Reappointed Coach

Archie Golembeski, Who Again Will Direct Providence College Football Squad Next Fall.

GOLEMBESKI AGAIN DOMINICAN COACH

Plans Early Fall Conditioning in Lieu of Spring Football Practice.

The reappointment of Anthony A. Golembeski as football coach of the Providence College eleven for the coming season was announced last night by the Dominican college athletic authorities. The announcement puts to rest rumors that the popular Holy Cross alumnus would not handle the grid reins at the Smith Hill college next fall.

Golembeski has been 'Varsity coach of the Black and White eleven for the past four years and in spite of the fact that his elevens have been faced with formidable schedules has had a creditable record. Of the 33 football games that the Dominicans have played since the Crusader alumnus took over the reins as mentor, eight were won and seven were tied.

This fall Golembeski will return to meet nearly 20 lettermen in addition to many capable moleskin artists who failed to win 'Varsity awards last year, but who can be counted upon to make strong bids for places on the 1929 eleven. Steve Nawrocki, tackle and captain last fall, and Joseph Watterson, veteran centre, are the only players to be lost by graduation.

No spring practice session will be held by Coach Golembeski according to his plans at present, but an early start will be made in the fall. The date of Sept. 3, the day following Labor Day, has been tentatively set by the Dominican mentor for the inauguration of football activity on Hendricken Field.

Coach Golembeski is at present serving as director of physical education at St. Mary's school in Worcester, and is planning to spend his time this summer as an instructor at a New England college.

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE has been in the front rank of the East's leading baseball teams for several years and this season has a basketball quintet that undoubtedly would finish on a high rung of the Intercollegiate League ladder if berthed with the select clubs on that fast circuit. Football has never been a winner from a playing or financial angle at the Smith Hill institution of learning and judging from the elevens that are to furnish the opposition next fall the Dominicans will have to step down the line at a slashing pace to get a fifty-fifty break on the schedule.

Graduate Manager Farrell did not toss any roses in Coach Archie Golembeski's path when he booked Rutgers for the opening contest and Holy Cross for the second. Colgate and Middlebury will not be rated as easy games, but once those teams are out of the way the Dominicans should finish with a string of three victories at the expense of Coast Guard, St. John's and Lowell Textile.

It was reported late in the fall that the services of the old Holy Cross star were to be dispensed with and a new coach signed, but Golly will be at the helm again, according to a graduate in close touch with the college.

Veteran Team Faces Strong Schedule.—Three Tilts to Be Played Here.

An eight-game football schedule which includes feature tilts with Rutgers University, Holy Cross, Canisius and Colgate was announced for the Providence College gridgers of this fall by Graduate Manager John E. Farrell of the Dominican college. Five games are listed to be played away from here, while the remaining three will be staged on Hendricken Field.

The new program for the Smith Hill gridgers is lighter than the card of last fall when Williams, Army, Temple and Springfield were listed among the opponents of the Black and White. With a strong array of veteran material available the locals expect to make a fine showing against the competition that has been lined up for the coming campaign.

Newcomers to the schedule are Rutgers, marking the first contest between the Jersey university and the Smith Hillers; Canisius College of Buffalo, which will make its appearance here on Columbus Day; Colgate, returning to the list after a two-year absence; Middlebury, which was last played in 1926, and Lowell Textile, one of the undefeated teams of the East last fall.

In addition to the Canisius game here on Oct. 12, Ben Beck's Middlebury aggregation will make its appearance on Smith Hill on Nov. 2, and two weeks later the St. John's College outfit of Brooklyn, rival of the locals, will come here for their seventh grid encounter with the Dominicans.

The schedule will be opened with the game with Rutgers University at New Brunswick, N. J., inaugurating athletic relations between the two schools. Rutgers always boasts strong grid outfits, and for the past two years has been one of the major opponents on Holy Cross's grid list.

The Holy Cross game, played last fall at the end of the list, has been moved to the second date on the card, being slated to be played at Worcester on Oct. 5th.

It will be the fifth time that the Providence grid stalwarts have performed on Fitton Field. The locals have yet to annex a win over the Crusaders in the fall sport, but will make a strong bid for such a victory next season.

Canisius, one of the outstanding teams of the East last fall, being beaten but once, by the undefeated Boston College eleven, will renew relations with the locals after a seven year lapse of activity. The Smith Hillers invaded Buffalo in 1922 and dropped a 15 to 6 decision in a blinding snowstorm, and since that time neither college has met in competition. Coached by Luke Urban, Fall River resident, and one of the greatest athletes ever developed at Boston College, Canisius will prove a powerful opponent for the locals to subdue.

Oct. 19 is an open date on the schedule at present, and although the Dominicans have been offered several opportunities to book a game, according to Graduate Manager Farrell, it will probably remain vacant in view of the Colgate game listed for the following Saturday at Hamilton, N. Y. The meeting between the New York Staters and the locals will mark their fourth grid combat.

Middlebury, coached by Ben Beck, former Medford high mentor, and well known Brown star, pays a visit to these Plantations on the first Saturday in November to meet the Black and White eleven. The Dominicans tussled to a 13-13 tie at Middlebury three years ago, and the return tilt carded for this city the following campaign, was washed away when the Vermont floods intervened.

Continuing their relations with the Coast Guard Academy the Dominicans will travel to New London on Nov. 9 while Brown entertains Dartmouth at the local stadium. Last fall the Cadets eked out a tie game with the Smith Hillers.

St. John's, oldest rival of the locals, will come here on Nov. 16, meeting the Providence outfit for the seventh successive campaign. In this rival series the Dominicans have won two, lost one and tied three. The game in Brooklyn last season ended in a scoreless decision.

Lowell Tech's undefeated eleven will close its campaign with the Smith Hillers at Lowell. The last grid clash between the two schools was in 1924, when Providence scored a one touchdown win in the Massachusetts city.

The complete schedule is as follows: Sept. 23, Rutgers University at New Brunswick, N. J.; Oct. 5, Holy Cross at Worcester; 12, Canisius College at Providence; 19, open; 26, Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y.; Nov. 2, Middlebury at Providence; 9, Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn.; 16, St. John's (of Brooklyn) at Providence; 23, Lowell Textile at Lowell, Mass.

Friar Football Candidates Will Report Next Week

Coach Golembeski to Start
Fifth Season.—Faces
Huge Task.

Seventeen lettermen are numbered among the candidates who have been invited to start pre-season football practice at Providence College on Monday, Sept. 9, according to an announcement made last night by Graduate Manager John E. Farrell.

The opening date this season is later than that of last fall, and as a result Coach Archie Golembeski, who is returning for his fifth campaign with the Friars, will have but 2½ weeks in which to round out an eleven to take the field against Rutgers at New Brunswick on the final Saturday of this month.

Although but two players were lost by graduation last June, Steve Nawrocki, tackle, who will coach Durfee high's eleven this fall, and Joe Watterson, centre, who is to be an instructor at Seton Hall College at South Orange, N. J., several other members of the 1928 squad will be absent from the drills this month for various reasons. Ineligibility has removed Johnny Dublenny, versatile triple threat fullback from Fall River; McVarish, end candidate from Waltham, and Fleurent, clever three-sports star from Ware from the ranks.

Two Candidates Withdraw

McAlevy, rugged tackle from Pawtucket, who developed into one of the best linemen on the Dominican squad last fall, will enter Tufts College, having won the C. M. T. C. four-year scholarship, while Murphy, Varsity guard, is transferring to Loyola College in Baltimore. Two end candidates are lost with the announcements from Buckley, who starred as a member of the Varsity baseball team last spring, and Curran, husky Junior from Nashua, that they planned to work during the fall, thus preventing their taking part in the gridiron activities.

Prospects are bright however, for a fairly successful season. Some fine material, well acquainted with Golembeski's system of play, awaits the call to action. Marty Gibbons, clever, athlete from Clinton, who will captain the team from a halfback berth, heads an array of veteran backfield which should provide the Dominicans with a real scoring punch in their clashes this fall.

Assisting Captain Gibbons in smashing opposing lines will be Mickey Foster, rugged ball-carrier from Pittsfield who won a regular assignment in his first year at the Smith Hill college. Johnny Brady, of Pawtucket, whose broken field running in the Holy Cross game last November stamped him as a real find and Szydla, basketball captain, and veteran halfback on the elevens for the past three campaigns.

Center is Weak Link

Fred DoGata and Johnny Turco will be on hand to handle the fullback assignment, while Joe Sharkey and Walt Baeszler will head the staff of quarterbacks. Sharkey generalled the team in most of the tilts last fall, and will round out a veteran backfield to start the clash with Rutgers.

Center appears to be the weakest link in the line at present, unless Coach Golembeski uses Jim Zande, husky senior at that assignment. Zande alternated between center and guard work last year, and performed equally well at both positions. Other experienced pivotmen include Eddie Nawrocki and Leo Hickey.

The guard berths should be well taken care of, as five lettermen are available for those assignments. Manley Zande, letterman for the past two years, will return to battle for his berth on the right side of the line, and will meet strong opposition from Len Sweeney, Joe Minella, Charlie Ritter and Charlie Jaworski, all of whom have seen action under the Black and White colors.

With Gordon White, 200-pound Ware junior, McGovern, husky Michigan sophomore, John Baeszler of Staten Island and Leo Lobbell, rangy Paterson athlete, returning, the mentor will have a nucleus for the tackle positions. Three lettermen will aspire to guard the flanks, as Charlie John, Jack Halloran and Dixie Matthews are expected to be on hand a week from tomorrow.

With Rutgers furnishing opposition for the Friars on the 28th of this month, Coach Golembeski will have to drive his squad at a fast clip in order to field a well drilled aggregation to open the campaign. Following the Rutgers tilt comes the game with Holy Cross at Worcester on October 5. The remainder of the schedule is as follows: Oct. 12, Canisius College (of Buffalo) at Providence; 19, open; 26, Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y.; Nov. 2, Middlebury at Providence; 9, Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn.; 16, St. John's College (of Brooklyn) at Providence; 23, Lowell Textile at Lowell, Mass.

Dominican Coach Expects To Have Strong Backfield

Providence College Grid Squad Holds First Practice This Morning.

Nearly 30 candidates are expected to answer the first gridiron call at Providence College today when Coach Archie Golembeski starts the Friars on their 10th Varsity football campaign in intercollegiate competition. The first drill is listed for this morning, but in all probability it will be a short one, owing to the fact that many of the gridgers will not arrive here until this afternoon.

Capt. Marty Gibbons, halfback, and Mark McGovern, tackle, headed the return of the moleskin artists, both making their appearance in town last night. Gibbons heads a strong array of backfield material which shapes up as one of the best ever to wear the Black and White.

Starting early this morning, Student Manager Robert M. Dwyer, who himself made quite a record in Rhode Island schoolboy athletic ranks three years ago, will issue equipment to all players reporting for action. The mentor hopes to have a squad of 20 out in togs for the conditioning exercises this afternoon.

With the loss of such stalwarts as Steve Nawrocki, who will coach the Durfee high eleven this fall, and Joe Waterson, veteran centre, who will teach at Seton Hall Prep in New Jersey, by graduation, and Tom Murphy, Gordon White and Charlie McAlevy, by transfer, Golembeski will have to uncover some strong linemen to be able to carry the Dominican colors to triumph this fall.

Although three experienced tackles are lost, there are some capable youngsters returning for action who should turn in some good work. Leo Lobdell, John Baeszler and Mark McGovern are three husky tackles who served throughout the 1928 campaign. In addition a promising recruit has been uncovered in Tom Shea, 200-pound Fall River lad who played with Durfee high two years ago under Bert Shurtleff, but was unable to serve with the Friars last fall owing to illness.

With Nap Fleurent, one of the few three-sports men to be developed at the Smith Hill college, definitely out of college owing to scholastic troubles, the veteran mentor will have but one seasoned quarterback to round out a veteran eleven. Joe Sharkey, Lowell Junior, is favored to handle the assignment in the coming campaign.

The drills will be held twice daily until the start of the college classes, a week from next Thursday. With but three weeks in which to put his squad in first class condition Golembeski will have to start intensive drills, with scrimmage as the feature, by this week-end.

Those in group, from left to right, are Gilligan of Pawtucket, Mardosa of Lewiston, Me., McGovern of Flint, Mich., Callahan of Pittsfield, Mass., Coach Golembeski (crouching), Austin of this city, and Kalishes of South Boston. Sweeney and Zande, veteran guards, are attempting to frustrate Minella's attack.

Tomassis and Bleiler, Former Lettermen, Report.—Rain Halts Practice.

Twenty-eight candidates, including 10 lettermen of last year's squad, answered Coach Archie Golembeski's initial grid call at Providence College yesterday. Owing to the inclement weather the veteran mentor was forced to abandon his plans for an outdoor drill, holding a short meeting for the discussion of the changes of the rules instead.

The large opening day turnout pre-sages an exceptionally large squad of moleskin artists before the present week is ended, as there are many veterans, as well as newcomers, slated to report today and tomorrow. The mentor will start active work on Hendricken Field this morning, when he meets the squad at 10 o'clock, and a second drill will occupy the afternoon.

Former Lettermen Report.

Two former lettermen, both of whom were missing from the squad last fall, put in an appearance yesterday, when Johnny Tomassi, rugged guard and Senior classman from this city, and Charlie Bleiler, Sophomore, signal barker from Everett, reported to Golembeski. Tomassi was forced to give up football last fall, while Bleiler dropped out of college for a year in order to work.

Bleiler will help to ease Coach Golembeski's worries about the quarterback work, as Joe Sharkey, Lowell junior, was the only letter man returning for that assignment, as Nap Fleurent failed to meet the scholastic requirements and so dropped out of college this summer. Bleiler shared the work with Fleurent throughout the 1927 campaign and turned in some fine work.

The veterans reporting yesterday included Charlie Jorn of New York, Jack Halloran of Staten Island and George Cody of Woonsocket, all ends; John Baeszler of Staten Island, Mark McGovern of Flint, Mich., and Tom Shea of Fall River, tackles; Len Sweeney of Nashua, Manley Zande of Torrington and Johnny Tomassi of this city, guards; Eddie Derivan of Pittsfield and Leo Hickey of Gardiner, Me., centres, and Capt. Marty Gibbons of Clinton, Mass., Mickey Foster of Pittsfield, Turco of Westerly, Fred DeGata of Fall River, Walter Baeszler of Staten Island and Joe Sharkey of Lowell, all backfield men.

Many Newcomers

Among the newcomers to announce their intentions of competing for places in the Friars varsity outfit were several athletes who have made enviable records in this state. Heading this list were: Peter Gilligan, rangy tackle from Awtsucket High; Russo and Olsen, rugged guards on the West Warwick High outfit a year ago; Bill Carroll, 180 pound neman from La Salle; Austin, husky guard from Classical High; Smith, center from Woonsocket last campaign and enough, fleet backfield man from Pawtsucket.

185-Pound Tackle, Who Starred With Tech in 1925, Reports

Charlie McCormack, junior classman at Providence College who made an enviable rep as a football performer while at Tech high several years ago, is the latest recruit to Archie Golembeski's growing list of gridiron candidates. McCormack reported yesterday for the first time. Although he spent last year at the Smith Hill college he did not go out for football, preferring to devote his time to his studies.

McCormack, who scales in the neighborhood of 185 pounds, starred for three years at Tech, playing on the brilliant State championship outfit in 1925 at a tackle assignment. Following his graduation from Tech he played at Masee School in Connecticut where he won all New England Prep school honors for his fine work. Two years ago he enrolled at Holy Cross and played on the Freshman team there, but transferred to the Smith Hill college a year ago.

Possessing weight and experience, McCormack is indeed a welcome addition to the Friars' ranks, and Coach Golembeski plans to spend no little time in the next two weeks in developing the husky lineman in preparation for the tilts with Rutgers and Holy Cross. The tackle ranks now appear to be one of the strongest departments of the squad, as the mentor has the veterans McGovern and Baeszler on hand, in addition to such stalwarts as Shea, former Durfee high performer, Lepine, Mt. St. Charles product, Gilligan, Pawtucket high leader of last year; Callahan, who won all-Berkshire County honors for his work at Pittsfield high two years ago, and Mardosa, former Bridgton Academy lineman.

Yesterday Golembeski spent a good deal of time in working the various backfield combinations, and following the drill in the afternoon reported that he believed the Friars would have a real offence this campaign. Capt. Gibbons and Stan Zsyda, both veteran halves, Fred DaGata, powerful fullback, who also does the punting, and Joe Sharkey, junior quarterback, form the first string quartet which is ready to wheel into action.

Another strong set of ball carriers was lined up as follows: Bleiler at quarter, Foster and Rocco at halves, and Turco at full. A third quartet was composed of Walt Baeszler calling the signals, DePippo and Manfredonia at halves, and Olson, husky West Warwick lad, at full.

With such an array of eager backs it is little wonder that Golembeski is facing the future with a bright outlook. The work of the next two weeks will be to get the ball carriers to perfect their plays, and from the way that Capt. Gibbons' mates went through their paces the past week it is evident that Rutgers will be in for a busy afternoon two weeks hence.

Many more candidates are expected to report at the drills to-morrow, as it is registration day at the college, and the newcomers will be on hand to prepare for the start of their classes on Thursday, when the double grid sessions will be halted.

Key Foster, veteran half-back, starting sweep line after being provided with fine interference.

Friars Warm Up for Hard Work

This spirited action by a group of Providence College football carriers is technically known as "dummy scrimmage." The ball carrier is not tackled, stopping as soon as he is touched by one of the opposing team. But it's no fun for the linemen. Arthur Manfredonia is carrying the ball.

P. C. FACES STRONG FOE ON SATURDAY

Rutgers Relying on Group of Sophomores from Undebeat-ed Freshman Team.

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 22.—A strong Rutgers football team will be the foe of Providence College in the opening game of this season for both teams, here Saturday. The contest will mark the first contest in any sport between the two institutions.

Although only three games were lost in the nine-game Rutgers schedule played last fall, the scarlet-jerseyed outfit aims to down all its major opponents in this campaign. Rutgers will rely on a powerful group of Sophomore candidates, who formed an undefeated Freshman team a year ago, to perform the feat.

For the past two years, Lionel Conacher, a Canadian who is somewhat of an expert in the lateral passing and rugby football game, has been teaching the Rutgers grid performers how to throw laterals. The locals will depend largely on this style of game.

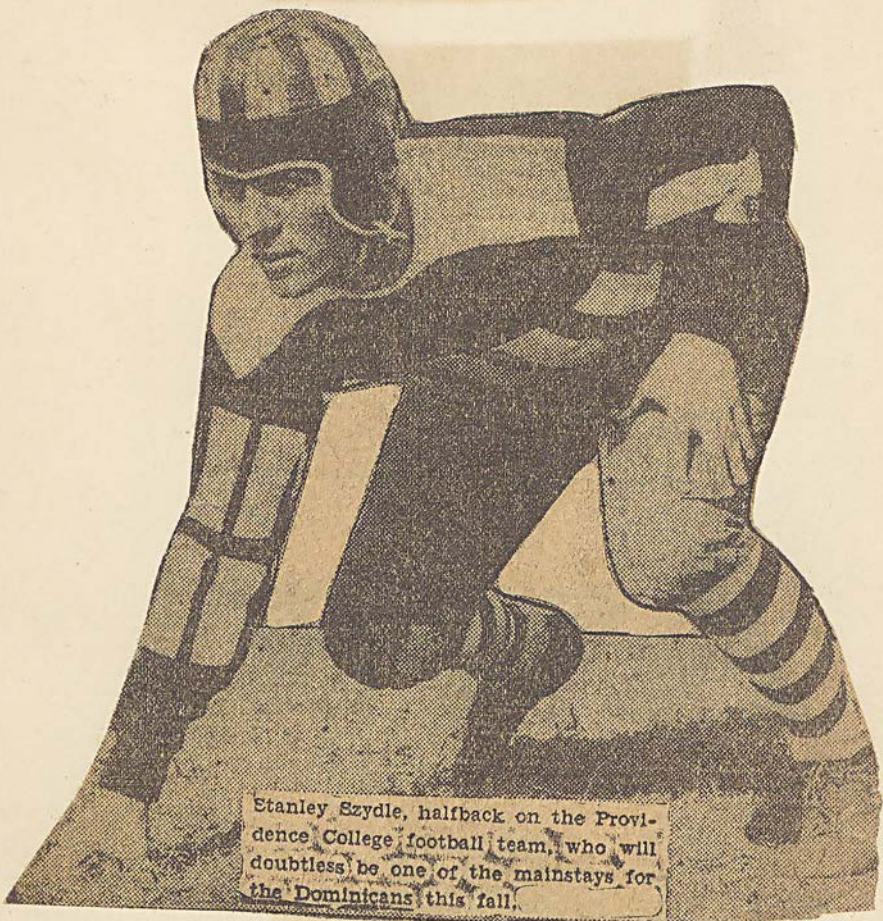

The ace of the Rutgers aggregation is Grossman, a big hard running triple threat, who will do the kicking. Paired with Grossman is Jerry Cronin, a defence man. With these athletes, both Sophomores, available to round out the backfield, a good season is expected.

The Providence outfit will need a powerful offence to smash through the line that is being groomed to start the opening clash on Saturday. Captain Bernard Crowl, who has played every minute of every game for the past four years both at high school and college, will start his fifth grid campaign at centre and will be flanked by a pair of heavy guards in Bert Harris and Von Glahn.

Dick Knaus, a short stock tackle who did well last year in breaking up plays will pair at the tackle assignments with Smoyer, 210 pounds, who came up from the Freshman team. Don Coursen, veteran of the past two years and George Cronin, the latter a halfback last fall, will handle the wings.

With the best array of talent that he has had at his command in years, Coach Rockefeller anticipates a victory over the Dominicans in the curtain raiser, in spite of the fact that advance reports from Rhode Island indicate that a strong eleven will swing into action here Saturday.

Stanley Ezyde, halfback on the Providence College football team, who will doubtless be one of the mainstays for the Dominicans this fall.

Powerful Rutgers Eleven Topples Dominicans, 17-0

Providence College, Outweighed
10 Pounds Per Man, Fights
Hard Throughout.

