To Play Leading Roles in P. C. Football Drama

tember 14.—Have Veteran Line

Rhode Island football fans will have to do most of their rooting for the Friar griddeers at long range this fall. The 1933 football schedule recently released by the Providence College Athletic Council lists only one game for this city—Niagara University, on Sunday, Nov. 5.

Outstanding departures from the usual conduct of football affairs at P.C. are the elimination of the lengthy pre-season drill period, two additions to the coaching staff, the reduction of the varsity schedule and the development of junior varsity and Freshmen activity on the gridiron.

Changes in the football staff, according to John E. Farrell, graduate manager, make Joseph P. McGee of this city, varsity end coach for the past two seasons, head coach of the freshman and junior varsity forces, with two new assistants. Charles McCormick, also of this city, a star tackle on the Friar teams several years ago, will be line coach of the first-year squad, while John V. Brady of Pawtucket, brilliant quarterback of the Friar 1931 team, will assist with the backfield men.

Begin Season Oct. 7

For the first time in years the playing of a September game has been eliminated, and the Friars will open their campaign on Oct. 7, when they visit New Brunswick, N. J., to play Rutgers. Last year Providence and Rutgers battled to a 6 to 6 tie in the opener. The actual football drills for the locals will start Sept. 14, four days prior to the start of college classes, and the freshmen will be called out for drills on the 19th.

A squad of 60 candidates, including 20 lettermen, is expected to report for the initial varsity practice. Captain Joseph M. Wright, of Staten Island, will head the backfield aspirants, among whom are such outstanding players as Barbarito, Landry, Gould, LeBlanc, Rennick, Healey, and Sokolowski. A veteran line is available for play, with such lettermen as Davis, Roberge, and Gobis, ends; Boyle, Burns, Burdge, McCarthy, Lawler and Adamick, tackles; Mathews, Kutniewski, Owren, Katznelson and Cusack, guards, and Schott, Feit, and Tienney, centers.

Looking Over the Friar Players

32 PLAYERS REPORT AS

FRIARS OPEN FOOTBALL

PRACTICE

Equipment Issued, Plans Discussed for '33 Season

Rain Prevents Outdoor Work;
Another Session Scheduled for Today.

Active preparation for the coming football season by the Providence College football players was delayed until today because of yesterday's rain, but despite the inclement weather, a number of the details synonymous with the launching of a college football campaign was taken care of by the athletic officials, coaches and candidates.

It was planned to hold morning and afternoon drills yesterday. Unless rain interferes with the plans of the coaches again today, two practice sessions are scheduled for today, one at 10 o'clock in the morning, and the other at 2:30 this afternoon.

Thirty-two players, including 17 lettermen, were on hand yesterday when Head Coach Archie Golembeski briefly outlined the plans for the season.

Equipment was issued to the players and after they had registered with Student Manager Don Matassa and met Golembeski, most of the day was utilized in renewing acquaintances, discussing football in general and vacation activities.

There was an optimistic trend to the talk of the players, and in sizing them up, one could readily observe that the Friars will have a heavy team, as there were a number of huskies among the group in the gymnasium. Bigger than them all was Charlie Burdge of Warren, 210-pound veteran tackle, who is eager for action.

All but four of the 21 lettermen reported yesterday, a true indication of the avidity among the players for coming games. Those missing were George Boyle of Passaic, N. J., tackle; Lou Mathews, guard; Carroll "Red" Gould, quarterback, and Ivar Owren, tackle and guard. The last named three are all former Cranston high stars.

Golembeski began his ninth season as coach of the Friars, and although he did not say such in words, he appeared highly optimistic over the coming campaign. Archie was full of smiles and, like his players, he is also eager for work to begin. After his talk with the boys, he journeyed downtown to visit "Junie" Bride, his assistant, to further plans for today's opening drills.

* * *

There will be more coaches than ever before with the Friars at Hendricken Field. Besides Golembeski and Bride, there will be three Freshman coaches, Joe McGee, Johnny Brady and Charlie McCormick, all former Dominican football stars. McGee, who was Varsity end coach last season, will also help with the Varsity work. This is the third season for Bride and McGee as Friar coaches.

The Dominicans will have around three weeks to prepare for the annual opening clash with Rutgers on Oct. 7 and this means considerable work will have to be accomplished during this short time for the hard game anticipated.

Seven lettermen were lost through graduation, ineligibility and dropping out of college by players. Those who graduated were Peter Gilligan and "Franny" Dromgoole, ends; Capt. Owen Callahan, tackle; and Ed Mardosa, guard. Charlie O'Keefe, outstanding fullback, will return as senior, but he has played three years of Varsity football, having served two with the Friars and one with St. Bonaventure. Ray Croteau, former Durfee luminary, who excelled in a halfback role last season, and Phillip DelVecchio, outstanding line plunger, have dropped out of college.

The Friars have capable replacements for the loss of the linesmen, but the backfield will offer a problem. O'Keefe was a standout at fullback, a player who could carry the ball, punt and pass. He will be hard to replace.

A number of capable halfbacks will be available and they will be headed by Capt. Joe Wright, a fine ball carrier and blocking back. Others who will be depended upon for backfield duty are the speedy Anthony Barbarito of New Haven, Ted LeBlanc of Flushing, L. I., John Sloan of Cranston, Paul Healey of New Bedford and Henry Shanahan of New York. The latter was a member of the junior Varsity last season and he is a brother of Bill Shanahan, regular halfback with Pennsylvania last year. Henry practiced punting with his brother during the summer. Bill is one of the Quakers' best kickers.

Last year's two quarterbacks, Gould and Omer Landry, Rhode Island's outstanding schoolboy athlete during 1932, will again take care of the field general's job. Most of the punting will be shared between them during the 1933 campaign, according to present plans. Both are also excellent broken field runners, making many long runs last season.

At present the outstanding candidates for the fullback assignment are Charlie Rennick, former Hope athlete, and Ed Sokolowski, who played with Cranston two years back.

Veteran players are available for all of the line positions. Davis and Roberge have been varsity ends during the past two seasons. There is a wealth of tackles, all of whom have seen considerable service. Dick Burns, Joe Adamick, Bill McCarthy and Burdge provide the Dominicans with capable tackle material. Besides the above players, other tackle candidates are Bill Sullivan and Dan McQueeney, ex-La Salle athletes.

Bill Kutniewski, Lou Mathews and Irving Katznelson, three of the best guards the Friars have had in years, will take care of the guard berths. Jack Schott, Abe Feit and Patrick Morrison are players who have had experience at centre. Schott was the regular pivot-man last year and Feit also won his letter.

The players reported various activities to which they devoted their time during the summer. Capt. Wright spent a leisurely summer, spending part of the time getting into condition at Chicago Fair where he got a real workout making his way at the exposition grounds. Dexter Davis did farm work. This has been his usual summer occupation since his high school days at East Providence. Roberge, Burdge, Landry played baseball. George Cusack, guard candidate, cut grass in a cemetery; Feit worked with his father in a garage. Barbarito was a playground instructor and took part in track meets. LeBlanc was a camp counsellor, and Schott was a policeman at Bud Lake in New Jersey.

Following are the players who reported yesterday:

Ends—Davis, Roberge, Peter Gobis, John McHenry and R. y. McVinnay.

Tackles—Burdge, Burns, Adamick, McCarthy, Sullivan, McQueeney.

Guards—Kutniewski, Katznelson, Wallace Planka, Cusack, Orlando D'Atti, Joe Lee and Eddie Morin.

Centres—Schott, Feit and Morrison.

Quarterback—Landry.

Halfbacks—Wright, Shanahan, Barbarito, Healey, Lambert, Burque, Joe Balzanelli, John Sloan.

Fullbacks—LeBlanc and Rennick.

FRIARS SCRIMMAGE AGAINST FRESHMEN

'Varsity Concentrates on Offensive Plays During Hour Battle.

Seeking to develop a punch in his offence, Coach Golembeski sent his Providence College 'Varsity squad through a one-hour scrimmage against the Freshman eleven yesterday afternoon. The first-string team concentrated entirely on its offensive plays and had possession of the ball during the entire hour of scrimmage.

Previous to the scrimmage the Friar line squad engaged in contact work, with an offensive line attempting to break through the defence and stop the ball-carrier. Gould, Shanahan and Ferrin, three of the many candidates Coach Golembeski has tried in his search for a capable punter, were sent through a punting drill.

During the actual scrimmage lineups meant nothing as players were sent in and taken out repeatedly. The team which started against the Freshmen consisted of Davis, Burdge, McCarthy, Feil, Lepre, Burns and Roberge on the forward wall, and Gould, Wright, Sloan and Katznelson in the backfield. Katznelson is being groomed on offence as he already possesses defensive ability. Another backfield which took part in the scrimmage included Landry, Healey, Shanahan and Rennick. Ted LeBlanc was sent in for Shanahan after a few plays and may be used as a halfback or fullback during the season ahead as the occasion demands.

The Freshman team, which also had many substitutions during the afternoon, more than held its own against the 'Varsity and the latter found the yearling line not easy to penetrate. When the first-string eleven took to aerials and long end sweeps it made more progress. After the scrimmage Coach Golembeski pointed out the errors made by the first-stringers and held a short period of contact work to give the players a chance to make corrections.

Joe Wright,

FRIARS LEAVE TODAY

Dominican Hopes Are High For Victory Over Rutgers

One of Heaviest Lines in Years and Fast, Capable Backfield Ready for Action.

Today marks the last practice for the Providence College Varsity football squad on their home field for this week as the squad leaves tonight for the trip to New Brunswick, N. J., where they will open their 1933 schedule against Rutgers.

Hopes of victory are high in the Dominican camp for they possess one of the heaviest lines in years and a fast, capable backfield. In spite of the fact that the Scarlet eleven defeated Franklin and Marshall last Saturday they are reported to have played below expectations. With veterans available for every position and a group of strong reserves ready for substitute duty the outlook for the Friars is good.

The perfecting of their play formations occupied the squad yesterday and the fact that each player was wearing the Black and White traveling uniform added a touch of realism to the scrimmaging. As the Friars will have a fairly light backfield this year passing will be an important part of their attack. Among those expected to have a major part in the aerial offence are Capt. Joseph Wright, Red Gould and Omer Landry. On the receiving end the Friars boast of a capable pair of ends in Oliver Roberge and Dexter Davis with Peter Gobis and Bert Skipp as replacements, only a few strides behind the regulars in ability.

Stalwarts on the line who have been standouts in other seasons and who are expected to star again for the Varsity are Bill Kutneski, one of the finest guards who have ever been developed at the Dominican institution, Charles Burdge, 212 pound right tackle, John Schott, veteran centre, Bill McCarthy, aggressive 200 pounder who plays guard, and George Boyle, first-string tackle on the '32 eleven.

Rutgers Passes Its Way to 21-0 Victory Over Providence, Chizmadia Setting Pace

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 7.—An improved Rutgers team defeated Providence today, 21 to 0. The Scarlet offense was greatly strengthened by the return of Al Chizmadia, veteran halfback.

Chizmadia was directly responsible for the home team's touchdown in the first period. After an exchange of punts Gould fumbled on his own 37-yard line and Twitchell recovered.

Chizmadia passed to Hemerda for twenty-seven yards, and after two ineffectual line plunges tossed the ball to Hemerda for thirteen yards and a score. Heenan kicked the goal.

Rutgers scored again in the second period after two drives had been repulsed by the Friars. Attempting to punt from his 20-yard line, Landry was smothered by the Scarlet's forward wall. The ball rolled into the end zone for a safety.

In the third quarter the home team counted six more points on a thirty-five-yard pass, Chizmadia to Hemerda, a thirty-yard pass from Frank to Hemerda and Bruni's plunge through centre.

In the final period Hirschhorn intercepted a forward pass on his 37-yard line and raced sixty-three yards for a touchdown.

The work of Hemerda and Chizmadia featured the Scarlet's play. Coach Tasker made use of forty-two men, practically his entire squad, in the course of the game.

Friars Fall 21 to 0 Before Strong Rutgers Aerial Game

Chizmadia Leads Scarlet to Triumph; Hirschhorn Makes 63-Yard Run.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 7.—The rejuvenated Rutgers team led by Al Chizmadia, shifty triple threat halfback recently declared eligible, defeated the Providence College eleven, 21 to 0, on Neilson Field here this afternoon. The Scarlet scored in each period, and its goal line was never in danger until the last minute. The Queensmen held successfully even then.

The Scarlet was only a slight favorite at game time, but was quick in showing its superiority. Chizmadia ran the opening kick-off back 25 yards, and the Queensmen had started the first of a series of rapid fire assaults on the Friars' goal that continued throughout the contest. With Len Frank, sub quarterback, leading the team like a veteran campaigner, Rutgers swept upstream and scored in the opening minutes of play. Two passes to Lou Hemerda, one from Frank and one from Chizmadia, featured the march, which terminated when Chizmadia whipped a 13-yard toss to Hemerda as the latter stood between the goal posts. Heenan converted with a drop kick.

Soon after scoring its first touchdown Rutgers began another offensive drive featured by a 28-yard pass, Chizmadia to DeMarest, which reached the Friars' one-yard line, where the latter held for downs as the first period ended.

Chizmadia threw another successful aerial early in the second quarter to DeMarest, who advanced the ball to the P. C. 11-yard line, where Chizmadia passed without success over the goal line.

Rutgers' next tally came when Al Twitchell led the entire scarlet line through to block Landry's kick for a safety behind the goal.

Rutgers took to aials again in the third period and soon after the kickoff reached the P. C. four yard line where the Friars held. Landry kicked back to the 35-yard line. The Chizmadia-DeMarest combination worked another aerial for a 23-yard gain and then Chizmadia circled end for a first down and Bruni crashed centre for the tally. Heenan's try for the point was wide.

A pass, Gould to Barbarito, brought the Dominicans to Rutgers' 27-yard line in the final period but when the Friars attempted another aerial Hirschhorn intercepted for Rutgers and he raced 63 yards for a touchdown ahead of fine interference. The try for the point was unsuccessful.

With second and third stringers in the Rutgers line-up, the Friars reached their opponents' one-yard line late in the game, but were held for downs.

Special to the Transcript:

Providence, Oct. —“Archie” Golembeski's blue-ribbon line and his pony backfield at Providence College is the next patient for Dr. Anderson at his Holy Cross football clinic next Saturday at Fitton Field in Worcester. “Archie,” whose real name is Anthony, doesn't expect his boys to defeat Dr. Anderson's team, which has been converted to Notre Dame tactics. For that matter, Golembeski didn't expect his boys to be sunk by Rutgers, 31-0, last week-end in the season's first tilt. With a backfield equal to his line, which is about the best in history at P. C., “Archie” would challenge the world. Under the circumstances, the Friars, for such are the players called at this sole Dominican school in the East, are having their troubles.

On Oct. 21 the Friars invade Springfield to do combat with the elderly physical students at the Y. M. C. A. College in that city and unless some bigger boys can be found to play in the backfield, the Friars must wait even longer for a victory. On Sunday, the week of Nov. 5, Niagara University comes to the local cycledrome and on Nov. 11 the City College of New York will be played in the “big town.” The schedule will close at Lowell, Mass., against the textile school in that city. It is doubtful if the Friars, for all their strong line players, can look forward to any “saap” games this season.

Unable to penetrate the Providence forward wall, a steel-like combination, Rutgers took to the air last Saturday and with a couple of six-foot, two-inch receivers, passed right over the heads of Golembeski's backs. Even when “Archie's” secondary was playing its positions correctly, Rutgers succeeded in completing forward passes. Late in the game at Brunswick, N. J., the Friars reached the one-yard line, as substitutes were pouring into the New Jersey lineup, but were held for downs and the game was over.

Brilliant in the Line

Golembeski has the dubious satisfaction of having some eye-wideners playing on his team but, unfortunately, these stars are not scoring touchdowns. For instance, Bill McCarthy, of this city, six-foot, one-inch guard, weighing 209 pounds, and Bill Kutniewski, also of Providence, square-rigged 192-pounder, also a guard, turned the eyes of the Rutgers coach green with envy. After the game the Rutgers mentor, Warner Tasker, said he would swap the victory for McCarthy and Kutniewski and, with them in the Rutgers lineup, he'd play anybody in the country. Both Bills played together in the line at Commercial High in this city and both have been playing for two years at P. C. Kutniewski is also a basketball star at this great basketball college, claimant for the New England court championship last winter. McCarthy is a former tackle.

The tackles are also gems, particularly Charlie Burge of Warren, this State, biggest man of the big P. C. giants on the line. Charlie, who weighs 212 pounds and stands 6 feet, 4 inches high, never played football in the hamlet of Warren, for the game is unknown there. But he won a position in his sophomore year and he's still going strong as a senior. Charlie is the boy who created such a furore when in his debut as a college pitcher he twirled a no-hit game against Mass. State. The other tackle is George Boyle of Passaic, N. J., a former all-scholastic lineman at his local high school. George, weighing 200 pounds and an inch over 6 feet, is playing his third season on the gridiron.

Another veteran is located at center, John Schott of Newark, a 180-pound boy, who will alternate with Abe Feit, who has developed the past season. The ends next Saturday at Worcester will be Dexter Davis, 10 pounds, and Oliver Roberge, 195. This last-named boy is one of the finest all-round athletes in Rhode Island. He is, serving his third year in football and he is also a letterman on the crack basketball squad. He stands 6 feet, 2 inches and comes from Bristol, Conn. He is varsity catcher and, between times, studies enough to be a ranking student. Davis, a Negro boy from East Providence and Kent's Hill Seminary, has played two years previous to this campaign. He is also very tall and, like Roberge, stands out prominently as a target for the forward passers.

Friars Who Will Tote Ball Against Holy Cross Saturday

Changes Due in Backfield

There will be a couple of changes in the backfield before next Saturday. In search of a better selection of plays, Golembeski will remove Carroll Gould as quarterback, and will start Omer Landry. Gould, who was the outstanding schoolboy player three years ago in Rhode Island when he scampered for Cranston High, has not continued his brilliancy in college, due, perhaps, to a knee injury contracted on schoolboy gridirons, whereas Landry, from Central Falls, has been his equal at calling signals and even surpasses the former Cranston comet running back punts. It was Landry who turned in the longest run of the 1932 season, catching a punt to gallop 70 yards for a touchdown against Boston University.

Captain Joe Wright of Staten Island, N. Y., brother of Bill at Pennsylvania, and Tony Barbarito of New Haven will be the halfbacks. Cap'n Joe is the star blocking back of the outfit, despite his meager 158 pounds. Joe, who is only 21 years of age, is one of the youngest college captains of the year. Barbarito is the fastest member of the squad. As a schoolboy at New Haven he established the 220-yard record in the Yale interscholastic meet. Tony won fame as a ball carrier as a sophomore; he is now a 175-pound halfback.

Charlie Rennick of this city replaces Irving Katznelson as fullback for next Saturday. Rennick is a line crasher. Katznelson, a former guard, is a better man on defense. Golembeski has decided to forfeit defense for a whirl at offense next Saturday, in line with "Pop" Warner's slogan that the best defense is the best offense, although "Archie" was a regular of the late Knute Rockne's summer school.

That game at Worcester next Saturday should be a thrilling exhibition of good line play, although Dr. Anderson's Crusaders will hold a decided edge in backfield balance and power. This week Golembeski has been drilling on pass defense and hopes his team will make a better showing in this department at Worcester, although he is at a loss to know how to instruct his 5-foot 6-inch backs to prevent much taller players from grabbing passes. In this connection the new fullback, Rennick, stands 6 feet high and weighs 190 pounds.

