagers each year, contributed an exceptional playmaker and ball-handler in Garcia who has played both forward and guard in two years of varsity competition. Last season Ray was a regular forward, but this year Cuddy anticipates switching the Newporter back to guard.

Sam Nissel, the third man, need take no back seat to either of the former two when talk is centered on seeking basketball expendables. St. Mary's, Pennsylvania, has become a virtual "must" in P. C.'s talent hunt for the best in cage material and Sam takes a seniority rating among the prize basketballers plucked from the Keystone institution by Providence College. The others are Tom Bauer and Jim Schlimm, who are juniors. Nissel, who has an unorthodox shot—he appears to be going away from the basket when he shoots—has been one of the steadiest point producers on the squad. Last year he was out for several games, once with a broken finger and the other time with a head injury. This year he's right and raring to go.

PROVIDENCE HARRIERS

DUEL R.I.S. FRIDAY

Friar Reserves To Play Special Role

By CHARLIE SAKANY

It is now, or at least since the victory of the New York Yankees in the World Series, an accepted fact that a winning club needs depth. Without strong reserves a team can't be better than average, regardless of the greatness of the regulars.

This season the Friars will have this necessary reserve power. This depth will insure the Black and White of a well balanced club.

When the grind of long and tough competition begins to take its toll on the stars, Coach Vin Cuddy will have a good bench to draw from. The subs will brace the team and give the starters a chance to take a breath.

Though not qualified for starting assignments many of the boys on the sidelines have exceptional talent. They are satisfied to take a back seat and wait for an opportunity to do their best when called on.

Last season in the Rhode Island State game it was the subs who held the Rams in the closing minutes and turned the tide of battle. Boys like Jerry Lembo, Skip McGurkin, and Ray Korbusieski came off the bench cold and turned the tables.

This season it will be the same. Certain situations will demand special talents and the P.C. bench will have the specialists to meet the challenge.

First Official Meet In School History Undeclared Frosh To Race In Preliminary

By John Salesses

Another step forward in the athletic history of Providence College will be taken on Friday, October 20.

That is the day on which Coach Harry Coates will take his freshman and varsity harrier teams to Kingston, R. I., for a cross-country meet with the Rhode Island State College hill and dalers.

Providence College X-Country Schedule

Varsity

- Oct. 20 R. I. State at Kingston.
- Oct. 24 Holy Cross at Worcester.
- Nov. 1 Springfield at Springfield.
- Nov. 4 Worcester Polytech at Worcester.
- Nov. 6 Brown (place not yet determined).
- Nov. 13 N. E. Intercollegates at Franklin Park, Boston.
- Nov. 20 I C 4A Championships at Van Courtland Park, N. Y.
- Nov. 25 Eastern Catholic Conference at Van Courtland Park, N. Y.

Freshmen

- Oct. 20 R. I. State at Kingston.
- Oct. 24 Holy Cross at Worcester.
- Oct. 30 Pawtucket East High at Hendricken Field.
- Nov. 1 Springfield at Springfield.
- Nov. 6 Brown (place not yet determined).
- Nov. 13 N. E. Intercollegiates at Franklin Park, Boston.
- Nov. 20 I C 4A Championships at Van Courtland Park, N. Y.
- Nov. 25 Eastern Catholic Conference at Van Courtland Park, N. Y.

This will be the first time in the short history of track at Providence College in which the "Black and White" will be represented in a scheduled varsity cross-country run.

The Friar varsity will have a tougher time than the yearlings, but could come up with a win against this R. I. State team, one of the strongest units in New England.

The Rams will have Ray Lister, who last week placed first in a triangular cross-country race against Harvard and Holy Cross, Rocco Negris, Larry McLay and Al Ash as their leaders.

Another possible factor in State's favor is that they will be at home and on a course familiar to them.

In the Friar's favor, there is the element of surprise, the will to win, and the men who have the ability and the fighting spirit to beat the mighty Ram.

Providence will be represented in this race by such men as Dick Johnson, Herb Waters, Jim Gannon, Bill Sherry, Bill Keenan, John McMullen and Frank Lussier.

State will indeed have trouble because they do not have that fifth man who can stay with their leaders. This is the very thing that cost them the meet last Friday to Harvard, when although they placed four men in the first ten finishers (they placed 1, 4, 6 and 9), the fifth point man on the squad came in seventeenth.

The varsity run will be over a four-mile course.

The Freshmen should continue their winning streak over the State Yearlings.

Lohner, Newman, Hennigan, Thibodeau, Absi, Farrell, Gilligan and Tarsa, combined as a unit can hand the Ram freshman their first dual meet loss of the season.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL . . .

The newly organized Providence College Athletic Council held its first meeting of the 1950-51 season on October 8 for the purpose of discussing and completing the propositions and amendments of the recently completed constitution. In general, the object of the Athletic Council is to promote and regulate general athletic interests of the students with advisory powers on athletic policies, budgets, awards, and eligibility.

As was brought to the attention of the student body last spring, the Council consists of three alumni members, one of whom shall represent a territorial chapter, one student member, a Faculty representative, the Director of Athletics, and the President of the College who shall be an ex-officio member of the Council.

The Rev. Aloysius B. Begley, who is permanent chairman of the Council, released the following statements which should be valuable to the student body in athletic and health affairs at the College.

It is well to remember that the Council is consulted on problems of policy which pertain to the general athletic welfare of the student body, together with all matters affecting the athletic relations of the College. The Council has jurisdiction over any sport in which intercollegiate relationships are established and maintained and may formulate the rules under which it may be conducted.

Another important note that is being called to the attention of the student is the fact that no individual or organization may represent Providence College or any class thereof or use the name "Providence" or the nickname "Friars" in athletic competition unless authorized by the Council. Such authority may be withdrawn from the Council at any time.

The rules of eligibility shall be those of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Eastern College Athletic Conference. The above matters are the important ones as seen from the eyes of the student.

Pertaining to the medical attention program of the College, these two factors should be kept in mind. Regulations governing injuries to members of athletic teams pertain also to injuries received in the intramural sport program. Secondly, the College will not assume responsibility for injuries received by students in non-supervised sports.

ODDS 'N ENDS . . .

Friday afternoon the varsity cross-country team travels to Kingston for a dual meet with the Rams of Rhody. The newly organized varsity sport of cross-country has been given full recognition as an independent sport at the College by the Athletic Department and the Athletic Council. The climax of the current season will come on November 25 when the Friars will compete in the Eastern Catholic Conference Meet to be held on the Van Courtland Park course in New York.

Vin Cuddy has his hoopsters going in full swing. Soon the Friars will take their practice sessions at Mount Pleasant Gym where the home games are played. Coach Cuddy tries to get as much practice time on this court so that the players will be thoroughly familiar with its surroundings.

Dormuralites

Nov 10-18-50
By Phil Griffin

With the team captains having handed their rosters in to supervisor Joe Beatrice, it is expected that the popular dorm basketball league will be under way soon.

This league is a haven for all court stars whose style didn't quite fit the requirements of Vin Cuddy or Hal Martin. This is the chance for all frustrated greats to show their wares.

Anybody who enjoys the game can profit by playing in the dorm league. The strain of varsity competition isn't present and everyone is in there to have a good time.

The players on a team must have something in common. They must come from the same locality, be concentrating in the same subject or represent a certain section of the school.

A participant gets his share of basketball in a dorm league contest. The games consist of two twenty-minute halves which happens to be only eight minutes less than the professional play. A team that doesn't show up will forfeit the game, of course. The forfeit becomes official ten minutes after the contest was to start.

To put the rest of the rules in a nutshell: A team will consist of ten players; all players must take showers, and all players must wear sneakers.

Be on your toes. The fun starts soon.

Intramurals

Nov 10-18-50
By CHARLIE ENTWISTLE

After one week's postponement, due to inclement weather, the intramural football schedule will finally get underway. This week all the teams in the league will see action at least once. Games have been scheduled for every day of the week, so there should be plenty of action on Hendricken Field.

Other intramural programs for sports-minded students are underway or will be shortly, so there should be enough doing for all. A table tennis tournament, both doubles and singles, is underway at the present time. The top two players will receive their awards Dec. 15 at the completion of the tournament.

Volleyball starts this week, teams being composed of all class groups and the faculty.

No One Ever Taught Harry Coates To Lose

Coates to 18-50
Every athlete and coach seeks good records, for good records usually mean big opportunities for lucrative offers whether he seeks a job or scholarship. Harry Coates, whose track team record from Bloomfield High, New Jersey, in 1913 to Seton Hall Prep and College in 1945 would fill a pocket size sport encyclopedia, has apparently pulled off the converse of this statement.

