Classy Eight-Game Football Schedule, With Four Home Contests, Announced for Friars

Boston College Also May Come Here, Making Five Home Games

P. C. Slate Finest Yet For Eleven

The best 'varsity football schedule in Providence College athletic history today was lined up for Coach Joe McGee and the veteran squad he'll field for the Friars next fall.

The 1936 Friar slate, as proudly announced today by Graduate Manager of Athletics John E. Farrell, includes four home games, a fifth contest, with Boston College, which also may be a home affair for the Friars, and three games on the road.

That eight-game list will open Sept. 26 when Colby will visit Hendricken Field, marking one of the rare occasions, if not the first, upon which the Friars have had opportunity to start their football campaign at home.

It will close with another eventful booking, the rapidly-becoming-traditional clash with Rhode Island State, which will be played as a night game under floodlights on Hendricken Field, Nov. 13, the first time college football has been tried under the lamps in Rhode Island.

It's possible that another game will be tagged on the schedule to follow the State contest and to make it a nine-game slate for McGee's charges. There was some likelihood that Manhattan would be the additional foe, but that seems out right now. Graduate Manager Farrell has his lines out for another opponent, though, and hasn't given up hope of slating the ninth attraction.

ALL-STAR GAME POSSIBLE

There's a chance that this extra game may be a meeting between the Friars and a team of all-star graduates of recent years from Brown, State and Providence College, as a part of the city of Providence Tercentenary celebration. The possibilities of such a game are being considered by Coach McGee, who is chairman of the football sub-committee for the Tercentenary observance.

GLASSY LIST

In between those two contests will come a road game with Holy Cross, Oct. 3; the already announced clash with Western Maryland, here on Oct. 10; a contest here with St. Anselm's, Oct. 24; the Boston College booking, Oct. 24, with the site still undecided, but prospects that Gil Dobie's new charges will agree to a proposition that will bring them to Hendricken Field; a visit to Springfield College, Oct. 31, and a Niagara University game at Niagara, Nov. 8.

The St. Anselm's game on Oct. 17 may be moved ahead to Friday, Oct. 16, and played as a night game, if Friar athletic authorities wish the change. St. Anselm's has agreed to play at night, leaving the decision up to the Friars. In that case this booking would steal the honor of being the first local night collegiate game away from the Ram-Friar clash-up.

In any case, the schedule, as it now stands, shapes up as the most attractive the Dominicans have ever booked and each home game ranks as one of the features of the sports observance of the Tercentenary. It also marks the most forward step the Friars have yet taken to establish themselves as a home drawing card with the city's football faithful.

The schedule, with Holy Cross, Western Maryland and Boston College rating over the Friars in numeral strength and none of the other games coming exactly in the set-up class, gives Coach McGee something to think about, even with his fine supply of veteran material. And he's thinking about it.

NICE "LITTLE" SLATE

"That's a nice little schedule you've got there, Joe," we said to him as he sat perched on a desk in the Friar athletic office, gazing morosely at the February slush that made his proposed spring practice appear much farther away than a couple of months.

"Yeah," he grunted, "It's a nice 'little' schedule, all right. If we had Notre Dame and Army on there, I guess it'd be so small you couldn't see it. It wasn't hefty enough, so Boston College had to go and get Gil Dobie in the last couple of days to make things more interesting for us."

But, at the same time, you could see McGee was pleased with the list of games and the opportunity it would give him and his squad to show their stuff against high calibre opposition and the several chances to show aforesaid stuff at home.

SEVERAL BRIGHTER SIDES

He admitted to seeing several bright sides to the situation, too. One of them was in the fact that the opener will be with Colby, one of the less formidable teams on the list, giving the Friars something in the nature of a warm-up before they face Holy Cross. In several other years—last season was one of them—the Friars were thrown right into these crushing Crusaders for the first game of the season.

McGee isn't underestimating the potentialities of his veteran material either. The Friars shake loose only three lettermen by graduation this June and only one outstanding star, Omer Landry. Except for Landry, they'll be able next fall to field the eleven men who started most of this season's games. The material coming up from the Freshman team has been better in some other years but McGee sees at least half a dozen of the upcoming yearlings as real 'varsity calibre, at least of the replacement variety.

This fine supply of veterans counts heavily with McGee in relation to the spring practice he plans to start on April 20 and continue for four weeks.

SPRING PLANS

"Our spring practice, under the circumstances, will be a bit different from other colleges," he said. "With all that experienced material on hand, we won't have to spend the whole spring term getting acquainted with the players and putting them through simple fundamentals. We can give a lot of time to perfecting next season's attack."

Although several of the regulars from last year will be out for baseball, the Friar coach hopes to have a squad of at least 30 out for the spring drills. Even those who are with the baseball squad will be able to get in a little football, for McGee hopes he will be able to take them for a half-hour blackboard session before they go out on the diamond.

SCRIMMAGE POSSIBLE

McGee says he wouldn't mind finishing up the spring drill with a scrimmage with "another college team," although such an idea doesn't play any large part in his plans. Brown and the Friars scrimmaged together a couple of times last fall. It may be that, with Brown also holding spring drills, the two will get together again.

Carl "Speed" Merritt, former Cranston high mentor, who this winter signed as Friar backfield coach, will be on hand for spring practice along with End Coach Ollie Roberge and Line Coach Phil Couhig.

Here are the experienced players who'll be on hand for the spring drills:

Tackles: Bill Lawler, Le Bouzan, Lee Davin and Raymond Guillette, lettermen, and Ed Snyder, from the 'varsity, and James O'Neil, Ben Katz and Okayton Memphis, Freshmen.

Guards: Ben Polak, Bill Spinner, Jim Berberas and Stanley Gorman, lettermen, and Jiray Avedisian and Bob Johnston, Freshmen.

Centres: Ben Abrams and Norm Eichner, lettermen, and Walter Strepek, from the 'varsity, and Harold Demers, Freshman.

Quarterbacks: Ray Belliveau, letterman, and Ed Butler, Johnny Jaworski and Ray Bedard, Freshmen.

Fullbacks: Bill Moge and Dick Vittullo, lettermen, and Michael Michaels, Freshmen.

BASEBALL PLAYERS

Some of the players whose spring drills will be cut down by baseball practice are: Hagstrom, Ryan, Banahan, Belliveau, Hammond, Lengyel and Moge, together with several of the Freshmen.

The schedule for next year's Freshman team also was announced today along with the 'varsity list. It includes six games, two at home and four away. The Rhode Island State Freshman game, listed for Saturday, Nov. 1, may be moved ahead to Nov. 13, so as to be played on the same date as the night football game between the colleges.

The schedules:

FOUR OF 8 SCHEDULED GAMES SLATED FOR HENDRICKEN FIELD

Two More Foes May Be Added—Spring Training
Will Start April 20—Six Contests for Freshmen

Providence College will play an eight game football schedule this season, opening with Colby on Sept. 26 and closing with Rhode Island State College on Nov. 15. Four of the eight games are listed for Providence with the possibility that the Boston College game will be shifted to Hendricken Field instead of the B. C. gridiron.

Games are listed with Colby, Holy Cross, Western Maryland, St. Anselm's, Boston College, Springfield, Niagara and Rhode Island State College.

Coach Joe McGee will conduct a spring football practice on Hendricken Field of one month's duration, opening on April 20 and closing on May 15. Spring practice is an innovation in the present era of Friar football, for no Providence College eleven has worked during the spring months since 1931.

MAY PLAY TWO FLOODLIGHT GAMES

Sept. 26—Colby at Providence.

Oct. 3—Holy Cross at Worcester.

Oct. 10—Western Maryland at Providence.

Oct. 17—St. Anselm's at Providence.

Oct. 24—Boston College, place undetermined.

Oct. 31—Springfield at Springfield.

Nov. 8—Niagara at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Nov. 13—Rhode Island State at Providence.

The Rhode Island State College

game will be played under flood lights, and there is just a possibility that the St. Anselm's game may be shifted from Saturday afternoon to Friday night and staged under the lights. All home games will be played on Hendricken Field.

TWO MORE GAMES MAY BE ADDED

According to Graduate Manager Farrell, there is still a possibility that another game or two may be added to the end of the schedule. Farrell is anxious to secure a suitable opponent for a Thanksgiving Day game, but he is limited in his choice. The opponent would have to have stature enough to compare with Rhode Island State College as a rival for Farrell wants to avoid a let-down following the meeting with the Kingston team.

In keeping with the expansion of football at Providence College, Coach Joe McGee will conduct a spring football drill that will differ materially from that usually meted out to college candidates. With a veteran team assured for this fall, McGee is in a position now of being able to name at least one starting lineup for the early games. So no time will be wasted on searching for candidates for the various positions. The time will be given to the drill on fundamentals, perfection of plays and timing, and passing and kicking.

McGee is considering the adding of a double wingback offence to his single and short kick set-up, in which event considerable time will be given to drill on that. The play calls for a blackboard drill for about a half-hour each day, with all of the candidates, including those engaged in baseball, attending that phase of the work. With the completion of the blackboard work, the baseball men will join Jack Egan's squad, and the others will turn to football.

Others who will be candidates for this fall's team includes: John Smith, William Murphy, Antony Pariseau and John Lyons, ends; James O'Neill, Benjamin Katz and Clayton Memphis, tackles; Jiray Avedisian and Robert Johnston, guards; Walter Strepak and Harold Demers, centres; Edward Butler, John Jaworski and Raymond Bedard, quarterbacks; Leonard Strassberg, Thomas Hammond, John Lengyel, William Leahy, Paul Morin, Thomas Conley and Daniel McKinnon, halfbacks, and Michael Michaels, fullbacks.

Of that list, Hagstrom, Ryan, Banahan, Belliveau, Hammond, Lengyel and Moge are baseball players of established worth, and several of the first year men will be candidates for the freshman team.

The schedule, probably the finest ever prepared for a Dominican eleven, will call for the best effort of the veteran squad. The arrival of Gil Dobie at Boston College Heights will heighten interest in that game, and Western Maryland is sure to be a highlight in the local season.

McGee expects a squad of about 30 men for spring work. In addition to the list of men from last season's varsity and first year teams, a number of others have indicated their intention of reporting for the preliminary work.

Carl Merritt, the new backfield coach, and Phil Couhig, line coach, will both be on hand to aid McGee in the spring work. It is possible that the spring work may be completed with a scrimmage session with another college team.

The Dominican freshman team will play a schedule of six games, opening on Oct. 2 and closing on Nov. 14.

The first year listing follows:

Oct. 2—St. John's Prep at Danvers.

Oct. 12—Holy Cross Freshmen at Worcester.

Oct. 24—Dean Academy at Franklin.

Oct. 30—Boston College Freshmen at Providence.

Nov. 6—Marianapolis College at Providence.

Nov. 14—Rhode Island State Freshmen at Kingston.

There is a possibility that the Holy Cross Freshman game, listed for Monday, Oct. 12, may be moved from afternoon to morning, for the Temple-Boston College game in Boston that afternoon will be the highlight in New England on Columbus Day.

OPENING GAME TO BE HELD HERE

The opening of the Varsity schedule with a Providence game is an innovation, for it has been seven years since the Friars opened on the home gridiron.

Coach McGee will call on a squad of about 30 men, including the following letter list: Alfred Hagstrom, Paul Ryan, Edward Banahan, Edward Gill, ends; William Lawler, Leo Bouzan, Leo Davin and Raymond Guillette, tackles; William Spinnler, Benedict Polak, Stanley Gorman and James Boboras, guards; Benjamin Abrams and Norman Eichner, centres; Ray Belliveau, quarterback; Carlo Angelica, Dominic Minicucci, Albert "Hank" Soar, halfbacks, and William Moge and Richard Vitullo, fullbacks.

Providence College Lists Western Maryland Series

First Game Will Be Played Here Oct. 10 as Part of Ter- centennial Celebration.

In line with its policy of scheduling stronger football opponents for next year, Providence College yesterday announced that it will meet Western Maryland at Hendricken Field on Oct. 10. This date was filled by the City College of New York last season. It is expected that the Friars will also schedule games with Springfield, Holy Cross, Boston College, Colby, St. Anselm and Rhode Island State.

This year, in its bid for a home following and with the Tercentennial celebration as a further incentive, the Friar athletic authorities are planning to make the Black and White schedule wholly a home one if possible. Contacts with Colby, Boston and Holy Cross to date have met with favorable responses. The Western Maryland game, one of the most important intersectional contests to appear on recent Dominican schedules, adds another colorful opponent to a promising list.

Providence enjoyed a highly successful year with six triumphs and two defeats the past season and will have most of its veterans available next year as well as half a dozen or more capable players from this year's Freshman team. All in all the Providence material looks equal to the fine slate of games being arranged.

The Friars have arranged a home and home series with the strong Western Marylanders and will meet them in the Baltimore Stadium in 1937. The stadium committee will decide in the near future about this date as three elevens use the stadium and their schedules must be made to interlock to avoid conflicts. Providence will hold several October 1937 dates open to take care of this game.

Next year Providence will play a schedule which will start sometime in September or early October and continue through to Thanksgiving Day. Plans to schedule a strong Thanksgiving Day opponent for Hendricken Field are going forward and will be completed probably by late January. A minor opponent has been tentatively listed for the Saturday prior to Thanksgiving permitting the Friars a breather before tackling their closing game.

CITY WILL BACK P. C.-B. C. GAME

Council Committee on Tercentenary Sports to Make Negotiations.

Progress is expected in a few days on the plan to bring the Boston College football team here on Oct. 24 to meet Providence College. Alderman Frank Rao, chairman of the sub-committee on sports, was empowered by the general committee on Tercentennial activities of the Providence City Council at its last meeting to complete necessary arrangements with the two colleges.

Graduate Manager John E. Farrell, athletic director at Providence College, stated last night that the entire matter rested with the general committee and that Providence College, as yet, had no statement to make regarding the negotiations.

Alderman Rao has been given authority to bond the game, and the corporation established for the handling of financial matters pertaining to the Tercentennial observance will draw up the papers for the bonding within a few days.

FRIARS WILL PLAY EAGLES IN BOSTON

Game Tentatively Planned as Part of Tercentenary Observance Transferred.

The Providence College-Boston College Varsity football game, planned for Brown Field on Oct. 24 as a concluding feature of the Providence City Council's Tercentenary celebration, will not be played here, but will be played on the Eagles' home field at Chestnut Hill, Mass., on the same date.

The decision to play the game in Boston brings to a conclusion months of negotiations to bring it here. The move to conclude the negotiations and settle on the Boston College field was announced from Boston by the B. C. Graduate Manager, John Curley, and confirmed by Providence College authorities yesterday.

Although it was learned that hope was still held out that the game might be brought here as a highlight in the P. C. schedule, yesterday's announcement from the B. C. athletic offices closes the issue. Both schedules list the game for Boston.

Reports on the P. C.-B. C. game for Providence first reached the public ear early last spring when John E. Farrell, Providence College graduate manager, was arranging his Varsity schedule. At that time, the Providence City Council Tercentenary Committee took the matter under consideration and during one stage of the consideration voted to sponsor the game here on Brown Field. The Brown officials had not been approached on the availability of their field at that time and the guarantee that Boston College wanted to leave her own field was a matter for consideration, and long negotiations were the result.

Boston College later consented to bring her team here for a stated guarantee. The Providence College interest in controlling the revenues that come in from her own games was a factor in extending the negotiations among the three parties concerned.

The issue extended itself until the City Council Tercentenary committee found itself without funds for sponsoring the remaining features of its scheduled celebration, then reached a stalemate. Since the Tercentenary committee had provided the major impetus for bringing the game here, it was only in a natural course of events that the coming of fall should bring the issue to a head.

Interest in Boston College in New England has been increased by the arrival of Gilmour Dobie to the Heights from Cornell.

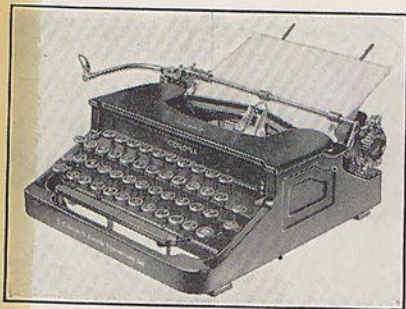

Boston College has never played in Providence.

Jack Curley, B. C. athletic director, told the Journal yesterday that no contract had ever been signed to hold the game in Providence, but that there was a "tentative agreement subject to the signing of a contract."

"We preferred to switch the game back to Boston," said John E. Farrell, graduate director of athletics at Providence College. "We had never definitely decided to hold it here but had hoped we could swing it."

Mr. Farrell said Providence College had never made any definite agreement with the City Council committee regarding a guarantee for the game.

29 P. C. Gridiron Candidates Report for Spring Practice

Touch Game Played.—Squad
in Next Few Days.

Hustling through an hour of warm-up drills as a preliminary, 29 Providence College football candidates completed the first session of a three-weeks' spring practice with a touch football game yesterday afternoon. Head Coach Joe McGee, Carl Merritt, backfield coach, and Phil Couhig, line coach, directed the workout.

It is expected the squad will be increased within the next two days to close to 50 men, as many did not report for yesterday's opening drill. Eleven players on the 'Varsity list of prospects are on the baseball squad and blackboard talks for these candidates will begin soon.

Coach McGee plans to spend another day or so in drills which will condition the men for scrimmage work later in the practice period. Coach Carl Merritt began to explain the assignments of the double wing-back formations yesterday, starting with the fullbacks.

Only five players will be lost through graduation in June and of this number only one, Capt. Omer Landry, was a regular last season. The other graduates, who acted in reserve roles, are: Joe Balzanelli, halfback; Bill Sullivan, tackle; Pat Morrison, centre, and Joe McHenry, guard.

The players who reported yesterday were:

17 Veterans Are Among 30 Friars Invited to Camp

Preliminary Practice Will Start
Wednesday at Narragansett Pier.

Providence College will open its pre-season football training camp at Narragansett Pier on Wednesday in preparation for the Friars' 1936 schedule of eight games. With much of the preliminary work already taken care of in a three-weeks Spring practice, the Dominicans should launch their third campaign under Head Coach Joe McGee with a better foundation than either of McGee's previous elevens.

McGee will have a pair of capable assistants to handle his backfield and line problems giving him more time to work on the mechanics of the Friars offence and defence than he has had in the past. Carl Merritt, one of the State's leading schoolboy coaches while at Cranston High, will direct the 'Varsity backs. Phil Coughig, one of the charter members of McGee's staff and an outstanding tackle while at Boston College, again will be in charge of the linemen.

This sports season of 1936-37 will mark the end of the athletic trail of the class of 1937, which will be the graduating class next June. Back in 1933 the class of 1937 entered the Dominican college as Frenchmen and established some sport records that probably will stand for quite a while in Friar athletic annals.

They won five of their six Freshmen football games, then went through an undefeated basketball campaign with 19 victories and topped off their record-making with eight victories in 11 baseball games. The majority of the athletes in this particular class play in more than one sport and several of them are stars in the three major sports.

Ed Gill of Cranston and Al Hagstrom of Gloucester, 'Varsity ends, were first-stringers on the Freshman eleven in '33. They are now two of the leading candidates for the 'Varsity flanks this season. Hagstrom holds down regular berths on the baseball and basketball team while Gill was 'Varsity basketball manager last season.

Leo Davin of New Haven and Leo Bouzan of Newton, the Friars' giant tackles, held the same posts on the yearling eleven in '33 and have been playing top-notch football for the past two Varsity seasons on the first-string eleven. Davin is captain-elect of basketball and an all-New England and all-Rhode Island guard. Bill Lawler of Springfield, another veteran tackle, also started his career with the '33 yearling season.

Jim Boboras of Providence is the only senior guard left of the group which started to compete for the Friars in '33. His running mate, Stan Gorman of Somerville, Conn., also a first-string guard, dropped out of college last semester. Ben Abrams, the class of '37's leading contribution to the centre ranks, has also left school.

In the backfield the class of '37 has contributed some outstanding players to the football team. Ray Belliveau of Fitchburg, who handled much of the Varsity piloting last year, is again headed for the lion's share of the signal calling. Tom Hammond of Fall River and Carlo Angelica of Thompsonville, Conn., two fleet-footed halfbacks, and Dick Vitullo of Warren, 220-pound fullback, are others who have kept the athletic repute of the class of '37 on a high plane.

Among the 30 candidates invited to attend the training camp are 17 veterans, 12 sophomores and Leo Ploski of Albany, who did not play Varsity football last year but was a Freshman backfield star the year before. Ploski is a triple-threat halfback who will be a welcome addition to the squad which needs replacements in the backfield.

