Providence College Football Squad Will Report For Practice On Sept. 8

GOLEMBESKI AT HELM OF P. C. ELEVEN

Coach Will Have 25 Veterans from Last Year on Hand

(Prov. News - Tribune)

The Providence College football squad will assemble on Hendricken Field for the initial pre-session drill on Sept. 8, according to an announcement made last night by Graduate Manager John E. Farrell of the Smith Hill college. The starting date corresponds with that of last year, and will give Coach Archie Golembeski two and a half weeks in which to whip the squad into shape for the opening game of the campaign with Rutgers at New Brunswick, N. J., on Sept. 27.

Prospects for a successful grid team at the Dominican College are the brightest they have been since the crack eleven of 1926, which lost but two contests. Twenty-five members of last year's squad, which lost only three games, will be on hand to greet Golembeski, and this nucleus, together with the many promising new recruits who aspire for a place on the Friar eleven, should give the Smith Hillers a team worth watching.

LINE NEEDS REPLACEMENTS

The backfield and the guard berths were the hardest hit by graduation during the past year. From the backfield Stan Ezydla, Marty Gibbons and Fred DeGata were graduated, while Jim Zande, stalwart guard for four seasons; Charlie Ritter and John Tomassi, leave holes in the line to be filled. Additional losses reported this summer were those of Turco, Westerly sophomore, who is planning to enter medical school, and Manfredonia and Matthews, who sustained scholastic setbacks, which will make them ineligible.

However, Archie Golembeski is rather optimistic after viewing the nucleus which is slated to don mole-skins two weeks from tomorrow to tackle an ambitious eight-game schedule. Fifteen lettermen are available for duty, and with this as a start Archie has high hopes of making the coming campaign, his sixth at the helm of the Dominican collegians, a memorable one.

ROSTER OF VETERANS

The roster of veterans who have been invited to take part in the preliminary sessions starting Sept. 8 includes the following: Centers, Edward Nawrocki of Fall River, Edward Derivan of Pittsfield and Leo Hickey of Gardiner, Me.; guards, Co-captain Manley A. Zande of Torrington, Conn., Leonard Sweeney of Nashua, N. H., William Carroll and Maurice Austin, both of this city, Joseph Minnella of Hackensack, N. J., and Edward Mardosa of Lewiston, Me.; tackles, Co-captain Mark McGovern of Flint, Mich., Thomas Shea of Fall River, Mass., Charles McCormick of this city, Vincent Kalishes of South Boston, Owen Callahan of Pittsfield, Mass., and William Hanna of Chicopee, Mass.; ends, Charles Jorn of New York City, John Halloran of Staten Island, N. Y., Peter Gilligan of Pawtucket and Francis Dromgoole of this city.

CANDIDATES

Mickey Foster of Pittsfield, Mass., rated as one of the best broken field runners in the New England college ranks, heads the backfield performers who aspire for the varsity work this fall. Other ball carriers returning are: Charles Mosca of Paterson, N.J.; Ed Galligan of Attleboro, Mass.; Joseph Sharkey of Lowell, Mass.; Charles Bleiler of Everett, Mass.; Malcolm Brown of Amherst, Mass., and John Smith of Fall River, Mass.

SCHEDULE

The complete grid list for the Friars is as follows: Sept. 27, Rutgers University at New Brunswick, N. J.; Oct. 4, Holy Cross at Worcester, Mass.; Oct. 11, U. S. Coast Guard at Providence; Oct. 18, Clarkson College at Providence; Oct. 25, Canisius College at Buffalo, N. Y.; Nov. 1, Lowell Textile at Providence; Nov. 15, St. John's College at Brooklyn, N. Y.; Nov. 27 (Thanksgiving Day), Duquesne University, at Pittsburgh, Pa.

LARGEST SQUAD ON RECORD TO REPORT

Archie Golembeski, Launching His Sixth Coaching Campaign for Friars, Confident of Successful Season

With its baseball and basketball teams boasting brilliant records for the seasons already concluded, Providence college will launch its 10th grid campaign on Sept. 8 with high hopes of winning the majority of the contests scheduled. The opening game is listed with Rutgers on Sept. 27, and the Friars will be on edge to avenge a 17 to 0 setback received at the hands of the New Jersey collegians a year ago.

The coming season will be the sixth for Archie Golembeski, veteran mentor, who has performed wonders with the material at his command at the Smith Hill college. This fall Archie will have the largest and best experienced squad that has ever answered the grid call at the local college, and as a result he looks forward to a banner season.

Some evidence of the success of Golembeski as a grid mentor may be realized by the increasing demand for his pupils as coaches at high and prep schools, as each year sees some of his former charges turning in successful work along such lines. This fall Larry Wheeler, Joe Russo, Pete Reznick and Stan Sydla, who were graduated last June, will join the rank of high school mentors.

TWO COACHING COLLEGE TEAMS

Providence college may well claim a record for turning out students well equipped for teaching and coaching. Two former performers for the Black and White forces are now serving as college mentors, Dave Adair being assistant in all sports at Lake Forrest college, and Clem Spring, head lacrosse coach at the University of Pennsylvania. Adair performed with the grid team in 1926, while Spring served two seasons, 1925 and 1926 as tackle and fullback, before transferring to St. John's (Annapolis) college, where he won all-American honors in lacrosse.

In this State the Friars have graduates guiding the athletic destinies of the students at Central Falls, in the person of Joe Fay, grid performer several years ago at Smith Hill college; Bernie Norton, '27, mentor at Cumberland high; Harold O'Connor, who has been turning out Class B champions for the past two years at Burrillville high; Larry Wheeler, basketball star, who takes over the reins this fall at the Portsmouth Priory School for Boys, and Ed Wholey at St. Raphael academy.

NAWROCKI AT DURFEE

Seve Nawrocki, captain of the eleven two years ago, returns to Durfee High for his second season. Last fall Nawrocki made a creditable showing in football, and turned out a basketball team which won the Bristol county championship and which competed in the M. I. T. interscholastic tournament. Leo Smith, southpaw pitcher, and star end of the grid team, starts his second campaign as athletic director and head coach at Stonington high, where he turned out strong teams last year, and John Leahy of Pittsfield, Mass., member of the class of 1926, will commence his fourth year as coach of the sports teams at Simsbury, Conn., high this week.

Other Friar athletes who have enjoyed success in the field of teaching-coaching include Bill Beck, one of the outstanding centers in New England, football circles seven years ago, who handles the work at Holderness School in New Hampshire; John Murphy, captain of the 1927 football squad who starts his third campaign at Kobut School for Boys in Harrison, N. Y.; Frankie Silva, mentor of the freshman basketball team in 1925, who returns to Sam Johnson Academy in Connecticut; John Coughlan, honor man of the 1929 class who is at Mills, Mass., high, and Joe Watterson, who taught and coached at Seton Hall Prep in New Jersey last year.

Stan Szydla, brilliant all-round athlete, who received an arts degree last June after compiling a brilliant athletic record for the Dominicans, is in line for several positions this fall, but as yet has not made a decision in the matter. Another outstanding Friar athlete who plans to desert the business world to take up teaching-coaching, is Heck Allen, whose activities in all sports enabled him to collect 10 varsity letters at the local college.

Practice Sessions for P. C.
Players to Commence
Tomorrow

Providence College will assemble her gridiron stalwarts tomorrow in preparation for her 10th football season, and the sixth under the guidance of Archie Golebski, former Holy Cross and Steam Roller star. The pre-season drills which start tomorrow, will consist of double sessions, morning and afternoon, on Hendricken Field, until classes start at the college on Sept. 22.

Mark McGovern, six-foot, 190-pound tackle from Flint, Mich., who will share the captaincy of the eleven this fall with Manley Zande, veteran guard from Connecticut, is the first of the veterans to arrive here ready for action. McGovern put in his appearance early last week, after spending a busy summer as a playground instructor in his home city.

McGovern has come to the fore in the past two years as one of the best linemen ever to wear the Black and White regalia. He weighed but little more than 160 pounds when he matriculated at the Smith Hill college four years ago to battle for a place on the varsity squad. His second year he saw action at a tackle berth, and last fall alternated between tackle and end. This year, his final one for the Friars, he should be at his best.

MANY VETERANS RETURN

Today will witness the return of many of the veterans of last year's campaign, as practically all the experienced performers realize the importance of getting an early start on the conditioning work, and so plan to be out in togs tomorrow morning with Coach Golembeski. In addition, many former scholastic stars of this state who have enrolled at the local college plan to make their bid for recognition, starting tomorrow.

Co-captain Manley Zande, who has been one of the mainstays of the line for the past three seasons, returns for his final campaign weighing more than he ever did before. Zande, in spite of his ice totting activities in his home city of Torrington this summer, has added close to twenty pounds, and will scale close to the two hundred mark when he climbs in to his outfit in the morning.

For the first few days the drills will consist mainly of conditioning exercises, coupled with practice in running down under forwards, working dummy formations, and playing touch football. By the end of the week the mentor will start bearing down on the work, and the tackling dummies will be trotted out and preparation will begin for scrimmage workouts.

Gossiping About the Friars

GOLEMBESKI STARTS WITH LONG DRILL

P. C. Mentor Has 43 Young Gridders on His Hands

The largest number of candidates ever to report on an opening day at Providence College answered the call of the pigskin at the Smith Hill institution yesterday afternoon, no less than 42 candidates for gridiron honors putting in an appearance to Coach Golembeski. Of the 42 candidates eleven are letter men.

The coach appeared highly pleased with the prospects for this year's team. This was shown in his brief talk to the candidates before the initial practice session yesterday and the Dominican coach will be more than pleased at the week-end practice session when his squad will be increased to 50, as eight veterans are to report before Saturday.

The Friars may expect a strong line in this year's eleven with the return to the college of our of last year's tackles in Capt. McGovern, Charlie McCormick, Ownie Callahan and Emmet Shea. The guards reporting yesterday were headed by co-capt. Zande and include George Selig, Bill Carroll and Maurice Austin.

Yesterday's drill was started early in the afternoon after Golembeski welcomed the candidates and told them what was expected. He sent the backfield men through a running drill and initiated the linemen in the fine-art of charging. Later in the afternoon three teams ran through a short signal drill to wind up the day's practice.

ALL IN GOOD SHAPE

It was evident yesterday that most of the candidates had thoroughly prepared themselves for the opening of the football campaign for most of them were in excellent physical condition. The absence of excess fat on the athletes will make it possible for the Friars coach to speed up the drills by Saturday.

Included among the eight veterans who are yet to report are John, right end, who has been detained at home due to his father's illness and Halloran, Staten Islander, who is scheduled to put in an appearance today. Other veterans who will soon join the Friar squad are Joe Minella and Len Sweeney, guards; Vin Kalishes, tackle; Pete Gilligan of Pawtucket, Ed Mardosa of Lewiston, and Johnny Smith of Fall River.

Some of the high school stars who are anxious to win their laurels on the Providence College team and who reported yesterday are Franny Dromgoole, who starred at Classical high two seasons ago and who won a letter in basketball on the successful Friar team this spring; Bill McCarthy, all-State tackle from La Salle Academy; Irving Katznelson, all-scholastic lineman from Providence Commercial; Charlie Burdge, Warren High guard; Paul Solitto and Louis Mathews, centres, and Charlie Rennick, former Hope High fullback.

Friar Football Squad Receives First Instructions

TWO LETTERMEN INCLUDED; LONG WORK-OUT HELD

Backs and Ends Receive Close Attention of Golembeski.
46 Candidates Out Now.

Four additional candidates, including two lettermen, added their names to the gridiron roster at Providence College yesterday as Coach Archie Golembeski sent his large and enthusiastic squad through its second day of pre-season practice. The newcomers swelled the list of aspirants for places on the Friars eleven to 46.

The return yesterday of Len Seweeney of Nashua, N. H., and Joe Minnella of Hackensack, N. J., veteran guards who weigh more than 200 pounds added strength to the group of linemen.

The other two candidates to put in an appearance yesterday were Otto Novokoski, a back who has been a member of the squad for two years, and Jerry Lee, a 200 pound youngster who starred at De Witt Clinton High in New York as a tackle and guard.

A lengthy drill in fundamental was followed by calisthenics as the morning session was concluded. In the afternoon Golembeski drove the men at a lively clip, giving most attention to the backs and ends.

The guards and tackles were turned over to the custody of the two captains yesterday, with Manley Zande giving the guards instruction in coming out of the line to offer interference, and McGovern showing the tackles how to break through and block off men.

