Country

CROSS TO PLAY HERE

Purple Back on List After Four-Year Absence;
Brown on Again

A schedule of 26 games, one of the finest baseball cards ever arranged for a Providence College nine, was announced this morning by John E. Farrell, graduate manager of athletics at the Dominican college. This list includes sixteen home games, exclusive of the annual tilts with Brown to be played at Aldrich Field, and includes contests with the finest teams in the country.

Widening their schedule, the Dominicans will endeavor to add new laurels to their brilliant achievements in baseball in the past, when they entertain two international visitors from the Orient, playing the Osaka Mainichi nine of Osaka, Japan, here on Saturday, May 24, and Meiji University on Memorial Day. The latter game is still pending, but it is expected that arrangements will be concluded within the next month.

CROSS BACK ON SLATE

Home and home arrangements have been effected with St. John's of Brooklyn, Villanova, Boston College and Holy Cross. The series with Cross will mark the resumption of baseball relations between the two colleges after a four year lapse, and the first tilt will be staged at Worcester on April 26, with the return game here on June 11 as the feature of Alumni Day celebration.

The University of Iowa nine, making its first baseball invasion of the east, will provide the attraction on commencement day, June 13, taking over the date which was filled by Notre Dame last year. The westerners have a high rating in their conference and have one of the strongest teams in their history.

They will make an Easter jaunt into the southwest which will carry them into five states and will cover 3600 miles, and then, after the close of college late in May, they will trek into the East.

TWO BROWN GAMES

The annual Brown series will be staged on Aldrich Field as in the past, with the first game on May 11, and the second on the 18th. In the event of a deadlock in the series, as happened last spring, a playoff will be effected on a date to be decided after such a situation has Newcomers to the list include the Army, Mt. St. Mary's College of Emmitsburg, Maryland, St. Bonaventure, from western New York, the two Jap nines, and the University of Iowa. Inter-sectional tilts are also carded with Georgetown, Villanova and William and Mary College, the latter coming north from Virginia.

Ten lettermen are available from the squad which won the Eastern college title last spring, while seven players have been lost for various reasons. Graduation removed Leo Smith, Joe Whelan and Henry Danis, from the pitching staff, Charles Murphy from the catching assignment, Allen from his post at third, and McLaughlin, utility infielder last spring. Hebert, rangy outfielder, failed to return to college last fall, and has since joined Allentown in the Eastern loop.

DUFFY TO LEAD TEAM

Players who will answer the call of Coach Jack Flynn next month are: Capt. Joe Duffy at first, Main, second baseman, Cappalli, shortstop, Harraghy and Curran, catchers, Wineapple, McElroy, Bradley, Moran, Quirk and Forrest, pitchers, Gibbons, Fleurent and Krieger, outfielders.

The complete schedule is as follows: Games at home unless specified otherwise:

April 9, Northeastern University; 13, C. C. N. Y.; 17, Army at West Point; 18, Upsala at East Orange, N. J.; 19, St. John's at Brooklyn, N. Y.; 20, Villanova at Villanova, Pa.; 24, Norwich University; 26, Holy Cross at Worcester, Mass.; 27, Connecticut State.

May 1, University of New Hampshire at Durham, N. H.; 4, St. Mary's College; 7, St. Bonaventure's College; 9, William and Mary College; 11, Brown at Aldrich Field; 15, Villanova; 17, Middlebury; 18, Brown at Aldrich Field; 21, Boston College at Boston, Mass.; 24, Georgetown; 25, Osaka Mainichi of Osaka, Japan; 30, Meiji University of Tokio, Japan, (Pending.)

June 1, St. John's College; 5, Boston College; 8, Yale at New Haven, Conn.; 11, Holy Cross (Alumni Day); 13, University of Iowa (Commencement Day).

DOMINICANS HAVE WON 60 OF 88 GAMES UNDER FLYNN'S COACHING

Two Were Ties and the Other 26 Are Down in the Lost Column During Former Big Leaguer's Four-Year Term

Pat Sullivan

If ever an award is given for the most successful college baseball coach in the East, Jack Flynn, a lawyer in this city, is in line for recognition as the result of his remarkable work with the ball tossers at the Providence College.

With limited material Flynn has turned out consistently good baseball teams in the four years that he has held the reins and last spring, his fourth campaign on Smith Hill, he hoisted the White and Black colors to the top of the collegiate realm. This season he is faced with the task of rebuilding a goodly portion of his team, but it is a safe bet that he will turn out an aggregation of which Providence College and this city may well be proud.

Flynn's record of wins and losses for his four seasons at P. C. is almost unbelievable when one considers the material from which he has moulded his teams to play strenuous schedules with the largest and strongest nines in college circles. Since he accepted the post back in April of 1924, a position he has held since with the exception of the 1926 season when he turned to pro baseball to manage New Haven, Flynn has won 60 of 88 games played, lost 26 and tied 2. In the past two seasons he has produced teams that have been able to win 33 of the 46 contests staged.

The reason for the phenomenal showing of the Dominicans under Flynn is due to his remarkable knowledge of the diamond pastime. Probably no other college coach in the country has such a fund of diamond lore, and certainly few have experienced such a record in pro and amateur baseball as the Dominican coach.

Himself one of the greatest players ever developed in this State, he is well equipped to teach the national pastime. A graduate of Classical High where he played for four years, and then a star at Holy Cross where he won the reputation of being the best hitter ever to wear the Purple togs of the famed Worcester college, Flynn is an ideal type to handle college athletes.

Following his graduation from Georgetown Law School, Flynn broke into professional baseball as a player with the Toronto team of the International circuit. Next he went to St. Paul in the American Association, and then moved into major league company when he was bought by Pittsburgh. After three campaigns with the Pirates as a catcher and first baseman, he went to Washington for a season. Then followed terms of service with Indianapolis and Montreal.

In 1916 he broke into the managing end of the game when he took over the reins at Springfield in the then newly-formed Eastern League. From the City-of-Homes he travelled to Lawrence, New London, Waterbury, then back to Springfield for two years, to Worcester, and after two seasons with Providence College, broke back into the league as pilot of New Haven.

With such a varied career in baseball it is little wonder that Flynn has been able to accomplish such feats with the material that answers his call up on Hendricken Field. He has an uncanny ability to size up ball players. It is seldom he overlooks a promising youngster. His method of spring practice is unique, in that he opens the first outdoor drill with a regulation game, except that he changes the players every three innings. In this manner he is able to give every lad a chance to show his ability, which probably accounts for the great popularity which he holds with the student body.

In winning five-sevenths of all the games played under his regime, Flynn has developed a number of fine ball tossers who have boosted Providence College into the top place in the collegiate world. Back in 1924, his first season on the hill, Jack took one look at a slim right handed twirler striving to flash his hooks across the plate, and proceeded to make him the most talked-of hurler in college ranks. It was Charley Reynolds who was a bright star for three campaigns, and later joined the Providence Eastern League where he showed to advantage until a shoulder injury put him out of the game altogether.

The same year, Johnny Halloran, clever catcher, who was later to turn down bids from major league aggregations, was developed. Ray Doyle, Hope High School catcher, was converted into a second baseman, to be chosen the best in college ranks three years afterwards and to later star in the York State-Penn circuit. Ed Wholey, diminutive La Salle athlete, was trained to become one of the finest college outfielders in New England.

The second year saw another crop of ball tossers brought to the fore by the same guiding hand, this number including Heck Allen, who was picked as the outstanding third baseman in the East last spring; John Sullivan, a rangy youngster who hadn't even played ball in high school, but who made good under Flynn in his senior year at P. C.; Leo Smith, captain of the nine last spring, who is now with the Hartford team in the Eastern loop; Joe Whelan, Fall River lad who was developed into a first class twirler; Ed McLaughlin, flashy shortstop, who starred for three seasons at that post.

After a term with New Haven, during 1926, Flynn resumed his activities on Smith Hill in 1927, faced with the worst prospects of his career with the Dominicans. Nevertheless he combed the material carefully and brought forth such fine products as Hal Bradley, who hurled the Grays, Villanova and Yale, among others, to defeat; Joe Duffy, captain of the present nine, and one of the classiest of first basemen; "Nap" Fleurent, diminutive infielder from Ware High, who was converted into an outer gardener with such success that he has been picked as second best flyhawk for that field in the East for the past two seasons; Bernie Norton, bespectacled infielder from Valley Falls, and Joe Haarraghy, first baseman from Taunton, who was made over into a topnotch catcher.

Last year this master of diamond strategy brought the college baseball crown to this city for the first time and climaxed his fourth campaign with the finest record of any college in the East. He continued his "findings," bringing to light Eddie Wineapple, an outfielder, changed into a southpaw hurler, who was such a sensation; Tom McElroy, who had failed to make the grade at Fordham, but who blossomed into one of the best pitchers in the East under the coaching of Flynn; Harry Main, of Pawtucket High, and Frank Cappalli of Classical, keystone combination; Frank Hebert, colorful center-gardener, who is now with Allentown in the Eastern League, and Marty Gibbons, fleet flychaser from Clinton.

This spring Flynn faces an exceptionally difficult schedule with four vacancies in a lineup from the team which won the eastern title last year. Nevertheless, fans throughout the city, and in the Smith Hill district in particular, are confident that Providence College will again be at or near the top when the curtain rolls down in June.

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE BASEBALL TEAM AWAITS OUTDOOR DRILLS

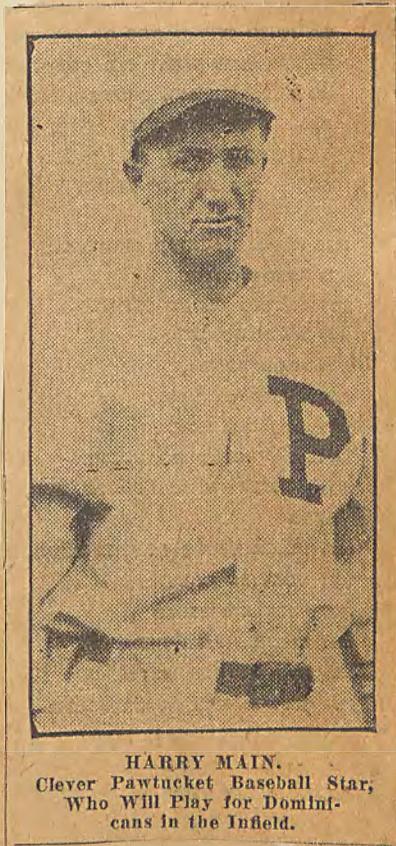

Harry Main Slated to Hold Infield Position

With a sizeable nucleus from the championship baseball team of last spring with which to build a powerful aggregation to wear the Providence College colors into action this coming campaign, Coach Jack Flynn is patiently awaiting a break in the weather to order to get his charges into the open. Last spring the Dominicans won 19 of their 22 games, and, with a brilliant diamond list carded for the coming months, will have to travel at a sensational clip to compile as fine a record.

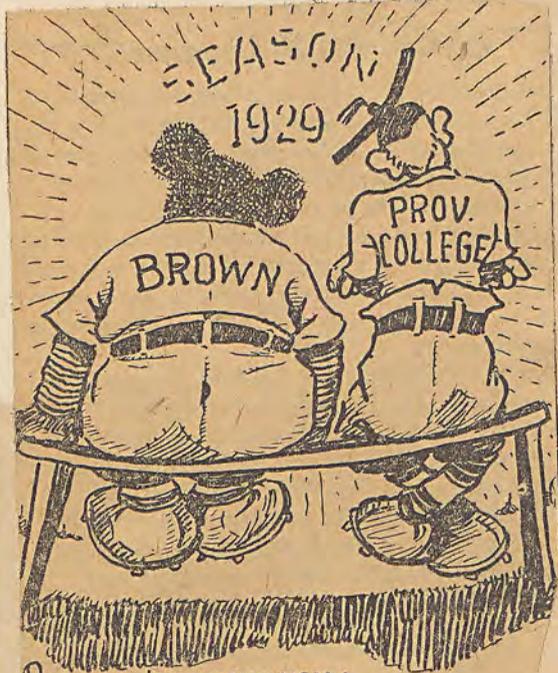

With three of his infielders ready for action, including Capt. Joe Duffy at first, and Harry Main, clever Pawtucket second sacker, the mentor will have only to solve the third base problem. Heck Allen, hot corner guardian for four years, finished his campaigning for the Smith Hillers last June, and just who will win the berth will furnish plenty of speculation until the pre-season drills get under way.

The possibility that one of the veteran infielders may be moved over to third base has been suggested and seems to be a logical move. Cappalli, shortstop last spring, handled the third base work while at Classical high and was highly rated for his performances for the Purple. Harry Main has also had a little experience at this post and is also a fine shortstop, and as a result may forfeit his second base job to work on the other side of the keystone sack.

In the outfield the mentor will have Harry Gibbons, football captain, and Nap Fleurent, clever all-round athlete, back to do battle for their positions in left and right fields, respectively. The centre post will be open to competition, as Frank Hebert, cleanup batter and fly chaser extraordinary, has signed with Al-lentown in the Eastern circuit.

THIRD BASE STILL FLYNN'S BIG WORRY

Dominican Coach to Make
First Cut in Squad of 70
This Week.

Although it is early to make predictions about the success of a baseball club, local fans, who have watched the Providence College ball tossers in action on Hendricken Field during the past week, are confident that the Dominicans are going to make the going rough for the majority of the Eastern colleges.

Coach Jack Flynn, who is starting his fifth campaign for the Black and White cause, is far from optimistic, as the loss of Hebert and Gibbons in the outfield, Murphy at catch, and Heck Allen at third is causing him plenty of worry as he scans the material aspiring for the vacancies. However, the pessimistic Flynn has an uncanny ability for developing his material, and the followers of the Smith Hill aggregation believe that he will fill the gaps in his machine so as to round out a formidable outfit.

With the opening game set for a week from Tuesday, when Northeastern University, which gave the locals two of their hardest tilts last spring, comes here for the curtain raiser, Flynn will have to make a cut in his large squad in the coming week. Over 70 candidates have been working out on Hendricken Field for the past week.

Believing that it would weaken his veteran infield trio of Captain Duffy, Main and Cappall, should he shift either of the latter performers over to third in an effort to fill that gap, the mentor stated yesterday that he would assign the hot corner vacancy to the best performer among the newcomers seeking the post.

Bob Dion, hard-working Nashua product, and Bill Kittredge of Attleboro, appear to have the edge on the rest of the field for filling Heck Allen's shoes, as both have shaped up well at bat and in the field. Flynn believes that he will be able to develop his choice for the task to become a dependable all-round performer.

Two Paterson products appear to be leading the quest for the pair of outfield vacancies, as Johnny Krieger, basketball star for the past two years, and sub flychaser with the baseball team last spring, is patrolling left field in fine fashion, while Lobdell, a youngster who towers six feet four inches in the air is making a strong bid for centrefield. Lobdell has featured every session with his sensational hitting, having an exceptionally keen eye and being equally adept at batting from the left or right side of the platter.

If the claim of baseball authorities that good pitching is 75 per cent. of a college team's success, then Flynn has little to worry about, for he has an array of potential mound talent that appears to be the equal of any in the East. Two southpaws, who have proved their ability are Wineapple and Forrest, while the staff of right-handed fingers includes McElroy, who enjoyed the best record of any of the hurlers last spring: Bradley, Moran, Quirk, all veterans; Buckely, Boston High of Commerce product; Gomes of East, Providence; Hoban of La Salle; Lally, outfielder from East Providence, who is now trying his luck as a twirler, and Borden, Sophomore candidate who pitched for Dean Academy two seasons ago.

FLYNN HAS LARGE SQUAD OF PITCHERS

Seven Veterans Make Up Staff.

Four Rated to Divide

'Varsity Honors.

Although Jack Flynn, veteran baseball coach of this city, who started guiding the diamond destinies at Providence College last week-end for the fifth season, is perplexed about the problem of rounding out a strong nine again this year, there is little doubt in his mind but that he has one of the finest pitching staffs in the East.

No less than seven veteran fingers are available for duty with the Dominican team this spring, and of this number four have drawn action against major college nines and have proved their ability to turn in splendid mound exhibitions. This quartet is comprised of Hal Bradley, Tom McElroy, Eddie Wineapple and Frankie Moran. The other twirlers on the squad are George Forrest, Artie Quirk and Norman Boule.

Of the entire group Bradley has probably flashed some of the best twirling that the Black and White teams have had, as his sterling work two years ago when he defeated Villanova on its home lot, downed the Providence Grays in an exhibition tilt, and conquered Yale ranks with the best ever seen by Smith Hill athletic followers. Last spring he had an off year, failing to show his fine form of the previous campaign, and as a result turned in but two wins, one being a 5 to 3 triumph over Springfield. Bradley is in better shape at present and as a result has high hopes of making a strong comeback.

McElroy, an Olneyville lad, who is one of the best known "grads" of Tim O'Neil's amateur leagues, broke in as a regular at Providence last spring, and when the curtain was hauled down in June he had lost but one game in seven starts. His outstanding feats were the triumphs over Fordham and Brown. A heady pitcher, and a versatile ball player, McElroy can be counted upon to play an important role in the Dominican's defence of their Eastern title this spring.

Wineapple, sensational southpaw who has just finished a spectacular campaign in basketball, should turn in several victories for the Black and White cause in the next three months. A year ago, under the tutelage of Flynn, the Salem husky enjoyed a brilliant season in his initial college campaign, registering wins over Georgetown, Yale and Notre Dame as his feature exhibitions.

Moran, fourth letterman on the 'Varsity hurling staff, is perhaps the most versatile ball player on the Dominicans' roster. This local product is equally adept at any position in the infield or outfield, and is credited with having played every position on the nine except catch. He has confined his efforts under Flynn to pitching, with the exception of one game at third base two years ago when Heck Allen was temporarily injured, and with two seasons behind him is due to blossom out into a capable mound artist.

Forrest, in his initial college start last spring, turned in an 18 to 3 victory over Bowdoin, allowing the Maine State aggregation three hits in the initial inning, and then holding them away from first base for the rest of the game. He was held as a relief hurler for the greater part of the season.

Artie Quirk appears to have plenty of deception and speed, and his lack of control has kept him from winning his spurs as a regular. However, his 13-inning clash with the Yale second team is proof that he is rapidly improving under the coaching of Flynn.

Boule, Junior 'Varsity hurler last year, pitched the second team to a victory over Assumption College of Worcester, and, with a season's experience back of him, expects to make the veteran fingers flash their best curves to keep him off the first team.

Dominican Pitching Hopes

Tom McElroy, left, and Hal Bradley, two twirling aces, upon whom Coach Jack Flynn is pinning his hopes for another successful season.

DOMINICAN SQUAD BOASTS MANY HIGH SCHOOL CAPTAINS

17 Members of Team, Which Opens Season Tuesday,
Boast Former Honors.

If being honored with the captaincy of a high school team marks an athlete as better than the average, then the Providence College baseball squad which opens its season this week can boast some mighty fine performers, as no less than 17 members of the first string squad were high and prep school leaders in baseball.

Almost the entire first team, at least all the veterans from last year who are sure to start against Northwestern University Tuesday, boast the record of having captained their high school nines. Captain Joe Duffy, leader of the locals, holds the unique honor of having captained the Durfee high nine in his Junior year there, and now holds the same honor at the Smith Hill college in his third year.

The keystone combination is composed of two all-Rhode Island scholastic stars, who piloted their respective teams in their Senior terms, as Harry Main, second baseman, held the post at Pawtucket high, while Frank Cappali, shortstop, was similarly honored in his Senior campaign with the Classical high aggregation. Both these youngsters start their second campaign under the Black and White colors this week.

Two Captains in Outfield

In the outfield, two ex-captains of high school outfits are ready for action, in "Nap" Fleurent, who led the Ware high team, which won the Western Massachusetts schoolboy title, and Johnny Krieger, clever Paterson athlete, who held the leadership of the Central high nine of that city.

Fleurent has been regular right fielder for Jack Flynn's team for the past two seasons and has been ranked as one of the best fly-chasers in Eastern college ranks. Krieger was picked on all New Jersey scholastic teams in basketball and baseball two years ago, and last spring served as utility outfielder with the Smith Hill outfit. He is expected to handle the centre field assignment this campaign.

The Paterson school also has contributed two other ex-captains to the Dominican cause in Bob Riccardo, third base candidate, who played with the Dominicans' second team last year, and Leo Lobdell, rangy slugger, who is making a strong bid for one of the outfield vacancies. Riccardo held the baseball captaincy at New York Military Academy before coming to the local college. Manley Zande, another promising outer gardener, was captain of Torrington high two years ago.

Three Pitchers Honored

Eddie Wineapple, Tom McElroy and George Forrest are the only members of the pitching staff who held baseball captaincies in high school. Wineapple led the Salem high team, McElroy piloted the La Salle nine of 1925 which won the State title, and Forrest held the leadership role at St. Joseph's high in Pittsfield for two years. On the other end of the battery, Joe Harraghy, veteran catcher, boasts the record of having been captain of St. Mary's high in Taunton in his Junior and Senior years there.

Among the newcomers striving for places on Jack Flynn's outfit, who were awarded baseball captaincies in their prep schools, are Bob Dion, product of Nashua High, and Bill Kittredge of Attleboro and Worcester Academy, both third base candidates; Joe Gomes of East Providence; Mickey Foster, twice elected captain of Pittsfield High nines; Emmett Shea, who holds the unique record of having piloted North High of Worcester for three successive seasons, and Jack McCormac of Webster High.

With such an array of baseball talent Jack Flynn has high hopes of developing a winning combination on Smith Hill in the coming months. Tuesday will be the first test for the reorganized nine, and if it comes through with a victory over the Northeastern team it should be ready for a banner season. Next Saturday the C. C. N. Y. aggregation, with two victories to its credit already, will invade this city to provide the final opposition for the Black and White ball tossers before they go on their annual road trip.

GIBBONS UNABLE TO PLAY ANY BALL

The expected month's absence from the Providence College baseball squad of Marty Gibbons, clever left fielder, now promises to be for the entire season, according to a report issued this morning by Dr. J. H. Brothers, team physician. According to the latter the versatile White and Black performer will hardly be able to make a recovery from the operation he underwent last week-end in time to get in any action with the ball tossers. As a result Marty will watch the games from the stands this spring, so as to be in top condition to lead the Varsity grid team, of which he is captain, into action next fall.

The Dominicans lost one of their feature baseball tilts, originally carded for the coming spring, as the result of the announcement last night by Graduate Manager John E. Farrell that the Osaka Mainichi baseball outfit, amateur champions of Japan, had cancelled its proposed trip to this country. The Japs were slated to appear on Hendricken Field on May 25.

The reason for the sudden cancellation of the journey to this country by the Osaka aggregation could not be learned, the only official statement being that issued by G. Fukumoto, secretary of the team, who arranged the Eastern trip through his New York office. The unexpected shift in the plans of the Osaka team lessens the Dominicans' schedule to 25 games, with one of that number pending.

Graduate Manager Farrell stated yesterday that he still has hopes of bringing the Meiji University nine into New England should they come to this country. The Meiji management is booking its games direct from Tokio and as a result the working out of details for their proposed trip is being done under a great handicap. The Tokio authorities favored an early June date with the locals, but the Dominican athletic head is endeavoring to bring them here for a Memorial Day attraction.

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE PITCHERS

KRIEGER MAY WIN OUTFIELD BERTH

Dominican Nine to Open Season Against Northeastern Here Next Tuesday.

Johnny Krieger, forward on last season's basketball team, probably will handle one of the outfield vacancies on the Providence College nine according to the present plans of Coach Jack Flynn. With the arrival of warmer weather the Dominicans have begun to hit their stride in their daily session on Hendricken Field, and a definite lineup is expected to be picked by Saturday for the opening game of the season next Tuesday.

Krieger served as a utility outfielder last spring. It was not until the Yale game, however, that Krieger flashed his best form, playing a star game in right field as well as collecting two hits.

Because of his experience and natural speed Krieger has been favored to clinch an outfield berth, either in centre or left field.

Lobdell is another promising outfielder, but his chances have been lessened by a weak arm. His hitting has been the best of any of the newcomers and it is this factor which has made Coach Flynn hope that he might fill the centre field role.