(Special to the Providence Journal)
Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 28.—With the finest eleven to wear its colors in five years, the powerful Rutgers University aggregation opened its grid campaign here today by toppling an aggressive Providence College team by a 17 to 0 count.

Although outweighed 10 pounds to a man, the Friars fought hard throughout the clash and on several occasions threatened the Rutgers goal. In Grossman, 190-pound fullback, the Scarlet uncovered a backfield performer of rare ability, a long distance kicker, passer, and a hard running back when yardage was needed through the line.

Dixie Matthews, dusky left end of the visitors, won the plaudits of the crowd as he left the field late in the final period after performing brilliantly in breaking up opposing plays. His work in stopping Grossman several times was outstanding.

Dagata Forced Out Early

The Friars were handicapped when Fred Dagata, fullback, was forced to withdraw in the second period owing to illness. Dagata punted on even terms with Grossman in the first quarter, and his loss from the lineup forced Chick Bleiler to do the kicking.

The work of the Providence line stood out. Five times they forced Rutgers to yield the ball on downs, after Rutgers had staged guard running attacks to advance the ball well into Rhode Island territory.

Greenberg, high scorer of the team last year, turned in the outstanding play of the game, aided by Grossman, when he raced off right end in the third period and pulled down a short pass from his burly mate, and then cut loose on a 60-yard dash for the Providence goal line. Halloran and Szydla failed to overtake the flying backfield ace, as Greenberg raced along the sideline.

Bleiler Plays Great Game.

In spite of the heat, both elevens turned in some fine football. In the opening stanza, Dagata and Grossman featured with long spirals in an effort to get a break within scoring territory. Once Bleiler, who played a remarkable game at quarter, let a Grossman boot roll over the goal line, but he carried the ball out of danger himself on the next play when he skirted right end for 12 yards.

Game played: September 28, 1929

The second period was started by Rutgers unleashing an attack on the Dominicans. Grossman, Greenberg and Stager battered through the line for first downs to plant the ball on the Friars' 15-yard stripe, where a fighting Providence line stiffened and held for downs.

Midway through the period, Rutgers broke into the scoring with a pretty field goal by Harris. Taking the ball on the Providence 35-yard stripe, the scarlet jerseyed aggregation ripped through to the five-yard tape.

A penalty for holding halted the attack temporarily, and after two aeriels had been knocked down Harris dropped back out of the line and drop-kicked a field goal from the 18-yard line.

Friars Penalized Twice

On the kickoff, Foster ran the ball back to the 37-yard stripe. The next play was lost when a 15-yard penalty was tacked on the Friars. Bleiler's pass to Gibbons was intercepted by Stager on the Dominicans' 31-yard line. Another 15-yard penalty for holding forced the Friars to drop back within the shadow of their own goal line. Greenberg crashed through for seven yards and Grossman duplicated the distance on the following play to give Rutgers a first down on the one-yard tape. Greenberg hurdled the centre of the line to score the first touchdown of the year, and Harris counted the extra point with a drop kick.

With Dagata out of the lineup, Szydla played full and Foster took over a halfback role in the second half. The latter performer immediately proceeded to rip through the Rutgers' line for substantial gains, but his efforts failed to enable the Friars to get within scoring range.

The visitors opened fire with aeriels in the latter stage of the fray and their ability to pull the ball out of the air was one of the best exhibitions seen here in some time. Ten forwards were completed, all for short gains, with the exception of the aerial which Foster pulled down and carried down the field for a gain of 27 yards.

Forward Is Feature

Rutger's final score came as the feature tidbit of the lash. Bleiler had punted to Grossman who ran the ball back to his own 32-yard tape. On the play following, Grossman tossed a 10-yard forward to Greenberg who had raced into open territory off right end and the latter made a spectacular running catch and continued at breakneck speed for the Friars' goal. Fine interference by Fisher, who spilled Halloran, enable the local quarterback to complete his jaunt.

Providence looked best in the final few minutes of the tilt. Gibbons eked a 15-yard pass to Mosca and Mosca heaved successfully to Jorn for six more yards. Another long pass was good for a gain to bring the ball to Rutgers' 31-yard line when Wheeler was interfered with as he was about to make the catch. The attack was smothered, however, when the Rutgers aggregation took the ball on downs on their own 25-yard line.

CLINTON TO HONOR FRIAR'S CAPTAIN

Citizens to Pay Tribute to Marty Gibbons, Native Son
at Holy Cross Game.

Unusual tribute will be paid a native son by the citizens of Clinton, Mass., Saturday when a delegation from that town will honor Marty Gibbons, Providence College football captain, at the game between the Friars and Holy Cross at Fitton Field, Worcester.

Gibbons is one of the most popular students at the local college and his work on the athletic fields in the past three years marks him as one of the best athletes ever to don Black and White regalia. He has been a regular halfback on the football team for two years, and this fall has high hopes of piloting his mates through a successful campaign.

Clinton, proud of Gibbons, is planning a big demonstration in his honor. The entire town has taken to the project, and a delegation of 300 already has been formed to march in a body behind the 45-piece band which will head the parade of loyal rooters across Fitton Field.

Reports from Clinton state that the transportation committee plans to muster 100 automobiles to carry the delegation to Worcester, and all the machines will be decked with appropriate banners to announce to all that it is "Gibbons Day." The various corporations have taken up the matter in the past week and will give a reminder to all their employes. In some of the shops reminders are being printed on the pay envelopes and in others department committees are being organized to boost the celebration.

The game with the Crusaders Saturday will mark the fifth invasion to Worcester by the Friars. After a lapse of three years, relations were resumed last fall with Holy Cross winning a one-sided game. The latest a year ago was the last one of the campaign for the Dominicans, who had previously encountered Williams, Temple and the Army, and, as a result, Archie Golembeski's outfit was hardly able to withstand the assault unleashed by the Crusaders.

This week, however, with the best-looking outfit that he has had under his wing in years, Golembeski entertains hopes of giving the football stalwarts of his Alma Mater a real battle. If Holy Cross anticipates an easy game with the Friars, they will be due for a real surprise, in the opinion of the Smith Hillers.

Sam Rice and Pete Gilligan, rangy tackles, the former scaling over 190 pounds, will be two huskies who plan to cross their names off the injured list and rejoin the local squad tomorrow in preparation for the game. With the addition of these two lads, together with the fine array of promising talent eager to break into the first-string lineup, the veteran Dominican mentor is expected to make the going difficult for O'Donnell's charges Saturday afternoon.

Crusaders Vanquish Friars as O'Connell Tallies Twice

Purple Wins 14-6.—Da Gata
Makes First Dominican Score
Against It in Five Tilts.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 5.—A brilliant Providence College eleven held the powerful Holy Cross outfit at bay for four periods, only to lose out by a 14 to 6 count in one of the hardest fought games ever played on Fitton Field, this afternoon.

Holy Cross, the top favorite, found the going rough throughout and Coach Cleo O'Donnell of the Purple host stated after the clash that the Friars were one of the finest small college outfits he had seen in recent years.

To Fred Da Gata, burly fullback, who has been on the sidelines for the greater part of the past two weeks, owing to illness, went the honor of scoring the first touchdown ever registered over a Crusader goal by a Providence College team. Da Gata culminated a 65-yard march for a score by making a spectacular catch of a forward from Marty Gibbons to gallop over the final chalk line for the Friars' tally.

Holy Cross Scores

In the second period, Da Gata was forced to punt from behind his own goal line, and hoisted a low kick which O'Connell gathered in on the run and raced 36 yards through both teams to collect the Crusaders' first score. A series of line plunging, with fresh Crusader ball carriers wearing down the resistance of the Friars' forward wall in the final period, netted the second touchdown in the final minutes of the fourth period.

The Providence team played well. The forward wall, with the Zande brothers handling the guard berths, stopped nearly every thrust by the Purple backs. Tom Shea, rangy Fall River Sophomore who was playing his first college tilt, and who, incidentally, was the only newcomer to the lineup, turned in a hard game at tackle.

With a dazzling aerial attack, the Rhode Islanders opened fire in the second period and swept the length of the field for their score.

Capt. Gibbons Honored.

Capt. Marty Gibbons was tendered a unique tribute by his fellow townsmen when several hundred delegates marched behind their band to honor the Friar leader. Between the halves Gibbons was tendered a purse by the Mayor of Clinton. Gibbons reciprocated by turning in a fine game at right half, doing most of the passing and featuring the scoring play of the Dominicans. He was forced out of the game in the second period with an ankle injury, but returned to the lineup in the fourth stanza.

Mickey Foster, hard running halfback, shared the honors with Gibbons. Foster was the only Providence back able to break through consistently, slicing off tackle repeatedly for substantial gains.

Game played:

October 5, 1929

Providence received the toss and elected to receive. The Friars ripped off a first down immediately, with Foster contributing an eight-yard dash off left tackle. Forced to kick, Da Gata opened a defensive game.

Penalty Stops Dominicans

Holy Cross collected a brace of first downs, one on a penalty, but the Friars stiffened and forced a kick. Then came one of the first breaks which worked to the disadvantage of the visitors. On a lateral pass formation, Foster tossed to Bleiler, who fumbled but recovered and raced over 40 yards before being downed. However, the referee ruled the ball dead where the Dominican signal barker had fumbled it, although it appeared that no Crusader had touched it. This ruling robbed the invaders of a chance to get within scoring range of the Crusader goal.

The first period ended in a see-saw battle with the ball on the Providence six-yard line, when Bleiler misjudged his distance and caught a long punt from Baker within the shadow of his own goal. The Friar quarterback was tackled in his tracks by Farrell on the six-yard marker. As a result, Da Gata was forced to go behind the goal to punt.

Da Gata's boot was low and fast and came directly into O'Connell's arms. The former Brockton flash raced through both squads and galloped 35 yards to the goal line as the Holy Cross rooters went into an uproar. Baker place-kicked the extra point.

Friars Start Aerial Attack

Baker kicked off to Jorn, who ran to his own 36-yard tape before being downed. Gibbons shot a pass to Matthews which was good for five yards. Da Gata plugged the line for two more, and then a 20-yard aerial from Gibbons to Jorn was good when two Crusader backs interfered with the Dominican right end.

Foster ripped off a yard at right tackle and then a triple pass, Bleiler to Gibbons to Foster was good for 22 yards and put the visitors in scoring position. Gibbons picked up a yard at right tackle but Bleiler hit the line without gaining.

On the third down, Gibbons dropped back again and tossed a long pass to DaGata, who raced for the corner of the field and made a sensational catch over his head on the nine-yard tape, dashing the remainder of the distance across the final chalk line. The pass was good for 17 yards. Bleiler attempted a drop kick for the additional point, which would have tied the count at that stage of the game, but he was hurried and his boot missed the cross bar.

Friars Cheered

After an exchange of kicks Holy Cross launched a strong running attack which was finally halted on the Providence 29-yard line.

The Friars broke up a pass play a minute later when Matthews deflected a toss from Baker, the ball landing in Jim Zande's arms. The Dominican guard was downed on the Crusaders' 36-yard marker. Foster gained but a yard through the line, and after a lateral pass play had failed to work, Bleiler kicked high, the ball going to the locals on their own 35-yard tape.

Another Holy Cross drive was halted on the invaders' 42-yard line when the Friars took the ball on downs as the period ended.

The summary:

In the fourth quarter the Crusaders rushed a corps of fleet ball carriers into action and proceeded to outrun the Providence team. Meegan, O'Connell and Baker ploughed through for gains. But it was not until the final few minutes of play that O'Donnell's cohorts were able to collect their second score. A 60-yard march, most of which was accomplished through line plunging and end sweeps, carried the leather to the Friar two-yard line from where O'Connell hurdled the invading eleven to tally. Miller collected the point on a line buck while Manfreda faked a kick.

Baker punted to Jorn and he was downed on his 36-yard line. A pass, Bliebler to Matthews, gained seven yards. Degata made two in a smash at center. Fitzgerald was hurt on the play and Pat Sweeney replaced him. Foster made two and a pass, Gibbons to Foster, put the ball on the Holy Cross 23-yard line, a 22-yard gain.

Miller replaced Griffin, who hurt his leg on the play. Gibbons made two yards and Bliebler made no gain. A forward, Gibbons to Bliebler, gained seven yards. A pass, Gibbons to Degata, that the latter snatched from a Holy Cross player who was seeking to knock the ball down brought a touchdown. Bliebler missed the goal.

Score: Holy Cross 7, Providence 6.

Baker received the kickoff and ran it back 24 yards to his 36-yard line. O'Connell made a yard. Baker made two more. Bliebler caught Baker's punt on his 15-yard line. He fumbled, recovered and was downed in his tracks. Foster lost five yards when Kucharski broke through to spill him. Gibbons made two yards.

Foster fumbled on a double pass back of the line, but Shea recovered for a five-yard loss. Degata punted to Finn and he was downed in his tracks on his 45-yard line near the side lines. On the next play Miller took it offside for a yard gain. As Baker held a pass to throw it the ball was knocked out of his hands and J. Zande recovered on the Holy Cross 37-yard line.

Foster made a yard before Alzerini nailed him. A lateral, Foster to Bliebler, made no gain. Degata carried the ball offside. And then Bliebler punted. It was a poor kick and the ball was on Holy Cross 29-yard line. Miller took the ball offside. Holy Cross was penalized five yards for offside and Baker punted, Bliebler being downed on his 12-yard line, making a five-yard run-back.

Returns to Friar Squad

Fred Da Gata of Fall River, Providence College Star Fullback, who was injured in the Holy Cross game, last Saturday, reported for practice yesterday in preparation for the Canisius game Saturday afternoon

Friars Face Canisius Today in First Home Game of Year

Captain Gibbons Will Not Start
Against Buffalo Team.—Other
Replacements Made.

Minus the services of its aggressive captain, Marty Gibbons, the Providence College eleven will swing into action on Hendricken Field this afternoon against Canisius College. The Canisius eleven comes here with a brilliant record, having lost but three games in as many seasons, and boasting a veteran machine which is tutored by Luke Urban, former Boston College ace.

Captain Gibbons, veteran halfback of the Friars, will watch the tilt from the sidelines, although there is a strong possibility that he may be used for part of the game, if the eleven falls to flash the power it showed at Worcester against Holy Cross last Saturday. Mosca, a fleet ball carrier from Jersey, will replace Gibbons in the lineup.

Three changes are pending in the line as Golembeski is contemplating using as Eddie Nawrocki, sub centre last fall, at the pivot post, and Charles McCormack and Vin Kalishes at the tackles. The latter two gridders have been staging strong battles for the tackle assignments and for the past two weeks have had to watch McGovern and Shea in action.

Others May Go In

If the new members of the forward wall are able to hold the Canisius forwards in check they will probably remain in the game, otherwise the Dominican mentor plans to rush Derivian, regular centre, and Shea and McGovern, rangy tackles, to the rescue. With a wealth of promising substitute material Golembeski is anxious to get a line on the ability of some of the candidates in preparation for the Colgate game two weeks hence, and so will use every opportunity today to test his reserves.

The Canisius squad arrived in this city late last night in a confident mood, and Coach Urban stated that he believes the eleven which he will field this afternoon against the Friars to be the best he has tutored since he took over the grid reins at the Buffalo school several years ago. In Capt. Brennan, veteran end, the visitors boast one of the finest wingmen in Eastern college ranks.

The Friars made careful preparations for the invasion of the New Yorkers by staging a long drill on Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon. A defence for the spread play, a popular formation of Urban's, was developed by Coach Golembeski, and a long drill in passing and running topped off the day's activities.

The game promises to attract the largest crowd ever to witness a grid tilt on Smith Hill. Although they will be playing on their home gridiron for the first time this season, the Black and White supporters will need more than the moral support of the home town folks to turn back the Canisius outfit.

Gibbons Out of Practice.

Capt. Gibbons remained out of the drill yesterday, but will don his togs this afternoon, and, if the team physician will permit him, will take part in the game. Gibbons has been one of the mainstays of the Friar grid machines for the past three years, and his work against Holy Cross stamped him as one of the best ball carriers the locals have ever had.

Matthews and Jorn, veteran wingmen, will be on deck, prepared to smother all Canisius plays directed their way. Both played prominent roles in the Crusader contest last week-end and can be counted upon to upset some of Luke Urban's formations this afternoon.

The Zande brothers, Jim and Manley, who are the real bulwarks in the Dominicans' forward wall, are in top condition and ready to play their usual slashing game at the guard berths. Both are fast and fit well into Golembeski's well formed attack, which calls for the use of speedy and aggressive guards.

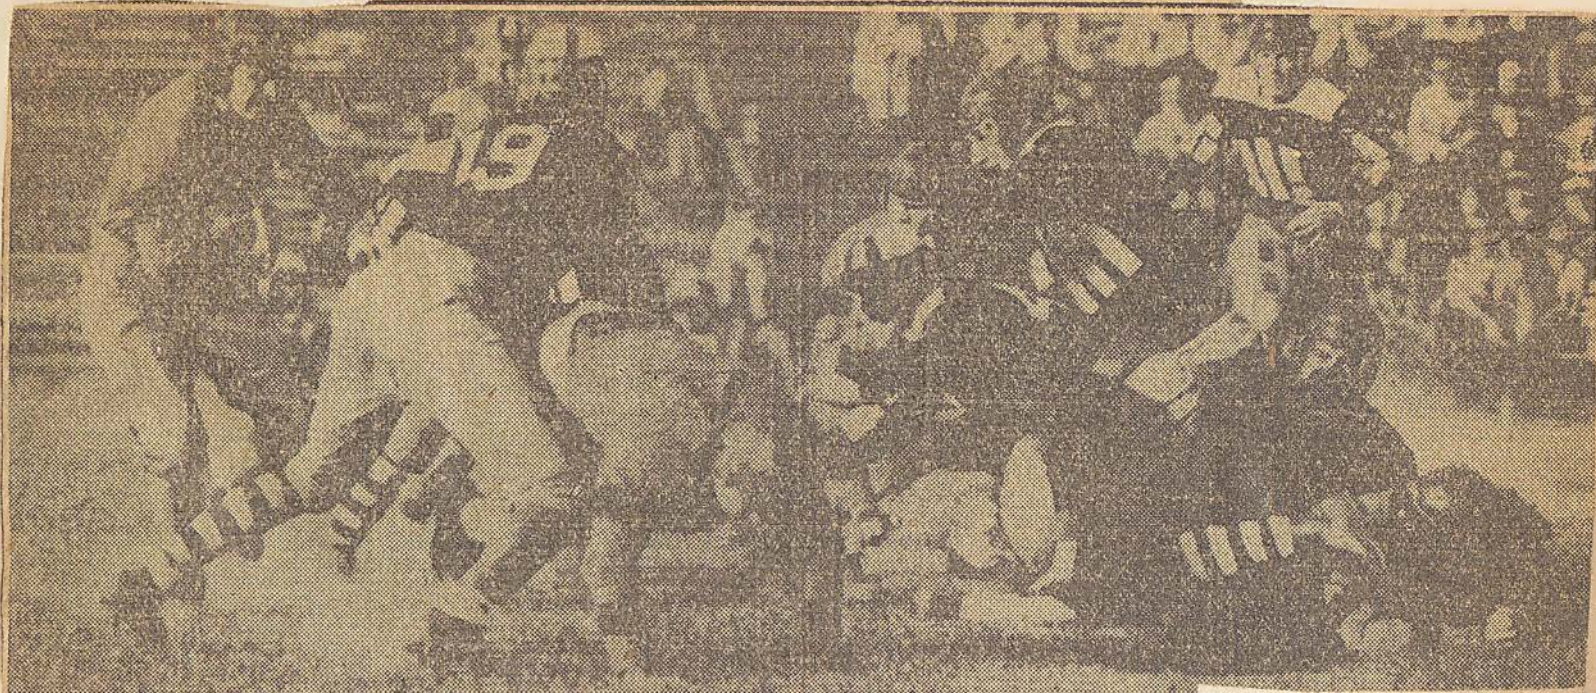

The absence of Gibson from the lineup will not weaken the Friars' aerial attack to any great extent, as Golembeski has groomed all of his backfield men to toss and receive passes, with the result that it requires a tight defence to check their air raids. Mosca, who replaces Gibbons, is the only newcomer to the backfield, as Foster, Bleiler and Da Gata are letter men well versed in the clever formations employed by Golembeski.

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE BATTLES CANISIUS TO A SCORELESS TIE

Friars in First Home Game Unable to Uncork a Scoring Punch; Absence of Gibbons Causes Aerial Attack to Falter; Other Regulars Out

Providence College opened its home grid campaign on Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon by battling a heavy Canisius College outfit to a scoreless decision in a hard-fought game which was featured by the sensational broken field running of Mickey Foster, sophomore halfback of the Friars. Foster collected 119 yards from scrimmage, and was on the throwing end of most of the Dominican passes.

Forced to play without the aid of Capt. Marty Gibbons, veteran halfback, Shea and McGover, husky tackles who turned in such a brilliant game against Holy Cross a week ago, and Eddie Derivan, clever center, the Friars came through with colors flying. In addition to these players who had to watch the game from the side lines owing to injuries, Fred Da Gata, burly halfback, and Charlie Jorn, veteran end, had to drop out of the game in the first quarter owing to injuries received in halting the Canisius attack.

Hard-Fought Tussle

Both elevens fought hard for a chance to score, and although both had fine opportunities to lug the leather over the final chalk mark, they were unable to uncork a scoring punch. Providence outrushed and outplayed the New Yorkers for the greater part of the fray, in spite of the fact that there were four subs in the forward wall. The Friars made seven first downs to five for Canisius.

Canisius treated the local fans to something new in gridiron offense in an elaborate set of plays working from a spread formation. Passes from the center were made from every angle, the ball shooting into the backfield from the end of the line, as well as from the middle. In spite of all these tricky plays, however, the Golembeskie coached machine proved too strong for the New Yorkers, and smothered every attempt to gain through the line.

The work of the Dominican reserves, although they certainly should not be called relief material after the showing they made yesterday afternoon, was especially gratifying to Golembeski. McCormack and Kallishes, at the tackles, Nawrocki, at center and Halloran on right end, replacing Jorn when the lanky sophomore was forced out of the game in the opening period, stood out in the fine work of the forward wall.