HOLY CROSS

DEFEATS FRIARS

BY 14 TO 0

Providence Gives Holy Cross Scare

Crusaders Lead Friars Only by Two Points at Half---Purple Eleven
Wins Out 14 to 0

WORCESTER, Oct. 14—Nursing an undernourished two-point lead at the half, Holy Cross came back in the final periods at Fitton Field here today to score a pair of touchdowns and beat a stubborn eleven from Providence College, 14 to 0. For awhile it appeared as though the epidemic of fumbleitis in the Crusader backfield would possibly allow the underdog from Providence to pull out with a victory.

PLENTY OF SCARES

There was real reason for worry on the part of the Holy Cross followers who on more than one occasion sat with fast beating hearts to watch their gallant favorites fight furiously inside their own 10-yard strip to prevent the Friars from continuing their marches.

For Coach Dr. Anderson, it was a very good ball game to get out of the way. His Purple team was having one of those days when things went along smoothly for a space and then the whole thing would explode with a crash. Holy Cross wasn't particularly up to snuff. The backs were not picking their spots and sometimes the line made no spaces. Defensively Holy Cross wouldn't get clicking until the Friars were ready to enter the scoring column.

Neat Running Backs

Providence had some beautiful running ball carriers, especially Landry and Shanahan. The way they invited tackles and then hipped clear put the Crusaders to the severest kind of tests in tackling. Right at the very start Shanahan, behind some fine interference, cracked his left end for 15 yards and Landry, two plays later, took a shot at his right flank and with his teammates functioning perfectly, he raced down a path for 50 yards to the Holy Cross 10-yard line before he was run offside.

Right there Holy Cross took command and after four plays Providence surrendered the ball on the Holy Cross 25-yard line. Such runs as these helped the Friars to pile up 204 yards on the ground against 173 Holy Cross made, even though the Crusaders made a total of 12 first downs to five by rushing.

Air Attack Better

The Holy Cross air attack was better perfected as five out of seven were successful for 71 yards, while three out of eleven for Providence went for 46 yards.

Providence recovered four Holy Cross fumbles on the Holy Cross 32-yard line and 35-yard line, and on its own 17-yard line in the first half, and recovered another on its own 23-yard line in the second half. On another occasion Morris flopped on a Friar fumble on their 20-yard line, but fumbled on the very next play, and Providence recovered. In spots the fans didn't know whether they were watching football or basketball the way the ball was being tossed around.

After that first threat of the Friars, the Holy Cross attack put on its prettiest march, and without losing the ball it went from its 25-yard line clear down to the Providence three-yard line, Herlihy, Hoban and Cusick featuring the logging.

Providence Stand

Providence put on a great stand and took the ball on downs, but Landry muffed the pass when he intended to kick out, and he was smothered by a stack of Purple jerseys for a safety. Cusick's fumble gave Providence a shot down on the Holy Cross 30-yard line, and a first down was chalked up to the 15-yard line, where the Crusaders again stiffened and held downs. Britt later fumbled and Rennick recovered for Providence on the Holy Cross 35-yard line.

A pass to Landry earned a first down on the 12-yard line and again the Friars threatened but dropped three yards and gave up the ball. Late in the half Britt was earning a first down on the Providence 17-yard line when he fumbled and the Friars recovered, leaving Holy Cross with two lean points going into the rest session.

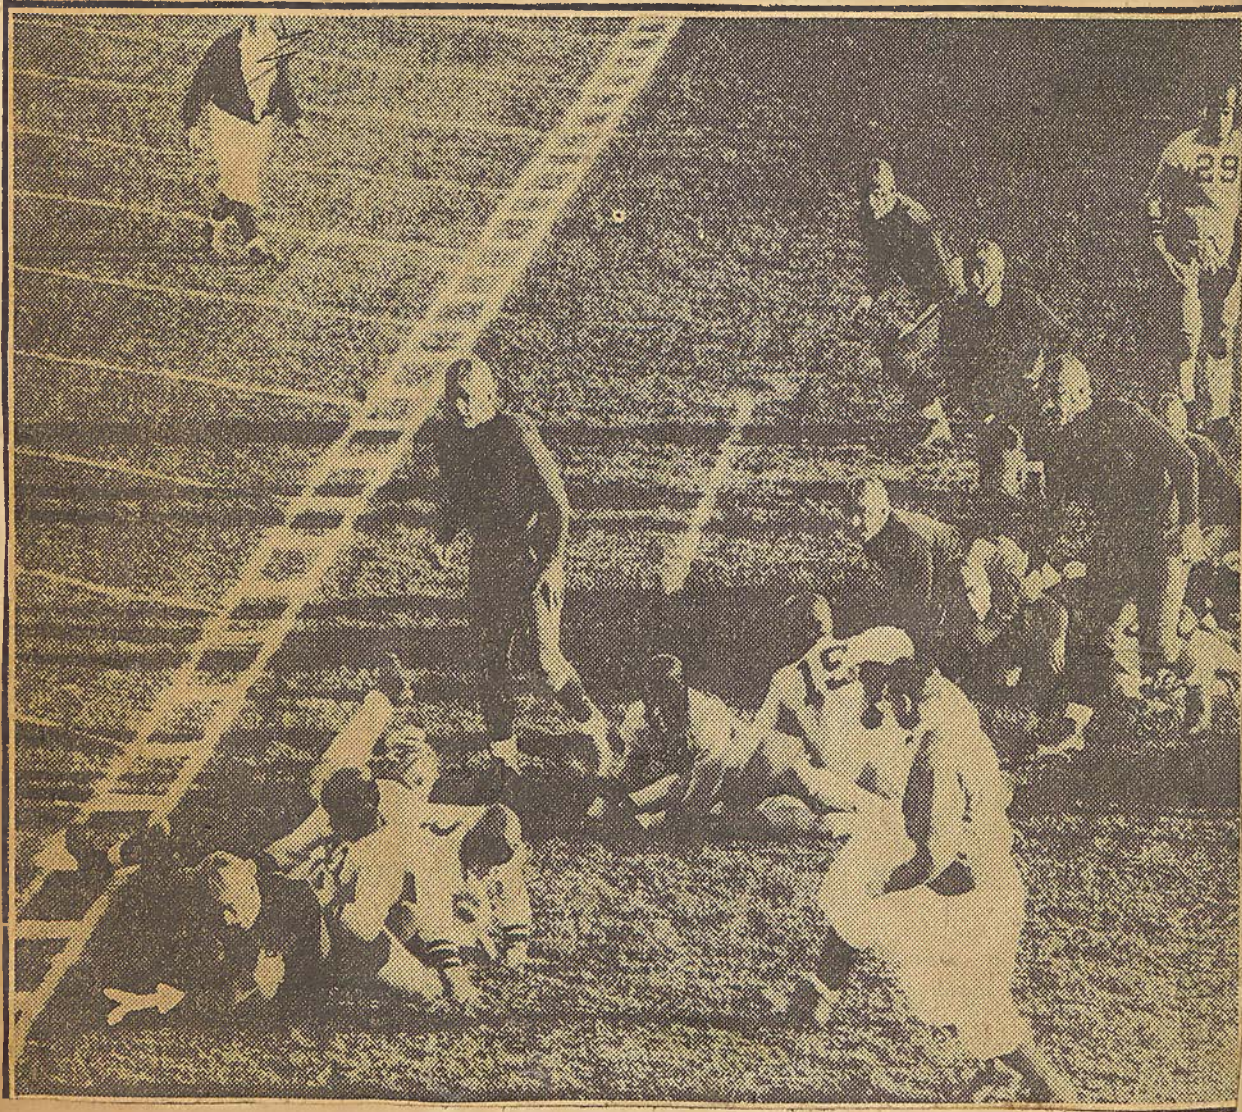

Tables Reversed

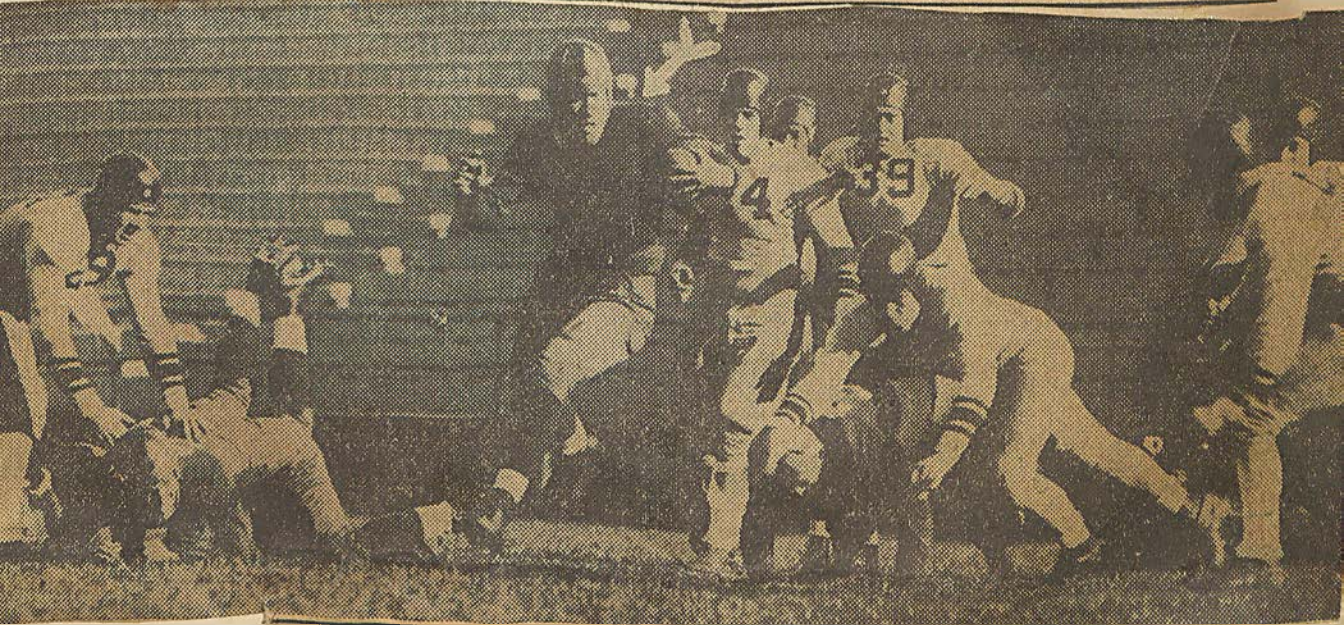

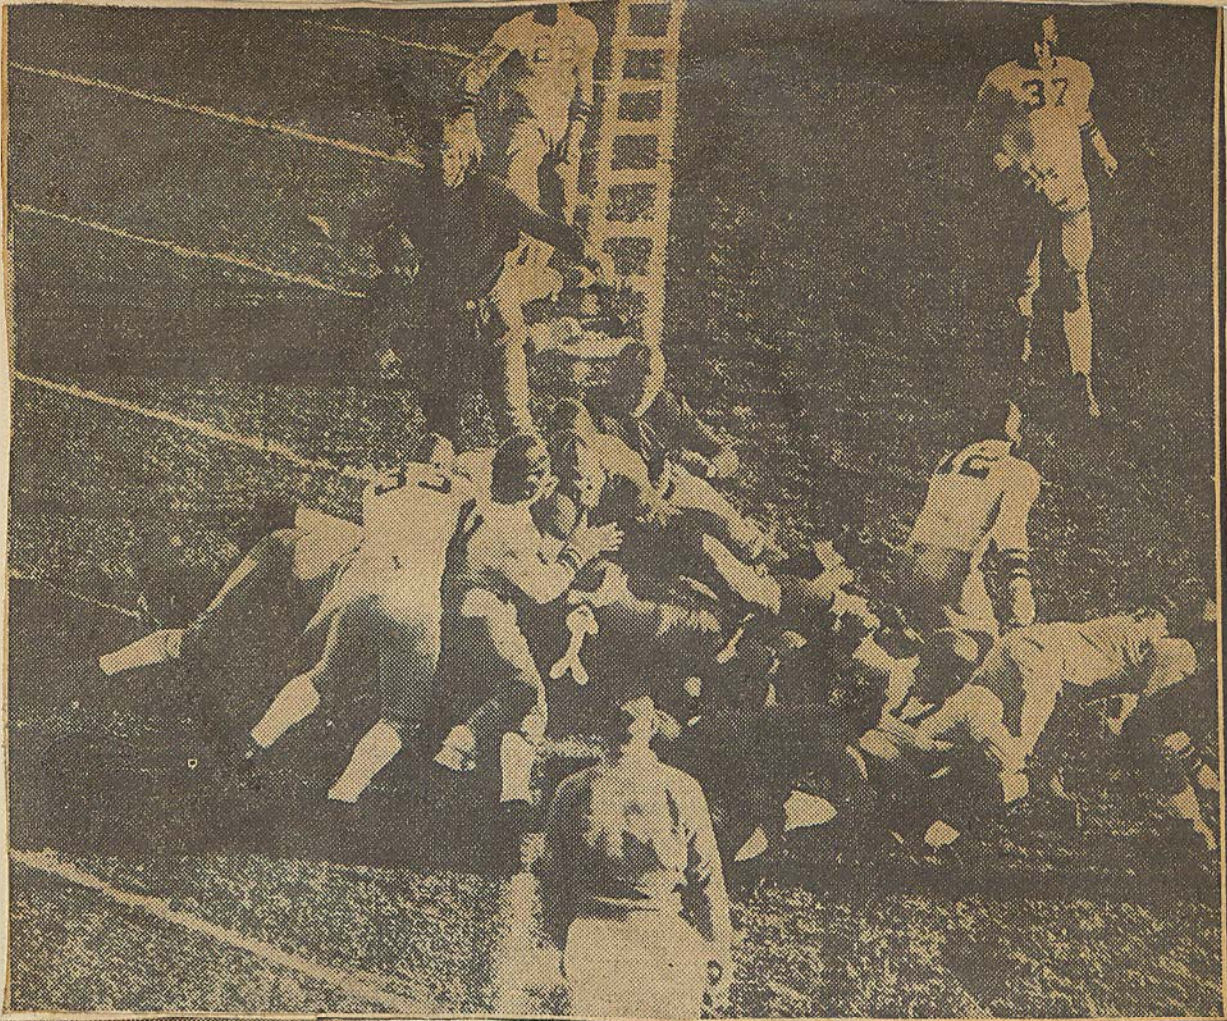

The tables were reversed early in the third period when Shanahan fumbled and Morris recovered for Holy Cross on the Friars' 20-yard line. The roars went to moans when Morris fumbled in turn. Holy Cross marched back the kick and Captain Reiss took a short pass over centre for a first down inside the five-yard line. It took four hard smashes before the Purple backs could get the ball across for the initial touchdown. The stubborn Friar defence earned plenty of glory in that gallant stand and it was the hardest earned score imaginable.

A long pass, Hobin to Tom O'Connor, put Holy Cross in the way of its final touchdown when O'Connor made a pretty grab while surrounded by foes on the 27-yard line. Britt swept an end on a reverse to the five-yard line and in four more severe plunges the Friars sagged just sufficiently to be scored upon. Before the final whistle blew Hoban got away a 70-yard punt that helped feature the last period.

DOWNNS FRIARS 14-0-

Holy Cross Beats Friars 14-0 in Hard-Fought Game

Crusaders Halt Three Strong
Dominican Drives for Touchdown.

Fitton Field, Worcester, Mass., Oct. 14.
—Utilizing its superior man-power efficiently, the Holy Cross football team defeated the Providence College eleven, 14 to 0, here today before 8000 spectators, but the Crusaders received a real scare before they chalked up their third straight victory.

Playing in marked contrast to their debut last week, the Friars turned in an excellent performance, and in the final analysis, it was only the more capable Holy Cross reserves who repelled their brilliant bid for triumph. The Crusaders received their sternest test of the season and they were fully extended to collect their total points made on two touchdowns and a safety.

It was only by the narrowest of margins that the Crusaders managed to keep the Friars from crossing their goal line, as on more than one occasion a Dominican player broke loose from scrimmage headed for an apparent touchdown only to have a member of the Holy Cross secondary halt his progress.

Three times during the first half the Friars were within scoring distance, reaching the Purple 10-yard stripe on two occasions and the nine-yard mark on another. But each time that the Dominicans threatened their goal line, the Crusaders rose to defensive heights.

It was during the savagely played opening half that the Dominicans made their almost successful challenge for victory. The line was charging hard and furiously and the back were knifing through the tackles and sweeping the ends for long gains, but this early gesture sapped their energy. The Crusaders bided their time and made their kill in the second half when they scored their two touchdowns.

The two Holy Cross touchdowns came in rapid succession, the first being scored late in the third period, and the second produced early in the fourth after an extended drive from the third period. The initial score came after a 46-yard march with Nicholas Morris, Sophomore half-back, going over from the one-yard line, and the second followed a 63-yard drive with the pile-driving Edward Britt also scoring from the yard mark.

The Crusaders made a safety in the first period when Omer Landry, Friar quarterback, fumbled the ball while attempting to punt, allowing Peter Lingua, 238-pound tackle, to crash through and down him behind the Friar goal line. Just previous to this safety, the Friars made a gallant defensive stand, preventing the Crusaders from scoring after the latter had had a first down on their three-yard line.

Not only were the Friars clicking offensively, but their goal line stands thrilled the large gathering and brought dismay to the Holy Cross bench. It was only after they had put up courageous defensive fronts that the brawny Dominican forwards surrendered two touchdowns.

The Crusaders had first down on the P. C. one-yard line while they were manufacturing their first touchdown, but it took them four downs to score. As a matter of fact, Holy Cross utilized five downs to cross the goal line as on one play, and that was fourth down, both teams were declared off-side when it appeared that the Crusaders' bid had been halted, offering the Purple another chance to score which they made good.

Again on their second touchdown drive, the Crusaders had to rush the ball four times to score from the five-yard line after having first down.

While the Friars stole the show with their excellent play, the Crusaders turned in a good all-round game. They acquired power and precision in their attack as the game progressed, and in the second half, Holy Cross had a team on the field working mid-season form.

It was Britt who turned in the outstanding backfield performance for Holy Cross. He relieved Joe Cusick at full-back at the outset of the second period and he made an immediate impression on the Friars. He was good for yardage every time he carried the ball, and he certainly hit the Dominican line with savage thrusts. He was by far the most consistent ground gainer on the field, and a driving powerhouse in action. He made two 21-yard runs, one of 15, two of 10, two of eight, and he ran back a punt 14 yards on another occasion. It was his consistent gains which paved the way for the second Holy Cross score.

Daniel Herlihy and Cusick were other Holy Cross backs who stood out. For the Friars, Henry Shanahan, who was making his first Varsity start, was the best back carrier. He got off to a number of fine runs. Omer Landry was a constant threat with his excellent broken field running, and in the first period it was a 47-yard run around end which brought the Friars to the 10-yard line. Landry appeared headed for a score on this dash, but Herlihy forced him outside on the 10. Bill Kutniewski, Abe Feit and Bill McCarthy provided the Friars with a tower of strength defensively.

* * *

The Friars started with a bang, unleashing an offensive that caught the Crusaders napping. Landry caught the opening punt on the 15-yard line and ran it back to the 22. On the first play from scrimmage, Shanahan slashed off tackle for 20 yards. Wick gained a yard and then Landry skirted end for 47 yards, being stopped on the 10.

