FRIARS ANNOUNCE BASKETBALL CARD

Providence College 'Varsity to Play 22 Contests
This Season.

A schedule of 22 'Varsity basketball games, the most pretentious to be attempted by a Providence College team in five years, was announced this morning by John E. Farrell, graduate manager of athletics at the local college. This list calls for eight home games, including feature contests with Harvard, Holy Cross, Springfield, St. John's of Brooklyn, and Rhode Island State.

Four of the home games will be played at the R. I. Auditorium, with Harvard as the opponent there on December 11, the season's opener, followed by Holy Cross on January 12, St. John's, arch rivals of the Friars in sports, on January 19, and the first of the Rhode Island State series on February 9. The return game with Rhode Island is listed for Kingston on February 28.

All in the all the schedule will present Coach Al McClellan with the stiffest assignments he has faced since his star team of McCue, Krieger, Wineapple, Wheeler, and Szydla won sectional honors in 1928. With almost the entire team of last year either graduated or lost through scholastic difficulties, the veteran Friar mentor faces a tremendous task of rebuilding.

Faced with Harvard and Yale in the opening week, McClellan will probably start his drills earlier this fall, and in all probability will depend a great deal on his Sophomore group which comes up to the 'Varsity fold with a record of being undefeated in 19 Freshman games. All of the Freshman squad is back in college and although many of them are now members of the 'Varsity football forces, they should be in top condition to swing into basketball late in November.

Captain Bill Kutneski, who is at present busy leading the gridders, also will be the outstanding veteran back for basketball. He alone survives of last year's star team which lost Bracken, Koslowski, Reilly and Roberge through graduation, and Shapiro by scholastic failure. Other experienced men whom McClellan will count upon in forming this year's team are Jim Bostick, clever Senior from Hoboken; Abe Feit, football centre; John Madden, co-captain of baseball, all lettermen, and Pat Morrison, who saw service as a guard last winter.

Who's Who in Rhode Island Sports

Providence College Will Play 22 Games by Basketball

Providence College, long a stand-out in collegiate basketball competition, will attempt one of the most ambitious programs it has attempted when it endeavors to sweep through a varsity schedule of 22 games with the outstanding cage quintets of New England, and the New York sector, next winter. The list as released this morning by Graduate Manager of Athletics John E. Farrell, calls for eight games at home, four to be played at the Arena, and four at Harkins Hall.

Harvard, Yale, Army, Holy Cross, Brown, Rhode Island, St. John's of Brooklyn, Dartmouth, Springfield, and Stroudsburg Teachers College are the standouts in the long slate announced today. Only three newcomers are listed, with Rhode Island booked for a home and home series, the first game at the Arena on February 9, and the second at Kingston on February 28. John Marshall College of Jersey City, listed to be met during the annual holiday trip to New York, and St. Anselm's of Manchester, N. H., who will be engaged in a home and home series. The annual Brown game will close the schedule March 13.

PURPLE BACK ON SCHEDULE

The return of Holy Cross to the list will renew once again the keen rivalry that was brought to a temporary close in 1931 when the Crusaders dropped basketball as a collegiate sport. Providence has yet to lose a court game to Holy Cross. The Crusaders will play at the Arena on January 12, and the Friars will go to Worcester for the return game on February 26.

The schedule opens with Harvard at Providence on Dec. 11, and then runs through a pretentious array of opposition which will test Al McClellan's charges to the limit. With such ace as Bracken, Reilly, Koslowaki, Roberge, Shapiro, and Ziment lost from the squad, the Friars will have to depend mainly on their sophomore material. Ziment, a second year student, has transferred to Illinois Dental School to complete his pre-medical course, and his loss will be keenly felt.

Bill Kutneski, Olneyville senior who holds the mantle of captaincy for the basketball forces as well as the football team this year, will be the outstanding veteran available for duty, although McClellan will also have three other lettermen ready for action in Jim Bostick, a forward; Abe Feit, football center, and John Madden, baseball captain, as guards.

BRIGHT STAR

The Friars have had a winning basketball squad for several years and a magnificent coach in General

McClellan. One of the bright stars in the forthcoming campaign will be Alfred Hagstrom of the class of '37, a Gloucester, Mass., boy who weighs 170 and stands five feet 10 inches tall. In addition to being an ace basket shooter and catcher on the baseball team, Hagstrom is a fine receiver of forward passes on the football field.

Aerials Hank Boar to Hagstrom accounted for two touchdowns against the City College of New York team here Saturday. The big blond is a popular athlete and will be a big noise on the court.

The undefeated freshman team of last winter will send a squad of at least twelve men up to the varsity, with such fine players as Hagstrom, Belliveau, Kleider, Gallagher, Lefebvre, Smith, Davis, Collins, Carey, Fairbrother, Angelica and Boar, certain bets to break into some of the action against the formidable opponents list for this winter.

The complete schedule is as follows:

Dec. 11, Harvard at Providence; 13, Yale at New Haven; 15, Stroudsburg Teachers College at Providence; 18, St. John's at Brooklyn; 19, John Marshall at Jersey City, N. J.; 20, Stroudsburg Teachers College at East Stroudsburg, Pa.; Jan. 9, Dartmouth at Hanover, N. H.; 12, Holy Cross at Providence; 16, Springfield at Providence; 19, St. John's (of Brooklyn) at Providence; 25, Pratt Institute at Brooklyn, N. Y.; 26, Army at West Point, N. Y.; Feb. 9, Rhode Island at Providence; 16, Lowell Textile at Providence; 20, Holy Cross at Worcester; 22, Springfield College at Springfield; 23, St. Anselm's College at Providence; 28, Rhode Island at Kingston; March 2, St. Anselm's at Manchester, N. H.; 6, Lowell Textile at Lowell, Mass.; 9, Worcester Polytech at Worcester; 13, Brown at Brown gym.

Besides the Rhode Island State series, the Friars welcome back to their court slate the Holy Cross team. The Crusaders dropped basketball following the 1931 season, and they return this winter with high hopes of smashing the record of the locals who have never lost a game to them in basketball. Two newcomers to the list are John Marshall College of Jersey City, to be met on the Christmas trip to New York, and St. Anselm's of Manchester, N. H., who is inaugurating Varsity basketball this winter.

The annual Brown game is listed as usual for the Brown gym, to be played on March 13, while Yale, Dartmouth and Army also retain their usual positions on the list.

The complete schedule is as follows:

December 11, Harvard at Providence; 12, Yale at New Haven; 15, Stroudsburg Teachers College at Providence; 18, St. John's at Brooklyn; 19, John Marshall College at Jersey City, N. J.; 20, Stroudsburg Teachers College at East Stroudsburg, Pa.; January 9, Dartmouth at Hanover, N. H.; 12, Holy Cross at Providence; 16, Springfield at Providence; 19, St. John's (of Brooklyn) at Providence; 25, Pratt Institute at Brooklyn, N. Y.; 26, Army at West Point, N. Y.; February 9, Rhode Island at Providence; 16, Lowell Textile at Providence; 20, Holy Cross at Worcester; 22, Springfield College at Springfield; 23, St. Anselm's College at Providence; 28, Rhode Island at Kingston; March 2, St. Anselm's at Manchester, N. H.; 6, Lowell Textile at Lowell, Mass.; 9, Worcester Polytech at Worcester; 12, Brown at Brown gym.

FRIAR FRESHMEN TO PLAY 17 GAMES

The Providence College Freshman basketball team will play 17 games during the coming season according to the schedule which was released yesterday. Bryant and Stratton will provide the opening opposition at the R. I. Arena on Tuesday evening in a prelim to the Friar 'Varsity-Harvard clash.

Coach Al McClellan has a promising yearling squad of 15 working out each afternoon which includes several former schoolboy stars. Ed Bobinski, from New Haven, and Charlie Kelly, who starred at Tilton last season, have shown up very favorably in practice. Other promising candidates are Leo Ploski, captain at Albany Central a year ago; Vic Lynch of Caldwell, N. J.; Dan Gilroy of Attleboro; Bill Moge of Springfield Tech, and Bill Spinner of Paterson Central.

The complete Freshman schedule is as follows:

Dec. 11, Bryant-Stratton at Arena; 15, Bridgewater State Teachers College at Harkins Hall.

Jan. 12, Holy Cross Freshmen at the Arena; 16, Springfield Freshmen at Harkins Hall; 19, R. I. College of Education at the Arena; 22, Becker College at Worcester, Mass.; 23, State Teachers College at Bridgewater, Mass.; 26, Bryant-Stratton College at City Gym.

Feb. 9, Rhode Island State Freshmen at Arena; 16, Becker College at Harkins Hall; 19, Holy Cross Freshmen at Worcester; 22, Springfield College Junior 'Varsity at Springfield; 23, Worcester Boys' Club at Harkins Hall; 26, Rhode Island State Freshmen at Kingston.

March 6, Assumption College at Worcester, Mass.; 9, Worcester Polytech Junior 'Varsity at Worcester, Mass.; 12, Brown Freshmen at Brown Gym.

College Basketball to Be Officially Opened

When Friars Meet Harvard

Clash Will Be Staged at Auditorium

Tomorrow Night's Contest
Promises High Class
Exhibition

By GERALD PRIOR

(News-Tribune Sports Writer)

College basketball will be officially inaugurated for the 1934 season tomorrow night when Providence College plays host for the first time to a Harvard team, meeting the Crimson hoopsters in a feature clash at the R. I. Auditorium on North Main street. The game will be preceded by a preliminary attraction which brings together the strong Bryant Stratton College quintet, and the Providence College freshman team.

Harvard, starting its second season under the tutelage of Wesley Fessler, former Ohio State all-American, gives promise of being the strongest court team in New England this winter. The Crimson hoopsters have two wins to their credit already, having defeated Boston University and M. I. T. last week. As a result the Cambridge visitors will have a decided edge over Gen. McClellan's untried cagers.

Interest in the contest is running high locally, and a large crowd is expected to watch the clash. Harvard will be out to avenge a 25 to 15 setback received from the Friars last winter, and at the same time climb a notch higher in the court game in this district, as Yale and Dartmouth are the only New England teams that have defeated the Providence College quintets in the past four years.

Friar Freshman in Preliminary Game at Arena Tomorrow

Providence College will open its basketball season tomorrow night when it meets Harvard at the Rhode Island Auditorium. Coach Wes Fessler of the Crimson will bring a team of veterans to Providence which has won two games in its first two starts and a highly interesting contest is in prospect.

Coach Al McClellan will start a team which will depend largely upon members of the brilliant Freshman five of last year. His one veteran from the first-string Varsity team of '33, Capt. Bill Kutneski, is a sure starter at guard but the other posts are not definite.

Last year Harvard put up a stiff battle against the Friars' veteran outfit and this year with more power the Crimson looms as a threat to any basketball team. However, the Friars have put in a week of hard drilling and Coach McClellan has not spared time nor energy in discovering his best combination.

At the forwards the choice seems to centre upon Al Hagström and Joe Carew while Ben Smith is expected to start at centre. In the back court Capt. Kutneski and Leo Davin will handle the duties.

The major encounter will start at 9 o'clock and will be preceded by a preliminary game at 7:30 p. m. between the Providence College Freshman team and the Bryant & Stratton five.

Providence College Athlete Became Southpaw When He Had To

Charlie Gallagher Injured Right Thumb; Now He Tosses Portside

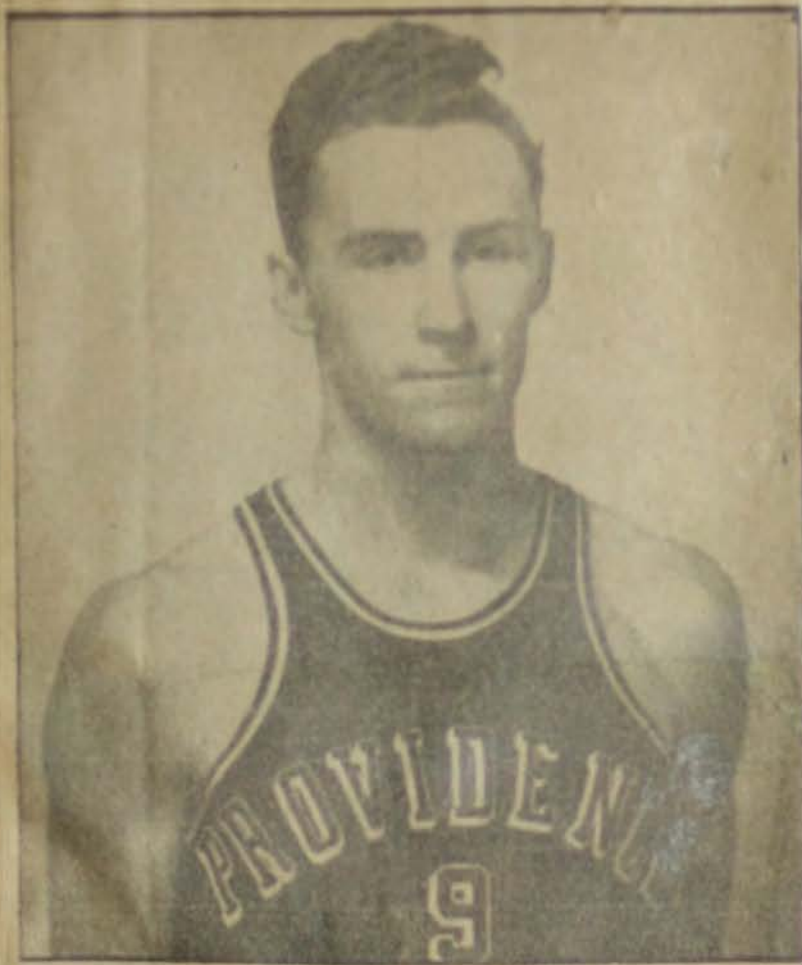

It is an ill wind that doesn't do some good, and when Charlie Gallagher, rangy Providence College sophomore basketball and baseball performer, split his thumb on his right hand last September and had to undergo an operation he had visions of being unable to play on Al McClellan's varsity basketball outfit this winter. However, Gallagher's injury has turned out to be good fortune in a rather strange matter, as it has enabled him to develop a sensational left hand shot, and as soon as he is ready for hard competition he will take his place in the Friar varsity first string array.

Every basketball player who is right handed is at a disadvantage on breaks to the right of the hoop on fast cut off plays inside the foul line, and to be able to drop the leather through the net is left handed is a real asset. Since his finger injury Gallagher has had his right hand well bandaged, and as a result he has been forced to do all his practice work with one hand, his left.

What appears at first as a hardship soon became an easy drill, and now the lanky Newton sophomore who was one of the outstanding players on the undefeated freshman team last winter, isambi dexterous, and he is on edge to get in the Friars' game with Harvard at the hockey arena next Tuesday night so that he can prove his ability.

Gallagher is one of the finest student athletes to wear the Black and White of the Friars in recent years. He is a standout in baseball as an infielder, and last spring captained the freshman baseball team through eight wins out of 11 starts. He is a fine hitter, and a good third baseman.

With Gallagher unable to start Tuesday, unless Al McClellan makes a last minute change, Joe Carew will get the call to team with Al Hagstrom at the forwards. This pair played the forwards with the freshman quintet, with Hagstrom serving as captain and incidentally collecting high scoring honors of the season.