Vin Cummings of Cranston, who won his spurs as a regular in the 1926 campaign when Jack White was holding the reins on Smith Hill, may break into the lineup next Tuesday when Northeastern University invades Hendricken Field. Cummings also served as centre fielder under Flynn the following year, but last spring was forced to abandon the post when he developed eye trouble. If Cummings can return to his old form he will round out a fine outfield. His hitting has shown improvement in the past few days and if he continues his present pace he is likely to start in centre field.

Making Strong Bid

John Krieger, Who is One of Coach Flynn's Likely Prospects for the Dominican Nine.

Third base is developing into a pitched battle between Bill Kittredge, Bob Dion and Hammel. The latter performed for Norwich Free Academy a year ago and is one of the most aggressive newcomers Flynn has under his wing. Dion and Kittredge appear on a par and the task of picking the successor to Heck Allen will be difficult.

The remainder of the infield will be the same as last year. Capt. Joe Duffy appears ready for his best season while the star keystone combination from Rhode Island schoolboy circles, Harry Main of Pawtucket and Frank Cappalli of Classical, will hold forth at second and short respectively.

Although it is a certainty that Joe Hararghy will draw the backstop assignment for the opening tilt, no indication has been given as to who will be called upon to handle the pitching burden. With a formidable array of talent Flynn has little worry about the mound work.

Last year Northeastern dropped two tilts to the Black and White, losing here in the opening clash, 3-0, and at Boston, 2-0. As Tom McElroy, local product, hurled the Huskies to defeat in the second game of the series last spring, he probably will be favored with the fray here next Tuesday, while Wineapple will work the C. C. N. Y. game.

Time of game—3 o'clock.

Providence College will inaugurate its 1929 baseball campaign on Hendricken Field this afternoon, when Jack Flynn's outfit encounters the Northeastern University nine from Boston. Last season the invaders from the Hub gave the locals one of their hardest tilts of the season, and as they boast a veteran aggregation the Friars appear to be in for a busy opening day.

The selection of Lobdell, 6 foot, 4 inch ball tosser who formerly captained Central High of Paterson, to fill the centre field vacancy, and the shifting of Johnny Krieger, basketball star, and also a former Central High performer, to left field, solved Coach Flynn's outfield problems yesterday. Fleurent, veteran of two campaigns, will patrol right field.

Lobdell has turned in some exceptionally fine work afield and at bat, and in the fast drill yesterday definitely clinched the starting assignment for today. Krieger served as a sub last spring, and the experience gained from that campaign should make him at home when he takes his place in the lineup this afternoon.

Third base will go to either Bobby Dion or Bill Kittredge, with the former the logical man to draw the post for today. In the session yesterday Dion worked with the first team and featured with some sparkling plays, but following the drill the mentor stated that he would not decide until game time whether he would try the Nashua lad at the hot corner, or give the work to Kittredge.

With the remainder of the lineup stocked with veterans who are well equipped to meet the strong opposition to be encountered from the Huskies, the Smith Hillers will launch a strong defence for the Eastern title they won last spring. Capt. Joe Duffy will perform at first, Harry Main at second, Frank Cappalli at short and Joe Harraghy behind the plate.

Following a drill on the outfield diamond with the Varsity nine doing the fielding against the sluggers of the second team, the entire squad moved to the regular field yesterday for the first time this spring. On the latter diamond the regulars went through their paces at the plate, while a strong second team worked behind Varsity fingers. The performance of Frankie Moran, Hal Bradley, and George Forrest, all members of the twirling staff last spring, was exceptional. Moran appeared to be in the finest form since he donned a Black and White uniform two seasons ago, and his hooks completely baffled the first team sluggers.

Anticipating left hand hurling from the Huskies this afternoon, Coach Flynn gave George Forrest, Pittsfield Sophomore, a chance to climb the hillock, and the Berkshire lad opened fire with a fine assortment of curves. Hal Bradley made his initial mound appearance of the spring, having been troubled with a sore arm for more than a week, and continued the classy pitching work of Moran and Forrest.

Tom McElroy and Ed Wineapple, one of whom will be called to face the Bostonians this afternoon, confined their activities to hitting. Both are in top form and anxious to open the campaign with a win. McElroy defeated Northeastern at Boston a year ago, and as a result is favored to draw the assignment today.

Should Wineapple draw the mound assignment, the three highest basketball scorers of New England during the past season will demonstrate their versatility. Herb Tiffany, former New Bedford star, and third highest scorer, will be in left field for the Huskies, while Johnny Krieger, Friar's crack forward who was runner-up to Wineapple in the quest for points, will patrol the same district for the locals.

Johnny Krieger Safe at First

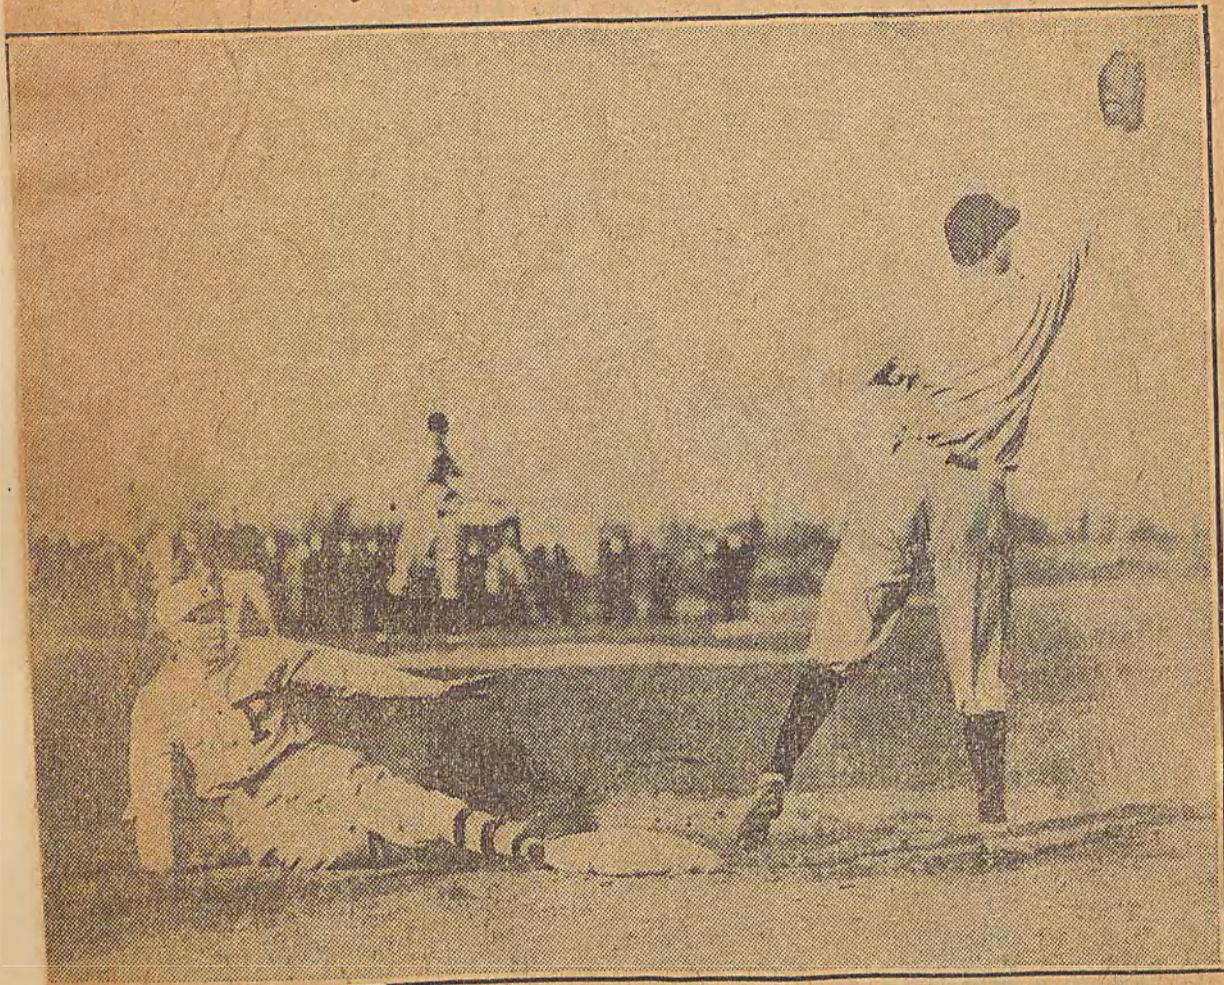

Photo shows Dominican outfielder reaching first base on a fielder's choice in the fifth inning of the Providence College-Northeastern game at Hendriksen Field, yesterday afternoon. Krieger hit to short, forcing out Tom McElroy at second, but slid safely into first before the visitors could turn in a double play.

Providence College nine launched its campaign in defence of the title it won last spring by overcoming a four-run handicap at Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon and eking out a 7 to 5 decision over Northeastern University team. The game was closely contested all the way, and proved a severe test for the revamped Dominican nine.

Four newcomers wore Black and White baseball outfits in competition for the first time as regulars, three of them making their initial collegiate appearance, while the fourth, Johnny Krieger, a sub last spring, clinched a left field post by his fine work. The newcomers, all of whom showed to advantage, were Lobdell in centre, McVarish in right, and Dion at third.

For the first time since he entered college two years ago "Nap" Fleurent, star right fielder from Ware, failed to take his place in the starting lineup, being on the injured list as the result of an ankle sprain received in the drill yesterday. The injury to Fleurent robbed Flynn of all veteran outfield material, as Gibbons, regular left fielder of last year, is also on the hospital list.

It remained for Dion, who filled Heck Allens boots at third base in fine fashion, to bring the victory to the Smith Hillers, when he smashed a pretty single into centre field in the eighth inning to score Main and break a 4 to 4 deadlock. In this canto Main singled with one away, and Cappalli walked. After McEroy had fled out, Dion came through with his timely blow to send Main home.

Although the fielding of the Dominicans in the early stages was somewhat ragged, they turned in some sparkling plays which would be a credit to a team travelling at mid-season pace. In the sixth, Lobdell made a sensational one-hand stop of a line drive off Somervilles bat which was headed for the open spaces and would have been good for a home run.

The fielding gem of the day, however, went to Cappalli, shortstop, who raced in back of the keystone sack in the seventh frame to make a one-hand stop of Symanczyk's bounder, recovering in time to peg to Main at second to force Richardson for the third out of the inning. Two clever double plays were also engineered by the Flynnmen, both coming in time to stop budding rallies by the Northeastern sluggers.

McElroy Pitches Well.

Tom McElroy turned in a fine exhibition on the rubber, and with better support would have held the Huskies to a lower count. Only two of the tallies hung up by the invaders were earned ones, as they managed to pile up four markers in the hectic fourth inning when they combined two scratch hits with two errors and some slow fielding.

Both outfits travelled at an even pace for the first three innings, with the Dominicans getting but a single blow off Somerville while McElroy held the invaders hitless. In the first of the fourth Tiffany dropped a riser into left field which Krieger failed to garner, and moved to second on Ranney's sacrifice. Cappalli tried to catch Tiffany at third after fielding Mahoney's grounder, but was too late. Richardson hit to Dion, who pegged to Main for a possible force-out at second, but once again the locals proved too slow in fielding, and the bases were filled.

Symanczyk lined a hopper at McElroy which bounded off the latter's shins and into open territory, allowing Tiffany to tally, and left the bases full. Cook drew a pass and forced in the second run. Goodwin hit to McElroy who threw to the plate for a forceout, but Harraghy's peg to first for a double killing hit the runner and the ball bounded into right field, allowing two more runs to trickle across the platter.

Krieger Starts Rally.

The Black and White ball tossers opened fire with full force in their half of the same canto when Krieger crashed a single into left, went to second on McVarish's sacrifice bunt, and scored when Capt. Joe Duffy pounded a double past third, Lobdell smashed a single into right, scoring Duffy, and a moment later stole second and continued to third when Carter failed to handle the throw at second. Main walked, but Cappalli's best was a riser to the third baseman.

In the fifth the locals knotted the count as the result of clever base running on the part of Krieger, who slid into first to prevent a double killing on his grounder, to short which forced McElroy at second. McVarish made his debut an auspicious one with a double into centre field, scoring Krieger, and Duffy came through with his third safe blow, a single to centre to send McVarish home.

Following Main's score in the eighth as the result of Dion's hit to centre, Coach Flynn caught the Huskies' infield napping when he called a double steal with Cappalli on second and Dion on first. Mahoney's peg to third was true, but Cook failed to sense the play, and the ball went into left field, allowing both runners to continue on their way around the paths for scores.

Two singles in the ninth netted one run as the final bid of the visitors for the decision.

SOUTHPAW FANS 14, ISSUES THREE HITS IN 4 TO 0 VICTORY

Dominicans Score Three Runs
in First Frame.—Visitors' Errors Costly.

The cold blasts which swept across Smith Hill yesterday failed to halt the second tilt of the season for Providence College which came through with a 4 to 0 triumph over the College of the City of New York. It was the second victory of the week for the Dominicans and was featured by the initial appearance of Eddie Wineapple, brilliant southpaw.

Wineapple displayed excellent form yesterday. His hooks and fast ball baffled the New Yorkers, with the result that no less than 14 batters were retired, struck out. Although he apparently had little chance to reach his best form because of the cold weather, the Salem husky surprised even his most ardent admirers by his sensational work.

The game was cut short in the eighth inning because of the unsatisfactory playing conditions, but the fans who braved the cold were treated to an unusually fine pitching duel between Wineapple and Tenzer, southpaw with the visitors. Both showed good control and a fine assortment of curves, with the result that but three hits were allotted to each nine.

The Friars were lucky to win the decision. It was only the poor handling of the ball by the invaders' third baseman, and two lapses on the part of Schwartz, Lavender backstop, which enabled them to do so. One hit, two walks, a passed ball, and a wild pitch in the opening inning proved sufficient to give the Dominicans a three-run lead which was safe in the hands of Wineapple.

Unless the locals are able to wield the stick more effectively and carry out their assignments better, the Black and White colors are certain to lower often before the current campaign draws to a close. Last spring the Flynnmen hammered C. C. N. Y. to shreds in New York, and as the visitors presented practically the same lineup on Hendricken Field yesterday, it is evident that the locals have a long way to go before they approach the ability of last year's team.

In the first inning, which paved the way for the victory, and which produced the only poor playing that Tenzer was guilty of during the fray, the Dominicans collected three runs on a single hit, aided by C. C. N. Y. miscues. Kittredge, playing third in place of Dion, fanned in his initial college appearance, but Tenzer found it hard to satisfy Krieger and Fleurent, walking both players.

When Tenzer tried to catch Krieger napping off second base he made a poor throw, the ball rolling into centre field while the Dominican runner advanced to third and Fleurent to second. Duffy rolled to third and McMahon spoiled his fine stop by heaving wildly to first, allowing Krieger to tally, and the other runners to advance a peg. Fleurent came home with the second run when Schwartz let one of Tenzer's slants get past him, and Duffy galloped in with the third counter on Harraghy's single to right field.

After this, the invaders settled down and turned in some fine baseball. A fast double play in the second inning nipped a budding rally, when De Phillips made a spectacular stop of Krieger's bid for a hit, tossed to Blum to force Kittredge at second, who completed the play with a fast peg to first for the other out.

Wineapple had matters all his own way and the only chance the visitors had to get in the scoring column was in the third inning, when Liftin reached third as the Dominican hurler tossed the ball into centre field trying to catch him napping off second, and Blum stole second after being walked. But the Friar's hurler proved equal to the task, bearing down on Musicant to retire him with three successive strikes.

Nap Fleurent, veteran right fielder, celebrated his return to the lineup by collecting two of the scores made by the locals. His second tally resulted from clever base running in the seventh. After receiving free transportation to first, Fleurent pilfered second and continued around to the home station when the throw to catch him went astray into the outfield.

N.Y.U. Nine Adds Three Victories In Week's Play

Fordham and Army Finally Get Started After Rain and Cold Delay Schedule

If it had not been for the thirteen games that took up the time of the leading nines of the Eastern section Saturday, there would have been very little to write on the second week of college baseball. The total number of games scheduled for the last week for prominent Eastern teams was thirty-three and twenty-six were contested, the thirteen of Saturday representing half of the twenty-six.

From a local viewpoint, N. Y. U. was the busiest, the Violet managing to play three contests between showers. Vermont was beaten, 7 to 4, on Tuesday; Villanova, 8 to 7, on Thursday, and Rutgers, 3 to 1, on Saturday. From an Eastern viewpoint, Harvard was the most active, but it can be taken into consideration that the Crimson made its trip South and escaped the weather the others had to face. Altogether Harvard played four games, winning all but one, losing to the Quantico Marines on Wednesday, 6 to 3.

Yale Suffers First Defeat

Saturday saw Fordham and Army start their seasons, the former defeating Villanova, 6 to 0, behind the good pitching of Cooney, and the latter losing to an experienced Penn nine, 4 to 1, with Peterson on the mound for the Philadelphians. It was also a momentous day for Yale as the New Haven collegians lost their first game of the year, Dartmouth presenting the defeat to the Blue, 5 to 2, behind some effective hurling by Hollstrom, who won his second straight of the week, having beaten Princeton, Monday, 5 to 1.

Two other local colleges played, Columbia engaging in a 1 to 1 tie with Harvard, and City College traveling to Providence to be defeated by one of the strongest of the New England group, Providence College. City College was shut-out, 4 to 0, by Eddie Wineapple, who allowed three hits and struck out fourteen Lavender batsmen. It was the second victory of the week for the Rhode Islanders, as they beat Northeastern, of Boston, on Tuesday, 7 to 5, with McElroy on the mound.

Holy Cross managed to get in one game, that with the Quantico Marines, Monday, who were shut out, 5 to 0, with Hebert facing the Marine ace, "Captain" Kid. It was the Crusaders' fourth straight victory of the season in as many starts and strengthens the contentions that Holy Cross has one of the best, if not the best, college teams in the East.

Harvard Plays Four Games

Harvard, mentioned before as the most active, defeated William and Mary on Monday, 14 to 5; University of Richmond on Tuesday, 8 to 2, and Catholic U. on Friday, 9 to 3, and lost to the Marines. Other colleges which managed to get in at least one game include St. John's, Penn. Penn State, Columbia, Lafayette, Temple, Cornell, Lehigh and Navy. Penn. Penn State, Temple and Lafayette won their solo efforts while the others lost.

To date there are four teams unbeaten, Holy Cross, which leads the list, Providence College, Lafayette and Fordham. All four are apt to remain that way for some time—for the season perhaps. Yale, N. Y. U. and Harvard rate next in importance as they have been beaten once while Penn has been defeated twice. Princeton has played the most games, nine, winning four and losing five. The work of Georgetown, the Tigers and Vermont, all strong last year, has been a bit disappointing.

Drewes Leads Pitchers

Drewes, of Penn, is the leading pitcher, with three victories. Those who have won two straight are Sawyer and Loud, of Yale; Nekola, Holy Cross; Uhska, Penn; Clyde, N. Y. U.; Layton, Princeton, and Hollstrom, Dartmouth. On the other hand it has been a tough season for Hensil, of Villanova, one of the best last year; Palmer and Ingersoll, of Princeton; Stokes, Penn State; Tenzer, C. C. N. Y., and Johnson, of Springfield. All were beaten in both games they started.

FRIARS TO ATTEND YANKS-A'S GAME

Dominicans Leave for New York
Trip Tomorrow.—Play Army
Nine Wednesday.

The Providence College baseball team will be the guest of the New York Yankees at the latter's Stadium in New York city next Sunday when the Friars have completed their four-game road trip into New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, according to an announcement made last night by Graduate Manager Farrell of the Smith Hill college.

The invitation to the Dominicans was extended by Mr. Barrow, secretary of the Yankees, and will enable them to see the world champions in action against Philadelphia. The trip to New York is the annual Eastern jaunt of the locals, which was postponed this year until this week in order that Coach Flynn might have time to develop a strong aggregation to tackle the formidable opposition listed.

Tomorrow night the Black and White squad will pack its uniforms and start for New York, heading up the Hudson to West Point on Wednesday to meet the Army nine. The locals have high hopes of avenging the football and basketball setbacks received at the hands of the Cadets during the past season, and will endeavor to hang up their third straight win of the current campaign.

The annual tilt with Upsala College, whose teams are coached by Walter Potter, Pawtucket native and former Middlebury star, is scheduled for Thursday, and will be played in East Orange, N. J., just outside of Newark. Last year, with Tom McElroy in the box, the locals collected a 9-to-3 victory over the Jerseyites, and so should be able to come through again this spring.

Friday St. John's College will be tackled at Dexter Park in Brooklyn. This game shapes up as one of the hardest of the trip, as there is a strong rivalry between the locals and the Brooklyn outfit. Last season St. John's lost but three games out of 17 and already are credited with a brace of wins, one of them a 14 to 3 triumph over C. C. N. Y., for the present season.

The final tilt of the trip will be the Villanova game, which will be played on the new diamond of the Pennsylvania college. It was at first planned to stage the game in Philadelphia, but recent developments have caused the shift back to Villanova, where the Dominicans came through with a 5 to 2 win two seasons ago when Hal Bradley was the ace of the Black and White staff.

The team will return to New York Saturday night and will spend the night there, attending the tilt at Yankee Stadium on Sunday. Following the return to this city three strong games will be played, Holy Cross at Worcester, and Connecticut State and Norwich here.

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE-WEST POINT TEAMS BALKED BY WET GROUNDS

West Point, N. Y., April 17.—To-day's scheduled game with the Army Cadets having been cancelled because of wet grounds, Jack Flynn and his Providence College ball tossers, 15 strong, departed for their next stop in East Orange, N. J., where they are booked with Upsala tomorrow.

To-day's cancellation allowed Flynn to revamp his pitching selections for the next few days. In all probability, it will be Frank Buckley, a Boston boy, who will get the assignment against Upsala tomorrow, with Tommy McElroy facing St. John's in Brooklyn on Friday and Eddie Wineapple saved for the important clash with Villanova on Saturday at Villanova.

Before leaving Providence yesterday, Coach Flynn delegated "Heck" Allen, his third base star for four years, now completing his course at the Dominican college, to take charge of the strong second team against Yale Junior Varsity at New Haven next Saturday. Artie Quirk, former Classical High luminary, will be on the mound for the Dominicans against the ETs. These teams went to a 3-3 deadlock in 13 innings last year.

Included in the party making the varsity trip here were: Coach Flynn, Capt. Joe Duffy, Harry Main, Frank Cappelli and Charley Dion, infielders; Nap Fleurent, Leo Lobdell and Johnny Krieger, outfielders; Joe Harragy and Frank Welch, catchers; Eddie Wineapple, Tommy McElroy, Hal Bradley, Frankie Moran and Frank Buckley, pitchers; Charley McVarish, utility.

C. Adds Upsala to Victory List

Friars Trim Upsala, 6 to 3; Buckley Allows Five Hits

Cappalli's Double in Eighth
Drives in Two Runs.—Meet
St. John's Today.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)
East Orange, N. J., April 18.—The Providence College nine opened its road trip successfully here this afternoon by registering a 6-3 victory over an aggressive Upsala College aggregation. The game marks the third victory of the season for the Dominicans, who were frustrated in their attempt to open their road campaign yesterday owing to wet grounds at West Point.

Frank Buckley, right hander from Boston made his initial college bow for the Friars, and his showing assures Coach Jack Flynn of another valuable twirler for his already strong mound staff. In spite of the cold weather, Buckley flashed excellent control, holding the Upsala team to five hits, of which all but one were of the scratch type.

The two-day layoff took its toll on the visitors as they failed to exhibit the brand of ball they are capable of, with the result that they had to stage a strong finish to stave off the Upsala rallies. Three errors were credited to the Dominicans which gave the locals their chances to score.

Cappalli's Double Turns Tide

Frank Cappalli, speedy shortstop, turned the tide to Providence in the eighth inning when he poled a long double into deep left field which sent Duffy and Harraghy across the platter with scores. At the time of this rally the Friars were barely holding their own with a one-run advantage, the score being 4 to 3.

After a scoreless first inning the visitors broke loose with their offence and it looked for a time as if they would have an easy afternoon of it.