With Charlie Jern, Jack Halloran and Pete Gilligan, wingmen from last year's squad yet to put in their appearance, Coach Golembeski has had a new crop of ends to put through their paces. Five shape up as promising Varsity material, and all should give the veterans plenty of opposition. This group includes Chet Berghinzo, all-scholastic wingman from Norwich, Conn., Franny Dromgoole, Friar basketball star, Oscar Perrin, who prepped at Mohegan Lake school in New York State, Ed Koslowski of Sam Johnson Academy, and Joe Lee, husky Nashua product.

A classy first string backfield quartet is available with either Bleiler or Sharkey as quarterback, Mickey Foster and Charlie Mosca at the halves, and Cy Galligan at full. Other candidates who attracted the attention of the mentor by their work in the drill yesterday were Ed Lyons, Sophomore from New Haven; Ted LeBlanc, former Flushing high star; Ed Reilly of Bridgeport; Jole Wright of Staten Island, Charlie Rennick of Hope high, and Anthony Barbarito of New Haven high.

Husky Dominican Gridders Now Whipping Into Shape

Friars to Open Season Saturday at New Brunswick, Tackling Rutgers.

With two weeks of pre-season drilling completed, and with the opening game slated for next Saturday, with Rutgers at New Brunswick, the Providence College football squad is beginning to take shape as one of the huskiest elevens ever to represent the Friars. Intensive practice during the past week, with scrimmages forming part of the daily routine, has advanced the squad to the stage where it is now ready to put the final touches on its play in preparation for its opening tussle with a major opponent.

Fullback, the position on the eleven which has but one tried veteran, Cy Gilligan of Attleboro, continues to be the main problem for Golembeski. Several combinations have been tried this past week, with the shifting of Foster to the post, and his replacement at left halfback by one of the many promising ball carriers anxious to win Varsity spurs, appearing as the best solution.

Foster is a fine ball totter, and in addition is a good defensive back. Hence it may result that he will play defensive fullback, and then switch to a halfback assignment when the Friars are on the offence. One of the most promising newcomers is Pete Del Vecchio, 168-pound New Haven high product. Del Vecchio joined the squad the first of the week, and has been used in the first string backfield in several of the scrimmage sessions.

With Shea slowly recuperating from boils, the tackles appear to be well set, as Capt. McGovern is certain to be at one berth, with Shea, Callahan, McCormick or Kalishes at the other. Jern and Halloran easily outdistance all the candidates for the end berths. The latter positions have been a cause of worry, as Gilligan and Carroll appear as the only dependable substitutes, although Berghinzo, Koslowski and Lee are making strong bids for recognition.

Schott Pivot Man

With a fine pivot man in Schott, 182-pound New Jersey lad, Coach Golembeski experimented with Nawrocki as a guard in the drills of the past three days. Nawrocki handled the centre work in flawless manner last season, but his speed and weight can be used to advantage at guard, and at the same time allow for Schott to break into the first string forward wall. Capt. Zande will be at the other guard berth. As relief men Golembeski has two husky veterans in Sweeney and Minnella, and a pair of hard-hitting linemen in Mardosa and Sellig.

Bleiler probably will draw the task of calling the signals in the opening game, with Sharkey certain of sharing the work. Mosca, who is one of the heaviest backs on the squad, will pair with Foster at the halves, unless the latter player is switched to fullback. In such a case, either DelVecchio, LeBlanc, Brady or Barbarito will be used in the backfield.

The scrimmages this past week proved to the mentor that he has a strong substitute line, the most important factor in the makeup of any aggregation looking forward to a successful season. In Derivan, Solitto and Mathews, all centres, Golembeski has a trio of passers who would be welcomed to any squad, with Derivan having the edge on the others as the result of his season's experience last year, when he shared the pivot work with Nawrocki.

La Salle Man Used.

Vacca and Pianka, in addition to Sellig and Mardosa, are rugged guards anxious for work, while Boyle, six-foot, 195-pound Passaic graduate, Irving Katznelson of Commercial, Jerry Lee, former De Witt Clinton player, and "Brute" McCarthy of La Salle fame, are ready to fill in for any of the first-string tackles.

Owing to the rapid progress of the squad, and as a reward for the faithful attendance at the practice drills all week, Coach Golembeski cancelled the afternoon session yesterday. Beginning tomorrow the drills will be limited to the afternoon, as classes start for the Freshmen and Sophomores, eliminating further morning workouts. The drills this week will keep the players travelling at top speed.

HUSKY FRIARS FIGHTING FOR CENTRE BERTHS

MATHEWS GAINS 'VARSITY BERTH

Former Cranston High Star
Up Well in Friar Drills; Del
Vecchio Promoted.

Louis Mathews, who captained the Cranston high eleven to the State schoolboy title a year ago, and Pete DelVecchio, who was one of the outstanding grid performers of Connecticut scholastic ranks, were promoted to the first string eleven at Providence College yesterday afternoon as Coach Archie Golembeski started the task of perfecting the Friars' attack for the Rutgers game on Saturday.

Mathews, a stocky 167-pound griddler who served as a centre in high school, was shifted to a guard berth, pairing with Captain Zande, while DelVecchio, speedy halfback, was used in the first team backfield at fullback. Both players have featured the scrimmage sessions of the past week, and have stood out as such willing and aggressive grid candidates that Coach Golembeski feels they will fit into his plans for the first string array.

Lack of experience may keep both lads out of the starting lineup on Saturday, but in all probability they will see action during part of the clash. Mathews will be a double asset to the team if he is retained at the guard berth, as he is also an exceptionally fine pivot man. DelVecchio has proved adapt as handling forwards, and as he is very fast will team up well with Foster, Mosca and Bleiler.

After a session in running down under punts, with a defensive eleven crashing through in an effort to frustrate the kicks of Foster, Capt. McGovern, Roberge, Perrin and Galligan, the squad was sent through a lively drill in forward passing. Plays which are expected to be scoring threats on Saturday were rehearsed with all the backs turning in some fine passing and receiving. Practice in going down after the kickoff tapered off the drill, and it was after 6 o'clock before the last player, Chick Beller, drop kicker, left the field.

Three elevens ran through signal practice as the mentor stressed play formations during the afternoon workout. Team A, composed of almost the same eleven which finished the 1929 season at Lowell, had but Mathews and Del Vecchio as newcomers. The remainder of the lineup was composed with Jern and Halloran on the wings, Capt. McGovern and Shea at the tackles, Capt. Zande and Mathews, guards; Nawrocki, centre; Bleiler at quarterback, and Mosca and Foster at the halves.

This team shapes up as the probable starting array for the opening game. End to end the line will boast an average weight of close to 180 pounds, and while the backfield will be lighter than last year's array, speed is expected to prove a salient factor in the Dominicans' offence.

Team B had Carroll and Gilligan on the flanks, Boyle and McCarthy as tackles; Sellig and Minnella, guards; Solitto, centre; Sharkey, quarterback; Norback and Wright, halves, and Galligan at full.

The third team lined up with Johnny Smith, diminutive Fall River Sophomore, calling the signals; Brady, letterman in 1928, and Perrin at the halves; LeBlanc at full; Scott at centre; Planka and Vacca, guards; McCormick and Callahan, tackles, and Joe Lee and Berglinzo on the wings.

The kicking staff received a welcome addition yesterday when Oliver Roberge, Rhode Island's outstanding schoolboy athlete from Mt. St. Charles Academy, reported to Golembeski. Roberge, who stands well over six feet, is a candidate for a wing berth, and in addition is an exceptionally fine punter. He will be groomed in the punting work during the opening weeks, and may draw action during the October schedule.

Flashy Providence College Team Turns Back Scarlet

Foster Leads Attack with Two Touchdowns Against Strong Jersey Aggregation.

(Special to the Providence Journal)
New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 27.—A brilliant Providence College eleven, inspired by the play of its dual captains, McGovern and Zande, swept over Neilson Field here this afternoon to a well-deserved 12 to 6 triumph over a veteran Rutgers team. The victory was a big upset as the local machine, rated among the collegiate leaders, was a heavy pre-game favorite.

Working with speed and precision, the Friars loosed a fine running attack with its light backfield combination of Foster, Bleiler, Mosca and DeVecchio slipping through the Rutgers line repeatedly for good gains. The Friars, slightly outweighed by the Scarlet, made several gallant stands when Rutgers threatened and on the offence tore sizeable holes to pave the way for its backfield.

Mickey Foster, the Dominicans' ball carrier, accounted for both the Providence touchdowns. On several occasions he brought the crowd to its feet with his dazzling broken field running. He shared the spotlight with Grossman, 190-pound Rutgers fullback, the only back able to do any damage to the Rhode Islanders' forward wall.

Friars Score First

Providence scored first in the second period after working the ball over the line from Rutgers' 22-yard stripe. Blocked twice within the five-yard tape, the invaders staged a pretty bit of backfield passing with Foster finally tucking the oval under his arm and scooting off right end without a Rutgers back laying a hand on him. Bleiler missed in his try for the extra point by dropkicking.

Dying---Or Getting Killed for-Dear Old Rutgers

Above is an action picture of the Rutgers-Providence game at New Brunswick Saturday. Knabb (No. 1), Scarlet halfback, is being smothered for no gain. Most of the action, you may note, is provided by the Providence lads swarming through the Scarlet line. (A.P.)

The second tally came in the third period, when Schott, yearling centre for the Friars, recovered a fumble on Rutgers' 20-yard line. A series of line plunges, with Foster and Brady featuring, finally took the leather over. Bleiler's kick was blocked.

Rutgers, fighting an uphill game, hammered its way to the Providence six-yard tape, only to be held for downs in the fourth period. Retrieving a Providence fumble, the Scarlet team started another running attack with Grossman finally making the score. Halloran and Shea, Dominican linemen, smeared the Scarlet star's attempted placement kick.

One of Brightest Victories

The victory of the Friars is one of the brightest they have ever chalked up, and was the result of teamwork on the part of every player. No one man, with the possible exception of Foster, was outstanding.

One of the finest performances of the day was the work of Louis Mathews, 167-pound guard from Cranston, who outplayed Wiley, Rutgers' cub captain last fall. Schott, sub centre, and Delvecchio, both of whom were making their collegiate bow, turned in some sterling work.

Rutgers won the toss and McGovern kicked off to Knabb, who was downed on his own 34-yard tape. After punt exchanges, Stager and Grossman ripped through for three successive first downs to bring the ball to the Friars' 18-yard line. The Dominicans rallied, however, and took the ball on downs.

Bleiler slid off right tackle for 30 yards. Two line thrusts by Delvecchio and a Rutgers offside penalty netted another first down, and a 12-yard gain off left end by Foster brought the ball to the 28-yard mark. Grossman stopped the rally by snatching a Bleiler forward and running it back to his own 44-yard line.

For the remainder of the first period and most of the second, the teams battled on even terms. Finally Providence got a break. Grossman, misjudging the distance of the goal line, signalled for a fair catch on his own one-yard stripe. On the pick-out, Bleiler racked back 18 yards to Rutgers 22-yard stripe. Plunges by Foster and Delvecchio netted a first down on Rutgers' 12-yard line. A 15-yard penalty for holding a moment later failed to hold the Friars back. On a backfield pass play, Bleiler to Brady, the latter shot a fast pass to Jorn who was blocked as he attempted to catch the ball and it was first down for Providence on Rutgers' eight-yard stripe. Two short thrusts and then a triple pass. Bleiler to Brady to Foster, caught the locals napping and Foster raced around right end to score. Bleiler's dropkick was low and partly blocked.

Zande Out for Two Weeks

Capt. Manley Zande, Providence guard, was helped from the field as the half ended, having suffered a severe knee injury which kept him out of action for the second half, and will force him to be inactive for at least two weeks.

Rutgers opened a forward passing attack early in the second half with little success. Waldron fumbled on his 20-yard line and Schott recovered for the Rhode Islanders.

Foster dashed through right tackle for seven yards and Brady around left end for 11 more and a first down. Rutgers rallied on the one-yard line and stopped three crashes at the line before Foster finally ploughed through. He fumbled when tackled, but recovered. Bleiler's dropkick was blocked.

Rutgers came back strong. Grossman tore the Providence line apart to cart the ball to the Friars' 20-yard stripe on four successive first downs as the third period ended. Golembeski rushed in reserves, including Shea and Katznelson, and the attack was halted as Providence took the ball on downs on the six-yard line. Bleiler fumbled a few plays later, however, and Wiley recovered for Rutgers on the five-yard line. In three plunges Grossman pounded through for the score. His placement try was blocked by Shea and Halloran.