CHARLIE GALLAGHER

MCLELLAN PICKS LINEUP

Coach McClellan of the Friars will depend on two seniors and three sophomores to form the starting array for the clash with Harvard. Capt. Bill Kuineski, all New England football guard, will be in the back court, with Abe Feit, his fellow classman who starred as centre with the gridders. This pair will give the Friars a sturdy defence, as both are veterans of two varsity campaigns and as such are well versed in the varied offences that the Providence outfit must cope with in its battles along the eastern basketball frontier.

In top shape after a strenuous football season, both Captain Kuineski and Feit are quite ready for their assignment of tomorrow. As understudies of this pair McClellan has Jim Bostick, small but aggressive guard from Hoboken, and Johnny Madden, baseball leader, and letterman with the hoopsters for two campaigns.

The offensive strength of the team will lie with Al Hagstrom of Gloucester and Joe Carew of Medford, who formed the first string set with the undefeated freshman team of last winter. Hagstrom, captain of the yearlings, is the best set shot that the Friars have had since Johnny Krieger was winnings games for the Smith Hillers. A graduate of Gloucester high, where he won county honors in all sports, Hagstrom then attended Cushing Academy, where he was outstanding in football and baseball. Last year he won numerals in three sports for the Friars, and this fall he held down the right end assignment with the varsity football team.

STAR SOPHS WITH FRIARS

Joe Carew, rangy sophomore from Medford high, won all Maine-prep school honors before he matriculated at the local college. He is fast and a fine running shot, and his work will be watched with interest tomorrow. Big Ben Smith, six foot two-inch center from Brockton, appears to have the call over both Fred Collins and Leo Davin. Smith excels at passing, and with coaching should develop into an outstanding performer.

Harvard will rely on the same team which overwoelmed M. I. T. by a 45 to 12 score on Saturday night at Cambridge. This lineup will put Captain Dick Boys at center, Grady and Ernst at the forwards, and Fletcher and Comfort at the guards. Comfort was regular football center for the Crimson this past fall.

In the prelim attraction which starts at 7:30, the Friar freshman team will endeavor to take up where last year's great quintet left off, and will endeavor to score a win over the Bryant-Stratton College team. The Business Men lost but two games all last winter, and both to the Friar freshmen, and this week will be out for revenge.

Providence College Five Has Stiff

Opening Test in Harvard Match

Crimson Has Title Hopes This Season

Large Crowd Expected to Turn Out for Friars'
First Appearance

By GERALD PRIOR

(News-Tribune Sports Writer)

The Providence College basketball team gets an unusually heavy opening test at the Auditorium tonight when it faces a Harvard quintet that sizes up as the best the Crimson has had in many a long, long year. This game, starting at 9 o'clock, will be preceded by a preliminary between the Friar Freshmen and the sharp-shooting Bryant-Stratton College five.

Gerald Prior

Tonight's game will be the first local college clash of the budding season. This fact, together with the possibility that it will be a ding-dong battle all the way, is expected to draw one of the largest early season crowds in local college basketball history.

While the Friars are running up against Harvard, the Brown and Rhode Island State fives will be looking forward to their games tomorrow night when the Bears make their third start of the season in a game with Clark University at Worcester and a promising State combination begins its campaign by taking on Arnold College at Kingston.

If the Friars are able to take the measure of the Crimson tonight, the victory will go a long way toward removing the doubts as to whether Coach Al "General" McClellan's sophomore-studded squad this year will be able to keep up the fine reputation the Friars have made on the college basketball court in years past.

PROVIDENCE CONTEST WILL FURNISH LINE ON HARVARD

Crimson's Court Outlook Very Promising

By Michael J. Foster.

Providence College, which comes to New York later this season to tangle with St. John's and C. C. N. Y., serves as a testing block for two of the Eastern League entrants tonight and tomorrow. This evening, the Friars play host to Harvard. Tomorrow they oppose Yale in New Haven.

Both contests will be watched with interest. Harvard has given evidence of possessing more court strength than it boasted last year, with one-sided victories over Boston U. and M. I. T. to its credit. Yale, a pre-season league favorite, was a disappointment in dropping its opener to the University Club of Stamford.

Al McClellan's outfit figures to make the tests severe for both the Cantabs and the Elis. He has three sophomores in his first-team lineup, but those sophs were all members of a freshman team last Winter which won nineteen straight victories without suffering a single loss. McClellan's record of 97 victories in seven years at Providence speaks well for the Friars, too.

Captain Bill Kunetski, guard, and Al Hastrom, forward, are the only veterans in the Providence lineup. Al's running mate is Joe Carev. Abe Felt plays guard with Kunetski, and John Smith, a big, aggressive youngster, handles the pivot assignment for the Friars.

CRIMSON TOUGH FOE

Harvard is nobody's setup this year. Wesley Fesler, of Ohio State fame, appears due to come into his own as a college basketball coach with this present Harvard hookup. Witness the way the Johns have performed in their two tilts thus far, rumping over Boston University, 40-26 and hammering a good M. I. T. quintet, 45-12.

Tonight's game will be Harvard's final test before the Crimson begins its Eastern Intercollegiate League campaign in a game with Penn at Philadelphia. It's no secret that Harvard has rosy visions of copping that league crown this season and also of winning the New England title. To get the latter honor the Crimson will have to dispose of the Friars.

Last year the Friars stepped out to a 25-18 win over Harvard. Times have changed, though, and the Friar team tonight will present a far different front from the outfit that took the measure of the Crimson last year.

Last June's graduation, together with withdrawals from college, resulted in one of the heaviest allices the Friars have ever suffered in the matter of basketball talent. Of last year's crack combine, Capt. Bill Kutniewski, regular guard, and Abe Felt, reserve guard last season, will be the only players with 'varsity' experience taking the floor at the opening whistle tonight.

THREE SOPHS TO START

Sophomores will fill both forward positions and the important centre post on the Friar combine. All three are players who proved their ability with an undefeated Freshman club last season, but still they're newcomers to the 'varsity' lineup and Coach McClellan refuses to get optimistic about the prospects, until he sees how the new hook-up works in actual play.

The forward roles will be taken care of by Al Hagstrom, captain of last year's Freshman five, and Joe Carew, brilliant floor-worker from Medford. Ben Smith, six foot, two inch Brockton lad, will be the starting centre.

Harvard's starting lineup will probably consist of Jim Grady and Capt. Dick Boys in the forward roles, Bill Gray at centre and Dick Fletcher and Charlie Kollinties at the guards.

The preliminary game between the Friars and Bryant-Stratton is expected to be keenly fought. Bryant-Stratton will be out for revenge since the only two setbacks on the Indians' list last year came at the hands of the Friar Freshmen.

The Friar yearlings will line up with big Ed Bobinski, former New Haven high leader, and all New England schoolboy choice, at centre; Bill Moge, Freshman fullback, at one guard, and Bill Spinner, Paterson product at the other defence assignment, and Lee Ploski, who won court honors last winter for Central high in Albany, teaming with Charlie Kelly, lanky Wallingford and Tilton Prep product, in the forward court.

Friars Give Classy Performance

in Defeating Harvard Five

LOCAL HOOP QUINTET HOLDS CRIMSON FORWARDS IN CHECK

Bryant and Stratton Triumph Over
P. C. Freshmen 45 to 33

Pick a spot up near the top for the Providence College varsity basketball quintet. The manner in which it opened its season against an undefeated Harvard five was convincing proof that Al McClellan again has builded capably and well.

From the opening whistle last night right through to the final gun, the Friars led, and most of the time they were ahead by such a convincing margin that the outcome of the contest was almost a foregone conclusion. The black and white stalwarts were air-tight in defence, and very often on the rampage in offence. The hard-pressed Crimson warriors had trouble even getting an unobstructed shot at the basket.

Playing the game on the Rhode Island Auditorium floor before a mediocre crowd, considering the offering, both teams found some difficulty keeping their footing. A liberal dousing of gasoline on the rubber-soled shoes aided some, and the varsity feature game moved along better than the preliminary.

Al Hagstrom, Joe Carew and Bill Kuzneski each gathered nine points for the winners, and Bostick was only one step behind with eight. Gray of Harvard led his teammates with 6, and Kollinites, guard, who was retired with foul fouls midway in the second half, gathered 5. You'll know the manner in which the P. C. guards did their work when you note that three Harvard left forwards gathered but one field goal each, and the right forwards were held scoreless by the field goal route.

HARVARD FIVE LOSES TO PROVIDENCE, 45-21

Crimson Unable to Solve Friars' Defense

Special Dispatch to the Globe

PROVIDENCE, Dec 11.—The Providence College basket-ball team opened its season tonight by defeating Harvard, 45 to 21. The Crimson quintet was outdistanced after the first 10 minutes of play.

A dazzling passing game backed up by an airtight defense gave the Friars the upper hand throughout. Providence led 20 to 9 at the end of the first half. Harvard was able to get only three baskets from the floor in this period and all were registered from far out on the court, two by Grady and one by Kollinites. Meanwhile Providence was piling up nine.

Harvard's team-work showed a big improvement in the first few minutes of the second half but the Crimson could not break through the Friars' defense. However, they shot four field goals in this half but Providence ran wild, getting 12.

Hagstrom, Carew, Bostick and Kutneski led the Providence scoring attack. Grady, White, Kollinites and Gray played best for the Crimson. The summary:

FRIAR QUINTET BEATS HARVARD 45-21 AT ARENA

Carew, Hagstrom, Kutneski
Lead Attack; Bryant-Stratton Wins Prelim.

The Providence College basketball team, composed mainly of Sophomores, won an impressive 45-21 victory over Harvard last night at the R. I. Auditorium in the opening game of the season for the Friars. The Friars presented a smooth working quintet which moved through the Harvard defence with precision and capitalized upon every Crimson mis-play.

The Friars took the lead after a minute and a half of play and were never in danger of losing it thereafter. Despite a frantic attempt on the part of the visitors in the second half to close the wide margin between the scores the Friar second team subbing for the regulars in the final minutes, continued a steady game and stopped the Harvard threat.

Wildness upon the part of the visitors in passing and basketshooting spoiled many chances to score. Harvard broke away up the floor again and again only to fail to score under the basket on poor timing.

Joe Carew opened the scoring when he sent Providence a basket ahead after one minute and a half of action. Capt. Bill Kutneski, Al Hagstrom and Jim Bostick figured in the scoring in addition to Carew in the first half to put the Friars ahead 20-9 at the midway gun. Bostick flipped in a fast pass from Kutneski for a spectacular basket in the first half. Al Hagstrom dropped a basket into the nets on a twist shot over his head and took a cross-court pass from Carew to score from the corner on the run for two feature bits of play in the same period.

In the second half the Friars continued to dominate the play. Coach McClellan rushed in subs constantly after the resumption of play but the Friar attack continued to function well. Jim Bostick and Joe Carew contributed some fancy shots to enliven the one-sided affair and Bill Gray, six-foot Harvard centre, broke away up the floor to tally a pair of baskets.

Harvard lost Kollinites on personal fouls shortly after the start of the second half and the Crimson missed his steady play. Kollinites made five of the nine points the Crimson scored in the first half.

Games Played: December 11, 1934

Coach McClellan used an army of substitutes, taking up the practice late in the game of removing each contender as he gained an additional basket. But the substitutes moved along almost as fast as their peers, for after a prolonged scoring spree late in the game, P. C. let down noticeably only as the final stretch loomed up. Harvard gathered eight points in the final moments of the game, but that made scant impression on the staggering lead that the home team had built up through the middle courses of the journey.

Providence played hard, exacting basketball, and kept Harvard on the run all the way. The Friars had a 20 to 9 advantage at half time, and midway through the final half had built that up to 35 to 12. Harvard opened fast and furiously and drew down some early fouls due to the difference between Eastern Association and Intercollegiate League of-relating. That tendency wore off, but not until Kollinites had been removed for making four fouls.

Bryant and Stratton showed a fine team in the preliminary and moved ahead of the Providence freshmen, 45 to 33. Better teamwork, a more finished brand of play, and expert passing and shot-making told the story there. The freshmen will undoubtedly do much better when they have had additional time to work together and perfect their passing and shooting.

FRIAR FIVE PLAYS AT YALE TONIGHT

Dominicans Seeking Second Victory of Season; Have Chance to Tie Series.

Providence College's Varsity basketball team will attempt to continue on the victory path tonight when it meets Yale at 8:30 p. m. in the Payne Whitney gym, New Haven. Victorious in its opening game with the Harvard the Friars are ready for their second major test of the week.

The same smooth-working quintet which faced Harvard will start against Yale but it appears certain that many subs will see action. Against the Harvard team the Friar reserves showed as much power as the regulars.

Joe Carew and Al Hagstrom, sophomore forwards, continued to flash the brand of steady playing which marked their work with the Freshman team last year. Both players showed an eagle eye for the basket and Carew turned in a defensive game which was topped only by Capt. Bill Kutneski's display.

The Friar captain played an airtight game on the defence and accounted for four field goals and a foul loss to tie for scoring honors with Carew and Hagstrom. Ben Smith was consistent at centre and his passing furnished many opportunities for his teammates to score. With Abe Feit at left guard Coach McClellan will have a strong starting team, which played like a veteran outfit against Harvard.

In addition to the first team Coach McClellan will take seven players to New Haven. Jim Bostick, John Madden and Milton Bleiden, guards; Fred Collins and Leo Davin, centres; Ray Belliveau and Charles Gallagher, forwards, will complete the squad making the trip. Bostick, senior guard, scored four goals against Harvard and turned in a clever performance which may win him a starting assignment tonight.

The record of the series with Yale shows four victories for the Elis and three for Providence. The scores have been:

	Providence College	Yale
1926	23	53
1928	28	27
1929	21	30
1930	23	34
1931	22	26
1932	29	59
1933	33	32

In a preliminary, Bryant-Stratton partly avenged the two setbacks received last year at the hands of the Providence College Freshmen by defeating the Friar yearlings 45-33. After holding a one-point lead in the first quarter the Freshmen could not stop the flashy Walter Utke, Bryant and Stratton forward, and went down fighting before the Indians' speed and alertness.

Utke was the outstanding man on the floor and caged baskets from every range, several of them from almost mid-court. He scored 25 points, more than half of the winners' total. Ed Bobinski with 14 points, was high scorer for the Freshmen.

FRIARS WHIP

EAST STROUDSBURG;

Providence College Defeats East Stroudsburg 51-40

Friars Stage Strong Finish to Triumph.—Dominican
Yearlings Victors.

Threatened by a strong East Stroudsburg rally in the second half, Providence College's basketball team was forced to stage a whirlwind finish to defeat the Teachers 51-40 last night at Harkins Hall. The Friars enjoyed a 30 to 15 margin over the visitors in the first half and on the run of the play would have had no difficulty in winning. But East Stroudsburg came back with a rush in the second half and extended the Friars to their best basketball before dropping the decision by the close margin of 11 points. The score stood at 40-24 after five minutes of the second half had elapsed and, led by McCulloch, right guard, the visitors ran it up to 40-36 before the Friars found the range again and returned to the scoring battle.

In the second half the game grew rough as the players fought for possession of the ball and the guarding was so close that most of the baskets were necessarily of the spectacular sort. With Capt. Bill Kutneski feeding the ball to his teammates for set-up shots, the Friars battled to the front. Joe Carew combined perfectly with the Friar captain to register four baskets, all made on the run with machine-like precision.