In the second inning Duffy started the rally when he drew a free ticket to first and Lobdell worried Johnson, local hurler, when he hoisted a long two-bagger into right field. Harraghy grounded out, both runners advancing on the play.

Harry Main chipped in with a screeching single to right, scoring the first two runs. Cappalli's bid for a hit through second was nailed by Gullins, who forced Main at the keystone sack. Cappalli stole second a moment later and raced on to third when Sjostrom overthrew the base trying to catch him. Buckley rolled along the third base line and Dahlquist booted the ball, finally pegging high to first to allow the third run to come in. Dion skied to centre to end the rally.

Another run trickled across the plate in the third canto when Fleurent walked, stole second and travelled to the home station on Duffy's smash through the infield.

Game played:

APRIL 18, 1929

Upsala Scores Easily.

Upsala collected an easy score in the second when Dahlquist walked, went to second on a wild pitch, to third when Harraghy let Parsons' third strike get away, necessitating a play to first, and tallied when Sjostrom was being thrown out at first on his grounder to Dion.

In the seventh the game took a sudden turn in favor of the locals, although Buckley was working fine from the rubber. The trouble started when Dahlquist garnered his second hit of the day, a Texas leaguer, which dropped along the right field foul line. With one out, Hershops walked. Sjostrom fanned, and when Harraghy tried to catch the runner off second on the third strike he overthrew the bag, the runners moving along a stretch.

Johnson smashed out the one clean hit garnered off the delivery of the Friars' new hurler when he singled to centre to score both runners to narrow the visitors' lead to one run.

In the eighth Duffy drew another free pass to first. Harraghy hit to short, Nelson making his one bad play of the day when he pegged wild to first, allowing both Dominicans to advance a peg, and Cappalli came through with his timely blow to send both men across the plate.

Tomorrow the Rhode Islanders test their mettle against the strong St. John's nine in Brooklyn, and Coach Flynn plans to use either Wineapple or McElroy in an effort to chalk up the fourth triumph of the campaign.

Friars Come from Behind to Trip St. John's 11-7

Wineapple Weathers Early Attack of Brooklyn Nine.
Duffy Hits Hard.

(Special to The Providence Journal.)
Brooklyn, N. Y., April 19—The Providence College nine registered its fourth straight victory of the season here today by taking the measure of the strong St. John's College nine by an 11 to 7 count. The game was hard fought all the way and the Rhode Islanders had their hands full to come from behind to collect the decision.

Eddie Wineapple, southpaw, was on the mound for the Friars, and the versatile hurler weathered his worst exhibition since he started performing for the Dominicans. His control which enabled him to completely outclass C. C. N. Y. at Providence last week was absent, and he barely pulled through several of the early innings without being driven to the showers. Only one strikeout was credited to the Friars' twirler, while seven walks were issued to St. John's hitters.

Dominicans Hit Hard

Although Wineapple failed to come through with colors flying as high as had been expected, his teammates found their batting eyes at the expense of three local hurlers, battering out no less than 12 hits, three of which Joe Duffy, classy first baseman and captain, collected.

The fielding honors of the class went to Bobby Dion new third sacker with the Friars. The Nashua youngster turned in a sensational play in the first inning when he nabbed a line drive with the bases full and doubled Murther, local right fielder off third base. This play helped to break up the St. John's rally of this inning which netted two runs. Dion also came to the fore with a fielding tidbit in the eighth when he made a spectacular one-hand running stop of Cooper's bid for a hit through short, pegging to first in time to get the runner.

The Friars chalked up a run in the first inning when Dion was safe on a poor throw from short on his grounder to Hinchcliff, Krieger moving him to second from where Duffy brought him home. St. John's countered with a brace of tallies in the same canto when Lobdell misjudged Murtha's riser, the blow going for a double; Krist walked, Cooper filled the sacks when Wineapple booted his bunt, and after Dion's double killing which put a crimp in the attack, Lobdell dropped a line drive which allowed two runners to reach the home station.

A single by Didomenico, walks to Kinsbrunner and Krist, paved the way for two more tallies for the locals in the second inning, when Cooper came through with a screeching single to left to score the first two runners.

It was not until the third that fate turned to the Friars' aid, with Posnack, St. John's hurler going completely to pieces, and giving way to Lee who also had trouble in trying to locate the plate. In this canto Wineapple opened with a single, Dion and Krieger walked, filling the sacks; Fleurent singled, scoring one run, and Duffy poked a hit into right to bring in another counter and also to keep the cushions crowded.

Friars Continue Rally

Lee, a husky right hander, was fished to the rescue and proceeded to walk Lobdell to force in the tying run, and then gave Haraghy a free ticket to put the Friars ahead. Main bounded a hit off Lee's shins and the score for the visitors was boosted to six. Wineapple hoisted a long sacrifice fly to deep right to bring in Harraghy with the seventh Providence score.

Fleurent's walk, Duffy's double and Main's single netted two runs in the fourth, while a Krieger bunt, Cappalli's sacrifice and Lobdell's two-bagger to right centre accounted for the eighth inning marker. In the ninth Main and Cappalli beat out bunts along third, Wineapple walked, and Main tallied while Dion was being tossed out at first on his roller to the infield.

Two singles, an error, a walk and a sacrifice fly gave the locals a brace of tallies in the seventh, while a single, a walk and a sacrifice fly paved the way for their seventh and final marker.

TOMMY McELROY

Friars Take Fifth Game, Defeating Villanova 9-6

Tom McElroy Keeps Pennsylvanians in Hand.—Dion's Play Spectacular.

(Special to the Providence Journal)

Villanova, Pa., April 20.—With Tom McElroy pitching, the hard-hitting Providence College nine took its fifth straight triumph of the season by defeating Villanova here today, 9 to 6. The victory was a sweet one for the Friars, as it avenged the setback they received at the hands of the locals last spring at Providence when McElroy dropped a 10-inning decision.

After a hectic first inning in which the locals took advantage of some loose playing on the part of the Dominicans, the visitors settled down to their task of defending their Eastern college title and proceeded to batter the offerings of Hillen freely until he gave way in the seventh in favor of Hanzik.

Although several of the invaders stood out in bringing the victory to Rhode Island, it was a team triumph all the way, with every player turning in a good exhibition after a poor start in the opening stanza. The hitting honors went to Duffy, Dion, Krieger and Lobdell. All of whom collected two hits each.

Harraghy Helps McElroy.

Joe Harraghy, turning in his third game from behind the plate, pulled McElroy through some tight holes when the Olneyville lad faltered in the face of the slugging tactics of the locals. Although he issued eight walks, McElroy managed to hold the game well in hand in the final stages and after the seventh frame the issue was never in doubt.

Bobby Dion, star third baseman, continued his sensational work, collecting a double and a single, and flashing a steady game afield. It was Dion's single in the second inning which enabled the Flynnmen to come from behind to take the lead, as Main and McElroy tallied on the hit.

Villanova jumped into an early lead, scoring twice in the first canto. Flanagan, first batter, dropped a leaguer in centre and a moment later travelled to third when McElroy threw into centre field after fielding Curtin's bunt. Gillespie hoisted a sacrifice fly to left to score Flanagan. With two out, McAndrews lined to Dion, who failed to hold the ball, allowing Curtin to tally.

In the following frame the Friars opened up with their attack and climbed into the lead, never to be headed. Duffy walked, Lobdell fanned and Harraghy came through with a one-bagger to left. Main forced Harraghy at second when he rolled to short, but by fast running prevented a double killing. Cappalli smashed a single into centre, scoring Duffy and a moment later Hillen walked McElroy to fill the bases.

Dion Connects

Dion connected for a single along the right field foul line to send two runs across the platter to place the Rhode Islanders out in front. Morgan gathered in Krieger's long fly after a hard run to end the rally.

In the fourth the visitors boosted their total to six. Main strolled, Cappalli fled to centre, and McElroy singled sharply to centre, Morgan booting the ball to enable Main to race to third and the Dominican twirler to second. With the stage set for him again, Dion poked a double into right field. The third-sacker himself scored a few minutes later when Melanson pegged wild to third after fielding Fleurent's roller.

The Main-liners threatened in the third when McElroy walked three men, after two were out, but Cappalli saved the day with a one-hand pickup of a bouncer through the pitcher's box, making the throw to first in time to get the runner. In the fifth, with two out, McAndrews singled, Eschman tripled into deep centre, and Morgan brought in the second run of the canto with a one-base ply into left.

Providence increased its lead in the sixth when McElroy strolled, and scored on Krieger's double into left centre, while Fleurent continued the good work with a single to left to bring in Krieger. In the seventh Lobdell beat out a hit to short, was moved up by Krieger, and tallied on Cappalli's second hit, a bouncer through shortstop.

A home run by Melanson, slugging third baseman, who was the leading hitter in the Cape Cod League last summer, accounted for a Villanova run in the seventh, while a walk, a double and a sacrifice fly in the ninth added a run.

Jack Flynn's Providence College nine is continuing the pace set last season and to date the Dominicans have won five straight without a defeat. Northeastern, C. C. N. Y., Upsala, St. John's of Brooklyn and Villanova have been the victims in the order named. The Dominicans play at home twice this week, meeting Norwich University on Hendricken field next Wednesday and Connecticut State on Saturday, this following a jaunt to Worcester on Friday for the important clash with Holy Cross, which pays a return visit to the White and Black on June 11.

Jean Dubuc's Brown Bears will probably find themselves this week after encounters with Holy Cross and the Providence Grays, both of which were lost by sizeable scores. But the Brunonians did a little better in the batting line against the Grays than they did against Holy Cross, which comes here next Saturday for a return visit at Aldrich Field. Meanwhile the Bears clash with the Grays again and with Pennsylvania.

Rhode Island State got off on the right foot with Arnold College of New Haven yesterday, but the match was only a good workout for the three games this week, Maine coming to Kingston on Wednesday, with Clark following on Thursday and Northeastern on Saturday.

~~✕~~ * * * ~~✕~~

Last reports indicates that there is still an open date on the Brown football schedule. The gap is just at a point where a major game is not needed. What's the matter with Providence College to fill that date. The Dominicans are not yet turning to first flight elevens, but at that they would make a good game out of it, and would undoubtedly make up in spirit and fight what they might lack in gridiron strength. Which means that the game would be full of interest and would attract a bumper crowd for a minor game on the Brunonian schedule.

Incidentally the day is about at hand when Brown has got to find a way to even scores with the Smith Hill institution. In the beginning, the Brown baseball nine sort of took the Black and White in stride, but lately it has become increasingly difficult, and the Providence College account in the Brown ledger will soon be written in red ink, if that is not already true. Then again Providence mistreated Brown badly on the basketball court last season.

I don't know how that open date on the Brown schedule would jibe with the P. C. calendar, but it goes without saying that the Dominican management would bend every effort to inaugurate a series with their neighbors.

College Baseball Again Curtailed By Bad Weather

Fordham Has a Disastrous Week, Losing 2; Colum- bia Wins 1 Game Played

A review of the third week of college baseball, which has just poured by, would include the weatherman's daily report as well as a summary of what took place on eastern diamonds. Rain, cold weather, damp grounds, days too cold to play—everything, in fact, but thunder, lightning, earthquakes and hurricanes—served to force many teams to cancel contests that were listed as major engagements.

However, of the games that were played there were enough to attract more than a passing interest. Locally, it proved a bad week for Fordham and an idle one for New York University and Manhattan. It was not any great success for St. John's of Brooklyn either for it lost a forfeit score to Seton Hall and was beaten by the undefeated Providence College nine.

Fordham lost two games in successive days—to Boston College Friday, 5 to 4, and Yale, Saturday, 5 to 2. Probably there is nothing that Boston College enjoys more than a victory over Holy Cross than another victory over Fordham, so the pleasure is all theirs. This double jolt removed the Maroon from the list of unbeaten teams and placed it well down the list.

Columbia Won Only Game

Columbia managed to play one game, that against Seton Hall on Thursday. It resulted very satisfactorily from a Columbia viewpoint, as the Lions won, 8 to 0, though not without some effort as they had to make the best of two hits and four costly errors by the Jersey collegians.

The best results have been obtained so far in considering the Eastern nines without regard to section, by Holy Cross. During the week the Crusaders crusaded but once, defeating Brown, 11 to 0, on Friday. It was Holy Cross's third shut-out victory of the season as W. and M. and the Quantico Marines had been beaten in the same manner previously, the former by 8—0 and the latter by 5—0. The victory over Brown was due to some fine pitching by Bots Nekola. The former Greater New York schoolboy has won three games to date.

Another New England team is doing well, keeping pace with Holy Cross. Providence College has five victories to its credit, three over rivals in the Metropolitan area if you want to widen the scope and include Upsala, of Jersey. The two other local teams are City College and St. John's while Northeastern, of Boston, and Villanova complete the list. Upsala was beaten on Thursday, 6 to 3, and Villanova Saturday, 9 to 6. Wineapple and McElroy have won two games each and Buckley the fifth.

New York HERALD-TRIBUNE

With the exception of Drewes, of Penn; Clyde, of N. Y. U., and Johnson, of Navy, only New England pitchers have won two or more games without being defeated. The New England hurlers include Nekola, of Holy Cross, and Loud, of Yale, with three straight; Wineapple and McElroy, of Providence; Hollstrom, Dartmouth; Sawyer, of Yale, and O'Connor, of Boston College, all with two each.

Nekola, Burke, Fan Most

The strike-out performances of the past seven days that are noteworthy include those of Burke, of Columbia, and Nekola, of Holy Cross. Burke against Seton Hall, fanned ten, and Nekola, facing Brown, struck out fourteen. The record mark among the Eastern colleges is held, however, by Dovens, of Holy Cross, who fanned sixteen William and Mary batters on April 4.

FRANK CAPPELLI, SHORTSTOP

Friars Smash Out 16 Hits To Trounce Norwich 14-1

Cappalli Bats in Six Runs with Homer and Double.—Krieger Also Cleans Bases.

Hammering the offerings of Tansey, Norwich University hurler, to all corners of the lot, and giving Frankie Moran and Joe Gomes fine support in the field, the undefeated Providence College nine scored its sixth straight victory of the season on Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon, the final score being 14 to 1.

The Friars gave an exhibition of hitting yesterday which bodes ill for the Holy Cross twirlers who expect to stop them at Worcester tomorrow in the clash which will go a long way towards deciding the mythical Eastern title. Sixteen hits were smashed to all corners of the Smith Hill diamond, with Frank Cappalli, diminutive shortstop, and Johnny Krieger, left fielder, taking the top honors.

Cappalli had a big afternoon, driving a home run into deep left in the seventh to score Joe Harraghy ahead of him, a double into centre field in the eighth to send three more runs across the platter, and a single in the sixth which paved the way for another rally.

Krieger contributed the first extra base knock when he pounded a home run into left centre in the second inning with the bases crowded. This blow completely wrecked whatever hopes the Vermonters had of taking the measure of the Friars, as it gave the Flynnmen a five run lead which was never threatened.

Moran and Gomes Invincible.

Frankie Moran started on the mound for the Dominicans and was master of the situation throughout. He gave one of the best hurling exhibitions of his career, holding the visitors to three hits, none of which aided in the lone run made by the Green Mountain cadets. In addition Moran sent no less than seven back to the bench on strikes. Joe Gomes, colored youngster from East Providence, was given a chance to make his collegiate bow in the eighth, and his two-inning performance was exceptional, as but seven men faced him, of whom four were retired via the strikeout route.

With the issue settled beyond any shadow of doubt Coach Flynn gave his reserves a chance to show their wares. In the eighth Gomes relieved Moran, and Welch took over the backstop work, giving Harraghy his first rest since the start of the season. Kittredge and Skocylas worked at second and short respectively in the ninth inning, and McVarish relieved Krieger in left field.

Dion, new third baseman, continued his sensational work in the field, turning in the best plays of the fray. His pickups of line drives in the first, sixth and seventh frames stamped him as a capable successor to Heck Allen, who handled the hot corner for four years for the Smith Hillers.

played: APRIL 24, 1929

Krieger Clears Bases

Providence started its attack on Tansey in the second inning. Lobdell beat out a roller past the pitcher's box and Harraghy walked. Main forced Lobdell at third on his grass-cutter to Tansey and Cappalli fled out. Moran kept the rally alive by poking a single into centre which scored Harraghy. On the throw in Main went to third and the Friars' twirler to second. Dion walked to fill the bases.

With the count three and one, Krieger caught one of Tansey's fast slants and lined it between left and centre field, the ball rolling to the fence as the Patterson star raced around the bases for the first home run of the year.

Norwich garnered a lone tally in the third without a single hit. Kane was safe on Cappalli's error of his grounder, and moved along to second on an infield out, and travelled to third when Main booted Coane's hard bouncer. Wainig hoisted a high fly into left which the wind carried into foul territory, but Krieger made a brilliant running catch, Kane scoring before the ball could be returned to the infield.

In the sixth Main walked and Cappalli followed with a single to centre to send Main to third. Moran collected his second hit, lining a drive through short which allowed Main to tally and Cappalli to reach third, while the Friars' hurler took advantage of a slow throw-in to gallop down to second. Dion and Krieger skied out and the rally was apparently ended when Fleurent poled a triple over the left fielder's head to score both runners.

Friars Finish Strongly

Following the spurt in the seventh, which was featured by Cappalli's circuit smash after Harraghy had dumped a single into right, the Friars uncorked a strong finish in the eighth to boost their string to 14 runs. Fleurent singled, and Duffy followed suit with a screeching line drive into centre. Lobdell hit to the box and Whitesides booted the play at third when he dropped Tansey's throw.

Main rolled past the mound and Tansey made a fine stop, but was unable to make a play at first. With the sacks still populated Cappalli continued his hard hitting with a two-bagger into centre which sent the final three runs across the platter.

PROVIDENCE NINE LICKS ASSUMPTION

Junior Varsity Conquers Tunney Team 10 to 3 In Opening Game

Jim Tunney, former Holy Cross baseball star, made his coaching debut yesterday when his Assumption College nine faced the Providence College Junior Varsity team at Assumption field and although his charges showed a wealth of fine coaching they were forced to take a 10 to 3 setback at the hands of the Dominicans.

Providence put the game on ice as early as the second inning when they broke a 3 to 3 deadlock to score four runs while Hoban and Zandee successfully checked the batting attacks of the visiting team. Each team scored three runs in the opening inning.

Adverse weather conditions which extended over a period of two weeks, handicapped the Assumption College team greatly. They entered the game, however, with a great exhibition of pep and batted the ball freely in the first inning but were unable to do but little hitting thereafter.

Goyette started on the mound for Assumption and remained for seven innings. He was touched often in the first two sessions but would have turned in a better performance had he received better support from his mates. Hoban, after getting off to a bad start, hurled brilliantly and at the same time received wonderful help in the field.

CRACK COLLEGE NINES IN IMPORTANT BATTLE

Frank Nekola and Eddie Wineapple Scheduled to Clash in Southpaw Hurling Duel—
Visitors Have Fine Record

By LEROY J. MUMPTON

Unless the Weather Man continues disagreeable, two of the finest college baseball teams in the East will clash here this afternoon when the unbeaten and highly-touted Providence college nine treks out on Fitton field to oppose the Holy Cross Crusaders in an important early-season contest which promises to go a long ways towards deciding where the championship bunting will fly at the end of the current collegiate campaign in June.

The visiting Dominicans are present leaders in the race for titular honors. They have compiled an unblemished record of six decisive victories and they come here highly confident of sustaining their winning streak. They will find a thoroughly aroused Holy Cross team waiting for them, however. For the Crusaders, disillusioned but far from disheartened by their stunning setback at Princeton, Wednesday, see in today's game a glorious opportunity to regain their lost prestige and once again establish themselves as the class of the eastern college nines.

Pitching Duel Likely

The game promises to develop into a stubborn pitching duel between Frank Nekola of Holy Cross and Eddie Wineapple of Providence—two of the outstanding southpaw hurlers in college ranks this season. Nekola's left-handed mound mastery has led the Purple to three of its four wins over college opposition this spring. The talented New York boy has had almost a full week's rest since he blanked Brown here on Patriot's Day and is fit and ready to test his puzzling curves against the heavy-hitting Providence bats.

Wineapple, the 200-pound six-footer who twice led his Providence College basketball mates to victories over the Crusader quintet this past winter, is an equally great pitcher. His mound work has been so convincing that already five major league teams are waiting to offer him contracts when he completes his college career. He has turned in two of Providence's six wins this year and hopes to gather his third triumph against the Purple.

Wineapple and Tom McElroy, another great college finger, were the two big factors which enabled Providence to capture 19 victories in 22 games last year and finish the season in runner-up position to the Crusaders for championship honors. They hope to carry the Dominicans ahead of the Purple this year and Wineapple faces a big opportunity to do that today.

Flynn, Former H. C. Star

Jack Flynn, a former team-mate of Coach Jack Barry at Holy Cross and considered one of the greatest hitters ever developed on Mount St. James, is one of the chief reasons for Providence's great success on the diamond. Flynn, who played with Pittsburg and Washington, both as first baseman and catcher, and later managed Eastern league clubs for more than 10 years, has met with great success since he became head baseball coach at Providence. Dominican nines have won 26 of 114 games under his guidance.

Flynn hopes to see his charges upset the Crusaders today and is bringing a fine collection of hitters and fielders to back up the pitching of Wineapple. In Capt. Joseph W. Duffy, Providence boasts a first baseman who rivals Jimmy Shevlin as a brilliant fielder and consistent hitter. Duffy has been one of the mainstays of Providence nines for the past three seasons.

Harry Main, second baseman, and Frank Cappali, shortstop, are other seasoned veterans in the Providence infield, while Robert Dion, the third sacker, was a star with St. John's Prep and has played brilliantly in the Dominicans' six games this year.

Holy Cross Smashes Winning Streak of Flynn's Boys
at Worcester

Game played: APRIL 26, 1929

Worcester, Mass., April 27.—Battling its way back into the running for the Eastern intercollegiate baseball title, the crack Holy Cross nine defeated the highly touted Providence College outfit yesterday afternoon by an 11 to 0 count. The defeat was the first of the season for the Dominicans and put the Crusaders on even terms with the Rhode Islanders for the college laurels. A gathering of over 5000, one of the largest week-day crowds ever at a ball game on Filton Field, witnessed the clash.

It was a case of too much Nekola, for the southpaw ace of the Crusaders held the upper hand throughout. He was nicked for six hits, which he managed to keep scattered, and in addition to striking out 11, he proved equal to the task of stopping budding Providence rallies on several occasions. The win is the fourth of the year for Nekola.

Eddie Wineapple, starting twirler for the Providence aggregation, failed to flash his best form, and in the second inning made the fatal error of keeping his fast hooks too high, with the result that the Crusader sluggers unleashed several hard and timely blows to sew up the decision. In the third Wineapple gave way to Buckley, who was battered for four runs in the fourth before he settled down and held the locals in check until the seventh. Joe Gomes, former East Providence High star, who shaped up exceptionally well, turned in some smart pitching in the final two innings, being nicked for but one hit.

Failure of the Dominicans to come through in the pinches spelled their defeat, for they left 10 players stranded on the hassocks. A hit on several occasions would have sent two or more runners scampering across the plate, but the needed punch was lacking. For the first time this campaign, Capt. Joe Duffy went without a hit.

The other glaring weakness in the Providence nine was in its outfield with Lobdell making the one error chalked up against the Rhode Islanders, when he let a ground ball go through his legs to roll far into centre, permitting three runs to come across the platter. This miscue, coming in the third inning, proved the undoing of the Black and White performers, for it gave Nekola a lead that was never to be threatened.

Providence had some fine chances to break through for scores. In the first Krieger was safe on his attempted sacrifice on which Dion was tossed out at second base. Fleurent reached first when he batted a high bouncer which Nekola and Shevlin went after, the former finally getting the ball and pegging to first to Harrell who ran to cover the base. Fleurent was safe by a wide margin, but crashed into Harrell after crossing the base, and both players fell to the ground. Krieger travelled to third on the play, but the rally ended there, as Duffy was thrown out on his easy roller to Nekola and Lobdell fanned.