SCARLET'S PLAY IS GOOD ONLY AT TIMES

BY S. G. BLACKMAN

Rutgers' football hopes, soaring higher this year than at any time since 1924, went tumbling yesterday afternoon two hours and thirty minutes after the new season had dawned. For Rutgers lost its opening game, 12 to 6, the first early season defeat in almost a decade.

A heavy and veteran Providence College eleven respecting not at all the aspirations which Rutgers had builded so high, outplayed the wearer of the Scarlet for the greater part of sixty minutes.

Rutgers was not the team it was expected to be. Its play was sporadic. Its attack, fierce at times, was stopped as suddenly as it began; its defense, impenetrable on occasion, was cleft cleanly in the pinch.

The Scarlet counted heavily on the ability of Jack Grossman, sensational fullback and it counted not in vain, but too much. The 190 pound junior, playing as great a game as any time last season, galloped away for many long runs and his efforts alone gave Rutgers followers the major thrills of the afternoon.

But where Rutgers had Grossman for its star performer, Providence countered with a threat of its own. A fleetly back in the person of Mickey Foster, 167 pound halfback, gave the Scarlet clad players a merry chase during the long afternoon. It was Foster who skirted the ends, who slid off tackle, and who reckoned in every deceptive play behind the line. It was Foster, too, who twice romped over the Scarlet goal line, and gave Providence the two scores that loomed large as the game wore on.

First Score in Second

It was in the middle of the second quarter that the first jolt came. Rutgers found itself back to the wall after Grossman had made a fair catch of a punt on his 1-yard line. His ensuing punt was carried back by Bleiler to the Scarlet's 22-yard line and from then on Providence made a sustained march to the goal. With Foster, Brady and Bleiler making two and three yards on every play, the Friars went forward. They were halted temporarily, but a forward pass, allowed because of interference, netted eleven yards and put Providence on Rutgers 8-yard line. Three more plays, including a triple pass, Bleiler to Brady to Foster, found Foster skirting right end for the initial score.

Rutgers fought back, but to no avail. Its steady march down the field ended at the half on Providence's 30-yard line. Its early third period march also ended suddenly and when Rutgers again had the ball the Scarlet was back on its 20-yard line. Here Stager fumbled, Providence recovered, and the Black and White's second touchdown was not far away. Foster went around right end for seven yards and Brady made eleven yards around left end. Three goal line stands by Rutgers cheered the Scarlet momentarily, but on the fourth play, Foster, on a criss-cross, passed the line, fumbled and recovered, to give Providence its second score.

A Scarlet March

A fumble, that led to Providence's second tally, also was responsible for Rutgers' lone touchdown. The Scarlet made a sixty yard march late in the third period and continued its drive early in the fourth. Four and five yard gains resulted on every plunge by Stager, Grossman and Waldron, and once the hard charging Grossman made twelve yards through tackle.

To the Providence 4-yard line Rutgers marched. But with one yard to go for a first down, Horton was stopped in his tracks and the concerted drive ended. A minute later, however, Wiley recovered Bleiler's fumble on the 7-yard line. Grossman made two yards through center, Stager made three and on a third play Grossman smashed his way through right tackle for a touchdown. His place-kick for the extra point was blocked.

A few minutes later a fumble again gave Rutgers a chance to score, Smoyer recovering Bleiler's misplay on the Providence 33-yard line. But Rutgers again was held for downs.

The Scarlet's vaunted overhead attack failed miserably. Nine times Grossman took to the air, but only once was his pass successful. His heaves were long and for the most part true, but the receivers fumbled often. A forty yard pass in the final minutes of play, a long chance for a score, sailed through the hands of Don Coursen, as the Scarlet wingman stood free on the Providence 40-yard line. There the last hope to stave off defeat ended.

A large opening game crowd of 6,000 saw the game. Frequent time-outs for both teams slowed the contest considerably.

Few Reversals of Form Revealed In Grid Openers

Most of Favorites Win Inaugural Contests by Wide Margins But Some Eastern Teams Are Beaten By Supposedly Weaker Rivals.

New York, Sept. 28.—(A. P.)—The first general charge of the moleskin brigade left football's experts still expert and facing the future unafraid if a bit wary.

From one coast to the other the future heroes of the 1930 football season swung into action in a series of practice games marked by surprisingly few form reversals.

In the east the 12-6 defeat Rutgers took from Providence was the only real upset of the day, although favorites, notably Brown, Lafayette and Georgetown, were held to one touchdown triumphs by minor opposition. In the south two Southern conference teams were beaten, North Carolina State by Davidson, 12-0, and Red Cagle's Mississippi A. and M. outfit by Southwestern of Tennessee, 14-0.

Elsewhere, however, play followed form and the big colleges swallowed up the little with accustomed gusto and by margins ranging as high as 90 points.

Scores of more than 40 points were the rule rather than the exception in the east. To Grove City college of Pennsylvania went the honor of rolling up the highest count, a 90 to 0 victory over Morris Harvey. Dartmouth was close behind with a 79 to 0 triumph over Norwich, while Carnegie Tech unloosened a formidable offensive that swamped Buffalo, 75-2. Washington and Jefferson scored 74 points while holding Bethany scoreless and Fordham trounced Baltimore, 73-0.

N.Y. Post or Telegram?

The "upsets" are registering already. Here it is only the first real Saturday of football and you have an upset or two. The most glaring, at least to some of the football writers, was Rutgers' unfortunate flop before the Providence College eleven. But why?

Isn't Providence College entitled to knock off Rutgers now and then? Why, you suppose, have they been hunting football material? Why has Providence been combing the high schools and prep schools for the last four of five years? For luck, did you say? Don't be fooled. That team is going to be another one of those Detroit U. teams. It may knock over many a good club this fall.

JOE MAHAR

We cynics have a bit of a sulker when these upsets occur. Not that we are laughing at the discomfiture of the Vanquished. Not for a minute. We are merely tickled that there are still some naive critics who believe a big school, or one with a reputation, should beat these newcomers as a matter of course.

That may not sound well to members of the C. C. C. committee. It may seem to be hinting broadly at professionalism and all that sort of thing. But it isn't, really. It is just a complete understanding of the turn football affairs have taken. As a matter of fact, that term "upset" should be sent to the laundryman. It is all wet.

Under today's rules and with so many good football players making a profession of coaching, you have almost a thousand high and p. school turning out well-grounded players. Obviously the big schools cannot get all of the best of that crop. They would not need all of them. But those who go to the smaller schools are just as capable as the ones who get to the big ones.

From there on you can figure it out for yourself. It becomes a test of coaching systems, reserve strength and "breaks." Some coaching systems are patently superior to others in defense. Some are better offensively. Much depends upon the style of play and whether Lady Luck smiles upon the team sufficiently to let it get its best plays working.

And then reserve strength counts for so much. Many of these smaller colleges can put as good an eleven on the field as any of the champs. But they can't keep them there. Some of them got punch-drunk, some are the victims of mishaps and others get chased. Victory then goes to the team that can replace its stars with the most able subs.

No, don't be fooled. There are little fresh water colleges in the South, Middle West, Rockies and Far West that would open your eyes if tossed in with N. Y. U., Princeton, Dartmouth, Harvard or Army. They probably would be beaten because the big fellows would see to it that their stars were knocked off in short order. That's where the reserve strength counts.

But for a quarter, or a half, they would certainly make things hum. One of the greatest surprises this writer ever got was when Germany Schultz brought his little Tulane team up to Ann Arbor to play Michigan. In six plays Tulane had the ball on Michigan's five yard line. From then on the boys from New Orleans took it on the chin plenty. No wonder they lost.

So when someone says "upset" and you hear him, just ask him what he means, "upset." There ain't no such animal any more. And if you are smart, you can beat the odds on many a college game this fall.

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE FURNISHES SURPRISE

Archie Golembeski's Providence College eleven furnished the surprise of the day on Saturday by journeying to New Brunswick, N. J., and defeating Rutgers, 12 to 6. It was no fluke victory as the Friars held the advantage all the way, Rutgers scoring a touchdown in the last few minutes of the game aided by a Providence College fumble. Quarterback Bleiler fozzled on his own five-yard line, and Rutgers recovered. Three smashes sent Grossman over for a score. It was rather a disappointing start for the Rutgers team as Golembeski's outfit was considered only a setup. The Worcester young man apparently has molded together quite a team, one that battles all the way, and one that will test McEwan's new system severely on Saturday. I am not predicting that Providence College will beat Holy Cross, but the team from Rhode Island, after winning at New Brunswick, will be no shrinking violets when they appear at Fitton Field. Last season, the Friars gave the Crusaders quite a battle, Holy Cross winning 14 to 6. Providence College's feat in winning over Rutgers means that at least a thousand supporters of the Friars will journey from Providence to this city on Saturday.

Incidentally, it was quite a personal triumph for Golembeski. Archie has no sinecure at Providence College, which is, as yet, only a small institution in athletics. He has no capable corps of experienced assistants to help him, but despite the obstacles in his path has turned out game and aggressive teams year after year. Football fans will see in "Mickey" Foster, a hard running as well as tricky back wearing the Providence College colors on Saturday. Mickey, who hails from Pittsfield, scored both touchdowns against Rutgers. The Providence College players returned home yesterday bearing many marks of the conflict. The Rutgers team played football not according to Hoyle, especially in the last quarter, and roughed it up considerably in a desperate endeavor to break down the Providence College morale. Without success, however, as the result plainly demonstrated at the final whistle.

Former Holy Cross Star Will Bring Seasoned Team to Fitton Field for Annual Encounter With Holy Cross — Dominicans Provided Major Upset of Last Week With Victory Over Rutgers

A struggle, worthy of mid-season attention, is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at Fitton Field, with Archie Golembeski's Providence College eleven, triumphant over Rutgers last week, anxious to tear the Purple Crusaders of Holy Cross to shreds, starting at 2.30 o'clock.

And, let it be known, the Friars have a way of their own, as their opening game victory over Rutgers well demonstrates. Against the New Jersey school, they not only played better football, but took everything that Rutgers had and came back for more. It so happened that Rutgers, fearing for the winning of the game, commenced to rough up things a bit more than necessary, banging up the Providence boys rather badly.

Archie Golembeskie, Dominican mentor, was one of the finest players who ever battled on Fitton field. He played guard on one of Cleo O'Donnell's elevens a few years ago, and Worcester fans will well remember his scrappy and brilliant playing. That same spirit, Archie has transplanted to the school at Providence and infused into his players. Fortunate to ever see 40 men out for his teams, Archie, single-handed, has plugged away for the past few years and has developed teams that were a constant threat up to the final whistle. At Holy Cross in 1928, he fared rather sadly, but last year brought an immensely improved squad to Worcester and the Purple had a difficult time eking out a 14-6 win.

This year Coach Golembeski will arrive with a veteran team of seasoned warriors, the first-string lineup composed entirely of lettermen and the line, from end to end, is a formidable group.

End Men Capable

Jorn, of New York city, a big rangy fellow, holds down right end. On the left side, Jack Halloran of Staten Island, holds forth. Both have seen three seasons' play under Golembeski, and are capable men. The idea of co-captains was instituted recently at Providence and the responsibilities of the team are mutually handled by Tom McGovern, of Flint, Michigan, and Emmett Shea of Fall River, in the absence of Capt. Manley Zande. Both are tackles, weighing close to 190 each and well over the six-foot limit. Both have stood up exceptionally well under the grueling campaigning which they have seen with the Friars. The guard posts will undoubtedly be filled by Joe Minnella and Len Sweeney, who will sub for Manley Zande, whose injuries, received last Saturday will prevent him from playing. Each one scales around the 200 mark.

The ball passing will be attended to by Ed Nawrocki of Fall River, who is regular center again this year. Nawrocki plays heads-up football and is a splendid defense man; weighing close to 200, he brings the average of the forward line close to 190 pounds.

Foster Backfield Ace

In the backfield is where Archie hopes to show some surprises. His backs are exceptionally fast and if the defense is up to standard, they are going to be hard fellows to get to. The ace, behind the line is Mickey Foster of Pittsfield. He scored the only two touchdowns against Rutgers Saturday, a stunt worth talking about. Mickey is a clever broken field runner and can follow interference in perfect style. His scoring runs against Rutgers were 32 and 28 yards long. He is one of the fastest men in the squad. Charlie Mosca, of Paterson, N. J., will take care of the other halfback post. Moses is a 10-second man, and is going to give the Purple secondaries plenty to chase.

The signal calling will be done, either by "Chick" Bleiler, veteran and triple threat man from Everett, or Joe Sharkey. Joe handled the team Saturday along with Bleiler and he throws a mean forward. He is tall and slender, differing from the ordinary run of quarterbacks, but a good ball player. Del Vecchio, a freshman, will probably share duties with Galligan at full.