Usually accustomed to find material and facilities awaiting him at the various institutions of his coaching career, Harry found a student body waiting to hear a pep talk and a field with fond football memories at Providence College. Appropriately enough, the Coates opening exhortation occurred on St. Patrick's day in 1948. Since then most of that multitude has been converted to the Coates enthusiasm and on those hollowed grounds where existed that gridiron spectre, there was erected an outdoor board track to aid in spreading his doctrine.

The situation at Providence College presented a huge challenge to the integrity and ability of Coates.

However, Harry is one of those men whose zeal for their profession is strong enough to carry them against any type of adversity and difficulties where their ability for greatness can be tested to the fullest. Bill Veeck and Branch Rickey, baseball magnates, were the same type in their field. Their achievements at Cleveland and Brooklyn, respectively, proved they had a touch of business genius.

Harry sprinkled his ingenuity over the past half century at such places as St. Benedict's Prep, Mercersburg Academy, New York University, Villanova, as well as Seton Hall. At all these schools, he had an American championship either with a relay team or complete squad. Like most coaches, with varied travels, Harry has a soft spot in his heart for a particular locale. This appears to be Seton Hall Prep and College, site of some of his greatest accomplishments.

Harry Coates is an old-timer as far as coaching is concerned, having run on and coached a Seton team back in 1903 and he still has the youthful spark for victory. This latter fact he intends to inculcate at the College and from the increasing amount of prospects flocking to the campus each year, it is felt that the time is not far off when the Friars will come up with a major triumph.

Hoopster Mentor Faces Infamous Soph Jinx

Coates to 18-50
The Yankees once had a rookie pitcher from Naugatuck, Conn., who helped the New Yorkers to win a pennant and a world series. Through this feat Frank Shea became known as the Naugatuck "Nugget." Until a better moniker can be discovered, we'll have to coin the same about basketball coach Vin Cuddy, who has become something of a 24-karat sparkler in his handling of the Friar cagers so far.

Cuddy although born in Waterbury came from Naugatuck by virtue of his school days at Naugatuck High where he was a three sport star. Like neighbor Shea, who did such a fine job in his first year of pro ball, Vin is credited as being a freshman gem through his yeoman coaching work with the '49 P. C. team which had a record of 146.

Cuddy now views this year's prospects with a conservative and confident attitude. New material has been added and the understanding between coach and team has been strengthened. All of which sets to prove that Vin has no doubts or fears about the mythical "sophomore jinx". A malady which is said to have upset Shea's playing career with the Yankees.

Another indication that Vin gives no heed to the so-called up-and-down seasons is the fact that he has been the winning type both as player and coach throughout his athletic career.

His four years as student and athlete at the University of Connecticut saw James "Vin" Cuddy become one of the few sportsmen in the UConn. history to earn nine varsity letters in three sports, football, basketball and baseball. He was also honored as being the outstanding athlete and citizen in the class of '43 by the Connecticut Varsity Club.

His coaching record, since he entered that profession with the 82nd Airborne service team in Europe during the 45-46 season continues his tale of success. The 82nd was the Berlin champion with a record of 15-1. The only defeat was administered on their return to the states at the hands of a West Point squad with such luminaries as Glen Davis and Hank Foldberg participating for the Army. After a stop-off at Columbia University for his master degree, Fort Trumbull was Cuddy's next assignment, a branch of the University of Connecticut. With a charge of a group of Freshmen and Sophomores, Vin turned in slates of 15-5 and 16-6 from 1947 to 1949.

Providence College has become his third base of operations and its hoped that Harkins Hall will be no mere whistle stop in Cuddy's coaching sojourn. Some of his first season accomplishments, in addition to the excellent squad record, consisted in victories over Boston College and Rhode Island State. The 59-57 success against State was the first over the Rams in an eight year period. He climaxed the year with an invitation to the National Catholic Invitation Tourney at Albany.

46 Freshmen At First P.C. Hoop Practice

The Providence College freshman basketball squad reported yesterday to Coach Hal Martin for its initial practice. Forty-six answered the call.

Martin is starting his third year at the helm of the Friar yearling team.

Martin has compiled an impressive record at the Dominican school, where his freshman teams have had an overall percentage of .520. His team of two years ago was the most successful in the history of the college, winning 15 and losing four.

The opening drill stressed conditioning and was pointed toward getting the players used to the P.C. gymnasium and Martin's style of coaching.

Friar Tebbetts . . .

THE old Friars had finished setting up plans to honor one of their number, George Robert Tebbetts, Providence College, class of '34. Since taking his degree in that June of 1934, Friar Tebbetts had been successful in a highly competitive business. He had done well in New Bedford, Mass.,

Jerry Prior

Springfield, Ill., Beaumont, Tex., Detroit, Mich., and his present location at Boston, Mass. So the old Friars had decided to throw him a party at the Sheraton-Biltmore on the night of Sept. 30.

It was unanimously agreed that the old Friars and their friends should be careful not to keep Friar Tebbetts out too late on the night of Sept. 30. As things were shaping up, it seemed possible that his Boston firm would be competing at that time with a New York outfit for a rich October contract. Yes, the Boston Red Sox wouldn't thank anyone who kept Birdie Tebbetts out too late on the night before the last game of the season with the New York Yankees.

So it would not be a late party, the old Friars agreed, but it would be a lively party when town and gown joined in honoring Birdie. He means a lot to baseball in New England in general and Providence in particular, does this Tebbetts, an old pro now but still as full of the old college try as when he was catching for Jack Flynn's teams at Providence College in the early 30's.

'Nice Going' . . .

No they wouldn't have any difficulty getting a crowd together in Providence to say "nice going" to Birdie Tebbetts, the committee members knew. And now that they had their plans all set for the testimonial, there was a bit of time left for the old Friars to sit around and swap memories about Birdie's days on Hendricken Field. And about other days there, for there was plenty to talk about in that line in a gathering that included such old Friars as Joe McGee, Charley Reynolds, Ed McLaughlin, Eddie Gumpston, Henry "Clinks" Dalton and Hal Martin.

"Just think of the material around Birdie's time," someone was saying. "Imagine two catchers like Ollie Roberge and Tebbetts on the same squad. Why, a lot of people thought at the time that Roberge might turn out to be better than Birdie."

"Yeah, Jack always seemed to be able to come up with a good catcher, starting with Johnny Halloran," said McGee, putting a plug in for the backstop of his own era, the guy who had caught Reynolds in the record 20-inning game with Brown.

"They seemed to be good every place in those days," Martin said. And there was a hungry note in his voice as the present Providence College coach thought back to the material that turned out on Hendricken Field in the old days.

Yes, the gathering agreed, that was so. And the thoughts of the group turned to pitchers like Eddie Wineapple and Lefty Collins, a first baseman like Joe Duffy, a third baseman of the late Heck Allen's stamp and the other stars that had performed for Jack Flynn.

Doubling in Brass . . .

"You know," someone said, "a guy who was a pretty fair college pitcher just left the room. Eddie Quinton, I mean. You remember he had that orchestra while he was in college. Well, he'd come out to the field with his eyes half closed from staying up to all hours playing the saxophone. And he'd go out on the mound and pitch a swell game. Seemed to save some of his best ones, too, for Aldrich Field when we were playing Brown."

"Hey, don't forget he was quite a hitter for a pitcher, too," big Joe McAndrew broke in. "I saw him hit one of the longest homers ever hit on Aldrich Field. Right over the lacrosse field, it went. I don't know whether it was longer, though, than the one Chief Marsella hit the time he beat Brown. That one was a dandy, too."

"But, say, about Lefty Collins. Joe McHenry tells me Collins now is coaching for Toronto. That is, he came there as a coach, but he has been filling in at first base and in the outfield. I didn't know Lefty was with Toronto, but I'm not surprised to hear it. Toronto's in the Phillies chain. Well, almost everytime I've seen Eddie Sawyer in the past he's told me what a swell guy Lefty Collins is. So now Lefty's with a Philly affiliate. I wouldn't be surprised someday to see Collins up there with Sawyer in Philadelphia. Then we'd have two of them in the big show, Collins and Birdie."

What He'd Like . . .