Game played: October 12, 1929

A punter, cool and collected in the pinches, came to the fore when Golembeski turned the fullback assignment over to Cy Galligan when Da Gata sustained an ankle injury late in the first period. Galligan, former Attleboro high performer, is a sophomore at the local college. In his initial college test yesterday he did the kicking in fine fashion, several times being faced with the task of booting the leather from behind his own goal line.

Aerial Attack Fails

With Capt. Gibbons out of the lineup the Friars' forward pass attack failed to click as well as it did in the first two games of the season. The Canisius outfit collected 99 yards from passes, against 30 for the Smith Hillers. But led by the hard running Berkshire back, Foster, the Friars far surpassed the invaders in rushing the ball, collecting 147 yards to 47 for the New York machine.

Providence won the toss and elected to receive. Bleiler ran the kickoff back to his own 30-yard tape. Da Gata pounded two yards at center and then Foster cut loose on a 20-yard dash off right tackle for first down. The Pittsfield flash added to the din a moment later when he dropped back and shot a 20-yard aerial to Bleiler, who took the pass on the run and was tossed offside on the Canisius 25-yard marker.

Foster slid off tackle for 8 yards and Da Gata failed to gain at center. Bleiler shot a flat pass to Foster, who took the ball on the run but fumbled it when he was tackled hard by Bukaty. Connors, Canisius center, recovered on his own 10-yard tape to halt the first attack of the Friars.

After an exchange of kicks the locals started another attack as the period drew to a close. Starting on his own 31-yard line Foster raced, off left tackle, reversed his field and galloped 23 yards before Haskell, the only Canisius man barring his way to a touchdown, pulled him down. Da Gata was hurt on the play and was replaced by Galligan. The latter immediately kicked, the ball being downed on the Canisius 22-yard stripe.

On the next play following Bukaty fumbled and Foster scooped the ball up and raced for the goal line, only to be recalled under the new ruling on recovered fumbles. Two attempts by the Friars to crack the New Yorkers' line failed, and then two pass attempts went astray to give the ball to Canisius.

As the half drew to a close the Urban coached outfit opened fire with its unbalanced spread formations. The Friars were slow to adjust themselves to the formation and as a result Canisius swept goalward, collecting 47 yards in five plays. McNamara tried to skirt right end to score what would have been the winning touchdown, but he was tossed for a five-yard loss by Jack Halloran, who played a strong game on the defence. The half-time whistle ended the attack.

Canisius Nearly Scores

Canisius received the kickoff following the intermission and nearly scored on the first play following. In the mix-up for the first lineup following the kick Gallagher, left end, strayed near the sidelines, where he was confused by the Friars as being one of the substitutes who were running up and down in front of the Canisius bench.

The ruse worked to perfection, as Gallagher took a long pass from Haskell and brought the crowd to its feet with a mad dash along the sideline. Three Providence forwards failed to halt his progress, and just as it appeared that he would achieve his purpose, Eddie Nawrocki, aggressive center, made a flying tackle to bring the Canisius wingman to the ground on the Dominican 14-yard chalk line.

Two-line plunges were balked and Bukaty passed long into the end zone to lose possession of the ball. Foster was tossed for a loss on the first play following, and a penalty for holding put the ball on the Providence one-yard line. Galligan rose to the occasion by punting out to his own 28-yard tape.

A few minutes later the Friars had to make another goaline stand when Mistretta recovered a Bleiler fumble on the locals 22-yard line, and line plunging brought the leather to the 8-yard tape before the Friars stiffened and took the ball on downs. A bad pass from center to Foster was fumbled, but the Friar halfback pounced on the oval on his own two-inch line to prevent the scoring of any points as the Canisius horde swept in on him. Galligan again came through with a fine punt, to avert disaster.

Captain Gibbons went into the game late in the fourth period, and tossed a couple of passes which were unsuccessful. His ankle injury forced him to retire after but a few minutes of play, and as a result the Providence aerial attack had to be stored away for future use.

Canisius attempted a place kick for a field goal in the final minutes of play, but the kick was hurried by the locals, with the result that it barely cleared the line of surging forwards. Matthews recovered the ball and ran 20 yards before being knocked off his feet.

As the final whistle sounded Bukaty intercepted a Sharkey forward pass in midfield.

DOMINICANS ARE OUTPLAYED BY HEAVY COLGATE SUBS, 52-0

Providence Puts Up Scrappy Offensive, Threatening Maroon Goal Once, But Winners Are Too Strong.—Da Gata's Absence Is Felt

(Special to The Sunday Tribune)

Hamilton, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Using a strong substitute eleven, while the 'Varsity outfit which gave Indiana such a hard defeat a week ago watched from the sidelines, Colgate swamped Providence College here this afternoon, running up a 52 to 0 score. In spite of the one-sided score the tilt was well-played, and produced some fine football.

Providence possessed an aggressive outfit, but one which was apparently outweighed 10 pounds to a man, and was completely unable to stop the plunging attacks of Macaluso, Lithter, Yablok, or the cleverly executed aerial work of Conway and Reynolds. Colgate made 366 yards by rushing and 118 by passing to register its eight touchdowns and the second highest score to be made on Whitnall Field in four years.

The Dominicans from Rhode Island were handicapped in no small measure by the absence of Da Gata, star kicker and fullback, and had further woe to lament when Szydla, rugged substitute for Da Gata, fell by the wayside early in the game with an injured ankle. In addition, Foster, hard running halfback, was so badly tossed about after running back a kickoff late in the second period that he was unable to play the remainder of the game.

Colgate had matters its own way except on two occasions in the third period when the Friars formed staunch defences for their goal to take the ball on downs. The visitors were unable to cope with the clever formations of Kerr's machine at all other times, however.

Providence never threatened to score except in the last five minutes of play. After driving the entire length of the field, they lost the ball by failing to complete a pass, Sharkey to Matthews, over the goal line. The rally started as Galligan clutched a pass when on his own 12-yard line.

In the first period Colgate tallied twice. The first score came after a 55-yard march in which the locals employed a smashing running attack which left the invaders in a daze. With Lithter and Conroy leading the way the Maroon backs pounded through to the four-yard line from where Lithter ploughed through center to score.

Game played: October 26, 1929

With the ball on their own 40-yard tape, Conway made the first of his clever passes when he heaved a 20-yard toss to Reynolds, who took the ball on the dead run and sprinted down the left side of the field, along the sidelines, eluding the entire Providence secondary.

Soon after the start of the second period a 29-yard aerial advance, Conway to Sullivan, started the march for another score. Macaluso finally carried the pigskin over on a line plunge to make the score 19 to 0.

Galigan, who had managed to do well with the punting assignment, was smothered by the Maroon forward wall midway in the second period as he tried to get away a kick from his own 25-yard stripe with Abruzzino finally falling on the bounding oval behind the Providence goal line.

A twenty-yard pass from Conway to Reynolds was converted into another score as the first half drew to a close, as the fleet Colgate back took the oval on the run and galloped like an All-American for the distant Providence goal line.

Two scores were made in the third period, one when Scheidel intercepted a pass to bring the ball to the Providence 12-yard line from where it was lugged across on line plunges and the other when Duiguid sprinted around right end for 30 yards, crossing the final mark without a single Friar touching him, in the fourth period.

FRIARS SCORE FIRST TRIUMPH AT EXPENSE OF MIDDLEBURY

Providence College Wins From Vermonters 33-0

Local Outfit Shows Consistent
Offence for First Time
This Fall.

Flashing a consistent offence for the first time this fall, the Providence College football aggregation completely out-classed Middlebury College on Hendricken Field to chalk up their first win of the campaign, the final count being 33-0 for the Friars. So easily did the locals maintain the edge on their Vermont opponents that Coach Golembeski was able to use his second and third string elevens throughout the second half.

Middlebury, handicapped by the absence from the starting lineup of Sam Guarnaccia, its fullback and captain, together with four of the regular linemen, was on the defence throughout the fray. They were never able to get within striking distance of the locals goal, and their aerial attack was completely frustrated by the alert Friars.

In spite of the one-sided score the game was well played and some sparkling bits of grid action were staged by the Friars. In the first period Foster broke the ice with a brilliant 42-yard run from scrimmage through the Middlebury team for a score. In the second period Bleiler tallied twice, one on a long pass from Gibbons, and again on a pretty 40-yard runback of a punt. In the third period Wheeler intercepted a lateral pass to run 35 yards for his marker, and in the final canto, Mal Brown, dusky halfback, carted the leather over from the five-yard line.

Substitutes in Early

When it became apparent that his first-string outfit would have no trouble in scoring on the invaders from the Green Mountain district, Golembeski started using a substitute array as the first half ended. The second team played the entire third period, and was in turn relieved by the third-string eleven, with three exceptions, in the final quarter.

One outstanding feature of the game was the fine interference of the Friars on their forward pass plays. Nearly every attempt to gain via the overhead route proved successful, and the interference provided the passer and receiver could not be bettered. When Bleiler made his runback of a kick for a score, every Middlebury gridder barring his path to the goal was eliminated from play by the Dominicans, and the local signal caller dashed over the line standing up.

Game played:

November 2, 1929

CALLAHAN, RIGHT TACKLE

Joe Sharkey, sub quarterback, proved to be the best ball carrier for the Friars in the second half of the game. The rangy Lowell Junior tore through the Vermonters' line for consistent gains in the third period, and in addition staged several spectacular runbacks of punts, once dashing 40 yards before being hauled to earth.

Brown Features One Score

The score which proved to be the most popular one to the crowd was that made by Mal Brown, dusky substitute halfback, who relieved Mosca in the fourth quarter. Brown headed a running attack, which started at midfield and carried through to a touchdown. A long pass from Smith to Jorn put the ball on the eight-yard stripe, and after three line bucks had failed Brown took the ball on a triple criss cross formation and ploughed over the line.

Providence scored its first seven points within three minutes after the game started. Middlebury received the initial kickoff, but was unable to gain through the line and so Paul punted to Gibbons, who made a 20-yard runback to midfield. Two line bucks netted five yards, and then Foster chipped in with his sensational spurt to the goal.

The Pittsfield flash started for left tackle, was blocked and so pivoted outside the end, straightarming Thiele of the Vermont aggregation as he swung into the clear. After running 15 yards along the side line to elude the secondary, Foster cut back into the centre of the field, sidestepped two would-be tacklers, and set sail for a clear goal. The run was good for 42 yards and was without doubt one of the best executed plays ever staged on the Smith Hill gridiron. A pass from Bleiler to Gibbons near the sidelines netted the extra point.

After an exchange of kicks between Da Gata of the locals and Paul of the visitors, the Friars opened their attack again to collect their second score. Starting on their own 39-yard tape, the Dominicans reeled off two successive first downs, one as the result of line plunging by Bleiler, and the other resulting from a 15-yard pass from Gibbons to Bleiler.

Gibbons to Bleiler

With the ball on Middlebury's 34-yard stripe, Gibbons heaved an accurate toss to the far corner of the field with Bleiler making the catch on the dead run to race the remaining four yards to the final chalk line, as Mickey Foster smashed the one player intervening out of the play. Bleiler dropkicked the extra point.

The third score of this half came unexpectedly, after the locals had pushed Middlebury back to the shadows of her own goal posts. Unable to gain through the Providence line, Paul, rangy end of the invaders who did the bulk of the punting, was forced to kick from the corner of the field. His boot travelled 40 yards up the gridiron, but to the other side of the playing field. Bleiler, Friar's safety man, took the kick on the dead run and with Matthews and Da Gata clearing the way raced along the sideline for his second touchdown. He missed the point when the dropkick was blocked.

Providence fielded a substitute team at the start of the second half, with the exception of Capt. Gibbons and Shea, right tackle, who turned in a fine game, playing nearly every minute. Even the Friar subs proved able to hold the Middlebury outfit in check, and in addition rolled the winning margin up to 33 points.

Mosca ran the opening kick-off of the third period to midfield, a run back of 41 yards, and on the following play Sharkey raced off right tackle for 24 yards to put the ball on Middlebury's 25-yard tape. Two line bucks, were followed by two incomplete passes to give Middlebury the ball on downs. However, the visitors could do little on offence and Paul soon dropped back and punted.

Sharkey carried the kick back to midfield. Two successive first downs marked the goalward march, but just as it looked as if the Black and White gridders would romp through to a score, Markowski intercepted a flat pass over the line to halt the attack.

Wheeler Intercepts Pass

Then came one of the most unusual plays of the game, with Larry Wheeler, rangy substitute wingman playing the hero role. McLeod, Middlebury fullback, attempted a lateral pass to Bullukian as the two backs raced toward right end. Wheeler, racing into the backfield plucked the leather out of the air and before the visitors realized what had happened was off on a 35-yard sprint for a touchdown, with Mosca at his heels to serve as interference if needed. Gibbons tried a placement for the point and missed.

In the fourth period Golembeski gave every man on the squad who had not already been in the game, a chance to perform. Of the entire crop of subs, Smith, diminutive signal caller, and Brown, dusky halfback, proved the best. Starting at midfield Smith piloted the eleven to Middlebury's 22-yard stripe from where he tossed a pretty 14-yard pass to Jorn who was downed on the eight-yard line. Three line bucks netted but five yards, and Bleiler raced into the game to provide the scoring punch in a triple pass in the backfield with Brown flying through the line to hurl himself over the goal line. Bleiler accounted for the extra point with a dropkick.

The Zande brothers, Jim on the left, and Manley on the right, are playing the guard positions for Providence College. They have been outstanding performers on the Golembeski machine for the past two years. They are both graduates of Torrington, Conn. high school where they captained the eleven in their final year. Jim tips the scales at 193 pounds and is completing his fourth year on the team while Manley weighs 173 pounds and has played two seasons previous to the present one.

ZANDE BROTHERS DOING FINE WORK ON PROVIDENCE ELEVEN

Jim and Manley Hold Down Guard Berths For Friars

Harvard has its Ticknor brothers, both playing in the line, but the Providence College eleven which meets Middlebury on Hendricken Field this Saturday goes the Cambridge combination one better, with brothers in similar positions on the same eleven. On the Friar outfit Jim Zande, Senior classman, handles the left guard assignment, while on the other side of the line Manley Zande, a Junior, serves as right guard.

Both youngsters are veterans, but last fall Jim served at centre more than he did at guard, and so the situation as it exists with the present eleven did not arise as often as has been the case this season. As Archie Golembeski favors an attack where the guards come out of the line as interferers, the Zande brothers offer a real threat when they wheel out of line and, shoulder to shoulder, flatten the defensive end.

In the three years of their participation the Zande brothers have played in every game, with one exception. Last fall Jim was out of one contest owing to an injury. A broken nose failed to halt the senior Zande a year ago from playing out the schedule. This year both lads are playing fine football and will be ready to prove their ability against Middlebury this week-end.

Three years ago when Archie Golembeski of Providence College issued his annual call for gridiron candidates a husky Freshman, answering to the name of Jim Zande, applied for equipment. After diligent search by the managerial staff a uniform was located to fit the 200-pound husky from Torrington, Conn., who refraining from mentioning his fine scholastic grid record, joined the Dominican squad on Hendricken Field.

It didn't take Golembeski many days to find out that he had a stalwart among his cohorts in the person of Zande, who was a real football prospect. Jim battled his way through an ambitious squad of guard candidates and finally clinched one of the starting berths. His play that year was one of the bright features of the Providence eleven's work.

The following fall when the call to action was again issued, Jim returned to the Smith Hill campus, and with him another of the Zande family in Manley, who had captained the Torrington high eleven the previous campaign. Manley, lacking the weight of his brother, found the task of breaking into the Varsity eleven a difficult task, but what he lacked in poundage he made up in aggressiveness.

Last year both brothers won Varsity insignia for their work, starring as the guards at the start of the season, until the need for a centre caused the mentor to switch Jim to that assignment. In spite of a broken nose Jim played throughout the 1923 campaign, facing such formidable outfits as Temple, Army, Williams and Holy Cross, and never once withdrawing from the fray until ordered to do so.

The prowess of these two youngsters won the plaudits of all who saw them in action, and the praise of Coach Golembeski, who stated at the annual athletic banquet last winter that they were the finest type of football players that he had ever encountered in all his experience as a player and a coach.

This season Jim was groomed for a tackle assignment, while Manley remained true to the guard work. In the Rutgers game at New Brunswick they presented the unusual situation of brother playing beside brother, as Manley was at right guard and Jim at right tackle. Suffice to say very few gains were made through their defence.

Against Holy Cross, Coach Golembeski decided at the last moment to switch Jim back to guard work; much to the delight of the senior classman, who prefers to play from a position flanking the centre than from any other place in the line. To all who watched the Friars hold a stronger Holy Cross team on even terms there was no question but what Jim and Manley Zande were the main cogs in the locals' forward wall. In the press box the announcer soon became accustomed to calling "Tackle by J. Zande," and when it wasn't Jim the chances were that the call would be for Manley.

Jim outweighs his younger brother by twenty pounds scaling 193 to 173 for Manley. However, the latter makes up in speed and aggressiveness what he lacks in weight, and with these assets fits nicely into the Golembeski fast attack which calls for speedy guards. Both are graduates of Torrington, Conn. high school and both captained the eleven there in their senior years.

Jim is rounding out his fourth campaign as a regular and in all the hard games the Friars have played has been ready to take part in every encounter. He will be graduated next June. Manley is enrolled in the school of medicine and after receiving his two year pre-medical certificate last June decided to continue his studies in order to obtain his bachelor's degree before embarking on a medical career.

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE RUNS WILD AGAINST COAST GUARD, 32 TO 0

Cadets Provide Stubborn Opposition During First Stanza, but Fade Under Terrific Attack of Friars, Who Post Second Triumph

(Special to the Providence Journal.)
New London, Conn., Nov. 9.—The Providence College football team had an easy time here this afternoon piling up a 32 to 0 score over the Coast Guard Academy in a slow game on Mercer Field. The Friars outclassed the locals in every department and had no trouble in taking a commanding lead once their offense started working. The final half was played with nearly all the Providence substitutes in the game.

Dixie Matthews, colored wingman of the Dominicans, was the individual star of the clash, snatching a pass in the first period to run for the first Providence score, and playing a strong defensive game. He was down fast under all the punts and stopped McCaffrey, Cadet safety man, several times.

Providence scored one touchdown each in the first, second and fourth periods and two counters in the third quarter. The first two scores were obtained only after stubborn opposition on the part of the locals, but in the second half the Friars pounded through consistently.

Capt. Marty Gibbons accounted for 14 points with two touchdowns, both on line plunges within the five-yard line, and two placements for points following the scores. His running mate, Mickey Foster, crashed through the Cadet forward wall in the third period to score.

The victory is the second straight for the Dominicans and avenges a tie game with the Cadets at Providence last fall. With his team enjoying a sizable lead, Coach Golemboski was able to haul his substitutes into the fray in order to save the regulars for the St. John's clash next week-end. Last week the Friars toppled Middlebury by a 33 to 0 score.

The first touchdown here this afternoon came after the Cadets had waged a stubborn battle throughout the first period. Fred Da Gata spent the greater part of the period exchanging punts with Hopkins, Cadet kicker, until an injury to his right hand forced him to give way to Szdla.

Game played: November 9, 1929

In the final two minutes of the opening period Jim Zande broke through the Cadet line to retrieve a fumble on the Coast Guard 30-yard stripe. A penalty for holding on the next play put the Friars back 15 yards from where the offence started a successful goalward drive. Foster ripped off right end for seven yards, and Bleiler missed a pass by inches. A line play netted nothing, and on the fourth down Gibbons called the signals, and sent a 20-yard pass down the centre of the field to Matthews.

The Friars' dusky wingman took the ball on the run, stumbled over Cadet interference, regained his feet and raced to the sideline. Straightarming his last opponent, Dixie sprinted over the goal line with the first touchdown of the game. Gibbons missed the point after when his placement went astray.

Just before the close of the half the Black and White colors were hoisted again following a 70-yard march through the Cadets. Taking the ball on their own 30-yard tape, the Friars ripped off four first downs in a row before Capt. Gibbons finally piewed over the final chalk mark. He also kicked the point after via the placement method. Gibbons started the attack when he slip through right tackle for 10 yards, and Foster aided the cause on the next play with a 14-yard spring off the other side of the line. Then Gibbons shot a 10-yard aerial to Foster, who ran to the Cadets' 25-yard stripe before being hauled to the ground.

Another pass, 12 yards from Gibbons to Foster, sent him over the chalk mark again, finally being knocked offside on the one-yard line. Gibbons carried the leather the rest of the route.

In the second half Golembeski sent some of his substitutes into action, with Minnella and Sweeney at the guards, Derivan at centre, and Gilligan and McCormack at the tackles. Travelling behind this strong forward wall the backfield soon got under way with a goalward march.

The Friars took the ball on downs on their own 35-yard line and on the first play following Gibbons tossed a lateral to Mosca who raced 25 yards before being downed. He nearly got free for a score, but was stopped by McCaffrey. This line plunges netted another first down and a pass from Gibbons to Matthews brought the ball to the Cadet 15-yard tape. The backs ripped the line apart again for a first down on the four-yard stripe, from where Gibbons rushed the ball over on a criss-cross.

On the next kickoff the Dominicans fooled the Cadets when Matthews pulled a short kick, McCormack recovering the ball on the Coast Guard 42-yard line. Then Sharkey shot a short pass over the centre of the line to Matthews who twisted past two of the Cadets and went offside on the 20-yard line. A pass to Foster netted 15 yards to bring the ball to the five-yard line. Mosca picked up three yards at right tackle and then Foster caromed off right side to collect the fourth Providence score.

Golembeski then put third string griders into action and even this outfit proved able to collect yardage. The Cadets held them twice within the shadow of their goal, one on the one-yard line and the other time on the five-yard line.

In the final minutes of the game Hoskin punted from behind his own line and Smith, Friar signal caller, carried the ball back 10 yards to the Cadet 25-yard stripe. A pass from Smith to Sheepler collected 15 yards, and put the ball on the Coast Guard nine-yard tape. Line bucks by Galligan and Brown carried the ball within two yards of the goal, and then Smith went through the line to make his first touchdown in collegiate ranks.