In the first half the Friars dominated the play and led 6-3 after five minutes. Stroudsburg's points all the result of foul baskets. Ben Smith, Friar centre, opened the scoring in the first 10 seconds of the game when he took a pass from Carew and scored with a one-hand flip into the basket. Al Hagstrom and Capt. Kutneski contributed a major portion of the Friar's points in the first half and the Friar's led 30-15 at the intermission.

Lead Changes Hands Seven
New Haven.

(Special to the Providence Journal)

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 13.—Yale exhibited brilliant basketball strategy tonight in outscoring Providence College, victor over Harvard, 41 to 26, in a game in which both teams displayed mid-season form in accuracy of shooting and defensive strength. The lead shifted seven times, five in the first half in which Yale's lead of five points, all made by Capt. Egbert Miles, was speedily sliced by well distributed Providence scoring. Yale led only 19-17 after the remainder of the see-saw first half.

Although Ben Smith's long toss tied the count in the opening minutes of the second half, Yale headed by Jimmy DeAngelis and Tommy Wilson, deluged the Providence basket with goals from difficult angles and clinched the victory. Capt. Bill Kutneski's closing goal of the first half from mid-floor easily was the most brilliant individual shot of the evening.

Robert (Buddy) Miles, brother of the captain, was carried from the floor late in the second half with a wrenched knee. Tom Wilson and Capt. Miles fought a close struggle for individual scoring honors and Wilson finally won 14 to 11. Kutneski's nine points led the visitors. Al Hagstrom finished a brilliant game with a total of six points. Carew of Providence and Larry Kelley, Yale's football end, displayed rare defensive basketball.

FRIARS TO PLAY ST. JOHN'S FIVE

Victory for P. C. Will Be 100th
During McClellan's Coaching Tenure.

Coach Al McClellan of Providence College is looking forward to his basketball team's first invasion of New York and vicinity this year with more than usual interest for a victory on this trip will be the 100th since he took over the coaching duties at the local institution. The Friars encounter the strong St. John's quintet tonight in the first of the three games scheduled on their trip.

Since the 1927-28 season, when he started to tutor the Providence College courtmen, McClellan has raised his teams to a high place in Eastern intercollegiate basketball ranks and his players have won recognition on all-American and all-New England teams. Prior to the present season his Varsity aggregations scored 97 victories in 131 games. At the present time the record shows 99 victories in 134 games and McClellan looks forward hopefully to the 100th victory, a noteworthy milestone in his career.

The Friars face the rugged competition as presented by St. John's of Brooklyn, John Marshall of Jersey City, and the State Teachers of East Stroudsburg with a record of three victories and one defeat. If they can continue the excellent game they played against Harvard and summon the last minute rally to their advantage as they did against Stroudsburg the Friars should make a success of their road trip.

Coach McClellan will depend upon the regular starting lineup against St. John's tonight at the De Gisi Gym in Brooklyn, holding five capable men in reserve. Capt. Bill Kutneski will lead his team into action with Abe Feit as his running mate. Big Ben Smith will start at centre and the forwards will be in the hands of Al Hagstrom and Joe Carew. The reserves who will make the trip are Ray Belliveau and Charlie Gallagher, forwards; "Lefty" Fred Collins, centre; and Jim Bos-tick and Milt Bleiden, guards.

The Friar Freshman team will be idle until Jan. 12 when they meet the Holy Cross Freshmen in a preliminary game at the R. I. Auditorium. Holy Cross will furnish the Varsity opposition in the main attraction. After the Christmas holidays the Varsity will play Dartmouth at Hanover on Jan. 9 and then swing back home for the Holy Cross game.

Dominicans Give Redmen Toughest Battle of Cur- rent Season.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)
New York, Dec. 18.—The scoring opportunism of Dave (Java) Gotkin, the flashy midget, and the unerring eye from the foul line of four of his mates, gave the St. John's basketball team a 40-37 triumph over a brawny Providence College quintet tonight at the De Gray gymnasium. It was the fourth straight for the Redmen.

With each team scoring 13 baskets in a wild melee that cost each quintet the services of one of their starters for personal fouls, the Redmen, led by Gotkin, made good 14 of their 15 chances from the 15-foot line to 11 out of 22 for the visitors for their margin of victory.

Providence, coming to New York with a team that was short on finesse, but long on aggressiveness and speed, gave the Redmen their toughest battle of the season. Charley Gallagher, a rangy Sophomore, who shot them up with one hand, captured scoring honors for his team, with eight points, six of them coming in the first half spurt. Bill Kutneski, captain of both football and basketball, was right behind with seven.

The Friars will oppose the John Marshall five tonight. This team is a new opponent on the schedule for the Dominicans.

DOMINICANS BEAT STROUDSBURG FIVE

Friars Score 45-41 Victory to Score 100th Win Under McCellan's Regime.

East Stroudsburg, Pa., Dec. 21—(AP)—The Providence College basketball team, defeated by St. John's and John Marshall in their two previous road games, finally came through with a victory here last night by subduing the East Stroudsburg Teachers' College quintet, 45 to 41. This was the second victory of the season for the Dominicans over the Teachers.

Incidentally, the game marked the 100th victory that the Friars have scored since "General" Al McClellan took over the coaching reins.

The Friars played an excellent game to score their triumph over the home team, which also showed to advantage. The play was close throughout the battle, but the Providence players had the stronger finish.

The Providence scoring was well distributed with Hagstrom and Smith sharing individual honors with nine points each. Capt. Bill Kutneski and Gallagher contributed eight points each to the Friar cause while Carey made six.

The Teachers' attack was led by Archer, who tallied eight points, and next came Evans with seven points.

This game marked the end of the road trip for the Dominicans, and their record was two defeats and one victory.

Late Rally Gives Friars 42-35 Victory at Hanover

Madden and Kutneski Lead Scoring Spree as Dominicans Trip Dartmouth.

(Special to the Providence Journal)
Hanover, N. H., Jan. 9.—Providence staged a strong second-half comeback tonight to trounce Dartmouth in basketball, 42-35, after the Green had shown the way during the entire first half.

Dartmouth rolled up an early advantage through quarter-court shots which went true, but a flurry of baskets by Kutneski of the visitors tied the count at 15-15 a few seconds before the half ended. Then Capt. Al Bonniwell sank two baskets and a foul to put Dartmouth ahead 18-15 at half time.

A different Providence team took the floor, displaying clever teamwork, especially by Guards Madden and Kutneski, who outwitted the Dartmouth defence after a basket by the former had tied the score and the latter's quarter-court shot put the visitors ahead for the first time during the half. Hagstrom then sank a long shot, and two Bonniwell scores brought Dartmouth to one point of the tie, but it was the nearest the Green came for the rest of the game.

Capt. Al Bonniwell was high scorer for the evening with 16 points, but he could not rally his team to an effective passing game, while Dartmouth in overeagerness lost the ball time and again to the visitors on direct passes. Sid Krivitsky scored his eight points all on long shots near the centre line.

Dartmouth relied on the starting five for most of the game, and this combination seemed to tire at the end after putting up a valiant battle. Gallagher and Kutneski led the Friars' attack, the latter just falling one point short of Bonniwell's total, making several of his baskets on double and triple passes under the basket while the Green defence shifted.

Referee Tobey, who was to have worked the game with the colorful Pat Kennedy, was delayed south of here by floods, and the work of the loud-voiced arbiter, who was forced to do a solo job, was one of the evening's high lights.

Providence College Basketeers Display Fast Passing Attack at St. John's Hall

Upwards of 300 fans, a third of whom were women, witnessed the Providence College basketball squad in a two-hour drill at St. John's gym last night. The Friars meet Dartmouth's varsity quintet tonight at Hanover and stayed here over night, en route from their Rhode Island citadel.

The college players appeared shortly after 7 o'clock, attired in natty blue uniforms with white stripings, and for 15 minutes they passed the ball around, then, under the watchful eye of their gigantic coach, Al McClellan, worked the ball into the basket, practiced pivoting and "getting" the ball before attempting their shots.

McClellan has some big men on his varsity outfit but not one of them can come up to him in size. He tips the scales at something over the 250 mark and is more than 6 feet, three inches tall, taller than his tallest center.

McDonald Referees Scrimmage

Toward the end of the two-hour workout the squad was divided into two teams and for the benefit of the fans who stayed through to the very end, put on a scrimmage that lasted more than 10 minutes.

Danny McDonald, assistant to Head Coach Slattery of the St. John's hoop squad, refereed this tilt and handled the "game" like a college official.

The Friars displayed a fast passing attack, emphasizing their passing in preference to any show of scoring. But they have the stuff when it comes to basket-shooting, and although none of them would make any predictions about tonight's game, those who saw them in practice are convinced they'll give whatever Dolly Stark has in the way of a team at Dartmouth a real battle.

Father Kenneally faculty manager of the Catholic high athletic teams, played the role of host to the visiting collegians, while Coach Slattery was also on hand to greet them.

Local Players Watch

All members of St. John's court squad, as well as basketball players from Concord high, East Concord and the Y. M. C. A. attended the exhibition, picked up many valuable pointers.

The collegians were sporting new warm-up jackets of dark blue with white markings. These uniforms, complete, entailed an expenditure of more than $25 per player. Faculty Manager John Farrell, former Concord boy, told local friends who peppered him with all kinds of questions concerning college basketball.

One thing was accomplished by the Friars in their overnight stop here—they acquired a new set of admirers among the Catholic high players, who'll be pulling for them to scain the Wah Hoo Wahs in their Hanover engagement this evening.

Providence College's Varsity basketball team swamped Holy Cross 59-13 last night at the Auditorium as the Friars piled up the largest score they have registered against an opponent this season. The Dominicans had an overwhelming lead of 37-1 at the end of the first half as the visitors failed to show any concerted attack and were unable to stop the fast-moving Friars.

Coach "General" McClellan used his entire squad against the Purple and the reserves displayed almost as much strength as the Varsity. The finesse of the first-string team was superior to that of the second-string and it kept Holy Cross from gaining possession of the ball for minutes at a time in the first half.

George McCartin, Holy Cross centre, made a successful shot from the foul line to give the Crusaders their only point in the first half. Played almost to a standstill by the swift Friar attack, the Purple was not able to muster much of an offensive in the first period. In the second period the Friar second team was in action except for the last three minutes and the visitors were able to raise their score by a dozen points.

Ben Smith started the scoring for the Dominicans in the first minute of play when he took the rebound of Capt. Bill Kutneski's attempt from midcourt and flipped it through the net. Smith showed fine form with four more baskets from the floor in the course of the evening. Capt. Bill Kutneski, Joe Carew, Al Hagstrom and Abe Feit contributed some spectacular shots to enliven the one-sided affair.

At the start of the second half Coach McClellan sent his second-

Green Five Loses To Friars By 42-35

Bonniwell and Kutneski, Rival Captains, Star As Indians Lose Early Lead

HOME DEFENSE WEAK

Final Scoring Effort Fails
As Opponents Take Lead
With 12 Straight Points

Staving off a determined Green rally and retaliating with a protracted scoring spurt of its own, the Providence Friars handed the Dartmouth varsity basketball team its fourth defeat of the season 42-35 on the floor of Alumni Gymnasium last night. Al Bonniwell and Bill Kutneski, rival captains, paced the scorers with 16 and 15 points respectively.

The Indians, mainly through Bonniwell's sharp-shooting, left the floor at half-time with an 18-15 lead. The Friars, opening up with a whirlwind scoring spree, placed themselves in the van by dropping in twelve straight points. With the Dartmouth offense functioning, the Green made their first threat by tossing in four buckets in a row to place them only one point behind the Friars.

Providence was not willing to give up, however, and with Smith feeding Carew, Gallagher, and Kutneski from the pivot position, the Friars piled up a lead which they paced basket for basket with the final desperate Indian rally.

In losing to their opponents who have already been decisively trounced by the Yale quintet, the Dartmouth team appears to be headed for stormy weather. It was not so much the difference in the scores, for seven points is not a large margin, but rather the lack of any organized offense and a weak defense which augur ill for the future. The game turned into one of those frequent helter-skelter encounters with nothing more than a rapid succession of fast-breaks and wild heaves at the basket. The main difference between the two fives was Smith who together with Kutneski did almost all the feeding.

Friars Battling for Rebound

SPRINGFIELD CLICKS IN PROVIDENCE GAME

This picture was snapped early in the first half of the Springfield-Providence College basketball game at Springfield College yesterday and shows Frank Partel, Springfield forward, clicking on a field goal. Partel is the second player to the right of Referee Jackson, who is in foreground. Morris, Springfield guard, is in back of Partel. George Cella, Capt. Bill Kutniewski are under the basket.

This lead, however, didn't last long as players raced up and down the floor and the pace became a frenzied one, with spectators up in their seats and the din terrific. For Ken Morris, Springfield guard, made good on a foul toss and then really turned the contest in his team's favor with a circus shot, a toss from nearly half the length of the floor that zipped and swished cleanly through the netting.

Providence never could catch Springfield after this and Hebard made the margin a three-point one with a basket. Carow got one point for Providence on a foul but Partel offset this with a one-point toss. Kutniewski took a long pass and made another basket to bring his team to within two points of the home club.

At this juncture, too, Providence was presented an excellent chance to tie and pass Springfield for Gallagher was fouled twice in the act of shooting. He could make only one of the foul tosses good, however. Collins, however, also was fouled and he tied the count.

Cella, hurt earlier in the half, returned to the game after a Springfield timeout, and signalized his entry with a twin decker to send Springfield into the van again. Hebard got another, taking a rebound and after Belliveau had made a foul toss and missed another, Hebard again scored just as the final gong sounded.

There were stars galore on each team. Kutniewski clearly was the outstanding player on the Providence team, ably assisted by Smith. Springfield had many heroes with Cella, Hebard, Morris, Nuttall and Partel the leaders although it would be doing the team an injustice to single out any particular player, so determinedly, and so brilliantly did the team as a whole rise to the occasion to register its outstanding triumph of the season and become the first small college in New England to take Providence's measure.

In a preliminary the crack Providence College freshman quintet defeated Springfield J. V.'s in a high scoring game, 44 to 34. Providence uncovered a great center in Bobinski who made eight floor counts and a foul toss. Bill Moge, a Brightwood product, made three baskets from a guard berth for the winners. The guards, Wood and Neu, scored 22 points between them for the defeated five. Summaries:

Maroons Surprise Holiday Crowd of 1200, Top Friars

Rally in Last Three Minutes with Score Deadlocked
Gives Springfield 35-30 Triumph; Providence
Leads at Half Time

Providence College's crack basketball team, headed for New England championship honors, found Springfield College too high a hurdle to leap yesterday afternoon and fell, 35 to 30, in a thrilling contest. A crowd of 1200 that packed Pratt Gymnasium thrilled to the game and saw an embattled, determined Maroon quintet rally twice in a final, exciting second half to overtake the Friars and win, with the issue always close.

Friars Lead at Half.

In the last three minutes of play and with the score at a deadlock, 29 points all, George Cella and Dick Hebard tossed in timely doubledeckers while Providence could make only a foul shot, and clinch the hardfought issue.

A powerful Providence quintet found itself outplayed nearly three quarters of the way of the first half and it wasn't until near the end of the period that the Friars gave any show of the strength that has carried them to victories over most of the New England colleges with the exception of Yale.