The answer to some of the backfield problems may be found among a trio of sophomore backs who looked good in Spring drills. They are Ray Bedard, of Central Falls, scrappy little quarterback; Mike Michaels, of Danbury, Conn., fullback, and Tom Conley, of Harrisville, halfback. These players will strengthen the squad of veteran ball carriers comprising Dick Vitullo, Bill Moge, Carl Angelica, Ray Belliveau and Dom Minicucci.

each assignment. McGee would like to keep Eichner at guard and hopes Hal Demers of Woonsocket or Anthony Pariseau of Attleboro will be able to handle the centre post.

Demers, regular centre on the Freshman eleven last season, was one of the outstanding linemen of the yearling squad. If he continues to play the same sort of rugged game he did with the Freshman he rates a fine chance of seeing regular service.

Pariseau was first-string end with the Freshmen and was one of the best defensive ends to show on a Friar first-year team in recent years. McGee plans to convert Pariseau into a centre as the Attleboro player has the build for the position, is fast and aggressive, and plays as if he relished the bumps and contacts. The rest of the line has veterans for every post and it is not likely that changes will be made there.

The weak spot in the line will be at centre where there is only one veteran available. Norm Eichner of Torrington, Conn., is the sole letterman with pivot experience. He served last year both at centre and guard playing a whirlwind game in

26 Friar Football Players Leave for Camp at Pier

Actual Drills to Start This
with Developing Backs.

Providence College launched its pre-season training schedule for the 1936 football campaign yesterday afternoon when 26 candidates left for Narragansett Pier by bus. Actual field drills will be started today with morning and afternoon sessions.

Head Coach Joe McGee and his assistants, Carl Merritt and Phil Coughig, supervised the departure of the athletes after instructions for the daily program at the Pier camp had been given. Only five absentees were listed and they are expected to report within the next day or two.

For the most part the players reported gains in weight after summers spent on jobs which toughened muscles and prevented excess poundage. A cursory check of summer activities disclosed that the football men worked on State projects with pick and shovel, played amateur baseball, toiled, worked as salesmen and held down odd jobs that crop up with every summer season.

The players spent yesterday checking in at the athletic office, being measured for equipment and packing their duffle bags with complete outfits for their stay at the camp. Last night the plans called for assignment of quarters and the first meal at the training table. The squad was to hold its first workout at 9:30 o'clock this morning and another at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Coach McGee said yesterday that grass drills will play about the same role in the Friars daily program as they have in the past. While the trend this season is to place more emphasis on scrimmaging, the Friars will not put on the shoulder pads for a few days.

With veterans available all along the line the big problem facing the Friar coaches is the development of reserve material. In the backfield much work is to be done in lining up a new first-string quartet to fill the gaps left by graduation and withdrawals and to drill capable understudies.

Four of the five candidates who were missing yesterday are lettermen. They are Bill Moge, fullback from Springfield; Al Hagstrom, end from Gloucester; Dic Vitullo, fullback from Warren, and Norm Eichner, centre from Torrington, Conn. Charlie Gaffney, halfback from this city, was the other candidate who did not report.

Players who reported yesterday:
Centres—Hal Demers, Woonsocket, and Anthony Pariseau, Attleboro; Guards—Bill Spinnler, Paterson, N. J.; Ben Polak, Warren; Jim Boboras, Providence; Giray Avedesian, Pawtucket; Robert Johnston, Providence; George Heffron, Harrisville.

Tackles—Leo Davin, New Haven; Leo Bouzan, Newton, Mass.; Ed Snyder, Paterson, N. J.; Bill Lawler, Springfield; Ben Katz, New London.

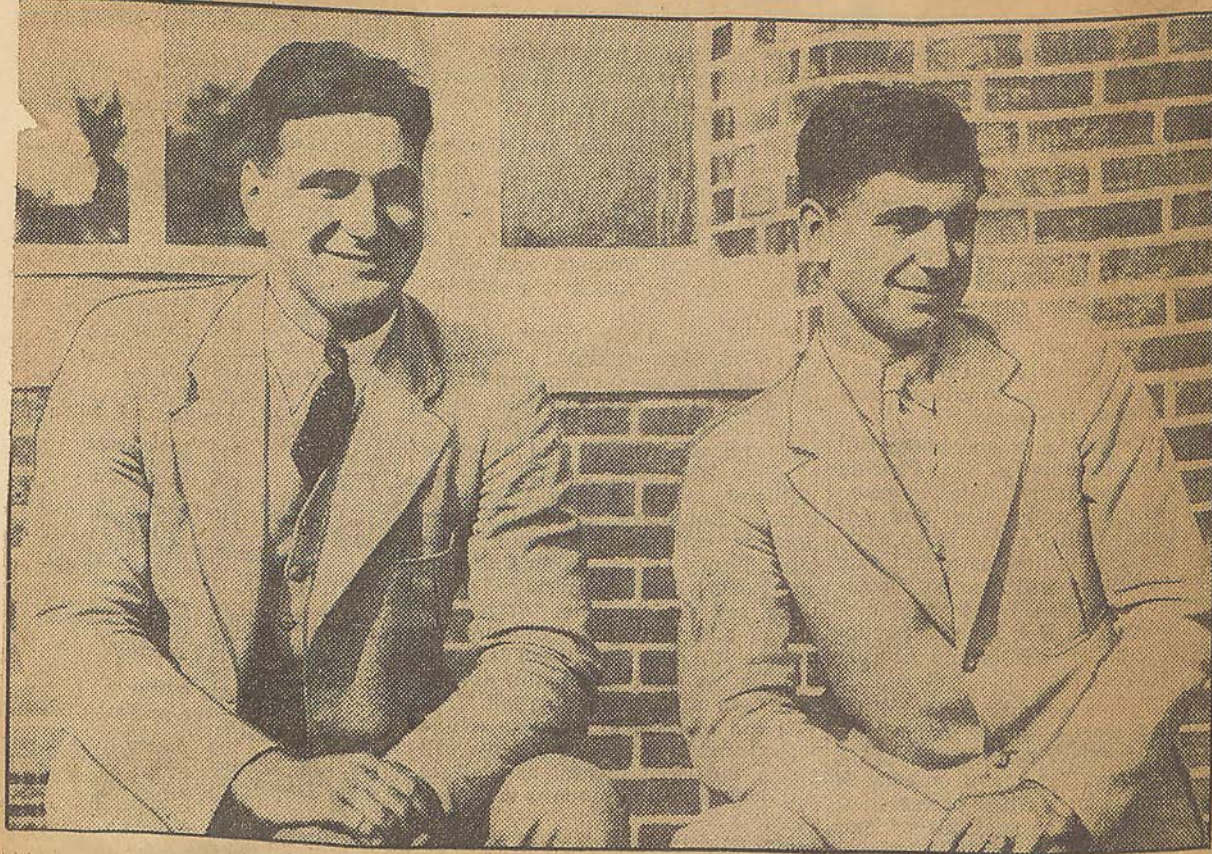

Ends—Ed Gill, Providence; Paul Ryan, Haverhill, Mass.; John Lyons, Haverhill, Mass.; William Murphy, Danbury, Conn.; Abraham "Bim" Strasberg, Providence.

Quarterbacks — Ray Belliveau, Fitchburg, Mass., and Ray Bedard, Central Falls.

Halfbacks—Don Minicucci, Naugatuck, Conn.; Leo Ploski, Albany, N. Y.; Carl Angelica, Thompsonville, Conn.; Tom Hammond, Fall River; William Woolley, Narragansett Pier.

Fullback—Michael Michaels, Danbury, Conn.

COACHING BROTHERS

HEAD COACH JOE MCGEE FACES DIFFICULT BACKFIELD PROBLEM

28 Players Take Part in Initial Prac- tice.—Spinnler in Backfield

Providence College's football squad was increased to 28 players as the Friars completed their first work at this morning on Community Field at Narragansett Pier.

Norman Eichner of Torrington,

Conn., regular centre and guard last year, and Thomas Conley of Harrisville, sophomore halfback, reported to Head Coach Joe McGee for the first time.

The Friars were given a two-hour workout of running, charging, punting and passing. After the drill Coach McGee stated that his squad was the finest conditioned group he had ever had at the start of training.

"Much of the credit of the players' good condition is due to our spring practice and to the fact that the boys kept in shape this summer. There is not an excess pound on any one of them and that speaks well for their summer activities."

This morning drills opened with a talk on condition by Coach McGee after which the backs put in some time on passing and kicking while the linemen worked on the charging machine. The session was concluded with a 30-minute signal drill. Another drill was on the afternoon program.

McGee handed out plays to two elevens. One of the teams lined up with oJe Lyons and Paul Ryan, ends; Ben Katz and Ed Snyder, tackles; Bob Johnston and Ben Polak, guards; Anthony Pariseau, centre; Ray Belliveau, quarterback; Tom Conley and Don Minicuzci, halfbacks; Mike Michaels, fullback. The other team took the field with Bim Strassberg and Ed Gill, ends; Leo Davin and Bill Lawler, tackles; George Heffron and Giray Avedesian, guards; Hal Demers, centre; Ray Bedard, quarterback; Carl Angelica and Leo Ploski, halfbacks, and Bill Spinnler, fullback.

Last season Spinner was a reserve lineman, but because of the need of backfield material and because two of the regular fullbacks have not yet reported, he will probably be used in the backfield this season.

Coach McGee said yesterday that grass drills will play about the same role in the Friars daily program as they have in the past. While the trend this season is to place more emphasis on scrimmaging, the Friars will not put on the shoulder pads for a few days.

With veterans available all along the line the big problem facing the Friar coaches is the development of reserve material. In the backfield much work is to be done in lining up a new first-string quartet to fill the gaps left by graduation and withdrawals and to drill capable understudies.

SKULL PRACTICE FOR FRIARS

Many Changes in Friars' Line Planned By McGee

Coach Contemplates Several Shifts After Watching Charges in First Practice.

Head Coach Joe McGee may be forced to do considerable shifting of players before he is satisfied with the Varsity football team that will represent Providence College on the gridiron this fall. He came to this conclusion yesterday after the Friar squad of 28 candidates completed its first day of practice at its training camp at Narragansett Pier.

The Friar coach has contemplated several changes already, and much as he would like to keep players in positions they have held in past seasons, he believes that changes must be made to build a strong eleven. About the only line position plentifully supplied with material of first-string calibre is guard, and much of the power here depends upon the retention of all veterans.

To give his centre squad at least one candidate of proven ability McGee plans to shift Norman Eichner of Torrington, Conn., regular guard last season, back to the pivot post he held at the start of last year's campaign. Hal Demers, Woonsocket sophomore, who was regular centre on the Friar Freshman eleven last fall, will be counted upon as first-string reserve.

If Demers, who weighs about 180, shows up well enough in the workouts he may win a regular post. In this case McGee will keep Eichner at guard, where the 190-pound Torrington Junior was a standout last fall. Ben Polak, Warren Junior, who also tips the scales at 190 and was Eichner's regular running mate last year, is slated to hold the same berth gain.

Jim Boboras, Providence Senior, who was first string guard, has put on almost 20 pounds during the vacation period and now weighs close to 200. Boboras will work with Polak in the guard assignments if Eichner is shifted to centre. Anthony Pariseau, Attleboro sophomore, is being groomed for duty at centre and showed promise of developing into a capable pivotman in yesterday's practice.

Pariseau was regular end with the Freshmen last season and was one of the most aggressive players on the team. His deadly tackling and accurate pass receiving will assure him of a post at end if he fails to make the grade at centre. Discussing his end squad McGee is disturbed by the lack of heavy, rangy players.

Paul Ryan of Haverhill, regular wing last season, is the only end of any size that the Friars have right now. Al Hagstrom of Gloucester, who has been given a leave of absence until he completes a summer job; Ed Gill of Providence, who was a regular end during the latter part of the '35 season, and Johnny Lyons, "Bim" Strasberg and Bill Murphy, all sophomores, are under 170 pounds in weight and below the six foot mark in height.

Leo Davin of New Haven and Leo Bouzan of Newton, Mass., first-string tackles last year, make the outlook in this department favorable. The reserve material, while not large in numbers, is very promising in size and weight. Bill Lawler of Springfield and Ed Snyder of Paterson, N. J., saw some action as reserves last fall while Ben Katz, New London sophomore, shows plenty of promise.

McGee plans to give out two or three plays each day and allow the players to learn them before moving on to the next set of formations. He expressed satisfaction yesterday at the manner in which the squad assimilated the plays he handed out, and attributed the quick response to the foundation laid in Spring practice.

Double sessions will be held all during the stay at camp which will be until Sept. 19, and if class schedules permit, one or two double workouts may be held when the squad returns to Hendricken Field on Sept. 21.

The daily program for the squad while in camp starts at 7:30 a. m. and concludes at 11 p. m. The players have breakfast at 8, report to the field at 9 and drill from 9:30 to noon. Lunch is at 12:30, and then they are free until the 2:30 drill in the afternoon. That is over at 5 o'clock and supper follows at 6.

There is a short blackboard talk after supper and the squad is free until 10:30 when they report back to quarters. "Lights out" at 11 p. m. ends the day and most of the candidates are eager to "call it a day."

DAVE COUHIG TO COACH YEARLINGS

Joins Friar Football Staff.

Was Former Boston College Captain.

Dave Couhig of Beverly, Mass., a brother of Phil Couhig, Providence College 'Varsity line coach, has been appointed coach of the Providence College Freshman football squad, it was announced today by Graduate Manager of Athletics John E. Farrell.

Couhig joined the 'Varsity squad at Narragansett Pier this morning and will aid the Friar 'Varsity coaches in drilling the candidates. At the same time Couhig will learn the Providence College training routine which he will use when the Friar Freshmen football candidates report on Sept. 21.

The new Providence College Freshman coach was an assistant to Coach Nat Ross at Gloucester high school last year. The team had a successful season, winning five of its eight games.

Dave learned all his college football under Joe McKinney at Boston College. He was one of the Eagles leading athletes for three years, winning his 'Varsity letter both in football and track during each of his three years of competition for the Maroon and Gold.

In football he followed in the footsteps of his brother, Phil, being elected captain of the Boston College eleven in 1934. Phil was the '32 captain. In track Dave was a shotputter and won the captaincy in his Senior year.

His early sport training was received at Beverly high school under Steve Patton. At Beverly Dave played tackle on the football eleven and later was shifted to fullback. He pitched and played first base for the baseball team.

DOMINICAN COACH ORDERS CONTACT WORK FOR TODAY

Ploski, Junior Triple Threat, Proves Accurate Passer
in Practice.

With every player in such fit condition that two days of practice have produced slight evidence of the usual fatigue and stiffness that follow the early drills, the Providence College football squad will shift its activities to the auxiliary polo field at Narragansett Pier.

Coach Joe Magee has ordered out the shoulder pads and the first session of contact work is scheduled for this afternoon. The squad will hold a light workout this morning on Sprague Memorial Field, where the linemen will work on the charging machines and the backs on punting, passing and running.

While McGee expects that there will be a minor ailment here or there before training at the camp ends, he has high hopes that injuries will be kept down to a minimum. With only 28 players in camp and little indication that the squad will go beyond 35 when all candidates are on hand, the problem of preventing injuries has assumed paramount importance.

Plans to make the Friar passing attack as potent a weapon this year as it has been since McGee took over the coaching duties at Providence College are being pressed forward as one of the important phases of the Friar offensive for the coming campaign. Backfield Coach Carl Merritt sent the backs and ends through a long passing drill yesterday, and the accuracy which the different combinations showed foreshadows a strong air attack for the Black and White.

Leo Ploski, Junior triple-threat back from Albany, N. Y., showed up well in the passing drill yesterday. Ploski rifled aerials to the ends with the same speed and accuracy he showed as a P. C. Freshman star two seasons back. Mike Michaels of Danbury, Conn., also turned in capable work in the passing, confirming McGee's hopes that the 185-pound Sophomore may step into regular work in the backfield in his first season with the Varsity.

Don Minicucci of Naugatuck, Conn., who will be counted upon to do considerable ball carrying for the Friars this year, is another capable passer who has stood out in the drills. Ray Bedard of Central Falls, 160-pound sophomore quarterback, is another adept passer. Bedard shows promise of carrying on where his fellow-townsmen, Capt. Omer Landry, signal-caller from 1933-35, left off.

The Friar end squad will be the lightest group of wings that McGee has had but may make up for their lack of weight in speed and shiftiness. Yesterday "Bim" Strasberg, Providence 165-pounder; Johnny Lyons, 170-pounder from Haverhill; Ed Gill, 170-pound Senior from Providence, and Bill Murphy, lightweight from Danbury, Conn., displayed the necessary speed to make the Friars' air attack a real threat.

McGee is disturbed about the defensive strength of his end squad. He may have to move Anthony Pariseau, a Sophomore end of all-around ability, to centre and this would take one of his strongest defensive players from the end ranks. Paul Ryan, 190-pound Haverhill Junior, is the one hefty member of the wing squad and a fine defensive player.

McGee Uncovers Potential

Friar Sophomore Back

DANBURY YOUTH'S SPEED CATCHES EYE OF COACHES

Squad of 28 Settles Down to Drills.—Strong Centre Trio Forms Nucleus of Line

Providence College swung into the second day of her pre-season football drill on the Narragansett Pier Municipal Recreation Field today with several important problems confronting the coaching board.

Twenty-eight men are in the camp now, including a fine lot of talent, but none who can immediately step into the gaps that were created when Omer Landry, Hank Soar and Ben Abrams marched out of the Providence College halls not to return. Landry, the '35 captain, was graduated, but the other two have moved on before their allotted time, and to that extent have aggravated the numerous worries that Joe McGee has. Now, word has come in that Vitullo, the big crashing fullback, may drop out of college to go to work, and McGee accumulates an additional worry thereby.

The Friar guard squad is well endowed with the type of men needed in modern guard play, but there isn't another position on the team that is in good shape. It would seem that considerable shifting will take place to build up some of the decimated units, and that is probably due to start right off.

Off-hand, Providence seems less fortunate placed than a year ago. She has lost the key men, Soar, Landry, Abrams and possibly Vitullo. She didn't have an outstanding freshman team. And a squad of 28 is hardly large enough to supply the regulars and replacements that will be needed for the type of schedule the Friars face.

SQUAD EXPECTED TO COME ALONG FAST

Which isn't to say that all is dark and foreboding, however. While Providence will have to start out short on experience, she should come along fast, for there is a fine nucleus from the '35 team that went through its cauldron of fire. Michael Michaels, Danbury, Conn., sophomore, who stood right out like a beacon a year ago, may be the man the Friar coaches are looking for. In fact, one who is conversant with the play of the various Friar candidates said that in another year Michaels is very likely to be so good that Providence College followers will forget all about the untimely loss of Soar.

Now that's a sizable order, but Michaels looked like a real prospect as he went through his paces yesterday. He was especially adept in the kicking drill that Carl Merritt ordered early yesterday afternoon. And he had the speed of foot and adeptness on shifting to indicate that he may be a feared luminary in the running game. In any case, you'll want to level your gaze on this promising young man when you take your place in the stands in the early games. He's due to come along.

Providence has located a beautiful setting for the preliminary work.

The recreation field isn't as large as the polo field, but it is more centrally located. In fact, the candidates can walk from the Grinnell cottages, where they have established headquarters, to the field, with very little exertion. It has a smooth area of turf, it is high, and exposed to the cooling breezes from the water, and has all the requisites for a football drill field.

BROWN BUSY PUTTING

UP DUMMIES

Mal Brown, the college graduate trainer, was busy putting up the scaffold that will support the tackling dummy, the bucking machines and various dummies.

* * *

Goal posts will not be put up, but there will be ample time for the place and drop kicking after the squad returns to Hendricken Field. There is a possibility that the scene of activity may be shifted to the polo field for the afternoons, when rugged scrimmage is scheduled, for the Friar coaches will avoid cutting up the recreation field.

* * *

Ends—Hagstrom, due Monday; Gill, 165 pound veteran, are backed by four Sophomores, Paul Ryan, Joe Lyons, Abraham "Bim" Strasberg and Bill Murphy.

GUARDS STRONGEST OF VARIOUS UNITS

Guards—the guard squad is the strongest unit on the squad right now. Norman Eichner and Ben Polak are 190-pound aces with plenty of speed. Jim Boboras was a regular last year. Giray Avedesian, George Heffron and Bob Johnston are up from the freshmen with good prospects of going places.