Hendricken Field will be the scene of the seventh annual grid clash between Providence College and St. John's College of Brooklyn today which is expected to be one of the best small college contests of the day in New England. The game starts at 2 o'clock and probably will attract the largest crowd of the season to the Smith Hill gridiron.

Following a long drill yesterday Coach Archie Golembeski of the Friars pronounced his squad ready. With nearly all his players in condition for the major test of the campaign, Golembeski has high hopes of scoring the third straight victory.

Szydia, veteran halfback and stall all round athlete, will start as fullback, and Len Sweeney, rugged guard from Nashua, will pair with Jim Zande. Only one post was not settled last night, that of left tackle, which will not be filled until just before the start of the game. McCormack, McGovern and Callahan lead the fight for the position.

McGovern, whose work at tackle in the early season games stamped him as one of the best linemen to wear Black and White regalia in recent years, has been on the sidelines because of injuries for the past three weeks but is again ready to take his place in the lineup. As he has been out of action in the past two games, McGovern will probably be held in reserve.

With an offence that has been able to score 10 touchdowns in two games, the Friars should cause the invaders from Gotham plenty of trouble. In Capt. Marty Gibbons, Chick Bieller and Mickey Foster, elusive halfbacks, Golembeski has three scoring threats who will bear plenty of watching. Gibbons has tallied 21 points to date, Bieller 14 and Foster 12.

Dixie Matthews, colored wingman from this city, who played a spectacular game against the Cadets last Saturday, is in top shape and will be one of the main cogs in Golembeski's aerial attack. The Friars have perfected their overhead attacks in the past few days and as the visitors are also reputed to be adept at flinging the pigskin about, the contest promises many a thrill once the elevens open up their bag of tricks.

A victory will give the Friars a decided edge in their long series of competitions with the collegians from Brooklyn and will also pave the way for the most successful grid season the Smith Hillers have enjoyed in recent years as Lowell Tech is not expected to prove a stubborn foe next Saturday. The game will mark the final home football appearance of seven of the Friars, Capt. Gibbons and Szydia, halfbacks; Da Gata, fullback; Wheeler and Tomasst, centre; Jim Zande and Charlie Ritter, guards.

The St. John's squad, numbering 28 players, arrived in this city early last night and was reported by Coach Ray Lynch, former Holy Cross star, to be in fine condition. The New Yorkers will be strengthened for the tilt by the addition to the line of Karukas, giant guard, who watched from the sidelines as his mates ran wild against C. C. N. Y. last Saturday.

FRIARS EARN TRIUMPH OVER ST. JOHN'S IN FINAL RUSH, 19-6

Capt. Gibbons Stars in Great Victory for Providence College.—Two Touchdowns in Last Quarter Break Three Period Tie

Staging a last period rally which sent an enthusiastic crowd into an uproar, the Providence College eleven smashed its way through to a 19 to 6 triumph over St. John's College of Brooklyn on Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon in the seventh annual grid tussle between the two colleges. The victory is the most cherished of the season for the Friars and marks their third straight triumph.

It remained for Capt. Marty Gibbons to head the downfall of the invaders from Gotham, for the aggressive little Clinton Senior played the game of his career, smashing through for two of the three scores made by his team and playing a sterling game and the defence as well.

After watching his accurate forward passes completely blocked in the first half by an alert St. John's secondary defence which had been exceptionally well coached in Providence plays, Gibbons turned his attention to toting the leather in the latter stage of the game and hurled his 160 pounds of brawn and muscle through the St. John's forward wall like a meteor, striking first on one side of the line, and then caroming off the other end.

Co-starring with their clever captain were Stan Szydla, Fred Da Gata and Chick Bleiler, fleet ball carriers.

The victory was a team triumph, and was a fine tribute to Archie Golembeski's work at the Smith Hill college. Although they had not scouted the New Yorkers, the Friars presented a stonewall defence, with every man in the line more than holding his own, and the interference offered the backs on their run was exceptional.

The victory, the third the Dominicans have ever scored over St. John's, takes on added lustre in view of the fact that John, regular right end, and Manley Zande, regular right guard, were out of the game altogether with injuries, and Foster, star Sophomore back, was forced to withdraw in the second period owing to a knee bruise.

Friars' Captain Takes a Spill

Captain Marty Gibbons shown being upset. After catching a forward

After a scoreless first half, both elevens broke through with scores in the third period. The Friars blocked a Cooper punt and marched 30 yards for their score, while St. John's had an easy time of it, while St. John's had an easy time of it, while St. John's had an easy time of it, bringing the ball to the Friars' one-yard line from where it was carried over for the tying counter.

In the first period Providence drove her visitors back to the shadows of their own goal posts. Gibbons ran a Cooper punt back to mid-field and a moment later shot a pass to Foster which was good for 18 holes. Then the locals' attack wavered and Da Gata was called into action to kick. Sheppard was downed in his tracks on his own 15-yard stripe, and two plays later was pushed back eight yards nearer the goal when he fumbled and was mearnd under an avalanche of Dominican forwards. A long punt put the Redmen out of the difficulty.

The Colanoneski outfit tested all its forward plays in the first half, and thereby stazid a bit of strategy that probably accounted for the victory. The visitors found they could check every aerial raid attempted by the locals, and in the second half played a defence against forwards, only to have Capt. Gibbons and his crew of head ball carriers tear their line to shreds and ripped off the ends for long gains.

Jim Zande, stalwart guard who has missed but two games in four years of play at the Smith Hill college, paved the way for the first Providence score early in the third stanza. Zande, who had been playing a smashing game all day, hurled himself in front of Cooper's punt and completely blocked it. Jack Halloran, aggressive wingman, pounced on the oval on the invaders 20-yard line to provide the setting for the Friars.

After Szydla had turned in three yards, Gibbons loped off right end and carted the leather to the six-yard tape. Da Gata added four yards in two tries, and then Gibbons rammed his way through left tackle for the touchdown. Bleiler missed the bars with his dropkick for the point.

The Black and White banners were soon lowered, however, when St. John's staged a strong comeback, aided by three Providence penalties for holding, and deadlocked the score. Two successive penalties of 15 yards each put the ball on the Smith Hillers' 46-yard line, from where Sheppard tossed a 30-yard aerial to Stephens. Another holding penalty put the Friars on their one-yard tape and Sheppard squirmed through the line to push the ball over the final line mark. Halloran and Nawrocki frustrated Cooper's attempt for a point via dropkick.

After an exchange of kicks the Friars were started again on their victory march. Sharkey, who replaced Bleiler and did some classy work as signal caller, ran back a punt to his own 43-yard line. On the next play he picked up eight yards through the line and Gibbons added seven more for a first down.

Szydla shot through right tackle for 11 yards and a first down on St. John's 30-yard line. Two line bucks, one by Gibbons for six yards, and a short pass from Gibbons to Sharkey, carried the ball to the 20-yard line. After two tries at the line, Gibbons scampered far down the field and Sharkey flipped a pretty pass, which travelled to its mark straight as an arrow. The Friar leader took the throw on the dead run and continued until hurled off side on the one-yard line as the period ended.

It was an easy matter for Da Gata to plunge through a wide gap at left guard for the score, and Gibbons added the point with a placement, Sharkey holding the ball for him on the kick. St. John's took the following kickoff, but was forced to kick after a holding penalty put them on their own 15-yard line.

The final Providence scoring march started after Gibbons had run back a punt to the "Saints" 46-yard tape. Three line bucks netted nine yards, and then Gibbons spun off tackle for 16 yards to lug the ball to the 21-yard stripe.

The attack faltered a little at this point, and it looked as if the Friars would surrender the ball on downs. Capt. Gibbons was called on to find a gap in the line on the fourth down. The fiery Black and White pilot followed his interference through the left tackle, cut across the backfield, straight arming a St. John's back on the way, and sprinted to the goal line, 15 yards away. As he lunged over the line Sheppard, safety man for the Redmen, tackled him. Gibbons placement went astray, and so the final count was chalked up as 19 to 6 for the Smith Hillers.

FRIARS END SEASON WITH GAME AT LOWELL TOMORROW

Coach Golembeski Expects Tough Foe In Textile Eleven

The Providence College football aggregation will seek its fourth straight victory of the season, when it invades Lowell tomorrow afternoon to ring down the curtain on its 1929 campaign in a game with the strong Lowell Textile eleven. The game marks the renewal of grid relations between the two colleges after a lapse of four years.

Although the Friars have encountered stiffer opposition than that which has faced the Lowell outfit, Coach Archie Golembeski of the locals expects one of the hardest tests of the year for his charges. Yesterday the veteran Dominican mentor warned his gridders against overconfidence, stating that they would find Lowell a stubborn foe, and that it would require the strongest attack the Friars could flash to bring the victory back to this State.

Despite the fact that the snowfall of yesterday thoroughly soaked Hendricken Field, Golembeski had his entire squad out for a two-hour drill. The session was cut short by the mentor in order that the players might not be in too fine a condition for their final clash of the current campaign. Every gridder reported in top condition and as a result Golembeski will be able to field his strongest array.

Two Changes Pending.

Only two changes are pending, one placing Joe Sharkey, Lowell boy, at quarterback in place of Bleiler, and Sweeney, husky Nashua guard, in the line in place of Manley Zande. The work of Sweeney and Sharkey in the St. John's game last week has resulted in their being retained in the Varsity starting lineup, although both Bleiler and Zande will be available for duty if needed.

A drill in defence against Lowell formations was followed by a snappy signal drill yesterday by the Friars. Two elevens ran through their formations, stressing aerial plays for the greater part of the drill. Ability to handle forwards is expected to count heavily in the locals favor as they endeavor to bring their arduous campaign to a successful close.

End Gridiron Careers

The game will mark the final college tilt for seven of the Dominicans, as Capt. Marty Gibbons, Stan Szydla, both halfbacks; Jim Zande and Charlie Ritter, guards; Wheeler, rangy end; Tomassi, centre, and Da Gata, regular fullback, will receive their degrees next June. All of this group will draw action against the Weavers according to the pre-game plans of Coach Golembeski.

Following a brief drill this afternoon which will be curtailed to signal drill, the Friar mentor will select the players to make the journey to Lowell.

LOWELL TEXTILE HOLDS FRIARS TO 12-12 TIE IN HARD-FOUGHT GAME

Game Marred by Rough Playing on Part of Both Teams.—Capt. Gibbons Climaxes Brilliant
Grid Career by Tallying Both P. C. Scores

(Special to the Providence Journal)
Lowell, Mass., Nov. 23.—The Providence College eleven met strong opposition here this afternoon when a fighting Lowell Textile outfit held the Friars to a 12 to 12 decision on Textile Field here. The game marked the resumption of grid relations between the two schools after a lapse of four years.

The Friars wilted in the face of the rugged game put up by the locals. Time and again the Weavers broke through to stop the Providence ball carriers.

Capt. Gibbons, halfback of the Rhode Islanders, was the main cog in his team's offence and defence, making his collegiate grid finale a memorable one. He tallied the two touchdowns made by the Friars, tying the score in the final quarter on a 10-yard dash through the entire Lowell outfit.

Forward passes paved the way for the Lowell score, the second of which furnished the most spectacular play of the afternoon when Savard took a 15-yard pass from Allard over the centre of the line and raced to the Friars' goal, 50 yards away. The other touchdown made by the locals also was turned in by Savard when he took a 21-yard aerial in the opening period behind the Friars' goal posts.

Inability to tally the points after touchdowns, caused by the slippery field slowed the kickers, and the cold made handling the ball difficult, depriving both elevens of the opportunity to win the game.

Gibbons missed his two tries for the point via the placement method, while Allard failed in a similar attempt in the first period in a forward to Nile, but Dagata smashed the Weaver backfield man to earth a yard from the final line mark. Matthews took the opening kickoff on his own 30-yard line and ran it to the 45-yard tape before being hauled to earth.

Gibbons picked up seven yards at left tackle and then Foster slid off the right side of the line for a 20-yard gain. Line plunging brought the oval to the 23-yard stripe from where Sharkey flipped a pass, good for 13 yards, to Gibbons.

Gibbons picked up a yard at centre and Sharkey sliced off tackle for seven more. Da Gata plugged the line for a first down, carrying the ball to the Weavers' one-yard line in the advance. Then Gibbons smashed through right tackle for the score. He missed the bars in his attempted placement.

Lowell came back to tie the count in the same period. The locals took the kickoff but failed to gain. Then Savard got off the longest kick of the afternoon, aided by a stiff breeze, the ball bounding offside on the Providence one-yard line. Da Gata returned the boot, but his punt went offside on his own 29-yard tape.

Game played:

November 23, 1929

Niles was thrown for a loss on a line plunge, but Hendrick netted six yards at centre. Sharkey broke up a forward. Allard threw a long forward which sailed far over the heads of the Friar secondary to be caught by Savard as he raced across the goal line. Allard missed the point.

The game became rough after the score had been tied and two of the locals were banished from the game. Both teams nearly came to blows on several occasions before the clash ended, and the rough play caused the largest casualty list of the season. Matthews and Shea of the Providence team received the worst treatment at the hands of the local forward wall.

In the third period Providence had its march to the Weavers goal stopped when Pilligan recovered a fumble on his own 42-yard line. Lowell was caught holding and was penalized, but on the succeeding play, a kick, the Friars were guilty of roughing the kicker, and Lowell was given a first down on her own 35-yard tape.

Allard shot a flat pass over centre which caught the Providence secondary napping, and Savard took the ball on the run and headed for the Dominican goal. Foster made a desperate effort to overtake the runner, but was tackled by McCormick. A pass from Allard to Niles for the extra point was frustrated when Da Gata pulled the receiver down inside the final line.

In the fourth stanza an exchange of punts gave Providence the ball on the Lowell 40-yard line and a cleverly executed pass from Gibbons to Matthews was good for 10 yards while Dixie added 6 more. He eluded two men on the way to the Lowell 24-yard line. Matthews was badly hurt on the play and had to be carried from the field. A penalty for holding sent the Dominicans back to the 41-yard line a moment later, from where Sharkey hurled a 20-yard pass to McGovern. The latter was roughed as he accepted the pass and Lowell was penalized, putting the leather on their five-yard stripe.

A penalty for stalling made it 10 yards to the goal, and then Gibbons sent the Providence rooters in an uproar when he slid through tackle and reversed his field for a touchdown. His placement was blocked to leave the game deadlocked.

Friars' New Captains

McGovern, left tackle, from Flint, Mich., who were unanimously elected to the dual captaincy of the Providence College football team for next fall. Both are Juniors and have been mainstays of the Friars' elevens for the past three years.

McGovern and Zande Named Co-Captains of Friar Eleven

Dominican Grid Lettermen
Honor Two Stars.—1930 Football Schedule Announced.

The election of two captains for the Providence College Varsity football team of next fall in Mark McGovern of Flint, Mich., tackle, and Manley A. Zande of Torrington, Conn., guard, and the announcement of an eight-game schedule for the Friar gridlers by Graduate Manager John E. Farrell was announced last night.

The naming of two men to the post of captain resulted when a ballot of the lettermen showed a tie vote, and the solution of the problem was made by a unanimous decision that both men should share the honor during the 1930 season. The election of co-captains marks the first time in the annals of the Dominicans' sports activities that such action has ever been taken.

Manley Zande entered the Smith Hill College from Torrington high where he captained the football team in his senior year, and also served as manager of the basketball team which went to Chicago for the scholastic championships of the country. He entered Providence in the fall of 1927 and immediately won a regular place as guard on the Varsity eleven, a position he has successfully held for the past three seasons.

Mark McGovern, big tackle from Flint, Mich., is a graduate of St. Matthew's high of that city where he starred in football and basketball. He served as substitute end on the Dominican grid team his Freshman year at the Smith Hill college, and the following campaign clinched a tackle berth, starring at that position for two seasons. He has also been a member of the Varsity basketball squad for the past three years.

The football schedule as announced for next fall includes three newcomers, including the Coast Guard eleven of New London, which will visit this city on Oct. 11; Clarkson College of Potsdam, N. Y., booked to play here Oct. 18, and Duquesne University, to be met at Pittsburgh, Pa., on Thanksgiving Day.

Rutgers, Holy Cross, Canisius, Lowell Textile and St. John's of Brooklyn, teams that were met by the Friars last fall, retain places on the schedule for this year, with all but the Lowell game to be played away from home. One open date, Nov. 8, may be filled in the near future, as negotiations are under way to list an inter-sectional contest on that day.

Grid Dates Listed

The game with Duquesne, which was undefeated last fall and is coached by Elmer Layden, one of the members of the famous "Four Horsemen" of Notre Dame, will complete the list. The game is carded for Nov. 27 and probably will be played in the afternoon, with the Pittsburgh-Penn State clash on tap at the Pittsburgh stadium in the morning.

The complete schedule is as follows: Sept. 27, Rutgers University at New Brunswick, N. J.; Oct. 4, Holy Cross at Worcester, Mass.; Oct. 11, U. S. Coast Guard at Providence; Oct. 18, Clarkson College at Providence; Oct. 25, Canisius College at Buffalo, N. Y.; Nov. 1, Lowell Textile at Providence; Nov. 8 (pending); Nov. 15, St. John's at Brooklyn, N. Y.; Nov. 27, Duquesne University at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Letters Awarded

The players awarded Varsity insignia for their work on the gridiron last fall who participated in the election of the co-captains yesterday were: Capt. Martin L. Gibbons of Clinton, Mass.; Capt.-elect Manley A. Zande and James J. Zande of Torrington, Conn.; Capt.-elect Mark L. McGovern of Flint, Mich.; Fred A. Daga, Emmett Shea and Edward Nawrocki, all of Fall River, Mass.; Stanley A. Szydla of Ware, Mass.; John L. Sweeney of Nashua, N. H.; John L. Halloran of Staten Island, N. Y.; Joseph W. Sharkey of Lowell, Mass.; Vincent J. Kalishes of East Boston, Mass.; Charles C. McCormick of this city; Michael C. Foster, Edward J. Derivan and Owen J. Callahan, all of Pittsfield, Mass.; Charles E. Bleiler of Everett, Mass.; Charles J. Jern of New York city; Charles A. Mosca of Paterson, N. J., and Student Manager Robert M. Dwyer of West Warwick, R. I.

Re-Appointed Coach

Albert McClellan of Swampscott, Massachusetts, who was Re-Appointed Varsity Basketball Coach, at Providence College, Yesterday, by the Athletic Council.

MCCLELLAN NAMED COACH OF FRIARS' BASKETBALL SQUAD

Appointed for Third Season.
Team to Play 19 Games,
10 at Home.

Al McClellan of Swampscott, Mass., will again coach the Providence College basketball squad according to an official announcement yesterday. At the same time an attractive 19-game schedule for the 'Varsity quintet was announced by Graduate Manager Farrell.

McClellan returns to the Dominican college for his third season with prospects for another fine team, although he will have to start his campaign without the services of Eddie Wineapple, all-American guard who turned professional and is now with the Syracuse team in the American basketball league. Five of the six letter men of last year are available for the coming season.

The schedule calls for 10 games in this city, with nine of them as home contests for the Friars, and the other game the tilt with Brown at the Bruin's court on Elmgrove avenue.

Outstanding on the home schedule are the games with Northeastern, Springfield, Middlebury, Holy Cross, St. John's of Brooklyn, and Seton Hall College. Of this group Middlebury and Seton Hall are newcomers to the list. The former team won all but three of its games last winter, and captured the Vermont State title, while Seton Hall lost but two games against the fastest teams in the New York district.

Although Dartmouth and Connecticut, two of the three teams to vanquish the Friars last winter, are missing from the list owing to conflicts in dates, nearly all the other major opponents of last season are included. Yale, defeated by one point in a hectic game last December, will be host to the Friars again this campaign, the game being slated for New Haven on Dec. 17.

For the first time a home and home series will be effected with the strong St. John's five of Brooklyn. This outfit was rated as second best in the East last winter, although the Friars handed them one of their two setbacks. This first game of this series will be staged in December when the Dominicans make their holiday trip to New York, and the second game will be played in this city on Jan. 25.

Coach McClellan plans to start pre-season drills the middle of this month, and although several of his court stars will not be able to join in the work until the end of the football season, he will have a sizeable squad when he calls the first drill. Capt. Szydlia, veteran guard, and Larry Wheeler, rangy centre, and captain of the quintet last winter, are two regulars with the football aggregation who will not don their basketball togs until the end of the month.

However, Johnny Krieger, all New England forward and sixth highest scorer of the East last year, his running mate from Paterson, Bill McCue, and Chick Gainer, who played at centre and guard last winter, are available. Other members of the 'Varsity squad of 1928 who are ready to don togs are George Cody, guard, from Woonsocket, and Jimmie Welch and Bob Dion, forwards.

With the close of football activity the roster will be augmented by Capt. Szydlia, Wheeler, Derivan, Foster, McGovern, Sharkey, Jern, Bleiler and Shea. The appointment of Louis A. Imbriano of Revere, Mass., a Junior, as student manager of the 'Varsity basketball squad, was also confirmed by the Dominican athletic council yesterday.

The complete schedule, all games here unless specified otherwise, is as follows:

Dec. 11, Northeastern; 17, Yale at New Haven; 20, St. John's at Brooklyn, N. Y.; 21, Columbia Pharmacy at New York city; Jan. 11, Springfield; 16, Middlebury; 18, Holy Cross at Worcester; 22, Worcester Polytech; 25, St. John's; Feb. 1, Holy Cross; 7, Upsilon at East Orange, N. J.; 8, C. C. N. Y. at New York city; 15, New Bedford Textile; 19, Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn.; 22, Seton Hall College; 26, University of New Hampshire at Durham, N. H.; March 1, Coast Guard Academy; 4, Brown at Brown Gym; 8, Lowell Textile at Lowell, Mass.

18 ANSWER FRIAR BASKETBALL CALL

Eighteen basketball players answered the initial call of Coach Al McClellan of Providence College for candidates for the varsity basketball squad yesterday afternoon. A short drill in fundamentals was staged at the La Salle court.