The Friars appeared headed for a score, but an offside penalty spoiled their attempt and Holy Cross took the ball on downs on its 25-yard line when Rennick was thrown for a 10-yard loss while attempting to make a pass.

Here the Crusaders started a drive that carried them to the P. C. one-yard mark, but the 74-yard march was halted when the Friars put up a solid front. A fumble by Cusick, which was recovered by Shanahan on Holy Cross's 39-yard line gave the Friars another scoring opportunity late in the first period, but the advance was halted nine yards from the Crusader goal.

Another Purple fumble, this time by Britt, found Rennick recovering on the H. C. 36 to give the Dominicans another scoring chance in the second period, but after a fine pass, Wright to Landry, had advanced them to the 10-yard mark, the ball was lost on downs. In the second period, a fine runback of a punt by John O'Connor and consistent gains by Britt advanced the Crusaders to the Providence 19, but a fumble by Britt prevented any scoring.

After an exchange of punts in the third period, Holy Cross started towards its first tally, starting from the P. C. 46. A 10-yard aerial, Hobin to O'Connor, started the march which ended with Morris scoring.

After receiving the kick-off, the Crusaders started again towards the P. C. goal and this time, the march started from their own 37. It was Britt's ball carrying, aided by a 13-yard aerial, Hobin to O'Connor, which accounted for the score.

The Crusaders made 17 first downs to eight by Providence.

HOLY CROSS . 14

FRIARS . . . 0

Worcester, Oct. 14.—The strong Purple Crusaders of Holy Cross defeated the Providence Friars here this afternoon 14 to 0.

The game was a fine contest with several snappy forward passes featuring the play.

For the first half Providence held the Crusaders to a 2-0 score. That tally coming as a result of a fumble. In the third period however, the Friars weakened from the heavy attack and the Cross pushed over two touchdowns. Coach Golembeski, a Holy Cross alumnus, had reason to be proud of his Friars today. They put up a stiff battle against a stronger eleven. The game held the interest of the large crowd until the final whistle.

FIRST PERIOD

Providence won the toss and chose to defend the west goal. Lingua kicked off for the Cross to Landry, who ran the ball from his 10-yard line to his 27.

An end run by Shanahan and another end run by Landry behind perfect interference gave Providence first down on the Crusaders' 10-yard line. The 47-yard run was a spectacular one. Curly drove him out of bounds and prevented a score. Capt. Wright tried to circle left end and made five yards, but his team was off side and as penalized five yards. Another attempt by Wright was nipped by the Cross first defence. A third attempt ended in the same manner. Providence failed in two forward passes and lost the ball to the Cross on the 25-yard line.

Cusick on his first try hit the line for five yards. He made it first down for the Cross. The same player made eight yards through right tackle. With the ball in mid-field, Cusick was stopped at the line, Herlihy carried the ball to the Friars' 25-yard line.

Hobin made it first down on the Friars' 14-yard line. Herlihy went through right tackle for six yards.

Cusick hit the line for two yards. Herlihy made it first down on the Providence three-yard line. Hobin tried to go through right tackle, but was stopped at the line.

Herlihy was also held at the line. Another attempt by Hobin carried the ball to the one yard line. Cusick hit the line on the fourth down, but lost the ball to Providence. Landry fumbled the pass and a safety was scored by Holy Cross.

Score:

Holy Cross 2

Prov. College 0

Davis punted for Providence to the 25-yard line.

Cusick fumbled and Providence recovered on the Cross 40-yard line. Rennick circled the left end and made 12 yards. Shanahan made eight yards and Rennick made it first down on the Cross 15-yard line.

Moran replaced Renz at right guard for Holy Cross. Shanahan made five yards around right end.

A forward pass, Landry to Wright failed and the Cross got the ball on its own 10-yard line.

SECOND PERIOD

O'Connor replaces Curran at quarterback for Holy Cross. Morris replaces Hurlihy at right half. Janiak replaced Cusick at full. The Cross kicked to Landry at mid-field.

Providence again punted to O'Connor on the Cross 20-yard line. Britt made five yards, but was stopped by Shanahan. A fumble by Britt was recovered by Providence.

Ricardi replaced Capt. Reiss at left end for Holy Cross. Landry made two tries at the line, but was stopped. A perfect forward pass, Wright to Landry, gave Providence first down on the Cross 12-yard line.

Harvey again stopped Landry on an end run. A forward pass was incomplete.

Barbarite replaced Shanahan for Providence.

Providence lost the ball on downs when Barbarito failed on an end run.

Britt made it first down for the Cross on its 39-yard line. Three tries at the Providence line netted only one yard and the Cross kicked to Landry on his own 20-yard line.

Morandos placed Griffin at centre for Holy Cross.

A penalty of five yards was imposed on Holy Cross.

Landry kicked to Tom O'Connor, who carried the ball to the Providence 42-yard line.

Britt went through for 20 yards.

Burns replaced Boyle at tackle and Krielsen replaced Burge at right tackle.

Three tries at the line netted the Cross only four yards. On fourth down a forward pass was incomplete, but Providence was off side and penalized five yards.

Gould replaced Landry at quarter.

Britt fumbled and Katznelson recovered for Providence. A fumble by Barbarite cost Providence 10 yards. Gould kicked to mid-field.

The Cross tried an end run and lost five yards.

A forward pass was intercepted by Gould. Schott replaced Feit at centre for Providence. The half ended with the ball in Providence possession in mid-field.

THIRD PERIOD

Shanahan replaced Barbarite at halfback for Providence. Providence kicked to the 20-yard line, where Hobin took the ball and carried it back 25 yards.

O'Connor kicked to Landry on the Providence 15-yard line. Shanahan fumbled and it was recovered by Moran on the Providence 20-yard line.

Morris fumbled on the next play and Davis recovered for Providence.

Landry punted to the Cross 40-yard line.

Sokolowski replaced Rennick at fullback for Providence.

Failing to complete a forward pass, the Cross kicked to Landry on his own 20-yard line.

Three attempts to hit the line failed and Landry kicked to Morris at mid-field. A forward pass, Hobin to O'Connor, gave the Cross first down on the Providence 30-yard line. Providence offside gave the Cross first down on the 19-yard line. Three shots at the Providence line gave the Cross only four yards.

A forward pass was completed and the Cross took the ball on four-yard line.

Three tries at the line failed and on the fourth down Morris went over for a touchdown. Harvey's try for goal failed.

Score:

Holy Cross 8

Barbarito took the kick and carried it back to his 30-yard line.

Chokolowski made it first down. Landry replaced Wright. Gould kicked to Morris on his 25-yard line. Britt made it first down on his own 37-yard line. Hobin punted offside and Providence took the ball in mid-field. Gobis went in for Roberge.

A forward pass, Gould to Sokowski, made it first down for Providence on Cross 40-yard line. An offside cost the Friars five yards.

Gould punted after two forward passes were incomplete. Cross took the ball on its 22-yard line. On a spinner play, Britt made five yards.

A 15-yard penalty was imposed on Cross for holding.

Britt again tried the spinner play and made 15 yards. Hobin kicked to Providence 14-yard line. A forward was dropped by Barbarito. A forward, Gould to Barbarito was fumbled and recovered by Landry, netting 12 yards.

Landry circled the end fro six yards. Gould kicked to Tom O'Connor who ran it back to midfield.

Britt went through the line and was headed for a touchdown when brought down by Gould.

A 15-yard penalty was imposed on the Holy Cross, bringing the ball back to mid-field. A forward pass by Cross ended the game.

FRIARS ARE LAUDED FOR PLAY AGAINST HOLY CROSS TEAM

Experts Aver Dominicans Should Meet with Success in Remaining Games.

Football experts sitting in the press coop atop the stands at Fitton Field last Saturday were unanimous in their opinion that Holy Cross had faced the best team that Providence College has sent to Worcester since the inception of the nine-year warfare between these Jesuit and Dominican rivals.

The experts went to the game expecting to watch the Crusaders run roughshod over the Friars and obtain a perspective on Holy Cross for the future big games which await the Crusaders, but instead they were treated to an excellent, hard fought and closely played football game.

They saw a Dominican team, which made a woeful showing against Rutgers in its opener, rise to great heights to hold a strong Crusader team on even terms through half the game and they saw the Holy Cross eleven extended to the limit to make its two touchdowns after the Friars weakened a little in the second half, a natural let down after their heroic efforts at the outset.

* * *

Praise came from many quarters to the Friars after their valiant struggle with the Crusaders. Fred Belisle, who is in charge of press arrangements at Holy Cross, said: "That was the best Providence College eleven I have ever seen and now that it has played its two hardest games, it should go through the remaining games on its schedule successfully."

Arthur Sampson, writing in the Boston Herald, said: "It must be admitted that Providence had a good, substantial set of forwards, ably supported by the close, hard-tackling backers-up. The defensive features of the game were the two goal-line stands made by the good Providence line."

W. A. Whitcomb said in the Boston Globe: "Outstanding credit would seem to belong to the Providence College line throughout the game defensively."

Writing in the Boston Post, J. W. Mooney said: "There was real reason for worry on the part of the Holy Cross followers, who on more than one occasion sat with fast beating hearts to watch their gallant favorites fight furiously inside their own 10-yard stripe to prevent the Friars from continuing their marches."

"Providence had some beautiful running ball carriers, especially Landry and Shanahan. The way they invited tackles and then hipped clear put the Crusaders through the severest kind of tests in tackling."

Holy Cross won and deserved victory but the manner in which the Friars extended the Crusaders to win was heartening to the students and the team's followers. It was only by a hairline that Providence missed scoring on two occasions, and as these opportunities came early in the game, the scores, if they had been made, would have given the Friars a psychological advantage that probably would have weighed heavily in their favor during the remainder of the contest.

It was only a desperate flying tackle by Herlihy that stopped the advance of Omer Landry in the first period. It appeared that the little quarterback was off to a score, but Herlihy just managed to force him outside at the 10-yard mark. Despite this the Dominicans still had a chance to score, but an offside penalty after Capt. Joe Wright had advanced to the four-yard line, killed their hopes.

Henry Shanahan, who made his first Varsity start, excelled in the backfield for the Friars. This diminutive youth was at home in slashing off the tackles and sweeping the ends, and a bright football future looms for him. One of the mistakes of the F. C. quarterback was in not using more end sweeps with Shanahan the ball carrier.

Another Friar who was making his first start and who excelled was Abe Feit at centre. He was full of fight and stopped many Holy Cross plays. Feit most likely will hold the centre berth permanently. Bill Kutniewski, who is the best guard in Providence College history, turned in another excellent performance and his play drew forth words of praise from the experts. Bill McCarthy was another who did well in his new guard assignment.

Today the Friars start preparations for another hard game, as on Saturday they will journey to Springfield to play the Springfield College eleven which gave Brown a hard battle. This should be an excellent game between two highly capable small college elevens.

"MAN-MOUNTAIN"

CHARLIE BURDGE.

HERE'S "man-mountain" of the Providence College football squad that faces Springfield here Saturday. He scales a mere 212 pounds and stands 6 feet 4 inches. A candidate for All-American honors by his great tackle play.

Maroons Have 190-Pound Line to Crash Saturday

Forward Wall of Friars Needs to Bow* to No Other in New England; Burdye, Tackle, Weighs 210, Stands Six Feet, Four Inches.

Special to The Springfield Union.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 18—Still mindful of the scoreless battle staged on Pratt Field just a year ago, the Providence College varsity eleven, a veteran aggregation which knows its football, started intensive work here yesterday in preparation for the Springfield encounter this week-end. No respite was granted after the gruelling and thrilling encounter with Holy Cross last Saturday, except that the first string players were allowed to take matters rather easily while the scrubs engaged in contact work with the freshman squad.

Against the Crusaders the Providence team stood out in magnificent fashion, and its defensive play was such as to win the commendation of sports writers throughout the Massachusetts area who sat in at Fitton Field and watched the Friars outplay the highly touted Anderson-coached outfit for the greater part of the tilt. The Friars, lacking an offense against Rutgers in the season's opener, suddenly found new life against the Crusaders and outrushed the Purple collegians until late in the game when the strenuous uphill battle forced the local team to weaken long enough to permit two big Holy Cross scores to be chalked up. At that the Crusaders had to take five smashes at the line from the four-yard mark before they were able to get the ball over for a score.

Next Saturday Providence will again be ready to demonstrate that it has one of the finest small college elevens in the East, and a line that need bow to no other forward wall in the New England district. If the Springfield backs can break through the Friar's giant frontier which boasts an average weight of 190 pounds they will have to set a dazzling pace. Only big Ed Britt, 190-pound Crusader full-back, was able to make any headway against the Friars last Saturday, while Rutgers was completely at a loss in trying to gain by rushing.

Providence will march into Springfield with pretty much the same chub which gave such a splendid exhibition on Pratt Field last fall. Roberge, the Bristol husky who has added a few pounds and now scales 198, will be at one end, while Dexter Davis, brilliant colored wingman will be his running mate. In Charlie Burdye, whom Les Hart, Colgate coach, terms as an all-American if ever there was one, and George Boyle, Passaic husky, the Friars have a sweet pair of tackles. Burdye, the big man of the Providence squad, stands 6.4 and weighs 210; while Boyle falls short of his weight by 10 pounds and of his height by three inches.

Bill McCarthy, local youngster, who made his mark as a tackle two years ago and who was used as a sub last fall, has blossomed forth in a new role and now stands out as a brilliant guard. Weighing 208 and stretching over the six-foot mark without trouble, McCarthy has added the one link necessary to make the Friar center a veritable iron-clad fort. Bill Kutniewski, flanking the pivot post on the other side of the line is a veteran of two seasons. Kutniewski was rated as the best griddy to show on Fitton Field last week-end.

Jack Schott, senior center from Newark may be forced to give way this Saturday to Abe Felt of Patterson. Felt, a junior saw some action as a sub center last year, but last week-end he drew his first major start in the Cross assignment, and his defensive play against the Crusaders is still a topic of conversation in Worcester and Providence.

Capable Friar Guard

Bill Kutniewski, who is rated as the best guard in Providence College football history, continued his excellent play against Holy Cross last Saturday, and who is expected to turn in another fine performance against Springfield College at Springfield next Saturday.

Friars Seek First Victory Over Springfield Today

Two Fine Small College Elevens to Battle It Out; Indians Slight Favorites.

Back into their own class after making heroic but losing efforts to conquer big game, the Providence and Springfield college football teams will meet at Pratt College, Springfield, Mass., today in the sixth game of their series.

Rated on a par with the best small college elevens in New England, the Friars and the Indians should produce a close and interesting game. Both played excellent football against Brown and Holy Cross, and although defeated both came out of their respective games with a fair share of glory after throwing real scares into the camps of their more highly rated adversaries.

Providence will be seeking its first victory over Springfield today, as in the five games between them the Indians have won three games and two have been scoreless ties. One of the deadlock games occurred last season after a gruelling, hard-fought battle.

The Indians will enter the game slight favorites to win, but a Providence victory will be no upset. Springfield has an unusually strong backfield, headed by Capt. Joe Shields, who gave Brown many anxious moments last week. The Bear coaches are still singing the praises of Shields and today he will be the man whom the Dominicans will watch closely.

Springfield has another star back in George Govoni, the 170-pound fullback, who made considerable yardage against Brown. Sid Hughes is a fine field general and W. Brown, the right halfback, is a good blocking back.

Against Springfield's flashy backfield, the Friars will pit a heavy, hard charging line and a pony backfield, built upon the fine ball carrying ability of Omer Landry, the little quarterback, and Henry Shanahan, the 160-pound halfback and the team's latest find. Landry and Shanahan made brilliant runs against the Crusaders, and if they shake loose today, Springfield will find itself in trouble.

Providence will take the field today with a new fullback, John Sloan, former Cranston high star, who will replace the injured Charlie Rennick. This will be Sloan's first Varsity start, but he has seen considerable service as a reserve. The loss of Rennick will be keenly felt as he turned in a good game against Holy Cross, both offensively and defensively, and his 190 pounds will be sadly missed in the backfield. Sloan weighs 170 pounds.

As a result of Rennick's loss, the Friar backfield will average only 159 pounds, nine less than Springfield, but in the line the Dominicans will have a big advantage, averaging 196 pounds to 179 for Springfield.

With the exception of Sloan, the Friars will take the field with the same line up as they did against Holy Cross. Ollie Roberge and Dexter Davis will be at the ends, Charlie Roberge and George Boyle at the tackles, Bill Kutniewski and Bill McCarthy at the guards and Abe Feit at centre.

Feit made his first varsity start last Saturday, winning the post because Jack Schott, regular centre last season, was injured. Feit turned in such a good job that it is likely he will be the regular pivotman hereafter.

* * *

Davis and Roberge, the ends, will get a real workout today as the Indians aim their offensive at the wings, and they were successful with their end sweeps against Brown on Saturday. The Friars have two good, rangy wingmen in Davis and Roberge, and if they play their usual games, the Springfield backs will not find it easy to put them out of play.

The Friars showed a weak defence for aerals against both Rutgers and Holy Cross. Employing a 7-2-2 formation on the defence, with the backs playing dangerously close to the line, the Friars left themselves easy prey for Holy Cross aerals last Saturday and it was fortunate for them that the Crusaders did not try an abundance of passes, as when Holy Cross did resort to aerial tactics they invariably hit their mark.

* * *

During the past five days the Friar coaches have been attempting to strengthen the Friars' aerial defence and late yesterday afternoon, when final preparations for the game were being made, the coaches were still endeavoring to perfect their team's defence against passes.

Defeated by both Rutgers and Holy Cross in two starts, the Friars will be seeking their first victory today. With the two big games out of the way, the Dominican players hope to capture the four remaining games on their schedule and they are confident that their victory run will start with Springfield as the first victim.

Lighter Springfield Team Is Slight Favorite to Win

Maroon Will Be Outweighed 19 Pounds to a Man in Most Important Home Contest Today but Stronger
Offensive Gives It Pre-Game Edge.

By HAROLD W. HEINZ.

Expecting to be outweighed 19 pounds to a man in the line, the Springfield College football team enters its most important home game of the season, that with Providence College, with its full strength available this afternoon at Pratt Field. Despite the fact it will have to give away considerable poundage to the Friars the Maroons are a slight favorite to register a victory over the veteran eleven from the Clam City. The kickoff is scheduled for 2.30 o'clock.

Heavy Line.

From wing to wing the Friars have a group of fast-charging forwards who either tip the beam at more than the 200-pound figure or just fall short of the mark. Charles Burdge, 212 pounds, Bill McCarthy, 208, and George Boyle, 200, are the giants of the Friars. Burdge is considered All-American timber.

The experienced Providence line, no doubt, will cause Springfield, making its second appearance on a three-game home slate, considerable trouble, but it seems to be the consensus that if the Maroons' running attack fails to dent the formidable visiting line then the overhead game will be gambled with.

The Maroons have had considerable success with their aerial attack, which the institution was noted for back in the old days. It was a forward pass that tied the score with Brown last week only to have the Bruno-nians come back later with the score that resulted in Springfield suffering its first setback of the season. Previous to the Brown defeat the Maroons had disposed of East Stroudsburg and Allegheny without having their goal-line crossed.

In Capt. Joe Shields and Syd Hughes, both triple threats, the Hill team has two dependables for heaving the pigskin. Charles Charton, a reserve quarterback, is the best passer on the outfit but he was erratic on his only other appearance at Pratt Field. If he is called upon to open up with his specialties this afternoon, and he is clicking, his aerials will be a treat for the eyes and there are expected to be plenty in the stands since the game has the qualities to draw a bumper turnout.