Other capable men who will be seen in relief roles are: Callahan and Katznelson, tackles; Derivan and Schott, centers; Brady and Reilly, backs.

The Friars have all kinds of plays in their bag of tricks, off-tackle plays and end sweeps featuring the attack.

Reserves Against Frosh

On Mount St. James, the usual preparations are being made. Captain McEwan expects a hard battle. Yesterday, the first team had a little more than enough to keep it in condition. The coaching staff continued to work out the reserves strenuously against the Freshmen. Ray Richer of Marlboro and Tony Rovinski from Mount Carmel, Pa., looked fine against the Frosh and turned in some nice runs. Good replacements is the greatest need at present and the coaches are gradually developing some good ones. The brunt of the kicking will be borne by "Red" Baker.

Captain McEwan announced two changes in the lineup. Capt. "Hank" Garrity takes Bobby Donovan's place at left halfback and Jack McCool starts at left end in place of Tony Colucci. Jack's difficulties with injuries seem to be over and he will have a good opportunity to show his wares with the regulars. This will also be his last year of college football. The passing attack, which received so much attention in the past week, will play a large part in the Purple offensive. All signs point to another success tomorrow.

As an accommodation to the fans, a score board will be situated near the flag pole, where the score by innings of the World Series will be announced.

The probable Holy Cross lineup is: McCool le, Pyne lt, Baironus lg, Farrell c, Clark rg, Fitzgerald rt, Cavalieri re, O'Connell qb, Garrity lb, Baker rlb, Kelly fb.

Crowd of 8000 at
Fitton Field Contest

Winners Flash Strong Running and Passing Attack to Score 27 Points.

(Special to the Providence Journal)

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 4.—The Providence College eleven, playing without the services of Captain Zande, regular guard, and Shea, veteran tackle, succumbed to a powerful Holy Cross aggregation on Fitton Field this afternoon, going down under a 27 to 0 score before a crowd of 10,000 spectators. The Crusaders uncorked a powerful offence which proved too strong for the Friars, and after the first half the outcome was never in doubt.

Henry Baker, 190-pound halfback, proved the nemesis of the Friars, scoring two of the Crusader touchdowns and driving off all Providence threats by his brilliant kicking. In the first period kicking against the wind he got away a 50-yard boot from behind his own goal line to avert trouble for the Crusaders.

Play was nip and tuck for the first half, with both elevens relying on their kicking artists. Baker for the locals, and Foster for the Friars, to provide most of the action. Providence had the best of the period, driving deep into Holy Cross territory, but they were unable to uncork a consistent offence.

Crusaders Score

In the second period, Brady of the Rhode Island contingent frustrated a score when he knocked down a pass behind his own goal line, but the Crusaders tallied shortly afterwards when Baker broke through right tackle for a 22-yard dash to the final line mark.

With the Friars relying on many of their reserves to carry on the battle in the third period, the Crusaders opened with a drive in midfield which was climaxed by a pretty forward from O'Connell to Cavalleri for the score. After forcing the Friars to relinquish the ball following the next kickoff, the Purple ball carriers opened another strong running attack, employing well executed backfield pass combinations to completely upset the Providence defence, with Baker tallying the third score on a plunge through the line from the five-yard stripe.

Holy Cross reserves were rushed into action in the fourth period, and uncovered a smart forward pass attack which upset Golembeski's second-string backfield, and finally resulted in another score with Murray doing the honors on a pass from Clifford.

Poster, ace of the Providence backfield, found the going rough all afternoon, and as a result the aggressive Berkshire junior was completely played out before the end of the third period. He did all the kicking for his team, and carried the ball three out of five times when on the offence. In addition he turned in some fine work in backing up the line.

Subs Play Well

The one bright ray of hope for Coach Golembeski was the work of his second and third-string squad members.

In the final period an eleven which had but two veterans swung into action, and although scored upon, gave a fine account of itself. McCarthy, former La Salle tackle, and Boyle, husky Jersey lineman, took over the places vacated by Captain McGovern and Callahan, and stopped many a Crusader line plunge.

Providence won the kickoff and elected to receive. Foster fumbled the kickoff on his own goal line, but recovered in time to make a 20-yard dash down the field before being hauled to earth. Failing to gain through the line, Foster punted, and Jorn stopped O'Connell on the latter's 48-yard stripe.

Jorn hurled himself into the picture again on the following play by intercepting a Crusader pass on the Providence 35-yard line. Foster and Del Vecchio picked up close to nine yards in three tries, and then Foster kicked. Baker of the locals returned the punt, booting against the wind, and the Friars gained on the exchange.

Providence carried the ball to the Holy Cross 40-yard tape, and then Foster pulled a quick kick which caught O'Connell napping, and the Crusader pilot was nailed in his tracks on his own six-yard line. With everything breaking favorably for the Friars, Henry Baker, standing behind his own goal line, drove Bleller back to midfield for his long punt, which carried high in the air, and allowed the fleet Purple ends to get down in time to prevent the Black and White signal barker from gaining any yardage on the run back.

Friars Play Well Despite Defeat

Capt. Garrity of the Purple is Shown Making a Short Gain off Tackle in the Third Period.

Bleiler tried a forward pass on the second play following and Baker blocked. Two line thrusts went for naught, and Foster was hurried on his kick, the ball going offside on the Holy Cross 49 yard line.

Baker went into action again and pushed the Rhode Islanders within the shadow of their own goal with another tremendous kick which Bleiler retrieved on his own 12 yard tape. Providence failed to gain and Foster kicked.

The period ended with Holy Cross in possession on the Providence 42 yard line, and after the rest period Baker tried to break into the scoring column with a field goal, but his dropkick was low and partly blocked.

The Providence offence failed altogether, and Foster found himself smothered under an avalanche of purple jerseys as he tried an end run. He was tossed for a 10-yard loss on the play. Capt. McGovern dropped out of the line to kick but his boot was hurried, the ball landing in Garrity's arms on the Friar 32 yard tape.

Garrity started the scoring attack with a pretty 20 yard dash through the line, reversing the field as he split the secondary defence. Three line thrusts brought the ball to the Providence 11 yard line and on a fake dropkick for a field goal, O'Connell shot a pass over the line to Cavalleri but Brady saved the day for the Black and White by knocking the pass down.

Foster kicked against the wind and the locals gained valuable yardage, putting the ball in play on the Providence 38-yard stripe. A lateral pass, Kelly to Baker to O'Connell netted nine yards, and an O'Connell line plunge made it first down on the Providence 27-yard line.

Kelly picked up three yards, and then Baker cut loose, racing through a wide gap in the left side of the line and outrunning the secondary defence to tally the initial score of the game. He crossed the goal line standing, completely stripping all the Friar backs who made desperate efforts to stop his rush. Baker kicked the placement.

Providence tried to gain yardage following the next kick off, by using the overhead attack, but Bleiler's pass was intercepted by Baironus who carried to the Friar 12-yard line. Three line thrusts fell a yard short of a first down, and O'Connell passed to Collucci who accepted the heave outside the end zone, nullifying the score. The half ended as Providence put the ball in play on its 20-yard stripe.

With six of the regulars out of the game at the start of the third period, the Friars were unable to better their offence of the first half. As a result Foster continued his kicking efforts, and the Crusaders opened fire with a running attack which ripped the line apart for three more scores.

O'Connell made a fair catch at mid-field, and then the Crusaders reeled off two successive first downs, one the result of a 15-yard pass from O'Connell to Baker, to put the leather on the Dominicans' 20-yard line mark. After picking up nine yards through the line, the locals took to the air again, and Cavalleri made a brilliant catch of a long pass from O'Connell behind the Friar goal line for the second score. Baker made good on his place kick for the point.

Within three minutes after this score the count was rolled to 20 when Garrity took an aerial from O'Connell to gallop 23 yards, and straight plunging netted two first downs to put the oval on the Friars' five-yard line from where Baker hurdled the pileup for the score. Baker missed the posts on his placement for the point.

For the remainder of the period, the Friars managed to hold McEwan's aggregation in check, and with Derivan and McCarthy turning in some fine work in the line, and Katznelson and Galligan backing up in fine style, held their own for the first half of the final quarter.

Accurate aerials, coupled with effective end sweeps enabled the Crusader reserves to carry the leather down the field as the fourth period drew to a close, and finally Murray gathered in a 15-yard pass from Clifford and galloped 12 yards to the goal line. Griffin scored the point with a placement.

P. C. COACH FINDS ANOTHER PUNTER

Dexter Davis, Lineman, Gets Off Some Good Boots; May Share Work with Foster.

Further search by Coach Golembeski for a long distance kicker to share the punting work with Mickey Foster, uncovered a real punting 'find' yesterday afternoon in Dexter Davis, former East Providence lineman. Davis has been a member of the squad since the start of classes, but until yesterday made no effort to break into the kicking staff which boasts some clever men in Foster, Galligan, Ferrin, Bleler and Roberge.

Davis, weighing over 200 pounds started at East Providence as a tackle and later served for two campaigns at Kents Hill prep school in Maine. With plenty of tackle material at his command, Coach Archie Golembeski switched the lanky athlete from across the Seekonk to an end position, where he has paired in the daily drills with Roberts, former all-scholastic wingman from Mt. St. Charles.

60 Yard Punts and Better 6

Yesterday Davis featured the drill with his kicking, getting away several boots that travelled well over 60 yards in the air. Possessing a powerful leg drive and a natural ability to kick, he promises to develop into one of the most valuable cogs in the Friar machine before the season ends. Lack of a strong kicker to share the work with Foster in the Cross game had no little to do with the failure of the Dominicans to hold the Purple outfit to a lower score.

Friars Prepare To Meet Coast Guardsmen

Three members of the Providence College 'Varsity eleven who are scheduled to start against the New London sailors at Hendriken Field this Saturday when the Friars open their home season. Mickey Foster, halfback, is on the left; Owen Callanan, tackle, is on the right and Charlie Jorn, right end, is in the centre. All three players are veterans who have shown to advantage in the games the Friars have played to date.

FRIARS TO TACKLE COAST GUARD NEXT

No Easy Proposition Looked for in Tussle with Huskies
Saturday.

The Coast Guard eleven of New London, conquerors of Connecticut and of Rhode Island State in a practice game in early season contests, and defeated by a single touchdown by a strong Canisius eleven, will provide the attraction on Hendricken field next Saturday afternoon as the Providence College aggregation opens its home schedule. Yesterday the Cadets met East Stroudsburg Teachers College and as a result will come here primed to hand the Friars a setback this week-end.

With a squad of 35 huskies, all of whom have had previous experience playing football and for the most part all mature men who will far outweigh the Friars, the New London aggregation will be far from an easy proposition for Archie Golembeskie's gridders. The Smith Hillers will try to recuperate this week from the injuries received in the Rutgers and Holy Cross games so that a strong eleven may be ready to take the field Saturday.

Shea, 190-pound tackle who was missed in the Holy Cross tilt yesterday and who is confined to his home by illness, is expected to rejoin the squad early this week, and will endeavor to regain his old-time form so as to take over one of the tackle berths for the Cadet game. Shea's return to action will enable Owen Callahan, hard working lineman from Pittsfield, to get a well deserved rest for his sterling work in the Rutgers and Cross tilts.

Captain Zande, who has been out of action altogether since the opening tilt, is expected to be able to rejoin the squad late this week, but whether he will be able to take his place in the lineup for the opening home game is a question that time alone can answer. In all probability he will be allowed to take matters easy so as to be ready for the game with Clarkson College here on Oct. 18.

This week Golembeski plans to devote most of his time to his reserve material in an effort to develop some capable performers to assist in the strenuous games ahead for the Friars. In Bill McCarthy, Charlie Burdge, Jerry Lee and George Boyle he has a quartet of tackles who scale well over the 190-pound mark, while Roberge and Davis, end candidates, stand over six feet and weigh close to 195 each. With such stalwarts on the roster, the team should be strong in its replacements as the season advances.

FRIARS BOW TO

COAST GUARD

FRIARS LOSE 12-14 TO COAST GUARD

Suffer Second Defeat in Row
as Fast New London Line
Prevents Extra Points.

Providence College lost the opening game of its home football season to the All-Coast Guard eleven on Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon by failure to convert the extra points after touchdowns. The score was 14 to 12. It was the Friars' second successive defeat.

In the second period, Johnny Smith, Fall River Sophomore signal barker, had his placement kick blocked by a fast charging New London line, and in the final stanza Bleiler, first string quarterback, was hurried in his dropkick attempt.