Then Gen. Al McClellan's charges found themselves. Faced with an eight-point deficit, the visitors put on pressure and speed. The result was an avalanche of points that enabled them to leave the floor with a margin of three points, 18 to 15, and convince most of the large crowd that the game was to be another romp for Providence, which had beaten Springfield on a Rhode Island floor earlier in the season.

The belief was quickly strengthened when the second half started for Capt. Bill Kutniewski, an able guard and captain of the Providence quintet, one of the smoothest players in New England, incidentally, tossed in a double-decker and Smith, a rangy center, followed suit, to give Providence its longest working margin of the contest, a seven-point lead.

But it was at this point that a determined Springfield team started to play basketball. The Maroon put on a brilliant rally with Cella, Roy Nuttall, a Westfield boy, and Hebard heading it. They quickly rang in the seven points to deadlock the issue at 27 points.

The tie remained only a minute, however, when the dangerous Kutniewski made one of the prettiest baskets of the game, a one-handed shot off balance. He got the ball from Smith who had intercepted a Springfield pass.

With games scheduled for this afternoon and tomorrow night, the Providence College basketball teams face one of the busiest week-ends of the season. The Friars play Springfield at Springfield today and St. Anselm's at Harkins Hall tomorrow night.

The winning streak of the Friar yearling quintet is expected to receive a hard test at the hands of the Springfield Jayvees team today in the preliminary feature. Nine games have been won by the Dominican freshmen since they lost their opener to Bryant-Stratton College.

Eleven out of 15 contests is the record of the Friar Varsity and it will enter this afternoon's game as favorites to down Springfield. The Dominicans already hold a 41-29 triumph over the Maroon team.

FRIARS TROUNCE CRUSADERS 52-24

Hagstrom Paces Scorers;
Providence Freshmen Win
by 35-28.

(Special to the Providence Journal)
Worcester, Mass., Feb. 19.—Paced by Al Hagstrom, who tossed in seven field goals, the Providence College basketball team walloped Holy Cross here tonight 52 to 24, passing the 50 mark for the second time this season at the Crusaders' expense.

The Friars swept into a comfortable lead early and reached the half time intermission with a 27 to 11 margin. Hagstrom tallied 12 of these points.

Passing and cutting swiftly and expertly, the Friars had things pretty much their own way. Coach McClelland used 12 men but even while his reserves were in action, the Providence margin mounted.

Hip Moncewicz played the best ball for the Crusaders and led them in scoring with six points.

Bleiden of Providence and Capt. Johnny Ostrowski squared off in the second half but before any damage resulted Referee Dick Roberts ejected both of them.

The Providence Freshmen also made it two in a row over the Crusader Cubs, winning 35 to 28 in a rugged preliminary.

Good on Long Shots

Swift and sure of themselves, the Friars stepped around adroitly, handled the ball as easily as if it were a baseball and swept through the Crusader defense in enlightening fashion. When it became apparent that they were not going to penetrate, they planted themselves firmly in their brogans and fired away from locations moderately removed from the Crusader hoop. In this phase of the game they also were adept and a goodly share of their points came from these sizeable set shots.

Contrarily, the Crusaders persisted in trying to work under the basket and did so with such determination that the commendable virtue of persistence oftentimes brought them negative results.

The center duel was interesting, featuring Hip Moncewicz of the Crusaders and Ben Smith of the Friars, both Brockton boys. Hip outscored his fellow townsman three baskets to two, but in the business of providing the pivotal point about which attacks revolve, Ben had the edge.

A nifty ball handler, Smith caused Coach McClelland some concern by practicing sleight of hand passes he doesn't dare try in close games.

A Smooth Unit

It would be difficult to select an outstanding Friar, for they all had plenty on the ball. They blended their particular individual accomplishments into a brilliant machine, and that ground out a sad tale for the Crusaders.

Failure to get organized proved costly to the Crusaders on many occasions although, despite their decisive defeat, they did show better than in some previous games. Their shooting was very bad, many comparatively simple targets being missed. From the charity strips the Crusaders were weak, missing 15 out of 23 tries.

Near the end of the fray Capt. Johnny Ostrowski of the Crusaders and Belden of the Friars struck belligerent poses but Referee Dick Roberts dismantled them before their differences developed serious proportions. O'Donnell of the Crusaders and Felt of the Friars also were dismissed, but via the four foul route.

The Friar Freshmen defeated the Crusader Cubs 25 to 23 in a rugged preliminary. The summaries:

SPEEDY FRIARS GIVE BRILLIANT EXHIBITION

Al Hagstrom Sets Scoring Pace, Tossing in Seven Field Goals—Moncewicz H. C. Star
—Providence Freshmen Win 35 to 28

By BARNEY MADDEN

A large and appreciative audience, eager to see just what makes the Providence College basketball team click so well, assembled in Commerce High gym last night. The Providence tornado blew for 40 minutes and gave the Friars a 52 to 24 victory and demonstrated perfectly why the Rhode Islanders are so generally successful.

Primarily the Friars handle the ball expertly and pass with speed and certainty. Of course the individuals whom Coach Al McClelland has moulded into an efficient unit, possess speed, size and agility but they co-operate with one another so cleverly that the result is an impressive exhibition.

The Friars, paced by Al Hagstrom, who sank seven field goals, swept ahead forthwith and when they departed for the mid-game rest were comfortably ahead, 27 to 11. Thereafter they maintained that margin of superiority even though McClelland used 12 men all told.

FRIARS FAVORITES TO TOP CRUSADERS

Game Will Be Played at Commerce High
Gym—Visitors Rated Highly in East—Prelim at 7.30

Geared for speedy action, the Holy Cross basketball team engages the high-stepping Providence College quintet tonight at the Commerce High gym in a return clash that promises to attract one of the season's largest crowds. The game is the first of four scheduled for the ambitious Crusaders this week and undoubtedly the toughest.

Following tonight's get-together, the Riopelmen visit the metropolitan area for the second time this year, meeting Pratt Institute Thursday, St. John's of Brooklyn Friday night, and Panzer College at South Orange, N. J., Saturday night. Pratt and St. John's will be played in Brooklyn.

The problem confronting the Purple tonight is far from encouraging, for it meets the conqueror of the powerful St. John's cagers, and a quintet which led 37-1 at the half-way mark in a previous meeting between the Crusaders and Friars, won by the latter, 59-13.

Although the Friars lost heavily through graduation, they are a very flashy aggregation. Coach McClellan has only one letter man on the squad this season, Capt. Bill Kutneski, but the rest of the starting lineup is well cared for by fast stepping sophomores, Ben Smith at center, Joe Carew and Al Hagstrom, forwards, and Jim Bostick, right guard.

Kutneski, left guard for the Providence team, is an outstanding leader, one of the defensive stars of the East, while Smith, the elongated center, vies with the best tapmen in the collegiate game. Kutneski held Johnnie Ostrowski scoreless from the floor in the first game.

Holy Cross will start with agile Johnny Ostrowski and Len Kuziora at the forwards, Hip Moncewicz at center, Andy Riccardi and Ed O'Donnell, guards. Ostrowski, with two weeks' rest, hopes to continue his high-scoring proclivities, while Kuziora and Moncewicz are expected to handle the ball with their usual smoothness and zip to score for the Cross. Jim Gavin, the sophomore who did a creditable job in Ostrowski's place against the S. T. C. quintet, scoring nine points, may see some action against the Friars.

The preliminary between the Holy Cross and Providence College yearling outfits, starting at 7.30, will attract plenty of attention. Both quintets are primed for speedy action and boast several former prep and high school stars on their respective rosters. Coach Riopel will likely open with Mautner and Lundberg at the forward posts, Bob Osborne at center, and Trufflo teaming in the back court with Bob Zintl.

H. C. FIVE FACES FRIARS TONIGHT

Providence Netmen Rule Big Favorites to Rout Crusaders Here

More grief appears in store for the Holy Cross basketball team tonight at Commerce High gym, when the Crusaders square off against the speedy Dominicans of Providence college. One of the standout units in the East, Providence comes here with a record of 10 victories in 14 games this season, including a one-sided triumph over the Crusaders last month at Providence.

The Purple cagers fell 59 to 13 in their first game with the Friars, trailing 37 to 1 at halftime. Although the locals are conceded little chance against the powerful unit Coach Al McLellan has molded, one of the best crowds of the year is expected to take in the contest, as Providence has been a big attraction on the court for years.

Coach Hop Riopel will open with Johnny Ostrowski and Len Kuzlora at the forwards, Hip Moncewicz at the tap position and Joe O'Grady and Ed O'Donnell in the backcourt. The invading brigade, built around two seniors and three sophomores, will start with Al Hagstrom and Joe Carew, forwards; Ben Smith, center, and Capt. Bill Kutneski and Jim Bostwick, guards.

The Holy Cross and Providence freshman fives will lock horns in a preliminary game, starting at 7.30 o'clock, with the visiting cube favored to make it two straight over the host yearlings. The Crusader Cubs' starting five will be Mautner and Lundberg, forwards; Osborne, center; Zintl and Trumisio, guards. The Friar frosh, with eight victories in nine starts, will line up with Kelly and Ploski, forwards; Bobinski, center, and Moge and Spinner, guards.

Tonight's game is the first of four this week for the Holy Cross varsity cagers, who hit the road for the remainder of the week. Thursday they face Pratt Institute at Brooklyn, Friday they tackle St. John's of Brooklyn, while Panzer college of the South Orange, N. J., will furnish the opposition on Saturday.

HOLY CROSS' basketball forces haven't had much success this Winter, having gained only a single intercollegiate victory—and that by the margin of a lone point against little St. Michael's. But no one can accuse the Crusaders of tackling a soft schedule. They've been shooting against the big fellows all season, with practically all of their foes top-notchers.

This is especially true of the crack Providence College team which comes to the Commerce gym tonight for a return joust with Coach Hop Riopel's often-beaten Purple varsity. The Friars are tops in a basketball way in this section. They subjected the Crusaders to a terrific lacing in their first meeting, holding them scoreless for 16 minutes and amassing an unheard of 37-1 lead at half time.

Any team which can accomplish such an amazing feat must have something on the ball. Coach Al McLellan's Friars have plenty. Their meeting with Holy Cross probably won't be much of a contest, but the manner in which they handle and shoot the ball should furnish a real treat for the basketball fiberts in this section.

Rival Centres on Jump At Harkins Hall

Referee Boyle is shown tossing up the ball that started the third period of the Providence College-Lowell Textile basketball game at Harkins Hall last night. Doukszewicz, No. 11, of Lowell, and Ben Smith, No. 8, of Providence College are the pivotmen shown reaching up on the tap-off. Providence College held a 21-17 lead when the photo was taken and romped off with a 56-38 victory over the Textilers.

ran the score up to 24-12 before Lowell again scored. Doukzewicz threaded his way into scoring range between the Friar guards and sank the ball. Baskets by Collins, Belliveau and Kutneski completed the Friar scoring in the first half and Doukzewicz topped off the Lowell score with two foul tosses.

In the second half the Friar second team went into action and set a faster pace than the regulars had shown. Lowell was thrown back on the defensive and not until the Friar regulars went back in after 15 minutes of the second half had been played did the visiting team show any concerted attack.

Becker College bowed to the Friar Freshmen 58-44 in the preliminary game. The victory was the ~~seventh~~ ^{eighth} straight win for the Friar yearlings. Capt. Bobinski, Kelly and Spinner were outstanding for the winners and Ambrose and Samko for the visitors.

DOMINICAN FIVE SUBDUES LOWELL

Triumphs 56 to 38 by Strong
Offensive Drive; Reserves
Excel.

After 10 minutes of close play, Providence College put on pressure which Lowell Textile could not match and won the feature game of a basketball double-header at Harkins Hall last night, 56 to 38. Lowell scored first and regained the lead each time that the Friars managed to tie up the count during the first half-dozen minutes of the game.

Midway in the first half the Friars began to pull ahead of the visitors by a comfortable margin and at the interval were leading, 31-17. The Friar Varsity first-stringers watched the contest from the sidelines for almost 15 minutes in the second half and were finally sent back into action.

Lowell found the Friar reserves more trouble than the regulars during the second period and were bewildered by the speed of the subs. The Friar seconds were also accurate in their basket shooting and ran the score up to 45-24 before the first team returned to the fray.

Lowell displayed a fast attack and great accuracy in shooting. The visitors took a one-point advantage at the start on Baranowski's foul toss. Abe Feit took a pass from Smith and dribbling into the corner, flipped the ball through the nets for the first Friar tally. Lowell came right back and Georgacoulis sank a set shot to make the count 3-1.

Doukaszewicz dribbled through the entire Providence team to find the basket from the side and increase the Lowell lead to 5-1. Carew broke fast to the sidelines and flipped a shot which he followed up a moment later to send the Friars ahead 6-5. Georgacoulis scored a field goal and Lowell took over the advantage at 7-6.

A set shot by Carew from the side returned the lead to the Friars 8-7 and Hagstrom broke loose for his first field goal making the score 10-7. Lowell began to slow down. Athanas added two points to the visitors' total which Smith nullified by two points from the foul line. A long basket by Georgacoulis and Athanas's foul toss tied the score at 12-12.

Providence began to employ its short passing game to advantage and

Providence College Five Faces Lowell Tech Saturday

Visitors, Headed by Captain
Louis Athanas, Meet Friars at Harkins Hall.

The Providence College basketball team will be back in action at Harkins Hall on Saturday, meeting Lowell Textile. The game is the first of a home-and-home series which sends the Friars to Lowell on March 6 for a return match. Saturday's game is expected to assume all the importance of a major battle as Lowell seeks to regain some of the prestige it lost on the gridiron to a powerful Friar football eleven. The Friars last played at Harkins Hall nearly three weeks ago.

Becker College will meet the Providence College Freshmen in a preliminary game which should be a fast added attraction. Archie Golembseki, former coach of the Friar football team, is mentor of the Becker outfit and has a capable group under his charge.

Lowell Textile has one of the leading court performers in its section in the person of Captain Louis Athanas, forward. Athanas is a three sport star and played against the Friars in football in the Lowell backfield. His work has drawn the favorable comment of critics and he has featured in each of Lowell's games.

Annual athletic banquets which were once important events on the Providence College sport calendar may be revived if a plan sponsored by the sophomore class proves successful. The second-year men hope to secure sufficient backing to hold a banquet. March 16 has been set as a tentative date. An invitation has already been extended to all students at the college to attend and the arrangements are in charge of Raymond O'Mara of Stapleton, N. Y.

Interclass basketball began at Providence College during the week under the sponsorship of the Friars Club. The sophomore team is leading, having scored victories over the Juniors and Freshmen. The Sophomores downed the Juniors 19-7 and the Freshmen 23-10. Gusman Hall defeated the Senior 42-14 for an auspicious start in the league.

Games are played in the evening and this week's schedule will bring the Seniors and Juniors together on Monday in one game of a double-header. The Sophomores and Gusman Hall will battle for class supremacy in the other game. On Thursday the Juniors meet the Freshmen.