Anthony Pariseau will probably be shifted from centre to end, and there is a possibility that Eichner will be moved from guard to centre, where he would hold forth with Hal DeMers, a sophomore. The coaches are hoping that Eichner can be left with the guard squad, for it will suffer if he moves out.

* * *

Coach Joe McGee and his aides, Carl Merritt and Phil and Dave Couhig, are approaching their problem with a carefully planned schedule. Work yesterday was thoroughly reasonable, and McGee doesn't intend to order out the pads for another day or two. He rates this squad one of the best conditioned that he has seen in his sojourn on Smith Hill.

SQUAD TO HOLD DAILY DOUBLE SESSIONS

The squad will remain at the Pier until a week from Saturday, then the men will probably hold to the double drill sessions until the classes open at the college. Yesterday found the coaches giving out four plays, and that routine will continue daily until the assortment is built up to game proportions.

There is a note of determination in the Friar camp that will carry this squad far and fast. Much will depend on the ability of the individuals to avoid injuries, for the paucity of numbers would make serious injuries to some of the men a real problem. And there's the chance that the Friar will be a starless team this year, an item that has been known to carry a team to undreamed heights.

Friars Hold Strenuous Grid Drill

vidence NEWS-TRIBUNE

The Friars went through their hardest workout of the season yesterday at the Narragansett Polo field, when head coach Joe McGee sent his charges through a 90 minute scrimmage under game conditions. He was extremely gratified at the work of some of the players and the fact that no injuries resulted was sweet music to his ears. Stress was placed on the offensive play of the squad and the results along that line were fair. There are still many rough spots to be smoothed off and that is only to be expected, but all things considered the drill was a huge success.

The team of Ed Gill, and Paul Ryan at the ends, Leo Davin and Tom Bouzan were at the tackles, with Jim Boboras and Ben Polak flanking sophomore DeMers at center, with Ray Belliveau, veteran signal caller at quarter, and Dom Minnicucci, Mike Michaels and Bill Spinler completing the eleven, opened on the offensive at the start of the scrimmage. DeMers and Michaels were the only sophomores in this lineup, while Bill Spinler at fullback was a lineman last fall.

The defensive lineup included, Gig Pariseau and Jack Lyons at the outposts, Bill Lawler and Ed Snyder at the tackles, Bob Johnson and Jay Avedisian at the guards and Tom Conley, converted fullback at the pivot. The backfield had Carl Angelica and Leo Ploski at the halves, Ray Bedard at quarter and Charley Gaffney at fullback. The team was about evenly divided in the number of veterans and sophomores, with Ploski, who did not compete last fall, completing the club.

Michaels, Minnicucci and Bellevaeu did a capable blocking job on the wings from a double-wing formation, while Minnicucci got away a couple of times for considerable gains. Johnny Lyons and Pariseau consistently were in the backfield and their high standard of play may land them on the top team. Ryan will hold down one berth, but they are in the fight for the other. They, along with Bob Johnson and Conley stood out on the defensive combination. They have been shaping up well in the earlier drills and they performed well under pressure yesterday.

The backs were shifted around frequently with most of the players getting a chance to perform in the offensive quartet. Moge and Ploski teamed up well together on the offense, while the backfield of Moge, Ploski, Belliveau and Minnicucci worked well together.

FRIARS ENGAGE IN CONTACT WORK

Backs Given Long Signal Drill.
Dummy Session Is Listed for Today.

Providence College's football squad ended its first heavy contact work yesterday on the auxiliary polo field at Narragansett Pier where the Friars are holding their pre-season drills. The morning session was given over to drilling on assignments for the afternoon session.

More plays were handed out during the morning session and the backs were given a long signal drill. Two picked elevens ran through the new plays with Ray Belliveau of Fitchburgh calling signals for one team and Ray Bedard of Central Falls for the other.

While constant shifts were made in the various positions during the assignment scrimmage one team started with Ed Gill of Providence and Bill Murphy of Danbury, Conn., at the ends; Leo Davin of New Haven and Ed Snyder of Paterson, N. J., at the tackles; Ben Polak of Warren and George Heffron of Georgiaville at the guards, and Hal Demers of Woonsocket at centre.

Anthony Pariseau, who is being groomed for a centre berth by Phil Couhig, Varsity line coach, was given a long drill on passing yesterday and worked in the line during the afternoon. Bill Spinnler, who joined the squad as a guard, is being used in the backfield and will probably be shifted to halfback.

The Friar coaches have not yet heard from three of the invited candidates, Bill Moge of Springfield and Dick Vitullo of Warren, fullbacks, and Charlie Gaffney of Providence, a halfback. A long session of work on the tackling dummy is listed for the morning workout at the recreation field today with the afternoon session being held on the polo field where more contact work is scheduled.

FRIARS WILL HAVE SCRIMMAGE TODAY

45-Minute Session Planned at Pier Camp; Gill, Veteran End, Develops "Charley Horse."

With all players tapered down to their best playing weight the Providence College football squad completed preparations for their first scrimmage during yesterday's double session. Head Coach Joe McGee will send the Friars through a 45-minute scrimmage this afternoon at the Polo Field at Narragansett Pier.

The morning session opened with a blackboard talk and the rest of this session was devoted to practice on the tackling dummy and signal drills. Ed Gill, veteran Providence end, developed a charley horse which may keep him out of action during today's scrimmage. Paul Ryan, Haverhill junior and a regular end last year, has a bruised ankle.

The weights of the players after five days of drilling follow: Carl Angelica 165, Giray Avedesian 168, Ray Bedard 155, Ray Belliveau 180, Jim Boboras 188, Leo Bouzan 210, Leo Davin 205, Hal Demers 170, Tom Conley 180, Ed Gill 167, Tom Hammond 165, Ben Katz 181, Johnny Lyons 168, Dom Minicucci 170, Bill Moge 185, Bill Murphy 155, Mike Michaels 170, George Heffron 168, Bob Johnston 172, Ben Polak 185, Anthony Pariseau 182, Leo Ploski 165, Bill Lawler 210, Paul Ryan 190, Bill Spinnler 166, Ed Snyder 201, "Bim" Strasberg 160, Bill Woolley 162, Al Hagstrom 182 and Charlie Gaffney 181.

Norm Eichner, Torrington junior, who is the leading candidate for centre, is on leave from camp due to sickness in his family.

FRIAR SQUAD GETS HARDEST WORKOUT

Scrimmage; Short Drill Listed Today.

The Providence College football squad received its hardest workout of the present training campaign when it was given 90 minutes of scrimmaging yesterday on the polo field at Narragansett Pier. Head Coach Joe McGee was highly satisfied with the manner in which the players tackled their assignments and gratified at the absence of injuries when the work ended.

Yesterday was the first time the coaches saw their charges performing under actual game conditions and the results on the whole were satisfactory. The players came out of the long session in such fit shape that a short scrimmage has been ordered for today.

Emphasis was laid on the offence during the workout to gauge the progress the backs have made in learning their assignments. The results were only fair, according to Coach McGee, and the players "have a long road to travel," in his opinion, before the offensive play reaches a satisfactory standard.

The team which took the offence at the start of yesterday's scrimmage lined up as follows: Gill and Ryan, ends; Davin and Bouzan, tackles; Boboras and Polak, guards; Demers, centre; Belliveau, quarterback; Michaels and Minicucci, halfbacks; and Spinnler, fullback.

Michaels and Belliveau did some excellent blocking for this team and some of the work led McGee to wax enthusiastic over the possibilities of the double wingback attack for the Friars. Minicucci did a capable job as a blocking back also and several of the plays were worked for considerable gains.

The defensive team comprised the following at the start of the session: Pariseau and Lyons, ends; Lawler and Snyder, tackles; Johnston and Avedesian, guards; Conley, centre; Bedard, quarterback; Angelica and Ploski, halfbacks, and Gaffney, fullback.

This eleven turned in defensive work of a high calibre, making the offensive team work its hardest to cover ground. McGee considers the defensive play well enough advanced to devote most of his attention to the offence. Pariseau and Lyons, sophomore ends, consistently spiked plays that came their way while Johnston at guard and Conley at centre did fine work.

During the scrimmage Moge, Ploski, Angelica, Conley, Johnston, Lawler and Pariseau were shifted over to the offensive eleven. Moge and Ploski turned in fine ball carrying with Ploski's passing adding greater power to the offence. The backfield of Belliveau, Moge, Ploski and Minicucci turned in some of the best work of the afternoon.

BILL MOGE JOINS DOMINICAN SQUAD

Conley Takes Over Centre
Post.— Pariseau Returns to End Squad.

Three candidates joined the Providence College football squad at its Narragansett Pier training camp yesterday, completing the roster of invited players and bringing the total to 31. The Friars embarked upon their fifth day of practice without a single player on the injured list and only a few minor ailments were in evidence after a double session of intensive work.

The players, who reported at the Pier yesterday for their first workouts, were Bill Moge, Springfield junior who played regularly in the backfield last season at fullback and halfback; Al Hagstrom, senior from Gloucester, Mass., a first-string end last year, and Charlie Gaffney of Providence, former La Salle star, who was a backfield reserve in '35.

The arrival of Moge added a brighter look to the backfield situation for Moge will probably fill the fullback berth on the first team. With Dick Vitullo of Warren still listed as a doubtful participant, the fullback duties will fall to his understudy, Moge, who filled the post with ability in several games last fall.

Moge was an outstanding athlete in his Freshman year, and in his first season with the Varsity, won regular assignments in the backfield. His power on line plunges was an important part of the Friars' running attack and he passed and punted with exceptional ability. Moge weighs about 185 and is five feet, 10 inches tall.

Al Hagstrom was the other half of the Soar to Hagstrom passing combination which caused Friar opponents all kinds of trouble last fall. Although he weighs only a few pounds over 170 and is two inches under six feet, the Gloucester senior is an exceptionally adept pass receiver.

Charlie Gaffney saw action as a reserve back last season, and it is expected that he will be called upon for considerable service this year. Gaffney is a good blocker and a capable passer. McGee plans to use Gaffney at fullback with Moge and Bill Spinnler.

The Friar coach made two shifts during yesterday's workouts, both of them intended to bolster the line. He moved Anthony Pariseau, who was being groomed for centre duties, to the end squad. Pariseau was the outstanding end on the Freshman eleven last year and will probably give the regulars plenty of competition for a starting assignment.

McGee was going to convert Pariseau into a centre but the end squad needs every available man and the Friar coach has found another capable candidate to play the pivot position, Tom Conley, former Burrillville star. Conley weighs 185 and is a fine defensive player. Line Coach Phil Couhig expects to have the Harrisville Sophomore ready to take over the pivot post on one of the teams when the Friars hold their first scrimmage tomorrow.

The morning workout on Sprague Field yesterday was devoted to an hour's session in tackling, followed by signal drills. One backfield comprised Bedard, Michaels, Ploski and Spinnler and the other Belliveau, Angelica, Minicucci and Moge. At the Polo field in the afternoon the squad was given two hours of contact work including blocking, live tackling and a dummy scrimmage.

FRIARS' STARTING ELEVEN UNCERTAIN

At Least 22 of Squad About on Par in Practice Sessions, Coaches Find.

Although the opening game with Colby is only three days away the Providence College starting lineup is far from certain. In fact, there isn't a post where a player can be named with definite assurance that he will be in that assignment Saturday.

The Friar coaches have given every player ample opportunity to reveal his ability and there has been more individual attention than ever given to each candidate. Still there are at least 22 of the squad of 32 players who are close to a par in practice.

With the defensive play of the squad at a satisfactory stage, the Friar coaches continued to push the offensive drills yesterday. Coach Carl Merritt sent the backs and ends through an exhaustive drill on offense, and the forward strides made in this session were clearly evident in the improved running attack in scrimmage.

During yesterday's workout, which was the first of the single sessions that will be in order for the rest of the season, the line candidates received an intensive drill in charging and blocking. Coach Joe McGee and Phil Couhig, his line assistant, were not entirely satisfied with the work of the line in Monday's scrimmage.

There was a decided improvement in the line play during yesterday's scrimmage, particularly on the offensive team where the work of Jim Boboras and Anthony Pariseau, guards, and Leo Bouzan and Ben Katz, tackles, was outstanding. Tom Hammond at halfback and Bill Moge at fullback were the best ground gainers.

Hammond, one of the fleetest backs on the squad, picked up his interferers quickly, slipped through the openings the linemen made and dodged the opposing secondary for consistent gains. Bill Moge was hard to stop once he reached the secondary and reeled off several long gains, one of them a romp for 40 yards.

The teams lined up for the scrimmage as follows:

BLACKS (offence)		WHITES (defence)
Hagstrom, le.	le. Ryan
Bouzan, lt.	lt. Lawler
Boboras, lg.	lg. Polak
Demers, c.	c. Eichner
Pariseau, rg.	rg. Johnston
Katz, rt.	rt. Davin
Gill, re.	re. Conley
Belliveau, qb.	qb. Bedard
Hammond, lhb.	lhb. Ploski
Angelica, rhh.	rhh. Michaels
Moge, fb.	fb. Gaffney

Johnny Lyons, promising Sophomore end, was kept out of practice yesterday by a sprained ankle and may not be able to play against Colby. The team doctor has ordered him to rest, and will make another examination to determine whether he can don a uniform for Saturday's opening contest.

Coach Dave Couhig separated his linemen and backs during the Freshman workout yesterday, sending the line candidates through a long drill on the charging machine, while the backs worked mainly on passing, Calisthenics and running for the whole squad opened the session.

FRIARS POINTING TO COLBY CLASH

Squad to Be Given Lighter
Work Today and Tomorrow.—Minicucci Hurt.

While the injury jinx made its first serious threat in the Providence College football camp yesterday the Friar coaches mapped out lighter work for the rest of the week and hopes are high that the entire squad will be fit and ready for action against Colby Saturday.

Dom Minicucci, Naugatuck junior, who is a leading candidate for a halfback assignment, has aggravated a leg injury received during a scrimmage at the Friars' training camp at Narragansett Pier. Mike Michaels, Danbury sophomore, who has been giving Carlo Angelica, veteran back, a keen battle for the blocking back assignment, suffered a slight concussion in scrimmage on Tuesday.

Both these players will be rested until the game Saturday, and it is hoped they will be able to play, as they have figured prominently in the coaches' plans for the Colby clash. Johnny Lyons, sophomore end from Haverhill, is expected to re-join the squad today as his ankle has responded to treatment.

The team that will face Colby in the opening game at Hendricken Field has begun to take definite shape in the eyes of the Friar coaches. Along the line the centre and tackle posts have narrowed down to a trio of veterans, while in the backfield the quarterback and fullback posts are causing little concern.

Keen competition has been in evidence in the contest for the end and guard assignments since the start of practice. Ed Gill, Paul Ryan and Al Hagstrom, all veterans from last year's 'varsity, are battling for the wing positions, while Lyons may be ready to join in the struggle before Saturday.

With the shifting of Anthony Pariseau from end to guard, the final selection of a pair of starters at guard has become a problem with the Friar coaches. Two guards who could take over the work on their past experience are the regulars on last year's 'varsity, Jim Bob-ras and Ben Polak. However, Pariseau, Bob Johnston, last year's freshman captain, and Jiray Avedisian, all sophomore stalwarts, cannot be overlooked.

Head Coach Joe McGee expects Colby to provide much stiffer opposition this year than they did at Waterville last season when the Friars won 26-0, largely by their stronger passing game. Coach Eddie Roundy has much more power in his backfield than he had a year ago, as several promising sophs are pushing the veterans for starting assignments.

Roundy has three capable men working in the fullback position. Joe Dobbins, Judy Walker and Bob Neumer. Dobbins and Walker have been out longer than Neumer, and will probably share the assignment against the Friars. At left halfback Tom Yadwinski and Normie Walker, a pair of veterans, have left little to worry about, while at right half Roundy has Bus Burrill, Stan Washuk and "Doc" Rancourt, all specialists.

Yadwinski has been as shifty as ever in scrimmages and Walker, who improved rapidly during last season, is giving "Yad" no chance to let up. Washuk was a regular last year, and is one of the best passers on the squad, while Rancourt holds the same classification in punting. Burrill was outstanding as an end on the Freshman team and is making good in his new role as a back with the 'Varsity.

Friars Test Colby

P. C. Gridders In Form for Good Game

The Providence College Friars will be hosts to the Colby College eleven at Hendricken Field tomorrow afternoon and Joe McGee is taking nothing for granted in the opener. The Friars have looked good in the practice drills, but reports have come down from Maine that the Mules have a strong team and that they will be able to match the Friars in every department of play. Head Coach McGee announced today that he will have but on sophomore in the starting lineup and with the exception of Ploski, who did not participate last fall, will start practically a veteran combination. Gig Pariseau, from Attleboro high is the lone second year man to make the grade at this date and he will open the game at a guard berth.

Pariseau has won a place in the starting array, through some fine work in the practice sessions. He is a bearcat on the defence and has readily taken to his new post. He started the season as a center, was later shifted to end and finally wound up at guard. He is a rugged youth, tipping the beam at 180 and is built for the wear and tear of the center of the line.

PLOSKI TO START

Ploski was a star with the Friar frosh two seasons ago, but did not play football last season. His play has been of a high standard in the preseason drill, and he may eventually succeed to the position held by Hank Soar in the Friar attack. He and probably Tom Hammond will do the passing.

All the other starters or potential starters are lettermen and McGee will trot out an experienced team at the opening whistle. Moge and Angelica may break away tomorrow, while Belleveau will always be a threat. In the line most of the players will be starting their third season as members of the Black and White squad and as such, should lead the team to a fine season.

Colby will open with Captain Wright and Steve Young at the ends, Hershey and Layton at the tackles, Thompson and Harold at the guards and Sanders at center. All the players with the exception of sophomore Hershey saw considerable service last fall and some of them in starting roles.

YADWINSKI FAST

Emil Yadwinski, a hard running ball carrier, will be the man to watch in the visitors backfield. He has speed, power and plenty of natural ability. He is the triple threat man in the Mule organization and he can do things with the pigskin. Last fall he was the outstanding player on the Colby team and he bothered the Friars more than a little bit. Justin Walker is another man on the Colby team who is dangerous. He may be in there at the kickoff, or Coach Roundy may save him for a "spot." Walker is very elusive and has consistently showed up well in the team scrimmages. He was out of action most of last season with a broken arm, but this fall he has lived up to the promises he displayed as a Freshman two seasons ago.

McGregor will start at quarterback, while Stan Wasbuk will probably be the fourth man in the ball carrying quartet. The Mules will come to town confident of reversing last fall's decision and they have the manpower to accomplish that feat. The Providence team is bubbling over with pep and believes that they are going to have the greatest season the Friars ever had on the football field, and they will be out to start the ball rolling with a bang tomorrow.

FRIARS TAKE ON COLBY

GILL WILL LEAD P. C. ELEVEN IN TODAY'S SET-TO

Providence College yesterday completed preparations for the opening game of its 15th Varsity football season and today will take the field against Colby College a slight favorite. The time of the game is 2:30 o'clock at Hendricken Field.

On the basis of its 26-0 victory over the Mules at Waterville last year the pre-game selectors have made Providence the favorite. But the Friar coaches believe they will face a much harder assignment in this season's Colby eleven. All in all this afternoon's game shapes up as a fine 1936 inaugural for the Friars.

Head Coach Joe McGee has named Ed Gill, letterman from this city, who will start at left end, as captain for this game. McGee's choice of a starting team comprises Capt. Gill and Ryan, ends; Bouzan and Davin, tackles; Pariseau and Polak, guards; Eichner, centre; Belliveau, quarterback; Ploski and Angelica, halfbacks, and Moge, fullback.

Football fans have not been afforded an opportunity to see the Friars open their home season at such an early date in the past 10 years and the spacious accommodations at Hendricken Field are expected to be well filled. There will be plenty of color at this opener. The Friar band is ready to make its first appearance of the year and "Friar," P. C.'s Dalmatian hound mascot, has been impatiently awaiting this day when he reigns as one of the important figures.

The Friar football squad will be one of the most colorfully outfitted groups to represent Providence College. New uniforms of cardinal and black will make their appearance with the college colors carried out in the numerals and stocking stripes. The jerseys are cardinal with black numerals bordered with white. Black pants, shoes and helmets and cardinal stockings with black and white calf stripes complete the new football regalia.

The Blue and Gray of Colby will add another note to the color scheme of this opening clash. Colby is expected to arrive here shortly before noon today, and will confine its pre-game work to a short warm-up drill before the game.

According to the weight statistics from each camp, the Friars will start a line averaging 190 pounds with Colby's frontier weighing 183 per man. In the backfield the P. C. average will be 176½ pounds and Colby's 160.