The Cadets furnished more rugged opposition than Archie Golembeski's charges anticipated. Libby and Edwards wreaked havoc on the Dominican forward wall and swept the ends for long gains. Libby tallied the first score of the afternoon in the second period when he dashed nine yards to cross the line untouched.

Jorn Provides Thrill

Charlie Jorn, Friar right end, provided the biggest thrill of the game, however, when he snatched a 30-yard pass from Sharkey and raced 35 yards before being hauled to earth on the Coast Guard 10-yard tape as the Friars loosed a closing rally. Foster ripped through the line on the next play to give the Friars their second touchdown.

The Providence aggregation was woefully weak on defence. Time and again the Coast Guard backs collected yardage which might have been shortened by better tackling.

Foster, main cog in the Friar backfield, had little chance to get away as the interference failed to function properly. Bleiler, diminutive quarterback, was the most consistent ground gainer.

McCarthy, big Mount Pleasant lad, started his first game for the Friars and turned in some good defensive play, time and again billing up thrusts at his tackle. Perrin, lightweight punter from Albany, also broke into action and showed to advantage.

Two Plays in Friar-Coast Guard Game

Upper photograph shows Spaniol, of All Coast Guard team, making first down, in third quarter, of Providence College-Coast Guard game, yesterday, at Hendricken Field, which the Sallers won, 14 to 12. Lower picture shows Mickey Foster of Providence College, scoring the second touchdown for the Dominicans, in the third quarter. Foster is shown laying on his back with the ball on his chest.

Fumble Halts Rally

Mosca spoiled a Providence rally in the second period when he fumbled on an off-tackle thrust after the Friars had collected three straight first downs. Reeves, Cadet right end, recovered and Heffelfinger pulled a quick kick which caught Bleiler napping and drove the Friars back to their own 25-yard line.

After Foster had returned the kick, two successive first downs by straight line plunging brought the oval within scoring distance and Libby went over on a triple pass, off-tackle attack. Gibson made his placement kick good.

The winning score was tallied by the visitors in the third period when a sustained drive from the Providence 44-yard line was climaxed by Roland's crash through centre from the one-yard line for the score.

The Cadets had the edge throughout the first period, keeping the play well in Providence territory. Twice Foster was forced to get away kicks from his own 10-yard stripe.

Bleiler Makes 22 Yards

Katznelson, starting his first game at fullback, finally got the Friars going when he ripped through centre for 10 yards. Bleiler raced around right end 22 yards and Mosca picked up three more to bring the ball to the Cadets' 40-yard marker as the period ended.

On a fake kick formation Foster slid through the line and raced into the clear, but tripped on the visitors' 18-yard stripe. Then came Mosca's fumble.

Penalties paved the way for the Dominicans' initial score in the second period. A penalty for roughing gave the Friars a first down on the Cadets' 18-yard line. After Brady had picked up four yards at right guard, the Coast Guards were detected in further unnecessary roughness, and the locals had possession on the one-yard line. Del Vecchio crashed through centre for the score. Smith was rushed in to kick, but his placement was blocked.

Drive from Midfield Wins.

Heffelfinger's long punt over the Providence goal line soon after the start of the third period started the Cadets on their way for the winning score. The Friars were unable to make any headway and Galligan punted, Roland making a seven-yard runback. A Providence off-side penalty, and an 11-yard pass from Roland to Heffelfinger made it first line plunges netted another first down, and a well-executed aerial from Roland to Reeves pushed the Friars back to the shadow of their goal.

With seven yards to go, Heffelfinger and Libby picked up six in three tries, and then Roland pounded through centre for the score. Gibson collecting another point by place kicking.

A spirited final minute rally, with Bleiler collecting 37 yards in two end sweeps, brought the ball to the Cadet 38-yard line mark, but Spaniol, fullback for the Guardsmen, halted the attack when he intercepted an aerial.

FRIARS FURTHER HIT BY INJURIES

Coach Golembeski Hurt in Auto Accident; Bride to Take Charge of Team.

The Providence College football team, already handicapped by injuries to both its co-captains, received a severe setback yesterday by the temporary loss of Anthony (Archie) Golembeski, popular mentor, who was severely injured in an automobile accident in Worcester. Golembeski sustained a mild concussion and deep lacerations of the scalp.

Confined to the Worcester City Hospital, Golembeski was reported in fair condition last night, and was able to be X-rayed to determine the extent of his injuries. According to Dr. Harrington, house physician at the hospital, the X-ray photos apparently show no fracture, but Golembeski will be forced to remain at the hospital for a least a week.

Although the police of Worcester could furnish no details of the accident last night, it was learned from unofficial sources that the accident occurred about 10 o'clock yesterday morning as the car in which Golembeski and three companions were riding approached the outskirts of Worcester, en route from Paxton. The machine was forced off the road, and after skidding on the wet pavement crashed into a tree. Golembeski and Thomas Connolly of 44 Plantation street, Worcester, one of his companions, were badly cut by the flying glass, and were immediately rushed to the City Hospital.

With an important game listed for tomorrow with Clarkson College of Potsdam, N. Y., the Providence College authorities took action last night to obtain a temporary successor to Coach Golembeski. It was announced by Graduate Manager Farrell that Thomas H. Bride of Cranston, star quarterback for four seasons and one of the finest football players ever to represent the Friars, had consented to take over the reins until Golembeski returns to handle the squad.

Bride will be assisted by Jim Zande, star guard who is taking post graduate work at the college. Zande took charge of the team yesterday afternoon, putting the players through a brisk three hour workout. This afternoon, Bride, who is well qualified to take over the work, will join Zande in the supervision of the drill on Hendriken Field.

Tomorrow the Friars will stack up against Clarkson College determined to swing back into the win column. The squad had its hopes for a win strengthened yesterday by the return to action of Capt. Manley Zande, who has been on the inactive list since the Rutgers game.

Capt. Mark McGovern, who suffered a fractured vertebra in the Holy Cross game a week ago last Saturday, is reported as much improved and is expected to be able to leave St. Joseph's Hospital in the near future. McGovern was transferred to the local hospital the first of the week, having been placed in a plaster cast to protect his injury. According to medical authorities he will suffer no ill effects from his accident, but will have to abandon all hope of playing football for a year at least.

"Golembeskie Out"

Archie Golembeskie, Providence College football coach, will be unable to direct his team against Clarkson here Saturday. He was injured in an automobile accident yesterday at Worcester.

Takes Charge of Friars

Thomas H. Bride, Providence College Graduate, who will handle team during injury of Coach Golembeski.

FRIARS DEFEAT CLARKSON, 19-0

Temporary Coach Bride Uses
Many Substitutes.—Scores
in 2nd and 3rd Periods.

Guided by Junie Bride, former Friar football star, and temporary successor to Archie Golembeski, and with Mickey Foster, star halfback, on the sidelines with a shoulder injury, the Providence College eleven scored a 19 to 0 victory over Clarkson College on Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon. The win is the second of the season for the Friars.

Clarkson fought hard to hold the locals in check, but was never able to cope with the hard running of the Friar backs. With Canisius scouts in the stands the locals resorted to straight football, and only when in scoring position flashed some of the plays which are counted upon to collect victories later in the season. With Galligan, Brady, Bleiler, Wright and Sharkey pounding off both tackles, the Dominicans had matters much their own way.

Brady, Halloran Furnish Thrill

It remained for two Senior classmen, Johnny Brady and Jack Halloran, to provide the feature plays of what was otherwise a listless game. In the fourth period Brady brought the crowd to its feet when he snatched a Clarkson aerial out of the air on his own 45-yard stripe and raced 55 yards for a score. Halloran paved the way for the Friars' second score in the second period with a spectacular catch of a 25-yard pass from Sharkey, and carried for 10 yards before being downed.

With Foster and Emmet Shea out of the lineup with injuries, Coach Bride was forced to use some of the substitute material, with Jole Wright, halfback, and Charlie McCormick, tackle, showing to the best advantage.

The Friars failed to flash any real power until the second period when a series of successful line attacks, with Galligan bearing the brunt of the work, carried the ball over for the first score. Another sustained attack, featured by a 34-yard gain with an aerial from Sharkey to Halloran, paved the way for another score in the same period.

Clarkson could offer but little in the way of an offence, and as a result was within scoring distance but twice, once at the very start of the tilt, and again late in the fourth period. A Providence fumble gave the visitors possession on the Friar 10-yard stripe shortly after the initial kickoff, but on the fourth down a forward was grounded behind the line. Brady broke up a last period rally by intercepting a pass.

Game played: October 18, 1930

The Friars played fine football in defeating Clarkson at Hendricken Field yesterday. Twice in the second period the locals pierced Clarkson's goal line for touchdowns. The upper photo is an unusual one showing as it does Clarkson's spirited rally on their goal line which held the Friars in check for three downs on the one-yard line. The ball in the air was fumbled by a Providence back but recovered by the Friars and subsequently Galligan hurtled over the line of scrimmage for the first touchdown. The lower photo shows Brady of Providence making their second touchdown in the same period, when he slid around the end after taking a triple pass Bleiler to Del Vecchio to the scorer.

Defensive First Period

Both teams thoroughly tested their defences in the opening stanza with the Friars soon showing superiority. Galligan turned in the longest run from scrimmage of the entire game when he got away for a 33 yard jaunt in this period. On a fake end sweep Galligan ripped through the centre of the line and outstripped the secondary, only to be hauled down by the defensive quarterback on the Clarkson 32-yard stripe.

Shortly after the second period got under way the Friars opened up with a strong running attack which collected the first score. Benton's punt was held by the wind and downed on his own 33-yard tape. Three line plunges netted the Friars a first down on the 22-yard line, and a forward pass, good for nine yards, from Sharkey to Brady, made another first down on Clarkson's 12-yard line.

With Galligan leading the way the Friars pounded to the one-yard line where the New York Staters made a gallant stand for three downs before Galligan hurled himself over the line of scrimmage for the score. Bleiler missed the uprights on his dropkick try for the extra point.

On a triple backfield pass a little later, Bleiler to Del Vecchio to Brady, the latter player slipped around right end and raced over the line for the score. On a fake kick formation, Sharkey shot a pass to Bleiler for the additional point.

In the third period Bleiler fumbled a punt on his own 45-yard line and Lehner recovered for the visitors. On the first play ensuing, Zimber shot a flat pass over the right end to Lehner.

Brady, feet Friar back came up fast and pulled the pass down while on the dead run, and before the Clarkson safety man could protect, was on his way at top speed toward the distant goal line. Zimber made a gallant effort to overtake the Pawtucket sprinter but was unable to halt his progress. A pass from Bleiler was pulled down by Sharkey beyond the end zone to nullify the attempt for the extra point.

Clarkson showed its best offence late in the final period, with two successive first downs by line plunging, aided by a 15-yard penalty on Providence the ball was rushed to the Friars 18-yard stripe. Brady prevented further trouble however when he intercepted a pass on the 10-yard line and ran it back to his own 30-yard marker.

GOLEMBESKI EXPECTED TO RETURN THIS WEEK

With Coach Golembeski expected back on Smith Hill this week to direct their attack, the Providence College eleven starts work today for what shapes up as one of the hardest games of their season, the Canisius tilt at Buffalo, N. Y., next Saturday. Last fall the New Yorkers, coached by Luke Urban, former Boston College star, visited Hendricken Field and battled the locals to a scoreless decision.

The Friars will begin to regain the strength which enabled them to humble Rutgers in the season's opener, when they prepare their attack for the coming week-end. Captain Manley Zande is about ready to take over his place in the starting array, while Emmet Shea, 187-pound tackle from Fall River is also due to be crossed off the hospital list.

The Friars are particularly anxious to defeat Canisius, and will endeavor to be at their full strength for the tilt.

They will leave here Thursday night, and will travel directly to Niagara Falls city, where a workout will be held on the Niagara University gridiron on Friday afternoon. On Saturday the squad will move on to Buffalo for the tilt. In the evening the squad will be the guests of Niagara University at the night game between Niagara and Alfred.

PROVIDENCE HOLDS CANISIUS

FRIARS-CANISIUS STAGE 0-0 DUEL

Dominicans Get Ball on Three-Yard Stripe but Fail to Score.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 25.—For the second successive year Providence College and Canisius College battled to a scoreless decision when the Friars ended four gruelling periods of football with the Grenadiers on the villa here this afternoon with neither team being able to cross the final line mark for a score. Last fall a similar verdict resulted in the game at Providence.

Although forced to accept a tie score, Providence had a slight edge on the local machine, and on at least two occasions should have pushed the ball over for scores, only to lose possession when a fast charging Canisius line crashed through to halt the goal-ward march. In the first period the Friars carried to the three-yard stripe, but a subsequent off-side penalty and failure to complete an aerial attack halted the drive.