This Providence squad, which has something like 20 lettermen, as compared to the Maroons' 11, has a starting line that averages 196 pounds, which is plenty of poundage. Springfield's forwards average 177. The back fields are more evenly matched, however, with the Friars registering about 161 pounds and Springfield 169.

MAROONS BEAT PROVIDENCE BY SCORE OF 7 TO 0

Local Collegians Work In Third Period Gives Them Victory

Springfield college defeated the Providence college eleven, 7 to 0, in the game played on the Pratt field gridiron this afternoon before about 4000 fans. An intercepted pass in the third period paved the way for the only score of the game.

First Period Punting Duel

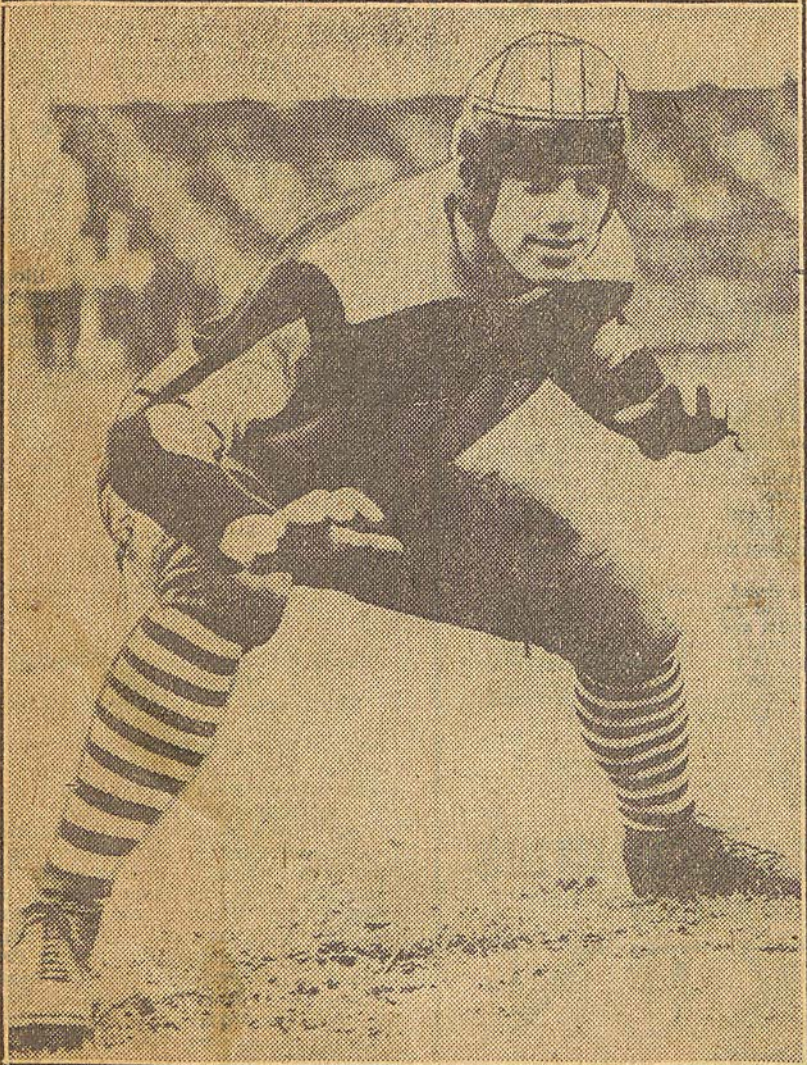

The first period was a punting duel between Hughes of Springfield and Landry of Providence. Midway in this period Hughes got oc a beautiful punt from midfield, which was grounded by a Springfield player on the visitors' one-yard line. Providence immediately kicked out of danger. The teams battled up and down in midfield with Springfield having a slight edge in its running attack. Providence took to the air on four different occasions during this period, but was unable to complete a pass as the alert Springfield backs knocked them all down.

Springfield Scores in Third

Springfield scored near the end of the third period after an intercepted pass. McNeil, right tackle for Springfield, intercepted a Providence pass on the Friar 40-yard line and raced to the two-yard stripe before he was pulled down by Kutniewski. Capt Joe Shields then smashed the line for a one-yard gain to put the ball on the one-yard line. Shields again smashed the center of the line but could gain nothing. George Govoni of West Springfield was given the ball on the next play and went through right guard for the touchdown. Hughes made good the kick for the extra point to give Springfield a 7 to 0 lead.

Providence tried many long end runs during the third period with but little gain, the Springfield ends getting in close and spilling the runners before they could get in the clear. The period ended with the ball on Providence's possession on their own 36-yard line.

Success at Last

For three years, William McCarthy, former La. Salle Academy athlete, has been a substitute tackle on the Providence College football team. This season he was shifted to guard and in all three games the Friars have played, McCarthy has turned in an outstanding performance.

SPRINGFIELD WINS 7-0 OVER FRIARS

McNeil Intercepts Pass from Gould to Pave Way to Only Score.

Game played:

October 21, 1933

Pratt Field, Springfield, Mass., Oct. 21.
—Capitalizing the one break that came its way to the fullest extent, the Springfield College football team conquered the Providence College eleven, 7 to 0, here today in a gruelling, hard fought battle.

It was an intercepted pass by Harry McNeil, Springfield right tackle, in the third period, that paved the way for the Indians' touchdown and victory.

With the ball in the possession of the Friars on their 45-yard line, Carroll
"Red" Gould dropped back to throw a pass. He was surrounded by three Springfield players and was almost downed, but despite the inadvisability of hurling an aerial, Gould threw the spheroid aimlessly, and the alert Mc-Neil grabbed the ball on the P. C. 40 and raced to the one-yard line where he was downed by Bill Kutniewski, after the latter had made a brilliant chase to catch his man. After three rushes
Gonovi scored from the one-yard line.

It was a heart-breaking game for the Dominicans to lose, as up until the time of the intercepted aerial, they had outplayed the Indians in every phase of the game. They had stopped the muchvaunted Springfield offensive with ease and appeared to be gradually wearing down their adversaries for a timely
"kill," but that misdirected aerial foiled their plans.

Springfield certainly deserves credit for its defensive stands in the pinches as on three occasions in the first half, the Friars were knocking at the Indians' goal only to have the latter gather their forces courageously and put up a solid front. Outside of McNeil's pass, the staunch defence put up by the Indians
when in the shadows of their goal posts were the outstanding features of the thrilling game.

Early in the second period on an extended drive from the first, the Friars secured a first down on the Springfield four-yard line, but they could not push over a score. Their attack petered out at the one-foot line where Barbarito was downed after he had caught a short pass from Gould. It appeared that Barbarito was headed for a score after he received the heave, but he was downed in his tracks by Hughes.

Soon after this, the Friars again were heading for a score when two brilliant runs by Omer Landry gave them a first down on the Springfield five, but again they could not sustain their drive. Handicapped by a five-yard penalty, they were pushed back to the 10-yard line, where the fighting Indians took the ball.

Starting another march in this period,
the Friars advanced to the Springfield
31 but two incompletd passes foiled their scoring attempt.

Statistics of the game show that Providence made 151 yards by rush to 122 for Springfield. The Friars made nine first downs to three by Springfield.

Offensively, neither team reached the heights it attained last week when both turned in scintillating performances against Holy Cross and Brown, but this was a natural letdown.

Capt. Joe Shields of Springfield made the two longest runs from the scrimmage. They were good for 23 and 19 yards. Landry of the Friars also made a 17-yard dash. Hughes, Springfield quarterback, was the most consistent on runbacks of punts. He made returns for 21, 16, 15 and 10 yards. Barbarito of the Friars ran back one punt for 26 yards and on another occasion, Shanahan returned one for 20. These were the best offensive bits of the game.

* * *

Midway in the first period, Hughes paved the way for a Springfield scoring chance when he uncorked a quick kick which caught the Friars napping, and the ball travelled 56 yards to the P. C. two-yard line. Landry punted from behind his goal line to Hughes, who received on the Friar 40 and ran nine yards to the 31. A series of off-tackle thrusts and end sweeps carried the Indians to the P. C. 10, but the Friar forwards put up a solid front and the Indians could not advance any further. On last down, the homesters tried a pass, but this went astray over the goal line and Providence took the ball on its 20. Neither team had any other scoring opportunity during the rest of the period.

Shortly after the second chapter opened, the Friars marched from the Springfield 36 to within one foot of crossing the Springfield goal. A pass, Gould to Wright, netted five yards, and another aerial, Gould to Roberge, gave the Friars a first down on the four-yard line. On this play Roberge made a remarkable catch of the pass, leaping high to grab the ball with three Springfield men around him. He caught the pass on the 15 and ran to the four.

* * *

Landry lost two yards, but rushes by Wright and Barbarito advanced the ball to the two-yard line. On fourth down, Gould completed a pass to Barbarito, but the latter was downed on the one-foot line to halt the drive.

On the return kickoff, Providence was off to another score. Landry caught Hughes's punt on the Springfield 35 and he ran the ball back to the 24. On the next play, he knifed through tackle for a first down on the five, but a five-yard penalty and two incompleated aeriels gave Springfield the ball on its 20.

Later in the period, the Friars reached the Springfield 31 on consistent short gains from midfield, but again aeriels failed to hit their mark.

Up until midway in the third period, the play was centred around midfield and then came the turning point in the game with McNeil providing the highlight. After McNeil ran 39 yards to the one yard line, it appeared that the P. C. line was going to halt Springfield's touchdown bid, but on third down Govoni made the score.

Becoming somewhat more determined by the unexpected break in the game which sent them seven points behind, the Friars unleached a savage offensive drive for 56 yards. They started from their 10 and marched to the Springfield 34, but the Indians were equal to the occasion when their seven points lead was in danger.

On this march, the Friar backs were making ferocious thrusts at the line and they were sweeping the ends with much speed for short consistent gains. But just when it appeared that a Providence touchdown was imminent, the Friar machine sputtered and then halted completely.

Springfield took the ball on downs on its 34, and with this went Providence's last chance to overcome the Springfield lead.

Friars Hold Long Practice to Improve Aerial Attack

Rennick Rejoins Squad; Healey, Barbarito in Line for Shanahan's Post.

Determined to chalk up their first victory of the season when they meet Niagara at the Cycledrome on Sunday the Providence College Friars went through a long drill yesterday afternoon with passing formations coming in for particular emphasis. Against Springfield the Black and White aerial attack clicked for several good gains, but chances to gain by the air route were thrown away on a few occasions. Concentration in passing for a part of each practice session is expected to strengthen the Friars in this department with the result that the air lanes may be busy when the Purple Eagles invade the Cycledrome for Providence College's only home game.

During yesterday's practice Omer Landry and Red Gould, quarterbacks, were doing the majority of the passing and with Bill Kutneski and Bill McCarthy dropping back to cover the play there was nothing lacking on the tossing end. Most of the squad took part in the passing drill with the rangy ends, Dex Davis, Pete Gobis and George Cusack, doing a major portion of the receiving. Oliver Roberge, regular end, was not out for practice due to a late afternoon class, but will take part in drills today and during the remainder of the week.

The competition for the post vacated by Henry Shanahan is still keen with Paul Healey and Anthony Barbarito the outstanding candidates for the assignment. Charlie Rennick took part in his first regular drill since the Springfield game and is quickly rounding back into condition. His line bucks will give the Friars an effective weapon when within scoring distance of their opponents' goal-line.

The athletic department announced yesterday that tickets for the Providence-Niagara game would go on sale today at 64 Pine street in this city and at 31 Exchange street in Pawtucket. Under the direction of Rev. Jordan F. Baezler, O. P., the band has been practicing for the past two weeks and will provide music before and during the game Sunday.

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE

SEEKS FIRST VICTORY

IN NIAGARA GAME

Rejuvenated Friars to Battle Every Inch of Way at 'Drome

Homecoming Tilt Expected to Draw Big Crowd with Alumni Enthusiastic.

A Providence College football team, defeated on each three of its invasions in hostile territory, but imbued with a new found determination effected no doubt from the knowledge that at last it will be playing on home ground before familiar and sympathetic faces, meets the Niagara University eleven today at the Cycledrome in the first Homecoming Day game in the history of the Friar institution.

Alumni will flock from various sectors in the East to the 'Drome and for the first time the team will be backed by a unified group of graduates who have finally realized that it needs their backing if there are to be successful Dominican football elevens.

Although it will face a heavy, well drilled team, Providence rules the favorite to score its initial victory of the campaign. Repelled by Rutgers, Holy Cross and Springfield in the order named, the Friars will be in a belligerent mood against Niagara.

It has been two weeks since the Dominicans have been tested competitively and each one of the past 14 days has tended to whet their appetites for victory. After a poor showing against Rutgers resulting in a decisive defeat, the Friars showed marked improvement against Holy Cross and Springfield and lost only after close battles.

* * *

While its record shows three straight defeats and no points scored, Providence is far stronger than figures will indicate. The Friars gave the Crusaders a real scare and lost on an intercepted pass after they had outplayed their opponents throughout the contest.

It is with this picture in mind that the Dominican alumni will go to watch their team play today. The graduates realize that they have a more powerful team than the records speak, and today they will be on hand to cheer it on.

ars was another member of that championship Commercial team to which all graduates of that school point with pride. All five of these players continued their brilliant schoolboy careers to the college gridiron. Katznelson played tackle on the Commercial team and he is rated the best schoolboy lineman in the State. He will be in a reserve role today but he will see plenty of action today over the Cycledrome turf, where Bupnanno, Caito, Capasso and Kutniewski galloped to championship for Commercial high.

Backfield players who will make their farewell home appearances are Capt. Joe Wright, Charlie Rennick and Anthony Barbarito. Rennick is a former Hope high player and returns to the lineup after being on the injured list for three weeks. He was hurt in the Holy Cross game and has not seen action since. Rennick will be at fullback today, which should greatly strengthen the team's offense.

With Barbarito, Rennick and Capt. Wright in the backfield today will be Omer Landry, formerly of St. Raphael, who is the flashiest ball carrier on the team. Barbarito and Wright also are excellent broken field runners and it would not be surprising to see one of this trio get off to a long scoring dash.

The Niagara team held a practice session at the Holy Cross field yesterday and left by bus from Worcester to Providence this morning. Niagara, which is coached by Sheldon Hecker, a former Niagara all-round athlete, are expected to give the Friars a bitter battle. This team from up-State New York has won the championship of the Catholic College "Little Three," which includes St. Bonaventure, Canisius and Niagara.

The visitors boast a quartet of brilliant backs in McNally, McMahon, Kantak and Godfrey and a line that is just about as heavy as the Friars' husky front wall.

In the last game played with the Friars two years ago, Niagara lost 13 to 7.

NIAGARA HAS Dk LL AT FITTON FIELD

(Special to the Providence Journal)
Worcester, Mass., Nov. 4.—The Niagara University football squad stopped here today en route for its game with Providence College at Providence Sunday. During the afternoon the Purple Eagles worked out on Fitton Field, which was made available to the squad by Holy Cross athletic authorities. The squad will leave at 11:30 Sunday morning for Providence.

Coach Sheldon Hecker sent his men through a two-hour drill on plays and pass defence and after the workout expressed his confidence in a Niagara victory. Niagara will be a match in weight for the heavy Friar line and will be a few pounds heavier in the backfield.

OUT 7-6 VICTORY

Crumlish's Place Kick Adds Point That Brings Triumph

Both Touchdowns Come from Aerials.—Davis Scores for Providence College.

After three lean and hungry Saturdays, the Providence College football team came near sharing a Sabbath Day feast with the Niagara University eleven at the Cyclo-drome yesterday but its inability to convert the extra point attempt provided the visitors from upper New York State with a 7 to 6 victory and undisputed right to the menu.

Each team made its touchdown on aerials, Niagara scoring early in the first period and the Friars in the fourth, but where Tom Crumlish of Niagara succeeded in booting a placement for his team's seventh point, Omer Landry of the Dominicans failed, hence the difference between a tie and defeat for the Friars.

After a 28-yard aerial, McNally to McMahon, had climaxed a 61-yard scoring drive for Niagara, the Friars, with determination in their eyes, set out to get an equalizing touchdown. They came close in the second period when they reached the Niagara 20 but in the third the visitors kept them well checked.

In the fourth chapter, however, they succeeded after they had literally filled the air with passes. The pass which netted the score was far from being perfectly executed. As a matter of fact, fate interceded and smiled on the Friars.

Big Charlie Rennick threw a long pass that was intended for Anthony Barbarito, Dominican halfback, but the powerful heave deflected off a Niagara player's arms into those of Dexter Davis, the end, and the latter scampered 15 yards for a touchdown, the first the Dominicans have made this season. This scoring play carried 38 yards with Davis receiving on the 15.

There was silence among the 4000 spectators as Landry dropped back to make his bid for the extra point. The pass from centre was bad, forcing Landry to hurry, and his boot sailed under the uprights amid sighs of dismay from the P. C. stands.

Game played: November 5, 1933

There remained enough time for the Friars to score again and they nearly did. Continuing their aerial tactics after Landry had run back a punt 14 yards to the Providence 40, the Friars completed two passes that advanced them to Niagara's 20. The first was good for 19 yards with Rennick doing the hurling and Barbarito on the receiving end. The officials ruled interference by Niagara on the second aerial, netting the Dominicans 21 more yards.

With time for one more play and 20 yards away from victory, the Friars attempted another aerial, but this time Rennick could not even get his pass away, so fast did the Niagara forwards charge at him, with the result that he lost 20 yards. The final whistle blew and Rennick was still on the ground.

Flashing their strongest offensive early in the game, it was not long before the visitors had pushed over their score. After receiving the opening kickoff, Niagara staged a strong march that carried it from its 31 to the Providence 20, where the march petered out.

A 25-yard aerial, McNally to Vermette, was instrumental in this drive, which, although not bringing immediate success, provided that later on. An exchange of punts gave Niagara the ball on its 41 and from this point the visitors marched to a score.

Short consistent gains by McNally and Godfrey advanced the ball to the Providence 28. Here McNally dropped back and threw a long aerial which Landry of the Friars appeared to have well guarded, but McMahan leaped high over Landry's head to catch the spheroid over the goal line. Then Crumlsh added the all-important extra point.

This was Niagara's outstanding offensive spurt and it proved enough for victory. During the remainder of the contest, the Friar forwards awoke from their first period lethargy and held their opponents in check during most of the remaining time.

Statistics show that Providence had the edge in all but the score, but Niagara was ever ready to tighten up when the homesters threatened to score. The Friars had the edge in first downs, nine to five, and led in rushing with 121 yards to 89. Niagara made all of its first downs in the first period.

Landry and Godfrey engaged in a brilliant punting duel, with both getting off some long boots. Godfrey, especially, managed to make his best punts when needed, thus thwarting a number of P. C. scoring chances.

The Friars failed to display the form they showed in their last two games against Holy Cross and Springfield. The line, especially, gave a woeful showing, its poorest of the season. It was upon the forwards the Friars relied for victory and they failed in their tasks.

There was no zest to the play of the Friars except in the dramatic fourth period, when they realized that defeat was near. At this point the line charged harder and the backs showed more drive, but the awakening was too late.

Of the linemen only Bill Kutniewski played his usual excellent game, and of the backs Landry and Barbarito were outstanding. Both Landry and Barbarito made long gains for the Friars, but they came at spasmodic intervals and hence did not worry Niagara.

The New Yorkers played a waiting game after they had obtained their 7 to 0 lead. They took to defensive tactics at each opportunity and appeared to be resting on their laurels.