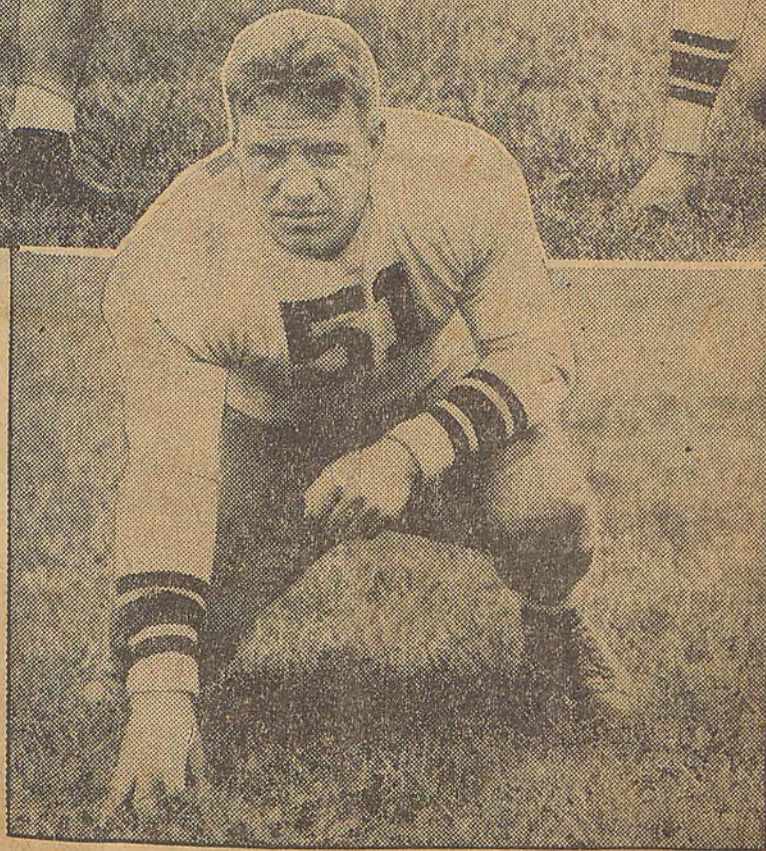

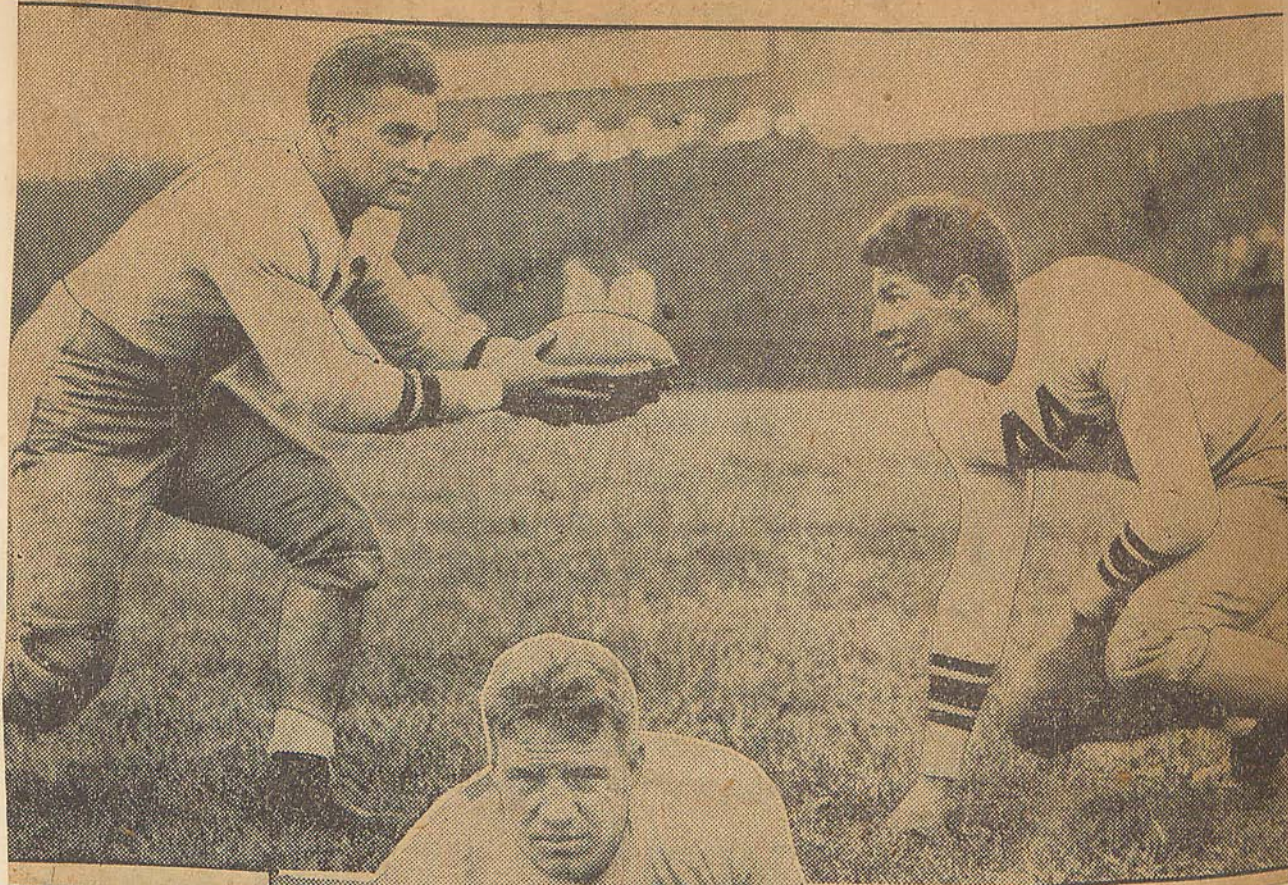

Coach Ed Roundy has named a team of Wright and Young, ends; Hersey and Layton, tackles; Harold and Thompson, guards; Sanders, centre; MacGregor, quarterback; Washuk and Yadwinski, halfbacks, and J. Walker, fullback. Nine players are lettermen. Lawton was a sub last year and Hersey came up to a Varsity assignment from the Freshmen.

FRIARS IN LINE TO MEET COLBY MULES

FRIARS TO START VETERAN TEAM AT HENDRICKEN FIELD

Belliveau Expected to Open Game in Quarterback Post

With largely a veteran team Providence College will open its 1936 football schedule tomorrow afternoon when it entertains Colby College at Hendricken Field in a game starting at 2:30 o'clock. It will be the first home opening for the Friars in 10 years.

There are several interesting angles to this game in addition to the fact that Colby will be paying the Friars a return visit after they started athletic relations last year at Waterville, Me. Only three of the Colby players who started against the Friars a year ago are listed in the 1936 lineup.

YADWINSKI ACE OF COLBY BACKFIELD

Yadwinski was the ace of last year's Colby backfield and did much of the ground gaining against the Friars. He is a fast runner, clever in a broken field, and probably will give the Friar defence no end of trouble again this year. Wright and Thompson are expected to have their best year in the line, where they have featured in the workouts.

The Providence College lineup is composed mainly of players who played under Head Coach Joe McGee when he was P. C. Freshman coach and have progressed to their present position during McGee's Varsity regime.

In the Friar line will be a lone newcomer, Anthony Pariseau, Attleboro Sophomore, who will start at left guard. At the other guard will be Ben Polak, Warren letterman and regular guard last year. The tackle berths will be in the hands of Leo Davin of New Haven and Leo Bouzan of Newton, Mass., who are veterans of two campaigns.

EICHNER GOOD DEFENSIVE PLAYER

At centre rugged Norm Eichner of Torrington, Conn., has been named. Eichner is a smart defensive player who played both centre and guard last year. Ed Gill of Providence and Paul Ryan of Haverhill, Mass., will hold forth on the wings where they were stalwarts last year.

The backfield will have Ray Belliveau, Fitchburg, at quarterback, and Bill Moge, Springfield, at fullback. Belliveau did much of the signal-calling last year and is a capable field general. Moge likes the rough going and is the team's powerhouse back.

Injuries have hit the halfback berths the past few days and Dom Minicucci, Naugatuck junior, and Mike Michaels, Danbury sophomore, who were headed for starting roles in these positions appear to be lost for the Colby clash. McGee has selected Carl Angelica, Thompsonville, Conn., to fill the blocking assignment and Leo Ploski, Albany, N. Y., for the left halfback post.

COLBY TEAM

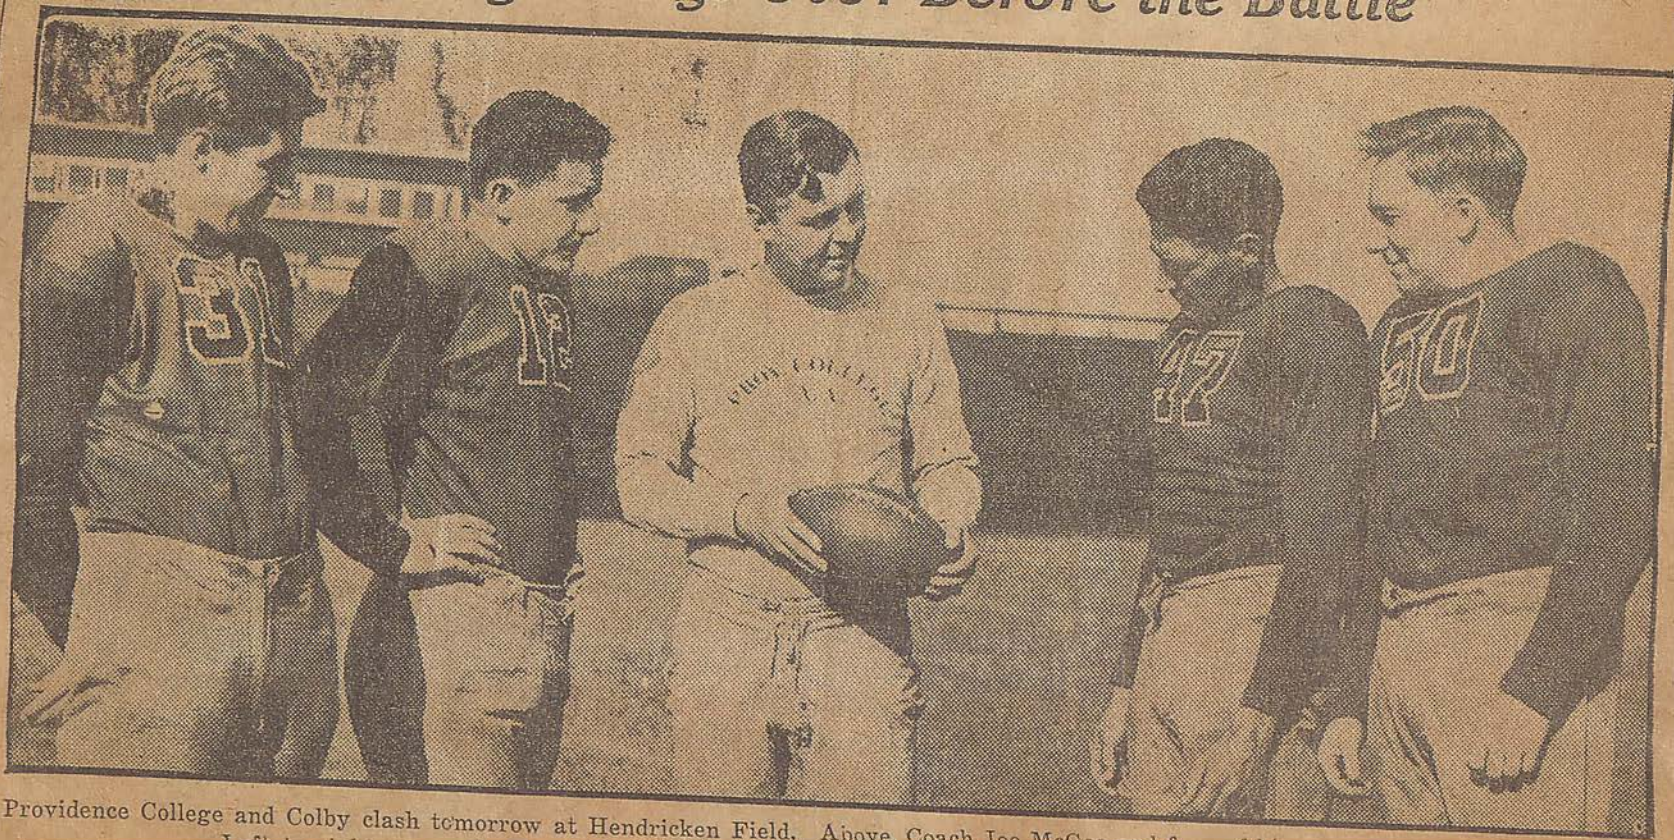

LIGHT BUT FAST

Angelica has shown outstanding ability as a blocking back in the scrimmages and will be a member of the first-string corps throughout the season. He may not start all the games but he will see his share of action. Ploski is the best passer on the team and a capable ball carrier.

The team that Coach Eddie Roundy of Colby has named is rated as one of the lightest and fastest elevens to represent the college in years. Stan Washuk, Augusta, Me., who turned in good work against the Friars last year, will hold down the halfback assignment opposite Yadwinski.

Justin Walker, Plymouth, Mass., has won the fullback work over steep competition. Charlie MacGregor, Rumford, Me., who was a reserve back last year, will handle the signal calling. Whitney Wright, Hyde Park, Mass., and Gordon Young, Hartford, Conn., will start at

FRIARS TRIM COLBY 27-0;

Moge Goes Over Twice; Belliveau First to Count After Taking Pass.

Providence College tore a page from its 1935 sports record and repeated it almost word for word as it handed Colby College a 27-0 setback at Hendricken Field yesterday before 1000 spectators. A year ago the Friars defeated Colby, 26-0, at Waterville, Me.

There were several new names mentioned time and again as the Friars wrote yesterday's chapter into their 1936 sports history. Carlo Angelica, right halfback from Thompsonville, Conn.; Leo Ploski, left halfback from Albany, N. Y.; Hal Demers, Woonsocket centre, and Tony Pariseau, Attleboro guard, were among them.

Then the veterans, who had a hand in making the Friars 1935 campaign a success, were again noted in conspicuous roles. Tom Hammond, Fullback, jumped into a major part in the Friars performance with some fine ball carrying. Ray Belliveau, Hitchburg quarterback, slid off tackle for consistent gains beside generaling the team in capable fashion.

Bill Moge, Springfield fullback, led his powerhouse drive to pierce the Colby front wall for two of the Friar touchdowns. Norm Eichner, Leo Davin, Leo Bouzan, Ben Polak, Paul Ryan, Gus Hagstrom, Capt. Ed Gill, Bob Johnston, Jim Boboras, Bill Lawler, Johnny Lyons and Ed Snyder turned in fine work in the Friars front ranks.

First class blocking by the Friar backs behind a hard charging line permitted the Friars to gain five yards to every yard gained by the opposition. Along with a high brand of blocking the Friars had real speed in the backfield, with the backs rarely losing their interference, and picking their holes well.

Providence scored in every period with Ray Belliveau tallying the first touchdown on a long pass from Leo Ploski. A recovered fumble and an intercepted pass paved the way for drives in the second and third periods with Bill Moge crashing over centre from the one yard line for the scores. Hal Demers, subbing at centre for Norm Eichner, gave the Friars their fourth and final touchdown when he intercepted a Colby pass in the fourth period and raced 30 yards to cross the visitors' goal line.

Colby made its first sustained advance into Providence territory in the closing moments of the first half. Emil Yadwinski, Colby halfback from Stamford, Conn., intercepted Hammond's pass deep in Colby territory and made his way to the Colby 22-yard stripe. Yadwinski, who was most outstanding of a trio of Colby backs, threw three passes in a row to Bus Burrill, his mate at halfback, to advance the ball to the Friar 40-yard line as the half ended.

In the third period the Mules staged another drive after Charlie MacGregor, quarterback, had recovered Ploski's fumble at the Colby 41. Norm Walker and Steve Wasauk, Colby backs, alternated in the Colby advance which carried the Blue and Gold to the Friar 20.

The greatest threat that the visitors made carried them to the Friar 17 in the dying moments of the game. Joe Dobbins, Colby substitute fullback, started the march by intercepting Hammond's pass on the Colby 20 and picking his way deftly along the sideline for 32 yards.

Walker's lateral to Washuk, one of the most deceptive plays Colby showed, advanced the ball 15 more yards, but thereafter the Colby advance slowed down and the Mules lost the ball to the Friars on the P. C. 17. Doc Rancourt, Colby's left-footed punter, did some excellent kicking for the visitors, getting off two 50-yard boots in tight spots.

MacDonald, Colby centre, kicked off to open the game with Carlo Angelica returning the kick eight yards from his 30-yard line. Angelica reeled off a 23-yard romp on a fake spinner through his right tackle as the Friars moved to the Colby 29. After an exchange of punts the Friars started at the Mules 40, and in four plays crossed the Colby goal line.

Ploski circled his right end for nine yards and Moge hit centre for three more yards and a first down. On a reverse Belliveau carried to the Colby 24, and then took Ploski's 20-yard pass and eluded Colby's safety man to score. Ploski made the point from placement.

Game played : September 26, 1936

The Friars started another drive from the Colby 47 a few plays later and went smoothly enough until they reached the one yard line and there they stalled completely on fourth down, losing the ball to a fighting Colby line. Ploski did considerable work in keeping this drive going with Belliveau featuring with a 17-yard gallop around his left end.

Rancourt punted from behind his own goal, lifting a lusty kick that set the home club back to the Colby 38. Colby recovered Angelica's fumble two plays later and took to the air in a vain attempt to advance into Friar territory. Eichner intercepted a Friars pass to return the ball to the Friars, but they did not capitalize on this break.

Moge, Friar fullback, who did a capable job in placing his punts to go out of bounds close to the Colby goal line directed one that rolled off on the Colby two-yard stripe. However, Rancourt spiralled a boot off his left foot to midfield to get the Mules out of immediate difficulty.

Ploski and Belliveau shared the ball carrying to bring the ball down to the Colby 15, where two passes went awry and the Mules took the ball from the Friars on downs. Yadwinski fumbled on the next play and Belliveau recovered on the Colby 18. From this spot the Friars scored in five plays, featured by Angelica's off-tackle smash for 10 yards. Moge scored the touchdown from Colby's one-yard mark and Ploski place kicked the point.

Angelica set the stage for the third Friar touchdown when he intercepted Walker's pass on the Colby 48 in the middle of the third quarter. He gave the Friars a big boost when he streaked through his right tackle and cut to the left for a 22-yard gain to the Colby 25. Moge picked up a first down on the Colby 12, and seven plays later dove over centre for the touchdown. Ploski made his third successful placement in a row to add the point.

Hal Demers handed the Friars their fourth score with a 30-yard dash after intercepting Yadwinski's toss in the fourth period. This tally came with a suddenness that changed the complexion of the scene, for a moment before Yadwinski had intercepted Hammond's pass on the Colby 20 to halt a Friar drive that threatened another score.

Tom Hammond and Norm Eichner did an efficient job on the kick-offs for the Friars. The P. C. team outrushed the visitors by a wide margin, gaining 314 yards from scrimmage to 65 for the Mules. Providence's aerial attack did not function anywhere near as accurately as had been expected. The fault was largely with the timing.

Five fumbles were made during the game, with the Friars erring three times. The officials found it necessary to call only five penalties, four against the Friars for a loss of 25 yards and one against Colby for five yards. The Friar coaches who naturally look at every game from a purely technical angle, were not overpleased with the showing of the team, but the fans saw enough rugged action and enjoyed enough exciting moments to come away with the impression that this Friar eleven will give a good account of itself through the 1936 season.

Providence College and Colby locked horns this afternoon in the opening of the 1936 football season at Hendricken field. For the Friars, it was the initial struggle of a season in which they will devote most of their time to games at home, a reversal of the policy of past seasons when they have fulfilled a roving schedule.

FIRST PERIOD

Providence received the kick off and ran it back from their 23 to the 38-yard line. An end run by Ploski advanced the Friars to Colby's 37. Two more plays netted Providence College seven yards and Colby took time for a conference. An end run by Ploski gave the Friars another yard, but Providence elected to punt. The ball was grounded on Colby's seven. The Maine men returned to their own 40 on the second down. Ploski took the ball but was held in his tracks. A pass by Ploski failed but on second down he made nine yards around right end. Mogge made first down on the visitors' 28. A pass Ploski to Belleveau on the second down scored for Providence College. From the 20-yard line, Ploski booted the extra point.