Providence filled the bases in the fourth with one out, but Main popped weakly to Harrell and Cappalli tapped weakly to Nekola. In the fifth, with Krieger and Fleurent waiting on the sacks, Duffy popped up to Shevlin. Again in the ninth, two more Dominicans were stranded when with one out Gomes rapped to Nekola and Dion fanned.

Ryan opened the second canto for the Cross with a triple to deep left, and Lawrence followed with a double into the left field bleachers. Lawrence went to third while Cappalli was tossing Phelan out at first, and scored on Cahill's sacrifice fly to deep center.

In the third Wineapple met his Waterloo, being forced to abandon the box in favor of Buckley. With one away Fisher dropped a pretty bunt and beat it out. Shevlin poked a single into center and Wineapple filled the bases when he hit Hurley in the leg. Ryan holsted a sacrifice fly to Krieger, scoring Fisher, Shevlin stole third and Lawrence drove a single into center which Lobdell let roll through his legs, giving Hurley and Lawrence a chance to score. Buckley fanned Phelan to end the trouble.

In the fourth Cahill tripled, Nekola walked, and the former player scored while Dion was throwing Fisher out at first. Shevlin was safe on a hit to short, Nekola almost interfering with the play. Hurley doubled past third, scoring both runners, and Ryan singled sharply to center to score Hurley.

This ended the scoring until the seventh inning, when a walk, a fielder's choice, a single, a wild pitch, and a sacrifice fly netted another run.

Providence EVENING TRIBUNE

Suffering from a bad case of stage fright, Jack Flynn's youthful Providence College baseball pupils proved easy victims for Jack Barry's Holy Cross aggregation at Worcester. Weakness with the willow with runners on the sacks had a great deal to do with the size of the score, for a base knock in the first inning, when the Dominicans had two on the sacks, might have changed the whole complexion of the game. Again in the fourth, with the bases loaded and only one out, a safe hit might have made Holy Cross less confident. But "Bots" Nekola, the Purple ace, was supreme in the pinches, and Flynn offered no alibi. "It may be a different story when they come to our grounds on June 11," was all he would say.

JOE GOMES, East Providence

DOMINICANS IN STRIDE AGAIN

Conn. State Is Held to Three Hits by Gomes in 9-to-3 Game

ame played: APRIL 27, 1929

The strong Providence College nine climbed back into the winning column again yesterday afternoon by taking the measure of a veteran Connecticut State outfit by a 9 to 3 count, with Joe Gomes, former East Providence High star, doing the honors for the Flynnmen.

In turning in a brilliant three hit game Gomes completed one of the busiest weeks ever attempted by a Dominican hurler in his first season of college competition. He held Norwich hitless for the final two innings last Wednesday, and turned Holy Cross down with but one hit in two innings on Friday. The Crusaders were loud in their praise of Gomes declaring him to be one of the best pitchers they have faced this spring.

Connecticut offered stubborn opposition for the first five innings and the game was as fine as any played in town this campaign. But in the sixth, Kolb, Aggies star twirler, weakened and his mates faltered behind him long enough to allow four runs to trickle across the plate. McCombe went to the rescue, and two innings later met the same fate when the Black and White ball tossers came through with four more markers.

The crack infield of the visitors which turned in two sparkling double plays early in the tilt, and which matched the play of the Smith Hillers throughout the first part of the clash, broke wide open as the game progressed and was guilty of no less than four errors before the final out of the day was registered.

Gomes led the attack of the Flynnmen with two clean singles coming at opportune times when runners were waiting on the sacks. His first blow, driven out in the sixth, scored one run, while his smash in the eighth brought in two more tallies. Dion, with two infield hits, and Captain Duffy with a long double to center, were the other hitting stars of the day.

The Dominicans found the going rough from the very start, and were completely at loss before the puzzling slants of Kolb who looked unbeatable. In the fourth Duffy's double, and infield out, and a passed ball accounted for the first Providence marker, but it was not until the sixth that the big parade was staged, with four tallies being chalked up to the credit of the Flynn-coached machine.

Kolb, who had been wasting too much of his speed trying to turn the locals back hitless, lost complete control of his hooks, walking three men in succession, and hitting Harraghy in the elbow to force in the tying run. Then Tombari chipped in with his first error, allowing Main to reach first on his roller along third, and Duffy to score. Cappalli forced Main at second, but reached first inches ahead of the throw to that station.

Gomes smashed out a line drive through short, scoring Harraghy, and McCombe, a lanky, bespectacled twirler, made his appearance on the mound for the Aggies. Before the newcomer could show his wares, Ryan caught Cappalli trying to pilfer third, Tombari taking the throw to make the third out.

In the eighth McCombe made trouble for himself when he walked Harraghy. Main moved him up a peg while he himself was being retired at first on his grounder to Brown. Cappalli bounded to Tombari, who took a look at second, and then made a wild heave to first, permitting Harraghy to go to third and Cappalli to second.

Once again Gomes proved the right man when he crashed a single into center, scoring both runners, and travelling around to third himself when the throw-in from centerfield by Goebel went wild past the plate. Dion crossed up the infield with a pretty bunt along third and best the throw, which proved to be another wild toss, theagate rolling into right foul territory as the Nashua youngster raced all the way around the circuit for the ninth run.

Two Undefeated College Nines Beaten in Week

Holy Cross and Providence Suffer First Set-Backs; Murphy Stars on Mound

Given better treatment by the weather than the leading college teams of the East spent the last seven days in rearranging their positions in the victory and defeat column.

The fourth week, which has just sped by, left behind it a few shattered hopes. It saw both Holy Cross and Providence College, previously recorded as unbeaten, joining the ranks of those who know what a defeat really is. Princeton attended to smudging Holy Cross's record while the latter carried Providence College along into the beaten column. Lafayette is the only unbeaten member of the triumvirate which ruled a week ago and the Easton, Pa., nine threatens to continue that way some time. It also saw Fordham, which made a disastrous trip into New England, come back with renewed strength and defeat two local rivals and one near-local rival in Columbia, N. Y. U. and Seton Hall, the latter, of course, representing the near-local district inasmuch as the Setonians spend their time at home in Orange, N. J.

Locally, it was a good week. In addition to what Fordham did, there was some signs of activity and life at N. Y. U. The Violet started on Tuesday by losing to Lafayette—nothing new for N. Y. U. as last year, after the local college had taken eleven straight, Lafayette came along and won. On Wednesday Stevens was beaten, 5 to 4; on Friday Colgate was shut out, 3 to 0, and on Saturday Fordham met and defeated N. Y. U.

Columbia Breaks Even

Columbia, after losing, 1 to 0, to Fordham in a game Tuesday, which featured the pitching of Murphy for the Maroon, beat Manhattan, 6 to 2, lost to Dartmouth by 2 to 1 on Friday, and then came back with a 4 to 3 victory over Williams which might have been a triumph for the New Englanders if Singmaster had received any support.

City College got an even break with a victory over Upsala, and a beating by Rutgers. Manhattan, after losing to Columbia on Wednesday, came back Saturday and behind the excellent pitching of Jim Burns shut out Catholic U., 3 to 0. St. John's, to round out the list of metropolitan nines, played one contest and won from Upsala, 11 to 1.

Lafayette and Penn had about the best record outside of New York and its haunts. Both won three games, the former to keep its record of six victories and no defeat intact and the latter to continue its winning streak, which it started on April 1 against Duke. Penn has now won ten straight.

Besides the elimination party which Holy Cross and Providence College put on, other noteworthy events are noted in New England. Amherst, about the strongest in the Little Three, beat Harvard, 6 to 2; Boston College won from Springfield, 17 to 2; Holy Cross beat Brown, 3 to 2; Providence beat Connecticut Aggies, 9 to 3; Harvard beat Springfield, 11 to 3, and Bates, 5 to 1; Tufts beat Bates, 3 to 1, and Wesleyan, 12 to 2. Dartmouth, another prominent New England unit, came to New York on Friday and in a pitching duel between Hollstrom and Cerny won in thirteen innings, 2 to 1. Then, with this momentous victory to its credit, the Green moved over to Philadelphia only to meet rough treatment from Temple, losing by 7 to 2.

Princeton Wins Twice

Princeton, in addition to scoring the first victory of the season over Holy Cross, beat Cornell, 4 to 3, in sixteen innings Saturday. Other victories were scored by Georgetown, Springfield, Cornell, Tufts, Lehigh, Villanova, Providence, Wesleyan, Boston College and Navy. Williams, Army and Brown have yet to win a game.

Among the pitching performances the work of Murphy, of Fordham, stands out. He won both his games, which were against Columbia, on Tuesday, and N. Y. U. on Saturday. Against the Lions he allowed three hits, and he gave only two more to the Violet. Murphy fanned sixteen Columbia batters and ten of the Violets', the latter in six innings. That equals the strike-out record held by Dobens, of Holy Cross, established on April 4 against Williams and Mary, a team which does not quite compare with either Columbia or N. Y. U. in ability.

Other strike-out marks of the week include the following: Lipp, Springfield vs. Massa chusetts Aggies, 15; De Mucchio, Rutgers, vs. C. C. N. Y., 12; Strauss, Lehigh, vs. Army, 11; Boies, Cornell, vs. Princeton, 14 (sixteen innings); Nekola, Holy Cross, vs. Providence, 11.

Drewes and Nekola in Lead

Among the pitchers the most game have been won by Drewes, of Penn, and Nekola, of Holy Cross, both left-handers, each having four straight in as many starts. Hollstrom, of Dartmouth; Adams, of Tufts; Clyde, of N. Y. U.; Murburg, of Lafayette, and Whitmore, of Harvard, have all won three without being defeated. Pitchers who were beaten for the first time this last week include Loud, of Yale; Wineapple, of Providence College, and Dobens, of Holy Cross. Left-handers have predominated the picture so far, but if Murphy, Murburg, Hollstrom, Clyde, Whitmore and one or two others continue to travel along as smoothly as they have in the last seven days the right-handers may be "viewed with alarm" also. The prominent south-paws now are: Nekola and Dobens, of Holy Cross; Wineapple and Forrest, of Providence College; Drewes, of Penn; Adama, of Tufts; White, of Georgetown; Hensil and Hillen, of Villanova, and Garrett and De Mucchio, of Rutgers.

Providence Has Narrow Escape

FRIARS DEFEAT WILDCATS 8-7

Providence College Overcomes
Three-Run Lead.—McElroy
Relieves Hal Bradley.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)

Durham, N. H., May 1.—Rallying behind Tom McElroy, their star right hander, the Providence College nine overcame a three-run lead of the University of New Hampshire to eke out an 8 to 7 decision here today. The game marks the eighth triumph of the Friars out of nine starts and is the third win of the season for McElroy.

Hal Bradley, ace of the staff two years ago, started on the rubber for the visitors, but was unable to weather the attack launched by the Wildcats in the third inning when they climbed into a 4 to 1 lead. McElroy was rushed in and managed to hold the locals well in check except for the seventh inning, when Redden, New Hampshire third baseman, poled out a home run with two men on the sacks.

Duffy Scores Two

Captain Joe Duffy put his team back in the running for the decision in the fifth frame when he came through with a timely single to left to send two runs across the plate. Another rally in the following inning resulted in Clement's withdrawal from the game with Lord taking over the mound duties.

Trailing by three runs the Friars staged their first rally in the fourth when McElroy and Dion strolled. Both advanced on a wild pitch and with two away Duffy singled sharply into left field. In the sixth the invaders from Rhode Island climbed into a lead which enabled them to win.

Harraghy walked to start the attack and Main singled to left. Capalli laid down a perfect bunt along third which went for a hit when Clement picked the ball up too late to make a play at any base. With the sacks crowded Lord was called in from the pen to take over the pitching assignment. McElroy fanned but Dion worked the new hurler for a free ticket to force in the tying run. Krieger smashed a hard single to left scoring Main but Capalli was cut down at the plate on the throw in. On a double steal Dion scored and Krieger slid safely into second.

Double Steal Again

In the seventh the Friars worked the double steal again for a run with Duffy doing the scoring. The Dominican first sacker walked, went to third on Lobdell's hit to right and slid into the plate while the latter was pilfering second. Lobdell went to third on Main's infield out and scored when Capalli laced a triple into left, the ball bounding through McFarland. In the hectic seventh, McElroy walked Hanna, Flynn was safe on a fielder's choice and went to second on a passed ball. McFarland was hit in the leg but was forced at second by Shea. Then came Reddens belt into deep centre which allowed him to make the circuit.

DOMINICANS ON WILD BATTING RAMPAGE AGAINST WEAVERS

Jack Flynn's Pupils Cut Loose With 19 Bingles
in Six Turns at Plate and Annihilate
Lowell Textile by 23 to 4.

ame played: MAY 4, 1929

Staging the strongest hitting attack they have uncovered this year, the Providence College nine walloped Lowell Textile to all corners of Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon to pile up the highest score made by any college team this season, the final total being 23 to 4 in favor of the Flynnmen. Play was halted after six and a half innings had been played, owing to the one-sided score, and the length of time consumed.

In collecting their ninth victory of the campaign, the Smith Hillers unleashed a salvo of base hits that would be sufficient to win a dozen ball games. Nineteen safe blows were garnered off the combined deliveries of Zalkind, star of the Lowell team, and Allard, his battery mate, who also performs as a pitcher.

Dion and Lobdell, with four safe hits each; Krieger with three out of five, and Main and Cappalli with two safe crashed out of five turns at the platter, led the hitting attack of the locals. Lobdell and Main hammered out home runs, Fleurent and Matthews, triples, and Cappalli, a double.

With the score rapidly mounting to one-sided proportions, Coach Jack Flynn took advantage of the opportunity to use some of his reserve material. McVarish, sub-catcher who started the game and who turned in some fine work behind the platter, gave way to Dixie Matthews, former Tech star, in the fourth, and the latter resigned in favor of Curran in the sixth. Oliver and Zande were given places in the outfield in the final stage of the clash.

Pitching his first game of the year, George Forrest, another one of Jack Flynn's promising young hurlers, turned in a fine exhibition. Four hits and two runs were garnered off his slants in the first five innings, and with the game definitely clinched by the Dominicans, he eased up in the sixth to allow the Weavers to counter two runs on four hits.

The fielding feature of the game came in the fourth frame when the Dominicans staged a pretty double killing. With a runner on third, Truesdale, visitor's shortstop, rolled a bunt towards Forrest. The latter fielded the ball perfectly, pegged to Duffy for the out at first, and the Dominican captain tossed accurately to the plate where Matthews nipped the runner trying to score on the play.

In the very first inning the Dominicans tallied with three runs when Dion and Krieger singled, Fleurent sacrificed, Duffy was safe on an infield boot, Dion and Krieger scoring on the miscue, and then Lobdell singled to score his captain from second.

In the second inning Zalking faced a barrage of Dominican hits which netted eight runs to put the decision on ice. Forrest strolled, went to second on a passed ball and scored on Dion's single to center. Kreiger was hit in the arm. Fleurent singled to left scoring Dion. Duffy walked, filling the sacks.

Lobdell hit to Niles whose throw to the plate to cut down Kreiger was too slow, and all hands were safe. McVarish lined a hit into center and two more runs trickled across the platter. Then Harry Main lifted a home run drive over Ellis' head in left field to clear the bases. Cappalli doubled, but Dion and Krieger ended the rally by going out on infield blows.

A walk to Fleurent, Truesdale's error on a throw from Allard to force the runner at second on Duffy's grounder and Lobdell's home run belt accounted for the three runs registered in the third inning. Two men were left stranded in the fourth when Dion and Krieger hit safely, but Duffy fled out to center to end the rally.

In the fifth Allard's slants were lambasted all over the lot as the Flynnmen went on another rampage to boost their run total to 23. In this inning Lobdell started the trouble with a single to left. Matthews walked and Main fanned. Cappalli smashed a hot liner into right, scoring Lobdell. Matthews tallied on a wild pitch and a moment later Forrest drew his third free ticket to first.

Dion singled to right on a hit and run play and when the Lowell outfield handled the ball poorly the Dominican runners circled the bases, Forrest scoring and Dion sliding safely into third. Fleurent tripled, Duffy walked and Lobdell garnered his second safe blow of the inning when he singled to left. Matthews tripled into the center field lane, and Main hit safely past second. Cappalli fled to short to end the rally.

ST. BONAVENTURE WHIPS FRIARS 10-9

New Yorkers Overcome Seven-
Run Lead to Beat Providence
College in 11th Inning.

Game played: MAY 7, 1929

Never giving up the struggle, although they trailed by seven runs at one time, the strong St. Bonaventure College aggregation from western New York nosed out the Providence College nine 10-9 in a thrilling 11-inning tilt on Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon. The defeat is the second in 11 starts for the Friars, and marks the fifth win of the year for the New Yorkers.

Three Dominican hurlers were used in the attempt to swing the tide of victory to the Black and White, and although Tom McElroy, ace of the staff, was rushed to the rescue in the ninth, he met the fate of his predecessors, Wineapple and Gomes, when the Bonaventure sluggers came through with an 11th inning rally to clinch the decision.

Wineapple twirled brilliantly for six innings, allowing but one run and three hits during that time. But in the seventh the Sophomore portsider was bombarded from the box when the visitors went on a hitting spree. Four hits and two walks were garnered off Wineapple in this canto before Coach Flynn sent Joe Gomes on the slab.

Friars Lead First Half

The game was perhaps the most unusual upset the Friars have encountered in years. They completely outclassed the invaders for the first half of the game and at the end of the sixth inning were taking things easy with an 8 to 1 lead. Then came the attack which put the Ostergren-coached machine in the running, and the locals were never able to uncork a consistent attack as the result of the deceptive offerings given them by Riley, visitors' star right-hander.

Skierkowski, second baseman of the invading nine, was the hero of the day, driving out a home run in the ninth inning with a man on base, and his team trailing by two runs. This blow spelled the downfall of the Dominicans, as it deadlocked the count, and put the St. Bonaventure team on edge to crash through with a win at the first opportunity.

The chance to gain the verdict came in the first of the 11th, when Rooney, backstop, hoisted a high fly in back of third. Dion, Krieger and Cappalli made a dash for the vicinity, with the latter calling for the catch. However, when all was said and done, the ball landed untouched on the outfield sod and Rooney was started on the first lap of the journey around the cushions.

After an attempted sacrifice bunt had fizzled into a pop fly to McElroy, Thomas hit to Cappalli, but the ball took a bad hop over the Friars' shortstop and continued on its way into left field while Rooney raced into the home station with the winning tally. Thomas went to second on the relay to the plate, and travelled to third on Youngblood's drive at Dion. A squeeze play at the plate was nipped by McElroy, who retrieved Conlon's bunt in time to peg to Harraghy for an out.

With Joe Harraghy, peppy catcher, leading the attack the Dominicans had no trouble at all in piling up a commanding lead at the very onset of the clash. In the first canto Dion walked, Krieger moved him up and Fleurent came through with a home run smash, the ball landing along the left field foul line and rolling to the fence. A third run was added when Lobdell was hit, went to third on Harraghy's hard smash into right, and scored when Conlon boot-ed the ball about the outfield in trying to get hold of it.

Cappalli singled to start the second inning, Wineapple moved him along a peg, and Dion unleashed a hard drive over second base to bring him home. In the third frame three more markers were chalked up for the Flynnmen when Duffy, Harraghy and Main reached base safely on successive infield boots, Duffy scoring on the last one and Cappalli contributed a timely blow to left field.

Visitors Move Up in Seventh

In the seventh the visitors found their batting eyes and proceeded to climb back into the running. Wineapple walked Conlon to start the rally, and then came successive singles off the bats of Riley, Evers, Utecht and Rooney. With two runs in and two men on, Wineapple filled the sacks by issuing a free ticket to Skierkowski.

Then Joe Gomes was called in from the pen, and the East Providence lad added to the chaos when he walked the first man to face him to force in another marker. Youngblood caught hold of a fast shoot and sent it safely into centre field territory to push the final two runs of the inning over the plate. Gomes fanned Conlon and caught Youngblood off first to end the attack.

In the first of the ninth Krieger misjudged a high riser from Rooney's bat which went for a double. Then came Skierkowski's terrific blow which rolled to the left centre field fence and knotted the count, which was not broken until the St. Bonaventure outfit got to McElroy in the 11th.

WILLIAM AND MARY RALLIES TO BEAT FRIARS 5-2

Virginians Score Four Runs in Seventh, Aided by Homer

Hits Bunched in One Inning as Buckley Weakens at Hend- ricken Field.

Staging a strong seventh inning rally, the William and Mary nine of Virginia sent the Providence College outfit down to its third defeat of the season on Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon, winning a 5-2 decision after nine innings of brilliant baseball. The game was by far the best of the year here, and was a nip and tuck affair until the fatal seventh when a home run smash off Ferrel's bat scored two men.

The setback is the second of the week for the Friars. However, they outhit their Southern opponents 8 to 5 and turned in a brilliant game afield. The invaders presented the finest outfit that the Flynnmen have met this spring. They bunched their blows to collect four runs in the one inning Buckley was unable to hold them in check.

Buckley Does Well at Start

Buckley, making his second start for the Friars, turned in a faultless game for the first six innings, yielding but two hits in that period. In the sixth, with two out, Wallace, clever centre gardener of the visitors, caught hold of a fast slant and hoisted it out of the park for the first William and Mary score.

In the seventh, Scott, twirler for the Virginians, greeted Buckley with a ringing triple into left centre, and Bauserman drove Fleurent back to the right field fence to make a sensational one-hand catch of his long sacrifice fly. Scammon lined a double into left field, and the blow unnerved Buckley, who walked Silverban. Then Ferrell crashed a hard drive into left, along the foul line, and as Krieger got set to make the stop, the ball struck a stone, bounded over his head, and rolled to the fence for a home run.

Time of game—3 o'clock.
Tom McElroy, victor over the Bruins last year, and Art Sondheim, playing his first year on the Varsity team, will be the opposing pitchers at Aldrich Field this afternoon as Brown University entertains the Providence College nine in the first game of the annual series for the city championship. The Bruins enter the clash without having won a single game in seven starts, while Jack Flynn's Friars have been victorious in all but three of 12 games.

True to his advance statements, Jean Dubuc shook up his Brown lineup yesterday afternoon during the final practice session, and will send Sam Larkin to left field for the Bruins unless Jack Flynn suddenly switches his plans and replaces McElroy on the mound with some other member of his capable pitching staff. Chaiklin, back in shape after a week's absence, will do the catching, and bat sixth, while Nilsson, big Sophomore first baseman, is slated to bat eighth. Nilsson retains his post only after a hard fight, and will be replaced by a pinch-hitter if he comes to bat at any time when Brown is in a position to do some scoring.

Brown Leads in Series

Naturally, the Smith Hill delegation is the favorite of local fans, for Capt. Joe Duffy and his teammates, until they struck a couple of snags this week, have been sailing along at a rapid rate. Their nine victories in 12 games gives them a tremendous advantage over the Brown team, which has dropped seven games in a row. But records of past years show that when the Bruins and Friars meet the evidence of previous games must be discounted, considerably. During the six years the two teams have been meeting, Brown has come out ahead in seven games and Providence has won five contests. Last year was the first that three games have been played, while in 1922 when the series was inaugurated three was only one encounter.

Tom McElroy will have a considerable advantage over Art Sondheim, for the Olneyville youth won a 4-1 decision over Brown in the series last year, while Sondheim is making his first appearance against the heavy-hitting Black and White crew. Sondheim's work this season, although Brown has yet to win a game (has shown him to be the ace of the staff and a very reliable hurler. The black-haired Sophomore has pitched two exceptionally good games, holding Holy

Both clubs played errorless ball, and in the hard tussle for the verdict turned in some fine plays. Cappalli, at short for the Friars, had a field day, handling eight chances flawlessly, once racing in back of second base for a one-hand pickup which he pegged to first to get his runner. Wallace, centre fielder of the Southerners, and Ryan, clever shortstop, turned in the other fielding tidbits, the former pulling down Cappalli's bid for a triple with two on in the second, and the latter leaping into the air to rob Joe Duffy of a hit on his line drive over short in the same inning.

Duffy Heavy Hitter.