Johnny Kreiger, all New England forward and Will McCue, rangy running mate of Krieger and veteran of the past two seasons, were the only veteran lettermen present.

Among the recruits are several former schoolboy stars including Frank Dromgoole, all scholastic centre from Classical; Paul Smith, from Woonsocket High and James Burns of La Salle. Other likely looking candidates are Henry Smolensky, former Brockton High captain; Sam Rice, who captained Chelsea High; Joe Mea, Vermont Academy, and Sam Sherman, guard from New Haven High.

Lawrence Whetler,

GAINOR AND WELCH JOIN HOOP SQUAD

William "Chick" Gainor, letterman in basketball last winter, and State amateur welterweight boxing champion, and Jimmie Welch, clever substitute forward from Hartford, reported to Al McClellan, Dominican hoop mentor, yesterday afternoon as the Friars started their second week of indoor court work. Both Gainor and Welch served throughout the entire season last year with the first string squad, and will be counted upon to help retain the New England college hoop title on Smith Hill.

The squad now numbers 25 and with at least 15 members of the football squad yet to report, will represent the largest group of aspirants ever to turn out for basketball drills in the short time the Friars have pursued the sport. Capt. Szydla, veteran of three campaigns, watched the practice yesterday, but will not report until next Monday, following the close of the football campaign.

Several well known athletes, who made enviable reputations as court stars in scholastic ranks, joined the squad yesterday. Among this number were Dale Worrall, who captained Dean Academy last winter; Louis Lepine, State conference centre while with Mt. St. Charles Academy; Irragi, Jimmie Burns, West Warwick and La Salle product, and Paul Halloran of New Bedford, brother of the Friars star catcher of three years ago.

Drills will be speeded up this week and Coach McClellan expects to have a fair idea of the ability of his charges by the time the many performers now with the grid squad put in an appearance. A scrimmage will probably be staged by Friday with all the players drawing action.

FRIAR BASKETBALL CANDIDATES DRILL

With the football season ended, Varsity basketball claimed the attention of some of the gridiron performers at Providence College yesterday when Stanley Szydla, captain of the hoopsters, headed a delegation of veterans to the La Salle court. The court performers have been practicing for the past two weeks under the direction of Coach McClellan.

In addition to Capt. Szydla, who will handle one of the guard berths again this winter, Coach McClellan welcomed the appearance of Larry Wheeler, rangy centre and captain of the championship quintet of last year, who has been a wingman on the eleven this fall, and Eddie Derivan, centre with the grid forces and a promising guard last winter with the basketekers.

With several other clever performers slated to add their names to the roster today, including McGovern, Jorn, Halloran, Sharkey and Foster, the Friars will boast one of the largest hoop squads in the New England college ranks before the season gets under way. Coach McClellan plans to keep the squad intact until the game here with Northeastern, and according to present plans will make no cut in the number of candidates working out dally.

A half-hour scrimmage topped off the drill yesterday with a veteran team, including in its ranks McCue and Krieger, clever forward tandem, which has performed for two years as a Varsity unit, topping a strong substitute aggregation. Several of the newcomers have shown much promise in the past week of practice and the mentor anticipates some keen competition for the Varsity assignments.

LEO LOBDELL JOINS FRIAR COURT SQUAD

The tallest player ever to wear Providence College sports regalia was the latest recruit to Coach Al McClellan's Varsity basketball outfit when Leo Lobdell, six foot four inch centre from Paterson joined the hoop aggregation at the La Salle court yesterday afternoon.

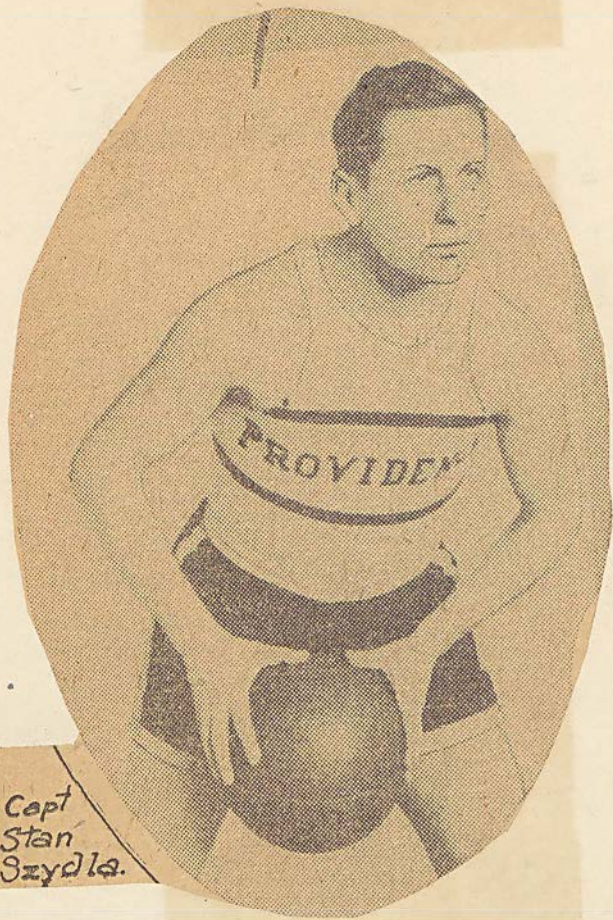

Lobdell played with the Varsity football team a year ago, and last spring was regular centrefielder on Jack Flynn's ball club. He is exceptionally fast in spite of his height and was rated the speediest man on the diamond squad last season. Lobdell did not play football last fall, preferring to bolster his scholastic rating.

With Larry Wheeler, captain of the quintet a year ago, and a senior classman now, finishing his competition for the Friars with this season, Coach McClellan has been combing the student ranks for a capable performer to handle the assignment next year. Jim Burns, former La Salle performer, is the outstanding candidate for the work as the result of his efforts as understudy to Wheeler during the current campaign.

Lobdell, who is the same height as the Dominican mentor, lacks training in the court game, having played but little while at high school. However, he is confident that he will develop into a capable performer under the careful tutelage of Coach McClellan.

A lively scrimmage yesterday put the squad in the right mood for the hard test facing them this week-end when the Springfield College quintet, one of the foremost hoop teams in the East, invades this city. The Friars feel that they will be able to top the gym-teachers, as they have met stronger opposition in battling such quintets as Northeastern, Yale and St. John's. The latter team is undefeated to date, having scored its ninth straight win at the expense of Columbia two nights ago.

Friars Swamp Huskies

48-21 In Opening Game

Krieger Starts Basketball Campaign by Scoring Total of 16 Points.

The Providence College Varsity basketball team opened its 1929 campaign before an enthusiastic crowd at Infantry Hall by defeating Northeastern University of Boston 48 to 21. The Friars proved superior in every department of play and had matters much their own way.

Johnny Krieger, runner-up to Eddie Wineapple for scoring honors last winter, led the field in tossing in baskets last night, the blonde-haired Paterson forward collecting 16 of the markers hung up by the Dominicans. McCue took second place with 15 points.

Any doubt of the strength of the team was dispelled once the locals got under way. McClellan's latest aggregation to make a bid for collegiate basketball honors shapes up as a better passing outfit, and once it has hit its stride will be a hard team to defeat.

Gainor Plays Well

Gainor, the only newcomer to the Varsity lineup, proved a capable replacement, rounding out a veteran team. Gainor did not take part in any of the scoring, but played a smashing game in holding Tiffany, ace of the Northeastern outfit, to four field goals throughout the game.

So strong were the Dominicans that they unleashed a running attack to open the second half which left the Huskies in a daze. Twenty-two points were added by the Smith Hillers in the first 12 minutes of the second period, while the Boston hoopsters failed to score a single marker. In this scoring spree, Krieger, McCue and Wheeler turned in some brilliant work, aided by fine passing on the part of Szydla and Gainor.

Providence jumped into an early lead with McCue breaking the ice with a double decker from under the hoop after taking a quick pass from Wheeler. Tiffany tallied from the foul line after being fouled by McCue, but this one point mainly served as an incentive to the McClellan coached machine to get under way.

With Wheeler and McCue snaring rebounds, and Krieger flashing with one-hand shots from the side of the court, the Friars soon put the home crowd in a happy mood. At the halftime the locals were on the long end of a 20-to-11 decision.

Game played: December 11, 1929

Huskies Bewildered.

Following the rest period, the Black and White jerseyed court stars gave one of the finest exhibitions of passing seen here in some time. Using a five-man offence, with every player taking his turn at carrying through to the hoop, the locals had the Huskies bewildered in their attempt to hold them in check. Eleven field goals were tossed through the meshes in rapid order, although Coach McCoy of Northeastern attempted to frustrate the rally by sending an entire new team on the floor.

In the final minutes of play Coach McClellan gave his second team, composed of Burns, Smolensky, Welch, Derivan and Cody, a chance and this quintet proved able to hold the Huskies in check. Tiffany, star of the visitors, broke through for three field goals during this period.

In the preliminary game the Dominican Freshmen turned in a rugged game in toppling the strong Boys' Club quintet, 23 to 17. Dale Worrall, Dean Academy captain of last year, and Franny Dromgoole, former Clascal star, flashed some fine scoring work. Zubiago was the best bet for the Boys' Club five.

Tomorrow night the Providence College squad will stage the fifth annual

DEMONSTRATION TILT BY FRIARS TONIGHT

The Providence College basketball squad, comprising the 'Varsity and Freshmen conquerors of Northeastern University and the Providence Boys' Club in a double bill Wednesday night, will provide plenty of action at the City high school gymnasium tonight when picked teams from the entire squad stage the annual demonstration game for the coaches and officials of the State. The contest is slated to start at 8 o'clock and will be open to the general public, free of charge.

Coach McClellan of the Friars, who will conduct the game by sending his hoopsters through their paces in what promises to be a lively scrimmage, held a long drill in shooting and passing at the La Salle court yesterday.

The teams to compete tonight will be designated as the Blacks and the Whites, with most of the 'Varsity team composing the former aggregation. However, McClellan indicated yesterday, following the practice session, that he might split his first team, using three of the regulars on the Blacks and the other pair on the opposing quintet. The only regular who will not take part in the contest will be Krieger, who received a slight shoulder sprain in the Northeastern game and so will take no chances on a further injury tonight.

Next week the Smith Hillers will journey to New Haven in quest of a win over Yale, strengthened this winter by the addition of Albie Booth, sensational all-round performer of the Elis. A week from tonight the Dominicans invade Brooklyn to tackle St. John's College in what promises to be one of the hardest assignments of the season.

At least four officials will handle the contest at the City Gym tonight, and half of the game may witness the interesting experiment of having three men officiate at one time. The latter idea is one that has been presented by the Dominican coach. Following the game, James Parker, President of the Eastern Massachusetts Board of Approved Officials, will give an interpretation of the new and existing rules.

The complete squad of Friar hoopsters who will be in uniform tonight is as follows: Team A (Blacks)—Capt. Szydlia, Wheeler, McCue, Gainor, Welch, Worrall, Dromgoolé and Cody. Team B (Whites)—Smolensky, Derivan, Burns, Foster, Rocco, Lepine, Rice, Riley, Mosca and Hanna.

Prior to the demonstration contest, the members of the Rhode Island board of approved basketball officials will convene at the Crown Hotel for a dinner, which will be followed by a discussion of rules. The dinner will be held at 6 o'clock and in addition to the arbiters will be attended by James Parker of Everett, Mass., president of the eastern Massachusetts board of officials; Coach Albert McClellan of the Providence College team, and Graduate Manager John E. Farrell of the Dominican college. Mr. Oswald Tower, editor of the Basketball Guide, informed the local board yesterday that he would be unable to attend the meeting.

FRIARS LOSE TO BULLDOGS BY 30 TO 21

Yale Scores Third Triumph in Row; P. C. Weak on Passing

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 18.—Yale led Providence College from the first whistle to the last in their basketball game here last night, winning by a score of 30 to 21. It was the third victory in a row for the Yale quintet.

Individual scoring stars such as stood out in the Yale contests with Upsala and Wesleyan last week were lacking. The scoring was about equally divided, with Townsend, Horwitz, McGowan and Capt. Nanry sinking two field goals apiece; Schane, Beyer and Patterson one each. The team play was notably more clocklike and proficient than in the previous games. Providence boasted no scoring stars, either, but Capt. Szydla and Wheeler, at center, flashed short and deceptive passwork that kept their opponents guessing.

Most of the Yale starting line-up played the entire game, or all but a few minutes of it. Louis Nassau, star last year, who has been slow in getting into form this year, went in for Horwitz in the second half. Schane took Townsend's place at forward for five minutes and Albie Booth replaced Capt. Nanry in the final two minutes. Johnny Beyer and McGowan divided the right guard assignment equally. Providence used only eight men.

Game played: December 17, 1929

Capt. Szydla started the scoring by ringing a foul shot. Yale then ran up 6 points, and kept the lead, closing the half ahead by 14 to 9. At the opening of the second period Yale went ahead against their heavier opponents, until the score was 22 to 10. Then Providence rallied with 8 points, while Yale scored but 2. In the final four minutes of the game, the ball was in Yale possession most of the time, with much passing near the goal and few shots at the basket.

FRIARS HAVE TWO GAMES IN GOTHAM

Coach Al McClellan's Providence College basketball aggregation, which failed to show its best form against Yale, will have its hands full to stage a comeback tomorrow night at Brooklyn where the undefeated St. John's College quintet will be met. Following the St. John's tilt the Friars will wind up their pre-holiday program with a contest with the Columbia College of Pharmacy five on Saturday.

The Friars also will have a chance to see the Dartmouth-City College of New York tilt to be played in the 102nd Engineers Armory in New York Saturday night if plans now under way can be completed. The Dominican hoopsfers have been extended an invitation by the City College athletic authorities to attend the game, which will attract a crowd of 10,000 basketball fans, and efforts are now being made by the locals to stage their contest with Columbia Pharmacy early enough to permit the visit to the Armory.

Coach McClellan sent his squad through a brisk session at the La Salle court last night, and refused to offer any alibis for the unexpected setback at New Haven. It was termed as an "off night" for his charges by the veteran Smith Hill mentor, who is confident that his machine possesses as strong an attack as the Elis.

Tomorrow night the Friars will face their old rivals in what promises to be one of the best games of the early season period. Providence tacked a 32-30 defeat on the Brooklynites last winter, and ever since the New Yorkers have been awaiting the return contest this year. With a team of veterans available and only Jimmy Collins, high scorer, lost by graduation, Coach Buck Freeman will have a slight edge over the Dominicans.

Following the drill this afternoon the Black and White mentor will make his selections for the two-day trip to New York. Other than the first team of veterans, the mentor will probably carry three or four extra performers, but just who will be awarded the relief assignments will not be known until late today.

ST. JOHN'S IN VICTORY OVER DOMINICANS

Providence College Hoop- sters Lose Hard Fought Game by 27-20

Brooklyn, Dec. 21. — Providence College was defeated 27-20 last night by a speedy St. John's College basketball quintet with Begovich, Freshman centre of the winners, leading his team's attack by collecting 11 points.

The hard-fighting Dominican hoopsters held a 2-0 lead on Krieger's field goal for the first 13 minutes of play but the homesters then found themselves to forge ahead 11-9 as the half ended. Bitter struggling marked the second half with the St. John's athletes displaying more reserve strength than the visitors.

Johnny Krieger and Bill McCue topped the Dominican scorers with six points apiece. Both Providence forwards tried hard to bring up the invaders' score but the strong defence of the St. John's quintet stopped several potential rallies.

The Columbia College of Pharmacy five entertains Providence tonight in New York City.

FRIARS WIN OVER PHARMACISTS 43-12

Swing Back Into Win Column
by Victory at New York.
McCue High Scorer.

(Special to the Providence Journal)
New York, Dec. 20.—The Providence College Varsity basketball aggregation swung back into the winning groove here tonight, overwhelming the Columbia College of Pharmacy quintet by a 43-to-12 count.

The Friars, defeated in their two previous starts, wreaked havoc on the Columbia defence with McCue and Krieger doing the most damage. McCue was high scorer of the game, collecting 15 points, enough to defeat the Pharmacists single handed.

The Rhode Islands held the locals to two field goals throughout the game. The first double-decker to be tallied by Columbia came mid way in the second half, when Freed garnered a rebound and flipped it back through the hoop.

In the first 20 minutes of play the Friars completely smothered every attempt of Columbia to get within scoring range, with Captain Szydla and Gainor sharing the defensive assignments with their mates. Even when Coach Al McClellan sent his substitute team into action, the locals were equally powerless to score.

Providence started scoring before the game was a minute old, with McCue doing the honors on a pretty shot from the side of the court. Then followed a barrage of shots which left the Columbia outfit in a daze as the Rhode Islanders' point total mounted up. At half-time the visitors were enjoying a 26 to 4 lead. The only points made by the locals in this half resulted from tries from the free-throw line.

Coach McClellan gave his subs a chance in the second half, with Derivan and Cody playing the guards, and Welch pairing with Smolensky in the forward court. This team, aided by the fine work of Wheeler at centre, ran the score to 30 in five minutes of play, and then the regulars went back into action to roll up the wide margin.

While all the Providence squad turned in fine work in all departments, particularly in defensive tactics, the performance of Cody was outstanding. He broke up every assault on the Friar hoop, and contributed one of the most spectacular field goals of the fray with a back-hand shot from the side of the court.

FRIARS SPRING SURPRISE

ON SPRINGFIELD

TO WIN 41-28

Long Range Shooting Gives Dominicans Edge

Victory Is Second in Row Over
Gym Teachers. — McCue,
Krieger Run Up Points

The Providence College Varsity basketball five against Springfield College flashed a sparkling brand of the indoor game at Infantry Hall last night to collect a 41 to 28 decision. The victory marks the second successive of the locals over the Gymteachers, as the Friars took the decision at Springfield last year by a four-point margin.

Ability to make good on long range shooting, together with fine team work, accounted for the Friars' triumph. The stout five-man defence of the invaders proved equal to the task of breaking up any close shots at their hoop in the first half, but the long tosses by Krieger, Wheeler and Capt. Szydla enabled the locals to pile up a commanding lead.

As has been the case in all the games played so far this campaign, the forward tandem of McCue and Krieger again took the high honors for scoring. The former collected five field goals, several as the result of his ability to convert rebounds, while Krieger featured with his long range tactics. Wheeler, with four field goals, and Capt. Szydla and Gainor, with two each, accounted for additional scores.

Total Unexpected

The high total run up by the Dominicans was totally unexpected as Springfield with one exception placed the same team on the floor which battled the Friars to such a close decision last winter, and as a result was favored to make an exceptionally strong bid last night.

The Providence College subs were rushed into the contest in the final minutes and flashed some fine work with Jimmie Welch, relief forward, collecting the last three points of the fray.

Game played January 11, 1930

After two minutes of action the locals broke the ice when Krieger made good on a pretty shot from the side of the court. Then Wheeler accounted for the second score when he completed a pivot play to sink the leather from in front of the hoop. Becker garnered the invaders' initial score a minute later, but his effort was soon overshadowed by the barrage of successful tosses loosed by the Friars.

Szydla caught the defence napping to score from the foul line. Wheeler cleared the rim on a long shot from close to the edge of the court, and Krieger rolled the score to 10 to 2 after taking a long pass from Gainor.

Springfield Rallies

The Hickcoxmnen rallied in the final stage of the opening period, but at best could only keep pace with the speedy local machine. With Krieger making some sensational set shots from far outside the five-man defence, the Dominicans were able to boost their total to 20 against 9 for the invaders when the halftime whistle sounded.

After the rest, the Friars continued their relentless attack, averaging two goals to every one sunk through the meshes by the Springfield aggregation. Ackerman, former running mate of McCue at Paterson High, turned in the best work for his team in this period, counting three times on tosses from under the hoop.

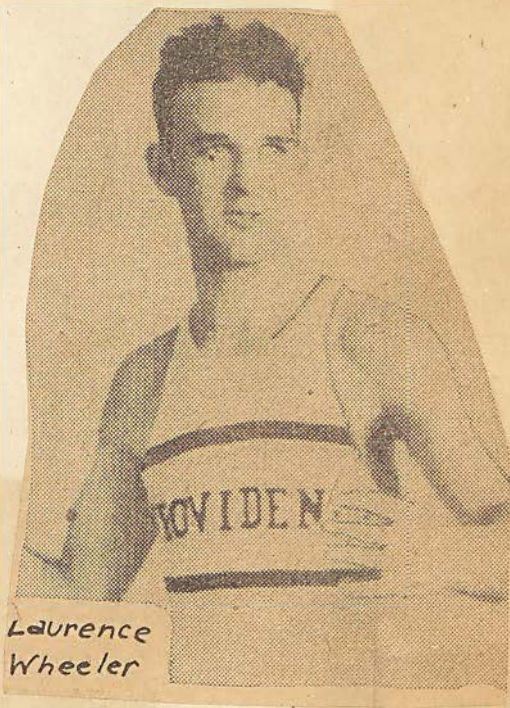

To check the long range basket shooting of the Friars, Coach Hickox pulled his defence out, but the locals merely shifted their plan of attack. Instead of taking their long shots, they worked the pivot play from the foul line, with Wheeler handling the passes, and cut through repeatedly for spectacular scores.

In the preliminary game the Junior Varsity team of the Smith Hill college swamped the men's team of the College of Education under a 56 to 20 score. In this contest, Franny Dromgoole, former Classical star, was the high scorer with 16 points, while Sam Rice ran him a close second with five field goals.

FRIARS OPEN DRILLS FOR TWO CONTESTS

With Springfield added to its list of conquests, Providence College Varsity basketball outfit will start work today in preparation for the clash with Ben Beck's team from Middlebury College to be staged at La Salle this Thursday night. The game will be the first of two this week for the Friars, as McClellan will take his hoopsters to Worcester on Saturday for the first game of the annual series with Holy Cross.

Due to the fact that the Dominican college authorities could not obtain Infantry Hall for the game, the Friar hoopsters will meet the Vermonters on the La Salle court where they practice daily. The tilt will mark but the second time in two years that the Dominicans have staged a game on the floor where they hold their practice work, as the Lowell Tech game of last winter was the only home contest played there.