That, fittingly enough, brought the talk around to Tebbetts again as the gathering broke up. So they were talking about the skill and the hustle Birdie showed from the first time he stepped onto Hendricken Field as a kid from Nashua. And they were talking about the reputation he has made for himself in the big leagues, both as a competitor and a handler of pitchers. But it was a remark made earlier in the evening that really showed why this group of old Friars wanted to make this testimonial to Birdie Tebbetts something that would be remembered for a long time. The remark came when they were discussing a gift to be presented to Tebbetts at the dinner.

"Oh, sure," Charley Reynolds said, "we're going to follow custom and give Birdie a present, the best we can afford. But knowing the guy, you know what would please him most. Just a long piece of paper and on it the signatures of everyone in the gang that was there."

Rams to Oppose H.C. Five in Hub; Friars Listed

Boston, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The Holy Cross basketball team, New England champion of 1950, will appear in seven of nine doubleheaders which were listed for the 1950-51 season by the Boston Garden-Arena last night.

Among the teams scheduled to oppose the Crusaders are CCNY's national champions, Oklahoma, Loyola of Chicago and Bowling Green.

Rhode Island State, New England's other most popular college basketball team, will make two appearances. One will be against Holy Cross, an attraction that has resulted in a sellout or near sellout for the past few seasons.

The schedule:

Dec. 19, Wheaton College vs. St. Anselm; Oklahoma vs. Holy Cross; 21, St. Michael's (Vt.) vs. Tufts; Vanderbilt vs. Holy Cross.

Jan. 9, Bates vs. Hofstra; Manhattan vs. Boston College; 16, MIT vs. Trinity; Rhode Island State vs. Holy Cross.

Feb. 1, Boston College vs. Tufts; Loyola (Chicago) vs. Holy Cross; 6, Boston College vs. Springfield; CCNY vs. Holy Cross; 12, Boston College vs. St. Francis (Brooklyn); Bowling Green vs. Holy Cross; 27, Colby vs. St. Anselm; Holy Cross vs. Boston College.

Mar. 5, Providence College vs. University of Massachusetts; Rhode Island State vs. Boston College.

Friar Basketballers Will Play 22 Contests

PROVIDENCE—Coach Vin Cuddy of the Providence College basketballers greeted his 1950-51 candidates for the first time yesterday, and among those reporting was last year's entire varsity squad with the exception of Walt Lozoski, Art Weinstick and Tom Orr who have graduated.

The Friars will play 22 games, all in New England, and the only newcomers on the schedule are the University of Massachusetts and Bowdoin. The complete schedule follows: Dec. 2 at Assumption; 6, American International; 9, Fairfield; 16, Colby, Jan. 9, Boston College at Boston Arena; 11, at St. Anselm's; 13, Springfield; 15, at AIC; 18, RI State at RI Auditorium; 24, St. Anselm's; 26, Fairfield at Bridgeport; Feb. 9, at Colby; 14, at Brown; 17, Rensselaer Poly; 19, Upsala, 21, Bowdoin; 24, at Springfield; 28, at RI State; Mar. 3, at Holy Cross, 5, Massachusetts U. at Boston Garden; 7, Clark; 10, Brown at Marvel Gym. The Friars will play their home games at Mount Pleasant High.

A nice trick, if you can do it. And that reminded me of Joe McGee's description of the rivalry for material between football and basketball when he was coaching football at Providence College and the expansive Al "General" McClellan, now at Boston College, was the Friar basketball coach.

"The athletic budget was thin," McGee said, "and the idea in giving out athletic scholarships was to get men who could play in two sports. So the Gen would get out early and round up a bunch of tall, likely looking prospects and bring them in to Johnny Farrell, the graduate manager. He would describe what a good basketball player each one was and then Farrell would ask: 'And can he play football?'"

What a Question

"That would be the signal for the Gen to put on one of his best shows. 'Can he play football?' he would ask as if there was not need to bring up such a question. 'Why, you should see this boy on the football field.'

"And then we'd see them, in the fall. For the first few days, Gen's basketball players would be passing and catching passes like a bunch of Friedmans and Oosterbaans. They'd give you marvelous exhibitions, that is, until the first scrimmage. Then the little Class C guards would begin knocking the basketball players around. Of course, once in a while you did get a work-horse like big Leo Davin, who was a tough man in both sports, but most of the time the basketball players were strictly basketball players. So they'd have a rough time, getting bounced around, and the General would have some worried moments on the sidelines. But then you'd have to cut them from the squad and the General would breath a sigh of relief. His material was safe and he could start building another of those crack basketball teams of his."

P C Cagers In Initial Drill

The Providence College basketballers reported to Coach James "Vin" Cuddy Wednesday for the initial practice of the 1950-51 season. The Friars will open their season on December 2nd against Assumption College at Worcester.

Cuddy, who is starting his second year at the helm of the Friars, faces the task of getting his squad into playing shape as soon as possible, what with the opener only a few months away.

Conditioning was stressed in yesterday's opening drill, but Coach Cuddy plans to start heavy work in a few days with plenty of scrimmaging on the program for the new candidates.

The Friars have another tough schedule before them this year, with 22 games around the college circuit; twelve games being played in Providence and the remaining ten being scheduled for foreign ground.

The only newcomers on this year's schedule are the University of Massachusetts whom the Friars will meet at Boston Garden, and Bowdoin College which travels to Friartown for the first time.

Last year's entire varsity squad with the exception of Walt Lozowski, Art Weinstock and Tom Orr, graduates of the class of 1950, reported to Coach Cuddy.

Heading the squad which reported to Cuddy were Tri-captains Frank Pelligrino of Westerly, Ray Garcia and Sam Nissell. Others who reported were Charlie Shea of Pawcatuck, Jim Schimm, Ray Korbusieski, Ronald Gagnon, Francis McGurkin, Alex Becker, Jerry Lembo, Ed Mooney, Tom Bauer, Jim Power, Joe DeStefano, John Power and Bob Prendergast.

With the exception of the Rhode Island State and Brown games all the home contests will be played again at the Boys Gymnasium of Mount Pleasant High School. The Rhode Island State game will be played at the Rhode Island Auditorium and both Brown games at Marvel Gymnasium.

The only newcomers to the schedule are the University of Massachusetts whom the Friars meet in the opener of a double header at the Boston Garden and Bowdoin College which visits Providence for the first time.

Boston College and the Friars will tangle in the top half of the only double header to be played in the Boston Arena this year. Holy Cross, the New England representative in the N.C.A.A. last season, will be met in a single game at the Worcester Auditorium.

FROSH SCHEDULE ADDITION

It was announced yesterday that a new opponent has been added to the freshman cross-country schedule. The Naval Academy and Prep School of Newport will race against the Friar frosh on Thursday, November 9, at 3:00 p. m. on the Providence Course beginning on Hendricken Field.

P.C. Runners Race At H.C. Tomorrow

The Providence College cross-country team will make its second start of the season this afternoon when it travels to Worcester to duel Holy Cross' Crusaders. The race is scheduled for 3 o'clock.

A personal tussle between Dick Johnson of the Friars and the Crusaders' Dick Ahearn is expected. Ahearn is regarded as one of the finest runners in New England while Johnson finished first against R.I. State last week when the Friars bowed to the Rams, 23 to 37.

Five Teams Entered In First ECAC Run

According to a report released by the Eastern Catholic Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, five schools have filed their entries for the first running of the ECAC cross-country championship. The meet will be held Saturday, November 25, at Van Courtland Park, New York City, it was announced by the Rev. James A. Carey, director of athletics at Seton Hall University and chairman of the Board of Governors of the ECAC.

The five teams entered to date are Providence College, St. Francis of Brooklyn, Iona College, Seton Hall College, and Siena College.

The contingent from Providence College will include the newly formed varsity team and the highly successful freshmen squad. Siena College seems "to be in the same boat" as P. C. since the Indians are also competing for the first year in the sport of cross-country.

The 1950-1951 season marks the first year in which the Eastern Catholic Intercollegiate Athletic Conference will be functioning.

La Salle 13—Jr. Business 6

The defending champs, La Salle, got off on the right foot last week by downing a hard fighting opponent, Jr. Business. It was a close nip and tuck battle all the way with the ultimate victory being decided in the waning minutes of the last half. The first half ended in a 6-6 tie with Alexander and Dolan leading their respective teammates. The winning TD was scored by O'Dea with Sacrocra adding the extra point for good measure.