Mickey Foster was shining light of the fray, carrying the brunt of the Dominicans' attack all afternoon. It was his brilliant broken field running in the first stanza which brought the ball close to the Canisius goal. Sliding off tackle Foster raced down the sidelines and just as he was headed to plunge over the line was halted by Hackell, ace of the locals, three yards short of the final stripe.

Canisius gained nine first downs to eight for the Friars, but nearly all the local gains were via the overhead route. Time and again the passing combination of Haskell to Lynch netted yardage. DuBlenny, former Providence College star, turned in a fine game for Canisius, doing all the kicking until relieved late in the fourth period, and helping out with the forward pass work.

Canisius End Run Fails to Gain

When Canisius college tangled with Providence college this afternoon it was a bitter battle from the start. The photograph shows fullback Kelly being nailed as he attempted an end run. This play followed a charge by Providence in which the ball was carried within 10 yards of the Canisius line.

The Providence

line proved a real stone wall for the Urban machine, with Eddie Nawrocki as the outstanding performer. Nawrocki smothered every attempt to gain through centre, and time and again broke into the backfield to spill Canisius backs for losses. Mathews and Galligan at the guards, also aided in halting the strong local ball carriers.

Cy Galligan, hard running fullback, flashed the finest punting exhibition given by a Friar back in recent years, outdistancing Dubienny on every kick and saving the Dominicans plenty of trouble with his long spirals deep into Canisius territory. In addition he featured on the throwing end of three pretty passes to Chick Bleiler, each of which netted at least 15 yards.

Providence made a strong bid for the decision in the very first period, and with a little more drive would have collected a score. Bleiler carried the opening kickoff to his own 25-yard line, and after two line thrusts netted but five yards. Galligan got away the first of his long kicks. Canisius tried to surprise with an aerial at the very onset, but Brady intercepted on his own 45-yard tape and ran 25 yards before being downed.

The attack faltered a few moments later, however, when Galligan fumbled on his own 24-yard stripe, and Connors recovered. Dubienny was soon forced to punt, and the Friars opened their drive again. Foster ripped off 18 yards at right tackle, sliding through the line and reversing the field before being pulled to earth on the locals' 37-yard tape.

Two plays later Foster again electrified the crowd when he crashed through the line, split the secondary defence, raced into the clear, with only Haskell. Canisius halfback, blocking his way to the goal.

The latter made a heroic save, downing the Providence ace on the three-yard line.

With a score in sight, the Friars became too eager, and a five-yard penalty for offside pushed them further from the goal. Brady lost three yards at left end, and in two tries Foster was able to collect but five yards. Then Brady dropped back to toss a pass, but before he could find his man he was smothered by the aggressive Canisius line, and the locals took possession on their own 22-yard stripe.

Using their famous spread formations, the Urban gridders tried hard to make progress toward the Providence goal, but their efforts availed but little in the face of the stalwart defence offered by the Rhode Islanders' line. As a result the remainder of the half was featured by an exchange of kicks by Dubienny and Galligan.

At the start of the third period the Friars threatened again. Mathews recovered Fitzpatrick's fumble on the Canisius 46-yard line. Two line plays were followed by a pretty pass from Galligan to Bleiler which was good for 16 yards, and a first down on the Grenadiers' 30-yard marker. Wright, who played a brilliant game in this half, ripped through tackle for five more yards, and Galligan and Foster pounded the line for a first down on the 19-yard tape.

Three line plays went for naught, and Varella saved the day for Canisius when he knocked down Bleiler's aerial to Jorn. Fearing that the locals might spring some trick play Coach Golembeski took no chances with any of his inexperienced players, and as a result used but five substitutes throughout the game. Canisius carried the attack into the Friars' territory in the final quarter. With Haskell leading the way the locals carried to the Providence 23-yard line, but Wright broke up the attack when he made a spectacular catch of a pass from Haskell and ran the ball back to his own 22-yard stripe. Galligan punted out of danger.

In the final two minutes of play Canisius completed two passes, one good for 11 yards and the other for 20 yards, to bring the ball to the Friar 34-yard line mark. Haskell tried a drop kick from the 40-yard line which failed to even reach the goal line. After putting the ball in play on his own 20-yard tape Wright skirted left end for 11 yards and a first down, and Galligan hit centre for two more yards as the game ended.

WRIGHT GETS POST IN P. C. BACKFIELD

Golembeski Ends Search for Man to Pair with Foster; Friars
Play Lowell Tomorrow.

Fans who travel to Hendricken Field tomorrow afternoon to see Archie Golembeski's grid outfit in action in its final home appearance of the season will see two youngsters perform in the backfield who the veteran Friar mentor believes are the equal of any pair of ball carriers in the small college ranks of New England. Mickey Foster, ace of the Dominican backfield squad, has at last found a running mate who duplicates his style in Jolie Wright, Staten Island yearling, and this pair is prepared to do plenty of damage to the stalwart Lowell line.

The search for a back to team with Foster has been a long one, but Golembeski is confident that his latest find will more than fill the bill. Wright, like Foster, has had a slow start in inter-collegiate football, and it has not been until the last two weeks that he has come into his own. Fast and shifty, and possessed with a natural ability to follow interference, a good passer and receiver, and a strong defensive performer in spite of the fact that he weighs but little more than 164 pounds, Wright leaves little to be desired.

For the past two days Golembeski has scrimmaged his squad and particular emphasis has been laid on a smooth running attack, with Bleiler, Foster, Wright and Galligan doing the ball toting. Another strong quartet of backs has also been groomed, composed of Sharkey, Le Blanc, Brady and Del Vecchio. With this array of talent the Smith Hill mentor feels certain that his charges will settle the 12 to 12 decision of last year with the Lowell outfit.

The consistent work of Katznelson is making it hard for the Friar mentor to keep the former Commercial high star out of the lineup. Katznelson worked at fullback yesterday in the absence of Galligan, and may be called upon to handle that role this week-end, and also took a turn in the line at one of the guard berths. Instead of being an asset, his versatility is somewhat of a handicap, as Golembeski is at a loss to decide where the hard working griddier will be of more assistance.

The workout this afternoon will probably be a light one, with a drill in signals and forward pass plays occupying most of the time. For the most part the squad is in top physical condition, and as a result a rugged game is anticipated when play is called at 2 o'clock tomorrow.

FRIARS RUN ROUGHSHOD OVER LOWELL TEXTILE

TO WIN 20-0

Foster and Wright Stellar Performers for Dominicans

Strength in Reserves Enables Locals to Completely Out-class Invading Eleven.

A powerful Providence College eleven, employing a strong running attack, with Foster and Wright leading the way, ran roughshod over Lowell Textile on Hendriken Field yesterday afternoon to collect a 20 to 0 decision. The victory is the third of the season for the Friars and settles the tie verdict of last year's game at Lowell.

Strength in reserves enabled the Friars to completely outclass the invaders in every department, and even in the second half when Foster and Wright watched the tilt from the sidelines, the locals' attack had no trouble in functioning successfully against an aggressive Lowell forward wall. The Friars collected 18 first downs to nine for the Bay Staters, and in addition made 330 yards from scrimmage against 72 for Rusty Yarnall's outfit.

Wright provided the first score of the tilt when he pulled down a 34-yard aerial from Galligan early in the second period and fell across the final lime mark, while Galligan and Sharkey accounted for the other scores on plunges from scrimmage. Foster, leading scorer of the locals, garnered a single point, place kicking the point after the first score, while Katznelson collected the additional marker on a line plunge after the second touchdown.

Foster Makes 46-Yard Run

Foster, although out of the game in the second half, provided the feature run of the clash when he dashed around Lowell's right wing for 46 yards, in the second period, only to be stopped in his goalward flight by Allard, Lowell safety man, on the visitors' 27-yard tape. Foster also turned in dashes of 18 and 14 yards during the first half.

Game played: November 1, 1930

Friars Display Punch In Final Home Game

The Providence College eleven displayed a lively brand of football and a real scoring punch in defeating Lowell Textile, 20 to 0, at Hendriken Field yesterday in the final home game of the season for the locals. In the top photo Capt. Allard of the visitors is shown making a short gain in the third period. Mickey Foster, Friars' backfield star, is shown in the lower photo, just as he cleared the scrimmage line on a dash in the opening quarter.

With his best backs bruised by the hard play of the first two periods, Golembeski rushed his shock troops into action late in the first half, and then started them in the third period. This unit was headed by Katznelson, hard-running fullback, while Sharkey called the signals and Galligan paired with Brady at the halves. Relying on sheer power alone this backfield swept through the Lowell line twice in this half for scores.

"Dex" Davis Makes Debut

In the line Dexter Davis, rangy wingman from East Providence, made an impressive debut, stopping all attempts of the fleet Lowell backs to skirt his wing, and pulling down an aerial for a 27-yard advance as his contribution to the Friar offence. Minnella and Mathews at the guards, and Callahan at left tackle also featured in the defensive work of the team.

Lowell failed to show any running attack worth while, and as a result was forced to take to the air to gain what yardage it did. The Weavers completed eight of the 24 forwards they tried, but as most of them were for short distances their total yardage gleaned by this offence amounted to but 75 yards. Incidentally the Friars, who completed but three passes of the 16 they attempted, equalled this yardage.

Providence took the initial kickoff and immediately started what looked like a certain touchdown march. On the third play Foster slid through tackle and galloped for 13 yards, and two plays later found the same opening for a 14-yard gain to put the ball on Lowell's 24-yard tape. Three line thrusts netted but little, however, and the rally ended with an incompleting forward pass.

Exchange of Punts.

Lowell could do no damage by rushing in the face of the fine play of the Dominican line, and as a result the period resulted in an exchange of punts between Galligan, of the locals, and Savard, triple-threat performer of Lowell. Providence made one advance from their own 20-yard stripe to mid-field, but resorted to kicking in order to take advantage of the wind.

Soon after the second stanza got under way the locals broke through with their initial tally on the prettiest play of the game. To start the trouble for Lowell, Halloran, sturdy Friar left end, blocked Savard's punt and McCormick and Jern recovered on the visitors' 37-yard stripe. Wright hit left tackle for three yards and Foster was stopped at the line for no gain.

Then Galligan dropped back to toss a pass, taking time to allow his backs and ends to get far down the field. A surging Lowell line almost dropped him in his tracks, but he pivoted through the charging linemen until he found Wright free in the far corner of the field. A long flat aerial went true to its mark, and the Staten Island youngster made a pretty catch and plunged over the goal line. The first extra point for the Friars to be collected this year by kicking was scored by Foster, who made good on a placement from the 10-yard line.

Lowell Surrenders Ball

Lowell soon surrendered the ball following the next kickoff when her offence failed to click, and Savard punted to Bieller, who was downed on the Friars' 25-yard tape. After a line plunge netted two yards, Foster staged his sensational 46-yard run. Starting on a drive through left tackle, he found the gap closed and so swung wide around the end and under perfect interference raced down the sidelines, only to be driven offside by the Bay Staters' safety man on the Lowell 27-yard marker. An incomplete pass over the goal line ended the rally.

Both teams showed a strong offence at the start of the third period, with a Friar advance being stopped on the Lowell 29-yard tape, and the one consistent drive of the Weavers being halted 23 yards from the locals' goal when two successive aeriels failed to net yardage.

Providence, with Sharkey at the helm, Katznelson and Galligan pounding the line, and Brady sweeping the flanks, soon surged to the fore, however, and marched 55 yards for a touchdown. Brady put the Friars in the running for the tally when he intercepted a Lowell pass on his own 45-yard tape when Savard, Weaver's star backfield performer fumbled after nearly catching the ball.

Katznelson rammed through centre for 13 yards and a first down, and Brady sprinted off left tackle for 19 more a minute later to carry the leather to the invaders' 20-yard marker. Sharkey and Katznelson picked up six yards in two tries before the Friar signal barker slid through left tackle for a six-yard gain and a first down on the Lowell eight-yard line mark.

Penalty Delays Tally.

An offside penalty delayed the touchdown march for a moment, but after Brady had gleaned a yard at left tackle, the line tore a wide gap through right guard and Galligan shot through for 12 yards and a score. On a fake drop kick formation, Katznelson easily dove over the line for the extra point.

In the fourth period Davis recovered Howard's fumble on the latter's 42-yard line, but an ensuing Providence attack faltered but a yard to go for a first down, when Katznelson fumbled and was stopped for no gain. Lowell tried out its aerial attack and was fairly successful with a short toss over the line, but fine defensive work by the Friar secondary frustrated any long gains.