Points for Friars—Exhortations for Rams

Angelica is shown in the photo at the left just as his shot dropped through the basket for a two-pointer for the Friars in their basketball game with the R. L. State Rams at the Auditorium last night. The Providence College scorer is shown at the extreme right of the photo. In the picture at the right, taken between periods, Coach Frank Keaney of the Rams is shown in a characteristic pose as he tells his boys a thing or two. Keaney's exhortations availed little, however, for the Friars won in a romp, 53 to 28.

Both coaches made a host of substitutions throughout the contest and the points were well distributed in the final accounting. In the second half play was rough on several occasions. The officials called 26 fouls with Providence making nine points and State five from the black line.

During the second half the Friars had their second team in action but as the game drew to a close Coach McClellan sent his first-stringers back. Coach Keaney kept a flow of fresh men entering the game in an effort to wear down the Friars but the sideline strategy was not much of a factor in the final results.

Ray Belliveau took Joe Carew's place in the closing moments of the first half and turned in a fine performance. Carew received a long tribute from the audience when he left the game and the work of Capt. Bill Kutneski, who also went to the sidelines in the second half, was acknowledged in the same manner. For State the Martins, Wright and Capt. Speckman played a steady game although the scoring was spread among many players.

The P. C. Freshmen defeated the R. I. yearlings 49-46 in a preliminary game which was close and well-played. With four minutes to play the State Freshmen battled hard to close the small gap between the scores but the Friar Freshmen matched them point for point. The game furnished thrills from start to finish with Ed Bobinski, Bill Spinner and Leo Ploski featuring for the Friars and Tashjian and Fabricant starring for the Ramlets.

FRIARS WHIP STATE FIVE

Providence College Quintet Triumphs Over State 53-28

2400 Watch Friars Easily Win.
Lead Throughout
Game.

Providence College's methodical, short-passing attack proved too much for Rhode Island State at the Auditorium last night and the Friars led all the way to take a 53-28 decision from the Rams. The largest crowd ever to witness a college basketball game in this State was present last night with 2400 paid admissions as the official figure.

While the final result was rarely in doubt the game was packed with thrills brought on by Rhode Island's close style of guarding. The visitors were not able to make their long-passing game click and failed to stem the Friars' short-rushing game. Joe Carew opened the scoring from the foul line and Capt. Bill Kutneski also registered two fouls to give Providence a three-point lead.

Both teams played at top speed for the first five minutes of the game and few chances were provided for open shots. However, Happy Applin, slim State centre, tallied from underneath the basket on Speckman's long pass to put State in the running after one and one-half minutes. Providence's attack began to click at this point and Joe Carew and Ben Smith sent the Friars out ahead 12-2 before State was able to find the basket again.

Jim Wright scored from the floor and Jack Messina made a successful foul toss for State making the count 12-5. Again Providence rallied and State did not score again until the tally was 24-5 in the Friars favor. Ben Smith's spectacular passing featured the Friars' victory and his back hand flips delighted the crowd throughout the evening.

Jack F. Martin took the ball at centre from a scrimmage and broke fast under the basket to register for State. Applin made good on a long shot and Providence led 24-9. Ben Smith appeared well guarded down under the net but he pivoted under his opponent and caged the ball. Collins' point from the foul line was the last Friar score of the half. Federico closed the Rams' scoring in the first half with a field goal and a foul. At the half Friars 27, Rams 12.

KUTNESKI LEADING TEAM IN SCORING

Friars' Leader Has Scored
98 Points in 12 Games;
Joe Carew Second.

Capt. William Kutneski is leading the Providence College basketball squad in scoring. His all-round play has been a feature of each of the 12 games the Dominicans have played.

The Friar Sophomore talent in the forward court and at centre has accounted for a large portion of the total points. Al Hagstrom and Joe Carew of the 1933 undefeated Freshman team have continued their fast pace with the 'Varsity. Ben Smith, Brockton luminary, has played a much improved game ~~offensively~~ to jump into the top division of scorers.

Aside from the fine work of Capt. Kutneski, the defensive play of Joe Carew has been outstanding in every game. With a slim build and the speed of a track star, Carew has been all over the floor. If defensive work was noted in the score column Carew's total might well be doubled.

Points have been well sprinkled throughout the reserve squad also. Charles Gallagher, Ray Belliveau and Jim Bostick have fitted into the first team with ease and their work has been of 'Varsity calibre.

The Friars have two comparatively easy weeks ahead of them as they will be called upon to play only two games in the next 14 days. On Saturday they tackle the fast Rhode Island State quintet at the R. I. Auditorium in what promises to be one of the feature games of the Rhode Island collegiate basketball season.

The individual scoring follows:

	G.	F. G.	F. Pts.
Capt. William Kutneski	12	31	24
Joseph Carew	12	29	17
Alfred Hagstrom	12	28	9

STATE FIVE PLAYS PROVIDENCE COLLEGE AT ARENA SATURDAY

Jack F. Martin to Start at Centre Berth for Rams

The high mark of Rhode Island State's basketball campaign will be reached this week, when the Rams meet Providence College and Massachusetts State. Two triumphs would easily permit this winter's team to go down into the State record books as the greatest ever.

The Friar game, which will be played at the Arena, will be the first between the two colleges in more than a decade, the Rams having defeated their neighboring rivals when basketball was in its infancy there.

The Massachusetts team's appearance at Kingston Wednesday will be the first in many seasons. Last winter's tilt at Amherst, which Mel Taube's forces won in an over-time period, cemented relations between the two institutions.

Kearney's freshman court team also is in for a busy week, for Collegiate Prep, of New Haven, will be met Wednesday night, preliminary to the varsity game; and Providence College's freshmen will be encountered Saturday.

FRIAR YEARLINGS UPSET INDIANS

The Providence College Freshman basketball team halted the long winning streak of the Bryant and Stratton five, last night at the City Gymnasium where the Friar yearlings tripped them 49 to 28.

In the initial period the Providence quintet started a scoring spree, taking the lead and were never headed. Sterling playing by Bobinski tall centre, Ploski and Kelly kept the Indians at bay.

In the second half, the accurate shooting of Kelly, Ploski and Bobinski again featured as the Friars put the game safely on ice.

In the above picture you see Dewalt, left forward of the West Point basketball team, registering a tally in the first half of the game with the strong Providence college quintet at the Plains last Saturday night. Army won the game by the score of 28 to 24, the Cadets putting on a big rally near the close of the contest to overcome Providence's two-point lead. The game was one of the snappiest played at West Point in a long time.

Meyer Leads Army Quintet As Providence Loses, 28 to 24

Rally by Cadets in Last Five Minutes on Home Floor Brings Victory

Special to the Herald Tribune

WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan. 26.—Army defeated the speedy Providence College five this afternoon, coming from behind in the last five minutes to win, 28 to 24.

The cadets took an early lead in the first half by virtue of team play and deadly shooting by Bud Underwood and Monk Meyer. Meyer was high scorer with eleven points. Each scored a brace of goals which, coupled with a pair of fine shots by Joe Stancook gave the cadets the bulk of their eighteen points at the half against twelve for Providence. It was a slower Army team that took the floor in the second half, however, and Providence overhauled the cadets to lead, 21 to 19, on baskets by Belliveau, Smith, Kutneski and Hagstrom, together with a foul shot by Kutneski while Army was registering a solitary point on a foul shot.

After Stancook had counted on a foul Army resumed command on Meyer's third goal of the game and, although Providence tied it up again on a basket by Collins, Army made certain of the game on baskets by Meyer and Dawalt. A foul shot by Meyer in the last five seconds clinched the game for the cadets after Kutneski had tallied on a midcourt shot for the visitors. The line-up:

a scrimmage. Stancook counted on a shot from the field.

Hiatt Back in Action.

Wright Hiatt, Army's captain, who had been on the hospital list for a week, went in for Stancook. Smith got under the net for a shot after a pass from Carew, and counted. Kutneski made a free throw and the half closed with the score 18 to 12 in Army's favor.

After a mix-up, Kutneski was injured and the game was held up. The Providence captain was given two free shots but missed both. The Rhode Islanders brought the ball up close many times but the forwards were missing shots regularly.

Five minutes of the half had elapsed before Belliveau scored the first points of the period, a goal on a pass from Kutneski. Hagstrom replaced Carew, who was banished on personal fouls, and Finn made a point from the foul line for the Cadets.

Smith tossed in a field goal for Providence and Kutneski added a point from the foul line. Army took time out with the score 19 to 17 in its favor.

Kutneski Evens Count.

Kutneski, alone under the basket, took a quick pass from Smith and scored to tie the count at 19-19. The visitors went in front on a long shot by Hagstrom. Stancook scored a point on a free throw, and then Meyer's overhead toss wrested the lead from the Collegians, making the score: Army 22, Providence 21. The pace became faster and Finn was ejected.

Hiatt went in at centre, Stancook moving to guard. Collins sank two foul shots and again Providence was in the lead, 23 to 22. Underwood counted on a foul to tie the score. Meyer tossed in a field goal to break the tie.

Kutneski counted on a free throw and came within a point of tying the score again. Kutneski tried a long shot from the centre ring, but it was wide. Only fifty seconds remained when Kutneski charged Dawalt, but the latter missed both shots from the foul line.

A moment later Dawalt dribbled up close after passes from Hiatt and dropped a field goal, and just before the gun sounded Hagstrom fouled Meyer and the latter scored the final point.

Army Quintet Vanquishes Providence, 28-24; Cadet Hockey, Swim and Polo Teams Score

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan. 26.—In the fastest and closest basketball game played on Army's court this season, the Cadets won from Providence College today, 28 to 24. The game was watched by a large crowd assembled to witness the Cadets in competition in several other sports.

Although ahead at the end of the first half, 18 to 12, Army had to put on pressure throughout the second period. Twice during that half the score was tied and the Rhode Island collegians wrested the lead from the Cadets.

Monk Meyer, with 11 points, made on free field goals and a free throw, was high scorer. Kutneski of Providence was outstanding in his play and led his team on the attack with 8 points.

Providence scored first when Felt took a perfect pass from Kutneski to sink an easy goal. Dawalt's one-hand shot from under the basket tied the count. Finn, starting for the first time this season, counted for the Cadets on a free throw. Stancook made a point from the foul line.

Meyers's shot from a corner was good and Stancook dropped a field goal. Underwood counted twice from the field and Army led, 12 to 2. Kutneski was fouled and made good on both shots, but Meyers scored after a rebound.

Carew counted for Providence after taking a pass from Smith. Kutneski sank a foul shot and Meyer made a field goal. Bostick, who had replaced Felt, scored from

Defeats Pratt Institute Team
by Strong Second-Period Offensive.

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Providence College's basketball team rolled over Pratt Institute tonight, 40 to 19.

The home team held Providence fairly well in check during the first half, trailing by only three points on two occasions, but the visitors drew away to a 15-8 advantage at the intermission. Early in the second half Pratt rallied to trail by only 17-14, but Providence then scored nine points in a row and the game was over to all intents and purposes.

SPORT FRONT

BY JOE NUTTER

Saturday found the three varsity basketball teams of the Rhode Island colleges hitting the top as they turned in fine victories. Providence College swept St. John's completely off the court in a sizzling game at the Auditorium, Brown won a close decision from Connecticut at Storrs, and Rhode Island continued on her winning way by defeating Coast Guard Academy at New London.

If there was one thing that stood out about the great play of a fine Friar team at the Auditorium it was the meticulous manner in which the home team guarded the St. John's individuals. Bill Kutneski was of heroic mould, and Abe Felt and Jim Bostick were not far behind him.

The highly touted St. John's team which finished third in the Metropolitan race a year ago, and which is rated close behind C. C. N. Y. and N. Y. U. found its game completely tied up by the close, exacting guarding of the locals. The invaders tallied 28 points but half of those were registered from the foul line. Indeed, the game went for 19 minutes before St. John's missed one of her foul shots. Gotkin, the speedy ace who brought the downfall of Providence in the earlier game at Brooklyn, was held to no field goals, and Kaplinsky, the other starting forward, was held to one marker from the floor.

The game was marked by some bickering as St. John's sought to use harsh words instead of baskets to turn the tide, and the up-shot of that was that Capt. Joe Marchese was ordered from the game by Officials Winters and Parker. There was plenty of tension in the air the minute the game got under way and it lasted until the outcome was determined.

Joe Carew went out on personal fouls just as the half ended, but Al McClellan's mell rose to the occasion and kept right on going. There was no slackening of the mad pace even with reservemen in the lineup. Carew and Hagstrom garnered 12 points each, and Belliveau, a reserve, gathered nine.

But more important to the spectators, perhaps, than the victory in one fine game, is the manner in which the Dominicans are striving to put on Saturday night basketball shows that really are a credit to this fine and interesting sport. Last Saturday night, the Friar band was right on hand to add its share to the evening's entertainment, and that was plenty. Then when it was all over the disciples of Terpsichore got their fling as the dance orchestra set up its melodious strains.

Rip Kaplinsky sank a basket for the visitors to make the score 30-22. That was the last tally by the Redmen until the Friars had run their total up to 42. Belliveau, Bostick, Hagstrom and Smith all had a hand in the Friar scoring at this point. Joyce gave St. John's two more points.

Capt. Joe Marchese was sent to the sidelines by the referee when he questioned a decision in forceful language and Coach Buck Freeman made wholesale substitutions to give his reserves some action. The game was too far gone for the Redmen to close up the wide margin. Coach Al McClellan sent his third team into action and they continued to hold the visitors in check while running up the Friar score over the 50-mark.

The victory was the fifth in a row for the Friars and their most impressive of the season.

In the preliminary game the Providence Freshman defeated R. I. C. E. 14-17.

Friars Triumph to Avenge

Previous Setback.—P. C.

Freshmen Also Win.

Displaying a top-notch brand of basketball the Providence College Varsity court team handed St. John's five of Brooklyn a 58-28 defeat at the Auditorium last night. The Friars rose to championship heights and not only avenged their three-point defeat at the hands of the Redmen earlier in the season but also ran up the largest margin of points a Dominican team has ever scored over St. John's.

Taking the lead after less than three minutes of careful play, the Friars tallied 12 points while holding the Redmen scoreless. The Redmen were never able to get closer than five points to the Friars who completely silenced Dave Gotkin, stellar forward, and held Rip Kaplinsky, St. John's other scoring ace, to one field goal.

In the first few minutes of the opening half the work of Joe Carew, slim Friar right forward, was outstanding. His baskets were spectacular as he evaded the entire St. John's defence on several occasions to break through for a side shot. Before he was forced out on personal fouls just before the end of the first half he contributed 12 points to the Friar's score.

Al Hagstrom shared scoring honors with Carew, and in spite of his short stature, was able to get clear for some of his accurate set shots. He scored the first basket for the Dominicans, taking a pass from Ben Smith.

The first half was closely contested and only eight points separated the teams at the interval. Fine work by Ben Smith, Capt. Bill Kutneski and Jim Bostick aided the Friars to stay out in front of the Redmen in the first period.

In the second half the Friars dominated the play throughout. Ray Beliveau, who took Carew's forward berth, made a great solo dash up the floor to score the first Friar basket in this half. Kaplinsky and Maguire added two points to the St. John's score from the foul line. Then Hagstrom made a flip-shot on the run which drew the large crowd's applause.

DOMINICAN FIVE TRIUMPHS 45-37

Defeats St. Anselm's by Strong
Second Half Rally; P. C.
Freshmen Win.