The score:
Providence 7,
Colby 0

H. Walker took the kickoff on Colby's nine, and ran back to his 34, but the kick was ordered repeated and the second time he took it on the seven and returned to the 26. On third down Colby punted to midfield and Angelica returned five yards. Mogge gained four yards through centre. On second down he fumbled and recovered for a two-yard loss. Providence College punted outside on Colby's 18.

Colby punted on second down and Ploski, receiving on his 47, was downed on the Maine Men's 48. The visitors took time out for multiple substitutions. Angelica made first down on the 36. A pass, Ploski to Gill, was good for seven yards and Mogge made first down on the 26. Belleveau skirted left end to the five-yard stripe. Ploski failed to gain on a sweep to the other side. He was held again off tackle after a one-yard gain. Belleveau was held on a similar play and the Friars were held for downs on the one-yard marker when Ploski failed to plow through on the fourth try.

Score at end of first period:

Providence 7
Colby 0

SECOND PERIOD

Colby punted out of bounds to their 39. On second down Ploski fumbled on the 36 and Colby recovered. Colby gained a yard through the line but went back to their own 34 on a penalty for having the backfield in motion before the ball was snapped. A pass, Yadwinski to Young, made a first down on the Maine team's 49. On third down Eichner intercepted a Colby pass on the Friars' 68 and Ploski ploughed through the line to midfield and then to a first down on Colby's 46.

A pass, Ploski to Ryan, gave P. C. another first down on the 35. Both teams were offside on the play. Mogge ripped through the line for six yards and Angelica broke clear to the 25, but the Friars took a five-yard penalty for offside play. The Friar fullback punted to the three-yard line, inches inside the side boundary. Colby returned the kick at once to their own 41.

Ploski made a first down to the 31 on the first try off tackle. A pass to Belleveau was knocked down by Yadwinski on the 10 yard stripe, but the Friars achieved another first down on the 20. A Ploski-Belleveau pass netted five yards but the Friars were held on downs on the Colby 15. Yadwinski fumbled on the 19 and Mogge recovered. Providence made a first down on the visitors' eight yard market. Three tries netted seven yards and Mogge crossed the line through centre for P. C.'s second score. Ploski booted precisely for the extra point.

The score:

Providence 14
Colby 0

Hammond kicked off to Yadwinski on the Colby nine and downed the receiver on his 27. A long Colby pass failed and a second was intercepted by Bedard who returned to the Colby 20.

Yadwinski snatched a long pass by Hammond on the goal line and came back 20 yards. A pass by the Colby back was good when the receiver was roughed by the Friars on the 29. Another pass, Burrill to Yadwinski, gave Colby a first on Colby's 40 and another long Maine toss went to the P. C. 39, as the period ended.

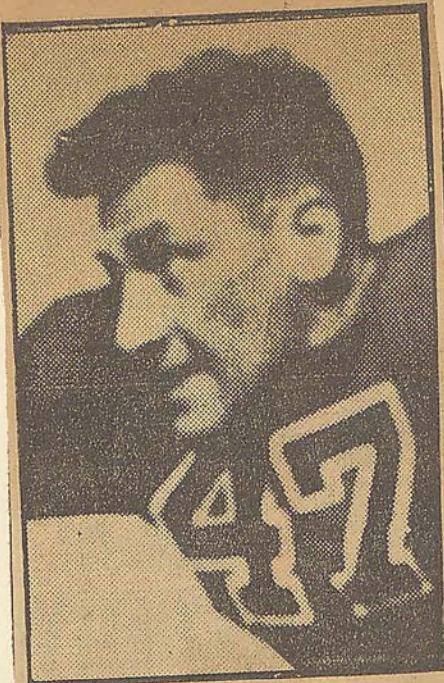

Score at end of second period:

Providence 14
Colby 0

THIRD PERIOD

Providence carried the kickoff back to their 47. On third down Mogge punted and the Friars downed the ball on Colby's 20. Return of the punt found Providence on their own 43. Ploski swept end the width of the field for a first down on Colby's 43. Ploski fumbled and MacGregor recovered for Colby on the Maine team's 44. A pass, Walker to MacGregor, netted four yards and a lateral to Washuk gave Colby first down on the Friars' 42. Washuk skirted end on the next play for another first down on the 28. Providence took the ball on downs on their 22. Mogge punted from his 20 out of bounds on Colby's 32. A pass was intercepted by Angelica in mid-field.

Flashes for Friars

CARL ANGELICA

Angelica broke through off tackle to Colby's 25. Ploski hit the line for five yards. Moge went through centre for 13 yards and a first down.

The Blue and Gold warriors from Maine tightened but P. C. took a first down on the two-yard mark by inches on the fourth try at the line. Moge scored through centre on third down and Ploski again scored the extra point with a boot that grooved the exact centre line of the goal posts.

The score:

Providence 21

Colby 0

Colby brought the kickoff back to their 34. The Maine boys fumbled there and Gaffney recovered for the Friars as the period ended.

Score at end of third period:

Providence 21

Colby 0

FOURTH PERIOD

Spinnler made first down for P. C. on Colby's 23 and Hammond fumbling and recovering, chalked up a three-yard gain on an end sweep but a holding penalty of 15 yards brought the Friars back to the 38 and they punted. Hammond's boot toward the side line went into the end zone and Colby took the pigskin on their own 20.

Hammond took Colby's fourth down put on the midfield stripe and ran back to the 25, but offside cost P. C. the play and Colby punted out of bounds to the Friars' 45.

Hammond swept right end for 19 yards. Yadwinski made a leaping, one-hand catch of a long Friar pass on Colby's 23 and the Maine team essayed a long distance aerial try but Demers intercepted the second pass after Angelica knocked down the first and raced over the goal for the fourth Providence touchdown. The kick for the extra point was blocked by Sanders, Colby centre.

The score:

Providence 27

Colby 0

Yadwinski took the kickoff on his 10 and ran back to his 27 before being forced out of bounds. Colby punted to the Friars' 34. A return put the ball on Colby's 33. H. Walker broke through off tackle for a 29 yard gain to the Friar 38, but the next play was smeared by P. C. for 14 yard loss. Wooley intercepted a Colby pass on his 37 and Hammond slipped through the line to Colby's 40.

The Friars made first down on the 30 but Dobbins intercepted a pass and raced to the P. C. 48. Washuk took a lateral from Walker and romped to the 33. Walker on a fake reverse, skirted right end to the 21 and a first down. A fumble cost the Maine crew seven yards but Washuk swept left end to make it up and gain five more. H. Walker was injured on the play. P. C. took the ball on downs at their 18-yard stripe.

An end run and two line plays gave Providence a first down on their 30. Colby received a punt on their 30 as the game ended.

Final score:

IMPROVED ATTACK SHOWN BY FRIARS

All Players Report in Sound Condition Following Holy Cross Contest.

With a victory over Colby and a creditable showing against Holy Cross under their belts, the Providence College Friars will return to Hendricken Field this week to play host to Western Maryland. It will be the first meeting between the two teams and promises to be a colorful inaugural of what may develop into a highly interesting series.

The Friars showed more power and a smarter offensive against Holy Cross last Saturday than any Providence eleven that has invaded Fitton Field. The unexpectedly stout opposition forced Coach Eddie Anderson to rush his regulars into action each time the Friars threatened. On two occasions the Friars spoiled their own chances on fumbles deep in Holy Cross territory.

Despite the hard game they played the Friars all reported in sound condition after taking their showers following the contest. Carlo Angelica, the Friars' hard-working right halfback, received a cut on his foot from a cleat that ripped through the leather of his shoe, but it is not considered serious.

Head Coach Joe McGee was favorably impressed with the improvement of the Friar attack over their showing in the Colby contest. He noted a few serious "early season" mistakes that will be topics for blackboard discussions this week, but considered the exhibition a long step forward in the progress of Friar football.

Among the highlights in the Friars' work Saturday were the exceptionally consistent punting of Bill Moge, 185-pound fullback from Springfield; the line play of Anthony Pariseau, Leo Davin, Paul Ryan and Leo Bouzan, and the passing and ball carrying of Leo Ploski, who played an important role in the Friars' 70-yard touchdown drive.

FRIARS EXCEL IN SCRIMMAGE AGAINST FRESHMAN PLAYERS

Work of Varsity Linemen Is Praised by P. C. Coaches

Hammond Continues to Improve as Back; May Start Against Crusaders.

Faced with the major assignment of their football schedule this week-end with a minimum of reserve power, the Providence College coaches nevertheless found cause to smile yesterday after witnessing the 'Varsity performance in a rugged defensive scrimmage with the Friar Freshman outfit.

Head Coach Joe McGee declared that the charging of the 'Varsity linemen was the hardest they have shown this year. The Friar Freshmen turned in an exhibition that was favorable, and reeled off several long gains but the main attention centred on the play of the 'Varsity in view of their coming game with the powerful Holy Cross eleven Saturday.

At the start of the practice session, the Friar 'Varsity took the ball for about 20 minutes and ran through offensive formations. Tom Hammond, Fall River halfback, made some of the best gains in this session, including a 30-yard advance on which he demonstrated his ability for picking his way through a maze of potential tacklers.

The teams lined up as follows: *

VARSIITY	FRESHMEN
Gill, l. c.	l. c., Leo
Bouzan, l. t.	l. t., Griffin
Pariseau, l. g.	l. g., Estelonis
Eichner, c.	c., Burdge
Polak, r. g.	r. g., Beaubian
Lawler, r. t.	r. t., Haran
Ryan, r. c.	r. c., Barnini
Belliveau, q. b.	q. b., Alexander
Hammond, l. h. b.	l. h. b., Gendron
Angelica, r. h. b.	r. h. b., Shattuck
Spinner, f. b.	f. b., Sweeney

Bill Lawler was started at right tackle in place of Leo Davin and turned in capable work. He broke through the Freshman line in fine style and brought down the ball-carrier with such improved tackling that the Friar coaches are considering him for regular duty at tackle. Lawler's improved play gives the Friars a trio of dependable tacklers, with Davin and Bouzan still rated as certain starters against Holy Cross.

Bill Moge, fullback, and Leo Ploski, halfback, both members of the backfield that started against Colby, returned to practice yesterday. They were in uniform for the first time this week, but did not take part in the scrimmage. Both rehearsed their assignments in the new formations the Friars will use against Holy Cross.

Tom Hammond, the speed demon of the backfield squad, has finally come into his own after two 'Varsity seasons, in which injuries have kept him out of the spotlight.

Hammond passes, punts and runs the ball well. He is pressing Leo Ploski every minute of the practice sessions, and it would not surprise onlookers who have watched Hammond in action to see him in a starting role before long. Ploski has been slowed up by a bruise on his shoulder but the ailment is responding to treatment and the Albany junior is expected to wage a stiff battle to keep his assignment.

MOGE AND PLOSKI ABSENT AS FRIARS HOLD LIGHT DRILL

Ten Players Missing from Practice.—Contact Work is Omitted.

With 10 players missing from practice yesterday, Head Coach Joe McGee ordered a light workout for the Providence College squad and limited the drilling to running back kickoffs and working on plays. Particular attention was paid to returning kickoffs, a department which the coaches discovered to be below standard against Holy Cross.

Bill Moge, regular fullback, and Leo Ploski, left halfback, whose work against Holy Cross featured in the Friars' scoring march in the last period, were not in uniform yesterday. Head Coach Joe McGee was forced to whip together a temporary backfield combination.

Ray Belliveau called the signals for the offensive team in the assignment drill. Ray Bedard, sub quarterback from Central Falls, was missing from the practice. Tom Hammond held down the left halfback post and Carlo Angelica was at right halfback, where he did yeoman work against the Crusaders. Charlie Gaffney was at fullback.

The absence of Leo Davin, Friars' giant tackle from New Haven, who was reported suffering from a cold, gave Bill Lawler a chance to work with the first team at right tackle. Lawler has improved the most of any reserve lineman on the squad and may win a starting post before the season progresses much farther.

With Johnny Lyons, 170.-pound sophomore end, and Paul Ryan, regular right-winger, slowed up by injuries the situation at end is far from bright. Ed Gill and Gus Hagstrom worked at the wings yesterday with Tom Conley relieving Gill at left end. If Conley can adapt himself to the end assignment there will be plenty of work for him.

Bill Spinnler, Paterson junior, watched yesterday's assignment drill from the sidelines. Bill injured his arm last week and was wearing a sling yesterday. The team doctor has prescribed rest for Spinnler, who was going strong in the reserve fullback assignment despite his weight of only 165 pounds.

Dom Minicucci, Naugatuck junior, reported in uniform yesterday and began to get into condition to rejoin the backfield squad in an active capacity. Minicucci was a regular in last year's backfield, but a leg injury has kept him out of competition so far this season.

The "first" team lined up yesterday with Gill and Hagstrom, ends; Bouzan and Lawler, tackles; Parisseau and Polak, guards; Eichner, centre; Belliveau, quarterback; Hammond and Angelica, halfbacks and Gaffney, fullback.

FRIARS TO MEET CRUSADERS NEXT

Coach McGee Expects to Be at Full Strength for Holy Cross Game.

The story of David and Goliath is a fitting parallel for the situation in which the Providence College football team will find itself when the Friars make their annual journey to Worcester on Saturday to meet Holy Cross on Fitton Field.

Although the Friars may not prove to be "Davids" the same determined spirit that has prevailed among Providence players when Holy Cross is the opponent exists on the present Friar team.

* * *

Head Coach Joe McGee will have more than statistics gained in practice on which to base his selections for a starting team as the Friars showed their respective abilities under fire in the Colby game yesterday. Barring injuries the Friars should be very close to full strength for the clash with the Crusaders.

Holy Cross was undefeated last year and ranked among the top-notch teams in the East with a tie with Manhattan preventing it from claiming national honors. Purple followers are looking forward to a "better" season with the flock of talented Seniors and Sophomores on the squad.

Last year the Friars won most of the laurels that came to them during the 12-0 encounter with the Crusaders on their defensive play. The offensive failed to function. Closer attention has been paid to all phases of the offence this year and the team should make more headway in this respect.

Defensively the Friar eleven appears to be on a par with the 1935 outfit. A veteran line averaging 190 pounds has been assembled to pave the way for a backfield that weights 177 per man. The backfield has less brawn than last year's but bows to no other Friar eleven of the past in the matter of speed.

Mike Michaels, the Danbury Sophomore, from whom much is expected at a backfield post will probably be available for Saturday's game. He lost the opportunity to see action in the Colby game when he was shaken up badly in scrimmage last week.

Johnny Lyons, Haverhill Sophomore, who wrenched his ankle during practice was back with the end squad yesterday and it is hoped that he will be in condition to play against the Cross. The Friars have only four ends at present as several players who trained with the squad at Narragansett Pier have given up football for this season.

Dom Minicucci, Naugatuck junior, may be on the inactive list for another week as his injury, a bruised leg, is the type that requires considerable rest. His services will be missed but he will probably be available for some of the important games later on the scheduled.

* * *

Coach Dave Couhig, who has been sending his Freshman candidates through intensive tests the past week, will begin the task of grading his elevens this week. About 40 promising yearlings are running through drills each afternoon and the prospects of a favorable season are good. The Freshmen will open their season next Friday against St. John's Prep at Danvers, Mass.

Reserves Against

Friars

Worcester

TELEGRAM

By ROY MUMPTON

No longer one of the little brothers of college football, Providence College will send its big and well-drilled team to Fitton Field this afternoon with high hopes of furnishing a severe test for Holy Cross' better-minded and power-ridden Crusaders.

The flashily togged Friars never have defeated Holy Cross in eleven earnest efforts and it would be a distinct shock if they should unhorse Dr. Edward N. Anderson's high-riding Crusaders this time. But they did battle last year's unbeaten Purple juggernaut to a hard-earned 12 to 0 decision and they are determined to match that brave performance with another dogged fight today.

Friars Have Big Team

Providence, which has taken great strides up the football ladder during the three-year coaching regime of Joe McGee, will field a veteran team and one fully as heavy as that of the Crusaders. The visitors' front line averages 193 pounds per player and there are some big and scampering backs ready to function behind it.

The Friars can't begin to match Holy Cross in the matter of reserves, however. Nor are their starters quite so talented as the players Dr. Anderson has at his beck and call. But Providence boasts a powerful defensive team and figures to make the Crusaders work hard for their scores.

Today's battle should give both Dr. Anderson and the Holy Cross supporters a better line on the Purple team as it moves towards its first major engagement against Dartmouth at Hanover next week. The Crusaders met with little opposition in routing Bates 45-0 in last week's opener and their coaches are eager for a more careful inspection of the reserves.

H. C. Banks on Reserves

While harboring a deep respect for the growing power of Providence and admitting that he may need to rush his regulars into the fray at an early moment, Dr. Anderson said yesterday that he would go along with the reserves as far as possible. The lineup which he plans to start against the Friars includes only two regulars, big Dave Gavin at left tackle and Leo Shields at the same end.

Either Jim Bowman or Mike Ryan will be at center, flanked by Gene Howard and Sophomore Bill Collins with Pete "One Man Gang" Manoli, a 240-pound sophomore, at right tackle and the reliable John O'Donnell at right end. Charlie Paraskas, the fourth-string sophomore quarterback who ran and blocked so well against Bates, will direct a power group of ball carriers which will include Bill Gallogly and Len Kuziora at the halves and the far-punting Paul Massey at fullback.

That's the team Dr. Anderson has designated to start. It's very likely he will toss all twenty of his backs into the battle, excepting Joe Canini, who is nursing a slightly damaged knee and will not dress for the game. It will be surprising if Kidd, Ouellette and McGuane don't do a bit of signal calling with Dougherty, Hanifan, LaTanzi, Bartolomeo, Brucato, Osmanski, Teague, Yablonski, Tassinari, Renz and Graham functioning as part-time ball carriers.

The Crusader coaches plan to turn them all loose today with an eye towards selecting the strongest set for heavy duty service against Dartmouth. It is unlikely, however, that Holy Cross will open up its attack unless because of sheer necessity. The Crusaders stuck pretty close to have a dozen simple running plays and stereotyped passes last week and may again keep their fancy stuff away from the eyes of prying scouts.

Friars To Shoot The Works

Providence, which rang up a four-touchdown victory over Colby last week, can be expected to shoot the works. The Friars have everything to win and nothing to lose. While they usually have centered their play against Holy Cross on gallant defensive stands, the report from Providence is that Coach McGee has armed his boys with a versatile attack and orders to cut it loose right from the opening gun.

Providence will start a practically veteran team with Leo Bouzand and Leo Davin, the huge 200-pound seniors, manning the tackles, with Paul Ryan and Ed Gill again at the wings, Ben Polak, at one guard and Tony Pariseau, who was a star end on last year's freshman eleven at the other. He is the only sophomore in the Friars' front line. Norm Eichner, the 192-pound center who played such a sterling defensive game here a year ago, again operates in the middle of the Providence frontier.

Hank Soar, Providence's flashy ball carrier and heavy duty back of the past two seasons, has departed and is missed; but the Friars still have a flock of able carriers. Ray Belliveau of Fitchburg, who has been appointed captain for this game, calls the signals with Carl Angelica and Leo Ploski scheduled to open at the halves and big Bill Moge at fullback. Moge will look after the visitors' kicking and passing.

CRUSADERS BEAT FRIARS

Friars Get Lone Touchdown Following Drive of 70 Yards

Moge Goes Over for Score in Fourth Period; Crusaders Triumph 21 to 6.

Fitton Field, Worcester, Mass., Oct. 3.—Waging a relentless battle that finally pierced the rugged Holy Cross front rank for a touchdown in the fourth period a hard-fighting Providence College football eleven went down to defeat before superior Crusader man-power, 21-6, here this afternoon before 3000 fans.

Holy Cross scored its first touchdown early in the opening period after taking advantage of a break that gave them the ball on the Friars' 18-yard line. Undaunted by this setback met stubborn resistance there and lost the ball. The score at the half was 7-0 in favor of Holy Cross.

After the Friars had battled the Purple on even terms during the first five minutes of the third quarter, the Crusaders staged a 45-yard drive that resulted in their second touchdown. Retaliating with a sudden shift to their aerial game the Friars began a march which continued over into the fourth period and carried them 70 yards to a touchdown with Bill Moge going over for the score.