Duffy, Dominican leader, regained his hitting eye after a slump during the past week, and made good on three of the four times he went to the plate. Harraghy, veteran backstop, continued to lead the club in hitting, pounding out a triple to start the rally in the second inning. The Taunton backstop has the unique record of having connected safely in all but one game this spring and has one of the highest batting averages in New England college ranks.

In the second inning, with two away, Harraghy laced his three bagger into centrefield and Main brought him home with a timely smash into left. Wallace broke up the rally by making a sparkling one hand catch of Capalli's long drive into centre.

In the fourth another run was chalked up when Duffy lined safely into deep short, Ryan making a fine stop, continued around to third a moment later on a passed ball, and scored when Lobdell dropped a two bagger into centrefield.

After these two attacks Scott, clever hurler of the invaders, who baffled Princeton, had matters pretty well in hand and was in danger only in the eighth when two men landed on the bases, but Lobdell forced a runner at second for the third out.

After the unexpected rally of the Virginians, Coach Jack Flynn sent Frankie Moran into action and the South Providence junior set the visitors down in order for the final two innings, striking out three of the six men to face him. Oliver, Sophomore flyhawk from Fall River, also saw service, replacing Krieger in left field.

Jack Flynn last night named Szyda to do patrol duty in left field. Left field is the only undecided post on the Brown team, although there is a possibility that Nilsson will not start at first.

Considering the way Dubuc's team has been developing and the fact that the Friars have been beaten twice this week by teams they expected to beat, the two teams will probably appear more nearly matched this afternoon than local fans expected a fortnight ago. The Brown Sophomores have finally found their batting eyes, and Dubuc's first choice team for today contains a number of reliable stickers. Providence has been assisting a capable pitching staff with spirited batting attacks all season long, but the uncertainty of both teams which always seems to be a big factor in the play may remove most of the differences in ability between the two clubs.

Coach Flynn of the Friars, following the final drill of the week on Hendricken Field, announced that he would probably start Stan Szyda, versatile Ware athlete, in left field in place of Krieger. The latter has not come up to par in the games to date, the mentor feels, and so has decided to bench him until he regains his top form again.

Szyda, a junior, has served as a member of the junior varsity nine as an outfielder for the past two years. He is captain-elect of the Varsity basketball team for next season, and has been a regular halfback on Archie Golembeski's grid machines for the past three campaigns. If he clinches the left field berth by his work today, he will be the only three letterman of the year at the Dominican college.

No other changes will be attempted by Flynn, although there is a possibility that Vin Cummings, Cranston senior, may get a chance in centre field in place of Lobdell. The Paterson performer has been doing some fine work at bat in the past few games, however, being equally adept at batting either left or right handed.

FRIARS SHADE BRUINS 5-4 IN OPENER OF SERIES

DOMINICANS GET TO SONDHEIM IN SEVENTH, EIGHTH

Brown Pitcher's Support Fails
as Providence Scores
Two to Win.

Getting to Sondheim in the seventh and eighth and staving off a threatening ninth-inning rally, the Providence College nine scored a 5-4 victory over Brown in the first game of the city championship series before 4500 spectators at Aldrich Field yesterday afternoon. Art Sondheim, holding the Friars to five hits, was the victim of wretched support at critical times and slipped in the seventh and eighth when the Dominicans added their 10th victory in 13 contests.

Brown decisively outhit the Friars and had runners on base in every inning, but brilliant fielding behind Tom McElroy, Providence hurler, enabled him to keep the Bruins well in check until the eighth and ninth when Brown made desperate bids to tie the score. Sondheim's performance was one of the outstanding features of the game, and after allowing one hit in the first, he held the winners hitless until their seventh-inning rally.

McElroy found himself in many bad holes, due to lack of control, combined with Brown's savage batting attack, but the capable supporting cast chopped off two Brown threats with snappy double plays and in general turned in some of the finest fielding seen on Aldrich Field this season. The contest was typical of the sort of baseball turned in by the two local rivals, and outstanding plays of all sorts kept the stands on edge from start to finish. Brown's last-inning bid for the contest was reminiscent of the thrilling finishes in the 1928 contests, and the Bruins were retired with two out and two men on base after one tally had been secured.

Game played: MAY 11, 1929

Misplays Scattered

Brown's misplays were scattered throughout the contest, but two of the errors were of vital importance to the Friars' success. Providence played almost perfect ball, one bad stop by Cappalli in the eighth which gave Larkin a life and subsequent chance to score being the only boot charged against the Smith Hill outfit.

McElroy was never able to check Brown and in only two innings did the losers fail to hit. The six bases on balls distributed by the Friar hurler gave Brown additional chances to push men around the bases, but when the situation looked the worst the Dominican infield played superb ball and renewed the winners' chances.

Providence opened the scoring, getting two runs as the Bruins got away to a bad start. Dion worked Sondheim for a pass and managed to get to third when Chaiklin heaved into right field on Szydla's attempted sacrifice. Fleurent drove out a timely right-field single, scoring the two runners, and then was retired on a double play.

The Bruins tied the count in the third, Capt. Bucky Wright driving out a triple with two men on base. Moulton opened the inning with a hit inside third, and McGinley advanced him with a walk. Freedman went out at first, both runners advancing, and then the Brown hitting star tied the score with a long left-field three-bagger. Wright was retired at home on a double play which also retired McGinn at first.

Three-Inning Deadlock

For the next three innings, the two teams strove desperately to break the deadlock, but until Providence's seventh inning rally neither was able to make much use of several openings. Brown pushed one man to third in the fourth, but Providence's second brilliant double killing ended the potential rally, while for three successive innings one Dominican was left stranded on first. Brown sent another runner to third in the fifth, but one of Stanley Szydla's well-managed putouts ended the inning.

Providence's seventh inning rally was the only time during the day when the usually dangerous Dominican batting attack was superior to the crafty pitching of Dubuc's Sophomore ace. Two runs were tallied in the seventh stanza when Sondheim was touched for three hits and two sacrifice blows, and a third was cut off on the bases to retire the side.

Cappalli broke the hitless spell by opening the seventh with a single to right, and McElroy's bunt moved him to second. Dion found Sondheim for another hit, and his left field single put Cappalli across the plate. Dion made second on Freedman's throw to the plate and reached third when Szydla hit to centre. Fleurent lifted a sacrifice fly to left, scoring Dion, but Szydla was subsequently retired trying to steal second.

Flora Makes Double.

Sam Flora was injected into the fray in the eighth as a pinch hitter and scored the third Brown run with a screeching centre field double. Larkin was safe as the inning started on Cappalli's boot. The misplay constituted Providence's sole error. Gurl and Crane were retired and Flora scored the Brown catcher with his two-base hit, but was caught at third trying to gain an extra base.

Providence scored only once in the first of the eighth, for the Bruin defensive work improved sufficiently to cut down two runners at third. Duffy drew a walk at the start and Lobdell was safe on Wright's error. Harraghy was safe when Duffy was retired at third and Main fled out to short. Cappalli drove out another timely hit which scored Lobdell, but Harraghy was caught between second and third to end the inning.

Brown's ninth inning rally had all the earmarks of a traditional finish, but only one run came out of the opportunity to win the game. Moulton opened the inning with a single to the box, but McGinley fled out and Freedman was retired on strikes. Wright secured his third hit of the day to move Moulton to second and McGinn scored the Bruin centre fielder with a second safety. Larkin with the Brown stands ready to acclaim him as a hero, ended the game when he drove a scorching grounder to third and Dion retired McGinn at second.

Szydla, playing left field in his first Varsity game, made a striking debut, and turned in two fine outfield putouts as part of his contribution to the game's features. Fleurent, in the other corner, also covered plenty of ground and assisted McElroy out of two pinches with difficult putouts. Dion's play at third was reliable, although hardly spectacular, while the Friars' pair of double plays were neatly executed bits of work.

Gurl on third was Brown's outstanding defensive player, and although charged with one error, made four putouts and four difficult assists. Wright, with a triple, a double and a single in five times at bat, was the leading hitter of the day, while Moulton and Cappalli each hit safely twice.

Capt. Bucky Wright of Brown being thrown out at home on a double play in the third inning after scoring two runs and tying the score with his three-base hit. Wright attempted to score when McGinn hit to short, but Capt. Joe Duffy threw out the Brown pilot.

In the lower view, Wright is completing his slide into third after his triple in the third inning which tied the score. The Brown captain made a flying leap about five feet from the base and barely beat out the throw from the outfield.

DOMINICANS DRAW FIRST BLOOD IN SERIES WITH BRUNONIANS

Make Good Use of Five Bingles to Capture 5-4 Decision, Cappalli Driving in Winning Run. Losers Get 11 Hits Off McElroy

By J. A. Kiernan

Although Jean Dubuc's Brown Bears outslugged Jack Flynn's Providence College nine 11 blows to five at Aldrich Field yesterday afternoon in the first game of the annual Spring series between the two local high institutions of learning, the Friars managed to have the bulge at the finish, 5 to 4.

Baseball devotees of this city always exhibit a lively interest in the outcome of the games played between Providence College and Brown and more than 4500 fans were in attendance yesterday. Brown, however, has a slight edge in games won since the series started a few years ago, seven to six. The same nines will battle again next Saturday at Aldrich Field.

Going into action, the Providence College outfit was a slight favorite to win on account of the much better record compiled by the Dominicans this season, but despite the fact that the Bears have yet to win a game in '29, Dubuc's pupils were ever dangerous and scared the Smith Hill delegation plenty all afternoon.

Losers Collect 11 Hits

Tommy McElroy, the winning pitcher, has tossed many better games than he had on tap yesterday. The Olneyville lad was in danger on many occasions, but managed to pull through with a win despite the fact that he was cuffed for 11 hits, which included two doubles and a triple. Tommy walked six and fanned three.

Art Sondheim opposed McElroy and when the Brookline, Mass., boy left the game in the last half of the eighth, he had yielded only five blows. "Sondie" was quite wild, however, and paraded five of the Friars. He failed to strike out anybody. Rawlings worked the last inning, and was not nicked for a hit of any kind and fanned one.

Brown fozzles helped the Dominicans on more than one occasion. Capt. Bucky Wright offended three times, and both George Chaiklin and "Finkie" Gurl contributed miscues. The only Providence College error, a fumble by Cappalli in the eighth, started a Brown run in motion, but Cap made up for his fielding faux pas by his work with the willow. He singled to start the big rally in the seventh and batted home the winning run in the eighth.

Third-sacker Bobby Dion, who saved the game for the Friars in the last half of the ninth by coming up with Larkin's grounder for a force play at second to end the game just as Capt. Wright of the Bears was dashing across the platter with the deadlocking run, was one of the best bets for Jack Flynn's team yesterday. Nap Fleurent, in right field, also made the grade with a pair of smart catches. A tricky wind had a tendency to cause the boys some trouble yesterday, in trying to judge fly balls.

Capt. Wright led the Bruins in the batting department. He tripled, doubled and singled. Moulton and McGinley both made two blows and Freedman, McGinn, Crane and Flora all hit safely once each. The last named beited a pinch double in the eighth while swinging for Sondheim.

Fleurent's Timely Bingle

Things broke nicely for Jack Flynn's charges right off the reel. Dion drew a pass and Szydlia bunted. The apple hit the plate and took a high hop in the air. Chaiklin, the Brown catcher, grabbed the ball and heaved it high over Crane's head and into right field, Dion running to third and Szydlia reaching second. Nap Fleurent cuffed one just inside of the third bag, and both Dion and Szydlia scored. Joe Duffy hit to Gurl and was retired at first base. In the meantime, Fleurent tried to reach third, but Crane's throw erased the Providence College right fielder, who, instead of sliding arrived at the hot corner standing up and overran the bag. Lobdell died, Gurl to Crane.

Tommy McElroy was wild at the start and walked Moulton. McGinley was called out on strikes and Fleurent took care of Freedman's fly. Bucky Wright waffled a double to left, Szydlia trying for a shoe string catch only to miss the ball. The Bears were in scoring position but Red McGinn flied to centre field.

Sondheim set the Friars down, one, two three in the second. Harraghy and Main both flied to Freedman and Gurl froze onto Cappalli's line drive. Crane hit safely with two away in the Brown half but Sondheim whiffed.

McElroy walked in the third and was forced at second on Dion's rap to Crane. The Brown first sacker ferried the agate to Wright for the putout. Buck, however heaved wildly trying to double Dion at first base. Gurl made a nice stop of Szydlia's hard rap toward third, getting the Providence College left fielder at first. Fleurent flied gently to Wright.

Bears Deadlock Score

Then came a flurry by the Bears and Dubuc's boys tied the score. Moulton singled and McGinley walked. Freedman grounded to Main and the out at first advanced the runners along. Wright clipped a high one over Szydla's head for three bases and in dashed both Moulton and McGinley. The wind apparently made Szydla's judgment on the ball rather faulty. McGinn hit to Cappali and was out at the initial cushion. Wright, foolishly trying to score, was easily doubled at the plate.

Gurll's error on Duffy gave the Friars a start in the fourth but the next three were easy on outfield flies. McElroy passed both Chaiklin and Gurll in the fourth and Coach Flynn started throwing anxious glances in the general direction of the bull-pen where he had Frankie Moran steaming up. Crane hit to Main, who started a double play in motion via second base, and two were out with Chaiklin on third. Sondheim coaxed a pass from the wavering McElroy but Tommy steadied and Moulton fled to Main.

After Cappali had grounded to Wright in the fifth, McElroy was safe on an error by the Brown captain. Dion fouled to Chaiklin. Szydla walked, but McGinley camped under Fleurent's fly ball.

Again Brown passed up a favorable appearing scoring opportunity in the last half of the fifth. McGinley singled and so did Freedman. Wright tried to bunt, but popped a foul to Harraghy. McGinn drove a long one into right field, Fleurent making a nice catch over near the foul line. McGinley took third on McGinn's sacrifice fly, but Chaiklin's lofter to Szydla retired the side.

Harraghy's walk with two out gave Providence a slight chance in the sixth but Main's best was a foul to Gurll. "Finkie" walked in the Brown half of the stanza. Crane fled to Lobdell. Sondheim sacrificed Gurll to second but Moulton's twisting foul fly was gobbled by Dion.

Cappali Starts Trouble

Cappali's safe shot to right started the Providence College nine on a scoring rampage in the seventh and before the inning ended the Friars had two more runs. McElroy sacrificed Cappali to second and Dion's blow to left scored "Cap." Szydla also singled and Fleurent's long sacrificial lift to Freedman allowed Dion to breeze over the plate.

McGinley singled in the Brown seventh. Szydla dashed over into foul territory to catch a ball from Freedman's stick and both Wright and McGinn perished without hitting the apple out of the infield.

Duffy drew a pass in the eighth and Lobdell won a base on Wright's fumble. Bucky made a bad throw to Crane, but Eddie saved trouble, by pulling off a neat stop of the erring chuck. Harraghy bunted straight at Sondheim and Duffy was out at third. Main fouled to Wright, the Brown captain running over into foul territory to make the catch. Sondheim had two strikes on Cappali when the latter cracked a single past Gurll to score Lobdell with what later proved to be the winning marker. Freedman threw the ball to the infield and Harraghy was caught between bases, Wright making a putout.

Brown Picks Up One

Cappali's fumble on Larkin, who batted for Chaiklin in the eighth, paved the way for a Brown run. Larkin had previously fled out to Fleurent but Umpire Pete McLaughlin called the play back and gave Larkin another shot. The ump called "time" for something or other. After Gurll fled to Main, Crane went down on a grounder to Dion, the Providence College third sacker making a fine stop. Sam Flora batted for Sondheim and drilled a double to left centre, Larkin scoring. Sam tried to stretch the belt into a three bagger but was erased. Lobdell to Cappali to Dion.

George Rawling pitched for the Bears in the ninth and outside of a pass to Dion, escaped unscathed. He wound up his work by whiffing Fleurent, the only Providence College strikeout of the afternoon, by the way.

Dion's Stop Kills Rally

Brown gave the Dominicans quite a scare in the last half of the ninth and very nearly tied the score. Moulton bounced a single off McElroy's glove but McGinley fled to Lobdell and Freedman struck out. Tommy had two strikes on Capt. Wright when Bucky singled into short left field. McGinn patted a safe one to right field and Moulton scored. Wright dashed to third on the McGinn hit and when Larkin smacked a grass-cutter towards left field the Brown cohorts started to cheer, but Dion came up with the ball on a clever stop and tossed the pill to Main at second base for a force play on McGinn to end the hard struggle.

Lafayette Nine's Record Extends To 10 Straight

Undefeated Team Leads Colleges; Nekola Tops Pitchers, With Six Victories

Lafayette, with good pitching and hitting as a fortification against its strongest foes, continued to lead the Eastern nines through another week of intercollegiate baseball. Lafayette has won ten straight games in as many starts and during the last week added Rutgers and Lehigh to its list of victims.

Next to Lafayette stands Amherst and close on Amherst's heels come Holy Cross, Boston College and Dartmouth as having the best records. Among the local nines N. Y. U. has the best record.

Locally Fordham and City College were the busiest. The Maroon played St. John's Wednesday and won, 7 to 1. The next game was on Thursday against Holy Cross and the latter was again the victor, 6 to 0. Hebert, who pitched against the Maroon in Worcester a week ago Saturday, was on the mound and he held Fordham to two hits, the first coming in the opening inning and the second in the ninth. Bob Cooney started for Fordham but lasted only a short time and Johnny Murphy finished. To wind up the week Fordham beat St. Bonaventure, Saturday, 6 to 1.

City College Won Twice

City College played as many games as Fordham during the week and did just as well, with two victories and one defeat. St. Francis was beaten Monday, Lehigh won Wednesday and Manhattan was overwhelmed Saturday. Columbia played twice and lost both its games, to Princeton on Wednesday and Dartmouth on Saturday. N. Y. U. played once, defeating Haverford Saturday. St. John's won from Rider and R. P. I.

Holy Cross did not only bring disaster to the Fordham campus, but also beat William and Mary, on Friday by the score of 12 to 3, and Yale on Saturday, 15 to 3. Saturday's game was Nekola's sixth victory of the season, and it also served to send the former Evander Childs High School boy to the top of the pitching averages with a perfect record. Dobens attended to the victory over William and Mary.

Another strong New England nine enjoyed a big week. Dartmouth, which leads in the competition for the Quadrangle Cup with four straight victories, swept through its three rivals. Brown was beaten, 10 to 7, Penn, 3 to 1, and Columbia, 4 to 1. Hollstrom, Mylykangas and March, the last two newcomers in the won and lost columns, pitched for the Big Green nine of Han-

Penn Lost Two Games

Penn and Providence College, which have been keeping pace with the leaders almost from the start of the season, faltered in during the week. After beating Lehigh on Tuesday, 5 to 4, the Quakers lost to Dartmouth on Friday and Harvard on Saturday, the latter by 7 to 3. Providence College found St. Bonaventure too strong and took a 10 to 9 beating on Tuesday and two days later finished on the short end of a 5 to 2 score in its game with William and Mary. The Dominicans managed to beat Brown Saturday, but only after a struggle, when Sondheim suddenly weakened with the Bruins in the lead.

Amherst, to keep its record of six straight intact, defeated Williams on Thursday, 4 to 0, a game in which Nichols entered baseball's Hall of Fame. Nichols did not allow a hit, but his teammates made two misplays.

Next to Nekola in the standing of the pitchers are Drewes, of Penn; Hollstrom, of Dartmouth, and Whitmore, of Harvard, each with five straight victories. Murburg leads the Lafayette hurlers with four straight, while Nichols has won the same number for Amherst. Clyde and Follet, both of N. Y. U., share the local lead with three straight victories, while Andrews, of Fordham, undefeated twice. Lee, of St. John's, has also escaped defeat in both his starts.

Demucchio Strikes Out Seventeen

Demucchio, Rutgers left-hander, set a record for the hurlers to shoot at when, on Friday, he fanned seventeen Swarthmore batters as the New Brunswick team was winning, 3 to 2. Previously Murphy, of Fordham; Cookenbach, of Swarthmore, and Dobens, of Holy Cross, were copartners, with sixteen strike-outs.

Friars Beat Villanova, 5-4, In Twelve Inning Game

Game played: May 15, 1929

Eddie Wineapple Saves Own Tilt by Starting Rally in Ninth.

Led by Eddie Wineapple, rugged southpaw hurler, the Providence College nine turned in its finest exhibition of the season in coming from behind to stage a ninth inning rally to tie the score, then crashing through in the 12th to send the strong Villanova outfit down to a 5-4 defeat on Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon. The victory is the 11th of the year for the Friars, and their second over the Pennsylvanians, whom they defeated last month, 9-6.

The game was spectacular throughout and although the Friars cashed in with the winning marker in the 12th inning as the result of two infield errors on the part of the Villanova outfit, they earned the decision by their aggressiveness in fighting their way to the front after trailing for nine innings.

It was Wineapple who proved to be the hero of the clash, for in addition to showing his oldtime form in subduing the hard-hitting invaders he challenged their right to the decision when he started the ninth inning rally by singling to right after two were out. The Salem southpaw was slow in getting under way, but as the tilt progressed opened fire with full force and never looked better than when he fought the Villanovans with all his speed and power in the three overtime frames.

Facing their fourth setback of the year, the first two Friars up in the ninth, Main and Cappall, failed to even worry Hanzik, clever right-hander of the visiting team. Wineapple, however, came through with a clean blow to right field.

Dion, brilliant third baseman of the Flynnmen, provided the winning punch when he continued the assault with a ringing double along the left field foul line which put Wineapple on third. Szydla, playing his second game in left field, slashed the first offering of Hensli, portsider, who relieved Hanzik, into centre field, and Donahue made a spectacular attempt to pull a shoe string catch, hurling himself through the air only to lose the ball after almost having it in his clutches for what would have been the third out. Both runners counted on the play and the score was knotted at four apiece.

Villanova Staves Off Defeat This Time

Photo shows Capt. Joe Duffy of Providence College being forced out at plate as Friars made first bid to score in 12th inning of yesterday's game at Hendricken Field. The bases were full when Main grounded to DeLuca, Villanova shortstop, who pegged home. On the next play, however, the Dominicans scored the winning run.

In the 12th, with Wineapple mowing down the Villanovans with ease, the Friars claimed the verdict when the visiting infield faltered under the strain. Duffy reached first when De Luca booted his grounder to deep short, and Eschman, second baseman, caused more trouble by mussing up Lobdell's bounder through his district. Harraghy laid down a perfect bunt and was safe when Melanson failed to make a play after fielding the ball.

With the bases crowded, Main hit to De Luca, who pegged to the plate to force Duffy for the first out. Then Cappalli, hard-hitting shortstop, pounded a clean single into deep left to send Lobdell home from third with the winning score.

Both teams flashed some fine baseball with the visitors having the edge for the first part of the fray and the Dominicans coming to the fore with a garrison finish that kept the crowd in a constant uproar. Melanson, third-sacker of the Pennsylvania contingent, took the fielding honors of the day, accepting 10 chances without a single error.

Providence broke the ice with a run in the first inning when Fleurent strolled, with two out, Duffy was hit in the arm and Lobdell singled sharply to right. In the fourth Villanova jumped into the lead when Cappalli booted DeLuca's roller, Hanzik singled to right, Flannagan forced Hanzik at second, DeLuca going to third on the play, and Curtin singled to left scoring DeLuca and Flannagan.

Eschman accounted for the third Villanova run when he hoisted a homer over Szydla's head in the fifth, and successive singles by Curtin, Gillespie and Melanson added the fourth run.

The Friars garnered their second marker in the eighth when Szydla was hit, Fleurent was safe on an infield boot, and Captain Joe Duffy crashed his second safe hit into left field, scoring Szydla.

MORAN'S BATTING AND PITCHING FEATURE DOMINICANS' VICTORY

Jack Flynn's strong Providence College nine added Middlebury to its list of victims by downing the Vermonters on Hendriken Field yesterday afternoon by a 7 to 3 count for the 12th win in 15 starts. The victory was also the third straight for the Dominicans, and their second triumph of the week.

Frankie Moran was at the helm of the White and Black clan and the rugged South Providence product proved to be equal to the task of subduing the Green Mountain huskies, as well as chipping in with a brace of clean hits to help his mates pile up their lead. It was the second game of the year for Moran, as he defeated Norwich University here two weeks ago.