St. Anselm's of Manchester, N. H., forced the Providence College basketball team to stage a stirring rally in the second half before losing 45-37 last night at Harkins Hall. The game was the final home appearance for the Friars and it seemed for a time that the Friar record of never being defeated in Harkins Hall would be broken.

With Leo Connerton, former De La Salle star, dribbling through the Providence defence time and again and showing amazing accuracy in shooting, the visitors enjoyed a 20-16 advantage at the half. Upon the resumption of play St. Anselm's continued to enlarge its lead but Providence began to creep up. Al Hagstrom put the Friars ahead by a spectacular set shot at 26-25, and although St. Anselm's came back on Connerton's "sleeper" to regain the lead at 27-26, the visiting team could not stem the Friar rally which was launched a few moments later.

Al Hagstrom, Gallagher, Belliveau and Angelica ran the score up to 41-27 before St. Anselm's again scored. Thereafter the visitors were unable to match the Friars and this spurt marked the turning point of the contest.

Coach Al McClellan started his second team against the visitors and Leo Davin, centre; Jim Bostick and Milt Bleiden, forwards, and Capt. Angelica and Capt. Bill Kutneski, took the floor at the start. When the regulars went in after 10 minutes of the first half had been played the score stood at 11-8 in the visitors'.

(Special to the Providence Journal) Springfield, Mass., Feb. 22.—The Springfield College basketball team upset Providence 35 to 30 here today. A crowd of 1200 packed Pratt Gymnasium and saw the Springfield team rally twice in the final minutes to win.

In the last three minutes of play, with the score tied at 29 all, Cella and Hebard scored field goals while Providence could make only a foul shot, to clinch the game for Springfield.

Springfield had the better of the play in the early minutes, but Providence rallied to lead by three points at halftime.

This lead was increased to seven points soon after the start of the second half, when Kutniewski and

Smith scored baskets, but Springfield rallied to tie the count at 22 all. Kutniewski made a basket but Morris faltered three points to put Springfield ahead. Morris's basket came from mid-court.

Kutniewski and Smith starred for Providence, while Cella, Morris, Hebard and Partel featured for Springfield.

When the game resumed Tinel scored for St. Anselm's and Feit sank a field goal for the Friars. Gradually the Friars began to narrow the lead and Hagstrom and Gallagher finally put the Friars ahead 26-25. Hagstrom made four field goals in about two minutes as the Friars began to rally. The surge on the part of the Friars stopped the visitors' attack completely and the Dominicans led 41-27 with about three minutes left to play.

Baskets by Conner-ton, Tinel and Howe made the score 41-31 in the Friars' favor. Belliveau cut fast to the sidelines and sank a basket from the far corner. Bill Kutneski made one point from the foul line and the Friar scoring ended with Hagstrom's toss.

The Providence College Freshmen won their 14th straight victory by defeating the Worcester Boys' Club 55-34 in the preliminary game.

Tomorrow night St. Anselm's college completes its first college basketball schedule when it clashes with the powerful Providence college quintet at the armory. The game is the second of the season between the two rivals, with the Friars having eked out a 37 to 25 victory over the Hilltoppers last Saturday at Providence.

Chalking up a 41 to 25 triumph over American International Wednesday night at Springfield, knotted the Bluejoys' record for the season at six wins and six defeats. A victory tomorrow night over the vaunted Friar contingent would enable the Anselmians to conclude their initial college campaign in a blaze of glory.

Possessing what must be recognized as one of the East's premier college court combines Providence will make the Hilltoppers' objective a most difficult one to accomplish.

To date the Friars have scored 13 victories and have suffered five defeats. Such formidable aggregations as St. John's college of Brooklyn, Dartmouth, Holy Cross, Springfield, Rhode Island, Harvard and Stroudsburg Teachers have all been victims of the superb Friar contingent. The Friars were edged out of a much-desired victory over the Army by the scant margin of two baskets, losing 28 to 24.

The basketball destinies of Providence are invested in Coach Albert McClellan of Swampscott, Mass., one of the best basketball authorities in the East. During his college athletic career he starred in sports at Mt. St. Joseph's college in Baltimore, but left before his senior year to join the Baltimore International league baseball team as a twirler. He later played in the Eastern league and for one season was a member of the Washington Senators. However, his baseball career was cut short as the result of an arm injury sustained while playing professional basketball.

After turning out county high school champions for four years at Salem, Mass., High, McClellan accepted the coaching post at St. John's prep in Danvers where his team won New England Prep school honors for two seasons and competed in Eastern Prep tournaments for sectional honors. In 1927 he came to Providence college to handle the varsity and freshman teams.

FRIARS CAPTURE EASY VICTORY

Providence College Five Extended Only in First Half to Beat St. Anselm's 46-28.

(Special to the Providence Journal)
Manchester, N. H., March 2.— Providence College made sure of its superiority over St. Anselms, winning 46 to 28 tonight on the latter's court. In a previous game, St. Anselms had given the Friars their stiffest competition of the season with Providence finally winning the decision.

During the first half, St. Anselms held Providence on even terms but in the second there was hardly any opposition offered by the part of the home five. Captain Kutneski and Carew led the Providence attack in the second half. Connerton and Burke tallied 20 of the loser's points.

ST. ANSELM'S BOWS TO PROVIDENCE IN SEASON'S FINALE

Friars, Displaying Smooth
Working Team, Beat
Bluejays, 46-28

St. Anselm's college basketball team closed its first season of inter-collegiate competition Saturday night at the armory court with a stunning 46 to 28 defeat from Providence college's brilliant combine.

Held to a 17 to 15 lead at half-time, the polished Friar aggregation came into its own in the final half and swept mercilessly through the bewildered Bluejay ranks with one of the sweetest exhibitions of court play witnessed on a local floor. Flashing a speedy, intricate system of passwork that was featured by well-timed and cleverly executed bounce passes, the McClellan-coached outfit sifted through the Bluejay defense almost at will during the final period.

Friars Strong In Reserves.

Lack of capable reserves was the chief handicap of the Bluejays. With a formidable array of Friar substitutes at his disposal Coach Al McClellan capitalized on this advantage by frequent substitutions.

Capt. Leo Connerton, who has been the big gun of the Anselmian attack all season, appeared to have an "off night." Although his passing and dribbling were working well, his shooting did not possess its customary accuracy. However, he contributed nine points to the Bluejay cause in addition to some stellar defensive work.

Providence presented a brilliant center in Johnny Smith, its six-foot, two-inch pivot. Kutneski, the Friar's right guard, who was assigned the difficult task of limiting the activities of the Bluejay's ace, Capt. Connerton, turned in a sterling performance. Defensively he stood out and offensively he tallied 12 points.

Providence College Five
Clinches Verdict with Uprising in Last 5 Minutes.

(Special to the Providence Journal)
Lowell, Mass., March 6—Providence College opened up in great style in the last five minutes of play tonight in its game with Lowell Textile and won 48 to 38.

Until then the contest was probably the most thrilling seen on the Lowell Textile floor this winter with the home five taxing Providence to the utmost. Kutneski, Hagstrom, Carew and Smith did the bulk of the Providence scoring in the first half, while Eli Athanas, the Textile wonder, put on a brilliant exhibition, as usual. The first period ended with Providence ahead 25 to 24.

During the first 15 minutes of the second half the lead alternated every few minutes with the same players giving the best exhibitions. Finally with five minutes left to play, Carew sank a long shot followed by another by Smith and still another floor goal by Kutneski as Providence increased its margin and put the game on ice.

Athanas was the high scorer of the game with 19 points.

FRIARS VANQUISH WORCESTER TECH

Quintet Takes 55-33 Victory with Hagstrom and Carew Showing Way.

(Special to the Providence Journal)

Worcester, Mass., March 9.—Providence College had too much ability, speed and man-power here tonight for Worcester Tech and as a consequence won handily from the Engineers. The score was 55 to 33.

Al Hagstrom and Joe Carew were the big guns in the Friars attack, Hagstrom caging nine field goals and Carew collecting five and three charity shots for a 13 point total. Carew, in addition, gave a brilliant exhibition of floor work, organizing many Providence drives and generally performing well. He was the outstanding man on the floor.

Providence led 23 to 18 at the half but got up a head of steam midway through the final session and pulled away fast. The game was played at a speedy pace all the way with the effects of the struggle being plainly evident in the Tech ranks near the end.

The Providence Freshmen continued their successful raids on Worcester teams when they whipped the Tech Jayvees 43 to 25. Bobinski and Ploski were the best marksmen.

FRIAR FRESHMEN WIN AT WORCESTER

(Special to the Providence Journal)

Worcester, Mass., March 6.—Providence College Freshmen defeated Assumption here tonight by the margin of a solitary field goal, gaining a 30 to 29 verdict. Each team scored 12 field goals.

Assumption was weakened by the loss of Capt. Paul Aubuchon, dismissed two minutes after the game started.

Robinsky, Spinnler and Ploski shared the scoring burden for the Friar cubs, who gave a clever exhibition.

BEARS AND FRIARS TO PLAY FOR STATE TITLE

Winner Also May Claim City College Court Crown

Two titles will be at stake when the Brown and Providence College basketball teams meet in their annual game at Brown gymnasium Wednesday night. Besides the usual city college championship for which they strive, the Rhode Island college crown also will be at stake.

Both have scored two victories over Rhode Island State College and the winner of their contest will have clear claim to the championship. Considerable interest is being shown in the game and a record crowd is expected to attend.

Brown athletic officials are making plans to seat 2000. The game will be played on the centre court of the Brown gym, making it possible to seat 500 more spectators.

In past years the Dominicans have entered this contest heavy favorites, but the Bears are represented by one of their strongest teams in two decades. Thus for the first time since the series started in 1928 the Bruins are conceded a good chance for victory.

Providence will enter the game a slight favorite but a Brown triumph will not be regarded as an upset. Because of Brown's strength this year and the excellent records compiled by each team, the game should be productive of good basketball. It would not be surprising if the game is a replica of the Brown-State battle and not be decided until the final minutes of play.

Providence has played stronger teams and has more experienced players and in the final analysis this may swing the result in its favor. But the Friars oppose an inspired group of Bears who have not won a game in this series since its inception in 1928 and who will hurl the full fury of their powerful offensive against the Dominicans.

Friar Forward

Defensively, the Friars are stronger. They have employed a three-man attack all season, leaving two players in the back court to take care of defensive emergencies. On the other hand, the Bears play a fast breaking four-man attack with only one guard in the back court. This has accounted for the high scores Brown foes have compiled this season. Coach Arthur Kahler of the Bears, however, said a few weeks back that he may change his team's defence for Providence.

Some of the best college basketball players in New England will compete in this game. The rival centres, Ben Smith and Ken Kennedy, probably have no peers at their positions in the East and their battle for honors will be interesting. Then there is Joe Carew of the Friars and Capt. Howard Floren of the Bears, two capable forwards. Brown has no guard to match Capt. Bill Kutneski but neither has any other college team in the East. Kutneski is a standout at his position.

Providence has won 16 of 21 games this season and Brown 13 out of 17. Their meeting Wednesday closes the season for both. Following is a record of their series:

1928—Providence 31, Brown 9.
1929—Providence 49, Brown 23.
1930—Providence 30, Brown 28.
1931—Providence 47, Brown 28.
1932—Providence 51, Brown 31.
1933—Providence 50, Brown 26.
1934—Providence 41, Brown 24.

Only a few events remain on the Brown winter sports schedule. Tomorrow the freshman hockey team will oppose Cranston at the Auditorium at 4:30 and the freshman fencing team will journey to South Byfield, Mass., to oppose Dunsmuir Academy. Wednesday the freshman swimmers will meet La Salle at the Colgate-Hoyt pool and Saturday Varsity and freshman men will oppose Boston University foes. Varsity meets postponed from last Saturday.

Brown will be represented by nine men in the New England A. A. U. track and field meet to be held at the Auditorium on Saturday. Following are the Brown entries and their events: Lewis, dash; Risen, 600; Sykes, 1000; Connell, dash; Pearce, 600 and 1000; Firsching, 3000-yard steeplechase; Ladd, Swartz and McShane, high jump.

The Freshman and Sophomore class hockey teams will clash Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 at the Auditorium. The losing players will be hosts to the winners at dinner following the game. Captain Bob Chapin of the Varsity will have charge of the Freshmen and Charlie Butler of the Sophomores.

BOTH TEAMS ON EDGE FOR TITLE GAME IN BROWN GYM

Six Seniors in Final Tilt
as 'Varsity Teams Meet;
Freshmen to Clash in Preliminary Contest

The Rhode Island college basketball title will be at stake in the Brown Gymnasium tonight when Brown and Providence College clash in the championship series. The preliminary game involving the Bruin and Friar first year teams will start promptly at 7:30 and the varsity encounter will go on immediately afterwards, probably about 8:45. The largest crowd ever to watch a college basketball game in Rhode Island is expected for the encounter, and to accommodate it, the Brown Athletic Council has set up the bleacher seats. Play will be conducted on the centre court.

Providence rules a slight favorite on the strength of the more formidable opposition that she has vanquished on the way to an enviable niche in the Eastern basketball race. On the other hand, Brown has not lost two consecutive games this season, she has set a furious pace in winning 10 straight games, and now is ready for the important test of the season. It should be a close, hard game, with the outcome hinging on the condition of the men in the play in the final five minutes of play. The pace will be furious, and the winner will have to be right at the peak to turn back the vanquished.

KENNEDY'S CONDITION UNAFFECTED BY COLD

Kenneth Kennedy, Brown's great centre, will start and will probably be fit to last the required distance. Kennedy reported for classes yesterday and today, and noted that the cold that he had over the week-end had not cut into his condition. He expects one of the great games of his career. He spent a half hour yesterday shooting free throws, as his final tune-up for the game.

Six seniors will be playing their last college basketball game tonight. Brown's seniors include three from the first six men on the squad, Providence's last-year men comprise the captain and star of the first team, and two other members of the top team, so in reality, the six are all from the first combinations.

The list includes Capt. Howard Floren, Bill Karaban and Nathan Samrperil of Brown, and Capt. Kutneski, Abe Feit, and James Bostick of Providence College. They form a championship lot, for every man in the group has been a power in his team's success during the entire four years of his college career.

Providence will start a team of Al Hagstrom and Joe Carew, forwards; John Smith, centre; and Capt. Bill Kutneski and Abe Feit, guards. Brown will have Capt. Howard Floren and Raymond Noonan, forwards; Kenneth Kennedy, centre; and Harrison van Aken and Bill Karaban, guards.

McClellan Expects Close Game When Friars Tangle With Bruins

Al McClellan, Providence College basketball coach, said, "The Friars are back at the top and I expect a very close game with Brown on Wednesday night." The Friars had just finished a fast scrimmage during which there were many changes so that every man on the squad saw action.

Though non-committal on the outcome of the game beyond the generalization that it would be "close," the enthusiastic tone of the Friar mentor expressed his real feelings. Naturally he's hoping for a Friar victory.

"After all, the game will be played out ~~there~~ on the floor and then we'll know which is the best club." McClellan made this final observation as the players ran to the shower room. Yesterday's drill gave every indication that the Friars have returned to their best condition. The slump suffered in the Springfield game is a thing of the past and the Dominican outfit hopes to end its schedule in the oft-mentioned "blaze of glory."