Late in the fourth period the Crusader's rushed their sophomore backfield into action and backed the Friars down to their one-yard line where with less than a minute to go the Purple produced their third score. Providence blocked a Holy Cross punt midway in the final period but lost the ball on downs after a fumble at the Crusader 20-yard line.

In the final analysis the greater reserve strength of the Crusaders spelled a three to one defeat for the Friars that does not do justice to the capable manner in which the Black and White acquitted itself. Both teams made 11 first downs and the Purple piled up 208 yards from scrimmage while the Friars were making 137 yards overland.

The Crusaders' second-string backfield clicked off a score after recovering a Friar fumble on the 18 in the first period but thereafter the Friars took the situation well in hand and dominated the rest of the period, covering 79 yards to 14 for Holy Cross. Fumbles stopped twice Friar drives that swept through the Crusader guards consistently.

DURING the second and third periods the regular Holy Cross backfield went into action and produced a 45-yard touchdown drive after being balked on their first march that was stopped by the Friars in the shadow of their goal posts after 45 yards had been covered. In the last period another Crusader backfield went into action and scored.

Len Kuziora's opening kickoff for Holy Cross rolled over the Providence goal line and the Friars took the ball on their 20-yard stripe. On an exchange of punts Tom Hammond, Friar left halfback, fumbled and John O'Donnell, Holy Cross end, and a former LaSalle Academy player, recovered on the Friar 18.

Kuziora advanced the ball for a first down on the Friar seven-yard line. The Friars repulsed the next thrust but on the following play Bill Gallogly of Warwick, R. I., Holy Cross halfback, swept around, his right end behind blocking that paved a clear course for the fleet Purple back. Gallogly kicked the point from placement.

On fine individual work by Carlo Angelica and Capt. Ray Belliveau the Friars opened an advance that had covered 25 yards when a penalty for holding against Providence upset the drive and the Friars were forced to punt.

the Friars played the Crusaders to a standstill through the remainder of the period, setting two drives in motion that were spoiled by fumbles.

With the regular Holy Cross backfield operating behind a line that had been bolstered by first-string replacements, the Purple pushed to the Friar 12-yard line in the second period but

Game played:

Gallogly's fumble on the next play was recovered by Belliveau and Pariseau and gave the Friars possession on the Purple 43-yard line. Smashing through the Crusader guards, Leo Ploski, Friar halfback, led an advance that penetrated to the Purple 15-yard line where his fumble halted the Friar threat. The Crusaders were forced to punt on fourth down and in the closing minute of the first period the Friars again started toward the Holy Cross goal line.

Ploski and Moge carried to the Purple 44. Ploski whipped a 15-yard pass to Belliveau but the ball dropped out of the Friar quarterback's hands and Rex Kidd scooped it up and raced 22 yards to the Providence 48-yard line. Leo Ploski intercepted a Holy Cross pass to break up the Purple threat.

However, Holy Cross regained the ball on a punt and Joe Yablonski and Len Kuziora, two of the Crusaders' outstanding backs, ripped through the Friar defence for 45 yards, finally being halted at the Friar 12-yard mark for downs. Making little headway the Friars again punted. Taking the kick Rex Kidd combined with Charlie Brucato on a lateral that brought the ball back 24 yards to the Providence 38-yard line.

An attempted aerial attack by Holy Cross was spiked as Belliveau intercepted one of Dougherty's passes on the Friar 32 and the half ended there. Providence kicked off to Holy Cross to open the second half. Neither team was able to penetrate into the others' territory during the first five minutes of play. A brilliant over-the-shoulder catch by Rex Kidd, Holy Cross quarterback, and his runback of 20 yards started a Crusader touchdown march that was featured by the work of Brucato and Yablonski. Brucato plunged over from the two-yard line to cap the 45-yard march. Kidd made the point from placement.

Ploski ran back Kuziora's kickoff following this score for 24 yards to the Friar 35. After a temporary setback the Friars uncorked a varied passing and running game with Ploski, Moge, Ryan and Hagstrom playing leading roles and moved to the Purple 15-yard stripe as the third period ended.

Continuing their forward motion in the early minutes of the fourth period the Friars made a first down on the Crusader six-yard line with the help of an offside penalty. On the fourth crack at the Holy Cross line Bill Moge went over for the Friars' touchdown. O'Donnell blocked Belliveau's kick from placement.

Holy Cross was fought to a standstill by the Friar line at midfield after the kickoff. Pariseau broke through to block Brucato's punt on fourth down and Angelica and Pariseau recovered the blocked punt. Hammond passed to Angelica for a nine-yard gain, but the Friars failed to make a first down after three bucks at the line.

Brucato punted out of danger, but Providence lost the ball in her own territory when Dougherty intercepted Hammond's pass and lateraled to Brucato to reach the Friar 40. Holy Cross failed to make ground through the Friar line and again punted. The ball crossed the Friar goal line and was brought out to the 20-yard stripe. Providence gambled on another pass, but Hammond's toss fell into the hands of Kidd, Holy Cross quarterback. Paul Bartolomeo, Henry Ouellette and Bill Osmanski replaced the regular Holy Cross backs.

This fresh backfield moved to the Friar 15-yard mark in three plays, and in three more crossed the Friar goal for the final Crusader score. Bartolomeo made two 15-yard gains in this drive and Bill Osmanski, former Central High fullback, plunged the last yard for the tally. Bartolomeo kicked the point from a placement.

In the Crusader backfield the ball-carrying of Kuziora, Brucato, Yablonski and Bartolomeo stood out, while for the Friars Ploski, Moge, Eichner, Ryan and Davin played leading roles.

A crowd of 8000 fans watched the Holy Cross Crusaders battle the Providence Friars in today's football game at Fitton Field.

FIRST PERIOD

Providence College won the toss and defended the east goal. Kuziora kicked off over the goal line and Providence put the ball in play on its 20-yard line. Holy Cross scored a touchdown within a few minutes after the game started when Hammond fumbled a punt and O'Donnell recovered on the Providence 18-yard line. Gallogly took the ball over from the Holy Cross 7-yard line, out-running his opponent's on an end swing. Gallogly kicked the goal.

Score: Holy Cross 7, Providence 0.

Providence recovered a fumble midway in the first period from the Holy Cross 43-yard line and started a determined drive toward the Purple goal. Holy Cross sent in its regular guards, Carr and Luciano when the Friars penetrated to the Purple 18-yard line. A fumble by Ploski recovered by Kuziora stopped the drive. Holy Cross taking the ball on its 16-yard line. The period ended with the ball in the possession of Holy Cross on the Holy Cross 47-yard line.

Score: Holy Cross 7, Providence College 0.

SECOND PERIOD

In spite of the presence of the Holy Cross backfield regulars and four of its regular linemen, Holy Cross made little headway against a rugged Providence College team, alert on pass defense and obstinate on running plays. Neither side threatened early in the period. With about five minutes to go, Holy Cross opened a drive at about midfield that went to the Providence 12-yard line, where the Friars stiffened and held for downs.

Holy Cross took to the air in its attempt to score, but Providence stopped the offense with a little trouble and interception, halting the Crusaders' attack in the Providence territory as the half ended.

Score: Holy Cross 7, Providence 0.

THIRD PERIOD

Providence stopped one Holy Cross attack early in the third period, forcing the Crusaders to kick, but the Friars found the Holy Cross defense just as difficult when they took the ball, and they were also forced to resort to punting.

With Burcato doing most of the carrying, Holy Cross drove from midfield to the Providence 15-yard line. After fumbling on one play, Yablonski took the ball to the 5-yard line off his own left tackle, and then Brucato took it over in two thrusts at the line. Kidd kicked the extra point.

Score: Holy Cross 14, Providence 0.

Providence, mixing an aerial game with its running attack, went from its 35-yard line to the Holy Cross 14-yard line without a stop, the end of the period coming with the ball on the Purple 14-yard line.

FOURTH PERIOD

A penalty for offside and two short gains put the ball on the Holy Cross five-yard line. Two plays put the ball on the 1-yard line, and on the next play, Moge took the ball over. Belliveau's try for the extra point failed.

Score: Holy Cross 14, Providence 6.

Shortly after the kickoff, an attempted punt by Dougherty was blocked by Eichner, and Providence recovered on the Holy Cross 30-yard line. Holy Cross stopped the Providence attack on its own 21-yard line, Providence failing to make its distance by about a half yard and losing the ball on downs. Dougherty immediately kicked out of danger.

Kidd intercepted a Providence pass, to snuff out the Providence attack in about midfield.

Brucato took the ball to the Providence four-yard line on an end sweep, and then Osmański took it over for a touchdown. Bartolomeo kicked the extra point.

Score: Holy Cross 21, Providence 6.

Although Moge was thrown for a five-yard loss on this play it was the start of the 70-yard drive by the Friars for their lone touchdown in their 21-6 setback. The lower picture shows Carl Angelica, Friar right halfback, bringing the ball to the Holy Cross 15-yard line where it remained as the third quarter ended. Six plays after this in the final period, including a first down, found Moge going over for the touchdown.

FRIARS-TERRORS GAME SATURDAY

Entertain Western Maryland Team.

Playing the most attractive schedule of home games that has ever been arranged for a Providence College eleven the Friar football team will face the Terrors of Western Maryland at Hendricken Field Saturday. Of the three home games listed with opponents from outside Rhode Island this clash shapes up as the outstanding attraction.

Western Maryland is not a newcomer to the New England football scene as the Terrors have played a series with Boston College that dates back to 1931. The calibre of football that the team plays can be gauged from the results of this particular set of contests.

Meeting the Eagles five times in successive years since the '31 season the Terrors have won two, tied one and lost two. The results of the series with the Eagles follows:

- 1931 Western Maryland 13, B. C. 19
- 1932 Western Maryland 20, B. C. 20
- 1933 Western Maryland 9, B. C. 12
- 1934 Western Maryland 40, B. C. 0
- 1935 Western Maryland 12, B. C. 6

The Western Maryland team is coached by Charles W. Havens, who was line coach under Dick Harlow, now head mentor at Harvard, who turned out many fine teams at Western Maryland between 1926 and 1934. This season is Havens second as head coach at the Westminster, Md., college.

Havens entered Western Maryland as a student in 1926, the year Harlow became the Terrors head coach and played for four years at centre—as the Freshman rule was not then in force. After graduation he played a season with the Philadelphia Yellow Jackets and assisted Harlow in 1931.

In 1932 he became director of recreation for his home city of Rome, N. Y., and continued his coaching activities by handling the St. Aloysius Academy squad in Rome. Returning to the Western Maryland staff in 1934 he turned out a line that Dick Harlow praised as the best in his regime. That season the Terrors were undefeated, winning eight games and holding Villanova to a scoreless tie.

Stepping into the post as head coach last year with 19 players of the outstanding '34 eleven lost through graduation, Havens turned out a team that did well considering its lack of experience. The '35 eleven won six games and lost five.

Commenting on his '35 squad Havens says "We'll be better balanced along with greater experience. We should come faster than a year ago when we lost tough early season games to Villanova, Penn State and Bucknell." Western Maryland has won its two early season warm-up games, defeating Shenandoah a week ago and topping Upsala yesterday.

Havens is not especially optimistic about his '36 slate of games. "If the opposition were no stronger than last year then I'd feel mighty good about our 1936 prospects," he states. "But I know, and everybody else knows, that the teams on our schedule are for the most part stronger than they have been in years. We'll have a good team—perhaps a better team than a year ago."

Returning from their annual clash with Holy Cross the Providence College squad will swing into its practice schedule for its first game with the Terrors with the problem of finding reserves uppermost in the coaches minds. It is probable that the amount of scrimmaging will be curtailed this week so that the injured list can be cut down sharply from the alarming proportions it reached last week.

Coach McGee Pushing His Young Stars

Friar Tutor Juggling His Lineup to Get All Pos- sible Strength

The Providence College football squad will hold an important practice drill today in preparation for the game with Western Maryland on Saturday. The Friars held a light session yesterday, due to the fact that several men were absent from the field on account of late classes and minor injuries. Today a Frosh eleven will put on a demonstration of the Western Maryland attack and then the Friars will see how they fare against the Green Terrors.

Joe McGee was forced to field a revamped lineup for yesterday's session and the Black and White 'varsity was sprinkled with several of the reserves, who came in for much action against the Crusaders. Eddie Gill and Gus Hagstrom were at the ends, Leo Bouzan and Bill Lawler, who has come a long ways in recent drills with a display of pep and enthusiasm that may land him in the starting lineup, were at the tackles, with Gig Pariseau and Ben Polak at the guards, and Norm Eichner at centre. The ball totting department had Ray Belleveau at quarter, Tom Hammond and Carl Angelica at the halfback positions, and Charley Gaffney at fullback. Hammond and Angelica have been the standouts in the Friar attack and they will be in fine shape for Saturday's important encounter.

The Green Terrors top the home schedule of the Friars and they have a first class eleven, which can hold its own with the best. In 1933 under Dick Harlow the Terrors lost but one game, a 14 to 13 decision to Bucknell, and the next season they came back and were undefeated, although tied by Villanova in an early season tussel, while bowling over such elevens as Albright and Boston College by 40 to 0; St. Thomas, West Chester, Mount St. Mary's, were felled by equally high scores and Catholic University, Bucknell and Georgetown were defeated by more appreciable margins.

HAVENS GETS CREDIT

Last season was Charley Havens' first campaign as the head mentor, but he had been line coach under Harlow and he is given a great deal of credit for some of Harlow's success in and around Baltimore. It is the line that makes the backfield, no matter how great they may be, and the forward walls turned out by Havens, who was a fine centre in his collegiate days have held their own with the front ranks of any, they have come in contact with.

Havens had a sophomore team last fall and they dropped some heartbreakers to Penn State and Bucknell by 2 and 3 to 0, respectively, while beating Boston College, North Dakota and St. Mary's in the main engagement. Villanova outscored them as did Catholic U, but this season, Havens lost but four men through graduation and his squad has been reinforced by one of the finest first year clubs ever to wear the green spangles of that college. Prospects are very bright for the visitors and they have had two early season games.

The Terrors are not unbeatable, but they do present a formidable machine. The Friars have the confidence and the ability to annex the verdict from the strong Maryland outfit and Joe McGee's eleven will be primed for the test.

The starting lineup for the invaders will probably have five juniors, two seniors and four sophomores in there at the kickoff and Havens is very enthusiastic with the ability of his men. In commenting on the general outlook for the major games, he said: "We have a good team, maybe a little green, but we also have experience in the right positions. We're better balanced and we're better set than last fall, with more and better reserves, especially in the forward wall," he concluded.

INVADERS WELL FORTIFIED WITH CAPABLE RESERVES

Coach Charlie Havens Has Five All-State Players on Team

A game which shapes up in advance as a small college "natural" is listed for Hendricken Field, Saturday afternoon, where the green and gold-clad football forces of Western Maryland will make their first invasion to meet the colorful Friars of Providence College.

Paced by Leroy "Sunshine" Campbell, who last year was rated the outstanding long distance passer in the State of Maryland, the Terrors will bring a strong team here. Five of the players who are expected to be members of the starting team against Providence College won all-State honors last season.

HAVENS HAS DONE GOOD WORK

A year ago Charlie Havens, who had been turning out strong forward walls for Dick Harlow, then head coach at Western Maryland, suddenly found himself in complete charge of the Terror's football fortunes. Setting to work with a green squad, Havens turned out a team that won six of 11 games and was looked upon as an outfit that would develop fast in another year.

The year of development has started and Havens now has a well-knit team—and far more replacements than Western Maryland teams have enjoyed the past two seasons. The majority of these reserves are sophomores but their football education as Freshman who was so thorough that four of them have stepped into regular assignments with the first team.

Speaking about the big improvement in his reserve strength at a recent practice session Havens said, "Reserves were so few last year that my linemen were called 'Iron Men.' I hated to use them in there throughout tough games late in the season. But there wasn't anything else I could do."

"Tony Ortenzi, for instance, played 60 minutes in every game but the Maryland game, and was taken out only in the late minutes of that game."

With two clashes out of the way, a 38-0 decision over Shenandoah and a 28-6 victory over Upsala, Havens has had a chance to test his reserves thoroughly. Providence is the first major opponent on the Terrors' schedule and the workouts at Westminster, Md., where Western Maryland College is located, have been speeded up this week.

HAVENS PLEASED WITH BACKFIELD

Havens is well pleased with his backfield men, five of whom he considers to be on the same level. They are "Sunshine" Campbell, a south-paw punter and passer, who is highly rated in Maryland football circles; Ted Mujwit, who is considered the best of the backs to come up from the Terror Freshman squad; Frank Sadowski, a letterman last year, who has been calling signals in capable fashion; Cliff Lathrop, fullback and defensive ace behind the line; and Ken Adriance, triple-threat back.

Ed Peters, 188-pound centre from Framingham, Mass., who was called into action when the veteran Bill Reith, regular pivot last season, suffered an injury, appears to have won the first-string assignment. Peters was slated to be shifted to guard where there was a shortage of tried material but Havens changed his mind when he saw the Framingham product in action against the early opposition.

Stan Benjamin, also from Framingham and the only other New Englander on the Terror roster, has won a regular end post. Benjamin was selected as all-Maryland end last year along with Louis Lassahn of Baltimore, a Senior letterman. Lassahn was out of the Upsala game with an injury but is expected to be ready to face the Friars.

Paul Horner, 196-pound sophomore, has won a tackle berth but the other tackle post is being hotly contested by "Puffey" Forthman, letterman lats year; Al Lutt, a reserve in '35; and Steve Radatovich, fast and aggressive 195-pound sophomore.

ORTENZI LEADER FOR LINE BERTH

Tony Ortenzi, sturdy guard with lats year's Varsity, is again the leader for a berth on the line. The one big problem in the way of material on the Terror squad has been at the guards. Ortenzi has the experience to hold down a regular assignment but his running mate is problematical. Joe Fagan, 187-pounder, played right guard against Upsala and has shown the best work of the sophomore guards.

Head Coach Joe McGee expects to be at greater strength for the clash with the Terrors. Most of the injured Friars are back in uniform and the Friar mentor will have sufficient replacements in his backfield squad to ease the situation there.

This afternoon the Providence squad was sent through a long session on defensive play. The line candidates worked against Western Maryland plays under the direction of Coach Phil Couhig while Carl Merritt, the Friars' backfield coach, ran his backs through assignment drills.

Ray Belliveau, who called signals for the Friars during the entire 60 minutes of the Holy Cross game, is a certain starter against Western Maryland along with Carl Angelica, right halfback. Bill Moge, fullback, and Leo Ploski, halfback, were injured in the Holy Cross game and their status is still indefinite.

FRIARS ARE GIVEN DEFENSIVE DRILL FOR TERROR GAME

at Right Halfback; Moge Expected Today.

The Providence College football squad worked overtime yesterday as the Friar coaches rushed preparations for the game with Western Maryland to be played at Hendricken Field Saturday afternoon. Concentration was mainly on defensive tactics against Western Maryland running plays.

From the time that the players took the field for warm-up work until darkness called a halt to a lengthy signal drill the Friar camp was the busiest it has been this week. Backfield Coach Carl Merritt mustered two backfields yesterday as every able-bodied member of the P. C. squad reported in uniform.

John Lengyel of New Haven, first-string catcher with the Providence College baseball team last Spring and a reserve back with the Friar football squad in 1935, joined the squad yesterday. Present plans call for Lengyel to work at right halfback, where he will alternate with Carl Angelica, outstanding Friar back.

Lengyel is a six-footer and weighs about 180 pounds. He played for the Providence College Freshman team as a halfback and the next year worked as a blocking back with the Varsity. With backfield material none too numerous Coach Merritt is drilling Lengyel daily on the assignments so that he will be ready to see action against Western Maryland.

The New Haven 180-pounder worked with a backfield yesterday that included Ray Bedard, sophomore quarterback; Tom Hammond, left halfback, and Charlie Gaffney, fullback. Lengyel picked up the assignments well for his first day and will probably be used in Saturday's game.

Coach Joe McGee sent his line through a rugged half-hour defensive scrimmage with the Freshman team. The yearlings used Western Maryland plays and the Varsity linemen worked against each play until they were acquainted with the way in which it was run.

Today McGee plans further emphasis on defensive play against Western Maryland formations including a pass defence against the Terrors strong aerial attack. Leo Davin, regular Friar tackle, returned to practice yesterday after a day of leave to recover from a cold and Bill Moge, Friar fullback, is expected to work out today.

Bill Spinnler, 165-pound fullback, and Dom Minicucci, 170-pound halfback, were in uniform yesterday and both are expected to be ready for the Western Maryland game. These players were in the backfield with Ray Belliveau, regular quarterback, and Carl Angelica, regular right halfback.