Midway through the period Brady flashed into the limelight again when he pulled a pass from Allard, intended for Savard, out of the air on his own 45-yard line and ran 30 yards before being pulled to earth. At this juncture Coach Golembeski rushed Jern and Halloran, regular ends, and Sweeney and Mardosa, rugged guards, into the game to add to the scoring drive.

Brady made six yards at left tackle, and Katznelson hit centre for seven more. Sharkey slid through right tackle for seven yards to bring the ball to the Lowell five-yard tape. On the next play, a fake reverse, Sharkey dashed along the sidelines and over the final white marker for the third score of the day. Foster was rushed into the game, and an attempted pass, Sharkey to Foster, for the point, failed.

FRIARS UNINJURED, WILL REST TODAY

With no game scheduled for this weekend, the Providence College football squad will enjoy a day of rest today, the regular practice session having been cancelled by Coach Golembeski as a reward to the gridders for their win over Lowell. Tomorrow work will be started for the two remaining tilts, both major clashes, with St. John's College in Brooklyn and Duquesne University at Pittsburgh.

St. Jon's, next foe of the Friars, was toppled from the undefeated class last Saturday when St. Thomas scored a 13 to 6 win at Scranton. However, the keen rivalry which has sprung up between the Brooklyn aggregation and the Smith Hillers is certain to produce plenty of fast football when they clash on Nov. 15. Next Saturday St. John's meets C. C. N. Y. at New York.

No injuries of consequence were reported after the Lowell victory, and as a result Coach Golembeski will have the full squad out tomorrow. In all probability the drills will be less strenuous than they were last week, with most of the stress put on the development of team co-ordination. Further improvement in the line in forming interference will be sought, as the backfields appeared to be the equal of any in New England college ranks.

Capt. Manley Zande, who has been working out with his squad for the past two weeks, watched the game last weekend from the bench, although he was available for action if needed. With Minnella playing the best game of his career, and pairing with Mathews to handle the guard work in flawless manner, Coach Golembeski preferred to keep Zande idle, so that he may be ready to play against St. John's and Duquesne.

FRIARS DEFEATED BY ST. JOHN'S 13-6

Dominicans Hampered by Muddy Field; Foster Scores for Locals.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)
Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 15.—Staging a belated fourth period aerial attack, the strong St. John's College eleven eked out a 13 to 6 decision over Providence College here this afternoon in a hard-fought tussle on Dexter Park. The win marks the fifth of the season for the locals and is the first time they have scored over the Friars in six years of grid competition.

Providence had all the best of the tilt until late in the third period, when St. John's suddenly took a new lease of life to overcome a 6 to 0 disadvantage and collect the verdict. An eight-yard pass to Neary, giant St. John end, and a 10-yard aerial to Rubinsky provided the scoring punches of the local aggregation.

Mickey Foster, star Providence half-back, turned in the lone tally made by the Rhode Islanders and stamped himself as the best running back on the field. In the second period he dashed off right tackle, reversed his field and scampered 45 yards over a soggy turf for a touchdown. His other long run of the game was a 30-yard dash off right end in the first quarter.

The playing field was a veritable mire when the elevens swung into action, and, although St. John's took the field with all the players equipped with rubber pants, they were completely outclassed by the Friars in the first 30 minutes of play. Both teams handled the ball well in spite of the adverse playing conditions, and St. John's surprised by its clever forward pass work with a slippery ball late in the game.

Zande Plays Well.

Capt. Zande, playing for the first time since the Rutgers tilt, turned in a fine game at guard and was instrumental in stopping many St. John's rallies. The whole forward wall, with Boyle performing brilliantly at left tackle, turned in a good game, twice halting goalward drives of the Vincentians.

Both teams resorted to kicking in the first period, preferring to play for the breaks. Galligan of the Rhode Islanders and Margolies and Cooper of the locals waged an even tussle in the kicking work. A long Cooper hoist threatened trouble for the Friars in the opening period when the ball rolled to the visitors' four-yard stripe before being downed. However, Foster averted danger when he started behind his own goal and dashed through right tackle for 30 yards.

Game played: November 15, 1930

Shortly after the second period started Providence opened a drive from its own 25-yard tape. Sharkey and Foster hit the line for eight yards, and then Galligan got away a long punt to the St. John's 37-yard stripe. Margolis, local star back, immediately returned the kick. Sharkey making a 15-yard run back to carry the leather to his own 46-yard line.

Foster Scores

Katznelson hit centre for seven yards and then Foster cut loose on his scoring dash. Running from a kick formation, the Friar ball-carrier slipped through right tackle aided by perfect interference, reversed back into the centre of the field and started full speed for the goal. St. John's halfback made a flying tackle which nearly stopped Foster on the 20-yard tape, but the Dominican shook loose and galloped across the final marker. Katznelson hit centre in an effort to glean the point, but was stopped for no gain.

The Rhode Islanders dominated the play for the remainder of the period, with their stalwart line breaking through time and again to stop the Vincentian ball-carriers. St. John's attempted two passes in this stanza, both of which were incomplete.

In the second half the Friars, still caked with mud in some cases almost beyond recognition from the stands, failed to continue their fine all round work, although two fine goal line stands were made to avert scores.

Midway through the third period the locals broke through to block one of Galligan's kicks, with Neary, star end, making the recovery on the Providence 25-yard stripe. Two line plunges, and an eight-yard aerial netted a first down on the Friars' 25-yard line, but a subsequent pass was received by an ineligible man, and the Rhode Islanders took possession on their 25-yard tape.

Complete Forward

Galligan continued to have trouble getting his kicks away, and St. John's gained possession on the Friars' 36-yard line when the Attleboro Junior was hurried in his attempt to punt. A pass from Margolis to Sheppard caught the Dominicans napping, and was good for 17 yards. DelVecchio finally pulled Sheppard to earth on the 17-yard line.

Coach Golembeski immediately rushed Capt. Zande and Minnella, regular guards, back into the tilt, but even the presence of these stalwarts could not avert the impending score. Sheppard hit centre for four yards as the period ended.

Sheppard tossed a flat aerial off left end to Neary, who caught the ball while on the run and plunged over the line for the initial St. John's score as the local crowd went into an uproar. A forward pass. Cooper to Sheppard, for the point was incomplete, and the two teams were deadlocked with a 6 to 6 score.

Katznelson took the following kickoff and ran it back to the Providence 37-yard line, where he was tackled hard by Dallolio and the jolt knocked the mud-caked ball out of the Friar's arms. Margolis recovered for St. John's and thereby set the stage for the winning drive which was to decide the contest.

Saints Score Again.

Cooper passed to Sheppard for 20 yards and a first down on the Friars' 20-yard line as the crowd went wild. On a fake pass play, Margolis hit left tackle for 12 yards and another first down on the visitors' eight-yard tape.

Here the Friars rallied, and held the Vincentians to five yards gain in three line thrusts. Sheppard took to the air again, but his pass to Margolis over the line was incomplete, and the Dominicans had staved off the score temporarily. Foster punted to midfield, and Cooper returned the kick immediately.

The Friars were unable to gain, and Foster booted to Margolis at midfield, who ran the ball back 11 yards. Then Margolis pulled down an aerial on the Providence 13-yard tape.

Three times the Friars held, but on the fourth down Cooper shot a short pass off right end to Rubinsky, who fell over the line with the winning score. A pass, Cooper to Margolis, netted the extra point.

Providence accepted the following kickoff, but St. John's soon regained possession when Cooper intercepted Foster's pass on the Friars' 35-yard line. The game ended five plays later.

PROVIDENCE CENTER

JOHN SCHOTT

Schott is one of the centers of the Providence University Friars, who play the Dukes in the latter's closing game of the season at Forbes Field tomorrow morning. He was rated the best scholastic center in New Jersey two years ago and has been playing a fine game for the Friars.

DUKES DOWN PROVIDENCE IN FINAL GAME

Friars Drop Hard-Fought Battle With Duquesne 15-6

Dominicans Unable to Hold
Early Lead.—Game Played on Icy Gridiron.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)
Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 27.—Playing on a snow-covered gridiron with the 10-yard lines indicated by furrows through the frozen snow, and with the temperature dallying in the 20's, the Providence College eleven went down to a 15 to 6 defeat here today in a hard fought battle with Elmer Layden's Duquesne University aggregation. The tilt was staged under the most adverse conditions possible, and both teams had to wear knitted gloves while playing.

In spite of these conditions, the tilt was a really exciting affair, and contrary to expectations, fumbles were few and far between. Both outfits employed a strong running attack, while Duquesne proved able to use its aerial offence to better advantage than was expected. Providence had the edge on the Dukes in the first period and half of the second, but were forced to fight in their own territory for most of the remainder of the game.

The Friars scored first, with Mickey Foster thrilling with a pretty 26-yard run from scrimmage within five minutes after the game started. This lead was held until the second quarter when the Dukes collected a tying score via the overhead route, and then added two points on a blocked kick which rolled beyond the end zone for an automatic safety. The outcome was still in doubt until the final period when a consistent running attack culminated in a touchdown for the locals after a 47-yard march.

Scene From Duke-Providence Morning Battle

Larry Sullivan, Duquesne quarterback, is seen above, making a valiant effort to grab a forward pass from Ganzy Benedict in the second quarter of the Duke contest with Providence College. However, the oval slipped from his fingers and was incomplete.

—Post-Gazette Photo.

The Providence line, with three Seniors in particular playing the important roles, gave a splendid exhibition and time and again stopped the heavier Duke ball carriers. Only in the final canto, when exhausted by the gruelling ploughing over the icy surface, did the Friars forward wall falter in its work. Captain Manley Zande, rugged guard, Charlie McCormick, tackle and Jack Halloran, closed their collegiate careers in brilliant manner, breaking through repeatedly to prevent Duquesne rallies.

Dukes Use Many Players

Coach Elmer Layden of the locals used nearly his entire squad to collect his seventh win of the season, while the Rhode Islanders pulled an iron man stunt for the first half, using but one substitute during the 30 minutes of play. The game was the final one for 14 of the local gridgers, and they made it a memorable one by smashing their way through to capture the verdict in impressive manner.

A crowd of but 2000 was on hand when the two elevens trotted out on the field to start the action. Anticipating possible fumbles owing to the near zero temperature, both coaches equipped their charges with mittens to insure safe handling of the oval. Providence received the toss and elected to receive. Halloran took a short kickoff and was downed on his own 40-yard line. Foster picked up four yards at tackle, and Bleiler added five more. Foster failed to gain at right end, and Galligan, who turned in some brilliant punting during the fray, dropped back and got away a long hoist to the Dukes' 30-yard tape.

The local gridgers were smothered in two attempted line thrusts and McCarthy punted to Bleiler, who made a pretty 20-yard runback to pave the way for the Friars' score. Taking the kick on his own 48-yard stripe, the Everett signal barker side-stepped three Duquesne tacklers and sprinted to the 28-yard line before being hauled to earth. On the next play Wright picked up two yards at right tackle.

Foster Thrills Crowd

Then Foster brought the crowd to its feet with one of his sensational off-tackle thrusts which netted a score in this case. The Friar backfield functioned perfectly on the play, removing Dudzak, Duke right end, from action, and Foster cut through tackle and under perfect interference from the line raced towards the sidelines. Todd tried to bring the Friar to earth, but Foster straight-armed the Duke tackler and galloped unhindered over the final snow trench for a score. A forward pass, Bleiler to Foster, for the extra point, was too long and eluded the Dominican receiver.

The Providence line continued to be the aggressor for the remainder of the period and drove the Dukes back within the shadow of their own goal posts late in the quarter, when Galligan forced Devenny far down the field on his long spiral, to the Duquesne 14-yard tape.

In the second period the locals got a break which turned the tide of the game completely, and gave them the needed incentive to fight their way through to a win. After Galligan had punted out of bounds on the Dukes' 25-yard line and the latter outfit could gain but little yardage by rushing, McCarthy got away a long punt which eluded Bleiler. The ball bounded through the snow, and when the Friar safety man tried to retrieve the ball it slipped from his grasp and Silverstein, Duquesne centre, pounced on the oval to give his team a first down on the Providence 18-yard line as the crowd went wild tries at the line McCarthy picked up six yards, and on the third thrust, by Benedict, the Dominican forward wall rose with all its power and smothered the ball carrier at the line of scrimmage. Coach Elmer Layden rushed Devenny into the fray, and on the fourth down, a beautiful forward pass play, Benedict to Burns, was completed for a score.

Makes Fine Play

Burns plucked the aerial out of the air almost on the goal line, leaping up above two Friar backs to make a sensational catch and plunge over the final marker for the touchdown which knotted the score. Halloran and Jorn smashed through to block Kovalcheck's try for the extra point by placement.