On the La Salle floor the Friars should come through with another win, but the strength of the visiting aggregation has worried Coach McClellan, as Middlebury has a team of veterans who lost but three games last winter.

Johnson, right forward with the Beck-coached crew, was one of the leading scorers of New England last winter and is expected to give the locals plenty of trouble.

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE

FIVE WINS FOURTH

STRAIGHT VICTORY

Friars Down Middlebury, Vermont Champions, 44-24

Krieger Leads Scorers with 16
Points.—Friar Second Team Is Winner.

The Providence College Varsity basketball teams continued their winning streaks at the La Salle Academy gym last night, with Al McClellan's crack first-string outfit completely outclassing Middlebury College, Vermont champions, by a 44 to 24 count, and the Dominican Jayvees topping the St. Joseph's Club of Pawtucket by a 34 to 26 score.

The victory was the fourth in six starts for the Varsity, and the decisive manner in which the Friar sharpshooters riddled the strong Middlebury defence sent the large crowd into a continual uproar. With Johnny Krieger, all-New England choice, leading the attack, the Friars bombarded the visitors' hoop with a vengeance, and at the halftime were resting comfortably on the long end of a 29 to 14 score.

After the Smith Hillers had tucked the decision safely away, Coach McClellan gave his strong substitutes, headed by Jimmie Welch and Eddie Derivan, a chance to show their wares. The second team was unable to continue the offence of the Varsity quintet, but did manage to hold the Vermonters to the low score.

All the regulars broke into the scoring column, with Krieger taking the top honors with eight field goals, one of which capped one of the most sensational plays ever made on the La Salle court. This effort came when Krieger took a bounce pass from McCue, faked a shot and then split the defence on a dribble to the net to cage the goal as he pitched forward on the floor. Wheeler and McCue tied for the runner-up honors with 12 markers apiece.

Vermonters Score First

Middlebury jumped into the lead in the opening period with Capt. Humeston, rangy centre, who was well covered throughout the fray by Wheeler, getting his lone field goal of the contest on a rebound off the backboards. The Friar pivot man retaliated with a similar score a moment later to start the Black and White offence. Play was nip and tuck for the first five minutes, and then the locals started to show their class and forge to the front.

With Wheeler scoring on a pivot from the foul line, McCue garnering rebounds to send the leather back through the nets, and Krieger doing some clever sharpshooting from beyond the foul line, the Providence machine soon ran its total into double figures. In the final 10 minutes of play the visitors collected but four field goals.

At the outset of the second half Middlebury rallied to do a little scoring, but soon wilted under the driving attack of the Friars, who cut loose with a pass attack that completely bewildered the champions of the Green Mountains. The ball plunged through the Middlebury net from all corners of the court as the local machine struck its stride. When the total had reached the 40 mark Coach McClellan put his second team in.

Second Team Wins.

In the prelim game the Jayvees had a hard battle on their hands to down the St. Joseph's Club of Pawtucket, the latter quintet being composed of several former St. Raphael Academy basketeers. McCormack and Marty Gibbons, football captain last fall, led the scoring in this fray, the former collecting 10 points and Gibbons eight. A last-period surge gave the Friars a lead which they never relinquished.

Tomorrow night the Providence Varsity team will invade Worcester for the first game of the series with Holy Cross.

Providence College Five Balks Last Minute Holy Cross Rally to Win 34-33

FRIARS NOSE OUT FIGHTING PURPLE TEAM

Dominicans Triumph 34 to 33
In Thrilling Court Game
at Worcester.

(Special to the Providence Journal)

Worcester, Mass., Jan. 18.—The Providence College Varsity basketball team won a thrilling 34-to-33 victory over the Holy Cross quintet here tonight in one of the most exciting games ever staged in the St. John's gym. The Friars started out as if the tilt would be a walkaway, but their attack faltered in the final stages of the clash as the Crusaders came to the fore to nearly tie the score in the final minute of play. It was the fifth win of the season for the Providence outfit.

The locals were well aware of the scoring prowess of Johnny Krieger, clever Providence forward, and as a result made every effort to keep him well covered. The Paterson ace broke loose, however, for a total of 12 points, nearly all of which were tallied in the first half. Chick Gainor proved the next best tally maker for the Friars with 10 markers to his credit.

Owing to the smallness of the court the game was fast and the play was rugged throughout, with the Providence team finding it hard to work its fine pass attack which features its offence. Discarding their five-man defence, the locals resorted to man-for-man tactics, with the result that the Friars had their hands full trying to break through for scores.

Game played: January 18, 1930

After the rest the McClellan machine clicked with regularity to show its superiority over the Bay State team. McCue, Wheeler and Krieger slipped through the defence repeatedly to collect scores, while Szydla and Gainor did some yeoman work in the back court. Twelve minutes after this stanza had been started the Dominicans were coasting along on the heavy end of a 31 to 13 total, and Coach McClellan sent his substitutes into action.

The Tech men rallied in the last few minutes with Asp and Cullen turning in spectacular scores, and boosted their total to 18 before the final whistle.

On Saturday night, at Infantry Hall, the Friars will tackle the undefeated St. John's quintet of Brooklyn. St. John's has won 10 straight games and is one of the two outfits to tack a defeat on the Smith Hillers this season.

In the preliminary game the Y. M. C. A. second team turned in a one-sided 26 to 14 victory over the Dominican junior Varsity team. It marked the first time the Jayvees have been defeated this winter. Swanson with a total of 14 points was the star of this contest.

RIAR FIVE BEATS ST. JOHN'S

Dominican Quintet Triumphs Over St. John's Five 31-21

McClellan's Outfit Breaks 12-
Game Winning Streak of Brooklyn Team.

Playing an inspired brand of basketball, the Providence College quintet climbed into the top flight among the Eastern court teams by snapping the undefeated record of the powerful St. John's College five at Infantry Hall last night to collect a 31 to 21 decision for its sixth straight triumph of the year. The victory hoists the Black and White colors well into the collegiate limelight, as the New Yorkers had a string of 12 straight wins to their credit, most of which were scored at the expense of major colleges of the East. The verdict also served as ample revenge for the Friars, who sustained a 27 to 20 setback at Brooklyn last December.

One of the largest crowds ever to watch a basketball tilt at Infantry Hall saw Al McClellan's quintet come through the most trying contest of their schedule. To Bill McCue, lanky forward, belongs the lion's share of the victory, for it was due largely to his brilliant floor work that the Dominicans were able to keep in the running. Content to feed the ball to his mates, McCue sacrificed many a chance to score himself. In addition he turned in some clever work in securing the tap and in retrieving the ball off the back boards.

Wheeler Leads Scorers

Larry Wheeler, playing his last game against the New Yorkers, after four years of competition, was the outstanding scorer for the locals. Wheeler out-jumped Begovich, his highly touted rival from Gotham, and while holding the St. John's giant to a lone field goal, managed to take the high scoring honors of the clash himself with 13 points.

After two minutes of play Providence got under way by opening an offence well adapted to the Brooklynites' style of play. With McCue working as the pivot from the foul line, and Wheeler joining in as a scorer, the locals soon took the lead. On a clever block play Krieger shot through to open the scoring. Then Wheeler sent the crowd into an uproar with the first of his long shots, dropping the leather through the net from the side of the court. Krieger made it five points when he converted on Schuckman's first foul.

Game played: January 25, 1930

St. John's broke into the scoring after five minutes of play with Hinchcliffe doing the honors on a long toss from close to mid-court. This field goal started a rally which tied the count at seven all, before the Friars again slipped ahead. At the half-time the Dominicans had piled up a seven-point lead, mainly through the scoring efforts of Wheeler, and left the floor for the rest on the long end of a 16 to 9 score.

Take Lead in Second.

The Redmen from Brooklyn showed their best form at the start of the second half. Schuckman made a sensational running shot from the corner of the court, and was fouled in the act by Wheeler. He made good on both his free tries, to boost his team's total to 14, and then O'Shea tallied on Krieger's foul. With the crowd in an uproar, Schuckman sent St. John's into the lead when he hoisted a long toss through the rim.

Jimmie Welch, substitute forward, was rushed into action in place of Krieger, and a minute later tied the score at 17 apiece when he made good from the free throw line after being fouled by Posnack, burly leader of the invaders. Capt. Szydla of the Friars contributed his lone scoring effort of the fray, tossing the leather in from close to mid-floor, but the lead was short-lived, as Schuckman, clever guard of the visitors, knotted the count again a moment later.

Resort to Rough Tactics.

Then the Friars jumped into a lead which was never seriously challenged for the remainder of the tilt. Wheeler and Gainor made good on foul shots, Wheeler scored with a double-decker, and Welch duplicated the feat shortly after to bring the Providence score to 25.

The St. John's players, facing their first defeat of the year, and with visions of their claim for the Eastern court title being blasted away by the Smith Hillers, resorted to rough tactics in the closing minutes of the clash, and, as a result, the locals collected four points from free tries, and Wheeler tapped a rebound back through the rim to bring the total to 31 as the final gun barked the downfall of the New Yorkers.

GRADUATE MANAGER JOHN FARRELL, who keeps athletics humming at Providence College, is numbered with those who believe basketball can be popularized to the point where it will become a major sports fixture here. The enthusiastic reception which the Dominicans received in their recent contest on La Salle's court and the generous turnout convinced him that the time is ripe for a contest at Infantry Hall and that accounts for the shift there of tonight's battle with the St. John's College quintet.

The Dominicans are in full stride as was evidenced a few nights ago when they whipped the Crusaders of Holy Cross and a decision over the Brooklyn team will run their string to six consecutive victories. Earlier in the season Providence dropped a contest to the St. John's team which has captured 12 consecutive games. If the Black and White colors are hoisted in triumph this evening the players will have to step at their fastest clip of the season.

St. John's Defeat Features Week's Basketball Play

Providence, Jinx of 1929,
Stops Winning Streak;
Pitt Headed for Title

By Rud Rennie

The St. John's College basketball team, after collecting a string of twelve victories, suffered its first defeat last Saturday night at the hands of a Providence team it had beaten earlier in the season.

This game, Pennsylvania's conquest of Army Wednesday and Navy Saturday, Princeton's defeat of Yale in the only Eastern Intercollegiate League game of the week, and the continued success of Pitt's Golden Panthers in defeating Carnegie Tech again, were the most important college basketball games in the East last week.

Generally speaking there was not much activity on college courts because of the mid-year exams. The boys were busy trying to pass something more important than a basketball.

The Columbia, Fordham, N. Y. U. and City College teams did not play at all. Manhattan played one game, defeating Rider. St. John's played three, defeating St. Bonaventure and Holy Cross to make twelve straight victories, only to come to grief in Providence. It was Providence that tripped St. John's last year.

All City Teams Beaten

Now that St. John's has been defeated, there is not an undefeated college team in the city.

The records of the six leading colleges here are:

Team	W	L	Pct	Team	W	L	Pct
St. John's....	12	1	.924	Manhattan....	7	2	.777
N. Y. U.....	7	1	.875	Fordham.....	7	2	.777
C. C. N. Y....	8	2	.800	Columbia.....	6	3	.666

Princeton's victory over Yale in the Eastern Intercollegiate League dropped Yale into last place and lifted Princeton into a tie with Dartmouth for third place.

The standings:

Team	W	L	Pct	Team	W	L	Pct
Penn.....	2	0	1.000	Princeton.....	2	2	.500
Columbia....	1	0	1.000	Cornell.....	1	2	.333
Dartmouth... 1	1	1	.500	Yale.....	1	3	.250

The coming week's schedule is not particularly heavy, but it contains two unusually interesting games, both of which will be played Saturday night. Locally, the more important is the St. John's-N. Y. U. game which will be played at the 102d Engineers Armory. Neither team has lost a game in the city circuit, in which the teams stand as follows:

New York Herald-Tribune

Team	W	L	Pct	Team	W	L	Pct
St. John's...	2	0	1.000	Columbia....	0	2	.000
N. Y. U.....	1	0	1.000	C. C. N. Y....	0	2	.000
Manhattan..	1	0	1.000	Fordham.....	0	0	.000

Syracuse May Stop Pitt

The other feature game this week is of wider importance than the St. John's-N. Y. U. clash—the Pittsburgh-Syracuse game which will be played at Syracuse. Pitt has won twelve times against difficult opponents and had not been defeated. Syracuse may be considered the most worthy opponent in the East at this stage of the season.

If Pitt can overcome Syracuse it may go on to another national championship. So far the Panthers have defeated Muskingum, Indiana, Northwestern, Iowa, Grove City, Ohio State, Nebraska, Montana State, Carnegie Tech (twice), Georgetown and Notre Dame.

After playing Syracuse, Pitt will meet Fordham here a week from today. It should be a game worth seeing if only to take a look at Charlie Hyatt, captain of the Pitt team, who is rated the greatest basketball player in the country. He was the leading scorer in the East last year and so far this season has scored 166 points in twelve games.

There are no Eastern Intercollegiate League games scheduled this week. Prior to meeting N. Y. U., St. John's will play the Crescent A. C. But the St. John's-N. Y. U. game and the Pitt-Syracuse game are the outstanding basketball events of the week.

Providence and Holy Cross renew their competition at Infantry Hall at 8:30 tonight, when the Friars will play host to the Crusader basketeers. The locals, with a string of six straight victories, won a thrilling 34 to 33 game at Worcester two weeks ago, and, as a result, will enter tonight's fray with little edge over the visitors.

While Coach McClellan will rely on the same first-string aggregation which has been responsible for the success of the Dominicans this winter, Coach Reed of the Crusaders has ordered a drastic shakeup in his starting lineup in an effort to shatter the winning streak of the Smith Hillers.

Clancy to Play.

With Clancy, captain of the team, ready to play his first game since the Christmas holidays, the Purple mentor has had to switch around his first-string array. Clancy, one of the most versatile performers on the team, will go in at a forward post, pairing with Shannahan, baseball star, in an effort to penetrate the Providence defence. In the back court, Leary will team with Farrell, who was the hero of the Cross rallies against the Friars in the first game of the series.

Luke Driscoll will get the starting call at centre over Don Fitzgerald, veteran of two seasons, and tackle on the eleven for the past three years. Fitzgerald is a former pupil of Coach McClellan of the Dominicans, having served as pilot man on his St. John's Prep team three years ago. With Driscoll in the lineup, Larry Wheeler, centre of the locals, will have to be at his best to garner the tap for the Black and White.

With the advantage of meeting the Purple team on a larger court, and before a home crowd the Smith Hillers are confident of being able to pull through with the decision. The Crusaders have never scored a victory over the locals, having dropped both games of the series last winter.

Preliminary Game Carded

In view of the fact that the contest will be the last home appearance of the Friars until late in the month, in addition to the fact that the winning margin over the Crusaders in the first tilt was but a single point, the largest crowd to witness a court game in the South Main street hall is expected to be on hand. The local management has made preparations for additional seats to accommodate the large crowd.

Prior to the Varsity game the West Warwick Alumni team will tussle with a Freshman quintet composed of students from Guzman Hall. In the lineup of the latter team will be one of the finest all-round athletes ever developed in Ohio in Joe Madden, former Aquinas high star. Madden won all-scholastic honors of Ohio in basketball and baseball and is expected to be a big asset to Jack Flynn's ball club next spring.

Other performers for the Dominicans in this game will be Clint Gillis, six-foot centre from Minneapolis, and Flood and Reichart, who paired together at the forwards for the Zanesville, O., high school team last winter. This game will get under way at 7:30, with the Varsity tilt an hour later. Inasmuch as the Brown and Rhode Island State basketball squads will be idle tonight, owing to mid-year exams, both squads have been invited to attend the Friars-Crusaders contest as the guests of the Providence College Athletic Association.

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE stands an excellent chance for either winning the mythical Eastern basketball championship or finishing in the runner-up berth and this fact is recognized by court game writers in New York city who are bracketing the Dominicans with the crack Pittsburgh and Syracuse quintets as the fastest in this section. By defeating Holy Cross in the return game at Infantry Hall this evening, Coach McCullough's basket shooters will have a record of seven decisions in a row and eight victories in 10 contests. Whipping the Crusaders, who were nosed out by the margin of one point at Worcester, may be anything but an easy proposition.

Any team that can average 35 points per game against tough competition is worthy of being given championship rating and that happens to be what the Friars have been doing in nine battles.

Clancy, hard hitting fullback on the Holy Cross team the past two seasons, will lead the invaders and with him will be three other gridgers in Fitzgerald and Farrell, regular linemen, and Maffeo, a substitute halfback. They will concentrate plenty of attention on Krieger, sharp-shooting star of the Dominicans who has averaged better than 10 points per game ever since the opening contest.

DOMINICANS RALLY AT ## CLOSE TO DOWN

Krieger Opens Fireworks With Basket and Two Fouls

Providence College Leads Only
During Closing Minutes of Play.

After trailing three-quarters of the tilt the Providence College quintet came through in the closing minutes at Infantry Hall last night to snatch a 27 to 25 decision from Holy Cross. The triumph was the seventh straight for the Friars and their eight victory of the season.

Johnny Krieger provided the fireworks of the rally. He had pulled out of the game for a rest in the first half of the game. With the visitors enjoying a five-point lead he was rushed back into the lineup and on the first play cut loose for a running shot, but was fouled by Driscoll, Crusader centre, as he scored. Krieger narrowed the visitors' margin to one point. He also made good on both his tries from the free throw line.

With three minutes left Krieger took a pass from Wheeler to sink an easy shot from under the hoop to put the locals ahead for the first time during the clash. Then Wheeler clinched the decision with a double-decker from close to the net, and a moment later made good a foul try. Fitzgerald's long field goal gave the invaders their final points, which left the Black and White winning margin at two points.

It took four minutes of action before the scoring started in the opening stanza, Holy Cross jumping inot the lead when Driscoll dribbled the length of the floor and made good from under the basket. The Crusader centre added another field goal a few moments later and started the visitors on a scoring splurge which enabled them to pile up a commanding lead.

Game played: February 1, 1930

trailing by a 9 to 1 score, the Smith Killers started an uphill task of climbing into the lead and when the teams left the floor at the halftime the Crusaders were holding onto a slim margin of three points, the count being 13 to 10.

Fitzgerald of Holy Cross collected a brace of field goals at the start of the second half to boost his team's total to 17, while Wheeler netted but one basket from the floor, and McCue caged a foul shot.

Captain Clancy scored for the Purple with his long shot, but the Friars came back with Captain Szydla scoring from the side of the court and Wheeler converting on Fitzgerald's foul to bring the score to 19 to 18. At his juncture Coach McClellan sent Welch in for Krieger.

Shannahan and Leary rolled the Cross points to 23. With five minutes left, Krieger dashed into the game again, and proceeded to ignite a Providence attack which won the game.

In the preliminary game the West Warwick Alumni team defeated a team from Gu. nar Hall at Providence College, 15 to 14.

Krieger and McCue Lead Strong Dominican Attack

Providence Team Leads 31-8 at End of First Half After Offensive Spurt.

Game played: February 7, 1930

(Special to the Providence Journal.)
East Orange, N. J., Feb. 7.—The Providence College basketball team encountered but little opposition from the Upsala College aggregation in the East Orange high gym here tonight, the Friars running wild to capture a 61 to 21 decision. The victory was the eighth straight for the Rhode Islanders.

Although without the services of Gainer, star left guard, who was absent tonight, and who will also be unable to take his place in the lineup against C. C. N. Y. tomorrow night in New York the Dominicans had no trouble in collecting the victory here. Cody took Gainer's place in the starting lineup and turned in a fine defensive game.

Every member of the Providence squad took part in the fray, and all had a share in the scoring. Krieger with 16 points was the individual star of the fray, while McCue, his running mate, ran him a close second with 14 points.

Providence opened with a rush, with Krieger starting the attack with three successive field goals. After the Friars had run their count to nine the locals rallied to exhibit their best work of the encounter. With the count 9 to 8 the Rhode Islanders suddenly opened with full force and ran their string up to 31, meanwhile holding the Upsala hoopsters without another score.

In the second half the invaders opened with a barrage of field goals and when they had piled their total to 47 Coach McClellan rushed in his substitute team. This combination also proved too strong for the locals and successfully continued the attack.

New Yorkers' 40-22 Triumph Breaks String of Victories

Providence Hoopsters Out-
classified.—Trail 20 to 9 at Close of First Half.

(Special to the Providence Journal)
New York, Feb. 8.—The eight game winning streak of the Providence College basketball team was broken here tonight by the City College quintet in a fast game with the Friars coming out on the short end of a 40-22 score.

Play was close for the first 10 minutes and then C. C. N. Y. surged to the fore to pile up a commanding lead. A capacity crowd of 1500 watched the game.

The Friars were unable to meet the style of play of the Lavender, and as a result were constantly on the defensive.

The locals uncorked some brilliant scoring plays as the tilt progressed and were masters of the situation throughout.

Johnny Krieger, star left forward of the Dominicans, was the high scorer for his team, collecting 12 points, and featuring with several sensational long tosses. Wheeler played a fine game at centre, but found himself held in check as the result of three personals, called on him before the game was 10 minutes old.

Providence opened the scoring, Capt. Szydia tallying on Weismann's foul, but the lead was short lived, as the local hoopsters soon opened fire to run their string to eight points. The invaders from Rhode Island rallied and after 14 minutes of play had a 9-8 lead. C. C. N. Y. came to the fore again, however, and rolled up a 20-9 lead before the half time whistle sounded.

The Friars rallied in spurts in the second half, but were never quite able to keep pace with Nat Holman's clever basket tossers.

FRIAR COURT FIVE

MAY LOSE GAINOR

The Providence College 'Varsity team will probably be without the services of William "Chick" Gainor, Troy sophomore who has been a member of the team for the past two years, for the remainder of the present campaign, according to reports emanating from the Dominican college yesterday. Gainor is at present at his home in Troy on a temporary leave of absence, owing to the death of his father early last week.

Gainor played in the game with the Friars against C. C. N. Y. last Saturday night and played left guard, the position he has capably filled all season. His presence in the lineup enabled the locals to take the floor with the first string array intact, and although they were downed by the New Yorkers, Gainor turned in some fine work.