Looking the players over yesterday Coach McClellan said, "Now there's Gus Hagstrom. He has his scoring eye back and should be at the peak for the Brown affair. Bill Kutneski is playing his usual steady game and Ben Smith is going strong. I've shifted Joe Carew around some but he'll be in there!" So the Friars seem to be ready for the momentous contest with Brown and the fans who crowd into the Brown gym to watch the activities on the centre court Wednesday night will not be disappointed.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

FRIAR FRESHMEN

TRIUMPH 59-34

The Providence College Freshman basketball team won its 16th straight victory last night at the expense of the Bridgewater State Teachers College 59 to 34 at Bridgewater, Mass. It marked the second triumph this season for the local team over the Teachers. Leo Ploski of Albany was the leading scorer for the Freshmen with 22 points. He collected seven field goals and eight from the foul line. Bradbury was the losers' highest scorer with 13 points.

Matching their opponent score for score till midway through the second half, the Brown basketball quintet last night lost their last game of the season to Providence College, 63-43. In winning the encounter P. C. gathered both the State and City championships and kept intact their victory string over the Bruins which started in 1928.

Over 3,000 Present

Before the freshman game, which was won by the Friar yearlings, 51-29, started, nearly every seat in the Gym was taken and long before the varsity struggle was scheduled every nook and cranny that overlooked the center court was jammed with a crowd estimated at over 3,000. People were even seated on the floor on all four sides of the court and a hundred more were standing on the top row of the regular seats in back of the bleachers erected for this crucial game. This crowd is believed to have set a record for basketball attendance in Rhode Island, surpassing the previous high of 2,400 at an earlier P. C. encounter.

Play seesawed back and forth throughout the first half and well

SMITH TALLEST

MAN ON FLOOR

Smith will be the tallest man on the floor, his 6 feet 2 inches putting him above Carew, who is 6:1; Felt, 5:11; and Kutneski and Hagstrom 5:10 each. Van Aken is Brown's tallest player at 6:1½; Kennedy is 6 feet; Karakan is 5:11; Floren is 5:10 and Noonan is the midget of the starting array at 5:9.

Providence has no sizeable advantage over Brown in the first team. Kennedy and Kutneski are undoubtedly the outstanding men on the two teams, but Kennedy is at centre and Kutneski at guard so there is no definite comparison there. Floren and Carew and Noonan and Hagstrom are not far apart in general ability, and Van Aken and Karaban or Samdperil will stand up in general all around play in comparison with the Friar guards.

Providence has superior reserves to Brown, if the Bruin replacements play as they have in recent games. On the other hand, there is some trepidation in the Dominican camp that the team may have passed its peak. Undoubtedly Providence was at the top of her game when she met Army, and Al McClellan's job has been to try to bring his organization back up to that peak. The Friars have had a long trying season, they have met some formidable opposition, and the pace has begun to take its toll. And the same is true of Brown. There is no doubt that the tension of Brown's long winning streak cut into the playing edge, and there was a let-down following the Rhode Island game. I'm inclined to feel that Brown's defeat at Harvard may be discounted just a mite for that very reason. I do feel that Providence will have to be right at her peak to take tonight's game, for Brown is ready to capitalize on any let-down or any mistake.

FRIAR FRESHMEN

SHOULD WIN HANDILY

The Providence College Freshmen should win handily. Capt. Ed Bobinski, the New Haven, Conn., lad who twice won All-Connecticut recognition as a schoolboy, Providence has a player who would displace a 'Varsity regular if he were eligible today. He's the high scorer of a fine team that has a most impressive record.

Floski and Kelly will start at forwards for the Friar yearlings; Bobinski will be at centre, and Spinner and Moge will guard the back court.

Brown will have Bartlett and Petrone, forwards; Thomson, centre, and Foster and Hinckley, guards. Meyer Greenberg yesterday was placed on college discipline for "over-cutting" classes so is ineligible for this game.

Sees Game.

Acquiring power as the game progressed, the Providence College basketball team defeated Brown 63 to 43 at the Brown gymnasium last night before an overflow crowd of 3000 to annex the city and State college championships. The Friar Freshmen won the preliminary, 51 to 29, over the Brown yearlings.

The Varsity game was closely fought during the first half. The Bears trailed by only one point, 26 to 25, at the halfway mark, but it was a walkaway for the Dominicans in the second part of the game. The Friars put on a superlative performance in the second half and clearly manifested their superiority.

Brown made an excellent bid for victory, but was unable to maintain its early fast pace over the route. The Bears played winning basketball, but they were opposed by a team which showed few weaknesses.

Capt. Bill Kutneski of the Friars played an excellent game while bringing his college basketball career to a close, leading his team's attack with 15 points. Providence's victory, however, can be traced to the excellent defensive play of Ben Smith and Leo Davin, who used their height to good advantage in breaking up Brown plays.

Smith also contributed 12 points towards the Providence cause and he was the only one who played the entire 40 minutes. Coach Al McClellan of the Friars saved Davin for the psychological time. Davin was the one player who could steady his teammates when the Bears were attacking at their strongest and it was upon these occasions that he was sent into the fray.

Ray Noonan was by far Brown's best performer. It was his excellent shooting during the first half that enabled the Bears to stay with the Friars. Most of his shots came on long toms and one of his baskets was scored from nearly the middle of the floor. Ken Kennedy, Brown's scoring ace, was well guarded by the Friars, being held to two baskets for the lowest number of points he has made this season.

Games played:

March 13, 1935

into the second period. Hagstrom opened for the Friars but immediately after Kennedy dropped one in to tie the score and Noonan looped a long shot through the hoop to put the Bruin ahead. Smith evened things up again but Karaban with two foul conversions and Noonan opened up a four point Brown advantage which was the most either team enjoyed in the first period.

Kutneski and Carew combined on three field goals to aid the Friars but Kennedy tied the score with a basket from close in. At this point Noonan sank a beautiful shot from out near the center circle and the Bruins were out ahead again. All told the two teams were tied six times during the initial twenty minutes, but the half ended with Providence enjoying a one point lead at 26-25.

Soon after the resumption of hostilities Floren put his team out ahead for the last time at 31-30. Several minutes of scoreless though action packed ball resulted before the Friars finally came to life and began to open up their final margin. A flurry of scores by Belliveau and Carew stuck the victors in the van by eight points before Samdperil counted. The Providence reserve strength was beginning to tell on the Brunonians about this time and there was no denying the Friars' victory march.

Fittingly Captain Howie Floren caged the final Brown basket to end his college career and a very successful Brown season. Throughout the game Floren played consistently good ball and tallied a total of 13 points. However it would be very unfair to single out any one member of the team for special praise for every one of the starting five were equally good. Although held to only two baskets all evening Ken Kennedy did good floor work and little Ray Noonan enjoyed a very good night with his fifteen point total. Harrisson Van Aken was called upon to clear the backboard most of the time because of his superior height. For the most part the Brown team was sadly outclassed by the Friars in the matter of height and this had a noticeable effect on the play. Bill Karaban and Nate Samdperil, also playing their final games, turned in some fine guarding and contributed several points toward the losing cause.

Prior to the freshman game, which was a breeze for the Friars, the Cubs elected Floyd C. Hinckley of Pittsfield, Mass. their captain. Hinckley, who went to Wilbraham Academy, is at present suffering from a dislocated vertebrae and was unable to play.

The only time that the Bears threatened in the preliminary was just after the start of the fourth period when a string of baskets cut the Providence lead from 31 to 20 points.

Smith Will Lead Friars Next Season

Dominicans Elect Star Center Captain of Basketball Outfit

John "Ben" Smith of Brockton, Mass., centre on the Providence College 'varsity basketball team during the past season, today was elected captain of next season's Friar 'varsity at a meeting of the lettermen in Harkins Hall.

Although only a Sophomore, Smith in his first year of 'varsity competition during the past season earned himself a place as one of New England's ranking pivot-men. His most spectacular performance during the season came Wednesday night in the final game with Brown when he outshone Ken Kennedy, brilliant Bruin centre performer.

Smith's election was nearly unanimous, despite the fact that, because of the absence of juniors among the lettermen, there was a flock of Sophomores eligible for the captaincy.

Smith is a graduate of Brockton high school. As he worked during the afternoon after school, he did not play on any of the high school teams, but starred with amateur quintets in the Massachusetts city.

ALSO BASEBALL PLAYER

Last season he was a centre on the Friar Freshman team and a right fielder on the yearling baseball nine. During the football season last fall he was a substitute tackle on the 'varsity team.

As captain, Smith succeeds Bill Kutneski of Olneyville, outstanding candidate for all-New England and all-Eastern guard honors for the past season. Kutneski was one of four seniors honored with Friar letters. The others were Jim Bostick, Jim Feit and Student-Manager Francis Holden.

Those receiving 'varsity letters were: Capt. William Kutneski, Providence; James Feit, Paterson, N. J.; James Bostick, Hoboken, N. J.; Captain-elect John Smith, Brockton, Mass.; Alfred Hagstrom, Gloucester, Mass.; Joseph Carew, Medford, Mass.; Fred Collins, New Milford, Conn.; Milton Bleiden, Staten Island, N. Y.; Ray Belliveau, Fitchburg, Mass.; Leo Davin, New Haven, Conn.; Charles Gallagher, Newton, Mass.; Carlo Angelica, Enfield, Conn.; Student-manager Francis Holden, Jefferson, Mass.

Freshman numerals were awarded to: Capt. Edward Bobinski, New Haven, Conn.; Charles Kelley, Wallingford, Conn.; Leo Pioski, Albany, N. Y.; William Moge, Springfield, Mass.; William Spinler, Paterson, N. J.; Victor Lynch, Caldwell, N. J.; Norman Eichner, Torrington, Conn.; Stanley Gorman, Enfield, Conn.; Leo Fischer, Springfield, O.; Student-manager Joseph Devenish, '36, of this city.

Providence NEWS-TRIBUNE

Al Hagstrom opened the scoring during the first minute of play after the Friars had shown some fancy passing. Kennedy tied the count on a short shot and Noonan followed with a long tom to put Brown ahead 4 to 2. Smith scored for Providence to knot the score at four-all but Brown went ahead 8 to 4 on baskets by Noonan and Karaban.

Kutneski caged two baskets and Carew one to put Providence ahead 10 to 8 but Kennedy tied the count at 10 all. Noonan put Brown ahead again 10 to 8 on a long shot but Smith countered for the Dominicans.

The teams battled on even terms during the next five minutes, and with four minutes of play remaining in the first half, Brown was head 23 to 20. Providence rallied at this point and at the end of the half led 26 to 25.

Brown stayed with the Friars during the early minutes of the second half, the latter leading 32 to 31 after five minutes but thereafter the play was entirely in Providence's favor. The Friar offensive took on added power and its defence was nearly impregnable. Ray Belliveau began to hit his stride and the Providence score began to mount. It was not long before Providence had clinched the verdict. With eight minutes of play remaining, it was 50 to 35 and still going strong.

Brown staged a belated rally near the end but Providence also came back strong to leave no doubt as to the ultimate winner.

The crowd was the largest to watch an athletic event in the history of Brown gymnasium. The stands were filled before the Freshman game started and the late arrivals were forced to sit on the floor with many using their coats as cushions.

Among those in attendance were President Clarence A. Barbour of Brown and Brother Gilbert, St. John's Prep athletic director.

SMITH ELECTED FRIAR CAPTAIN

Sophomore Played Brilliant
Basketball During Past Season.

John "Ben" Smith, centre of the Providence College basketball team and a candidate for all-New England honors, was unanimously elected captain of the 1935-36 court quintet at a meeting of lettermen today. Rated as one of the most spectacular players to appear on a New England college team this year, Smith combines speed and accuracy in passing with six feet two inches of height and 190 pounds weight.

Last year Smith was regular centre of the Friar Freshman team which played 19 games without a defeat. He has been a reserve tackle on the Freshman and Varsity football elevens during the past two seasons. In baseball he was centre fielder of Jack Flynn's Freshman outfit. However he stands out as an ace in basketball.

This may be due to the fact that Brockton, his home town, is a centre of basketball fever. The court sport holds the Shoe City in a tight grip and Smith seems to be inspired by this fever. He did not compete for any high school team for his school-boy days were spent at work in his spare hours.

But he found time to play for several of the amateur teams in Brockton and there gained a wealth of experience under the keenest sort of competition. It is no wonder that he exhibits a pace which would tire the ordinary college athlete. During the Brown game, which closed the Friars' season, Smith was here, there and everywhere, so that his number of assists would total high if the game had been scored as hockey and baseball are!

Like Charlie Burdge, Warren giant, Smith received his first taste of scholastic sport in a Friar uniform. He is a competitor in three sports and if he shows as much improvement in baseball and football as he did this year on the court he will be one of the most valuable athletes at the college. His selection as basketball captain is expected to meet with approval both on and off the campus, as student and fan alike have been impressed by his whole-hearted contribution to the Friars' success.

The Providence College record in basketball exceeded most expectations as the Friars fought their way to a place among New England court leaders after a faltering start. Once they were in stride, however, they were a hard team to stop as their record shows. The versatility of the entire team is evident in the individual scoring record:

OTHER GUARDS GO

Going along the graduation trail with Kutneski are Jim Bostick and Jim Felt. That removes the entire first-string guard department, since Bostick and Felt alternated in one guard positions with Kutneski doing full time in the other. But any woes the Friars may feel at these losses can quickly be dispelled by a glance at the material that will be available to fill the vacancies.

For those guard positions Coach Al "General" McClellan can put his hands on wiry Ray Belliveau and big Leo Davin, the crack reserve performers in this season's squad. If you watched those two handle their jobs in last Wednesday night's game with Brown, you'll understand just how handy they'll come in next season. Despite the fact that they were in reserve roles, they did just about as much as any of the regulars to win that one.

Belliveau can operate both at guard and at forward, but because of the over-supply of forwards McClellan will have next year, he'll probably be spotted in a guard role. And, at the same time, there'll be a couple of reliable guards coming up from the Freshman team in the persons of the chunky Bill Moge and the sharpshooting Bill Spinnler.

TWO CRACK CENTRES

It's at centre that the big problem of finding room enough to take care of the material will come. With the efficient Captain-elect Ben Smith good for two more years of 'varsity play, there'll come up from the Freshman team another crack pivotman, who should be able to do wonders with 'varsity experience. He's Ed Bobinski, a lad who played a huge part in the yearling's winning campaign.

Right now it's a question among many fans as to which is the better player, Bobinski or Smith. And that's not taking any credit away from Smith, who after a steady improvement all season finished the campaign as one of the greatest pivotmen the Friars have ever had. But Bobinski was unusually good for a yearling. He perhaps lacks some of the Smith finesse in play-making, but hasn't a peer in the entire squad in the matter of dribbling. Any coach would consider himself fortunate with either Smith or Bobinski under his wing, but the unfortunate part of having two such performers is that you can play only one centre at a time.

The same situation to some degree will exist at the forwards. This year's aces, Joe Carew and Al Hagstrom, will both be back. And the Freshman team will send up two real high-scorers, Leo Ploski and Charlie Kelley, both apparently ready to step into anyone's 'varsity and make good. The regular pair will have to step at tops to hold their jobs against these graduates from the yearling ranks.

CAN FACE TOUGH SCHEDULE

With that kind of material at hand, Graduate Manager Johnny Farrell of the Friars can go right out and arrange for the Friars as tough a schedule as he can find, with high hopes that the Dominicans will come through it successfully.