From reports that the Friar scouts brought back the Western Maryland team is a well-balanced outfit with plenty of hard-running backs. Coach Charlie Havens has developed a strong forward wall which is especially well-fortified at the ends and tackles.

They'll Carry On for the P. C. Cause

REHEARSE PLAYS

The Friars Thursday rehearsed their own plays for an hour, and then the freshmen squad came over to the main field and showed a smart passing attack, with the 'Varsity on the defence throughout. The drill was most satisfactory and as a result his afternoon the Friars will concentrate mainly on the perfection of signals and formations, Leo Davin will practice a few kickoffs. Action will then be suspended until 2:30 tomorrow.

Western Maryland, with a squad of 30 players, arrived in town last night, almost 40 hours before the game. as Coach Charlie Havens considers tomorrow's battle the turning point in his long schedule. Boston College, North Carolina, North Dakota, Georgetown and Maryland are other major foes ahead. A setback at the hands of the Friars would not aid the cause of the Green Terriers in their quest for national recognition, and hence the squad was moved here early to be rested and ready for the fray with the Dominicans.

This afternoon Coach Havens planned to take his squad to Hendricken Field for a two hour private drill to which all spectators will be barred. The Southerners are a husky lot, and will outweigh the Friars, who themselves are claimants of a real heavy lineup. Last week Western Maryland scored a 28 to 6 win over Upsala, holding back much of the aerial attack which will be launched tomorrow. With everything at stake in the game with the Friars, Havens stated today he would hurl his strongest array into action. He is mindful of the work of the Friars against Holy Cross as reported to him by scouts. He anticipates a close and even battle.

MAY CHANGE LINEUP

Joe McGee, popular mentor of the Providence outfit, is still a bit puzzled about his starting array, as big Paul Ryan has been nursing a cold the past two days and may have to give way in the starting array to Gus Hegstrom. Ed Gill is a fixture for the other flank, while the remainder of the line, with Davin and Bouxan, tackles, Polak and Pariseau, guards, and Eichner at centre, will be as faced Holy Cross.

Backfield changes are imminent if Ploski and Moge fail to report in top shape by morning. Charlie Gaffney, the former La Salle back, will be in line for the fullback assignment, as he is a good defensive player, while Tom Hammond, Fall River senior, who has apparently come into his own this fall, will be ready to team with the head working Carl Angelica. Ray Belliveau, a 60 minute player in the Holy Cross game, will continue to call signals, and aid materially in the secondary defense.

Considered from every angle to-morrow's clash has the makings of one of the best of the local football clashes of the current season. Western Maryland comes here as one of the ranking teams of the East, having scored wins over Georgetown, Boston College, and North Dakota as standout victories a year ago, and with two wins already charged up for this season.

Providence, on the other hand, is on the upswing in football under Joe McGee, and has made rapid strides the past two campaigns. Colby bowed before the Friars and Holy Cross last week found the task of winning anything but an easy one. A victory over Western Maryland will be a major triumph for the Smith Hillers.

The outstanding grid tilt of southern New England is on tap at Hendricken Field tomorrow when Providence College encounters major opposition at home against the colorful Western Maryland aggregation. The tilt has all the marks of a real football struggle, and in view of the long record of wins of the Southerners, and the fine display of courage by the Friars against Holy Cross's powerful machine last weekend, local fans are sure to be in for action every minute of the way. The outcome appears to be a toss-up.

Joe McGee has spent a busy week preparing an aerial defence against the vaunted overhead game of the Maryland collegians, whose forte is forward passing. With the best of the Southern pack in 'Sunshine' Campbell to toss their forwards, the Western Maryland contingent is confident it will more than upset the impregnable defence of the Smith Hillers.

Providence has little to fear from a running attack. The fast stepping Crusaders were held in check thoroughly last Saturday, and there are few stronger New England college front walls than that which Phil Couhig has rounded out at Providence College. Therefore, it is apparent opposing elevens will endeavor to penetrate the Friar defence with forward passing attacks, and in anticipation of such manoeuvres Coach Joe McGee is devoting more than the usual time allowance to pass defence.

Terrors Favored to Defeat Providence College Eleven

Visiting Team Has Final Workout at La Salle Field; Davin to Lead P. C.

Completing their final drills yesterday the Providence College and Western Maryland football teams are ready for a hard-fought game when they meet for the first time at Hendricken Field this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The colorful Western Maryland team, which is undefeated in two warm-up games, figures to be a slight favorite on this account. But the Friars' record of one victory and one defeat, includes a commendable showing against the powerful Holy Cross eleven and a Friar victory cannot be counted as an upset.

Both coaches made last-minute changes in their starting lineups after watching their squads work out yesterday. The 23 Western Maryland players drilled on LaSalle Field for an hour and a half yesterday, while the Friars ran through a two-hour session on Hendricken Field.

Coach Charles Havens of the Terrors hopes to be able to start Lou Lassahn at right end today. Lassahn is a Senior who has won his letter the past two seasons. Lassahn was out of the lineup last week and his post was played by Bob Dickson a tackle who played end in high school.

Havens also gave Al Lutkauskas, 175-pound junior, the call over Fred Forthman, 235-pounder, at right tackle. Otherwise the Western Maryland lineup will be the same as faced Upsala. The visitors' line with this change will average 184 pounds and the backfield 172.

The standout in the Terrors' backfield is Leroy "Sunshine" Campbell, a left-handed passer and punter. His long, accurate aeriels have scored many points for the Maryland eleven. Frank Sadowski, sophomore quarterback, has turned in two fine games and is looked on as a real find.

Leo Davin, Friars' 205-pound tackle, will lead the Providence College team in today's game. Davin is a Senior who has been a fixture at tackle since he joined the team as a Sophomore.

Coach Joe McGee will start Charlie Gaffney, former LaSalle luminary, at fullback in place of Bill Moge, regular fullback, who will see action as a reserve. Moge was injured in the Holy Cross game and is just getting back into shape. Tom Hammond, the fastest runner on the Friar backfield squad, will start in place of Leo Ploski, brilliant all-round half-

TERRORS WHIP FRIARS;

Two Blocked Kicks Enable Terrors to Defeat Friars

Score Is 13-6; Providence
Marches 80 Yards in Fourth Period for Touchdown.

Two blocked kicks enabled a rugged Western Maryland football team to turn back the hard-playing Providence College eleven by a 13 to 6 score before 3000 spectators on Hendricken Field yesterday afternoon.

Unable to get a sustained attack underway in the first period as both lines refused to yield much ground, each team resorted to punting while waiting for a scoring opportunity. In the dying moments of the period a blocked kick paved the way for Western Maryland's first score. Western Maryland also blocked Belliveau's try for point to keep the lead 7-6 after Providence scored.

The Western Maryland tally was made on the first play of the second period as Frank Sadowski, Terrors' quarterback, dived over the Friar goal line from the two-yard mark. The teams played on even terms during the rest of the second period and were unable to score in the third period although both made strong gestures.

Providence marched 80 yards in three plays to score its lone touchdown in the fourth period and then failed to make good on a determined bid for another score with passes. The visitors took advantage of the Friars' letdown after this vain effort and Frank Sadowski shook loose for a 35-yard run and another touchdown.

The Friars penetrated to the Terrors 30-yard line in the first period but were unable to score. Western Maryland did not make a serious threat until Benjamin blocked Hammond's punt. This break gave the Terrors the ball on the Friar 12-yard line and Campbell bucked to a first down on the Friar two-yard stripe as the first period ended.

Sadowski hit hard through his right guard to push the ball over the Friar goal line on the first play of the second period and Lathrop kicked the point with a placement to give the visitors a 7-0 advantage. There was no score during the rest of the second period and Western Maryland was ahead 7-0 at half time.

Campbell intercepted a Friar pass to halt an advance in the second period, a few plays after the Terrors had scored. Gaffney regained possession for the Friars by intercepting one of Campbell's aerials soon afterwards. The teams exchanged the ball on punts, as neither was able to gain headway.

The Friars moved from their own 35 to the visitors' 40 as Charlie Gaffney, who played an especially fine gam for the Friars, tossed a 30-yard pass to Dom Minicucci, P. C. sub halfback. But Providence's air attack was spiked by the hard-charging visitors on the following plays and the Terrors took possession of the ball at their 25 as the half ended.

A spectacular 30-yard runback by Ray Belliveau, Friar quarterback, of the opening kickoff at the start of the second half was the signal for a determined Friar assault on the Western Maryland goal. Jim Boboras and Hal Demers, hard-playing P. C. linemen, broke through to block Lathrop's punt on the Terrors' 35, but a subsequent passing attack failed to register.

Western Maryland took command on its own 22 and with the aid of a 30-yard pass from Campbell to Westerville went to the Friar 25 where Hal Demers, Friars sophomore centre, intercepted a Terror pass to end the threat as the third quarter came to an end.

The visitors uncorked short passing plays in the fourth and Lathrop gained 15 yards but there the advance stalled. Campbell punted to the Friars but the ball was back in Western Maryland possession a play later as Lathrop intercepted a Providence pass. On straight running plays the visitors went to the Providence 25-yard stripe where Campbell attempted a pass and Bill Moge intercepted.

This interception set a Friar touchdown drive in motion, with Hammond's 33-yard pass to Belliveau and the latter's 30-yard dash, accomplishing the score. Hammond made eight yards off tackle and Moge picked up the Friars' only second-half first down to set the stage for the Hammond-to-Belliveau touchdown play.

Campbell carried Davin's kickoff back 30 yards but the Friar line tossed the visitors back and Western Maryland was forced to punt, Campbell's boot going out of bounds on the Friar 42. Three attempted passes and a line buck failed to make a first down and the Terrors took possession on the Friars' 48.

From this spot Ted Mujwit, Terror back, plowed through the Friar line to a first down at the P. C. 35 and on the next play Sadowski found a hole at right guard and cutback to outrun the Friar secondary for a score. Lathrop's placekick failed to cross the bar and the game ended as the ball dropped to the ground.

Both teams fought hard throughout the game and at one point when a Western Maryland back roughed up a P. C. player in front of the Providence bench trouble threatened. Several players on the Providence bench jumped up but Head Coach Joe McGee took command of the situation and had the players back in their seats before anything serious developed.

Carl Angelica, Friar halfback, was injured in the first period in a collision with a visiting player and was carried from the field. Taken to the Rhode Island Hospital for examination it was found that the Friar halfback had suffered a concussion. X-ray pictures showed no fractures and he will be kept at the hospital a few days for further observation.

Charlie Gaffney, starting his first game for Providence College this season, played a fine game, hitting the line for repeated gains and turning in capable defensive work. Tom Hammond was outstanding for all-round play, punting, passing and running the ball well all during the game.

Capt. Leo Davin, Jim Boboras, Hal Demers and Ed Gill were prominent among the Friar linesmen.

The visitors' outstanding players were Campbell and Lathrop in the backfield and Benjamin in the line.

ST. ANSELM SHOWS DEFENSIVE POWER

Friars' Next Foe Holds Opposition Scoreless in First Two Games.

The Hawks of St. Anselm, who have scored 34 points in two games while holding the opposition scoreless, will invade Hendricken Field on Saturday to battle the Providence College football team in a game that may have important bearing on the mythical New England small college title.

Last year Providence dominated the play in its game with the Saints, but could do no better than one touchdown, winning 7 to 6.

Several first-stringers who have been limited to a few minutes action in games because of injuries are expected to be fully recovered for the game Saturday. Carl Angelica, Friars' stellar right halfback, who was injured early in the Western Maryland contest, is making steady progress toward recovery at St. Joseph's Hospital.

The Friar backfield ace is the only player seriously enough hurt to keep him out of action against St. Anselm. Jack Lengyel and Dom Minicucci, who played Angelica's halfback post after he was removed from the game, probably will alternate in this position against St. Anselm.

Charlie Gaffney, whose play against Western Maryland was one of the outstanding features of the game, is in line for another starting role against St. Anselm. The former La Salle athlete's performance went a long way toward winning him regular duty in the Providence backfield.

The Providence College squad did not practice yesterday as there were no classes because of the holiday. After its rugged battle with Western Maryland the Friar squad merited a rest, in the opinion of the coaches.

An undefeated St. Anselm College football team, primed to win its third straight victory of the present season, will invade Hendricken Field this afternoon to meet the Providence College eleven in what looms as a close struggle. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Coach Joe McGee has named a revamped eleven to face the Hawks who have 10 veterans of last year's campaign in their starting lineup. Jim Boboras, former Central High school luminary and a football letterman at P. C. for two seasons, has been appointed captain of the team for today's game.

St. Anselm's squad of 24 players arrived in this city last night, leaving Manchester, N. H., directly after their final workout on their home field yesterday afternoon. The Friars wound up their preparations for the encounter with an assignment and signal drill and a dummy scrimmage against St. Anselm plays.

Paul Ryan, husky Friar end, will return to the starting lineup today, teaming with Ed Gill, speedy left winger. Bill Lawler will start in place of Leo Bouzan at left tackle, with Leo Davin at right tackle. Capt. Jim Boboras and Tony Pariseau will open at the guards with Hal Demers at centre in place of Norm Eichner, who has been ill this week.

Much of the Friars' success today will depend upon the functioning of the new backfield combination that Coach McGee has named to face the Hawks. Ray Belliveau will start at quarterback where he has been a Friar "iron man" this year. Bill Moge, former St. Anselm prep star and teammate of some of the players he will be opposing today, will open at fullback after a week's rest. Jack Lengyel will start at right halfback in place of Carl Angelica

BLOCKED KICK GIVES

ST. ANSELM CHANCE;

BEATS FRIARS 7-2

Hard-Charging Hawk Line Makes Scoring Opportunity

Breaks Through on to Hammond About to Punt; Sullivan Drops on Rolling Ball.

Game played:

October 17, 1936

Striking through the air with the speed of their namesake when the opportunity presented, the St. Anselm Hawks made good on a third-period scoring chance provided by a blocked kick to defeat the Providence College Friars, 7 to 2, yesterday afternoon at Hendricken Field before 4000 fans.

By the victory St. Anselm maintained its undefeated record and has now won three straight games. Providence College tallied the first points that have been scored on the Hawks this year, when the Friars blocked a kick in the Saints' end zone in the second period.

The Providence College safety gave the Friars a two-point lead at the end of the half and looked like it might decide the contest. That was before the hard-charging Hawk line broke in upon Tom Hammond

Up to that point in the third period St. Anselm had been hammering at the Friar line without serious effect. Then Coach Cleo O'Donnell of the Hawks played an "ace" he had been content to hold in his hand during the first half. The St. Anselm strategist sent "Southpaw" Joe Kelley into the game to do his specialty—toss passes.

The visitors' aerial game during the first half had been nothing to cause much concern in the Friar camp. Two Hawk passes went begging from the Friars' nine-yard line in the opening period and another was intercepted. St. Anselm stayed out of the airplanes in the second quarter.

But when Kelley entered the battle the St. Anselm aeriels went where they would do the most good. There were only two completed in the entire game, but one of them travelled 30 yards and settled into the waiting arms of Tom Connors, Hawks' fleet right end, as he stood unguarded in the Friar end zone.

Kelley's place kick travelled straight over the bar and the Hawks had done their damage for the afternoon. They concentrated on defending their lead during the rest of the game, and managed to stop a serious Friar threat in the closing minutes of the final chapter.

The Providence College attack failed yesterday at the crucial points of the game. Brilliant runs were made by the Friar backs, but when scoring chances came along the Friar attack lost its momentum. Both times that a sustained Providence march was set in motion the threat came late.

In the closing minutes of the first half the Friars went 48 yards in seven plays, but the threat was ended by the half-time signal on the Saints' eight-yard stripe. A desperate bid for a score in the dying minutes of the game ended at the Hawks' 15.

The Friars showed accuracy in passing. Providence's aerial game worked almost to perfection. Out of 15 attempted passes the home club completed 10; two were intercepted and three were grounded.

Providence College covered 55 yards in a march from the opening kickoff that was featured by Jack Lengyel's 22-yard dash for a first down on the first play of the game. A holding penalty against St. Anselm aided this advance. Providence gave up the attack on the Hawks' 35 and Moge punted out of bounds on the St. Anselm 12.

From this spot John Spirida, the Hawks' triple-threat back, and Joe Butchka, hard-hitting fullback, combined with a few line smashes by Frank Murphy, capable right half-back, to move the ball 75 yards and throw the Friars back on defence within the shadows of their goal posts.

Here the Hawk threat lost its fury as the Friar line threw the St. Anselm backs for a loss, and covered two passes in the end zone. Providence was unable to get going from its 20-yard stripe upon taking possession there after the Hawks' fourth-down pass over the Friar goal line.

late in the third period as he attempted to punt from his five-yard line.

John Sullivan and Tom Connors, Hawk ends who were troublesome to the Friar offence all afternoon, led the blocking expedition in the shadows of the Friar goal, but it was sturdy Mike Malio, sophomore centre, who knocked the ball to the foot. Sullivan dropped on the rolling ball to give the Hawks possession on the Friars' 13-yard line.

After Charlie Pelonzi, the Hawks' quarterback, had taken Moge's punt on the Hawks' 37, the visitors again moved toward the Friar goal, but Dom Minicucci intercepted a pass to halt them. Belliveau streaked through tackle for a 27-yard gain as the Friars struck back at their opponents, but were halted at the Saints' 33.

Just as a break in the form of a blocked kick set the stage for the Hawks' tally against the Friars, another break—a holding penalty against St. Anselm—opened the way for the Friars to make their two points. This 15-yard assessment set the Hawks back to their five-yard line and they were unable to pierce the P. C. line on two plays so Spirida dropped back to kick.

As the ball came back to him in his own end zone the St. Anselm back was almost entirely surrounded by rushing Friars and Paul Ryan, husky end, jumped in the way of the ball. The deflected ball rolled beyond the end zone for a safety, depriving the Friars of four and a possible five more points that would have been made if one of them had downed the ball in the Hawks' end section.

Providence had difficulty in making its running game function during the rest of the second period and took to the air with better success. Twice the Friars moved within the Hawks 10-yard stripe on aerial thrusts, but both times the finishing drives fell short and the half ended with the Friars on the Saints eight-yard stripe, "first down and 10 to go."

Butchka's interception of a pass from Hammond early in the third period along with two well-placed punts by Spirida kept the Friars back in their own end of the field. The fast-charging Hawk forwards broke through to block Hammond's kick in this quarter and Kelley's pass to Connors provided the score that swung the game to the visitors.

After losing valuable time when its ground game failed to make headway early in the fourth period the Friars started a drive that reached the St. Anselm 15 as the game ended. Passes played an important part in this drive along with line smashes by Minicucci and Moge.

With about two minutes of the game left to play, Leo Ploski rifled a long pass to Ray Bedard and the Friar back fought his way to the Hawks 10-yard stripe. Friar fans rose in their seats, for it seemed that one of those last-minute drives that have turned many a gridiron battle the other way, was imminent.

But the officials ruled that the Friars were offside on the play and the ball was brought back to the Friar 40, whence the spectacular pass and run had originated. Although a repetition of the play worked successfully, the Hawks intercepted a play later on their 15 and the contest ended there.

Kelley to Connors Touch- down Pass Keeps Hawks Record Intact

Special Dispatch to The Herald

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 18—The surprising St. Anselm College football team, which has developed into a real power among the small college teams in New England this season, forced its own breaks to defeat Providence College, 7-2, here this afternoon in the game that was put over from Saturday.

Trailing by the margin of a safety in the third period and threatened with its first defeat of the season, the Hawks blocked a Providence punt and three plays later scored the winning touchdown. Mike Malio, substituting for Hartung at center for St. Anselm, blocked Tom Hammond's punt and John Sullivan recovered for the Hawks on the Friars' 15-yard stripe.

KELLEY PASSES TO CONNORS FOR SCORE

Three plays later, Joe Kelley, sharp shooting southpaw passer from Malden, faded back and threw a 30-yard pass to Tom Connors, with the Hawk end pulling down the ball in the end zone for the touchdown. Kelley also converted the extra point by placement.