In order to straighten out his family affairs Gainor is planning to give up his college work for this semester, and if possible to return to the local college next fall, or a year from this time, as he has a high scholastic rating and will have little difficulty in continuing his course.

With Gainor out of his first string array, Coach McClellan will have to devote most of his time for the rest of the week to the task of grooming a substitute to take the floor against the many strong opponents yet to be faced by the Friar hoopsters. In all probability the choice for the position will be either Jimmy Welch, who has been a forward candidate all season, or George Cody, Woonsocket sophomore.

The Dominican hoopsters will be idle until the end of the week when they will entertain the New Bedford Textile aggregation at the La Salle court. The game will start the locals on the second half of their schedule, with tilts scheduled with Seton Hall College of New Jersey, New Hampshire, Coast Guard, and Brown.

FRIARS TRAMPLE TEXTILE QUINTET

Collegians Find Little Difficulty
Turning Back New Bedford, 56-22.

Game played: February 15, 1930

With a second team performing for the greater part of the game, the Providence College Varsity basketball squad scored its 10th victory of the season by defeating the New Bedford Textile aggregation at the La Salle court last night, 56 to 22. The outcome was never in doubt, as the locals jumped into an early lead and scored at will throughout the tilt.

With the exception of the first 10 minutes of play, the first string array was never in action intact, as Coach McClellan sent a team of reserves into the fray once the regulars had taken a commanding lead. Krieger and McCue, veteran forwards, drew the most service, and both turned in high scoring records for the time they participated.

Johnny Krieger, leading basket toser of New England, added to his high string by tossing five field goals and six heaves from the foul line. McCue, rangy running mate of Krieger, was runner-up for the scoring prize, tossing in 15 points. McCue performed at every position during the course of the clash, climaxing his evening's work by taking over the centre assignment in the last three minutes of play. Jimmie Welch, who replaced Gainor in the starting lineup, chipped in with five field goals.

In the preliminary game the Nickerson Tigers downed the Providence College Junior Varsity in a hard fought tilt, 16 to 14. Both teams uncorked some fine basketball and play was nip and tucket throughout the 40 minutes of action.

C. C. N. Y. TO MEET PROVIDENCE FIVE

*New York Times Herald
Feb. 11, 1930*

Engages Rhode Island Quintet
Here Saturday in First Game in Three Weeks.

TIGHT DEFENSES EXPECTED

Duel for High-Scoring Honors in Foul Shooting Also Forecast for Lavender's Gym.

Providence College, the team which shattered St. John's College's winning streak after the Vincenzian basketball five had won twelve games in a row, will oppose the City College basketball team at the C. C. N. Y. gymnasium next Saturday night in the Lavender's first game of the new semester. It will be City College's first game in three weeks.

The Dominicans are paying their first visit to the Lavender gymnasium in more than a decade, and Nat Holman's quintet is expected to have considerable difficulty ending its losing streak at the expense of the visitors from Rhode Island.

The game with Providence, C. C. N. Y.'s eleventh of the season, is the first of a series of five contests with which the Lavender will wind up its 1929-30 schedule this month and next.

The Providence line-up will consist of McCue and Kreigler at the forwards, Toady Wheeler at centre and Szydla and Gainer at the guard positions. In Welch the Dominicans have an able substitute forward. Wheeler is the player who accounted for thirteen points against St. John's.

Two features of Saturday's contest are expected to be tight defenses by both teams and a duel between the players for high-scoring honors in foul shooting. Holman's teams in the last decade have been noted for their exceptionally strong defensive playing and their expert work in shooting from the foul line, yet in Providence the local five meets a team which may excel in both divisions.

City College will employ the same line-up against Providence that it used in its last start against Manhattan. Milton Trupin and Rip Gold again are slated for the forward positions, with Frank De Phillips at centre and Captain Louis Spindell and Arthur Musicant at guard. Philip Weissman, Monty Pask, Ben Puleo, Mike Leiben and Charles Hochman will make up the Lavender's second team for reserve duty.

PROVIDENCE COMING HERE.

Strong New England Quintet to Meet C. C. N. Y. on Saturday.

The Providence College basketball team, with one of the most imposing records of any quintet in the East, will come to New York this week-end for a contest with City College on Saturday. The Providence tossers have won eight straight games and hold the distinction of having broken the formidable winning streak of St. John's College, conquerors of C. C. N. Y.

Providence, New England champion last year, possesses one of the best-balanced fives in the East. In McCue and Krieger, star forwards from Paterson, the Friars have a pair that averages 18 points a game. Both players, former Central High School aces, are juniors, and have been the main cogs in the success of the Dominicans in the past three years. Krieger received wide recognition in the East for his work last Winter and was sixth highest scorer.

Larry Wheeler, pivot man for the Rhode Islanders, who turned in a sensational performance against Begovich, giant centre of the St. John's five, is considered one of the finest basketball men ever developed in New England. Topping 6 feet, exceptionally fast and an accurate marksman, Wheeler is being depended upon to provide plenty of trouble for Nat Holman's City College aggregation.

Friar Court Team Whips Coast Guard Five 34-20

Rally in Final Period Enables College Quintet to Win.
Krieger Is Star.

(Special to the Providence Journal)
New London, Conn., Feb. 19.—Staging a strong attack in the second half of their game here tonight with the Coast Guard Academy quintet the Providence College basketball aggregation scored an impressive 34 to 20 victory. The triumph was the 11th of the season for the Friars, and the Cadets furnished the strongest opposition the McClellan men have encountered in a month.

Superior pass work, coupled with the all round scoring activity of every member of the first team enabled the Dominicans to pull away to a commanding lead in the final period, after they had battled hard to maintain a four point advantage garnered in the opening stanza. With the count 24 to 20, and 15 minutes to play remaining, the visitors staged a scoring spree which completely dazzled the locals.

Krieger Tallies 14 Points

Johnny Krieger, left forward of the Friars, scored 14 points, the result of six field goals and two successful tosses from the free throw line. Krieger now boasts a total of 160 points for the season.

The Cadets scored the opening points of the fray but the Friars lost no time in claiming the lead, with Szydla and Krieger counting on accurate tosses. Providence pulled away to an 11 to 7 lead midway in the period, and continued to hold this margin until the final three minutes when the Harding brothers bombarded the visitors' net with long tosses and closed the lead to 16 to 12 as the half time whistle sounded.

Cadets Stage Rally

Both teams flashed short rallies at the start of the second half, with the Cadets sending their supporters into an uproar as they came within four points of knotting the score. The Friars then unleashed an effective attack which enabled them to break through the locals' strong five man defence for scores.

The McClellan coached machine held complete possession of the leather for the last 10 minutes of play and dominated in the scoring. Krieger and McCue tossed in several double-deckers to boost the Friars' total to 34, while Wheeler, Szydla and Welsh did heroic work in keeping the Cadets scoreless during this time.

FRIARS DOWN SETON HALL

Friars Down Seton Hall For 12th Court Victory

Capt. Szydla Rushed Into Fray
in Final Period as Visitors Threaten.

Game played: February 22, 1930

Minus the services of Captain Szydla until the final seven minutes of play, the Providence College Varsity basketball team scored its 12th victory of the season by downing an aggressive Seton Hall College quintet by a 36-to-25 score at Infantry Hall last night. Szydla, for the first time in two seasons, was forced to the sidelines owing to an arm infection, but was rushed into action to lead the final rally when the Jersey aggregation threatened to claim the lead.

Bill McCue, left forward, proved the star of the clash, playing a strong offensive game, and moving into fifth place among the New England scorers as the result of his 13 points, resulting from six field goals and a successful toss from the free throw line. Krieger, his flashy running mate, boosted his lead for the New England honors with nine points.

With Szydla out of the game, George Cody, rugged Sophomore, had a chance to show his wares, and the former Woonsocket performer turned in a brilliant game in the back court. Cody held Outwater, regular left forward of the invaders, as well as Zdanawiecz, his substitute, scoreless throughout the fray, and turned in some fine work on rebounds from the backboards.

Seton Hall produced a pair of fine offensive players in Basile and Madjeski.

Both contributed several spectacular one-hand heaves which netted field goals and were the high scorers for their outfit.

Basile, captain of the visitors, opened the scoring of the game with a long heave from the side of the court, and Madjeski upset the Friars with a one-hand toss from the corner of the floor. Then Krieger found his range and tallied a hawker from midfloor to start the Smith Hill attack rolling. Within 11 minutes the Smith Hillers had run the score to 18 to 6 and when the halftime whistle sounded were on the long end of a 20 to 9 count.

The Setonians showed their best game at the start of the second half when they came within four points of the Friars' score. Madjeski and Singleton led in this attack, and when the tally sheets showed a 23 to 19 count in favor of the locals, Coach Al McClellan rushed Capt. Szydla into the fray to turn the tide.

In the preliminary attraction the College Junior Varsity quintet sprang a surprise in downing the speedy Warren high team in a fast and exciting game. The Friar Jayvees went into the final minutes of play trailing by two points, but Gillis, rangy centre, knotted the count with a spectacular overhand toss from the corner of the court, and Kelly tossed in the winning points after garnering a rebound off the Warren backboard. Dallaire, right guard, was the star of the high school team.

Lawrence "Toadie" Wheeler, former Rogers high school and Providence College athlete and a member of the faculty at Priory School in Portsmouth, has been appointed head coach of athletics. Wheeler will have charge of football, baseball and basketball at this Catholic school during the school year.

Wheeler hails from Newport and first gained prominence as an athlete at Rogers high school. He played halfback on the football team, centre on the hoop quintet and first base on the baseball nine. In basketball and football he gained high honors while he made a creditable showing in baseball. He graduated from Rogers in 1926 and entered Providence College and became the regular centre on the basketball team which made such an enviable record.

WILDCATS DEFEAT FRIARS 27 TO 23 ON DURHAM COURT

New Hampshire Maintains Lead After Scoring First Four Baskets.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)

Durham, N. H., Feb. 26.—The Providence College basketball team met unexpected opposition from the University of New Hampshire quintet here tonight, losing by a 27 to 23 score. The defeat was the second that the Friars have sustained in New England this season and was their fourth setback of the campaign. Using a strong five-man defence, the Wildcats held the Rhode Islanders to six field goals and at all times were masters of the situation. At the end of the half the locals had an 18 to 11 lead, which they maintained throughout the second 20 minutes of play.

Providence was away off on its passing game and in spite of the efforts of Capt. Szyda and McCue could not compete with the New Hampshire team. The locals opened strong by scoring four successive field goals before the Dominicans garnered a single point. With this lead the Wildcats were able to maintain an edge over the visitors as the game progressed.

Although Providence made a strong bid for the lead at the start of the second stanza, Gaunt and Conroy kept the seven-point lead until the final three minutes of play.

DROMGOOLE STARS IN 13TH VICTORY OF SEASON BY FRIARS

Krieger, High-Scoring Forward,
Kept Out of Game.—Subs
Given Chance at Close.

Playing without the services of Johnny Krieger, high-scoring forward, the Providence College Varsity basketball aggregation won its 13th victory of the season by defeating the Coast Guard Academy quintet, 34 to 24, at the La Salle Academy gym last night. Krieger was forced out of action for the first time in three years of competition as the result of a leg injury.

To Fanny Dromgoole, former Classical High ace and rugged relief man all season for the Friars, went the high-scoring honors. He played a brilliant game in back court, tallying 12 of the Dominicans' points and holding Maloney, Cadet captain, to two field goals.

The victory was the second of the year over the Cadets, the first being taken at New London two weeks ago by a 34-20 score.

Last night the Friar offence, which failed to click in the New Hampshire tilt, showed a complete reversal of form. At the end of 10 minutes of play, the count was 11 to 3 for the Friars, and at half-time they were coasting along with the score 18 to 6.

Game played: March 1, 1930

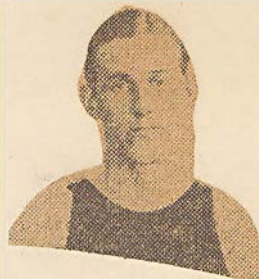

In the second half, the Smith Hillers continued to sweep through the Cadets' defence, and with Wheeler contributing three spectacular field goals, ran the total to the 31 mark before Coach McClellan rushed some of his substitutes into the fray. Of the latter group McCormac, at left forward, and Burns, at centre, look best.

In the closing minutes of the game, the visitors boosted their total at the expense of the Dominican subs, with J. Harding, lanky centre, tossing in three baskets, and Fabik, guard, adding two double-deckers to the Cadet cause.

In the preliminary attraction, the Dominican Junior Varsity quintet scored a 22-to-20 triumph over the Fall River Olympics. Play was fast throughout, with Flood and Gillis of the local contingent leading in the scoring. The fine pass work of the Friars enabled them to sweep through in the final half to clinch the decision.

Krieger Forced to Remain Idle

A record of having started 52 Varsity basketball contests during a period of three years of competition, made by Johnny Krieger, left forward of the Providence College team, ended here tonight when Krieger was forced to watch the Coast Guard game from the sidelines owing to a leg injury.

Krieger, all New England choice as a forward last season, started 16 games his first season with the Varsity, 20 the following campaign, and 16 games played this winter prior to tonight's clash. He has an average of better than 10 points per game since he started his college campaigning, having made 550 points in the 52 contests.

BRUINS TO PLAY FRIARS TONIGHT

Morey, l. g. ....	l. g., Capt. Szydla

The largest crowd of the season is expected to witness the clash between the Brown and Providence College basketball squads which will take place at 8 o'clock tonight in the Brown gymnasium. The Bruins have been preparing for the past week to meet the most formidable opponent of the current season, while the Friars, hampered by injuries in the past few games, are looking forward to the encounter with the same spirit.

Race As Added Feature

As an additional attraction tonight, John P. "Doc" Caples' fifth annual half mile race will be run off between the halves of the Brown-Friar contest. Seven entries have already been listed for the event, four being members of the 'Varsity indoor track team while three were Freshman runners. Wes Huse, Bruin track star who has won the event for the past two years heads the list of entries. The runners, who will compete for the three cups offered by "Doc" Caples, are: Wes Huse, Ken White, Clarence Dickey, Frank Aldrich, Bill Mertz, Patton and Matthews. From the performance of the Bruin runners during the past season it is expected that the record of 2 minutes 5 seconds, set last year by Huse, will be broken tonight. Three handsome silver loving cups, which will be awarded by Doc tonight have been on display in a local shop window for the past week and have aroused considerable interest in the event tonight.

Bond Changing Lineups

Coach Rufus Bond of the Bruin court squad has been working his men hard during the past week in preparation for the encounter tonight and has been trying several combinations in his lineups. The Bruin mentor is planning to field his strongest combination tonight and at least two changes are expected in the lineup. Joe Schein and Bob Morey are slated to start in the guard positions as one of the new combinations while Jack Caulkins, who has been handling left guard part of the season will resume his original position at left forward. Captain Paul Snyder will pair with him at the forwards, and Bob Brown will open the game at centre.

The Friars have been held up by a number of injuries in the past two games, but the regular lineup is slated to open against the Bruins tonight. Kreiger and McCue will share the forward posts with Wheeler again at centre. Captain Szydla will handle his regular post at left guard and Welch will occupy the other defence position.

KRIEGER AWARDED ALL-STAR BERTH

Providence College Scoring Ace Is Forward on Second All-American

John E. Krieger, star Providence College forward, has been named as one of the forwards on the second all-American basketball team selected by Les Gage, sports editor of College Humor magazine. Krieger is paired on the second team forward berths with Schoonover of Arkansas. The selection of Krieger on an all-American team marks the second time in as many years that a Providence College basketball player has received such an honor, as last year Eddie Wineapple was chosen as a guard on the first all-American team also selected by College Humor.

In commenting on his selections, Mr. Gage says: "This honor role is not the result of my personal views alone, but is based to a considerable degree on advice tendered by prominent coaches in countless conferences throughout the country."

The two forwards winning first team berths are Hyatt of Pittsburgh, and Ward of Montana State. The former is the lone Eastern court performer to be selected on the first team, the other positions going to players from Western colleges. Magner of Pennsylvania is the only Eastern player besides Krieger to be chosen on the second team, while on the third team Kinsbrunner of St. John's College, Brooklyn, is the lone Eastern college representative. Kinsbrunner and Krieger were close rivals as they played against each other during the past court campaign.

The first team lines up as follows: Hyatt, Pittsburgh, and Ward, Montana State, forwards; Murphy, Loyola, centre; Wooden, Purdue, and Johnson, North Carolina State, guards. The second team is composed of Schoonover, Arkansas, and Krieger, Providence College, forwards; Murphy, Purdue, centre; Chmielewski, Wisconsin, and Magner, Pennsylvania, guards. The third team has Kinsbrunner, St. John's, and Hildebrand, Butler, forwards; MacCracken, Indiana, centre; Grayson, Oregon State, and McGinnis, Kentucky, guards.

Krieger, a Junior at the local college, was recently elected co-captain of next year's basketball quintet with William T. McCue. Both these youths attended Paterson high, N. J., previous to entering Providence College. Krieger has been the outstanding scorer on the Friar teams for the past three seasons, averaging better than 10 points per game. In his Freshman year he was the leading scorer in New England and during the past two years he was runner-up. He was recently selected on the New England all star college team, an honor which he also held last year.

Take Hard Fought Game
For 14th Victory of Season

Hold Lead Throughout.—Score
at Half 14-8.—Caulkins,
Welch High Scorers.

Before a capacity crowd of 1200 spectators, the Providence College basketball team scored its 14th victory of the season by defeating the Brown squad, 30 to 20 in the Brown gymnasium last night. The encounter was hotly contested and the stands were in an uproar a greater part of the time. Seven minutes of play preceded the opening score of the game, while the Bruins went scoreless for almost 15 minutes.

Taking a lead from the start, the Friars kept their total a little above that of the Bruins throughout. Johnny Krejger and Captain Stan Szydla starred, the former scoring five points on five free tries and adding one field goal early in the game.

The Bruins laid down an almost impenetrable defence which the Friars were unable to penetrate for seven minutes of play. Jack Caulkins, Brown's left forward was playing in great form last night turning in 10 points to share high honors with Welch, Friar, guard. The visitors were 10 points in the lead before Bob Brown, veteran centre, tallied the first Brown goal. Following a time-out after Brown's score, the Bears opened up a dazzling attack which accounted for three goals in half a minute with Caulkins netting two and Captain Paul Snyder the other. The visitors then called for another time-out and the Bruins were unable to regain their stride when play was resumed. At the half the Friars were leading by 14 to 8.

Game played: March 5, 1930

Krieger's opening score when fouled by Bob Morey, Bruin guard, was followed on the next play by a field goal by Capt. Szydla. Morey again fouled the Friar sharpshooter, and Kreiger added another point. Several minutes later, Kreiger again penetrated the Bruin defence and netted the ball after a neat pass from Larry Wheeler, centre. Welch netted two shots from the floor soon after and then the Bruins found themselves. Brown's goal followed by the Bruin rally brought the score to 10 to 8, but Kreiger netted two more fouls, and Bill McCue, one field goal before the close of the period.

The Friars were unable to penetrate the Bruin defence for several minutes after the opening of the second half. A faulty pass gave the Hilltoppers possession of the ball, and a determined attack netted a basket by Caulkins. Bruin hopes were short-lived, however, and Wheeler added two points on free tries. Wheeler scored again from the floor and then Welch sunk a short shot from the sidelines. Capt. Snyder scored one point on a foul, but Kreiger retaliated as a result of a technical foul by the Bruin captain. Stan Szydla found the basket on a free try, and then the Bruin centre made good on a foul shot. Welch's field goal brought the score to 24 to 14 regaining the 10-point lead with which the Friars had started.

It was then that the Bruins rallied momentarily. Caulkins, unable to get within close range, shot from mid-floor for the longest scoring shot of the game. Seconds later, the Bruin star tallied again on another spectacular toss. Getting within scoring distance, Caulkins netted a hurried one-hand shot as the defence forced him to the side of the court. Welch's two foul shots for the Friars were followed in quick succession by field goals from Szydla and Wheeler. Joe Schein, Bruin guard, tallied on a long shot as the final gun boomed.

FRIARS END SEASON DOWNING LOWELL

Strong Second Period Attack
Brings 28-22 Victory.
Wheeler High Scorer.

Game played: March 8, 1930

(Special to the Providence Journal.)
Lowell, Mass., March 8.—The Providence College 'Varsity basketball team brought its season to a successful finish here tonight by staging a strong second period attack to down the Lowell Textile aggregation, 28-22.

Trailing by six points at half time and apparently at a loss to master the five-man defence of the locals on their small court, the Dominicans suddenly flashed their best form to surge to the fore and claim the verdict. The brilliant play of Larry Wheeler and Stan Szydla, who were completing four seasons of 'Varsity campaigning under the black and white colors, was the feature of the Providence team's play.

Krieger Well Covered

Johnny Krieger, Providence forward, was kept well covered in the first half, but chipped in the three spectacular field goals in the second canto to clinch the victory for the Rhode Islanders. Wheeler, with three field goals and two foul shots was the high scorer of the contest.

Providence was on the short end of a 7 to 2 count after 10 minutes of play in the first half. Baskets by McCue and Wheeler enabled them to climb within range of the locals, only to falter as the half ended with the Tech hoopsters holding a 15-9 advantage.

With the score 17-13 after four minutes of action in the second half, Szydla put the Friars in the running when he dashed through the defence to score a pretty field goal. Then Krieger sent the crowd into an uproar with his first score of the night. McCue knotted the count at 18 all when he converted on McGee's foul, and from then on the Friars proved masters of the situation. Krieger's long shot from the side of the court gave the visitors a two-point lead, and his clever work at dribbling to the net a moment later to sink another field goal assured his aggregation of the verdict.

Jarek Scores Two Fouls

Jarek broke the Friars' scoring spree when he made good on two foul shots, but two field goals by McCue and a pair of goals from the 15-foot line by Wheeler gave the Dominicans their 15th triumph of the year, and brought to a climax an brilliant season on the ribbed court.