The Dominicans had to play heads up baseball to claim the verdict, however, as the Middlebury team presented a strong defence and a clever twirler in Spooner, rangy right-hander, who allowed but five hits, all of which were bunched in two innings. Spooner caused his own downfall, however, by his free use of the coupons admitting to first base, as no less than nine of the Smith Hillers took advantage of his generosity.

The veteran Dominican mentor tried out one of his reserve backstops yesterday, sending Jimmie Welch, a peppy little receiver, who prepped at St. John's, into the lineup to handle Moran's slants. Welch came through with colors flying, and turned in an exceptionally fine game for his collegiate debut.

Both teams turned in some fast plays, with the visitors featuring with two double killings, both of which were instrumental in staving off Providence attacks, while the Flynnmen chipped in with a sparkling double play of their own in the eighth which broke up a budding Middlebury rally.

After the invaders from the north had jumped into a one run lead, the Dominicans came back strong in the second inning to climb into the lead, never to be headed. In this hectic canto Spooner was nicked for three hits, one of them a triple, and in addition issued two passes which aided the Friars' cause.

Lobdell strolled, went to second when Welch dropped a pretty bunt along the first base line, which was allowed to roll fair and allowed the batter to reach the base safely, and continued around home when Spooner pegged wildly to third trying to catch him at that station. Welch took advantage of the miscue to dash around to third.

Cappalli walked, and then Moran chipped in with his first crash, hoisting a triple into deep left to score both runners. Dion, who incidentally played brilliantly afield, continued the assault with a single to center, but was doubled off first a few minutes later when Szydia fled to right.

In the third Duffy began the second rally by working Spooner for a pass. Lobdell caromed a safe blow into right, Duffy moving along to third on the hit. Lobdell stole second, and Welch walked to fill the cushions. Main failed to deliver, and Cappalli bided his time, finally drawing a walk which forced in Duffy. Moran singled to left and Lobdell tallied, but Welch was cut down at the plate trying to score from second on the hit.

For the remainder of the fray Spooner had things well in hand and held the Friars hitless. In the sixth he struck a wild streak, putting Cappalli and Moran on base, and as a result was nicked for a run when Dion moved the runners along with a pretty bunt, and Szydia pounded a sacrifice fly to left which permitted Cappalli to score.

A double and a single netted a run for Middlebury in the first, third and sixth cantos, with Franzoni, Haseltine, and Humeston providing the extra base blows in each case to start the rally.

MOULTON STARS AS BROWN DEFEATS FRIARS, 5-3

DOUBLES IN SIXTH WITH BASES FULL TO SEW UP GAME

4500 See Bruins Even Series.
McElroy, Sondheim Unable to Finish.

Moulton's double with the bases loaded in the sixth enabled Brown to beat Providence College and even the standing in this year's city championship series with a thrilling 5-3 victory before 4500 spectators at Aldrich Field yesterday afternoon. Tom McElroy, starting pitcher for the Friars, caused his own downfall and blew up completely in the inning when the Bruins turned a likely defeat into certain victory.

Neither of the starting pitchers, McElroy and Sondheim, was able to go the route yesterday, for the Brown Sophomore ace gave way in the sixth to a pinch hitter. As far as McElroy was concerned, yesterday's contest was similar to the second game in last year's series, when the Olneyville hurler, after winning the first game, failed to survive two innings of the second contest.

Both McElroy and Sondheim kept hits well scattered, but neither was very effective because of frequent bases on balls, which played prominent parts in the scoring. The Dominican pitcher filled the bases in the sixth by passing three men and then was found for the hit which meant the ball game to Brown. The Bruins were held to five hits, four of them secured while McElroy was in the box, while Providence touched Sondheim for five in five innings and collected one off Rawlings.

Bruins Start Scoring.

The Bruins took the lead with one hard-earned run in the first. Then Providence overcame the advantage with a pair of markers in the third. The Bruins knotted the score again in the fourth and Providence took the lead for a second time in the fifth. Brown's winning rally, staged with the aid of three walks and one hit, came in the sixth, and thereafter the Bruins never were in a position to threaten. Providence began to make the going bad for Rawlings in the eighth, but in that inning, as in the ninth, good defensive work kept the Friars subdued.

Game played

Brown's first run was the result of two hits, the only time the Bruins bunched their blows. Moulton was retired at first, but Red McGinley laid down a perfect bunt along the third base line and beat Dion's throw to first. Freedman fled out after McGinley had stolen second, but Wright scored the Brown right fielder with a smoking liner through Dion. The Friar third baseman partially deflected the drive, but Szydla was unable to secure the ball in time to play for McGinley at home.

Lobdell's three-base hit scored two runs and put Providence in the lead in the last of the third. Dion was retired when McGinley made a spectacular catch of his long fly to left centre, but Szydla was safe on a hot grounder to the field which bounded over Wright's glove. Fleurent hit safely to left, advancing Szydla, but was retired at second when Duffy hit to the box. Lobdell then drove out a three-base hit over McGinley's head, both runners scoring. Harraghy hit to short to end the inning.

McGinn Scores

Brown's tying run in the fourth was scored without the use of a hit. McGinn drew a pass at the start and was safe at second when McElroy threw wild on Crane's attempted sacrifice. Crane was also safe at first, giving Brown two men on bases and none out. Gurril's sacrifice advanced the men, and McGinn tallied when Chaiklin was thrown out by Cappalli. Sondheim drew a pass, but Moulton fled out to short.

Providence regained its previous one-run lead in the fifth. Dion fled out but Szydla worked Sondheim for a pass and made second when Fleurent was thrown out at first. Duffy's timely fly scored the left fielder, and during an argument between Chaiklin and Umpire McLaughlin the Dominican captain made third. Chaiklin maintained that Szydla did not touch the plate and tagged him after receiving Freedman's throw, but the arbiter ruled Szydla safe.

McElroy's wildness cost Providence the game in the sixth. After McGinn had been retired, Crane and Gurril drew passes. Chaiklin was struck out, but Larkin, batting for Sondheim, walked. With the bases filled, Moulton doubled to left, scoring the three runners. Buckley then replaced McElroy and walked both McGinley and Freedman, filling the bases again. Wineapple followed Buckley to the mound and struck out Wright to end the inning.

Rawlings started pitching for Brown in the sixth and in that as well as the following inning retired the losers in order. In the eighth, however, he began to slip and Fleurent opened with a hit. Duffy was passed and Lobdell retired on strikes. Fast fielding retired Fleurent at third on Harraghy's hit to the box and Wright threw out Main. The Dominicans had another chance in the ninth. Wineapple and Dion drawing passes after Cappalli had struck out, but Szydla hit to Gurril, who forced Wineapple at third and threw out Szydla at first.

MANY in the stands were afforded their first opportunity to see Wineapple, highly touted hurler of the Friars, do his stuff and they placed the stamp of approval on him. The big fellow pitched splendid ball but he arrived too late in the game to repair the damage caused by the wildness of McElroy, whose lack of control paved the way for the Brunonian triumph.

The annual series between the Bears and the Dominicans is one of the high spots of intercollegiate sports. The question of supremacy remains unsettled and if the 4000 spectators at yesterday's battle were allowed to vote they would cast their ballots unanimously for a third and deciding match. Dr. F. W. Marvel and Graduate Manager Farrell should lose no time arranging for a playoff. The fans, if given a chance to name their starting pitchers, would choose Wineapple of Providence and either Sondheim or Rawlings of Brown.

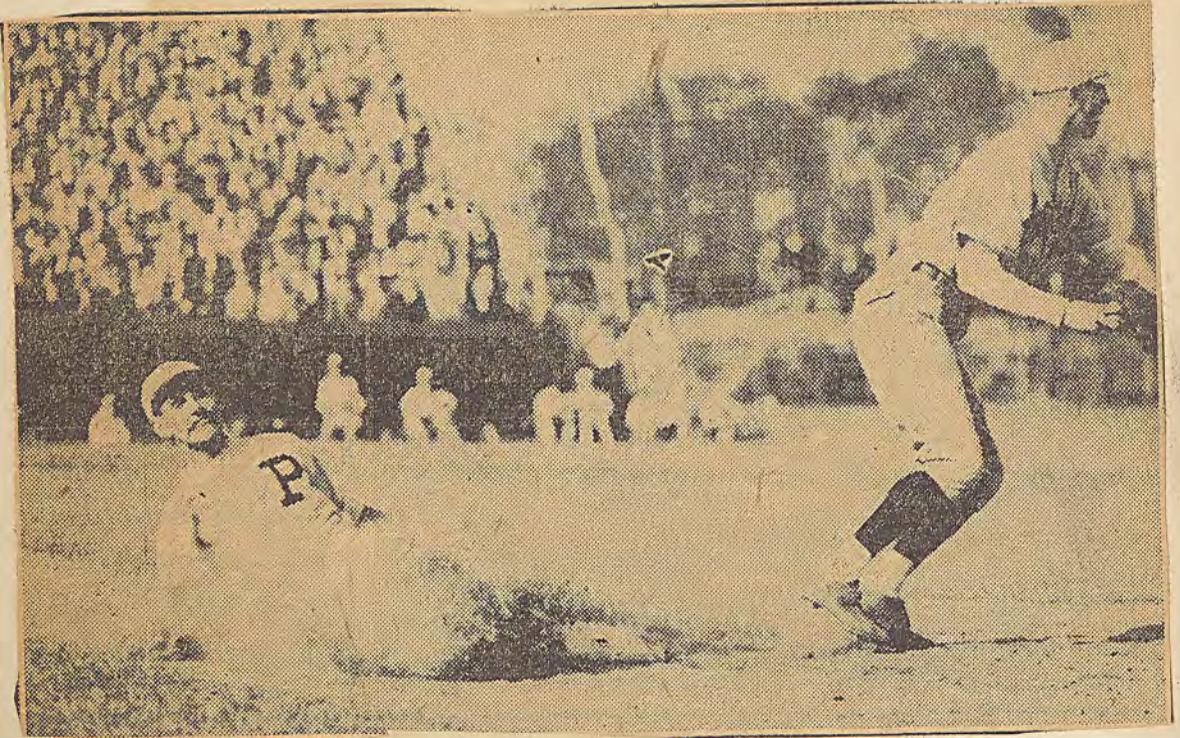

Brown May Battle Dominicans Again

John E. Farrell, graduate manager of Providence College, stated last night that a third and deciding contest between Brown and Providence to determine this year's baseball championship might be played at Aldrich Field, Tuesday, May 28. Dr. Fred Marvel, athletic director at Brown, is said to agree on the selection of this date, but definite action requires the approval of the Brown University Athletic Council.

Both teams have full schedules for next week, and an important contest on Memorial Day, but it is expected that the third contest in the city series will go through as tentatively arranged. The Dominicans play Boston College on Tuesday and Georgetown on Friday, while the Bruins are scheduled to entertain Rhode Island State Wednesday and to play Harvard Saturday.

Close Plays in Brown Victory

Dion, Providence third baseman, being thrown out at first base by Wright in the seventh inning.

Szydla of Providence scoring the Dominicans' last run, which occasioned considerable discussion between Chaiklin, Brown catcher, and Umpire McLaughlin. Chaiklin chased the Providence fielder and tagged him five yards from the plate, claiming Szydla had not touched the rubber as he crossed it, but the official would not allow Chaiklin's claim.

Nips Three Rallies.

Providence College swung back into the win column at Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon, defeating the Georgetown University outfit, 4 to 2. The triumph marks the second successive victory for Eddie Wineapple over the Washington collegians, as he sent them to defeat here a year ago by a 9 to 7 score.

The rugged portsider had matters well in hand for the greater part of the fray, although he had to pull out of some holes to hold the small lead collected by his mates. Once he stopped an attack with the bases filled and twice he had to fight off rallies which ended with two Georgetown runners in scoring position.

Nap Fleurent, star right fielder, had but one chance to help the cause, but that assist proved to be the fielding tid-bit of the game. In the sixth frame, with one out, runners on first and third, Hal Poole, local lad, who did the hurling for the visitors, crashed a hard drive into right centre. Fleurent was off with the crack of the bat, making a sensational diving catch to come up with the ball in his gloved hand. As Morris, runner on first, left his base on the hit, he was easily doubled up to squelch the rally.

McCarthy Cuts Down Main.

McCarthy, fleet centre fielder with the Georgetown outfit, proved the best fly-hawk on the field, going back for long drives by the Friars to make seemingly easy catches in spite of the high wind. In addition he stopped a Dominican rally in the second, when he made a brilliant peg from the outfield to the plate to cut down Main trying to score on Szydla's single.

Georgetown took a one-run lead in the second, only to have the Friars move to the fore in the latter half of the same inning. The count was tied at two-all when the invaders broke through with a counter in the first of the eighth, and then the Friars claimed the decision with a two-run attack in their half of the same inning, in which three safe blows were pounded off Poole's delivery.

Bob Wholey Caught Stealing Home

Georgetown's right fielder, Bob Wholey, a Providence boy, thrown out at the plate, Wineapple to Harraghy, in the seventh inning when he attempted to steal home.

Poole and Wholey, the two local products with the Capitol City contingent, turned in fine games for the homefolk, and although the former was defeated he made the Friars travel at their fastest clip. Wholey had an idle afternoon in the field, but proved effective at bat, getting the longest safe blow of the day, a triple into deep left.

Poole Drives in Run

In the second McCarthy hit inside third, Dion making a fine stop, and then, with the runner sure of the base, pegging wildly to Duffy. Poole brought his mate home from second when he lined a drive at Wineapple, the ball bounding off the latter's shins and rolling into free territory before Main could field it.

Providence countered with two runs in the same inning. Lobdell poked a single to left and Harraghy followed with a clean smash to centre. Main was hit in the back, filling the bases. Poole continued to be wild, and nicked Cappalli in the arm, forcing in the first run. Wineapple and Dion fanned, but Szydla came through with a clean hit to centre, scoring Harraghy. Main, trying to reach the home station, was cut down on a fine peg to Phelan.

In the eighth Scalzi knotted the count at two all when he scored on Cappalli's error of McCarthy's grass cutter. The Georgetown second sacker started the attack by hitting safely to deep short, was moved to second on Duplin's pretty bunt, and romped home when the Friar's shortfielder miscued.

Main's Bingle Breaks Tie.

The Smith Hillers proved capable of the task of coming through with a scoring punch in the eighth to sew up the decision. Duffy opened with a single, but was forced at second by Lobdell. Harraghy was hit in the head by one of Poole's fast curves and though not seriously hurt, gave way to Welch, who ran the base, as well as caught the final inning.

Main singled sharply to left scoring Lobdell, but Welch was caught napping off second, Phelan making a fast peg to Scalzi after the throw in from the field. Cappalli was safe when Morris heaved wildly to first on his grounder, and Main continued to third. Wineapple singled to centre allowing Main to score, but Dion ended the attack by grounding out to Poole.

Time of game—4 o'clock.

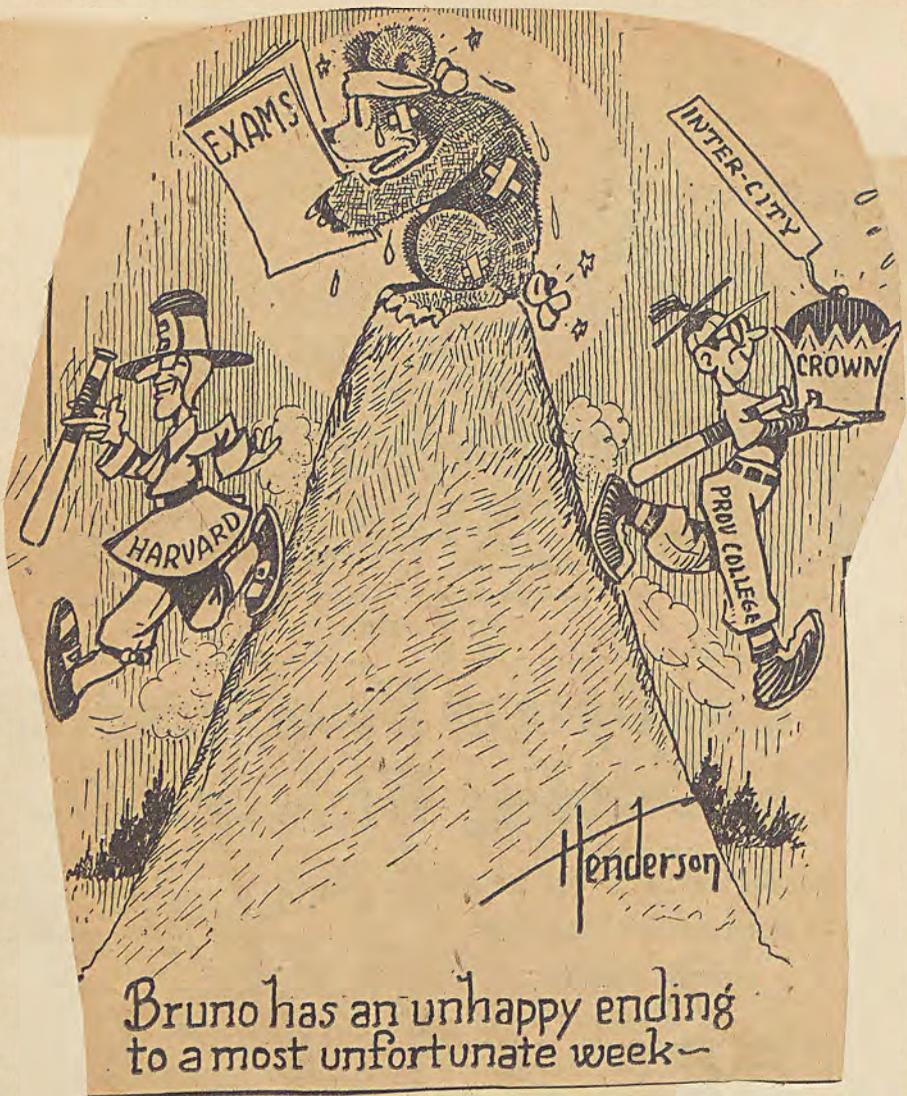

Eddie Wineapple, relief hurler when the teams last met, and George Rawlings, right-handed Senior who went the distance for the first time this year last Wednesday, are the pitching selections for Providence College and Brown University for this afternoon's rubber game of the 1929 city championship series, which will be settled at Aldrich Field at 4 o'clock. For the first time in the last six games, Tom McElroy, Olneyville hurler, who has three victories over Brown to his credit, will not start in one of the local games.

Both Jean Dubuc and Jack Flynn will stand pat on their regular lineups for this afternoon's meeting, but will make a change in the pitching selections. Sondheim worked for the Bruins against Harvard Saturday. Flynn was so pleased with the work of Wineapple in the last previous series tussle that he prefers him over the usual starter, McElroy. The Olneyville boy went to the mound at the start of all of last year's contests, winning the first and third by 4-1 decisions and being knocked out of the box in the second, and then pitched the Dominicans to a victory over Brown in the first of this year's games. In the second contest, a week and a half ago, Brown drove McElroy from the mound and Frank Buckley and Wineapple were rushed to the rescue. Rawlings has not started against the Friars since the second game last season, and with the exception of the opening game of the season, this will be his first start on the rubber in a major contest this season.

Since the Bruins evened the series a week ago Saturday with a surprising 5-3 victory, the Dominicans have returned to winning form, scoring a victory over Georgetown, while Brown has added a second victory and lost once more. The Bruins nosed out Rhode Island State College 7-2 and were victims of chance at Harvard when they lost 4-2.

Wineapple appears to have returned to the form which made him such a dangerous hurler in 1928, but Rawlings is only beginning to reach his previous standards. The blonde veteran pitched good ball in the Rhode Island contest, but grew weak because of a sore arm in the last two innings. This was his first impressive performance this year, aside from his relief duty in the Pennsylvania game, when he allowed only a pair of hits in seven innings. Wineapple's most recent first-quality exhibition was against Georgetown last Friday when the Dominicans won the only game they played during the week.

Brown still holds the edge since the series started in 1924, having won eight of the 14 contests. But Providence has been coming along rapidly in recent years, although Brown won both of the 1927 contests. Last season was the first that the series has included three games, with the Dominicans winning the first and third contests.

Rawlings Holds Dominicans Back Until Eighth Frame

Trio of Hits Brings in Lone
Run by Wineapple.—Bruins
Pass Chances.

Bunching three of their four hits in the eighth and saving Eddie Wineapple on four occasions with superb fielding, the Providence College Dominicans captured the city championship yesterday afternoon with a 1-0 victory over a desperate Brown University nine. A crowd of 2500 saw a thrilling climax to one of the most interesting series played by these local rivals, and watched Pete Rawlings, Brown veteran, pitch a great brand of ball.

Wineapple was unable to stop the Brown attack, but his supporting cast, playing brilliantly and making good use of Bruin base-running mistakes, kept him on even terms with his blonde rival until the eighth when the trio of hits sent the Salem southpaw over the plate with the deciding tally. After the first three stanzas, during which five Friars reached the paths, Providence was unable to make any impression on Rawlings's air-tight hurling, and the winners went hitless until Duffy beat out a hit to deep short in the seventh. While Rawlings was checking the Dominicans in this effective manner, Brown was putting men on bases in every frame and gathered seven safeties.

Bruins Pass Chances

The Bruins passed up a number of chances to score, while the fast Dominican fielding performance, which included a quartet of double plays, further assisted the winning southpaw to bring the number of Providence victories in 15 series games to seven. In the second, third, fifth, seventh and ninth innings, Brown threatened, but the four twin-killings, combined with poor work by Brown base runners, prevented the potential tallies from being scored.

Game played:

Cappalli opened the eighth with a solid smash to left, but was thrown out at second by Rawlings on Wineapple's attempted sacrifice. Dion hit to centre, and Szydla followed with a blow to deep right, scoring Wineapple. McGinley, Brown right fielder, was slow in getting off his throw to home and although Wineapple slowed up at third for a moment, the big Dominican hurler scored. Chaiklin pegged to second in an attempt to get Szydla, but McGinn threw to Gurril trying to catch Dion. Gurril returned the ball to the plate and the Dominican left gardner was retired by Chaiklin. Wright threw out Fleurent at first to end the inning.

Wineapple assisted Brown by distributing 11 bases on balls, four of them in the second, and was hit consistently after the second, but Brown never bunched hits successfully. On two occasions when a timely hit promised a run, the Bruins were kept scoreless by poor work on the bases. There were a dozen Brown men stranded, and seven retired on the bases, so that the free tickets and seven hits were of little value.

Double Plays Timely.

Brown threatened first in the second, a double play being followed by three walks in succession, but Rawlings was retired on strikes. A second double play in the third pulled Wineapple out of another hole, for Brown had two men on bases with only one out when Cappalli, Main and Duffy caught McGinley and Wright on the latter's infield blow. Crane was caught at second on Chaiklin's hit to short in the fourth and two men went out in order after the bases had been filled with one out in the fifth.

In the sixth inning, with two out, two Bruins reached the paths, but Chaiklin was nailed at third on Freedman's roller to Dion. Again in the seventh, Brown had a fine opening, but McGinley's slow work on an attempt to score from second on Wright's timely hit made it possible for Providence to work a third double play and choke off the rally.

The last Dominican double play was staged in the ninth and provided a finish entirely in keeping with the rest of the game. Flora batted for Rawlings and was passed, while Freedman sacrificed. McGinley drew a walk, but Moulton flied to Fleurent. The Brown pinch hitter had advanced too far off second to get back safely, and was retired on Fleurent's heave to Main, ending the game.

From the end of the third until Duffy broke into the hit column in the seventh, Rawlings sent the Dominicans back in order, and after Duffy had opened with his grounder to short in the inning preceeding the winning rally, the next three Providence batters were retired in succession. The Brown veteran walked four, one in the first and second, and two in the third, and hit Szydla, also in the third, but seemed to grow more effective as the game progressed while Wineapple's arm tired noticeably.

Providence did not draw all of the fielding honors, however, for Freedman and McGinn staged one of the fastest double plays of the game in the second, and Wright raced over to second to grab Harraghy's grounder in the fourth and delay for two more innings the first Frlar hit.