Jr. Arts I—Jr. Arts II

Getting off to a fast start in the first half, the Jr. Arts I later staved off a late rally by their class cousins to win 30-12. Showing an excellent passing attack and taking advantage of all the breaks, the victors piled up an 18-0 lead by half time. This later proved to be the ultimate margin of victory. Big John Sullivan had a field day in leading his mates to victory; in fact he personally took care of the opposition. Sully scored four TD's on passes and passed for the other one. Along with Sullivan some credit should be given to the passing of "Buzz" Conlan. Leading the opponents' sporadic attack was Tony Clancy and Jim Mannix who each scored once.

Sr. Discards 50—Soph Arts 6

Racking up the highest individual team score thus far, the Discards had an easy time in disposing of their opposition. With every member of the team taking part, the Discards scored at will. There seems to be no doubt now that they are going to be the team to beat.

It should also be remembered that these same players were members of the championship team of two years ago and right now seem to be destined to regain their title.

Guzman Hall 12—Sr. Science II 12

In one of the best played games of the week, these two teams played a 12-12 tie. Defense was a major factor in the game with both sides showing good promise. For Guzman, it was Hessian and Kelly who scored TD's, while Dooley and Marchette did the scoring for the Seniors.

This week shows a full schedule with most teams playing at least once.

Harriers Downed By State, Frosh Gain Revenge, 15-40

Carol

By John Salesses

Although Dick Johnson led the pack to the finish, the Providence College varsity was defeated by an improved Rhode Island State College team in a cross-country run at Kingston last Friday afternoon, 23-32.

The P. C. freshmen more than evened matters by solidly trouncing the Ramlets with a perfect score of 15 to 40. This was probably the first time in the known history of track at R. I. that a yearling squad was beaten, without placing one man in the first five finishers, by another college freshman team in cross-country.

The Friar contingent was led by members of last year's freshman team, namely: Johnson, Jim Gannon, Herb Waters. Johnson's winning time over the four mile course was 21 minutes and 9 seconds—a time good enough to give him a better than 20 yard lead at the finish.

The very fact that the Rams got in the "firstest with the mostest" in the name of Ray Lister, Rocco Negris, Al Ash and Larry McLay proved too much for the Friars.

P.C.'s fourth and fifth men were Bill Sherry and John McMullen who placed eighth and tenth respectively.

All is not dark and dismal however. It must be remembered that this is the first real intercollegiate competition for the Providence varsity, that the meet was run in foreign country and that this team shows a very decided improvement over last year's efforts.

It was an entirely different matter with the freshmen who made it three victories in a row as they crushed the State yearlings, 15 to 40.

Bill Newman, Omer Thibodeau, Chris Lohner, Bill Hennigan and Gerry Absi all placed first as they linked hands at the finish.

The Ramlet's leader, Micherony, must have been somewhat frustrated when only a week before, he had led his team to victory over the freshmen of Harvard and Holy Cross at Franklin Park, Boston, as he was the first individual across the finish line and now beaten on his home course by five men.

This team showed even greater possibilities in that it now has a fifth man in Absi and is coming up with another prospect in the person of Tom Farrell.

The 2¼ mile freshman race was won by the Friar five in the good time of 12 minutes and 45 seconds.

Next event for the yearlings will be with Pawtucket East High, October 30, at Hendricken Field.

Height And Ability Found In Frosh Team

By PHIL GRIFFIN

Last Tuesday, over fifty freshmen greeted Coach Hal Martin's call for basketball tryouts. The group contained plenty of height and ability. In fact, it contained enough of each to give Coach Martin pleasant dreams for some time to come.

Last year Providence was forced to field a freshman club that lacked depth. This year it will be a different story. Instead of two outstanding ball players, and little else, Martin will be able to call on an imposing array of capable performers.

Many of the boys were recognized in their respective scholastic circles as standouts. Ryder, Durkin, and Drury starred right here in Rhode Island. Reynolds and Aquarica are promising prospects from Connecticut, and Hank McQueeney is a welcome delegate from Waltham, Mass.

Martin is confronted with no height problem. He has enough of that commodity to challenge the Kentucky Wildcats. In Davis, Brogan, Morley and Donnelly, he has a quartet that averages about six-five. Any coach will give those four a long look. Don't forget, they're still growing.

There is little doubt in anyone's mind that this year's club will improve on its predecessor's mediocre "7-15" record. The team figures to play in the vicinity of twenty-seven games, several of them with old favorites. The list of opponents, when it is completed, will include such old acquaintances as Brown, Rhode Island State, R. I. C. E., Admiral Billard, and Holy Cross. Things should really be poppin' with that schedule.

It remains to be seen whether the frosh will produce or not. Many a promising club has failed to live up to expectations. Coaches have come to regard lavish pre-season praise as a "jinx" to their teams. Any team, good or bad, has to have the "breaks" come their way to compile a successful record. Only a prophet could predict the outcome of any season, and this task would give the best prophet fits.

Sherry And McMullen Carry Coates Tradition

By Gil Cipriano

When Harry Coates sent out his call for trackmen a few years ago, he found his echoes falling among a group of boys who either had no track experience or were without any intention of using and developing their previous highschool talents. Therein lies the paradox concerning the first years of track at Providence College. Coates actually produced a track team without trackmen. He was able to mold a squad mostly on the spirit and hard work of the few boys who gathered around him.

There may be no substitute for experience, but ability and a willingness to succeed achieved the same result for the Friar track squad in its infancy.

This year's captain, Bill Sherry, was one of the first to join the "maestro" back in '48. Now a senior, Bill will be one of the last of Harry Coates' first generation of trackmen to leave. The Hackettstown, New Jersey, lad was a football player of some note back home and had never ventured into the track realm until he put on a Friar uniform. He was quickly introduced to Harry's favorite distances, the quarter and half mile, being found most suitable for the latter. His progress as a middle distance man advanced in rapid fashion, to the extent of becoming the college's top 880 man last year when he had a couple of outstanding spring performances. After winning the Eastern Intercollegiate half mile at Springfield, Connecticut, in the good time of 1:57, Bill lost his trial heat in the New England Intercollegiate Championship at Bowdoin, but was clocked in an even faster time of 1:55. A couple of seconds off these times in the coming Indoor and Outdoor seasons will assure him of a post position in any meet and a few championships to go along with them. Known for his slow starting and fast finishing type of race, Bill is apparently headed the same way this year. Right now he is being bothered by a sprained side which he twisted during a weight lifting (hammer, discus) experience last week.

Most every track coach dreams of having at least one versatile lad on the squad—some hard-working kid with plenty of stamina who can swell the team's point total with place and show positions in five or six events. Third year man, John McMullen, would be the right man for that job, that is, if Providence College had the men around to fill John's big shoes on the two mile relay team. A graduate of St. Raphael's Academy, McMullen, like Sherry, also denies any ties with the spiked shoe sport prior to his entrance at P. C. It didn't take very long, however, to discover that McMullen and track were made for each other. The sober-faced youngster threw his wiry six foot frame into every field event during his freshman year and came through with several winning efforts.

At one time, during a duel meet with Brown Frosh, Mac had just finished winning the shot and hammer outside the stadium, then dashed to the high jumping pit on the football field and leaped 5' 7" without sufficient warm-up. As a sophomore, he was the best cross-country man on the team and ran the hurdles outdoors, in addition to his relay work. It has been unanimously agreed that he is the best and most consistent point getter on the team, but his first call belongs to the relayers where as lead-off man he is expected to send the P. C. baton carriers off to their most successful season.

Workouts Continue, One Eye On H. C.

Carol 10-25-50

For the past two weeks the Friars have been engaged in serious drill in preparation for their opening game on December 2 against Assumption College.

Following this initial contest there will be 17 more games and then a very big one. On March 3 the Black and White will engage the Crusaders of Holy Cross in Worcester. This will be the one to win. If the boys can take this game, and there is no reason why they can't, the college will have the greatest season in its history.

In past years the P. C. teams have suffered many defeats at the hands of the Crusaders. Some of the encounters were close, others were not even contests.

This year the story should be different. Coach Vin Cuddy will have a very good club. The boys on the squad for the most part are experienced in varsity competition, the spirit is excellent and they are most enthusiastic in their outlooks.

When they line up for the start of this game many factors will be in their favor. The boys will not feel as though they were going to battle an aggregation of gods, or even a team composed of superior beings. They will feel and know that the Crusaders are just five ordinary ball players who can be beaten.

The Cross will, as in past seasons, boast of potential All-Americans. It is possible that they will turn out one, but it is unlikely. But it will be well for us to remember that we will have a great ball player in Jim Schlimm. This boy will match anything the Cross can offer.