Local fans are hoping that some of the classy New York teams can come here to meet the Friars. The overflow crowd at the Brown game proved that basketball is very much a live issue locally, if you give the crowd what it wants. On that basis, the Friars should be able to offer invaders from New York some very attractive guarantees.

The election of Ben Smith to the Friar captaincy was nearly unanimous, a somewhat surprising result since, with no junior lettermen on the squad, there were several other Sophomores, besides Smith, eligible for the captaincy. But, on the other hand, in his important position at centre, Smith proved himself a real leader in the matter of getting plays started and the lads no doubt saw the wisdom of giving him the title of captain. There's no doubt about him having all the qualifications for the job.

Friars Will Have Grand Supply

of Basketball Material Next Season

Plenty of Stars for All Places

Dominicans Have 2 Crack Centres in Smith and Bobinski

By GERALD PRIOR

(News-Tribune Sports Writer)

There'll be few basketball squads in the East as well stocked with material next year as Providence College, provided the returning members of this year's 'varsity' and Freshman teams stick on the eligible list in their studies.

Gerald Prior

The Friars lost only three lettermen through next June's graduation and there are so many 'varsity' reserves remaining and good prospects coming up from the Freshman ranks that they'll be tripping each other up in an effort to land regular berths.

Of course, one of the graduation losses will be a heavy one, considering that Bill Kutneski will step up and take his degree in June. It's likely to be a long time before the Friars can hook up with as brilliant and as durable a guard as Olneyville Bill, who should be first choice for all-New England honors in anyone's book.

The returns are beginning to come in on the "all-opponent" teams picked by clubs the Friars met this year and they're practically all putting Kutneski in their selections. For instance, the Springfield squad, one of the five clubs to trip up the Friars this year, was unanimously in favor of Kutneski as all-opponent guard.

Four members of the 1933-'34 All-New England college basketball team, selected each year by the coaches for the Transcript, were eligible this season to retain their places on the all-star team, but now that the balloting is over we find that two of last year's leading players have fallen by the wayside. The same is also true of two of the three second team players who competed again the past winter, so there are many newcomers to the top ranks.

Last year the players selected by the coaches were Louis Bush of Mass. State and John Martens of Trinity, forwards; Jack Francis Martin of R. I. State, center, and Johnny Grinnell of Tufts and Nick Holmes of Williams, guards. Bush was the one that was graduated, while Martens and Holmes, in the opinion of the coaches, did not warrant repeating this season. Martens, however, did figure prominently in another highly successful season for Trinity, although it was not quite so good as the past two years. In Holmes's case the fact that Coach Charley Caldwell shifted him around, trying to locate a workable group, undoubtedly militated against his chances. Eventually the Purple achieved a triple tie for the "Little Three" crown, so that was some reward, anyway.

New England's Leading College Basketball Players

Upper Center — Kenneth Kennedy, Brown, Center.

Upper Right — William Kutneski, Providence, Guard.

Lower Left—William Connerton, St. Anselm's, Forward.

Lower Right—Jack Francis Martin, R. I. State, Forward.

As a freshman at Brown he injured his knee and did not play, and he was then forced to withdraw from college because of finances. He came back this year and forthwith stepped into a varsity berth and the 235 points he has tallied exemplify best his work. He is a quiet, retiring youth who believes in letting his play talk for itself. Only twice in his career has he been forced from the game on fouls. Incidentally, if a coach had Grinnell, Martin and Kennedy on the same team there would be little need to worry about losing them on personals.

Kutneski a High Scorer, Too

It is very evident that this all-star team would lack nothing in scoring. It might be well first to announce the other two players. They are William Kutneski, captain of the Providence five, who pairs with Grinnell in the rear court, and Leo Connerton, leader of St. Anselm's first college quintet, who joins Martin as forward. Their selection gives the team a decided Rhode Island tinge, for Kutneski's home is in Providence, too, while Connerton hails from Martin's home town, Newport. Connerton graduated from De Le Salle High, where he played basketball four years and gained all-state honors and then matriculated at St. Anselm's Prep. He continued his education at the Manchester Institute when it became a college, playing quarterback on the eleven and then captaining the freshman basketball team. This past season, with the first varsity quintet, he scored 174 points in twelve games against some of the leading teams of the section. That he was able to score 22 points against Dartmouth, 21 against Providence and 19 against New Hampshire is enough backing for the coaches' choice.

All four of the players already discussed led their teams in scoring and the same is also true of Kutneski. The brilliant Dominican guard, who also played a leading role at the same position on the football team for four years, tallied 175 points. In addition to playing a stellar game defensively, Kutneski more than did his share offensively, outscoring some of his more prominent opponents. He is also one of the most popular undergraduates at the college, holding the office of vice president of the senior class.

In addition, to Kennedy, the leading centers of the section were John Coey of Amherst, Ben Smith of Providence, both sophomores, and Bill Davis of Mass. State. To Coey went the honor of second team pivot after an exceedingly close ballot. His mates on the second team are Howard Floren, Brown captain from Brockton, and Louis Athanas of Lowell Textile, who gained a similar honor last year, forwards; with Kenneth Morris of Springfield and Curtis Funston of New Hampshire, guards. The odd thing about the rear court players is that both are seniors who were inactive last year. Funston gave up the sport for track, while Morris was injured and underwent an operation.

Many other players also enjoyed highly successful seasons and that the coaches recognized their ability is evidenced from the number that received votes. Following are the players who received mention:

Forwards—Turner and Fusco, Amherst; Hagstrom and Carew, Providence; Martens, Trinity; Hebard, Springfield; Leeto, Middlebury; Goode, Wesleyan; Nevins, Williams; Bronstein, New Hampshire.

Centers—Davis, Mass. State; Smith, Providence; Hebard, Springfield; Clonan, Middlebury. Guards—Borton, Wesleyan; Greene, Springfield; Sheehan, Williams; Palmer, Vermont; Weller, Coast Guard Academy; Soeckman, R. I. State; Jaworski, Mass. State; Moses, Amherst; Van Aken, Brown; Morse, Northeastern; McKintire, New Hampshire; Kearns, Trinity.

Martin and Grinnell, the repeaters, are the ranking players of the section, although to some the selection of the Jumbo captain may be somewhat of a surprise. To be perfectly frank we were uncertain whether the three-sport athlete would achieve the distinction again. He was shifted to guard this year, after doing duty in former seasons at forward and center. At times it was questionable whether the Jumbos, who played an inconsistent game throughout most of the season, were handicapping themselves by placing such an excellent scorer in the rear court and placing on his shoulders the burden of feeder. That he led all the guards in votes received is proof that the coaches realized the work he was doing. In addition Grinnell, whose end play and signal calling were so prominent in the undefeated football season of last fall and who will earn his ninth letter this spring on the diamond, turned in his best performances away from home. Now we write the closing page on his college basketball career, during which he gained the second team as a sophomore and the first group as a junior and senior. That's a fitting tribute to one of the best performers to ever represent a Greater Boston institution.

Kennedy Best Sophomore

A year ago Martin was placed at center on the all-star team, the position he played, although he lacked the height necessary for a capable jumper, but this past season there were several exceedingly good pivot men, strong in every department of the game, so it is not surprising that all of Martin's votes were either for forward or guard. If Coach Frank Keaney could have kept him at forward, or if he had not been injured, his point total would have exceeded the 212 points that he made. The year previous he rang up 210, which would make him a good man on any team.

Martin, a junior now, is an alumnus of Rogers High of Newport, R. I. He is one of the best natured players in college ranks today, on who can easily uphold his own in any repartee. In every game he is a marked man, but leads the Rams to victory. Exceedingly fast, he is dangerous as a scorer from any position on the floor and seldom does he total less than ten points. The high mark was thirty against Brown. He is also a letterman in baseball, his speed of foot making him an ideal centerfielder. He knows one way to "play" with the coach, loafing on fly balls and then spurring ahead to make a sensational catch. He throws right-handed, but bats left and his average a year ago was .426.

With the R. I. star moving from center to forward room is made for another of the section's leading scorers, Kenneth Kennedy of Brown, New England's outstanding sophomore of the past season. He hails from Pawtucket, R. I., where in high school his athletic endeavors were directed chiefly toward swimming. He made his basketball debut in the Pawtucket Church League and finally as a senior in high school he shifted to the court and gained a regular berth at center. That Pawtucket team lost to Northampton in the final of the N. E. school-boy tournament, with Kennedy, an all-Rhode Island center, picked on the all-New England second team.

R. I. BASKETBALL PLAYERS HONORED

Four Chosen by College
Coaches to Places on All
New England Team.

Four Rhode Island youths were honored by being named to positions on the All New England basketball team which is chosen annually by college coaches of New England. Jack Francis Martin, Ken Kennedy, Bill Kutneski and Leo Connerton, all Rhode Islanders, are four of the coaches' choices, while Johnny Grinnell of Tufts was the selection which completed the team.

One of the quartet of Rhode Islanders, Jack Francis Martin, of Rhode Island State, has been selected for this mythical team for the second consecutive year. Last year he was placed at centre, but was named to one of the forward berths this year.

Kennedy, Brown's crack centre, replaces Martin at the pivot post. He was one of New England's outstanding Sophomores and another of the leading scorers.

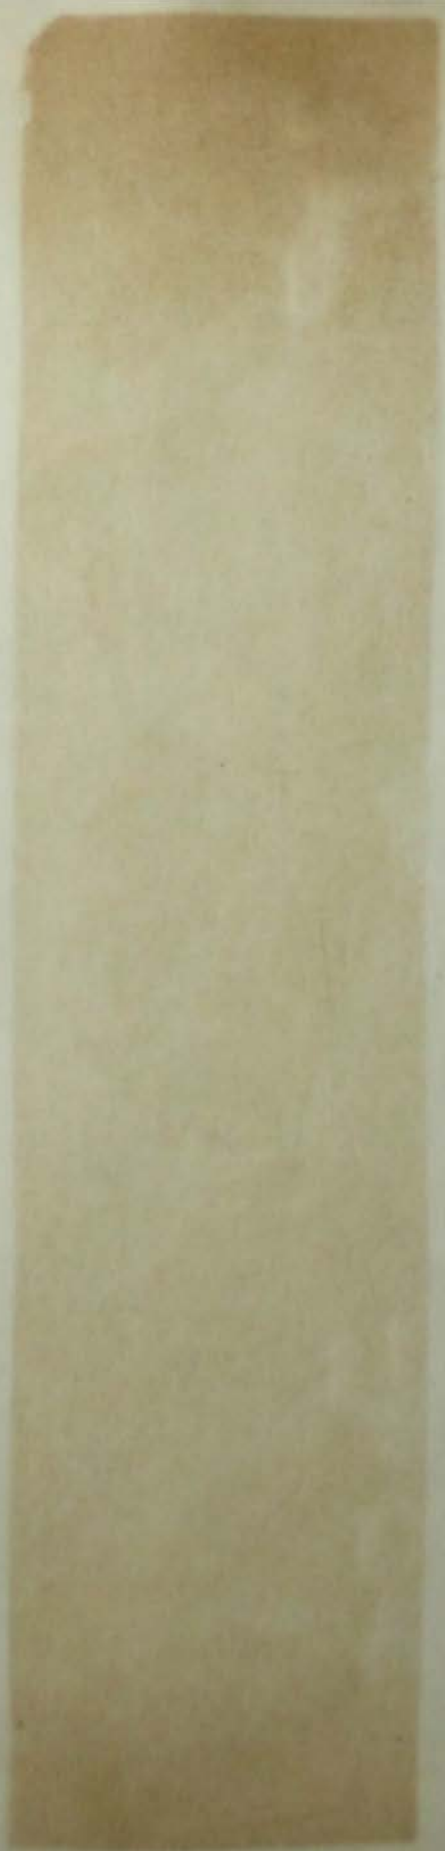

The other forward position goes to Connerton of St. Anselm's, who is an alumnus of De La Salle Academy of Newport. He played basketball four years for the Newport quintet to gain all-State recognition. Connerton has scored 174 points in 12 games with the St. Anselm's first team.

The fourth Rhode Island selection, Bill Kutneski, captained the Providence College team to one of its most successful seasons. The crack Friar guard, who played a similar position on the P. C. football teams, crashed through with 175 points this year. He was one of the strongest offensive players for the Dominicans as well as outstanding defensive star.

Grinnell of Tufts won a place on the All-Star for the second successive season. He captained the Jumbos this year and is a three-letter man.

Following are the players who received honorable mention:

Forwards—Turner and Fusco, Amherst; Hagstrom and Carew, Providence; Martens, Trinity; Hebard, Springfield; Leets, Middlebury; Goode, Wesleyan; Nevins, Williams; Bronstein, New Hampshire.
Centres—Davis, Mass. State; Smith, Providence; Hebard, Springfield; Clonan, Middlebury.
Guards—Burton, Wesleyan; Greene, Springfield; Sheehan, Williams; Palmer, Vermont; Weller, Coast Guard Academy; Speckman, R. I. State; Jaworski, Mass. State; Moses, Amherst; Van Aken, Brown; Morse, Northeastern; McKinniry, New Hampshire; Keatna, Trinity.

St. Pius Club Faces St. Adalbert's for Catholic Basketball Crown

Team From P. C. Boasts Good Record

Providence College Won
Title in Friar Intramural Circuit

By GERALD PRIOR

(News-Tribune Special Writer)

Another Providence College basketball team will seek a State title tomorrow night when the St. Pius club, champion of the Friar intramural league, meets St. Adalbert's at the Loreto gymnasium, East Providence, in the finals of the Rhode Island Catholic tourney.

Gerald Prior

None of the members of the St. Pius outfit played on the Friar varsity that won the State collegiate title, but they're a snappy bunch of athletes who may give even the crack St. Adalbert's combine all sorts of trouble.

All the St. Pius players are boarding students, who are studying at Providence College preparatory to entering the Dominican order. They've been playing together since last December and have an unusual degree of team spirit for an informal amateur club.

MAL BROWN COACH

With the success of the St. Pius team, Mal Brown, genial trainer of Friar athletic squads, blossoms out as a basketball coach. Mal coached the team to the intramural league title and through the present tourney and his usually broad grin was wider than ever last Sunday when the team upset the Lady of Loreto quintet, 46-38, to reach the Catholic title finals.

In sweeping to the intramural title the undefeated St. Pius outfit, playing as the Guzman Hall team, completely outclassed every opponent. As a result they were picked by tourney officials to represent their district in the East Providence event. In the opening round of the tourney the St. Pius shooters downed Sacred Heart, 30-21.

Cochrane Thinks Well of Ex-Friar Catcher

The eyes of Providence College students have been on Lakeland, Fla., ever since the pre-season practice for the major league baseball teams. The Detroit Tigers are at Lakeland and with them is George Tebbetts, former Providence College student. Tebbetts earned his chance to enter the majors by working himself up to the position of All-Eastern catcher during his baseball career with the Friars.

News flashes from the camp have the following to say: "Cochrane is enthusiastic over George Tebbetts, the collegian from New Bedford. He is ultra-aggressive, fast, handles himself well and has the appearance of a hitter. It is not likely that he will remain because catchers need experience, and Tebbetts has had little, but Cochrane says, 'If he doesn't stay this year, be sure to put him down in your book for the future!'"