Providence had a chance to score in the second period after an extended drive from the first had carried them to the Niagara 20 but here two arials went astray and with them the touchdown opportunity. This march was good for 44 yards, going from the Providence 36 to the Niagara 20. Landry, Barbarito and Rennick did most of the gaining. The remainder of the second period was devoted to exchanges of punts and the same was the story in the third period.

In the fourth, however, there was considerable action with Providence doing the pressing. Charlie Burdge recovered a Niagara fumble on the Niagara 31 to give the Friars a scoring chance but they could only advance nine yards to the 22 in four downs. Soon afterwards Barbarito spoiled another P. C. opportunity by fumbling on the Niagara 30.

Next came the scoring aerial, Rennick to Barbarito, and Landry's failure on the extra point attempt to provide the hard battling Niagara players with their one point and well deserved triumph.

FRIARS FAVORED TO BEAT C. C. N. Y.

Dominicans Have Won Two Previous Games Played
With New Yorkers.

Several favorable auguries will accompany the Providence College Varsity football squad when it leaves Friday for Lewisohn Stadium to play the College of the City of New York eleven. The Black and White has defeated the Lavender in the two games in which they have met, once in 1922 and again in 1932. A victory is a much desired achievement for the Friars, and every man on the squad is determined to do his part to take C. C. N. Y. into camp. The condition of the men on the squad is good and no one is suffering from an injury as a result of the stiff encounter with Niagara last Sunday.

Coach Golembeski held a long drill for his men yesterday, and at the close of the practice session the morale was at a high level, with nothing but a win over the Lavender on each player's mind. Blocking, which has not been of the best to date, came in for particular emphasis, and an improvement should be seen in Saturday's game in New York. Placement kicking for the extra point also fared poorly in the Niagara game, and several men were tried at this assignment. An improved style of play all around is looked for against the Lavender outfit.

Dr. Harold J. Parker, C. C. N. Y. coach, sent his men through a long scrimmage yesterday and injected several new players into his lineup in an effort to strengthen it. Paul Sidrer, halfback, will not take part in the Providence game due to a torn ligament received in the contest with Manhattan. His loss is a hard blow to the backfield, as he has started most of the games this season. Reports from New York indicate that C. C. N. Y. has changed its style of play in some respects this year, using a pyramid defence and on offence having the left guard face the backs, thus saving time and distance when the left guard is called upon to act as interference for the ball carrier. Another change is that the Lavender guards shifted with the Manhattan guards in their encounter last Saturday and played man to man after the start of a play.

Burdge, Friar Tackle, Sent to Hospital

Providence College's victory over the City College eleven at New York yesterday proved to be a costly one, as Charlie Burdge, right tackle for the Dominicans and a former Warren high athlete, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital here last night with a fractured ankle suffered in the contest. The injury is expected to keep him out of competition for six weeks, which means that he will be lost to the Friars for the remainder of the current season.

Although receiving the injury in New York, Burdge made the trip to this city by train last night fully clothed in his football uniform. He was met here by the team physician, Dr. John H. Brothers. The latter, with Dexter Davis, Providence College end, who accompanied Burdge on the trip, brought the injured player to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was admitted at 10:30 o'clock.

Dr. Brothers said that the fracture is a bad one, occurring just below the ankle.

FRIARS WIN 39-6

Friars Crush Lavender 39-6 as Landry Lands 4 Tallies

Dynamic Quarterback Runs C.
C. N. Y. Players Weary with Long Dashes.

Lewisohn Stadium, New York, Nov. 11.
—The gradual progress that the Friars of Providence College have been making towards a football victory ended with success here today when they defeated the College of the City of New York eleven, 39 to 6.

Vanquished in all four of their previous contests, but coming closer to triumph with each game, the Dominicans unleashed their strongest drive of the season against the Lavender to tally six touchdowns for their initial victory of the current campaign.

Four of the Friar scores were made by Omer Landry, the little dynamic quarterback, who turned in the outstanding performance of his career. This nimble-footed Dominican ran the Lavender players weary as he galloped his way to spectacular scoring runs of 60, 52, 16 and 11 yards in length.

* * *

While Landry was the game's hero, Anthony Barbarito and Edward Sokolowski made brilliant contributions towards the Friar cause. They accounted for the two other P. C. touchdowns on spectacular dashes through the Lavender's pyramid-like defensive formations.

Barbarito broke through on the best executed play of the game for a scintillating 75-yard dash in the third period, while in the second quarter, Sokolowski slashed through guard and tackle for 27 yards to climax a stirring 60-yard Dominican march.

Inspired by the brilliant play of Landry, the Friars found their true stride against the Lavender. Their blocking was the best they have yet shown, making it possible for the speedy backs to cavort up and down the field for long gains. The defence was also good except against aerials, a weapon the homesters used with marked success.

Game played: November 11, 1933

It was success with forward passes that made C. C. N. Y. a constant offensive threat to the Dominicans and helped to make the contest far more interesting than the score would indicate. Rozen and Rosenberg teamed up in fine style on passes, netting their team some long gains. Long after the hopes of victory had vanished, the Lavender players were still in the battle, desperately trying to score points via the air route.

The touchdown that C. C. N. Y. scored in the third period was their first since the opening game with Brooklyn College on Sept. 30. The score came after a 68-yard march and while it was being manufactured, the Lavender eleven certainly gave no indications that it was a weak offensive unit.

Three aerials, in each of which Rosen figured, paved the way for the C. C. N. Y. tally early in the third period. The drive started on its 38-yard line. After Dillon had made five yards on a line plunge, Rosen threw a 15-yard pass to Weber for a first down on its 47.

Rosen dropped back again and hurled another aerial, this time to Rosenberg for 18 yards and another first down. Line plugging advanced the ball to the Providence 18 and then the homesters resorted to aeriels again, Rosen hurling a pass to Weber which was good for a first down on the Friar two-yard line. Three thrusts at the line gained only a yard and then on fourth down, a perfectly executed lateral, Rosner to Dillon, brought the Lavender their only score of the game.

It was not long before the game got under way that Landry manifested that it was to be a red letter day for him. After the first exchange of punts, Landry caught the ball on his 48-yard line and then he exercised his broken field running ability by running through the entire New York team for 52 yards and a score.

The lavender players were stunned by this sudden turn of events and they never totally recovered. When they did manage to see hope, the irresistible Landry would pup up with dramatic suddenness and quell their ambitions. When he was not making long scoring dashes Landry was producing long and well-placed punts that invariably kept the lavender on the defensive.

* * *

After Landry had made his opening gesture the Friars started towards their second score early in the second period. The march started from their 40. The first play, a pass, brought no gain, but the next found Gould and Roberge teaming on an aerial that was good for 23 yards and a first down on the C. C. N. Y. 38. Landry knifed through tackle to the 25-yard line, but a 15-yard penalty sent the Friars back to the 40. Gould and Roberge clicked again in the air, this time for 13 yards, and 27 yards away from the New York goal.

Sokolowski then started with a terrific drive toward guard where a big hole awaited him and he raced through the opening on the New York secondary territory where he zig-zagged past the opposition for a touchdown.

* * *

It was not long before the dynamic Landry again struck with much fury at the Lavender. With Providence in possession of the ball on its 32, Landry swept end behind strong interference for a 38-yard run to put the Friars in scoring position and he personally set out to make good the opportunity. After being penalized five yards for offside, Landry took a pass from Gould on the New York 16 and hurled a swarm of would-be tacklers for his second score. After that Lavender had scored early in the third, Barbarito equalized for the Friars by making his 75-yard scoring run. This play abounded with deception. Barbarito started as though he was to drive at centre, but he suddenly dropped back, reversed his field to draw the opposition to the right side, and proceeded around left end for a touchdown.

Landry went on rampage again on the first play of the fourth period. The last move in the third quarter was a C. C. N. Y. punt to the Providence 40. From this point Landry raced around end for 60 yards.

Shortly afterwards, Landry made his final and fourth touchdown. With C. C. N. Y. passing wildly in a desperate attempt to score, one of these aerials fell into Omer's hands on his 40 and he ran 40 yards to the New York 20. Two line plunges by Healey advanced the Dominicans to the 11 and then Omer. "the roamer of the grid-iron," glided over those 11 yards to complete a great day's work and fine Providence College victory.

Many Friar Reserves Likely to Play Against Lowell

P. C. Eleven Closes Season Saturday in Game with Textile Team.

The 1933 edition of the Providence College Varsity football team will play the final game of its schedule tomorrow afternoon at 2 p. m. when it travels to Lowell, Mass., to meet the Lowell Textile eleven. With one exception Coach Golembeski will field the same team which defeated C. C. N. Y. last week and is looking forward to see his boys play a winning brand of football against the Textilers. The entire squad will make the trip to Lowell and no doubt all players will see action during some part of the game. The reserves have been drilled thoroughly as injuries to some of the regulars have made the use of substitutes necessary, and this final contest should witness the entire squad in the play before the final whistle.

Much interest is attached to this final game for the Friars as several men will be competing for the team for the last time. Local players who will be participating in their last football game for the Black and White are Charlie Rennick, former Hope High star; Bill McNick, former La Salle Academy luminary; Irv Katznelson, schoolboy star during his days at Commercial High; Dexter Davis, star end on East Providence High eleven, and Oliver Roberge, who prepared for Providence College at Mt. St. Charles and was an outstanding schoolboy end. On the reserve squad Bill Doyle will be missing next year. Charlie Burdge, whose recent injury deprived the Friars of one of their finest linemen, began his football career at Providence College and has played an important part in the success of the elevens upon which he has competed. Ted LeBlanc, who also was sent out of action by the injury route, is graduating this year.

Other men who are from out-of-State but who have won reputations for capable playing before local spectators are Capt. Joe Wright, Staten Island, N. Y.; Anthony Barbarito, New Haven, Conn.; John Schott, Newark, N. J.; George Boyle, Passaic, N. J., and Joseph Lee, Nashua, N. H.

DOMINICANS WIN 18-13

Friars Beat Lowell Textile 18-13 to Wind Up Season

Capt. Wright Scores Twice for Providence College; Healey
Races 42 Yards for Tally.

Alumni Field, Lowell, Mass., Nov. 18.
Success marked the finish of the 1933 football season for the Friars of Providence College here today as they utilized every ounce of their superior manpower to conquer a lightweight but fighting group of Lowell Textile wildcats 18 to 13 in a fiercely fought duel.

Battling valiantly in face of heavy odds against them, the scrappy Lowell players provided their much heavier Dominican opponents with a savage battle and they did not concede defeat until the final whistle.

As it was, the Friars, top-heavy favorites to win at the outset, were forced to make a stirring comeback to eke out their hard earned triumph by the margin of one touchdown.

At halftime the Dominicans enjoyed a 12 to 6 lead but early in the third quarter, the homesters uncorked a strong aerial attack to score, and as they succeeded in converting the extra point, they took a 13 to 12 lead to the bewilderment of the Friars.

This Lowell touchdown, however, served to arouse the victory-hungry Dominicans and they capitalized a break late in the third chapter to push over their winning score. "Spud" Curtin, the Lowell quarterback, paved the way for that all-important Providence score when he fumbled on his five-yard line and the alert Irving Katznelson recovered for the Friars. After Landry had lost eight yards on a triple pass play, an aerial, Wright to Davis, returned the invaders to the five-yard line from which point Capt. Joe Wright scored on a wide end sweep.

Although the courageous Lowell players forced the Providence boys to the limit, the Friars appeared to be the superior team throughout the game. Even when they were trailing 13 to 12, it seemed certain that they would score those winning points before the finish.

Capt. Wright of the Friars ended his college football career in a blaze of glory, scoring two of the three P. C. touchdowns and tossing some well-directed passes for long and timely gains. Sharing individual honors for the Friars with Wright was Paul Healey, diminutive reserve halfback, who broke through for a 42-yard scoring run in the second period to provide the Dominicans with a 12 to 6 advantage.

Exciting Moment in Textile Game

This dash by Healey was a thriller and he gave a true sample of his broken field running ability as he side-stepped his way through the Lowell secondary after he got by the line of scrimmage through guard and tackle.

Lowell presented a trio of pony backs—Sullivan, Bassett and Athanas—who were constant threats to their adversaries. These nimble-footed ball carriers slashed through the heavy Dominican forwards for a number of lengthy gains and most of the 110 yards from scrimmage credited to the Textilers were made by them. Sullivan and Athanas also excelled at hurling aeriels and Bassett proved to be an adept receiver.

Providence had the edge in rushing, compiling 153 yards to 110 by Lowell, but its offensive was far inferior to that manifested in the C. C. N. Y. game last week. Those end and off tackle plays which the Friars used effectively against the Lavender were stopped time after time by Lowell's two aggressive ends, Jarek and Bogacz. The latter did not start, but he got into the fray early when Eddie Grossman, Providence youth with the Lowell team, was injured.

Lowell had the edge in first downs, seven to six, and its aerial attack functioned better. The Textilers completed six of their attempted 15 forward passes while Friars made but one good out of eight tries.

* * *

With the linemen charging hard and the back driving with much force, Lowell got an early jump on the Friars. It was not long after the struggle got under way that they made their first score. Anthony Barbarito of the Dominicans paved the way for the ambitious Lowell players to march to their initial tally when he fumbled on his 35-yard line, allowing Jarek to pounce on the ball for the homesters.

Sullivan crashed through for nine yards through a wide hole on the left side of the P. C. line and then he dropped back and threw an aerial to Bassett which was good for 21 yards, giving Lowell a first down five yards away from the Providence goal line. The brawny Friar forwards conceded only three yards on the next three plays, but on fourth down, Curtin scampered the remaining distance for a touchdown.

The Lowell supporters, expecting a one-sided battle, took heart with this early score by their team and they cheered wildly as the determined Friars lined up with the set purpose of getting an equalizer.

The Textilers were spurred by their surprising early success and they managed to hold the wild charging Friar backs until late in the period when a fumble by Athanas on his 23-yard line, recovered by Roberge, gave Providence a scoring opportunity which it made good.

Two rushes by Rennick and Wright brought the Friars to the 16 and then Barbarito knifed through tackle for 13 yards and a first down on the three-yard line. Three line plunges failed to gain the Dominicans an inch, but on fourth down Wright scored on a wide end sweep. Rennick's pass for the extra point went astray and the score was tied at 6-all.

There was no further scoring in the initial period but early in the second chapter Healey uncorked his brilliant 42-yard dash to provide the Friars with a 12 to 6 advantage which they held until halftime although Lowell battled desperately to tie the count during this time.

In the third period, however, the efforts of the Textilers were rewarded and they uncorked two perfectly executed plays for 31 yards and a touchdown. An exchange of punts gave Lowell possession of the ball on Providence 31. On first down, Athanas threw a pass to Bogacz for 12 yards and a first down on the Friar 17.

Here the Textilers produced the prettiest play of the game, a forward-lateral pass combination play, which netted the homers 17 yards and a touchdown. Athanas dropped back and threw a forward to Sullivan, the latter then shot back a pass to Welch, who received on the 18 yard and run unmolested for Lowell's second touchdown. A pass, Sullivan to Athanas, was good for the extra point attempt and Lowell went ahead 13 to 12 to the wild acclaim of its supporters.

With only one point separating the teams, the battle took on a far more exciting tinge at this juncture and for the remainder of the tilt the spectators were treated to a hair-raising type of football.

Desperate for victory, the Friars started a ferocious march from their 20 to the Lowell 15 for 66 yards, but Lowell stopped this powerhouse attack by a gallant defensive stand when a P. C. touchdown appeared imminent.

However, the battling Friars were not to be denied. Curtin made his costly fumble on his five-yard line shortly before the period ended and Katznelson recovered to provide the Friars with a scoring chance which they made good although they were shoved back to the 13-yard line on second down.

This touchdown made by Wright on a wide end sweep gave the Dominicans an 18 to 13 advantage which they maintained until the end although Lowell was a constant threat in the final period when it desperately threw passes in a dying attempt to catch up with the Friars again.

They managed to throw a few real scares into the Friar camp during that dramatic final period but their efforts were in vain to provide the Dominicans with a victorious "finis" to their 1933 campaign.

TEXTILE LOSES STIRRING TILT

Home Club Holds Strong Providence College Eleven to 18 to 13 Score

Providence college and Lowell Textile closed their campaigns here this afternoon with the most stirring battle on their respective schedules. A savage Textile underdog forced the Friars to the limit before yielding, 18 to 13, on the muddy Textile gridiron.

The Dominican eleven that held Holy Cross, 14 to 0 and snowed under C. C. N. Y. last week, 39 to 6, had a battle on its hands from the outset, with Textile pushing across a touchdown to tie the Friars, six-all, at the end of the first period. Both teams went into the air frequently, and after Providence had started the second half with a 12 to 6 lead, the scrappy Textile team came back and scored again, converting the extra point in the bargain. A Providence touchdown in the third period clinched the game for the invaders. The fourth period was scoreless.

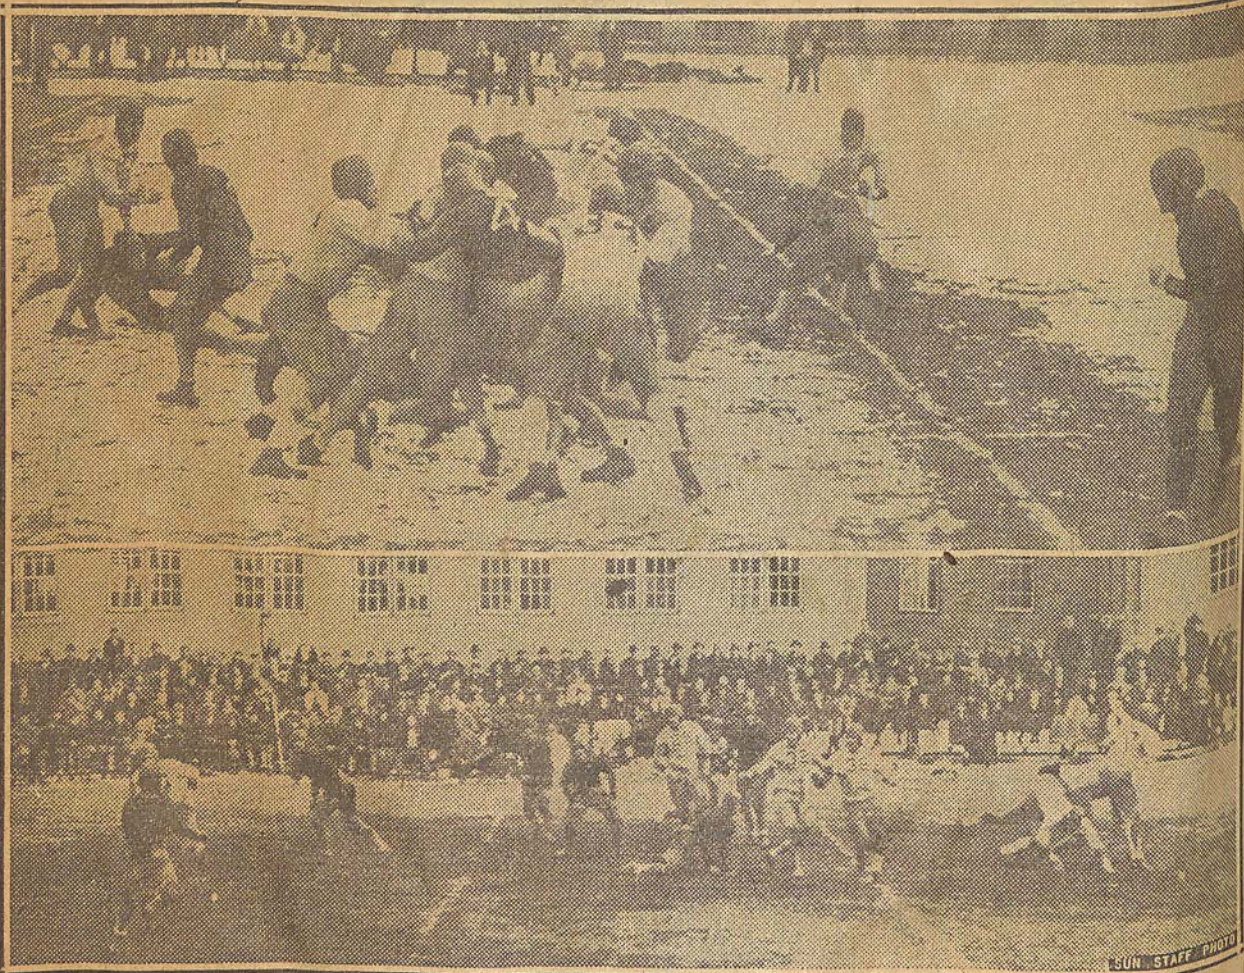

FIRST PERIOD

Jarok kicked off for Textile to Barbarito, who returned the ball to his 30-yard line. On the first play from scrimmage, Captain Wright of Providence fumbled and the ball was recovered by Textile on the visitors 20-yard stripe. Two line smashes netted four yards, and a pass, Sullivan to Bassett, was good for a one-yard advance. Another pass, with Bassett receiving, took the ball to within a foot of the last line. Sullivan rushed it over, and the score stood 6 to 0 in favor of Textile. Curtin's attempted drop-kick was blocked.