So on March 3 it should not come as too big a surprise if Coach Cuddy and the varsity should turn the tables and come home with a victory.

Providence Friars Start Hoop Drills

PROVIDENCE—The Providence college basketball team reported to Coach James "Vin" Cuddy yesterday for the initial practice of the 1950-51 season. The Friars will open their season on Dec. 2 against Assumption college at Worcester.

Cuddy, who is starting his second year at the helm of the Friars, faces the task of getting his squad into playing shape as soon as possible, what with the opener only a few months away.

Conditioning was stressed in yesterday's opening drill, but Coach Cuddy plans to start heavy work in a few days with plenty of scrimmaging on the program for new candidates.

The Friars have another tough schedule before them this year, with 22 games around the college circuit, 12 games being played in Providence and the remaining ten being scheduled for foreign ground.

Harriers Face Four Meet Schedule; Defeated By Holy Cross, Frosh Win

By JOHN SALESSES

Beginning tomorrow afternoon, the Providence College cross-country teams face the heaviest part of this season's schedule, for they meet Springfield, Worcester, Rhode Island State and Brown within one week.

Tomorrow afternoon will see Harry Coates' freshman and varsity teams in dual races with Springfield College's freshman and varsity x-country teams at Springfield.

Dick Johnson will renew a duel, begun last year in the freshman New England cross-country run, with William Hillion of the Gymnasts.

Other Springfield standouts in the season thus far, include Arthur Farnham, Hardie Pierce, Dick Miller, William Green and Ray Helsing.

The Friars will count on such men as Johnson, who last Tuesday outran everybody in a meet with Holy Cross, Jim Gannon, Bill Sherry, Herb Waters, Dick Tiernan and John McMullen to be their leaders.

The freshmen with Bill Newman, Chris Lohner, Bill Hennigan, Omer Thibodeau, Jerry Absi, Tom Farrell and Lou Tarsa should make it five straight with a victory over the Gymnast freshman team which was beaten by the R. I. State yearlings by a perfect score at Springfield over a month ago. However, a lot can happen to a team in a given period of time, and his team has shown a steady comeback since then.

Saturday, the varsity will journey to Worcester again for a meet with Worcester Polytec. The W. P. I. leader will probably be in the person of Richard Zeleney, former New Jersey school boy all-stater in cross-country and who as anchor man came from behind to beat the P. C. freshman

The following Monday the Friars will resume intra-state collegiate competition with Brown University at Hendricken Field.

P. C.'s Dick "Pop" Johnson and Walt Molineaux of Brown will resume a rivalry that started with last year's cross-country race that also took place at Hendricken Field and continued through the indoor and outdoor track seasons.

Those who were there a year ago will remember how Molineaux beat Johnson by about four yards in a very exciting race.

This year, which is the first year for these two men on their respective varsity squads, Johnson has not lost a race and Molineaux has lost but one and that to the much improved Ray Lister of Rhode Island State (who was beaten by Dick in this year's Friar-Ram meet) last Friday when the Brown varsity defeated State 27 to 28 at Brown.

Therefore, the rivalry between these two men should prove extremely interesting in itself.

As a varsity team, Brown is one of the best in New England.

However, the Friar varsity showed much improvement against Holy Cross last week although they lost, 25 to 31. Bill Sherry ran with a taped up side but despite the handicap, he turned in a good race and even improved his standing. Dick Tiernan also showed that he is improving.

As a matter of fact, the whole team moved up as the Friars copped six of the first ten places against the Crusaders.

Familiar environment and intra-city rivalry should go to make this meet outstanding.

As a final note, this will be the first and only time of the season in which the Friar varsity faces inter-collegiate competition at home. Time of Brown meet is 4 p. m.

Jr. Business 18—Sr. Science 0

After getting off to a slow start in the first half, the Jr. Business displayed a great deal of know-how in their passing attack and had an easy time in disposing of their opponents. Led by Norm Dube's passing the victors scored at will, with Toomey and Dolan each contributing their share.

Along with his passing, Dube's defensive play was outstanding. He continually knocked down enemy passes to maintain the shutout. Also deserving some mention for his fine line play was Tom Baker, who time after time nailed enemy backs before they could get started.

La Salle 31—Jr. Arts 6

The defending champs continued to lead the league when they had little trouble in disposing of the Jr. Arts. Alexander and Gleason were the offensive threats with Gleason tallying twice. Owen Haggarty also deserves a great deal of mention, as he set up many scoring opportunities by his interception of passes. For the losers, it was Ed Sullivan who tallied their lone TD on a pass from "Red" Banfield.

This past week saw the elimination of three teams from the league, so seven remain. The big game for this week is on Thursday, No. 2, when La Salle meets the Discards. This game could decide the ultimate champs.

Hendricken Field Stands In Silent Athletic Tribute

Dedicated And First Used On Armistice Day
1922

Coral 10-31-50

By GIL CIPRIANO

Just what makes an athletic field? What gives it a meaning or significance over and above the fact that it is a name given to a plot of earth surrounded by an iron fence containing football stands, a baseball backstop, a flagpole and a pile of lumber neatly packed beneath the stands.

Any Notre Dame grad or Army alumnus would, without fluttering an eyelash, talk about the glorious gridiron history of their respective stadiums at South Bend and West Point, emblazoned as they are with the names and feats of Gipp, Rockne, Four Horsemen, Sagle, Blaik, Blanchard, Davis, etc.

The answer, then, to our initial question would probably be found in the past, or what is commonly called tradition. Tradition bursting with color and spirit of great personnel, with oddities, with bits of dramatics, and with those funny twists of fate that have turned a hopeless cause into a surprising success or seeming victory into a heart-breaking defeat. Best response seems to come from those individuals who either as spectators or participants formed a part of that tradition as it unfolded on the field.

It has been precisely in this way, though modest as it may seem to some, that Hendricken Field has served the athletic history of Providence College for the past 28 years. In 11 days, Armistice Day exactly, we will close in on that 28th anniversary. There are no athletic events or ceremonies planned to celebrate that event, as was the case on that first Saturday when the field was officially dedicated to the late Bishop Thomas Hendricken, first leader of the Providence Diocese and followed by the Boston University-Providence College football game.

Mickey "Black Mike" Cochrane, baseball catching immortal, was the first of those premier players. Halfback Hike was a Terrier terror against P. C. that opening day when he led his mates to a 7-0 conquest.

The 1922 season was P. C.'s first varsity football year, but about this time, baseball also had come to be a regular part of the school's sports activities. Events have proved since that the latter sport has provided Hendricken with as large a share of color and personalities as has been seen on any college athletic field.

Names make news and personalities make stories. In this respect, Hendricken turf has been carpeted with a rich mixture of both. For instance, Joe McGee was a fairly big name as first captain of the Friar gridgers in 1922, but he became a key figure and personality 13 years later when, on the same field, he scored another first. In 1935, his second year as head coach, the same McGee sent one of the greatest groups of football players ever to represent P. C. out on the field to meet a highly touted R. I. State eleven, fresh from a sensational victory over Brown. The Friars defeated Frank Keaney's Rams,

Coral 10-31-50

BISHOP THOMAS HENDRICKEN

13-7, and took, as well, its one and only state collegiate football crown. One of the men instrumental in the home forces success was Hank Soar who scored all thirteen points for Providence College.

Incidentally, this State game which took place on November 16th, also marks the dedication of the new Hendricken Field following the construction of especially made steel stands and a scoreboard.

Names linked with dramatics also formed an integral part of the field's history when ever such fellows as Brown and Connors are mentioned.

Perhaps the most beloved figure ever to trod over Hendricken's ground was Malcolm Hollis Brown, player and trainer between 1927 and '39. His sudden illness and death in '39 from pneumonia, caused the P. C. gridgers of that season to repeat the famous "one for the Gipper" game of Knute Rockne at Notre Dame, about a dozen years before. Providence College made it two for Brown with inspired victories over a strong Niagara team and American International College. Maybe that incentive to win can also be attributed to the fact that the Friar coach of that year was Huge Devore. Hughie, a former captain and all-America end for the "Fighting Irish," had once played under Rockne and had transmitted much of the same spirit forstered by the "Rock" into the "Fighting Friars."