By Edward Bulger

Five basketball teams, two in Massachusetts, two in Rhode Island and one in Connecticut, are represented on the coaches' New England all-star college quintet for the 1929-30 season. The group includes two players who were honored in a like manner last year, while one of the other three, Captain Stuart Clancy of Holy Cross, who had been picked for a guard position on the second team for two seasons, has topped off his college career by reaching the top rung.

John Kreiger, star forward on the Providence College quintet, and Daniel Chubbuck, heavyweight center at Conn. Aggies, are the players who have been picked for the second successive year. Although the latter did not meet with as much favor from the coaches this year as last, he managed to edge out the other candidates for the position, the most outstanding of whom was Laurence Wheeler of Providence College, runnerup to him a year ago. How close the race was between these two players may be judged by the fact that Wheeler received four votes, one less than the Conn. Aggie player. As a whole there were not many outstanding centers this season. The votes were split between ten players.

Kreiger received eight votes for his position at forward, which was one more than Captain Paul Snyder of Brown University. With Captain Clancy of H. C. at guard is Captain-elect Arthur Cochran of Tufts College. Although only a sophomore, the local player had an exceptionally fine year to give the Jumbos a representation on the first team for the second year in succession. Fred Ellis was the Tufts player on the team last year.

Cochran All-Around Choice

Some might argue that Cochran does not deserve a place at guard, insofar as he played most of the season at center. Ten coaches have voiced their opinion on the subject. Of Tufts' thirteen games this season, only one was with a team outside the section, which shows how well the coaches thought of him when only two failed to select him. The Medford boy received more votes than any other member of the all-star team. The votes he received were distributed in all three positions.

Cochran's lack of height is very much against his choice for center but Coach Lou Manly played him there when Charles Butters injured an ankle in the early part of the season and then kept him at the position because he was a big help on the offense. It is an interesting fact that only two of the ten votes cast in favor of the Tufts captain-elect were for the pivot position, while three were for guard and five for forward. Under the circumstances, how could he be kept off the team? Coach Manly started him at guard in the early part of the season and there he has been placed on the all-star team.

This team would be a very fine scoring combination for four of the players have tallied over 125 points this season. The high scorer was Kreiger with 193 points. Snyder had 185, Chubbuck 154 and Cochran 129. Clancy, who received nine votes in the poll despite the fact he was out in the early part of the season with his old knee injury, would also be a good threat on the offense. When the Holy Cross forward situation was below standard this year he filled in there very acceptably. He has been honored with the captaincy of this all-star quintet because of his sterling leadership qualities. On the bench at the start of the season he put the loitering Holy Cross quintet on its feet when he returned to action. Clancy also was captain of the varsity football team last fall.

Team Has Two Rooters

Four members of this team will be back again for another bid for honor places. Captain Clancy of Holy Cross is the only senior of the group. Captain Snyder of Brown, Kreiger and Chubbuck are all juniors, while Cochran is the lone sophomore. The Brown basketball team is being given a dinner in Providence tonight, and the chances are that Snyder, an Erie, Pa., youth, will be re-elected for next season.

Kreiger, who comes from Patterson, N. J., has played three years of basketball at Providence College, but there is no freshman rule at the Dominican university. The other two members of the "all" group reside in Connecticut. Chubbuck comes from Mechanicsville, a small town in eastern Connecticut. He is a graduate of Tourtelotte High School in North Grosvenordale, where he captained the high school quintet in 1925-'26. That year the team was undefeated and won the State championship in the class D school tournament. During his last two years in high school his team won thirty straight games and he was the leading scorer both years. He was also captain of the Conn. Aggies freshman team. While playing varsity basketball the following year he broke his ankle in the latter part of the season. He had kept up his fine scoring, however, and his play had brought about his selection for the all-star team. This season his total of 154 points was one-third of the entire scoring of the Conn. Aggies quintet. Clancy's home is in Stamford.

This all-star team has achieved an honor which no other before it can match. It has two mascots, or, better still, one mascot and a "howling" rooster. When the selections from the coaches arrived at the office word also arrived of new arrivals in two of their families. A boy, John Sandford Manly, has brightened the home of Coach and Mrs. Lewis F. Manly of Tufts, while Miss Nancy Gordon Gore has arrived at the Amherst home of the director of athletics at M. A. C.

Because of the large number of players who receive votes in the poll it is always the form to select a second team. These players have missed out by the scantiest of margins, and they may reach the top another year. The following are picked for second team honors:

Tiffany (4), Northeastern, right forward.
Wheeler (4), Providence, center.
Lawson (3), M. I. T., left guard.
Gaunt (3), New Hampshire, right guard.

Others who received votes were:

Forwards—Slattery, St. Michaels, 3; Cameron, Springfield, 2; Wenner, Harvard, 2; Johnson, Middlebury; Slossburg, Trinity; Jarek, Lowell Textile; Berry, Boston University; Haber, Tufts; McCue, Providence; Ryan, Conn. Aggies, and Hartford, Norwich, 1 each.
Centers—Driscoll, Holy Cross, 3; Nye, Trinity, 2; Stanisiewski, M. A. C.; Cameron, Springfield; Ransford, Northeastern; Graham, Worcester Tech, and Humeston, Middlebury, 1 each.
Guards—Millsponch, Wesleyan, 2; Grosskloss, Amherst, 2; Bissell, Trinity, 2; Farrell, Holy Cross (2); Wells, Wesleyan; Nims, Boston University; Rymph, Northeastern; Mann, M. A. C.; Small, New Hampshire; Wilson, Amherst; Flydal, Conn. Aggies; Cuddeback, Williams; Nido, Harvard; Conroy, New Hampshire; O'Brien, St. Michaels; Maffeo, Holy Cross; Halligan, Vermont; Gajnor, Providence; Manning, Vermont; Savard, Lowell Textile; Viethier, Norwich; Burns, Harvard, and Nelson, M. I. T., 1 each.

KREIGER-SNYDER NAMED MEMBERS OF ALL-STAR FIVE

For the second year in succession, Johnny Kreiger of the Providence College hoopsters has been selected for a forward berth on the coaches New England all-star college quintet. Rhode Island was additionally honored when Capt. Paul Snyder of Brown was picked to team up with Kreiger in the forward court on this all-star aggregation. The work of these two men throughout the season has been of the highest calibre and in the ballots submitted they led the list of the forward candidates by a good margin.

Daniel Chubbuck, who was seen in this city when the Connecticut Aggies played Brown the past winter, like Kreiger, has been once more chosen for the pivot post. Chubbuck did not meet with as much favor with the coaches this year as he did last, nosing out Larry Wheeler of Providence College for left guard while Stuart Clancy of Holy Cross topped off his college career by being elected to the right guard berth.

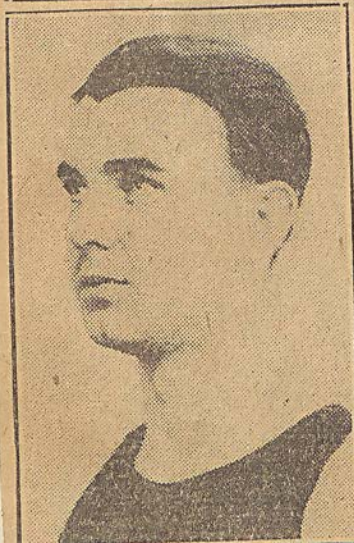

Capt. Snyder of Brown is only in his Junior year, and the chances are that he will lead the team another season. Besides being the most consistent scorer for Brown, Snyder also was among the leaders in the race for scoring honors of the New England College fives.

Kreiger secured one more vote than Snyder in the final analysis. Like Snyder, the Dominican court performer is listed among the leaders in the scoring for the New England College teams. Kreiger has played basketball for three years at Providence, and managed to gain a position on the 'Varsity in his Freshman year.

Larry Wheeler was picked as centre on the second team. Although Chick Gainor was forced to withdraw from college near the middle of the Friars schedule, his work at guard was recognized when his name was noted in the voting. McCue, Kreiger's running mate, was another Providence College player to be given honorable mention.

Friar Co-Captains

Johnny Krieger, upper, and Bill McCue, lower, both of Paterson, N. J., were yesterday elected co-captains of next year's Providence College basketball team. Both played forwards on this year's quintet. The two youths are close friends and graduated from the same high school together.

KRIEGER-McCUE NAMED BY FRIARS

Paterson Players Elected Joint Captains of Next Year's Court Team.

Following the example set by the 'Varsity football lettermen in electing dual captains for the 1930 grid team, the 'Varsity basketball men at Providence College yesterday elected John E. Krieger, left forward, and William T. McCue, right forward, both Juniors, as co-captains of the Dominican court team for next winter. The football men recently elected Manley Zande and Mark McGovern to share the captaincy of that team.

Both Krieger and McCue are residents of Paterson, N. J., and played on the same team in high school, McCue as a centre and forward, and Krieger as a forward. Both entered the Smith Hill college in 1927 and immediately won 'Varsity forward positions on the hoop team, which they have held for three seasons. In addition, they have been roommates throughout their college careers.

Krieger has been the outstanding scorer of the Friar teams for three seasons, averaging better than 10 points per game. He was the leading scorer of New England his freshman year, and runner-up for the past two campaigns. For the past two years he has been the choice of cage coaches of this part of the country for a forward post on the mythical All-New England five.

McCue, less spectacular than his classmate, has nevertheless been one of the most vital cogs in the Friars' machine for the past two years. He is a brilliant floor worker, an exceptionally fine passer, and although possessing a keen eye for the basket has always been content to confine his activities mainly to defensive play. He has started in 51 games at Providence College, four less than Krieger has started.

Another precedent was established when the lettermen petitioned the Athletic Council to reappoint Louis A. Imbriano of Revere, Mass., as manager of the team for next year. The request was granted, making the first time a student has served two successive seasons as a 'Varsity sports manager.

The players granted letters by the Athletic Council were: Capt. Stanley A. Szydla of Ware, Mass.; Captains-elect John E. Krieger and William T. McCue, both of Paterson, N. J.; Laurence P. Wheeler of Newport, R. I.; James E. Welch of Hartford, Conn.; George R. Cody of Woonsocket, R. I.; William C. Galnor of Troy, N. Y.; Francis J. Dromgoole of this city, and Student Manager Louis A. Imbriano of Revere, Mass.

BASKETBALL . .

By Les Gage

THE past basketball season was just one big scoring spree. There were many great offensive machines, featuring a score of brilliant shooters. But there was a definite scarcity of stellar defensive players—especially in contrast to the large number of clever forwards and centers. The Middle West alone could contribute five centers toward an all-star team, and I will wager that the Messrs. MacCracken (Indiana), Foster (Wisconsin), Walter (Northwestern) and the two Murphys could embarrass any other mythical quintette in the country. This wealth of pivot players presents a perplexing problem which has been partially solved by the shifting of Frank Ward (Montana State) to one forward position. Branch MacCracken is deserving of more than third team mention, but it is impractical to eliminate all of these clever forwards and assign every offensive berth to the many brilliant centers.

Strange as it may seem, there were two freak athletes this year, both Irishmen and both Charlies—"Loyola" Murphy and "Purdue" Murphy. "Loyola" Charlie out scored, out pushed and out generated "Purdue" Charlie in that memorable battle between their two teams at Lafayette, although the latter's six feet seven inches towered almost two inches above the Chicagoan. The all-around performance of Johnny Wooden of Purdue, however, enabled the Big Ten champions to turn back Loyola in overtime. It is doubtful if there were ever two greater pivot men playing college ball during one school generation than Charles "Stretch" Murphy of Purdue and Charles "Feed" Murphy of Loyola.

Frank Ward was the scoring sensation of the West, and his versatile performances attracted much attention on the eastern invasion of Montana State during the Christmas holidays. The rangy Bobcat center could play any position, for he is just as valuable on the defensive as in the attack. His captain, "Cat" Thompson, enjoyed another successful season but could not expect to repeat as an All-

American when playing on the same five with "Pop" Ward. For three years the Montana State boy has been named All-Conference center, a remarkable achievement for any athlete.

No one can convince me that there was ever a better college forward than Charley Hyatt. The wiry Pittsburgh senior has completed his three years of competition under Doctor Carlson. His uncanny shooting eye has led to an average season's scoring of three hundred points. In 1928 Charley was the key to that remarkable Pitt machine which won every contest and was unanimously acknowledged the national champions. And in this, his final season, Hyatt was just as effective—perhaps more so.

Johnny Wooden, the flashy sophomore floor guard, is the latest addition to Purdue's perennial assortment of basketball experts. Probably his greatest forte is his devastating dribble. Johnny controls the ball to perfection when traveling at top speed, and is a sure shot when on the move.

North Carolina State College has a basketball player—a guard named Morris William Johnson—who has the same qualifications for an All-American berth as Johnny Wooden. Johnson was the driving type with a low, fast dribble and a quick start. The stocky Southerner could pivot, break free from a scramble and carry the ball into scoring territory single handed. His technique in covering forwards on the defense was perfect, and he was an accurate shot, especially from long range.

This honor roll is not the result of my personal views, alone, but is based to a considerable degree upon advices tendered by prominent coaches in the countless athletic conferences throughout the country.

One could set down volumes noting the deeds of the hundreds of other able basketballers of 1930. It is only possible to review these few players, however. Of the many outstanding centers in college circles the best were the Murphys, MacCracken (Indiana), Hildebrand (Butler), Gregory (Columbia), Williams (Washington and Lee), Maclay (Nebraska), Mortensen (Southern California), Foster (Wisconsin), Chapman (Michigan), Jensen (Creighton), Rose (Texas), De Phillips (C. C. N. Y.), Driscoll (Holy Cross), Hood (Alabama) and McClary (Washington).

Paced by Charley Hyatt, the other leading forwards were Wear Schoonover (Arkansas), John Krieger (Providence), Kinsbrunner (St. John's), Horwitz (Yale), Bishop (Kansas), Grove (Michigan State), Birmingham (Villanova), Crowe (Notre Dame), Glenn (West Virginia), Mason (Bradley), Spradling (Iowa), Beagle (Syracuse), Thompson (Montana State), Strother (U. S. Military Academy), Ten Eyck (California), Gregg (Simmons), Benedict (Duquesne), Stowell (Idaho), Churchill (Oklahoma), Meyer (Washington), Knowles (U. C. L. A.), Dow (Utah), Sherman (N. Y. U.), Hess (Rice Institute), Thomas (Clemson), Bender (Columbia), O'Donovan (Westminster), Palmer (Georgia) and Evans (Ohio State).

Providence College Scoring Ace Is Forward on Second All-American

John E. Krieger, star Providence College forward, has been named as one of the forwards on the second all-American basketball team selected by Les Gage, sports editor of College Humor magazine. Krieger is paired on the second team forward berths with Schoonover of Arkansas. The selection of Krieger on an all-American team marks the second time in as many years that a Providence College basketball player has received such an honor, as last year Eddie Wineapple was chosen as a guard on the first all-American team also selected by College Humor.

In commenting on his selections, Mr. Gage says: "This honor role is not the result of my personal views alone, but is based to a considerable degree on advice tendered by prominent coaches in countless conferences throughout the country."

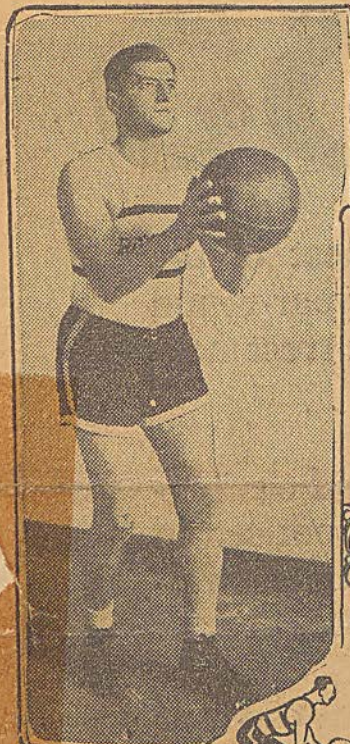

The two forwards winning first team berths are Hyatt of Pittsburgh, and Ward of Montana State. The former is the lone Eastern court performer to be selected on the first team, the other positions going to players from Western colleges. Magner of Pennsylvania is the only Eastern player besides Krieger to be chosen on the second team, while on the third team Kinsbrunner of St. John's College, Brooklyn, is the lone Eastern college representative. Kinsbrunner and Krieger were close rivals as they played against each other during the past court campaign.

The first team lines up as follows: Hyatt, Pittsburgh, and Ward, Montana State, forwards; Murphy, Loyola, centre; Wooden, Purdue, and Johnson, North Carolina State, guards. The second team is composed of Schoonover, Arkansas, and Krieger, Providence College, forwards; Murphy, Purdue, centre; Chmielewski, Wisconsin, and Magner, Pennsylvania, guards. The third team has Kinsbrunner, St. John's, and Hildebrand, Butler, forwards; MacCracken, Indiana, centre; Grayson, Oregon State, and McGinnis, Kentucky, guards.

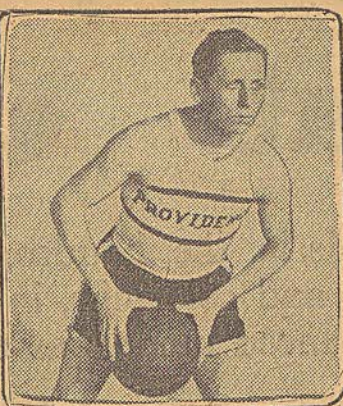

Krieger, a Junior at the local college, was recently elected co-captain of next year's basketball quintet with William T. McCue. Both these youths attended Paterson high, N. J., previous to entering Providence College. Krieger has been the outstanding scorer on the Friar teams for the past three seasons, averaging better than 10 points per game. In his Freshman year he was the leading scorer in New England and during the past two years he was runner-up. He was recently selected on the New England all star college team, an honor which he also held last year.

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE FIVE WON 17 OUT OF 20 GAMES

By D. J. McGUINNESS

Providence College basket-ball team finished its season last night in a blaze of glory, winning from Brown University at the latter's court, 49 to 23.

Winning 17 out of 20 games is some record and one of which the Dominican players feel proud. It has been some time since a New England college has made such a remarkable record, considering the fact that it was the hardest schedule that the Providence quintet had ever undertaken. Of the 20 games played, only one was at home, this being the return contest with Lowell Textile. The three games lost were to the U. S. Military Academy by four points, Connecticut Agricultural by two points and St Thomas College, Scranton, Penn. by five points.

Among the victims have been such teams as Northeastern University, Dartmouth, Yale, St John's College, Brooklyn, N Y; Penn State Teachers' College, East Stroudsburg, Penn.; U. S. A. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn; Springfield College, Clark University, Worcester; Holy Cross, twice; University of New Hampshire, Lowell Textile, another double victim; Upsala College, East Orange, N J; Crescent A. C., Brooklyn, N Y; Worcester Polytechnic Institute and Brown University.

Wineapple a Sensation

Eddie Wineapple of Salem has the distinction of having scored 278 points in the 20 games, getting 114 baskets from the floor and shooting 50 baskets from the free-try line. He has proved a sensation as a back this year among New England colleges, and in individual scoring was rated as fourth best performer among Eastern colleges. When at Salem High Eddie played forward and was picked on the All-New England team of the Tufts tournament several years ago. Besides being prominent in basket ball he was a star half-back on that school's championship eleven. At present he is rated as one of the leading ball players in the collegiate ranks, having pitched phenomenal ball during the past few seasons for his college team.

Larry Wheeler, Newport, R I, captain of the team, prepared at Rogers High. His ability to outscore his opponents from time to time has gained him an enviable reputation. He was the only schoolboy ever to be picked twice for the All-New England team at the Tufts tournaments.

Billy McCue, Paterson, N J, who played right forward, is a rangy and an aggressive player. His playing this season was of championship caliber.

Johnny Krieger, Paterson, N J, who was McCue's mate at the forward position, made a great record for himself, both as an offensive and defensive player. He was runner-up to Wineapple in scoring honors in New England and was seventh in the Eastern college list of performers. In the 20 games Krieger scored 74 baskets from the floor and tallied 64 points on free tries, a total of 212 points.

Stanley Szydla, hails from Ware, Mass, where he was regarded as one of the greatest players in high school ranks. He was the running mate of Wineapple and was considered a grand performer, especially on the defensive. He has been a star performer on the gridiron for the past three years. William ("Chick") Gainor, Troy, N Y, played substitute guard and center. He is the outstanding amateur welterweight boxer of Rhode Island and is rated as one of the best in New England.

Coach McClellan's Record

Coach Al McClellan, whose home is in Swampscott, is to be congratulated on the fine showing of his charges. McClellan received his early education in the public schools at Salem and finished his college career in Baltimore, during which time he was active in all branches of sport.

As a professional baseball player he had very much experience. He played with the Baltimore Internationals, Buffalo Internationals and in 1920 was the property of the Detroit Americans. He enlisted in the World War in the aviation branch. He served at Pensacola, Fla; Charleston, S C, and at Hampden Roads, Va.

At Charleston, S C, July 4, 1918, he won not only the army and navy high jump, but also played on the baseball and regimental teams. He also assisted Director Powell in athletics in that section of the country.

McClellan served as basket-ball coach at Salem High School for four years, and assisted Bill Broderick in football for three years. In basket ball he always had championship teams, and established a record for consecutive wins, running up a string of 49 consecutive victories against the best high schools in New England. He took a step higher by coaching St John's Prep for two seasons. During that time his proteges competed against Harvard freshmen, Brown freshmen, Andover Academy, winning 21 out of 23 games the first year and 18 out of 19 contests the second year. In the rubber game against St Anselm's Prep at Cambridge McClellan's players won by a comfortable margin.

This is McClellan's second year at Providence College. Last year he signed up to coach on a very short notice; in fact, only two days before the opening of the season. He made good from the start.

"General" McClellan, as he is known by his intimate friends, has received innumerable offers from the Middle West, New York and New England colleges, but the chances are that he will be retained at Providence College for years to come.

This year's basket-ball team is made up not only of fine players, but excellent students as well. Krieger is president of his class. Wineapple is vice president of his class. Wheeler, McCue and Szydla have shown that they are as good in their classrooms as in athletics. All of these athletes were under the supervision of McClellan last year, with the exception of Wineapple, whom the "General" had four years at Salem High School.