Forsythe kicked off the second time, and Providence started a ground attack which failed to function well. The two teams battled on practically even terms through a range of 30 yards at mid-field. Textile showed surprising strength in the line, and its back-field interference functioned beautifully. Athanas almost got into clear, after an exchange of kicks gave Textile the pig-skin on her own 25-yard stripe. This play gained 15 yards, but a fumble behind the line was recovered by an alert Friar linesman.

As Textile Battled Providence on Snow Covered Field

Top: Kopatch, Textile fullback, being piled up on a line thrust in the first period. Bottom: Ball in midair as Athanas tossed a forward pass to "Spud" Curtin, good for a 12 yard advance.

Providence then started to roll. Barbarito, behind almost perfect interference, brought the ball from the 22-yard line to Textile's six. After two plunges through tackle, Captain Wright threw himself across the local goal-line and tied the count. Providence attempted to convert the extra point by the air route, but the try was sour. Score, 6 to 6. The period ended after the kick-off.

SECOND PERIOD

Athanas, who was sent in in place of Bassett mid-way in the first period, was threatening with a pass on practically every play. Healey, who replaced Barbarito, in the Providence lineup, Landry, and Captain Wright, were working smoothly in the Friars backfield. On an overland journey which Yarnall's pupils finally stopped on their own 40-yard line. An exchange of kicks between Landry and Curtin found the ball on Textile's 42-yard line in Providence's possession. On a well conceived and perfectly executed guard-and-tackle split, Healey was shot into the clear. He reversed his field and scampered off like a frightened jack-rabbit and scored standing up. The attempt for the point by a drop-kick was wide. Score: Providence 12, Textile 6.

Textile tried the air at every opportunity after the second kickoff. A short lateral was the favorite play, but it gained little. The Providence forward-dike leaked so badly that the ball carriers were often grabbed from behind on attempted end-sweeps. The Friars discovered much stiffer opposition than they expected. The half ended with the ball in Textile's possession on their 35-yard marker, with Griffin banging at the center of the line.

THIRD PERIOD

Forsythe kicked off to Healey who slipped as he received the ball, going down on the Friars eight-yard line. On the next play Connolly sifted through the visitor's forward wall and nailed Captain Joe Wright of Providence on the latter's two-yard line. Landry's boot was fair caught by Curtin on Providence's 30-yard line. A pass, Athanas to Bassett, and a crack at the line by Sullivan made it first down for Textile on the Providence 19-yard stripe. A lateral pass, with Welch pulled out from the guard position to receive, proved a surprise maneuver and the stocky linesman went over to tie the score at 12 all. Athanas' forward to Curtin tacked on another point, putting Textile in the lead. Providence received on the kickoff and tried to start another running offensive but Baronowski and his mates in the Textile line just wouldn't be taken out. An exchange of punts was followed by a change of strategy on Providence's part. Four successive end sweeps brought three first downs with the ball on Textile's 30-yard line, and still in the Friars possession. Textile's line began to show signs of wear and tear and

Wright and Healey tore off another first down on a reverse play and a crack at tackle. Rennick, on a spinner, planted the ball on Textile's 12-yard marker. A forward was incomplete and the locals grabbed the ball on downs. Curtain fumbled and it was Providence's ball on Textile's eight-yard line. Landry was stopped cold on the next play and Kopatch of Textile smeared the same player for a 10-yard loss on an attempted lateral. "Joe" Wright swept his own left end for another Providence touch-down. The attempt at conversion failed. The period ended as Sullivan passed to Bassett who carried to the Providence 39-yard stripe.

Score—Providence, 18; Textile, 13.

FOURTH PERIOD

Sullivan gained a yard at centre. Textile then took to the air but flubbed two successive passes, losing five yards on a penalty as a result. Curtin then punted to the Providence 13-yard line. Jarek dumped Landry on the latter's one-foot line and Landry then booted out of bounds to his own 35. Captain Wright of the Friars intercepted Athanas pass on his own 25. Rennick was smeared on a spinner and on the second play failed to gain at his own left tackle. Landry kicked and Curtin fumbled the ball, Providence recovering on Textile's 40-yard line. Athanas intercepted Captain Wright's pass on the latter's 20-yard marker and ran it back 10 yards. Athanas forward was intercepted by Barbarito at midfield and the Friar back hiked it back 15 yards. Rennick was halted in his tracks on the next play. A Providence forward failed and the second one was also fumbled down. Landry then booted the ball to the Textile goal line and the ball was brought out 20 yards. A lunge by Curtin at the line, followed by a lateral, failed to gain and Providence took the ball on downs to lose it again on an intercepted pass. The first Textile play was also a pass which was smeared by a Friar back. The last few minutes of play was in semi-darkness, and mud on the players' uniforms made it impossible to distinguish one from the other. Textile wrested control of the offense by batting down another succession of passes. Curtin, failing to gain and kicked to Landry who was downed at midfield. After a passing flurry of indifferent nature the game ended with Providence holding the ball on Textile's 20-yard line.

Score—Providence, 18; Textile, 13.

Bill Kutniewski Named

Providence College

Football Captain

BRILLIANT GUARD UNANIMOUS CHOICE OF FRIAR LETTERMEN

Letters and Numerals Awarded to 'Varsity and Yearling Squads

William Kutniewski, regular 'Varsity guard for three years, today was elected football captain of the 1934 Providence College eleven. Kutniewski has had a varied career in three sports. In his freshman year at the college he broke into the regular line-up in football and has held guard positions since that time.

He is a graduate of Commercial high with the class of 1930. While there, he participated in football, basketball and track events. In football, he was a guard on the Providence championship team, which was nicknamed "Cap" Capasso, Joe Buonanno, Maury Caito, all Brown stars, and a teammate now at Providence College, Irv Katznelson. In basketball he was a guard and in track held the Brown interscholastic javelin record in 1930. His record throw was 148 feet 10 inches.

In addition to football at Providence College, Kutniewski was a guard on the 1931 Freshman basketball team and midway in the 1932 'Varsity basketball season he broke into the starting lineup. His fine performance on the 'Varsity quintet is expected to earn him a place as a regular on this year's Friar basketball team.

The new Friar captain has been selected on several all-opponent football teams. His capable play was praised by Coaches Tasker of Rutgers, Rothacker of Springfield and Anderson of Holy Cross.

The choice of Kutniewski as football captain for next year was unanimous.

Wright and Healey tore off another first down on a reverse play and a crack at tackle. Rennick, on a spinner, planted the ball on Textile's 12-yard marker. 30 P. C. FRESHMEN PLAYERS ON HAND FOR OPENING DRILL

The first Providence College freshman football squad reported to Coach Joe McGee on Hendricken field yesterday afternoon to inaugurate the Dominican institution's initial venture in this department of the sport. Over 30 husky candidates answered the call for practice, but, as registration of players had not been completed by the time the work-out began, this number is expected to be swelled by late arrivals. With a nucleus of former schoolboy stars, including several from Rhode Island, Coach McGee looks forward to building a strong eleven.

Among the visitors who renewed acquaintances with the coaches were Fred Huggins, former coach of Providence Varsity eleven, and Ray O'Leary, who played tackle on an earlier Friar eleven. O'Leary is at present coach at Samuel Johnson Academy in Stratford, Conn. Charlie O'Keefe, star back from last year's Providence College football team, donned a uniform and assisted with the routine work with the yearling candidates.

Preliminary drills for the first-year squad will consist mostly of general work until the abilities of the men have been shown. Yesterday passing and kicking practice occupied the yearling candidates. A short rest was offered the squad while Coach McGee outlined his plans for the campaign.

The entire coaching staff was on hand to meet the candidates. Freshman line coach Charles McCormick instructed a group in charging while backfield coach Johnny Brady drilled two separate backfield combinations.

A revision has been made in the Freshman schedule. The R. I. Pharmacy game has been dropped as the pharmacists will not field an eleven this season. In its place the Friar yearlings will play the Boston College Freshmen at Boston on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 14. The new schedule reads:

- Oct. 14—Boston College '37 at Boston.
- Oct. 20—Holy Cross '37 at Providence.
- Oct. 27—St. John's Prep at Danvers.
- Nov. 3—Dean Acad. at Franklin.

Players from the Freshman and Junior Varsity eleven will form a team to meet the Yale Jayvees at New Haven on Saturday, Oct. 7 and the Harvard Jayvees at Cambridge on Friday, Nov. 17.

'Varsity candidates engaged in a skeleton scrimmage during the afternoon workout. Several men were tried out in the backfield in an effort to add reserve strength to the squad. Three new arrivals on the first-string squad were Carroll "Red" Gould, and Ed Sokolowski, both former Cranston High luminaries, and Jim St. Germain, Bulkeley High, New London.

* * *

Among the first year men to report were Henry "Hank" Soar, Pawtucket High star, Ben Abrams, Hope High centre, and Walter Garbecki, Seton Hall Prep and one time Tech first-stringer. The list of those who turned out yesterday follows:

Carlo Angelica, Enfield High, Thompsonville, Conn.; Ben Abrams, Hope High; Raymond Belliveau, Fitchburg High; Francis Burns, Warwick; Edward Banahan, New Haven; Leo Connors; Joseph Curnane, St. John's Prep., Everett, Mass.; Nicholas DeFeo, New Haven; Leo Davin, New Haven; Grant DesRoches, Ashland, N. H.; L. Freedman, Durfee High, Fall River; John FitzSimon, La Salle; Robert Fisk, Cathedral High, Holyoke; Walter Garbecki, Seton Hall Prep.; Edward Gill, Moses Brown; Raymond Hines; Al Hagstrom, Gloucester; John Joyce, Mission High, Brighton; Edward Kirby, Derby, Conn.; Joseph Lefebvre, La Salle; P. Lekakos, Hebron Academy; J. Lenihan, Rogers High; F. McQueeney, La Salle; James Boboras, Central; John McGovern; George McGuire, East Side High, Newark; Brandt Nelson, Cranston; Ray O'Meara, Staten Island; Joseph Padden; Henry Soar, Pawtucket; George Taft, Classical; R. Vaudreuil, Mt. St. Charles.

Providence College to Field

Freshman Football Team

MCCORMICK AND BRADY NEW MEMBERS ON COACHING STAFF

'Varsity Schedule Reduced and Lengthy Pre-Season Drills Eliminated

The elimination of a lengthy pre-season drill period, the announcement of two additions to the coaching staff, the reduction of the varsity schedule and the development of a junior varsity and a freshman slate, were the outstanding changes announced today by the Providence College athletic council. For the first time in years the Friars will not open their schedules in September, but instead will start on October 7 when they meet Rutgers.

The appointment of Joseph P. McGee, varsity assistant coach for the past two years, as head coach of the freshman and junior varsity teams and the selection of Charles C. McCormick, varsity tackle for the Friars several seasons back, as freshman line coach, and John V. Brady of Pawtucket, former halfback and quarterback for the Friar elevens as backfield coach of the yearlings, was made known today. McGee handled the junior varsity team last year in addition to his work with the varsity end squad and this season will send the freshmen through a four game schedule and the combined freshman squad and varsity reserves against the Yale and Harvard second teams.

PRE-SEASON DRILLS

START SEPTEMBER 14

Pre-season drills will not start until September 14, four days prior to the opening of college classes. Drills will be held twice daily until all classes of the college begin, when Coach Golembeski will switch to the single afternoon drill in preparation of the season's opener at New Brunswick. As the bulk of the varsity squad will be drawn from the two upper classes, and as these classes do not re-convene until Sept. 21, Golembeski will be able to get in a full week of intensive drill before resorting to the single drill daily. The freshman squad will assemble on Sept. 19.

* * *

The revised varsity schedule calls for but one game at home, the Niagara University clash here the first week-end in November. This game was originally carded for Saturday, Nov. 4, but as Brown meets Princeton here in a major tussle on that date, the Friar authorities have arranged to play Niagara on Sunday, Nov. 5, at the Cyclocrome. The remainder of the schedule calls for the game at Rutgers on Oct. 7, at Holy Cross on Oct. 14, Springfield on Oct. 21, City College in New York on Armistice Day, and Lowell Textile at Lowell in the finale on Nov. 18.

* * *

The combined freshman and junior varsity squads will have the distinction of meeting the Yale and Harvard second teams in feature clashes. The EM junior varsity which defeated the Friar reserves last year by a 6 to 0 score, will be host to Coach McGee's outfit at New Haven on Oct. 7, while Harvard will entertain the Dominicans at Cambridge on Nov. 17.

FOUR GAMES LISTED FOR FRESHMAN TEAM

The Freshman team, besides engaging in competition in the two junior varsity skirmishes, will play two games at Hendricken Field, meeting the Rhode Island College of Pharmacy on Oct. 13 and the Holy Cross freshmen on Oct. 20, and will also meet St. John's Prep at Danvers, Mass., on Oct. 27, and Dean Academy at Franklin, Mass., on Nov. 3.

* * *

Coach McGee's new assistants should aid in developing a very fine first year squad at the Smith Hill college. McCormick, a graduate of Technical High, where he starred as captain of the State championship football team, won varsity insignia for two seasons as a regular tackle for the Friar varsity eleven, and since his graduation has been actively engaged in football work as an assistant coach at Tech. Brady, star quarterback with the 1931 eleven, won varsity insignia twice for his play as a halfback, and once for his work as signal caller. Last year he studied at Notre Dame University, majoring in boy guidance and physical education work.

NAMED COACH OF FRIARS

Jack Brady of Pawtucket, above, is a backfield star, who will assist in moulding of Freshman team. Charles C. McCormick was appointed yearling line instructor.

Prospect for a successful varsity season appear very bright, with 20 lettermen available for service, and with a sizable and strong reserve squad ready to compete for first string assignments. Veteran lettermen are available for every position, with the line offering the strongest array of seasoned material. Coach Archie Golembeski will probably have to spend much of his time in building up the backfield force which was depleted somewhat by the loss of such stars as O'Keefe, DelVecchio and Croteau.

WRIGHT TO CAPTAIN 1933 FRIAR ELEVEN

Capt. Joseph Wright, who will return to college this year weighing close to 165 pounds, will undoubtedly be the pivot man of the backfield corps, as he is the best all round performer in the group. Although exceptionally fast, Wright has served mainly as a blocking back in the past, but this fall will be developed as a triple threat man. He is a fair punter and pass receiver, and has always shown to advantage as a running back.

* * *

The remainder of the veteran backfield group includes the two local quarterback brilliants, Carroll Gould of Cranston and Omer Landry of Central Falls, both of whom flashed some fine football last fall in their first season on the hill; Anthony Barbarito, New Haven sprinter, who now scales close to the 185-pound mark, and will prove an important cog in the Friar eleven; Ted LeBlanc, rugged Flushing halfback; Paul Healey of New Bedford, Jack Sloan of Cranston, Henry Shannahan of Staten Island and Johnny Caffrey, former La Salle ace. Big Charlie Rennick, John Monahan and Ed Sokolowski will be the fullback leaders.

Line candidates expected back for the opening drill include such seasoned performers as Davis, Roberge and Gobis, ends; Burdge, Boyle, Burns, McCarthy, Adamick, Lawler and Sullivan, tackles; Mathews, Owren, Kutniewski, Katznelson, Cusack, Clancy and Pepre, guards; and Schott, Feit, Morrison, Tierney and Mullervy, centres. Outstanding Sophomores who were inactive last fall, but from whom much is expected in a football way this season, are Rod McGarry, former Cranston tackle; Dan McQueeney, Bill McIntyre, Joe Myette and Jim Turbridy, all former La Salle stars; Hal Levene and Hal Weiner of Hope, Vin Carr of New Haven, Ed Moran of Nashua and Bert Skipp of New Haven.

FRIAR FRESHMEN

BEAT VARSITY 13-7 IN

1/2 HOUR SCRIMMAGE

Yearlings Show Offensive Power While Scoring Twice

Several Changes Made in 'Varsity Backfield During Workout.

Coach Archie Golembeski sent his 'Varsity squad through a hard three hours practice session yesterday afternoon which covered completely the fundamentals of football and concluded with a regular scrimmage against a Freshman eleven. With the first game of the season only four days away, the Friar mentor is putting the final touches on his team and making every minute of drill work count.

The scrimmage with the first-year men lasted a half hour, during which the yearlings showed a little more power on their plays and pushed across two touchdowns and kicked one point. Slow to start, the 'Varsity finally began to click and scored a touchdown after 20 minutes of play had elapsed. The score was 13 to 7.

The backfield combination did not satisfy the coaches, who made several changes in an effort to find a smooth-working quartet. Omer Landry, quarterback; Henry Shanahan and Anthony Barbarito, halfbacks, and Charles Rennick, fullback, were the four who started in the backfield.

Irving Katznelson replaced Barbarito after 10 minutes of the scrimmage, and Ed Sokolowski went in for Rennick. The 'Varsity scored their points when Henry Shanahan scampered for 30 yards behind fine interference to cross the yearling goal line. Landry kicked the point.

P. C. JAYVEES WIN OVER YALE TEAM

(Special to the Providence Journal)
New Haven, Conn., Oct. 7.—Several well timed forward passes and versatile place punting by the Providence College Jayvees enabled them to score a 7 to 0 victory over the Yale Junior Varsity here this afternoon.

Providence scored on a long toss from Garbecki to Belleveau in the third period. Leo Davin kicked the goal.