Named For Bishop Of Providence, Thomas
Hendricken

A similar occurrence had taken place in 1928 when death claimed the previous year's varsity captain, Chuck Connors, a 145 lb. center with a calling card of "dynamite." During the halves of the Manhattan College game a bronze placque was dedicated in Chuck's honor at the flagpole on Hendricken. P. C. followed this up with a surprise win over the Jaspers, climaxing their tribute in the ideal college spirit.

Football, in its short twenty year existence at the college, without a doubt had played an outstanding role adding stature and color to Hendricken. Many students today look forlornly at Hendricken with the dream that some day the gridiron corpe will be revived. But, Hendricken had never been completely suitable for varsity football play as can be seen by the fact that the major part of the team's schedule was played at Cranston Stadium or La Salle Field. Regardless of this, the men who dug their cleats in Hendricken performed with a brilliance and spirit that can be found in any major college tradition. All-time greats such as Charlie Join, Charlie Burdge, Bill Kutneski, Joe Wright, Mickey Forster, Charlie O'Keefe and Joe McGee, along with Gig Pariseau, Soar, Jack Triggs and scores of others spread over those two decades a lasting impression in the history of Hendricken regardless of whether football is resumed at the College.

The late Jack Flynn, baseball coach from the middle twenties to the middle thirties, deserves prime mention as an immortal of P. C. baseball in the breath that Rockne is known to Notre Dame football. Flynn brought P. C. to the rank of a national baseball power with Eastern Intercollegiate champions in '28, '31 and '32. Following him were in personality as well as the tradition he initiated Jack Egan and Arthur Quirk.

All the players who performed for these men though diverse in ability and quality were equal in the competitive and cooperate spirit so necessary on the diamond. Men such as Charlee Burdge, Charlie Reynolds, "Chief" Marsella, Lee Marion, "Lefty" Collins, "Birdie" Tebbits, "Slip" Bannini, Mike Keenan, Larry DePalma, Cy Killian, and Al Roberge, like their football brethren, form but a small part in P. C. baseball past.

A couple of notable events took place on Hendricken when the Friars played pre-season exhibition games with the Boston Red Sox. One year Jimmy Foxx, playing on the Bosox squad, walloped a couple of homers over the leftfield fence that carried more than 420 feet. Another time, after Shano Collins, manager of the Sox, had left the field early seeing his team holding a commanding lead over P. C., the Friars came up with a ninth inning rally to beat the Sox. Lee Marion on another occasion hit two homers and missed a third off Joe Mulligan, one of Boston's better pitchers.

One of the finest personalities in the spike shoe coaching profession, Harry Coates has been the central figure of the college's track success at the present. That pile of lumber under the stands knitted together on Hendricken has beome the site for greatness.

Proof can also be found that not merely athletics have contributed to glory of Hendricken, but the part played by the student body as well. In 1935, when the new field was dedicated, a group from the college known as the Friars Club bought the football scoreboard through money raised by selling programs. With spirit like that, sports on Hendricken will never be extinguished.

Varsity Scrimmage Frosh; Defense Stressed In Drills

By Charlie Sakany

Coach Vin Cuddy gave his Varsity their first taste of battle last night in a scrimmage with the Freshmen at Mt. Pleasant Gym. These practice drills should prove beneficial to both clubs. Coaches Cuddy and Martin will be able to detect any weaknesses or rough spots in their respective clubs, and smooth them out before the season starts.

Up to date Mr. Cuddy has been concentrating on form plays, with emphasis on the fast breaks and a fool proof defense. The club has been responding remarkably, and in the final analysis it will be a task to determine a starting five.

Every man has been giving his all, with the result that there have been more than a few standouts. Jim Schlimm has been performing in his usual fine style, while receiving a good deal of competition from sophomore Bob Prendegast.

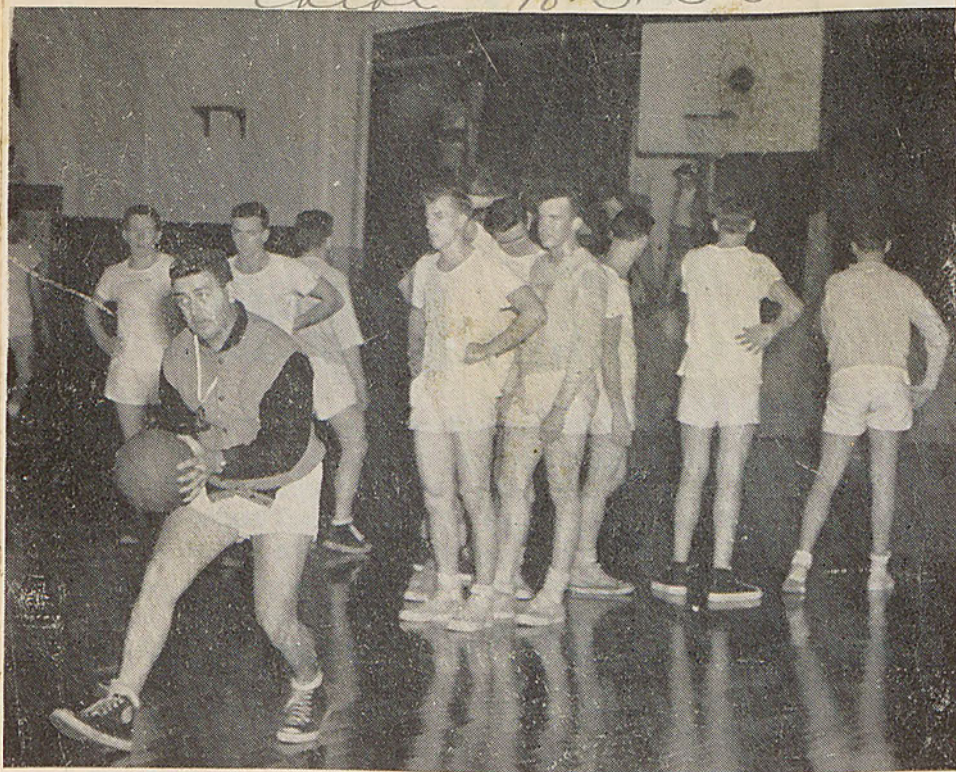

The fine rebounding of Frank Pellegriano has been remarkable. This senior has also developed a shot that will be hard, if not impossible to stop.

Sam Nissel and Ray Garcia look as good as ever and should be hard to hold down. "Beaver" Power also will be a tough man for the opposition. His versatility on the court is superlative, especially his dogged defensive work.

Then there is a big boy who can't be left out of the picture. He is the lanky Oscar Ponton who in a year has developed to a great degree. Oscar has mastered a number of shots and if he continues to improve the Club will have more than enough height.

BROWN HARRIERS MEET P.C. TODAY

The Providence College varsity and freshman cross-country squads will oppose Brown this afternoon starting at 4 o'clock over the Hendricken Field course.

The varsity race will renew a duel begun last year between sophomores Dick Johnson of P.C. and Walt Molineaux of Brown. Molineaux won last year's freshman race by about four yards and has lost only once this season, to Ray Lister of R.I. State. Johnson is undefeated in four meets this season, including the one with State, wherein he nosed out Lister.

Providence College Teams Trounce Brown Harriers

By PETE McCARTHY

With Dick "Pop" Johnson showing his heels all the way, as has been his custom in all of the Friars' dual meets this season, the Providence College cross-country team upset the Brown University harriers, 21-37, yesterday afternoon over the P.C. course.

Johnson covered the 4.3-mile course in 22 minutes, 55 seconds in leading the Bruins' ace, Walt Molineux, across the finish line by about 100 yards. The former La Salle Academy runner's triumph thus avenged the four-yard setback Molineux had pinned on him in their freshman duel a year ago.

The victory was the Friars' first over a Rhode Island collegiate opponent and the second overall since Coach Harry Coates organized the sport at P.C. three years ago. The meet closed out the Friars' dual season with two victories and three defeats.

Johnson sprinted into the lead at the start and opened up a lead of about 20 yards after one turn around Hendricken Field. Molineux began moving up from the middle of the pack and drew up 20 yards behind Johnson shortly before the mile mark. The P.C. runner, who has not lost a race this season, stretched his lead to 60 yards at the end of the first leg and to 100 going into the finale.

Molineux tried to move up on the last leg, but the easily running Johnson never altered his stride and maintained his comfortable margin to the finish.

Bill Sherry took third place and John McMullen fourth, but driving finishes by Jim Gannon and Herb Waters, who were sixth and seventh, respectively, actually clinched the victory for the Friars. Gannon and Waters turned in their best performances of the season and proved to be the "sleepers" that deprived the Bruins of vital points.