FRIARS WILL PLAY HOSTS TO JAPANESE COLLEGE OUTFIT

This group of baseball players represent the Melji University of Japan which plays Providence College at Hendricksen field tomorrow afternoon. This team according to Ty Cobb was the strongest opponent the major league ball players encountered on their trip through Japan. The squad, front row, left to right—Herai, Washio, Tezuka, K. Nakamura, Sumida, Okada, Zenimura, Masu, Yonezawa. Back row, left to right—Tabe, Oku, Matsuki, M. Nakamura, Prof. Otsuki, director; Matsumoto, manager; Akagi, Yasuda, P. Mauo, Sakurai.

An international baseball game, with the Meiji University nine of Tokio, Japan, providing the opposition for the strong Providence College outfit will be one of the feature attractions of the day for baseball fans of this city. The Japanese are slated to start action on Hendricken Field at 3:15 o'clock and the largest crowd ever to witness a contest on the Friars' home field is expected.

Knowing well that his charges will have their hands full to come through with their 15th win of the season by topping the Japanese invaders this afternoon, Coach Flynn is undecided on his pitching selection. He will have to have a strong twirler ready for action against the St. John's nine here Saturday.

Frank Buckley, clever flinger from Roxbury who turned in a good game against the William and Mary nine, although he was forced to finish on the short end of the score, may be awarded with the assignment today, with Tom McElroy and Frankie Moran ready to swing into action on a moment's notice. Should Buckley be able to go the route, the latter two twirlers will be prepared to face the Friars' old rivals from Brooklyn here Saturday.

The Meiji nine gave Holy Cross a hard run for the decision at Worcester Tuesday, driving Ray Dobens from the mound and turning in a sensational game afield. The Japanese have long been noted for their agility and this asset has helped them to field some remarkable defensive nines in the past few years. The Meiji outfit, champions of the Orient, proved formidable opposition for most of the Western colleges of this country, winning 19 games of a 29 game schedule.

In Zenimura, right fielder and captain of the team, the visitors from across the Pacific boast one of the finest all-round baseball artists in Japan. Coach Okada, mentor of the Meiji nine, and himself a brilliant baseball player, believes that Zenimura would have no trouble in making major league competition in this country.

- Harai, conqueror of Iowa and Michigan, will probably draw the mound work against the Friars, although there are no less than five clever hurlers with the invaders, all of whom have proved to be first class timber in their American competitions. As the game here completes the Japanese tour of this country, they will sail for England on Saturday, the mentor will be ready to use his entire staff of moundsmen, if necessary, to clinch the verdict.

GRADUATE MANAGER JOHNNY FARRELL spent several months negotiating for a game between the Dominicans and the strong Meiji University team of Japan and he will also look at the world with smiling eyes if his efforts are rewarded with well-filled stands this afternoon. The Meiji nine is a colorful team according to reports and capable of giving any of Uncle Sam's college outfits a real fight. Playing Holy Cross Tuesday at Worcester, Meiji went down in a stubbornly waged contest, Coach Barry's great batsmen pounding out a victory, their 18th in 19 starts in intercollegiate circles.

Defeating Brown in the final and deciding battle of the series put the Friars in rare fighting trim and they expect to climb a notch or two on the collegiate ladder by vanquishing both the Meiji nine today and St. John's Saturday. Tom McElroy, who wanted another shot at the Bears Tuesday, but warmed the bench, will probably draw the pitching assignment.

MELJI SURPRISES FRIARS; WINS 8-6

Japanese College Nine Keeps
Dominicans on Edge
Throughout Game.

Game played: MAY 30, 1929

Playing its first international contest the Providence College baseball aggregation bowed to a superior nine from Japan on Hendricks Field yesterday afternoon when the Meiji University team of Tokio completed its American tour by tacking an 8 to 6 defeat on the Friars. The game was by far the fastest and most exciting the Dominicans have engaged in this year.

Meiji presented a colorful team and an aggregation that could hit and field exceptionally well. In Tabé, sensational shortstop, the visitors from the Orient presented a youngster who would be an asset to any major league nine. He was easily the outstanding performer of the fray.

Combing the offerings of Buckley and Moran for 13 hits Meiji piled up a commanding lead in the final stage of the fray, which proved to be needed when the Friars in a ninth inning attack, with Lobdell leading the way with a home run over the right field fence, netted four runs. The Japs proved fast on the bases and had the locals on edge throughout the tilt to hold them in check.

Meiji Lives Up to Reports

In handing the Friars their fifth setback of the season, the Meiji nine lived up to advance reports of its ability. In Nakamura, pitcher; Tabé, shortstop, and Washio, first baseman, the visitors presented three stars who were selected as the best college performers in Japan's collegiate ranks, and all three proved their worth. Tabé roved the shortfield to frustrate every attempt of the Friars to punch a hit through his territory. Nakamura had matters well in hand throughout the clash, until he weakened in the ninth, and Washio was the slugging ace of the day, garnering four hits out of five trips to the plate.

Leo Lobdell gave the final thrill to the fine game when he poled the longest hit ever made on Hendricks Field, driving the ball over the right field fence, the horsehide clearing the barrier with 30 feet to spare. The blow came with the bases loaded and enabled the locals to boost their count to six. Incidentally, Lobdell wins the unique honor of being the first Providence ball tosser to perform the feat of driving a homer out of the Smith Hill ball park.

Tabé Brilliant Flash

While both teams flashed some fine fielding, it was the work of the diminutive Tabé, shortstop for the Meiji nine, which caught the favor of the large holiday crowd. In the third he broke up a rally when he made a fine stop of Szydla's grounder near second, stepped on that base to force out Dion, and completed the double killing with a lightning to first. In the fourth he won the plaudits of the fans with a spectacular unassisted double play, which he started when he hurled himself into the air to pull down Duffy's line drive, and then doubled Fleurent on the keystone sack.

Nakamura, a rangy right hander with plenty of speed, managed to keep the locals in check, allowing but three scattered hits in the first four innings.

In the third Zenimura, captain of the invaders, broke the ice with a hard blow through the box, the ball bounding off Buckley's shins, pilfering second and scoring on Washio's first hit, a clean single to left. Another counter was chalked up the following stanza when Tezuka and Nakamura walked with two out and Capalli booted Mano's easy roller, adding to the miscue with a wild peg to first to allow a run to trickle across the plate.

Buckley met disaster in the fifth after two were out. Washio smashed his second hit into right field, and Sumida followed with a one baser into centre. Then Masu, the Babe Ruth of Japan's colleges, contributed a hard drive over Szydla's head for a home run.

Providence Gets Two

Providence came back with a brace of tallies in its half of the same canto. Main singled to right and Capalli walked. Wineapple, hitting for Buckley grounded out, the runners moving up a peg on the play. Nakamura tightened and fanned Dion, Szydla ducked a fast shoot, and in so doing popped a bunt along third which Sumida retrieved and threw wild to first, both Main and Capalli scoring.

Moran twirled fine ball for three frames, and then met the fate of Buckley when the Japs broke loose with a strong ninth inning rally. Three singles, a double, a sacrifice and an error netted three runs before the Friars were finally able to halt the rally, Moran making a fine double play on fielding Masu's roller, pegging to Cappalli at second for the forceout and the latter player completing the double killing with a speedy throw to Duffy.

In the last of the ninth Moran was safe when Mano booted his roller, and Dion continued the rally with a clean single to centre. Szydla filed out, but Fleurent dropped a Texas leaguer into left which was nearly caught by Tabe. With the bases filled, Duffy hoisted a high fly to short. Then Lobdell came through with his Ruthian blow, clearing the hassocks to narrow the visitors' winning margin.

Brooklyn Collegians Upset Friars

ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE SURPRISES DOMINICANS IN 12-6 SLUGFEST

Brooklyn Batsmen Assault McElroy, Bradley and Moran for 1 Wallops, Including Three Triples and Five Doubles.—Three Hits for Harraghy

Game played: JUNE 1, 1929

Pounding out seventeen hits and twelve runs, the St. John's College nine of Brooklyn staged a real upset on Hendriken Field yesterday afternoon by smashing through with a 12 to 6 triumph over Jack Flynn's Providence College aggregation. The Dominicans took the invaders over by an 11 to 7 score in New York last Easter week and as a result were forced to make a clean sweep of the series.

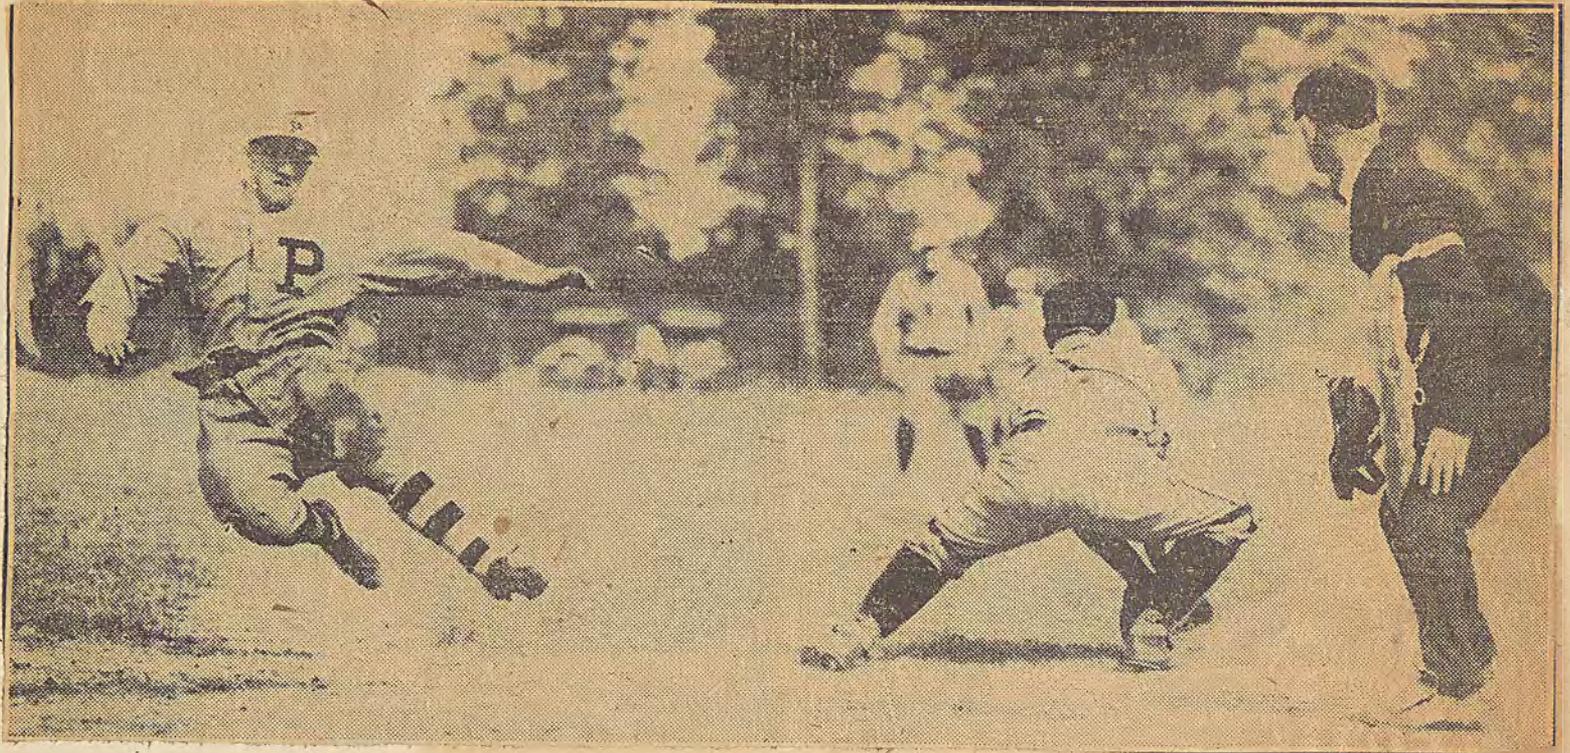

Three hurlers were used by the Smith Hillers in an effort to stave off the terrific attacks launched by the visitors, but neither McElroy, Bradley, or Moran, the trio to toil for the White and Black cause, proved effective enough to stem the sluggers. Eight of the hits were extra base knocks, three being triples, five doubles.

Posnack, considered by major league scouts to be one of the best outfield prospects in college ranks, proved that he is league timber. In five trips to the plate he hammered out two triples, and a double. All three blows cleared the outfielders' heads and rolled to the centerfield fence. Only the fact that Lobdell, Dominican outer gardener was playing deep, prevented the double from being a three base blow.

Fernandez, a stocky southpaw with good control had matters well in hand, allowing the Flynnmen but six scattered hits, and holding them in check whenever they threatened to be dangerous. Joe Harraghy, veteran catcher of the Friars was the only member of that aggregation able to wield his bludgeon effectively, the Taunton junior garnering three hits.

The visitors turned in some fine work afield, the outer gardeners handling everything driven their way, with but one miscue, Posnack dropping Harraghy's riser after a hard run in the fourth, while the infield chipped in with a pair of double killings. Evers started the first such play to break up a rally in the first inning, and Krist engineering the start of a second one to spoil the Dominicans' chance of a score in the sixth.

Close Play in Providence-St. John's Game

St. John's scored first, chalking up two markers in the first inning and adding another one in the fourth. The Dominicans counted once in the second, and then rallied to tie the score at three all in the fourth. A heavy St. John's rally in the sixth, netting five runs, gave the lead to the visitors, and three runs in the eighth and one in the ninth placed the verdict far beyond the reach of the Smith Hillers, whose final effort resulted in three runs in the last of the eighth.

Lobdell made a fine bid for a running catch off Clynick's bat as the game got underway, but the ball eluded him and the hit was good for two bases. Copper popped out to Cappalli, but Posnack rammed a long drive into left, the ball bounding past Szydla to the fence. Collins fled to Lobdell and Posnack raced home on the out.

Harraghy singled to start the second frame, but was forced out at second when Main grounded to Evers. Cappalli was walked, and McElroy hit to third, Evers booting the chance and Main slid across the plate with the first Providence run. Dion fled out to halt the rally.

In the fourth both teams counted, with the Friars tying the score in their half. St. John's added one run when Evers doubled to center, and Kinszrunner followed with a two-bagger to the same spot a few moments later. The Dominicans garnered two tallies on one hit. Harraghy was safe when Posnack dropped his fly, and Evers made a poor peg to second for a force out on Main's grass cutter, the ball going into the outfield to allow both runners to race nearer the home station. Cappalli contributed a timely single to left to score both players.

In the sixth Cappalli started trouble when he muffed up Krist's grounder, and then overthrew first. Fernandez singled to right, and Clynick dropped a single into the same territory. Cooper continued the assault with a one baser into center, and Coach Flynn rushed Bradley to the rescue.

With two out, Posnack greeted Bradley with a long triple over Lobdell's head, clearing the bases. Collins scoring Posnack, DiDomenico gleaned a hit on a hard rap at Dion, and Evers ended the trouble by rolling an easy grounder to Bradley.

In the eighth Posnack smashed out his second triple, Collins walked, Evers tripled to center, and Krist hoisted a sacrifice fly to bring home another run. In the ninth the invaders added their twelfth and last marker on a single by Cooper, a stolen base, and two errors.

The Friars punched across three runs in their half of the eighth when Duffy strolled, and Lobdell and Harraghy collected singles to fill the bases. Fernandez lost control and walked Main and Cappalli, forcing in two runs, and Krieger, batting for Bradley, fled to right to enable the third tally to be checked in.

O'Connor Holds Dominicans to Five Hits, B. C. Wins 3-0

Visitors Bunch Safeties Off
Wineapple to Score in First,
Fifth and Seventh.

Playing brilliantly behind their clever southpaw ace, Shaker O'Connor, the Boston College nine hung up its 15th victory of the season by shutting out the Providence College ball tossers on Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon, 3-0. The defeat is the third straight to be sustained by the Smith Hillers, and marks their seventh setback of the year.

The contest was a fine pitchers' battle all the way between Eddie Wineapple, clever portsider of the Friars, and O'Connor, with honors about even. Both fanned five men and both proved strong in the pinches. The ability of the sluggers from the Hub to bunch their safe blows in the first, fifth and seventh innings spelled the defeat of the Dominican performer.

O'Connor, with a fine change of pace, held the Friars well in check throughout, although no small share of the honor belongs to the fine aggregation he had behind him. Time and again the Friars attempted to break loose, but every effort was frustrated by sharp fielding on the part of the visitors. Five scattered hits were all that O'Connor permitted during the fray.

Weston Gets One Hit

Al Weston, home-run king of the New England colleges, and leader of the Eagles, failed to show anything against Wineapple's deceptive slants yesterday, retiring via the strikeout route twice, and getting but one hit in four trips to the platter. The hitting honors of the day went to Colbert, rugged catcher of the Newton nine, who collected a double and a single to lead the Eagles' attack.

The fielding features of the clash went to the Friars, with Cappalli staging a clever double killing unassisted in the seventh when he speared Spognardi's line drive over second and doubled Paddy Creedon off the keystone sack, while Joe Duffy came to the fore with a brilliant pickup of Cappalli's poor throw to first in the fifth to prevent an error and to hold a runner on third. Spognardi with five chances at short without a miscue was the shining light in the Eagles' infield.

GAME played: JUNE 5, 1929

Boston chalked up an unearned run in the first inning. Creedon, first batter, walked. Spognardi fled to Fleurent, and a moment later Wineapple uncorked a wild heave which eluded Harraghy and allowed Creedon to race to third. Al Weston fanned and the danger appeared past, when Colbert, stocky backstop, crashed a single into left to score the runner. O'Day followed with a double to the same vicinity, but Herman grounded to Wineapple for the third out.

After going hitless for three innings the Eagles piled up three safe blows in the fifth to add another run to their slight lead. Shea led off with a single to left, and O'Connor moved him up with a sacrifice bunt. Creedon hit to short and Duffy saved the situation temporarily with a fine pick-up of the throw, Shea going to third on the play. Spognardi singled to score Shea, and Weston hammered out his one hit of the day, poking a single past short. Colbert fanned to end the rally.

Shea Starts Trouble Again.

In the seventh Shea started the trouble again when he doubled inside the third base cushion, the ball going into left field foul territory. O'Connor dropped his second bunt, and Creedon came through with a safe hit to left to score the runner. Creedon stole second, but was doubled up when Cappalli nailed Sognardi's bid for a hit.

The Friars had a chance to score in the first stanza after two were out. Fleurent singled to left and Duffy hit to second, the ball bounding over Creedon's head into right field, allowing Fleurent to race to third. Lobdell's best effort, however, was a grounder to O'Connor. After this inning only three hits were collected off O'Connor, Main singling in the second, Wineapple in the fifth and Duffy doubling in the ninth.

PROVIDENCE PLAYS LOOSELY, YALE IS VICTOR BY 4 TO 1

Friars Go to Pieces Behind
Buckley and Make Six Errors.

Game played: JUNE 8, 1929

(Special to the Providence Journal).

New Haven, June 8.—The Yale nine with Loud, star twirler doing the honors, turned back the Providence College outfit here this afternoon by a 4 to 1 count in a loosely played game. Both teams had the benefit of fine hurling, but the Friars went to pieces behind Frank Buckley, promising Roxbury finger, committing no less than six errors to allow the Elis to pile up their lead.

Buckley, making his third major start for the Dominicans, turned in one of the best tilts of the Friars' spring campaign, holding the locals to five hits, of which two were infields taps, which were handled too slowly to prevent runners from reaching first. Buckley fanned four and contributed one of the five saving blows credited to his team.

An infield tap which went for a hit and three errors accounted for the first Yale run, garnered in the opening inning, while another weak tap which Maine failed to field fast started the second run over the plate, as the hit was followed by a stolen base, an error and a sacrifice fly. Two successive walks placed men on the paths in the fifth so as to be in scoring position when Vincent, Yale first sacker, pounded out one of the few clean hits of the fray, smashing a double inside of third base.

The Friars prevented a shutout in the eighth when Loud struck a wild streak which was made fatal when Hul Aldrich, Fall River lad, who handles third for the Elis, heaved into right field trying to make a force play at second on Bob Dion. To start this rally Cappalli drew a walk. Curran went in to pinch hit for Buckley but fanned. Dion strolled and Szydla pounded a hard grounder at Aldrich who made a fine stop and then tossed wildly trying to cut Dion down at second. The ball went astray into right field as Cappalli scored the lone Providence run and Dion raced to third. Fleurent fled out to third and Duffy forced Szydla at second to end the attack.

In the opening stanza, Grove, fleet centrefielder of Yale, hit a bounder to short and beat the throw, as Cappalli played the ball poorly going back rather than in to stop it. Grove started a steal of second which Harraghy frustrated in part with a perfect throw. Cappalli, however, dropped the ball. Garvey grounded out, Dion to Duffy, Grove going to third, from where he scored while Cappalli was tossing out Walker at first on his grounder. With two out Dion scooted Vincent's roller and a moment later Harry Main miscued on grass cutter off Snead's bat. Aldrich ended the chaotic inning by forcing Snead at second.

In the third inning Grove collected another cheap hit when he ran out a tap to second, then stole second, continuing to third on Harraghy's wild peg in the attempt to cut him down, and scored when Garvey hoisted a high fly to Szydla in left field.

In the fifth Buckley started off well by fanning Loud for the second time. But he found trouble in tossing his slants up to the satisfaction of Grove and Garvey, both drawing walks. Both runners moved up when Dion tossed Walker out at first after making a fine pickup, and both raced across the plate when Vincent, cleanup batter, rapped a double just inside third base. Providence had a fine chance to score in the sixth but failed. Buckley opened with a sharp single to centre, and after Dion had skied to Hoben, Szydla poked a hit into left and Fleurent forced Szydla at second to be thrown out at first for the final out of the inning to end the rally.

TWO BIG TILTS FOR THE FRIARS

Holy Cross Comes Here Tuesday and Iowa on Thursday

Jack Flynn's Providence College ball club will have its hands full this week when it winds up its campaign with two of the most talked of teams in the country, Holy Cross and the University of Iowa. The Crusaders are due to play here on Tuesday, and Iowa on Thursday, the Dominicans' graduation day.

Holy Cross, winner in 23 out of 24 college games played this season, has definitely clinched the Eastern college ball title which was held jointly last spring by the Worcester outfit and the Dominicans. However, the Smith Hill contingent is far from downcast by the fact that it fell below par this spring, and with the natural aggressiveness of a second place club will try to pin a defeat on the Crusaders Tuesday afternoon on Hendricken Field.