THE SPORT WINDOW

By GERALD PRIOR

THE LITTLE FELLOWS' DAY

THE smaller colleges have come into their own as far as getting football material is concerned. There was a time when the smaller institutions had to sit idly by while the larger degree-factories with their long lists of so-called athletic scholarships gobbled up all the promising pig-skinners in sight. Some of these able youths might have enrolled at aforesaid smaller schools, under ordinary circumstances, either because of sentimental reasons or because, as residents of the near-by vicinity, it was the natural thing for them to do. But when a youngster's way was greased into Metropolitan University or big, sprawling Cosmopolis with promise of free tuition, board, books and a soft job that would earn his spending money, he was inclined to think twice before signing on the dotted line at little, one-building Siwash, just around the bend, or old but miniature Minnehaha, just over the line in the next State. And after thinking twice he'd probably decide to pack his bag and see how conditions at Metropolitan suited a husky young guard or a line-mangling fullback. Now, however, the worm has turned, or, at least, it's crawling backward. Maybe the Carnegie Foundation's dig at intercollegiate athletics had something to do with it. Maybe, if you're cynical, it was the scarcity of the coin of the realm during the past few years. At any rate, the lists of athletic scholarships are shorter, big school alumni aren't nearly so eager to help a husky tackle on toward his Bachelor of Philosophy degree and the ill wind is blowing better football material in the direction of Siwash and Minnehaha.

A HELP TO FRIARS

PROVIDENCE COLLEGE, it appears, is one of the colleges to benefit by this swing of talent away from the larger schools. The Friars this year have a sweet assortment of freshman material, including some of the best of the crop from the local high schools and from those in nearby Massachusetts. An idea of the merits of the Friar freshmen can be gleaned from the fact that the Dominican junior 'varsity team which took a one-touchdown win away from Yale's Jayvees last week, was composed almost entirely of lads who are in their first year on the Elmhurst plateau. The Friars have a small 'varsity squad this year and most of the 'varsity subs were needed at Rutgers. So there was nothing to do but depend upon the freshmen at Yale and hope for the best. And the Friar coaches' fondest hopes were more than realized when the Dominican youngsters, although heavily outweighed, trotted off the field the victors. Tomorrow Freshman Coaches Joe McGee, Johnny Brady and Charlie McCormack will take practically the same team down to play the Boston College Freshmen at Newton. This time, however, the youngsters will be playing under their own team name, Providence College Freshmen. It's not expected to hurt their performance, however. They're favored to snare the Eaglets.

Just now speculation is rife as to how much this star-studded freshman ensemble will help Coach Archie Golembeski's 'varsity next year, provided they avoid the perils of trigonometry and such like and enter the sophomore class in a body. There's one fly in the oil, however. The freshman line is light and unless the lads add poundage they might be too minute to fill the shoes of such huskies as Charlie Burdge, Ollie Roberge, George Boyle, Dex Davis, Bill McCarthy and the other giants who will be lost to the Friars by graduation next June.

FRIAR YEARLINGS DOWN BOSTON 7-0

Hagstrom Tallies for Dominicans on Soar's Long Pass in Third Period.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)

Boston, Oct. 14.—The Providence College freshman eleven scored a well-deserved 7 to 0 triumph over the Boston College first year aggregation here this morning in the first Friar football victory ever chalked up over the Boston College outfit. The Dominicans presented a well-balanced aggregation which excelled in its line play.

For the first half both teams battled hard for a break, but the aggressive defenses prevented any successful goalward marches. Long punting by Garbecki of the Friars and Fadenza of the locals featured play in these two periods.

Shortly after Boston received at the start of the second half, the Friars broke through to block a punt, and then to start a march for what proved to be the winning score. Unable to gain through the line, Fadenza of Boston attempted a punt, but his kick was blocked by a fast charging Providence line, and Al Hagstrom of Gloucester recovered for the Friars on the Boston 30-yard tape. After two line plunges had been nullified by a five-yard penalty for offside, Frank Soar, premier Rhode Island school-boy athlete last year, dropped back and ~~made~~ a long pass down the field which Hagstrom took on the dead run behind the Boston goalline. Leo Davin place-kicked the extra point.

Along the New England Front

By LeRoy Atkinson

Providence, Oct. 11.
THERE are no Greater Boston boys on the Providence College varsity football team, but next Saturday morning the P. C. freshman will play the Boston College eaglets at University Heights (starting at 10 A. M.) and some Greater Boston lads will be seen in the visiting line-up. Ray Belliveau may not be a Greater Boston boy but he's well known in that vicinity. Ray is a protegee of Coach Clarence Noah Amiot of Fitchburg High and he is the star back in one of the greatest freshman teams in P. C. history.

Belliveau starred on so many Fitchburg High School basketball games against Greater Boston high schools that he is a familiar figure up around the Hub. Belliveau matriculated at P. C., probably on account of his basketball prowess. "General" Al McClellan of Swampscott is basketball coach here, turning out remarkable teams winter after winter. And Ray, now that he must part company with his beloved mentor at Fitchburg, has come to P. C. to play under the wing of another expert.

The Fitchburg boy is star ball carrier for the P. C. freshmen. He stood out in the recent scrimmage against the varsity players in which, with the first regulars out of the upper-class line, the freshmen won 13-7. Ray also stood out in the recent victory scored by the combined P. C. freshman-junior varsity team over the Yale jayvees.

Leo Bouzan of Brighton, Mass., is a big tackle on this crack P. C. freshman team and Tom Hazel, also of Brighton, is among those present. Big Pete Lakkas, who used to scare the wits out of little high school boys around Boston by glaring at them out of old-time Cambridge Latin lines, is here but he is on the injured list. Pete comes to Providence via Hebron (Me.) Academy. Al Hagstrom of Gloucester, Mass., will also be in the Providence lineup at University Heights Saturday morning. . . . And Henry Soar, last season's outstanding schoolboy back in Rhode Island, will team with Belleiveau in the backfield.

There may be greater strategists in the coaching game than "Archie" Golembeski, the Providence College coach, but there are few who have played as long as this man. He graduated from Holy Cross in '23, after winning wide fame as a running guard. After his graduation from the Cross, he was retained as freshman coach and later he joined the Providence Steamrollers, a pioneer in the professional gridiron industry. In '25 "Archie" was coach of the Steamrollers and that season he played in every position in the lineup. In '27 he gave up the professional playing field and became head coach at P. C.

Between times Golembeski, a big, powerful fellow with heavily-muscled jowls, dipped into pro wrestling and ran up a string of fifty victories before he ran into Gus Sonnenberg. So, if you are playing against P. C. this year and run afoul of a crotch hold and body slam in the process of the game, don't be surprised—and be a sport about it, too.

There is a heavy political atmosphere on the lofty P. C. gridiron.

Golembeski is running for the Worcester school committee and Assitant Coach Thomas M. Bride of Cranston, was recently defeated in a race for a seat in the Rhode Island Senate. However, Bride is at present a member of the Rhode Island Bar and is assistant director of the National Re-Employment Commission in this State. John Brady, who was star in that great '27 P. C. eleven that won seven out of ten contests, is coaching the backfield here. Charlie McCormack, star tackle in '31, is line coach and Joe McGee, ex-varsity end coach, is developing the freshmen.

Colembeski runs a clothing store in Worcester between autumns, being in business there with a brother-in-law. . . . There are Polish, Irish, Italian, Jewish, French, Austrian and Yankee boys on the Providence squad. . . . New uniforms of white and black are being worn here this season. . . . There are 700 students attending college here; P. C. is a liberal arts college and 300 students live outside Providence, although, like Boston College, it is a day school. . . . P. C. has inaugurated a system of basketball practice, opening outdoor courts with non-dribbling surfaces but a fine place to sharpen passing attacks. The P. C. basketball team will be entirely a varsity outfit.

LEO DAVIN TO LEAD

FRIAR FRESHMEN

New Haven Youth Is Left Tackle on Eleven.—Participates in Three Sports.

Leo Davin, regular left tackle on the Providence College Freshman football team, was elected captain at a meeting of the yearling players yesterday. Athletic authorities at the college confirmed his election late yesterday afternoon and Davin will lead the yearling eleven against St. John's Prep tomorrow. The newly elected leader was appointed team captain in the game with the Yale junior Varsity eleven on Oct. 7, and so impressed his teammates by his ability in directing the team that his election as captain yesterday was unanimous.

Davin is the first Freshman captain in any Friar sport to be elected by players as previous to yesterday the policy at the Dominican institution has been to appoint the captains of Freshman teams. He attended New Haven high in Connecticut, where he played in three sports, football, basketball and baseball. His capable performances in each of these sports earned him letters in each of the years during which he played.

Two years ago when the New Haven high football eleven won eight straight victories, Davin had a place on the first team, but, after participating in this successful season, he dropped football to concentrate on basketball and baseball. In basketball he was a regular at guard for three years and was elected captain of the team in his senior year. He led his team to victory in the Yale tournament in the same year and gave New Haven high a claim to the Connecticut schoolboy basketball championship. On the diamond Davin was a letterman for two years, playing at first base and in the outfield. His ability in this trio of sports placed him among the finest athletes to be turned out of New Haven high.

The new Friar yearling captain has played in two games to date and his slashing style of play at tackle coupled with his accurate placement kicking have made him an important man on the first team. He is two inches over six feet and weighs 185 pounds.

* * *

Coach Joe McGee is working his Freshman squad at top speed to prepare for the encounter with St. John's Prep. Today will be the final day of drilling for the yearlings who will leave tomorrow morning for Danvers, Mass.

The game will start at 3 o'clock in the new St. John's Prep Stadium. St. John's lost to Boston College Freshmen 6-0, while in their meeting with the Eaglets the Friar Freshmen came out victors 7-0. With one touchdown the margin of victory in both contests, the chances of victory for either team are even. Coach McGee will start the same lineup which faced Boston College.

The Varsity squad went through a light practice session yesterday afternoon. Several of the regulars were on the sidelines and did not get into the scrimmaging due to minor injuries. Dexter Davis and Bill Kutniewski were notable absentees from the practice workout.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)
Danvers, Mass., Oct. 27.—St. John's Prep came from behind in the final minutes today to defeat the first Providence College Freshman team in the history of the Rhode Island institution by a 13 to 12 score. The Prep team led 7 to 6 at half time, dropped behind when Providence scored a touchdown in the third quarter and pulled out the game three plays before the final whistle when Bery Voyer stood on his own 38-yard line and tossed a forward pass over the goal line to Fleck for the winning touchdown.

FRIAR FRESHMEN TRIP DEAN 6 TO 0

Lateral Pass, Belliveau to Soar,
Nets Dominicans Winning
Touchdown.

(Special to the Providence Journal)
Franklin, Mass., Nov. 3.—Balked in three line thrusts from within the five-yard line in the second period, the Providence College freshmen team took to the air here this afternoon to score a touchdown with Hank Soar, Pawtucket luminary, on the receiving end of a lateral from Ray Belliveau which netted a 6 to 0 triumph over the Dean Academy eleven. The victory was the third in four starts for the Friars.

Dean, fresh from a 19 to 6 victory over the Navy plebes a week ago, was unable to cope with the formidable running and passing attack of the Dominicans, and for the most part of the game was on the defensive. The only real threat the locals offered was at the start of the fourth period when they marched to the Friar four-yard stripe only to be held for downs with the ball but an inch from the goal line.

With Soar as the spearhead of the attack, the Friars staged a strong running game throughout the clash. Soon after the start of the game, the Friars opened a march into Dean territory only to be halted when Clary Haskell, former New Bedford high all around performer, intercepted a pass on his own 10-yard line. Play for the remainder of the period was nip and tuck.

As the second period started, Haskell punted and Soar ran the kick back to midfield. Then the Friar offence clicked at top speed with Soar passing to Belliveau for nine yards and Vitullo smashing through right guard on two successive plays for gains of 20 and 14 to give the Rhode Islanders a first down on the Dean seven-yard stripe. Vitullo hit centre for a total of three yards in two tries, but the gain was offset when a Friar backfield fumble put the ball back on the eight-yard line.

Then, on the fourth down, the Friars staged one of the prettiest scoring plays seen here in years. A backfield reverse, Rauschenbach to Belliveau, drew the Dean secondary to the left and Soar raced to the right to take a short lateral pass from Belliveau and scampered across the goal line without a single Dean player laying a hand on him. Davin's try for the extra point by placement missed the crossbar by inches.

The Friar defence had its chance to thrill the large crowd as the third period drew to a close. Brucado broke through the line, reversed his field and ran 40 yards before being hauled down by Ben Abrams, Friar centre. Three line thrusts netted another first down for Dean and then Sacco broke away for 14 yards and a first down on the Providence two-yard line.

Game played: November 3, 1933

Wilson was stopped for no gain as the period ended. Two more line thrusts were hurled back as a fighting Providence line, led by Capt. Davin and backed by Vitullo and Rauschenbach, offered stonewall resistance. On the fourth try Brucado drove at right tackle only to be stopped one inch from the final line as the Friars took possession and averted a tying score.

The entire Providence team turned in a fine all-round game, with the backfield quartet of Soar, Vitullo, Rauschenbach and Belliveau, who played without substitution, as the standouts.

Friar Freshman Coach

Friar Yearling Eleven Compiling Good Record

Coach Joe McGee Star Athlete at P. C. During Undergraduate Career.

The first Freshman football eleven in the history of Providence College is enjoying a fine season with four victories in five games played and owes much of its success to the man in the background, Coach Joseph McGee. Coach McGee is an alumnus of Providence College, having transferred from Holy Cross in his Sophomore year to study at the local institution. He played a prominent part in the building up of athletics at the local college, earning six varsity letters in three sports during his undergraduate athletic career.

Another honor which is held solely by Coach McGee is that of having been elected captain of the varsity football team twice in consecutive years. In 1921 McGee captained the first Friar varsity eleven and played at right halfback in the two contests scheduled for that year. The Friars dropped the first contest to a strong Boston College aggregation 25-0, but came back to win their first major victory from M. I. T. 6-0.

* * *

In 1922 McGee was again elected to lead the Friar gridgers and won a rank on the All-New England team of that year. The Friar 1922 record showed five triumphs and two defeats with victories over Lowell Textile, C. C. N. Y., Connecticut State, the big upset of that schedule, Coast Guard Academy and St. Stephen's. The losses came at the hands of Boston College and Holy Cross. In the Holy Cross game the Friar yearling coach played against Archie Golembeski, under whom he was later to work as end coach of the Friar varsity.

During the campaign of that year McGee alternated between left end and his halfback post. His last year of competition found him holding down the left halfback position on the varsity.

McGee prepared for college at Woonsocket high where he played football under Frank Keaney, present coach at Rhode Island State. After graduation Joe enrolled at Seton Hall Prep and then spent his freshman year of college at Holy Cross, coming to Providence College in 1921. At Woonsocket Joe began his career as a leader when he was made captain of the northern Rhode Island eleven.

* * *

Football is not the only sport in which Coach McGee is at home for he also won letters in baseball and played on the informal basketball team which preceded the Dominican college's entrance into major competition in this field. During the 1922 baseball season McGee was the Friar first sacker and in 1923 and 1924 played at second and at third. The memorable incident of the '23 schedule was the Friar victory over Dartmouth.

Francis Holland was captain of the nine and alternated with Joe at third and second. McGee was one of the pupils on Jack Flynn's first P. C. baseball team when Jack took over the coaching reins in 1924, and starred in that memorable 20 inning game with the Brown University nine.

McGee graduated with the class of 1924 with a degree of bachelor of philosophy. He took a post-graduate course at the Harvard School of Business Administration the next year. Before taking a coaching post at Providence College, Joe had decided success in handling semi-pro elevens, turning out a few State champions. Two years ago last fall, Joe accepted the position as end coach of the Friar 'Varsity and developed such capable men as Oliver Hoberge, Dexter Davis, Franzy Dromgole and Peter Gilligan.

* * *

Last fall McGee received the appointment as Friar Freshman coach and has turned out a team which has compiled to date one of the most favorable records of any yearling group in Friar sports. Joe has been aided in the work of selecting a smooth-working eleven from the wealth of material which turned out at the start of the season by Assistant Coaches John Brady and Charles McCormack, both of whom were luminaries in their playing days at P. C. The record of the Freshman team to date is:

FRIAR FRESHMEN PLAY AT PORTLAND

Providence College Yearlings to Meet Bridgton Team
Armistice Day.

In the encounter with Boston College Freshmen the Black and White yearlings handed the Eaglets their first setback of the season by a 7-0 score. "Hank" Soar, Rhode Island's outstanding schoolboy athlete of last year, pulled this game out of the fire for the Friar freshmen when he heaved a 45-yard aerial to Al Hagstrom, ex-Gloucester high luminary, who made a spectacular catch behind the Boston goal line for the only tally. Capt. Davin converted the point. "Hank" Soar again came to the fore in the St. John's game, reeling off a 70-yard run for a touchdown and taking a pass from Belliveau for the second score. St. John's tallied in the first and last periods and kicked the point-after to take the game, 13-12. Soar and Belliveau were instrumental in the third Friar victory when Soar scampered across the Dean goal line untouched on a clever lateral pass from Belliveau.

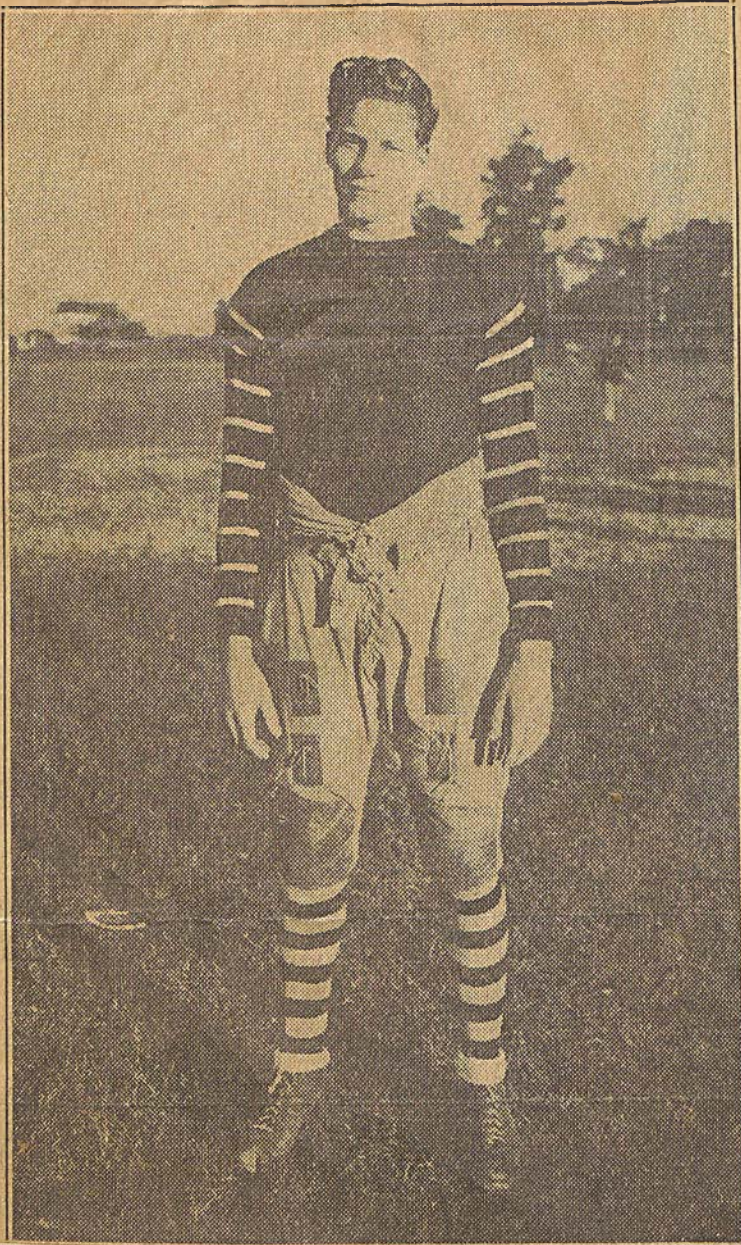

Coach Joe McGee is taking his squad to Maine with high hopes and believes that, barring unforeseen circumstances, they should defeat the Bridgton Academy eleven. The academy eleven is coached by Fred Ellis, former Tufts star, who has a fine team this year which has gone undefeated to date. Most of the players hail from Massachusetts and have been on an All team during their high school careers. Two regulars are from Portland, both former captains of Portland high teams. The game is being sponsored by the Harold T. Andrews Post of the American Legion and is billed as the biggest Armistice Day football attraction in the vicinity of Portland.