Brown was weakened somewhat by the absence of Harry Wood, one of the team's top runners, who was occupied by a laboratory class. Coach Ivan Fuqua declared that but he doubted it would have made much difference, in view of the way the first five P.C. runners came through.

The undefeated P.C. Freshman team launched the clean sweep by shutting out the Bear Cubs, 15-49, in the preliminary meet. Chris Lohner paced a landslide of the first six places with a winning time of 15 minutes, 47 seconds over the 2.9-mile course.

The summary:

P.C. (21)		BROWN (37)

Friars In NEIC4A Meet, First Win Over WPI

Carol 11-8-50

Cross country at Providence College will mark another milestone next Monday afternoon when Friar teams will compete in the 38th annual N.E.I.C. 4A varsity run and the 21st annual freshman race to be held at Franklin Park, Boston. This is the first time that P.C. will be represented in this outstanding sectional event.

The varsity team will probably consist of Dick Johnson, Bill Sherry, Jim Gannon, Herb Waters, John McMullen, Dick Tiernan, Frank Lussier and John Wetstine.

The Friars have been improving steadily as of late and came up with another first in a victory over Worcester Polytechnic Institute last Saturday at Worcester, 25 to 32.

On Monday afternoon they will meet the best in New England. Such men as Giordano (Univ. of Conn.), Molineaux (Brown), Lister (R. I. State), Dow (Maine), Fitzgerald (B. U.), Shea (Northeastern), Ahern (Holy Cross), Stephens (New Hampshire), Kelton (Williams), and Nicholson (M.I.T.) are probable entrants as they were the leaders in last year's meet and have been among the best hill and dalers this year.

The respective teams to which these men belong plus Springfield, Tufts and Massachusetts should be the leaders.

But the way the Friar varsity is improving, Providence College will probably find its own team coming in with the best in squads in New England.

Led by Pop Johnson, who has been great this year, Bill Sherry, who is doing exceptionally well despite an injury, and the steady improvement of Gannon, Waters, McMullen, Tiernan, Lussier and Wetstine, the team, as a whole, will do very well Monday.

At W. P. I. last Saturday, the varsity placed six men among the first ten finishers as Dick Johnson set a new record over the Worcester 3.7 mile course in winning his fourth straight meet. Johnson's winning time of 18 minutes and 19 seconds bettered the old mark of Richard Zeleny by five seconds.

Previously, the P.C. varsity was defeated by the Springfield Harriers at Springfield on All-Saints Day, 22 to 35, with Pop Johnson the first to finish.

The Providence College freshman team has racked up six victories in a row as six of its members tied for first in swamping the Springfield frosh, with its third perfect score of the season, 15 to 45.

Frosh Pace Varsity In Scrimmage

Carol
11-8-50 By Phil Griffin

Freshman basketball coach Hal Martin's dreams of late must be very pleasant indeed. Last Friday night his outstanding band of future Friars gave coach Vin Cuddy's Varsity squad a very hard time. The sharpshooting underclassmen matched their elders point for point throughout a lengthy scrimmage at the Mount Pleasant gym.

With big boys like Hank McQueeney and little boys like Joe Donofrio leading the attack, the Frosh matched every shot the Friars could throw in. Although the varsity showed more class on the court, the shooting of the yearlings was something to behold. This aggregation is going to be a tough outfit to cope with this season. They shoot like big leaguers.

The freshman basketball schedule is still a mystery. With everybody and his brother crying for a spot on the list, authorities have a tough job on their hands. But, with a little fancy juggling here and there, this task will be completed and the results will be published soon.

Absi, Tom Farrell and Lou Tarsa will probably represent the Black and White in the Freshman section of the New Englands.

The afore-mentioned team has been considered in various circles to be one of the best freshman teams in New England, if not, the best.

Since there is a desire among these men to win the New England's, they must realize that they will have to go all out to win. In order to do so, they must realize that they will have to go back for team members so that they might cross the finish line together.

The latter fact indicates a fine team spirit but such a thing cannot be carried on into a meet of this status.

The Friar yearlings must also be ready for John Kelly and the Boston University team. B. U. has done very well this year and their leader, Kelly, (last year's N. E. schoolboy champ), has done outstanding work this season.

Another threat is posed by the University of Massachusetts under the leadership of Aldrich.

Last year, Bob Black led the R. I. State team to the championships over Brown, Connecticut, B. U. and Tufts, as he covered the 4.2 miles in the time of 21 minutes and 28 seconds.

In the Freshman section of the meet, Walt Molineaux led Brown to victory with a time of 17:18 minutes over the 3.2 mile course.

Intramurals

By GIL CIPRIANO

Intramural football is now in its final two weeks, and for all intents and purposes, a new champion appears ready for coronation.

The Senior Discards, champions in '48, should notch their third title within their two remaining games. Unless an unforeseen upset occurs, and it will be a major catastrophe, neither Junior Business nor Senior Science have shown the punch and precision necessary to cope with the Discards.

The Discards amply displayed their power and smoothness in defeating what was expected to be their toughest foe, LaSalle, by the convincing score of 37-6. LaSalle, the defending champions, started off on the wrong foot and continued in the opposite direction until the final minute of play when Capt. Jerry Alexander tossed the only Maroon touchdown to Ed Poirier.

In the interim, the Discards ably led by Capt. Larry DePalma and Skip McGurkin, drove repeatedly at the Maroon goal as DePalma tossed four touchdowns with McGurkin scoring three. Joe Beatrice, Ray Garcia and Frank Pelligrino also joined the scoring parade.

The two games remaining for the Discards consist of Senior Science on next Tuesday at 1:30 and Junior Business on Thursday at 12:30.

In other games, Sophomore Arts will be faced with the heaviest part of its schedule in these remaining two weeks. Soph Arts, a newly formed club this year, is still looking for sophomores to bolster its squad for the games with Junior Business and Senior Science today and tomorrow, respectively, and with LaSalle next Thursday.

Capt. Frank DeLeo has a group of former high school athletes on the team from Rhode Island, New York and Massachusetts. Most of Arts' defeats, with the exception of the Discards, have been by very small margins, and they are figured to give any of the remaining clubs an interesting tussle.

LaSalle and Guzman will face off next Tuesday in a game that should determine the runner-up for the championship.

Not On Paper . . .

"ON PAPER," Harry Coates said, "we don't stand a chance. Of course, we don't run them on paper. We run them on sand and gravel, on weeds and grass, on macadam. Sometimes we run them on cement, the way it happened at Worcester after I had trained the squad on that nice grass in Roger Williams Park, thinking that's what the Holy Cross course would be like. But anyway today it'll be a near miracle if we win."

Jerry Prior

The Providence College track coach was talking about the varsity cross country meet with Brown, not the freshman meet. It was generally conceded the Friar first-year men would win their end of the double. They were undefeated and had specialized in perfect scores, shoving five men over the finish line before the opposition could get a place. With those freshmen coming up to the varsity next year, everyone was saying, Pop Johnson, the present varsity ace and still only a sophomore, would be getting some real help. A big year in cross-country for the Friars, it would be, in 1951.

"That Johnson," Coates said, as he talked about his little prize package, "some boy, isn't he? I think he'll make it five straight today, all right, but after him, what? I don't know. Maybe some of these other kids will give a little bit more today. I've tried to get them up for it. But then maybe I'm just butting my head against a stone wall. You can't get kids to give all that cross-country demands if they haven't the temperament for it.

"What Next, Coach?"

"Yes, like marathon running, you need the temperament. You heard of that marathon champ I coached, Frank Zuna. I'll give you an idea what his temperament was like. We go to a meet and he runs the two-mile and wins it. Then he says to me: 'What next, coach?' I tell him: 'Over the mountains.' That means a 20-mile road run. So he wins that and when he comes back what do you think he says? Just: 'What next, coach?' Gus Desch, the Notre Dame track and football star, was with us and he nearly fainted when he heard that. . . . Well, anyway, let's go and get this meet started."

He started it himself, lining up the Brown and P.C. freshmen in one corner of Hendricken Field and sending them off for a two-lap trek over the Friar course, one lap of which is roughly a mile and a third. First time he said: "Go," he followed it immediately with "Come back here!" One of his own runners had beaten the gun, or to be exact, the word. The second time they were away nicely.