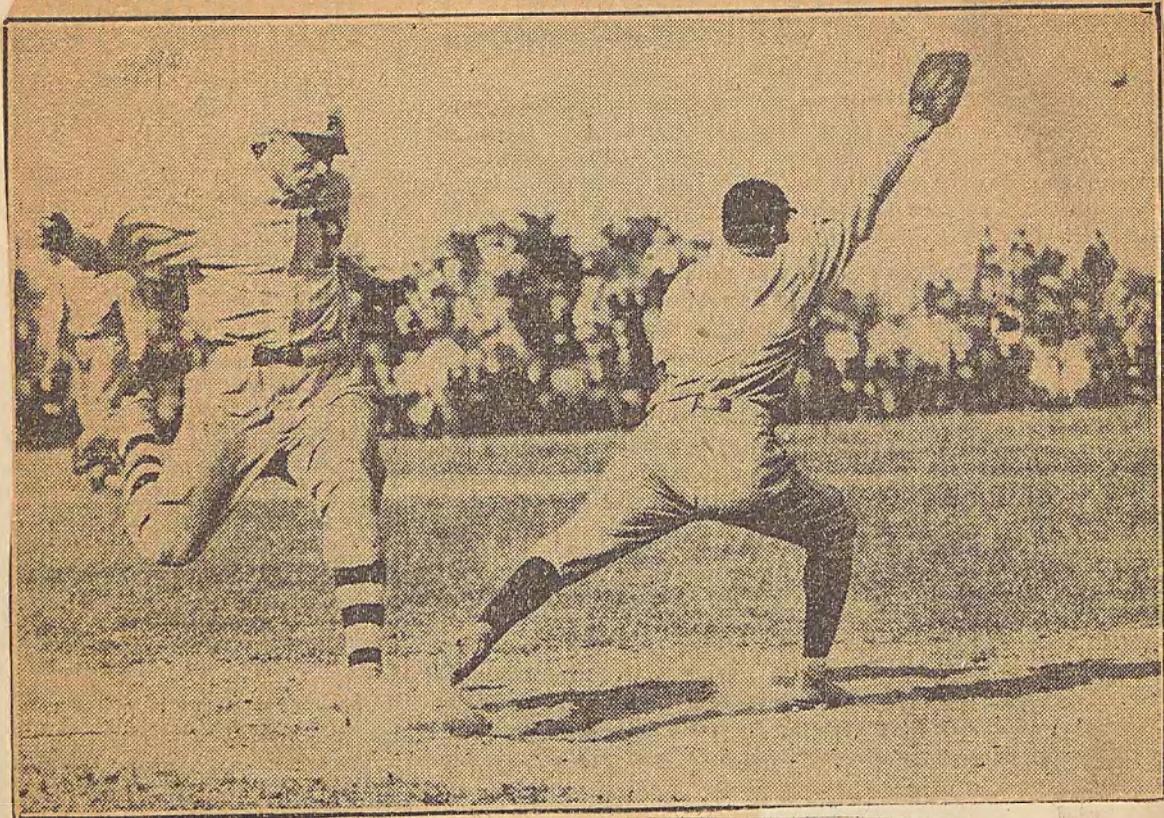

Last April when the Dominicans played at Worcester, and incidentally suffered a bad case of stage fright, Eddie Wineapple was driven from the box. Tuesday the Salem southpaw plans to have a different story for the Crusaders, as he has found himself to the extent that his is again twirling brilliant ball. His work against Boston College was excellent, and had he received a little help in the way of hits and runs from his mates, the Eagles' three run margin would have been useless.

Iowa is one of the most talked of aggregations in the Middle West to-day because of the recent scandal which resulted in the dropping of Iowa from the Big Ten Conference for alleged subsidizing of athletes. Several of the athletes accused by those who brought charges against Iowa, will be in the lineup which will swing into action Thursday afternoon on the Smith Hill lot.

With Wineapple on deck for the Cross game, Coach Flynn will undoubtedly call upon Tom McElroy to do the honors on Thursday. Incidentally it will be McElroy's final appearance for the Dominicans, as he is slated to receive his degree in the morning. Buckley and Moran will be held in reserve on both occasions, and will be ready to do relief duty should either Wineapple or McElroy falter in their assignments.

The invasion of the Crusaders promises to bring the largest crowd of the year to Hendricken Field, as the Purple collegians have a snappy ball club, and boast several performers who are almost ripe for major league services. In Shevlin at first, Dick Harrell at second and Frank Nekola, star pitcher, Jack Barry has three exceptional ball tossers under his wing. Nekola is undefeated this spring, having won 11 games. He is reported to have received offers from many major league outfits, but is said to be in line for duty with the Yankees when he finishes his college career.

FRIARS 8-1 TO WIN

20TH IN ROW

HOLY CROSS CRUSADERS HUMBLE DOMINICANS FOR SECOND TIME

Hebert Outpitches Wineapple All the Way, Holding the Home-
sters to Four Scattered Knocks as Mates Register 20th
Straight Victory, the Final Score Being 8 to 1

Easily substantiating their claim to the Eastern college baseball title, the Holy Cross nine registered its 20th straight victory at the expense of Jack Flynn's Providence College nine on Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon, pounding out an 8 to 1 triumph over the Friars. The win is the second of the year over the Smith Hillers, as the locals went down before Nekola at Worcester by an 11 to 0 count.

Eddie Wineapple was on the slab for the Flynnmen, with Gene Hebert, speed ball twirler, working for the Crusaders. Hebert shaded Wineapple all the way, allowing but four scattered hits, while the Providence southpaw had his offerings scattered about the field on several occasions as the visitors opened fire with rallies which proved their right to be hailed as the classiest team in the country.

The game was slow, and was marked by but few fielding features. Lobdell made a spectacular running catch of Hurley's bid for a Texas leaguer in the second, and Shevlin, classy first sacker of the Cross, started a fast double play in the same session to provide the only fielding gems of the day.

The Dominicans failed to flash any kind of real attack, and fell victims to Hebert's fine assortment of curves and fast balls. No less than 10 faded out of the picture via the strikeout route, with Fleurent the worst offender with three to his credit in four trips to the platter. Duffy, Maine and Wineapple were the only ones who did not whiff in the course of the contest.

Blondy Ryan, shortstop, and Lawrence, rugged right fielder, with three hits apiece, led the Holy Cross attack. Desautels, red-haired catcher, contributed two triples, and Hurley, left fielder, chipped in with a homer and a double during the course of the afternoon.

After failing to score in the first inning the Crusaders came back strong in the second frame to cross the plate three times. With one out Ryan drew a walk, and went to second when Harraghy let one of Wineapple's slants get away from him. Lawrence singled to left scoring Ryan, and a moment later went to third on a hit and run into right field, with Cahill contributing the needed safe blow. On the relay in the ball took a bad hop over Dion's head and rolled into the stand, allowing Ryan to score and Cahill to go to third. Desautels scored Cahill on a high sacrifice fly to Fleurent.

In the fourth Desautels collected his first long hit when he chased Lobdell to the centerfield fence to shack his triple to that locality. Hebert, pitcher, contributed the scoring blow when he singled past Dion, the ball going into left field foul territory. Another run was chalked up in the fifth which should not have crossed the plate. Hurley singled to left, but the ball took a bad hop over Sydla's head and rolled to the fence for a home run.

In the sixth Wineapple stopped another rally when he fanned Shevlin with runners on second and third. In this same canto the Dominicans crashed through with a lone marker to avoid a shutout. Wineapple drew a walk to start the inning went to second while Dion was being tossed out on his infield tap, and scored when Sydla dumped a single over third.

In the seventh, Hurley started trouble with a double to left, Ryan followed with a crash into right and the locals had a fine chance to break up the rally on the relay in, but Joe Duffy booted the chance when he pegged wild to the plate when an accurate throw would have cut down Hurley trying to score on the play. Lawrence scored Ryan with a single to right.

In the last inning Ryan came through with his third hit, a smash to right, which elude Fleurent, and scored when Main's peg in the attempt to cut him down at third went wild past Dion into the stands.

IOWA BESTS FRIARS

Dominicans Lose to Iowans, 2-1, in Last Game of Year

Ninth-Inning Rally Brings Winning Run to Western College Nine.

Displaying their best game in weeks, and working brilliantly afield in an effort to give Tom McElroy, veteran Olneyville flogger, a victory in his final college game, the Providence College outfit bowed to the University of Iowa nine on Hendricks Field yesterday afternoon by a 2 to 1 score. The game was a close affair from start to finish, and the Westerners required a ninth-inning rally to push the winning marker across the plate.

McElroy, who received his degree in the morning, engaged in a close mound duel with David, husky southpaw of the Iowa aggregation, and it was not until the end that the latter was sure of the verdict. Both showed exceptional form, McElroy walking but one, and David but two. Both were effective many times in the pinches, and although the Friars' Senior was forced to take the loser's end, he had the satisfaction of toiling at his best in behalf of the Black and White cause.

In the fatal ninth, with the score deadlocked, Musgrove, third baseman of the visitors, dropped a bunt along third which both McElroy and Dion went after at top speed. However, their efforts were in vain, as the fleet Iowan raced safely to the first sack, and the winning rally was started. Sahs carried out his assignment perfectly, dropping a bunt along first to prevent a play at second for a forceout there. Then Glasgow, sturdy shortstop, who has been one of the athletes listed in the banning of Iowa from the Big Ten, came through with a one-base smash to centrefield to score Musgrove.

Nap Fleurent, diminutive right fielder of the Friars, was the fielding star of the fray, making four stellar catches during the pastime. In the sixth he raced into deep right to pull down Stebbins's bid for a hit, and in the seventh brought the fans to their feet when he made a spectacular catch of Sahs's bid for a triple, racing into centre field to pull down the drive.

Sahs, rangy first sacker of the Iowans, had a busy session at the initial sack, as he was credited with no less than 20 of the putouts made against the Friars. Nineteen assists, all by the infield, kept him busy digging the ball out of the dust at first, but he failed to make a single miscue during the clash.

Game played: JUNE 13, 1929

Both hurlers showed plenty of form as they mowed down the batters in the first inning. In the second, however, David struck rough going and a timely hit by one of the Friars might have changed the aspect of the entire game. In this canto, Harraghy was hit in the arm, Main singled to centre and McElroy walked to fill the bases, with two out. Dion's best effort was a high foul which Sabs pulled down in right field territory.

In the fourth, the Dominicans crashed through with their lone marker, Krieger, who returned to the lineup after an absence of three weeks, poked a single into right field to start the rally. Harraghy dropped a pretty bunt to move the runner up a peg, and while Main was being tossed out at first Krieger raced to third. Cappalli smashed a single through the box to score the Paterson Sophomore.

With McElroy forcing them to hoist high risers to the outfield, the Iowans had little chance to start any trouble, and it was not until the eighth that they drew the first break which enabled them to tie the score. With one out, Blackford drew a walk, and raced all the way around to third when Stebbins shot a single into right.

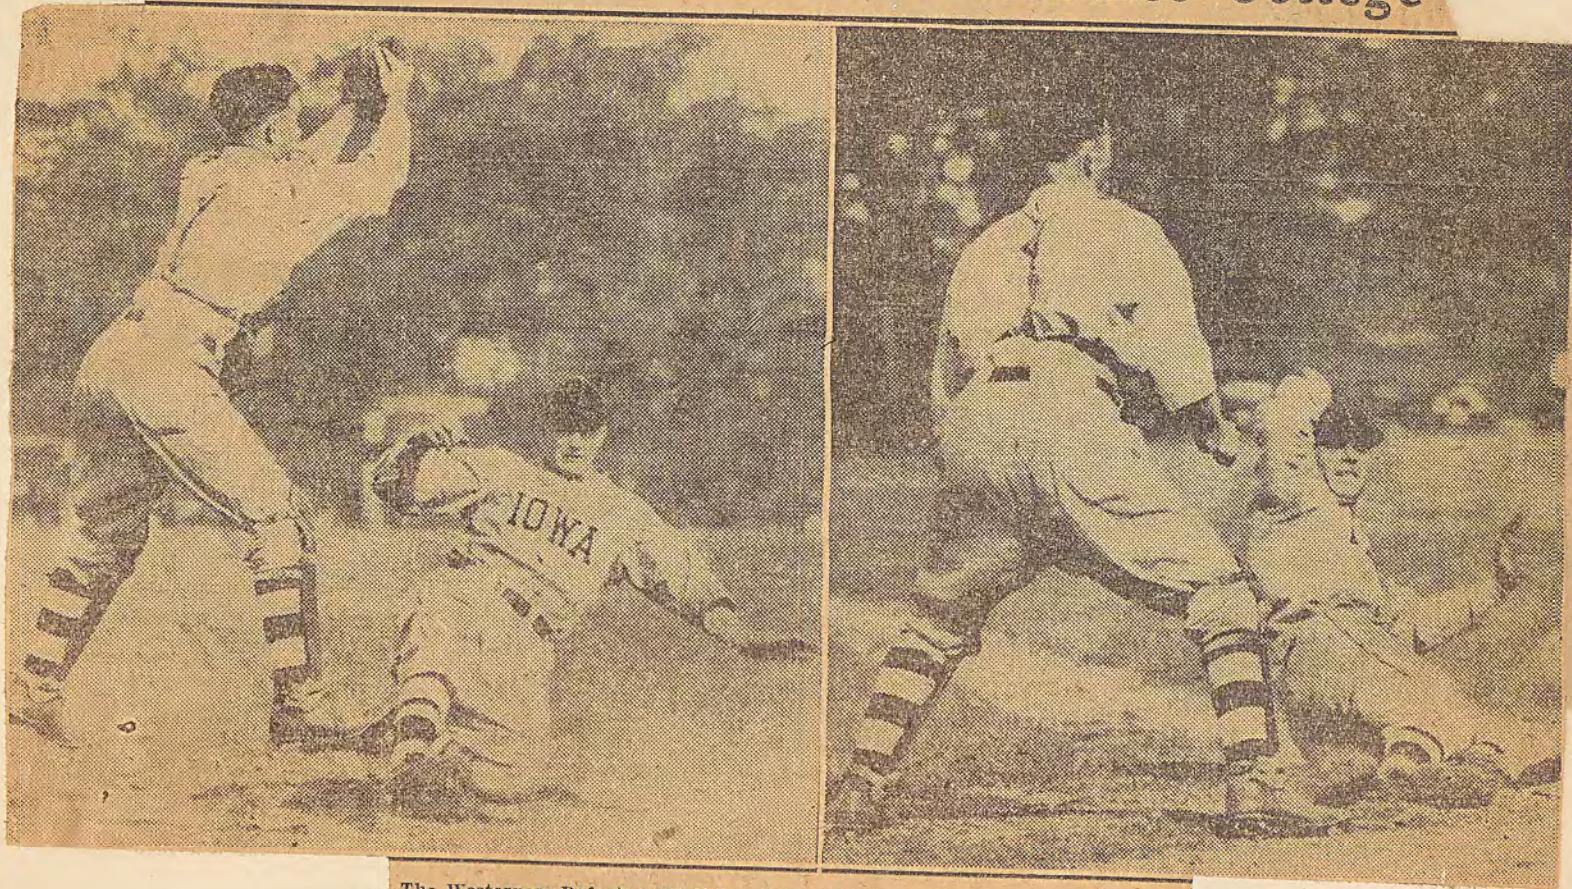

Stebbins started to steal second, so as to draw a throw, and was caught midway. Main started to run him back, but lost him in the mixup at first base. Duffy pegged to the plate in an effort to prevent Blackford from scoring, but the throw was high and too late, the runner sliding safely under Harraghy with the counter which knotted the score at one apiece.

Springfield, Iowa, Harvard
Crusaders' Last Victims;
Nekola Scores Eleventh

Interest in Eastern intercollegiate baseball, which is nearing the end of a record season, shifted to New England during the last week. Only seventeen games were played.

In the matter of activity Holy Cross and Boston College were the busiest. Each played and won three games, the former increasing its winning streak to nineteen straight, and its season's record to twenty-four victories and one defeat. Boston College has now won fifteen and lost three games. Single victories were scored by Manhattan, Amherst, Rutgers, Penn., Harvard, Tufts, Yale and Princeton. Harvard was also beaten, as were Springfield, Lehigh and Villanova. Providence College, Syracuse and Columbia were vanquished.

Nekola Fans Twelve More

Holy Cross included Springfield College, the University of Iowa and Harvard, in its week's work. Springfield offered little or no resistance in losing, 21 to 0, with Sims facing Lipp and Johnson on the mound. Iowa, with a formidable pitcher in Forest Twogood, was beaten, 8 to 3, and Harvard, 7 to 3. In the latter game Nekola, the leading college pitcher, won his eleventh straight, allowing eight hits and striking out twelve. Sims let Springfield down with five hits while Herbert yielded eight to the Iowans.

Boston College also took the measure of Iowa, 11 to 1, this victory coming the day after Providence College was shut out, 3 to 0. The Eagles ended the week with a 13-3 triumph over Vermont.

Manhattan and Columbia were the only local nines to play. Manhattan beat the New York A. C. last Sunday, 6 to 5, and Columbia started off the week by losing to Penn on Monday, 7 to 1. Princeton beat the Lions on Wednesday, 10 to 4. Harvard's victory was over Rhode Island State, 8 to 6. Penn., after beating Columbia, won from Syracuse, 18 to 5. Rutgers's one game was with Syracuse Thursday and the Garnet won, 6 to 1. Lehigh beat Muhlenberg, 3 to 2; Lafayette won from Villanova, 9 to 7; Tufts vanquished New Hampshire State, 5 to 4; Yale beat Providence, 4 to 1, and Amherst won from Mass. Aggies, 5 to 4, to account for the other contests.

FRIAR ENDS DEFEAT

ASSUMPTION 10-3

Scores 10-3 Victory Over Worcester Team in Seven Innings.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)

Worcester, Mass., April 24.—The Providence College junior Varsity nine completely outclassed the Assumption College aggregation here this afternoon, winning a 10 to 3 game which was called after seven innings. The victory marked the second successive one for the Dominicans' reserves over the locals, as Assumption dropped an 8 to 2 game to them here last spring.

Frank Lally, first baseman of the Rhode Islanders, was the heavy hitter, collecting two doubles and a single in his three trips to the plate. Rzezniki, third baseman, and Sellig, centre fielder, both starred in the free hitting exhibition, both collecting two doubles apiece. After a shaky first inning in which he was nicked for three runs, Hoban, former La Salle twirler, was master of the situation, and held the locals scoreless for five innings. J. Zande twirled the seventh inning and retired the side in order.

The Dominican Javees' scored three runs in the first inning, four in the second, and one each in the fifth, sixth, and seventh cantos.

The lineups were:

Providence Junior Varsity—Rzezniki, 1b.; Maguire, 1. f.; Matthews, c.; Sellig, 2. f.; Hamill, s. s.; Lally, 1b.; McCormac, 2b.; Fitzpatrick, r. 1.; Hoban and Zande, p.

Assumption College—Gurtin, r. 1.; Torvat, 2b.; DeJorys, c. f.; Laxitiaz, 1. f.; Callade, 2b.; Dufault, 1b.; Dupria, s. s.; Dufault, c.; Toyetto, p.

FRANK C. HEBERT TO

Providence College Outfielder Signs to Play in Eastern League.

Frank C. Hebert, regular centre fielder and clean-up batter of the Providence College nine last season, has signed a contract with the Allentown club of the Eastern League and will report there for spring training. He is a big fellow, standing better than 6 feet in height, and weighs 180 pounds. He is a right-hand batter.

Coach Jack Flynn declares that Hebert is about ripe for Class A ball, and that with a little more experience will make a fine ball player. He hit over .300 last year, is fast on his feet and possesses a whip that had few equals in college ranks last season. He came to Providence College from Dean Academy, where he played one year, and is a product of the Quincy, Mass., high school. He did not return to college last fall. In the departure of Hebert, Providence College lost one of its most promising stars.

LEO SMITH PITCHES FIRST GAME AND BROCKTON LANDS

Brockton Times

Former Providence College Star Silences Guns of Lewiston Twins---Brockton Takes 4 to 1 Victory---Johnny Cox Important Cog in Brockton's Offence---Nolan Stars in Field.

Lewiston, May 10.—Leo Smith proved as effective on the diamond as on the gridiron, when he pitched a sterling game to still the slugging guns of the Twins and Brockton came out on the long end of a 4 to 1 tally. Johnny Cox furnished the punch that won for Brockton when he scored Art Trefry in the eighth to break up a 1 to 1 deadlock. Rollo Flinn, Twins' rookie, held Smith all even until late in the game when Cox's slow infield roller broke the tie.

Brockton landed on Flinn in the ninth for two additional scores as Red Torphy doubled off the far left field fence. White dropped a long single into centre, and Trefry and Manning slatted singles through the infield.

The twins were first to score. Landry opened with a single between Jimmy Nolan and Cox and was advanced to third on infield outs. He scored as Plummer dropped Cox's throw.

Johnny Cox stole home in the fourth to even the count. First he doubled into left field, hitting a sharp hook right over the bag. He took third as Donahue was thrown out. And then he dashed for home and made it in a cloud of dust as Catcher Landry was too slow to tag him.

Jimmy Nolan had a spectacular day afield, with six clockwork assists and five putouts to his credit. Plummer, Brockton's new first baseman, set a new record by fanning four times in a row yesterday, and added three more consecutive whiffs to-day. He finally broke the ice by grounding out in the eighth to-day.

PEN PICTURES OF TROY ATHLETES

HECTOR ALLEN

Subject No. 71

"HEC" ALLEN is not only one of the finest athletes Troy has produced in a long time, but on top of that he is one of the most thorough sports that ever played a game. "Hec" is as much in love with good, clean sports as any man ever could be, and his many fine performances on the gridiron, the diamond and the basketball court bear this out well.

Now "Hec" has been named athletic director at St. Joseph's Club, and in selecting him for this job the club made a wise choice; it chose a three-sport man with fine coaching qualities and an athlete who is the center of great popularity among Troy fans.

"Hec's" Athletic Career.

"Hec" first played basketball for St. Peter's Academy, and from then on he identified himself with numerous other teams, always playing the same fine game and always winning new friends. He went to Providence College a few years ago and there he became a three-sport man. He was captain of the basketball team and played forward and guard while at college. Then he was halfback on the football team and played third base on the baseball nine.

He was selected as the third baseman on the All Eastern Inter-collegiate baseball team. Since he got out of college "Hec" has been playing football, basketball and baseball with semi-pro teams and making an excellent showing.

Speaking of excellent showings, however, it would be hard for an athlete to make any finer impression than "Hec" Allen made while he was at college. He is now playing football with the Rough Riders of Amsterdam and is also coaching the team. He played baseball with such teams as the Emeralds and other semi-pro teams at different times. Allen was also a player on the old Viaduct team, which will be remembered by many a Troy baseball fan.

Due for Successful Season.

Hector is well known in St. Joseph's Club, having played against the club as a member of the St. Peter's Lyceum teams in days gone by, and then the Lyceum team and St. Joseph's Club outfit were strong rivals. Allen is due for a successful season at the club, we hope, and we extend him every good wish for such.

As Herman Do

Timely Drive in the Eighth Inning With Score Tied Beats Jess Petty

By Murray Tynan

After pitching for many years and in all sorts of ball parks, big league and otherwise, Jess Petty, ye olde time Flatbush favorite, yesterday came to the conclusion that it's never too late to learn. Lots of other people had earned that truth of this axiom before Petty saw the light, but it is doubtful if any one ever had the knowledge to trust upon him more forcibly than the Silver Fox.

Petty ascertained that passing a batter to get at Babe Herman is not so wise and left Brooklyn last night a wiser and wiser man. He was indiscreet enough to pass Gilbert in the eighth inning, thus filling the bases and creating a situation much to the liking of Herman. It brought him up with three men on, the score tied and 20,000 wild-eyed Brooklyn fans imploring him to hit the ball somewhere. He did.

Herman belted the pitch that Petty hoped would produce a double play into deep left center for a double, and with that straw broke the camel's back. Before that hit the Pirates had every confidence that they would win, but after they probably never gave victory another thought. They went home another Pittsburgh humbled by 9 to 6.

Dudley Pitches Well

Herman's hit, of course, was the big number in the show staged by the Robins, but there was another act.

Among the pitchers the work of Nekola was the outstanding feature. When he struck out twelve Harvard batsmen Saturday he brought his total of strikeouts for the season up to 112. Other members of the Crusader pitching staff have also been effective. Hebert has struck out 55, Dobens, 35; Sime, 21, and Fredericks, 11. Additional features of Nekola's record include four shutout games and the fact that he has passed but twenty men in eleven contests. The only record which approaches Nekola's strikeout mark is the one held by Demucchio, of Rutgers, who has fanned seventy-two batters in seven games.

Unbeaten Ranks Lose Two

The list of unbeaten pitchers was reduced during the week when Bresloff, of Syracuse, and Page, of Harvard, lost for the first time. Nichols, of Amherst, has won eight straight; O'Connor, of Boston College, seven; Demucchio, of Rutgers; Drewes, of Penn, and Hebert, of Holy Cross, six, and Heydt, of Princeton; Clyde, of N. Y. U., and Johnson, of Springfield, four.

Continuing the probe on the Holy Cross team it is found that the Crusaders have won eight by shutout scores. Their one defeat was by Princeton, 3 to 1. The first winning streak of Holy Cross was five games and was compiled at the expense of the University of Richmond, William and Mary, Georgetown, Brown and the Quantico Marines. Then Princeton, always a stumbling block for the Crusaders, won. Since then victories have been recorded over Providence College, Brown, Yale (twice), Fordham (twice), William and Mary, Lafayette, Penn State, N. Y. U., St. Lawrence, Tufts, Georgetown, Meiji, of Japan, Boston College, Harvard (twice), Springfield and the University of Iowa.