Coach McGee will take a squad of 22 players with him tomorrow and the team will leave directly for Portland working out on the Portland high field upon arrival.

With a very favorable record to date holding every indication of victory in their next contest, the Providence College Freshman football squad will leave Providence tomorrow for Portland, Me., to meet the strong Bridgton Academy team on Armistice Day. The Friar yearlings have won three of their four games played thus far, with the Yale Jayvees, the powerful Boston College Freshman eleven and the Dean Academy team as their victims. The lone defeat was by the margin of one point and came at the hands of the St. John's Prep aggregation, 13-12.

Several former schoolboy stars are on the squad and their fine work this season holds promise of better Varsity combinations at the Dominican institution in the future. Followers of the Black and White are watching with interest the progress of the yearlings with future Varsity teams in mind. In the game with the Yale Jayvees the two outstanding men were Ray Belliveau, former Fitchburg high three-sport star, who tallied the single touchdown of the game, and Leo Davin, three letterman from New Haven high, who kicked the point, and has since been elected captain. This is a singular honor which has been bestowed upon the 190-pound six footer from Connecticut as it is the first time that a Freshman team has elected its own leader. The procedure in other sports has been for the athletic authorities to appoint captains with the co-operation of the coaches.

Pilot Of Providence Frosh
Who Play Here On Saturday

One of the outstanding players on the Providence College freshman team which plays Bridgton Academy at the Stadium Saturday afternoon is Captain Leo Davin, former New Haven, Conn. gridman, who is holding down a tackle position. Davin is considered one of the best all around athletes ever to appear in Connecticut schoolboy circles.

Bridgton Academy's powerful and undefeated football team may have met some sturdy and rugged opposition this season in its grid ramblings over the State, but it is extremely doubtful if it has faced so big and so powerful club as it is due to tackle Armistice Day afternoon at the Stadium when it opposes the Providence College freshmen outfit in a contest put on under the auspices of the American Legion.

According to the dope received on the Friars' freshies, the Rhode Islanders have not only a fast but also a heavy eleven. The line, built up of players mainly from Massachusetts and Rhode Island high and prep schools, averages an even 180 pounds per man, and the backfield is but a single pound lighter. Abrams, the center, like a great many pivot men, is the smallest player in the line, weighing 165 pounds but his lack of weight is more than made up by the remainder of the forward wall. Two giant guards, who run the interference, Boboras and Lekakos, weigh 190 and 210 respectively, and a couple of charging tackles tip the Fairbanks at 190 and 180. They are Captain Davin and Andrews. The two wingmen, Hagstrom and Gill, balance off the line at 170 and 171, not especially heavy, but reported to be very fast and good pass receivers.

The backs led by quarterback Bellevue, an all-scholastic star last year in the Bay State, carries his 176 pounds around lightly, and the halfbacks, both considered good blockers, tip the scales at 180 and 191. Vitullo, the fullback, is the heaviest man on the starting team, weighing 188.

Thus with this weight backing up their reputed speed and deception, it would seem at a glance that the Providence eleven would be all and perhaps more than Bridgton could handle.

However, "Fish" Ellis has a week of hard work planned for his prep team this week, and if his pupils can only assimilate Ellis' teachings as well as he can demonstrate them, the Maine school should make a good showing against the invaders even if it enters the contest the underdog.

Bridgton Turns To Wide Open Offense

Special Despatch to The Press Herald

North Bridgton, Nov. 7 — The Bridgton Academy gridgers were sent through a rugged afternoon of conditioning today with much signal drilling and quick-starting practice. Ellis spent much of the time with his kickers and passers as well as equipping his team with several new play combinations to use against its Saturday opponents, Providence College Frosh. He found his passers had been leading the receivers too much on most of their throws and making it look as though the wings and backs were too slow in getting down under the tosses. His kicker, Al Besco, got off a couple of tough boots last week-end because of the opposing linemen hurrying him and Ellis held a watch on him today to speed up his timing.

Famiglietti, who has been doing the most of the booting this season has a knee injury which, although not hindering his running game, has practically ruined his punting for some time. He cannot straighten out his leg under the ball but is forced to kick with his knee hooked. This detracts too much power from his boots and he gets hardly any distance.

There will be a scrimmage Wednesday, if everything holds out as promised with blocking and tackling featured. The blocking of the linemen filling up holes left by pulling out and the blocking and protection on kicks and passes will receive a good going over. The reserves will be outfitted with the Providence Frosh formations and plays so that they will be able to run them against the varsity and give the regulars a chance to get acquainted with the appearance of the Friars' club's offense.

Ellis is planning to stress a more open game Saturday and leave off his ultra-power plays in favor of laterals and wide sweeps. Up to date the team has depended a great deal upon the husky line to open up holes for the backs but because of the size of their coming opponents the boys will have to leave off their plunging game and take to the ends and air for their victory. At least that is what the general appearance of their practice sessions has pointed to.

Legion Staging Battle At Stadium Saturday

Stellar Providence Frosh Eleven To Stack Against Bridgton On Holiday—Great School- boy Athletes In Both Aggregations

Though the two State Series games next Saturday are well up-State at Waterville and Orono, Portland has no cause to be envious as a battle between two "great" elevens is slated to be played right here at the Stadium on the afternoon of the holiday. On that day, a team which is termed the greatest Freshman grid machine in the history of Providence College is to stack up against Fred Ellis' Bridgton Academy moleskin aggregation, certainly one of the greatest, if not actually the greatest prep school team in the State this season. It will be the annual gridiron classic sponsored by the Harold T. Andrews Post, American Legion.

Of the many outstanding college freshmen, semi-pro, prep and high school games conducted under the direction of the Legion Post in the past none as an attraction overshadowed this clash between teams which came up to their games Saturday with undefeated records.

Fast growing athletically, Providence College is beginning to attract some of the finest schoolboy athletes throughout New England and beyond. One of these stars for whom a brilliant career in various branches of sport is predicted before graduating from the college down in the metropolis of Rhode Island is Ray Belliveau. As a three sport man at Fitchburg, Mass. High a year ago, Belliveau was rated as the best all around schoolboy athlete in the Bay State. He is a halfback in football, a forward in basketball and a second baseman on the ball club and he is as brilliantly adapted to playing any of the three.

Another Friar Yearling who is figured to cause plenty of trouble for Bridgton next Saturday is "Hank" Soar, of Pawtucket, who was voted Rhode Island's premier interscholastic athlete for the past two years. He too is a three sport man but is at his best in football, he being a backfield man. One of the most recent of his spectacular feats was turning in a 71 yard dash from scrimmage to score against St. John's Prep.

That Providence College is attracting players from beyond the borders of New England is attested to by the fact that both Len Hubbard and Bob "Happy" Rauschenback, who will probably see action against Bridgton as a halfback and center respectively, hail from Covina, Calif. For the present at least Hubbard has to be content with the role of understudy to Ben Abrams, scrappy Providence native who is regarded as the most aggressive pivotman developed in years.

Against this array, Coach "Fish" Ellis of Bridgton Academy has a husky band of former high school stars, too, who have had plenty of experience. Most of the Bridgton boys come from Massachusetts schools in or around Boston, and most of them have been on an All team.

However, Portland boys hold down two places on the regular eleven, both of them former captains of Portland High elevens. One is Jimmy Dodwell, who is playing at end, and the other Eddie Seay who is a running guard. Both have played very fine football this year for the prep team.

A former local coach, Fred Ostergren, has one of his boys on the team also, a guard, Bullock, though he is not a regular, having been nosed by Davis, from Lexington, Mass., and Seay. Besco, Berkeley, who was captain last year and a fullback, Wells, this year's leader, Roffman, and Sheehan, both centers, comprise the rest of the line and represent Bay State schools.

Bridgton's powerful and clever backfield of Dyer, Buckley, Flemigilletti, and Ike Sheehan, should give the Providence backs a great run for their money for top honors. All starred in high school, and have stood out prominently under Ellis' careful tutelage. Bill Woodward, another Portland gridmen, is a substitute fullback to Flemigilletti, and he also may see service during the Providence clash.

FRIAR FROSH BEAT BRIDGTON 6 TO 0

(Special to the Providence Journal)

Portland, Me., Nov. 11.—The Providence College Freshmen football team stopped the victory march of Bridgton Academy here today at the Portland Stadium by setting down Fish Ellis's team in a bitterly fought battle before a shivering crowd of fans by a 6 to 0 score. Scoring in the second period, the Friars' Frosh staved off Bridgton's threats, and nearly put over another touchdown of their own, the attack dying out on the three-yard line when Bridgton held desperately.

The Friars boasted a strong line, and a flashy backfield that exhibited two outstanding backs, Soar, a brilliant runner and passer, and Vitullo, a human battering ram. These two standouts were prominent in the Providence victory, and they sparkled all day, along with Andrew and Davin at the tackle berths and Abrams at centre.

A beautiful kick by Soar and a short hoist by Besco, Bridgton end, on the return boot, put Providence in scoring position on Bridgton's 40-yard line. Here the Friars lost five yards on a lateral on the first try, but Vitullo gained three back. A pass from Soar to Rauschenbach put the ball on the 19-yard line, and from here Vitullo crashed to the four-yard line on spinners and fake spinners. Four plunges then were necessary before he finally went over. Davin's try for extra point was wide of the mark.

Bridgton got two or three attacks well under way, but each time fumbles hurt their chances. Eddie Seay of Portland stood out brilliantly in the Bridgton line, as did Ike Shehan and Flemigletti in the backfield.

Providence Freshmen Defeat Bridgton, 6-0

Put Over Touchdown In Second Period To Win Bitter Struggle At Stadium Before Small Crowd

By Frank E. Curran

Bridgton Academy's final bid to retire undefeated this season was checked on the Portland Stadium gridiron Armistice Day afternoon by a burly and powerful Providence College Freshman team before 500 shivering fans by a 6 to 0 score. Balked by a potent line and by their own fumbles which always seemed to bob up just when they started to click, Bridgton's forces couldn't get together a concerted offense to even up for Providence's touchdown assault in the second quarter that produced the victory.

A long kick and a short kick told in a nutshell the story of the Friars' victory. The long one, and it was a beautiful one, was by Soar, Providence's flashy back and best ball carrier, for 61 yards and put Bridgton with its back to the wall on its own three yard line. Then came the short one by Besco, a boot that traveled but 30 against the wind, and gave Providence the one opportunity it needed to tally.

When it got the chance, the Friar offense dented the Bridgton line with enough frequency with the aid of one pass to march over for the tally that was to win the game. Bridgton tried mightily to even things up during the rest of the ball game, but against a much heavier forward wall and a team well drilled against an aerial game, Fish Ellis' outfit found itself balked when the goal line loomed before it.

The battle was grimly fought, but not particularly spectacular. With the weight on its side, Providence stuck pretty closely to power plays with a spinner and reverse tucked in now and then. Bridgton tried all its tricks, and they worked in spells wonderfully, but not consistently, so that while the scrap was a battle all the way, there was no streak of glittering runs that threatened to develop into long touchdown jaunts.

Vitullo Scoring Providence Touchdown

By Staff Photographer

Here is the play that beat Bridgton Academy at the Stadium Armistice Day afternoon as the Providence College Freshman team accounted for a 6 to 0 victory. Vitullo, diving over the line at the left of the picture is chalking up the touchdown after the Friars had brought the ball to the one yard line on a pass and drives by the Providence battering ram. It took four plunges from the four yard stripe for Providence to score as Bridgton doggedly fought off the heavier club.

Friars Tally

The only scoring of the day came in the second quarter, when things were going along somewhere near even. After Bridgton had ripped off a first down, both sides went to booting the leather as the lines stiffened. Finally Providence got the oval on its own 36 yard stripe, and Soar, a fine kicker and an even better passer, hoisted one into the wind. It sailed over Sheehan's head, and Sheehan was well back for the boot, to land on the three yard line.

Bridgton was in a tight spot, and tried to work its way out by running from a kick formation, hoping to catch Providence napping. But the Rhode Island boys weren't taking any siestas Saturday, and Besco finally had to kick. Against the wind, it was short and landed on the thirty.

Scenting victory, Providence took to the air away after a lateral had lost five yards, and Vitullo regained three, and Soar tossed to Rauschenbach to 13 yards and the ball was on the 19 yard line. Here Vitullo, a human battering ram, took up the burden for Providence and on spinners and fake spinners stormed to the four yard marker.

Bridgton stiffened there, and it took four rushes before Vitullo finally took the ball across the goal line. The kick by Davin for extra point was wide of the mark, but as later events turned out, it didn't matter.

Bridgton tried desperately to score after that, and once, passing from the 25 yard line, got into a load of difficulty as Garbecki intercepted. Bridgton, however, held on the three yard stripe, and got out of trouble. But if it did, it couldn't get Providence into trouble, and despite flashes by Desautels and Ike Sheehan, was forced to bow for the first time this season, as Providence turned back its every attempt.

Backs Flash

Providence showed two very strong backs in Soar and Vitullo. They caused Bridgton plenty of worry, with Soar always a threat to get away on a long jaunt. Fast and shifty, he was the most spectacular of the Rhode Island ball carriers, though Vitullo was by far the most powerful, battering the Bridgton forwards for many gains. In the line, Davin and Andrews played well as did Abrams at center.

For Bridgton, Sheehan and Desautels got in several nice runs, with Dyer doing a fine job of blocking for them. But Flemiglietti was the most potent with his bull-like rushes, and in addition played a sterling defensive game. In the line, Dodwell did well defensively and Seay and Davis made a flock of tackles that caused grief to their opponents' attack.

The success of the first freshman team in the history of Providence College this year is attributed not a little to the outstanding performance of two youngsters from California. Happy Rausenbauch, packing 180 pounds in a six-foot frame, and Ben Hubbard, about five pounds heavier and a foot taller than his pal, promise to be a great help to the Friars for the next three years.

Both boys were three sport stars at Covina High in Los Angeles, starring on the football team that won the state championship, in addition to ranking with the best basketball and baseball players in that section. Rausenbauch's great blocking in every game has made it possible for Hank Soar and Ray Belliveau to break away for long runs in every game. They are the first two boys from California to enroll at Providence.

FRIAR YEARLINGS END SEASON TODAY

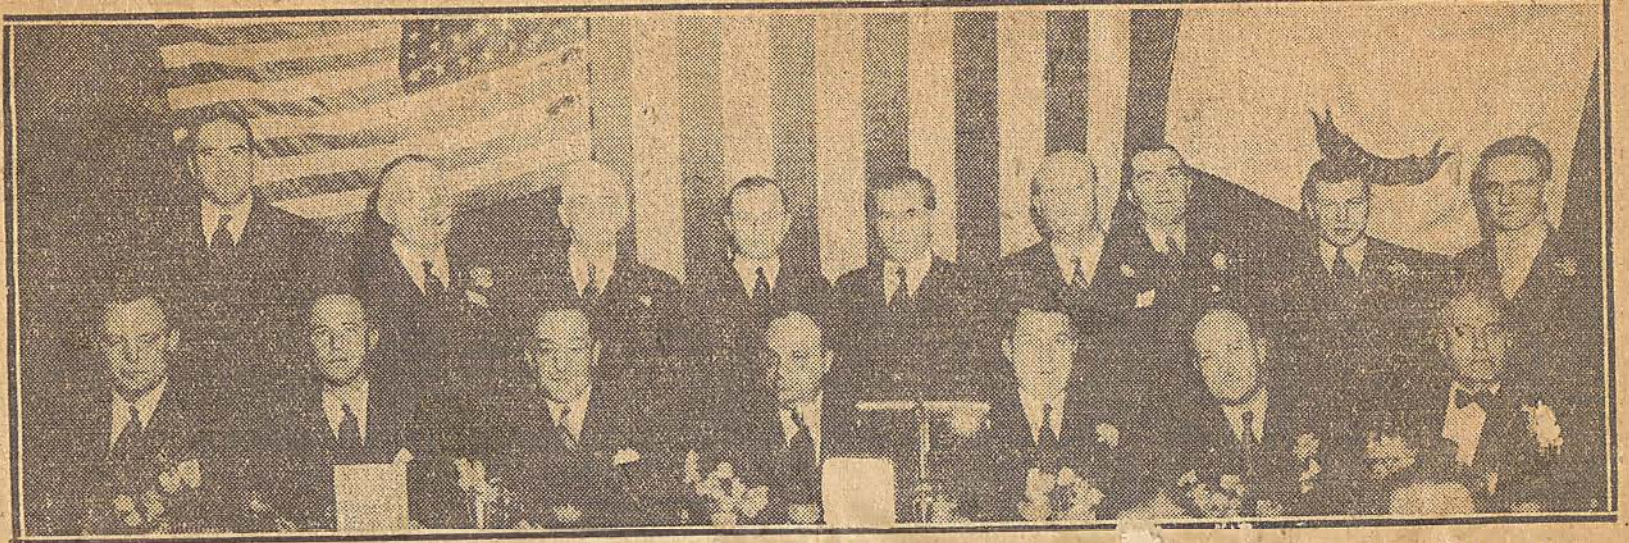

Play Harvard Jayvees at Cambridge; Banahan Moved to Left End.

The Providence College yearlings will terminate their schedule this afternoon on Soldiers Field, Cambridge, where they will stack up against the Harvard Jayvees in a game which will start at 2:15 o'clock. Coach Joe McGee will make few changes in his starting lineup although injuries have slowed up several of his youthful stars. Ed Gill, former Moses Brown star, suffered a torn ligament in the Bridgton game and will be replaced by Ed Banahan, New Haven high, who has been moved over from left end. Al Hagstrom, ex-Gloucester High athlete, will be at right end, the post at which he alternated with Banahan in previous games.

The entire Freshman squad will leave for Cambridge this morning by bus. With the possibilities of victory about even, Coach McGee will use his strongest available lineup in an effort to take the Crimson seconds into camp by an early score. The Friar Freshman goal line has been crossed only by St. John's prep in the five games played and the team is determined to prevent the Crimson Jayvees from spoiling its fine record.

HARVARD JAYVEES TIE P. C. FRESHMEN

Banahan Scores for Friar Yearlings on Long Pass from Garbecki.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)
Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 17.—The Harvard Junior Varsity football team maintained its undefeated record today on the frozen gridiron at Soldiers Field by holding the Providence Freshman eleven to a 6-6 tie.

A 25-yard jaunt by Braman Gibbs brought Harvard its only score early in the second period, but Providence came back later in the same quarter to tie the count when Ed Banahan snagged a 30-yard pass from Walter Garbecki to tally.

Paul DeGive, Varsity hockey captain, tried Harvard's point after touchdown, but the high wind deflected the ball. Dan Comfort, substitute centre, kept Providence from adding the winning point when he blocked the placement try.

Ray Belliveau, former Fitchburg high star, and Nick Vitullo were outstanding in the visitors' attack, while Gibbs, John Ware and Pierce Fuller dominated Harvard's attack.