The finish was just about as expected. Six of the lads in black jerseys with the white "Providence" on the chest came jogging in through the River Avenue gate and over the finish line before a Brown runner made it. The six Friar placers in order were Chris Lohner, Bill Newman, Bill Hennigan, Omer Thibodeau, Geraldo Absi and Tom Farrell. Lohner finished so fresh he was able to stand by and shout out advice as the others came in. The score, 15-49, and another perfect meet for the P.C. class of 1954.

Compact Little Man . . .

Now came the three-lap varsity race in which, as Coates had said, it would be a near miracle if the Friars won. On weeds, on grass, on gravel or macadam—and there's all of that on the Friar course—this is a good team Ivan Fuqua has built at Brown. It had lost only to Yale and had scored a one-point victory over Rhode Island State, the first for Brown over the Rams in 20 years. The Friars had won only one in four starts. So there wasn't much speculation about the outcome of the meet, but much about the individual battle between Johnson and Brown's ace, Walt Molineux. Would the lanky Molineux be able to break the winning string stretched out by the compact little Friar with the upper structure of a featherweight, the thighs and lower legs of a welterweight, the heart of a champion?

Well, Molineux couldn't make it and Johnson, for the fifth meet of the season, was the first man across the line. Johnson ran a pretty race. I know, because I followed him around the course. I hasten to add that the following was done by automobile, courtesy of Jake Powell, first captain of track at P.C. and now dividing his time between teaching at La Salle and assisting Coates with the Friar coaching.

Johnson ran well within himself all the way, never breaking stride, never seeming to change his pace, even when they told him Molineux was making a spurt from 80 yards back as they hit Eaton Street for the third time. The hill on River Avenue killed off the Brown runner's spurt, however, and Johnson won by the length of the old gridiron on Hendricken Field. He was sitting down and taking off the mittens he wears running when Molineux crossed the line.

"That Little Bit More" . . .

So Johnson had the day's individual honors, and now it remained to see how much of a margin Brown would have in the team tally. Then the upset began to happen. Third man in wasn't wearing a Brown jersey. Surprisingly, it was the Friars' Bill Sherry. Then came John McMullen, also a Friar. Fifth was Brown's Charley Standish. And then, wonder of wonders, Jim Gannon in the black of P.C. crossed the line. Gannon had seemed beat up and about ready to fold early in the third lap. Friar Herb Waters came next and that was it. Johnson had won as expected, but the rest of the team had given Coates that little bit more which made the near miracle happen. Providence College had beaten Brown, 21-37, in cross-country, an achievement equal to that which Vin Cuddy's basketball Friars pulled early last season when they upset Rhode Island State.

"Talk about the roof falling in," Fuqua said, as he shook his head.

He had been positive of winning. He had, in fact, left Harry Wood, one of his best runners, over at Brown to make up time on classes he had been missing. But Wood's presence, while it might have affected the score, wouldn't have changed the outcome, he said. It was the Friars' day.

It was Harry Coates' day, too. He has had many of them, of course, in his long years of coaching on the national scene, at Seton Hall and elsewhere. So the grey-haired, ruddy-complexioned gent, who can quote you Shakespeare and track records with equal facility, was able to take this one with an outward show of calm as he walked off with Fuqua to console him in his hour of upset. Yes, Coates has had many an hour of triumph, but he knows about defeat, too, particularly of late, while trying to get track established on a solid basis at P.C. And now, though he wasn't making much of a fuss about this victory, you knew that one of the most rewarding experiences in Harry Coates' long years in track came on Hendricken Field the day the "kids gave him a little bit more."

Dick Johnson Beats Brown's Molineaux

By John Salesses

Approximately 500 spectators were on hand at Hendricken Field last Monday afternoon to see the P.C. varsity dump the Brown varsity, 21 to 37, and the Providence yearlings flatten the Cub first year men, 15 to 49.

Richard "Pop" Johnson more than evened matters with Walt Molineaux as he set the pace for the entire 4.3 mile race and beat the Brown leader by nearly 70 yards. His exceptionally well run race was completed in the excellent time of 22 minutes and 55 seconds.

Yes, those people who stood in the stands and on the field on that cool, windy day saw another page written in the athletic history of Providence College. They saw their Providence varsity team score their first victory in their first try in a scheduled meet at home.

Such men as Bill Sherry, John McMullen, Jim Gannon, Herb Waters, Frank Lussier, Dick Tiernan, John Wetstine and Jean Gagne would not be and refused to be convinced that this Brown team, a team that had previously been beaten only by Yale, was as great as it was thought to be. And then they went out and proved just that.

And then there are those who believe that track is too much of an individual's sport; that its participants cannot have that school spirit as is had in other sports such as football, baseball, basketball, hockey and the like. But if they saw Johnson, Sherry, McMullen, Gannon, Waters, Lussier, Tiernan, Wetstine and Gagne run as they did with all they had and more, they would certainly have changed their minds.

The Freshmen too partook of the glory. Lohner, Newman, Hennigan, Thibodeau, Absi, Farrell, Tarsa and Coyle also showed great spirit. For the fourth time this year they ran up a perfect score, and in doing this they also made their best team showing of the year.

The major potential trouble that the Friar frosh could have, would be over-confidence. But the way they ran Monday, as if they were being pressed, they may on next Monday in the New Englands ———. Well, let us wait and see and hope.

Chris Lohner placed first as he covered the 2.9 mile course in 15 minutes and 47 seconds.

Coach Harry Coates has earned much praise as he has brought these two teams to the point where they are now to be seriously considered for New England x-country honors. His men have brought as outstanding an athletic accomplishment to Providence College as anything that has happened before or since World War II.

Yes, cross-country has truly arrived at P.C.

Friar Frosh Off To Victory

HOOPSTERS PREPPING Carol 11-8-50

There remains now a little less than one month before the Friar basketball takes off its wraps and opens the 1950-1951 season. Coach Vin Cuddy has had his charges practicing for about four weeks now, and with much actual scrimmage practice under their belts, the hoopsters are beginning to shape up as a unit.

The team has been recently cut down to the playing squad that will represent Providence College on the intercollegiate courts this season. Since the entire schedule is played in the confines of New England and the spacing of the games leaves nothing to be desired, Vin Cuddy has a dream team on his hands.

In the offensive department, Junior Jim Schlimm leads the parade. His hook shot is responding better than ever and his defense play has shown a very substantial improvement. One of the two sophomores on the squad, Jim Prendergast is also displaying that savvy around the bucket. Frank Pelligrino and Sam Nissel stand out as the forward attack is developing. Both have that all-important element of experience in college competition and this year should be their best, both from the offensive and defensive angle.

from the schedule, the Cuddymen now have 21 instead of 22 games to play.

DREW RECEIVES DEGREE . . .

Word was recently received that Larry Drew, intramural director, has completed the requirements for his master of arts degree in the physical education field. Larry has been attending Columbia University during the summer months and will receive his degree with the next graduating class.

In his undergraduate days at Providence College, Larry Drew was a top-notch basketball player being ranked with the all-time P.C. greats. He graduated with a PhB degree. After a stretch in the service of Uncle Sam, Larry was appointed varsity basketball coach and freshman baseball mentor. He was relieved of his basketball duties by present coach Vin Cuddy at the beginning of last year's basketball season.

Providence harriers upset Bruins, 21-37

By DAVE LUBRANO 11-17-50

The Brown University cross-country team suffered somewhat of a jolt yesterday afternoon at the hands of a spirited Providence College harrier squad as the Bruin team suffered a 21-37 loss. It was an upset all the way as the Bruins who are heavy favorites in the New England's next Monday, went into this meet also heavily favored.

The Brown team was operating without the services of Harry Wood who is consistently up in the first five places, but even his presence wouldn't have dented the P.C. margin to any great extent. Johnson of P.C. won the 43/10 mile race in the good time of 22 minutes and 55 seconds. Bruin sophomore Walt Molineux who has really been eating up the ground this year finished second for the Bruins, but lagged about 100 yards behind Johnson who has yet to finish other than first in a dual meet this season.

P.C. runners Sherry and McMullin finished third and fourth for the friars respectively while Bruin Miles Standish followed in fifth. The next two places were also copped by the home team, Providence College, by Gannon and Waters. Captain Roy Bailey and Ed DeMarris finished out the Brown score column by taking tenth and 12th. This loss puts the Bruin slate now at won five, lost two, the other defeat coming in the first meet of the season at the hands of a powerful Yale squad.

However, before the NEICAA meets on the Monday the Bruins will run in the Heptagonals at New York. So between the Heptagonals, the NEICAA and the IC4A's on the 20th the Bruin team will do plenty of running.