Within five minutes the local collegians garnered a safety which gave them a lead which they never relinquished. McCarthy returned Galligan's hoist with a long boot which rolled over the goal line, and the Friars put the ball in play on their own 20 yard line. Foster and Wright were both nailed for no gain on attempted tackle thrusts, and Galligan went back to kick. Abele, sturdy Duke lineman, raced through the Providence defence to hurl himself in front of Galligan's boot, and the ball rebounded back over the goal line, finally rolling far beyond the end zone for a safety. This unexpected setback tended to slow the Providence attack for the remainder of the period.

The third stanza was hard fought all the way, with the locals having a slight edge. For the most part the 15 minutes was featured by a punting duel between Cy Galligan and McCarthy, star kicker of the Layden men. The period ended with the Friars making a strong stand to take the ball on downs on their own 21-yard line. Midway through the final quarter the locals were again favored by Dame Fortune. When they got possession, uncorked a consistent drive which proved too much for the tiring Rhode Islanders. Galligan punted out from his own six-yard line to the 47-yard stripe where Callahan down Devenny in his tracks.

Three successive first downs on running plays, with Devenny, McCarthy and Burns serving as the battering rams to pierce the Friar front wall, brought the leather to the Black and White 10-yard stripe. Then McCarthy, a Senior classman, closed his grid career in memorable manner by pounding through for a score in three cracks at the visitors' line. Kovalcheck place-kicked the extra point.

Duke-Providence Detail

First Quarter.

Kelleher kicked off to Halloran on the Providence 30 and he brought it back to the 41. Foster made 4 at left guard. Bleiler went off right tackle for 5. Foster made 2 at center but both sides were off-side and the ball was brought back. Foster lost a yard at left end. Galligan punted to the Duke 24. Benedict skidded off right tackle for 2. Todd failed to gain at left end. McCarthy punted to Bleiler on the Duke 48 and he returned it to the Duke 27. A line play gained 2 yards and then Foster took a double pass from Bleiler and ran wide around left end for a touchdown. A forward pass attempt for the extra point was grounded.

Score—Duquesne 0, Providence 6.

Minnella kicked off to Fodd on the Duke 25 and he was downed on the 29. McCarthy's pass to Abele was grounded. McCarthy scooped up a bad pass from center but lost 5 yards. Benedict gained 1 at right tackle. McCarthy punted to Bleiler on the visitors' 48.

A steady stream of Duke subs kept coming into action. Bleiler tossed a 3-yard forward pass to Foster. Galligan grounded a long pass and Halloran punted to Devinney on the Duke 20. Bud brought it back to the 32. Burns fumbled a pass from center but fell on the ball for a 5-yard loss. Benedict failed to gain and McCarthy punted to Bleiler on the visitors' 45.

Wright gained 5 at right tackle, but Providence was offside and drew a 5-yard penalty. Foster took a double pass from Foster and made 4 yards at right end. Galligan picked up 3 at left tackle. Galligan punted to Devinney on the Duke 20 but he fumbled and was finally downed on the 14. Benedict hit right guard for 9. On a quarterback sneak Devinney got 1 yard at center for a first down. Burns made 2 at his own left tackle but McCarthy was stopped without gain. Benedict hit center for 11 yards and a first down. McCarthy made 2 at right guard. Benedict made 2 at right tackle. Burns lost 2 and McCarthy punted to Bleiler on the Providence 28, Silverstein making the tackle. Bleiler was stopped by Murphy at right tackle after gaining 4 yards. Galligan punted to Devinney on the Duke 33. Dukes took time out. Burns ran wide around left end for 3 as the quarter ended.

Score—Duquesne 0, Providence 6.

Charley Bleiler

Second Quarter.

Burns cut off right tackle for four. McCarthy picked up one at center but punted out of bounds on the next play on the Providence 47. Silverstein broke through and tossed Wright for a five-yard loss. Murphy stopped Bleiler for one yard loss. Galligan kicked out of bounds on the Duke 26. Benedict fumbled but recovered for a three-yard gain. McCarthy punted to the visitor's 18, where Silverstein covered a fumble as the icy ball slipped from Bleiler's fingers. McCarthy took a double pass from Benedict for three. Benedict failed to gain at right tackle. Benedict tossed a forward pass over the center of the line to Burns and Doggo pulled it down on the one-yard line and stepped over for the touchdown. Kovalcheck replaced McCarthy to try the extra point but it was blocked. Pawlina immediately replaced Kovalcheck.

Score—Duquesne, 6; Providence, 6.

Sullivan kicked off to Galligan and he was stopped on the visitor's 27. Galligan punted after two line plays failed and Sullivan carried it from his own 40 to midfield. On a reverse Burns to Christina, the latter gained three at his own right tackle. Burns ran wide around left end for five. Christina gained one yard but Providence was offside and a five-yard penalty gave the Dukes a first down on the visitor's 35. Christina lost three at his own right end. Veneri was injured on the play and Dukes took time out. Burns ran his own left end for six yards. Burns ran out of bounds at left end for one. Sullivan made a pretty short kick, the ball being grounded on the visitor's goal line but officials ruled it went over for a touchback and Providence took possession on their own 20. Burns sneared Foster for one yard loss at right tackle. Lally broke through and tossed Wright for four yards' loss. Galligan's attempted punt was blocked by Abele and it bounded high in the air, back over the Providence end zone for an automatic safety.

Score—Duquesne, 8; Providence, 6.

Sullivan took the Providence free kick on his own 38 and carried it to the visitor's 48. Burns took Cristina's pass at left end for 16 yards and a first down on the Providence 26. Pawlina made five at right tackle. Cristina lost three on a triple pass, but Providence drew a five-yard holding penalty, for a Duke first down on the visitor's 16. Cristina made one, Pawlina four in the line. Cristina fumbled and Foster recovered on his own eight. Galligan and Foster each picked up one yard in the line. Galligan kicked to Sullivan on the Providence 43. Trambley ran left end for 11 and a first down. Cristina tossed a five-yard pass to Murphy. Two more were grounded. Sullivan punted to the Providence 11 where Veneri grounded the ball, as the half ended.

Score—Duquesne, 8; Providence, 6.

Third Quarter.

Donahoe's poor kickoff went to the Providence 42. Two line plays by Foster lost three yards and Galligan punted to Devinney on the Duke 28 and Bud brought it back to the 36. Three line plays gained six yards and McCarthy punted to the visitors' 24, Abele making the tackle. Foster was stopped at right tackle. Galligan ran right end for two, McCarthy making the tackle. Folio dropped Wright for a three-yard loss. Galligan punted to the Providence 44. Devinney stepped out of bounds for no gain. McCarthy ran left end for no gain but Devinney raced the opposite terminal for 10 and a first down on the Providence 33. Burns made one at left tackle. Benedict's pass was intercepted by Foster. Foster made four at right tackle. Lally stopped Wright for no gain in the line. Galligan punted out of bounds on the Providence 49. Benedict's pass to Devinney was batted down by Foster. Burns broke through the line for 11 yards and a first down. McCarthy made five at right tackle. On a double pass, Benedict to McCarthy, Joe gained seven at left end for a first down on the Providence 26. Benedict gained one at left tackle. He ran right end for four. Devinney lost three at left end. A pass was grounded and Providence took the ball on downs, on their own 22. Galligan made one in the line, as the quarter ended.

Score—Duquesne, 8; Providence, 6.

Fourth Quarter.

Devinney took Galligan's long punt on the Duke 37 and carried it to the 41. Benedict made three at right tackle. He made another at center. McCarthy punted to Bleiler and Abele dropped him in his tracks on the Providence 28. Murphy tackled Wright for no gain at left end and Galligan punted to Devinney on the Duke 45. McCarthy punted to Bleiler on the Providence 13. Murphy making the tackle. Galligan fumbled, but Hallaron recovered for no gain. Foster gained three on a fake kick play. Galligan punted to Bud Devinney on the visitors' 46. Burns made seven at right guard on a fake reverse. McCarthy made two at left guard. A pass to Pratt was incomplete, but Cristina pulled in one for eight yards. Providence taking possession. Trambly intercepted a pass and was downed on the visitors' 15. Wright intercepted a Duke seven on his own seven. A pass was grounded. Kemp recovered a fumble, but Dukes were off side and drew a five-yard penalty as the game ended.

Final score—Duquesne 15, Providence 6.

FRIARS WILL LOSE EIGHT FROM SQUAD

Mickey Foster Mentioned to Lead Providence College
Eleven Next Year.

When the Providence College football aggregation wound up its campaign last Thursday at Pittsburgh eight members of the squad finished their collegiate grid activities, after setting fine records under the tutelage of Coach Archie Golembeski. These men were Captain Zande, Minnella, Sweeney, Brown, Brady, McCormick, Halloran and Sharkey. In addition to these men, Capt. McGovern will be absent when the call is issued next fall, as the senior leader from Michigan had his football career terminated unexpectedly when severely injured in the Holy Cross game.

The biggest loss which will have to be faced when the work is started next fall will be at the guard berths, as three of the regulars of this year's team will be graduated next June. This trio is composed of Capt. Manley Zande, who has been a mainstay of the line for four seasons, Leonard Sweeney of Nashua and Joe Minnella of Hackensack, a pair of 200-pounders who have featured the Friars' play for the past three campaigns.

Charlie McCormick of this city, husky tackle, Captain Mark McGovern of Flint, and Jack Halloran, 190-pound left end, who has enjoyed a banner season this fall, are the other linesmen who will hang up their cleated boots this fall. The backfield loses Joe Sharkey, Lowell lad, who has alternated with Bieler at the signal calling work, Johnny Brady, speedy Pawtucket product, and Mal Brown, dusky Amherst resident.

Next week when the lettermen are announced the election of a captain for the 1931 aggregation will be held. Six junior classmen, of whom Mickey Foster is the outstanding, will be in the line for the captaincy. This group consists of Eddie Nawrocki and Eddie Derivan, centres; Charlie Jorn, end; Emmet Shea, tackle; Charles Bieler, quarterback, and Mickey Foster, halfback.

Foster is without question the finest gridder that the Friars have boasted in recent years, and his all round qualities should make him an ideal leader for the team next year. He is a hard worker on the field, and is probably one of the finest ball carriers in the small college ranks of New England. Defensively, as well as offensively, he ranks as the best the Smith Hillers have had in their ranks since they inaugurated football 10 years ago.

"Mickey" Foster, Backfield Star, To Lead Friar Eleven

Pittsfield Boy Named Captain of 1931 Providence College Team.

Michael C. "Mickey" Foster, Junior classman from Pittsfield, Mass., and without doubt the finest all round football player ever to represent Providence College, was elected to the captaincy of the Friar grid forces for the 1931 season at a meeting of the lettermen held yesterday afternoon. Foster is the third backfield man ever to be elected to the captaincy, his predecessors being Joseph McGee of the 1922 and 1923 elevens, and Martin Gibbons, leader of the 1929 team.

The election of Foster is certain to be as popular with the student body of the Smith Hill college, as it was with the grid squad. He has been one of the mainstays of the team since his first year at the Dominican college, and has compiled the remarkable record of having started 20 of the 24 grid tilts that have been staged during the past three seasons by the Friars. He has been out of action but twice, watching the Clarkson game of this year, and the Springfield tilt of two seasons back, from the sidelines, owing to injuries.

During the past season Foster was the leading scorer of the team, collecting 31 points, and in addition was one of the best defensive performers. He featured the opening tilt of the season against Rutgers when he broke away for two scores to defeat the New Jersey collegians, and he turned in spectacular runs against St. John's and Duquesne University for scores.

Good Schoolboy Athlete

Foster matriculated at the Smith Hill college in 1928 after compiling a fine record as the outstanding scholar-athlete of the Berkshire district. He captained the baseball team for two years, and the basketball team for one season, while in high school, and was the unanimous choice of western Massachusetts sports authorities as the outstanding athlete in that section in all sports.

His first college start was against the Army, where he staged a brilliant defensive game, stopping Cagle, All-American performer of the Cadets, on several occasions after the latter had broken through the Friar forwards into the secondary. Since that date he has been one of Archie Golembeski's best backfield performers, and has been in the starting lineup for practically every contest.

In addition to his football work, Foster has been a member of the Varsity basketball and baseball squads for the past two years in a substitute capacity. He is vice president of his class, and is active in the literary society of the college.

Will Lead Friars In 1931

Mickey Foster of Pittsfield, Massachusetts, Providence College veteran backfield ace, for the past three years, was elected captain of next year's football team, at a meeting of the lettermen yesterday.