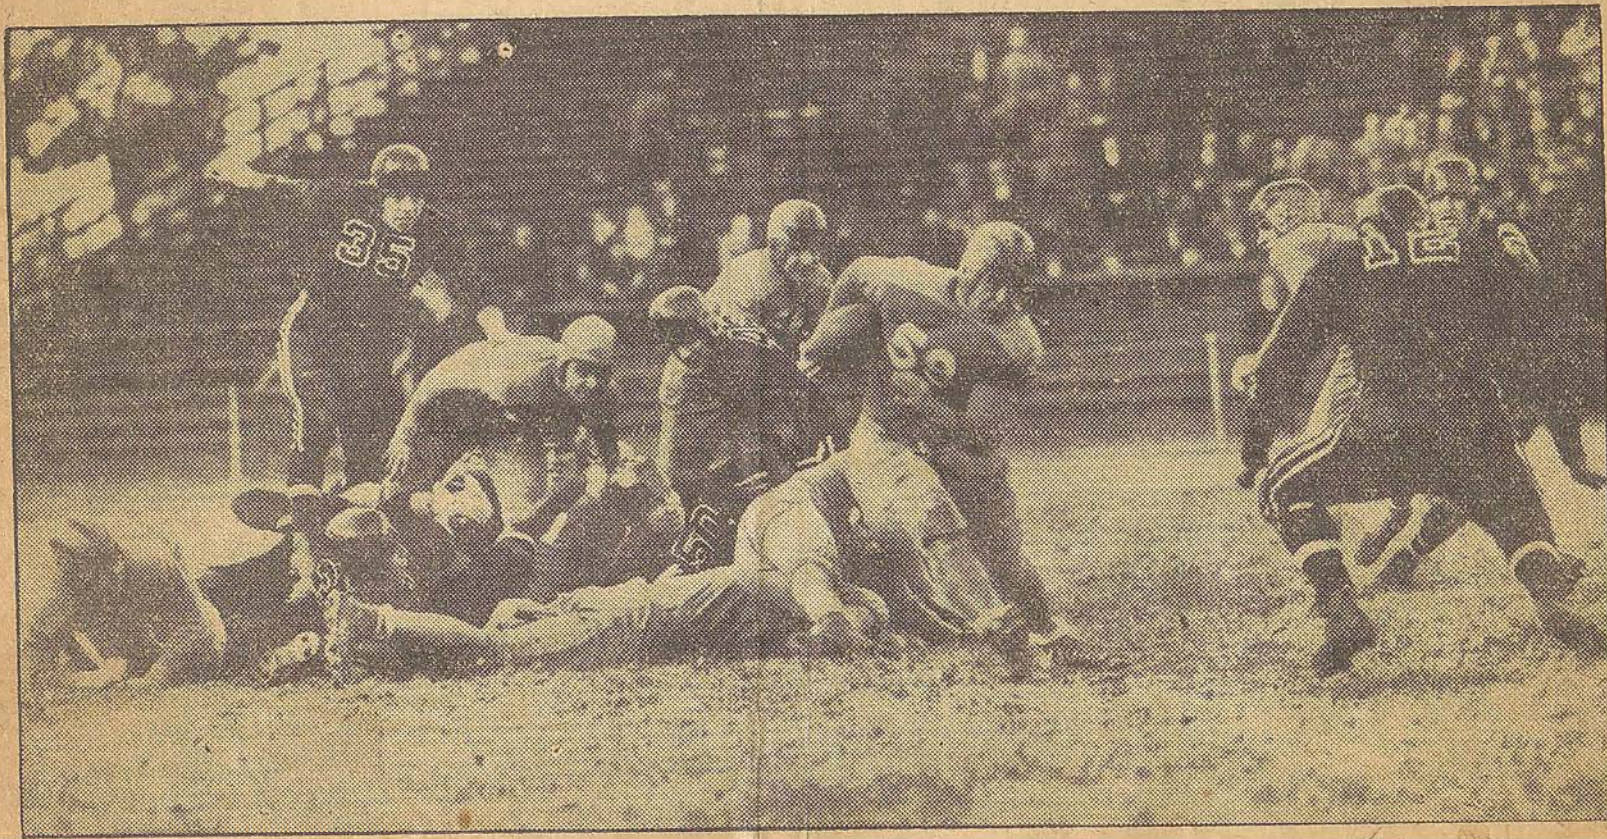

Providence had scored its two points on an automatic safety in the second period. Ryan and Eichner blocked Johnny Spirida's punt and the ball rolled beyond the end zone.

Connors, who scored the winning touchdown for St. Anselm, also saved the day for the Hawks when he intercepted a Friar pass late in the fourth period, after the home team had marched 65 yards in their quest for the winning points.

Kelley, Connors, Spirida, Butchka and Pelonzi featured the third straight win for St. Anselm, while Moge, Belliveau, Ploski and Bedard starred for the Friars.

HAWK MAKES A GAIN THROUGH FRIAR LINE

B. C. Victory Friars' Aim

Tackle Pair Primed for Dobies

Although beset by injuries to their backfield, Providence College which gave Holy Cross a terrific battle, is primed to duplicate against B. C. at University Heights tomorrow with an upset win as their season's objective.

Holy Cross won that game by a 21-to-6 score but only after the potent Crusaders had had 60 minutes of sizzling action.

Strategically, most of the Friar strength is at the tackles, flanked by a really great pair of ends, which augurs plenty of difficulty for Gil Dobie's off tackle power smashes, the backbone of B. C.'s offense.

Leo Bouzan, 212-pound, six foot one, senior from Sacred Heart high in Newton, at right tackle; Leo Davin, 205-pound, six foot four, senior from New Haven, and Bill Lawler, 210-pound, six foot two, senior from Springfield as a reserve gives the Friars as powerful a tackle squad as could be desired.

Al Hagstrom, 183, and Paul Ryan, 191, are a great pair of ends according to B. C.'s scout, Coach Harry Downes, who says both are fine pass receivers and defensive ends as well.

Jim Boboras, 188-pound, six footer, and Ben Polak, another six foot, 185 pounder, are the starting guards. They will flank, Normie Eichner, 192, six foot two inch center from Torrington, Connecticut.

Bill Moge, 185 pound, triple threat fullback is the outstanding backfield ace of the Friars although Leo Ploski, their best ball carrying flash is an dangerous a back as any club would care to meet.

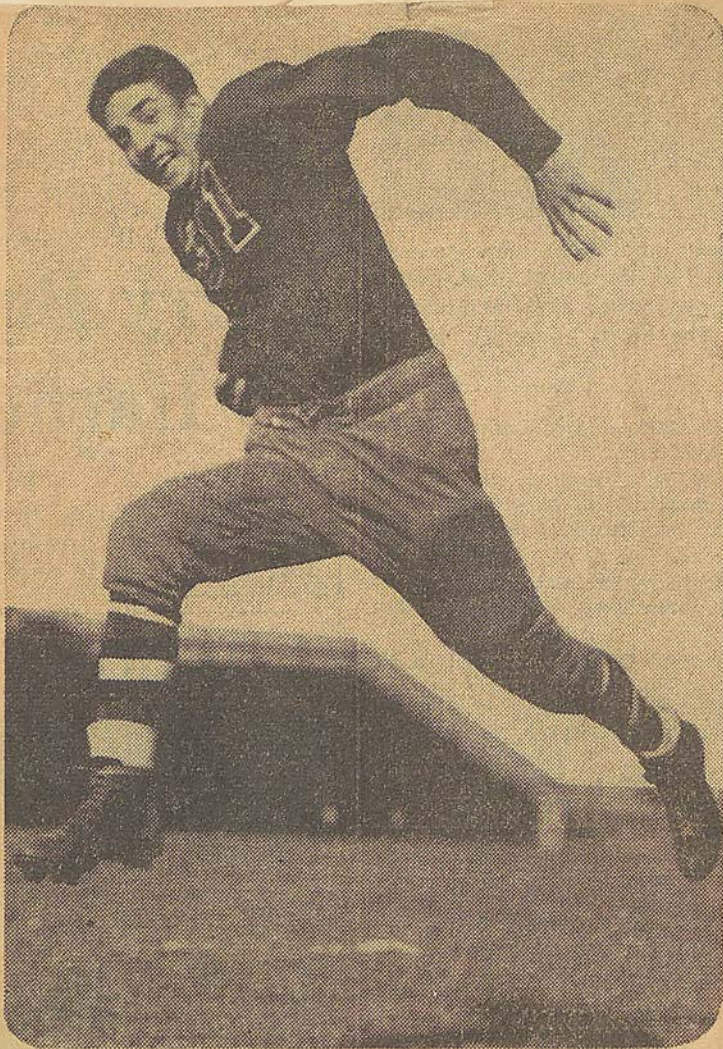

Ray Bedard at quarterback and Tom Hammond at right half are the other starting backs in the Friar backfield.

To repel such a formidable array Coach Gil Dobie of the Eagles has decided to start a new backfield and open up with an offense which has been under wraps for one reason or another all season.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

WATCH OUT EAGLES—The B. C. defense will have to be constantly on the alert for Leo Polski, Friars' great halfback, who does the lion share of the running and passing. If the Dobie gang stop Polski they stop Providence.

PROVIDENCE Captain Leo Bouzan, a Newton Center boy, would like nothing better than to lead his mates to an upset victory over the heavily favored Boston College eleven at the Heights Saturday. Bouzan is a husky 210-pound tackle.

vance through their positions, but finally gave way under the terrific pressure to which they were subjected.

As soon as the Friar tackles proved vulnerable, the Eagles' march was on. Without capable substitute tackles upon which to rely, the Friars could do nothing to stem the tide, although they put up a plucky fight in the face of great odds.

Providence's starting team played good football until the players weakened from the continual battering they received. The regulars could not look to the bench for support as the squad was crippled through injuries, and hence B. C.'s superior man power began to tell as the game progressed.

The Eagles adhered to straight football, whereas the Friars put on an aerial circus. The Dominicans, unable to make any progress through the powerful B. C. linemen, relied mostly on forwards, attempting 30 and completing seven. Most of the successful P. C. aerials netted little yardage.

Though gaining only 47 yards by rushing, Providence was unlucky when faced with scoring chances. It had a decided edge in the first period, when the Eagles offensive was sluggish, once reaching the B. C. 30-yard line and again the 33-yard mark, but bad breaks prevented the Friar eleven from scoring.

After advancing to the B. C. 33-yard line soon after the start, Leo Ploski hurled a pass to Davin, who was in the clear. The ball, however, bounced off the latter's chest, costing P. C. a touchdown.

Soon afterward with the ball on the Eagles' 30, Ploski threw another accurate aerial to John Lyons, who also was in the clear, but the ball was just inches beyond his finger tips.

In the second period, the Friars attempted a bit of strategy that nearly brought them a score. The Eagles had rushed the Friars back to the two-yard line. Bill Moge dropped back behind his goal line in punt formation. Conditions called for a kick, but instead, Moge slipped through tackle, past the B. C. secondary and into the clear. He appeared on his way to a 98-yard run and a touchdown, but he was tackled from behind by Tony DiNatale on the Friar 42.

Boston uncorked its most powerful offensive of the season, gaining 220 yards by rushing and 49 yards through the air. The Eagles made six first downs to five by Providence.

The Boston machine generated power as the game progressed. It hit its true stride in the second period. Al Horsfall paved the way for the first B. C. score when he intercepted an aerial on the P. C. 26 and ran to the 41. From this point the Eagles marched to a touchdown.

Two thrusts at the line failed to net them any yardage, but on the next play Gintoff slid through tackle behind strong interference and ran 59 yards to a score. Ploski just missed tackling him on the P. C. 30.

Late in the second period, the Eagles uncorked a drive from their 35 to the Friar 20 but lost the ball on downs. A 20-yard off tackle slant by Jivilkian and a 15-yard aerial, Horsfall to McFadden, were the big factors in this drive.

The Eagles made their second score soon after the third period

BY MICHAEL J. THOMAS

Newton, Mass., Oct. 24—Gil Dobie's pet offensive weapon, the off-tackle play, was efficiently worked by his Boston College Eagles here today as they made the Providence College eleven their third victim of the season, 26 to 0. Six thousand watched the battle.

Levelling their attack at the Friar tackles for considerable yardage, and at times turning to aerials that clicked, the Eagles proved far superior to the Dominicans.

They scored touchdowns in all but the first period, making two in the third, and were successful on two of four attempts for extra points.

Fella Gintoff, hard-running half-back, led the Eagles to victory, scoring touchdowns on two of the game's most colorful plays.

He galloped 59 yards to his first score in the second period, and raced 72 yards on an intercepted pass during the dying moments of the game for his second score.

The two other Eagle touchdowns came on sustained marches in the third period. Tom Guinea climaxed a 60-yard advance with an 18-yard dash through tackle for the second B. C. tally, and Ira Jivilkian threw a 21-yard aerial to Dan McFadden, ending a 57-yard advance, for the other B. C. touchdown.

Providence's two hefty tackles, Leo Bouzan, who weighs 212 pounds, and Leo Davin, 205 pounds, saw plenty of Eagles. Two and three Boston players charged at the Friar tackles and they blocked with abandon. Bouzan and Davin thwarted the early attempts of the B. C. backs to ad-started. Jivilikian ran back one of Moge's punts 16 yards to his 40 and from here Boston marched to a touchdown. On the first play from scrimmage Guinea sliced through tackle for 28 yards and a Jivilikian-to-Cahill aerial brought the Eagles to the P. C. 31.

Further gains by Guinea and Jivilikian brought the Eagles to the 18-yard line, and from this point Guinea scored over the goal line.

A 24-yard runback by Jivilikian from his 20 to the 46 started Boston towards its third tally. A 10-yard aerial, Jivilikian, to Jim Cahill, and a 15-yard penalty, called on Providence for unnecessary roughness, brought the Eagles to the Providence 36. After line thrusts failed to net yardage Jivilikian threw an aerial to McFadden for a touchdown.

Providence, trying desperately for a score, tossed many aerials in the final period and while some clicked it was unable to make real headway.

Gintoff proved the final bit of action when he intercepted one of these aerials and ran 72 yards to a touchdown.

Pushed back to their two-yard line in the second period, the Friars tried a dangerous play that nearly resulted in a touchdown. With the Eagles expecting a punt, Bill Moge dropped back behind his goal line in punt formation, but instead of kicking, Moge slid through tackle and advanced past the B. C. secondary into the clear. He appeared headed towards a 98-yard run and a touchdown, but Tony Di Natale uncorked a burst of speed and tackled him from behind on the P. C. 48. On the left, Gus Hagstrom, P. Springfield, Mass., Oct. 31.—Springfield College's football legions spent this Hallowe'en Day afternoon playing tricks on the Friars of Providence College. When the curtain was drawn upon their hocus-pocus acts the scoreboard read: Springfield 19 Providence 0.

Four thousand spectators watched the Maroons bewilder the Friars with single reverses and laterals that were tossed at the tail end of sweeps around the flanks. The Dominicans unable to solve the tricky Springfield plays, conceded one touchdown in all but the second period.

Although he was forced out of the game midway in the third period by an injury, Warren Huston played the leading role in the Springfield victory. He was the key man in all of the Maroon laterals and he gained considerable yardage on off-tackle slants and end sweeps.

Huston scored Springfield's first touchdown midway in the first period. The Maroons made this tally on two plays. Ralph Plumb ran back a Friar punt from midfield to the Friar 22, and on the next play Huston slashed off tackle for a touchdown.

Springfield Bewilders Friars with Reverses and Laterals to Triumph.

Springfield tallied its second touchdown in the third period, Plumb climaxing a 49-yard drive with an 11-yard drive through guard over the goal line. This was one of the best plays of the game. Henry Walmsley, an end, brought the Maroons their third score on the final period, when he intercepted a pass on the Friar two-yard line and crossed the goal line.

Providence, unable to make consistent headway by air or land, was outplayed in all departments by a group of lighter opponents, who played high calibre football for a small college eleven. The Friars had scoring chances, but their attack was woefully weak in the pinches.

Springfield's light but hard charging linemen were instrumental in their team's victory. They made wide holes in the Friar line and often stopped Providence ball carriers in their tracks. Springfield's pony backfield also excelled, the Maroons exhibiting some highly effective blocking.

Coach Jack Rothacker equipped his players with a number of fancy plays and they worked them efficiently. They had the Friars looking in vain for the ball carrier. Their most efficient weapon was an end sweep-lateral play that clicked every time they tried it.

Unable to advance and to stop the Springfield's progress the Friars were somewhat disorganized during the final part of the game. Desperately trying for a score they even attempted a pass from behind their goal line, which resulted in an interception and a Springfield touchdown.

ceeded to manifest their superiority. They got their first scoring chance when Charles Folsom picked up a loose ball on the Friar 26, but they could not advance beyond the 15-yard mark and lost the ball on downs.

Plumb then set the stage for a Springfield tally by his fine runback of Bill Moge's punt. He was nearly downed by Gus Hagstrom at midfield, but slipped by the Friar end and raced 28 yards to the 22. Huston then knifed through tackle for a touchdown.

Bob Atkinson placed the Maroons in scoring position near the end of the period when he recovered a fumble on the Friar 42. The Maroons advanced to the four-yard line, but an off-side penalty sent them back to the nine. Unable to make further progress, Huston attempted a field goal from the 15 but his effort went wide of the uprights.

Another P. C. fumble, recovered by Curtis Cheney on the Friar 20, as the period ended gave the Maroons another scoring chance. Carrying on in the second quarter, they advanced to within inches of scoring. On fourth down, Plumb threw a pass to Huston but the latter caught the ball outside the field of play and the score was not allowed. This goal line stand by the Friars was one of the highlights.

Game played: October 31, 1936

The game was tough and penalties often were inflicted on both sides. A Springfield player, Sam Rosengren, was put out of the game for the first play for slugging. With the Maroons penalized 43 yards—half the distance to the goal line for this infraction—the Friars were advanced to the Springfield 22.

The Dominicans, however, were unable to capitalize this golden scoring opportunity. They made two successive first downs and reached the Springfield 10 but a 15-yard penalty for clipping sent them back to the 25, where they lost the ball on downs after two passes had gone astray.

This was the nearest Providence came to scoring. Once they repelled this Friar bid, the Maroons' pro-

Springfield marched to its second score from this point. A 15-yard aerial, Frey to Huston, gave them a first down on the 30. Huston was injured on this play, and he was replaced by Pete Slifkus, who proved to be as nearly an able ball carrier as Huston. He made his presence quickly felt by sweeping end for 18 yards and a first down on the Friar 21. He made four yards on his three attempts, and then Plumb crashed through right guard on well-screened, reverse play for a touch-down.

The final period was marked by wide open play. The Friars tried many passes in an attempt to score. One of these was intercepted by Walmsley on the Friar two-yard line. He scored easily. The Friars nearly tallied near the end of the game when Tom Hammond recovered a fumble on the Springfield 30, but their aerial attack failed to net yardage.

Niagara Bids for Grid

Comeback Against

Providence

Friar Team Is Favored Over Eagles

Purple Views Game
Tomorrow as Primer
for Canisius; St. Bona Faces St. Vincent in Home Finale.

NIAGARA and St. Bonaventure close their home football seasons tomorrow afternoon, again cast in their favorite role of the underdog. Both elevens have always played at their best when the odds are against them, and rival partisans are hoping this will hold true again.

In a desperate drive to rescue a disappointing season and to come up for the Canisius game a week hence at their peak, Niagara meets the strong Providence college eleven at 2:15 o'clock in Varsity stadium, Monteagle ridge. St. Bona engages another old rival, St. Vincent college of Latrobe, Pa., at 2 o'clock in Bradner stadium.

It will be Niagara's first start under Taps Gallagher as head coach, and the switch in mentors is expected to spark the Eagles' sluggish attack to the point it attained in running up victories over Notre Dame B and Clarkson Tech.

With Bob Loeven, end, and Joe Yuhas, center, laid up from injuries suffered in the Canisius game, Coach Mike Reilly will have only 19 men ready to throw at the powerful Bearcat team, which is three deep in every position. Al Robillard will be at the snapper-back post and Johnny Ertle will start at Loeven's flank.

Ted Stewart is ready to start for the second time this season, and his presence, especially on defense, may offset these casualties. Stewart regarded as Bona's most dangerous running back, did not get into the Canisius battle.

Eleven Seniors to Play.

Eleven seniors will be making their final appearance on the home turf, including Capt. Will Petit who is starting his first game of the year, having been on the shelf due to an operation in September.

John Popadak, Bona's great tackle, and Mike Shimko, veteran fullback, will also appear for the last time before a home crowd.

Vincent Line Strong.

The powerful St. Vincent line held Canisius to three first downs here last month, and the expectation is that Bona will go to the air and depend on their passing combination of Johnny Labas to Steve Gilbert to carry them to victory.

Coach Gallagher scouted Providence last week and was impressed with the Friars' forward wall. Purple mentor claims it is exceptionally strong on the defense.

Flanking the starting line are Al Hagstrom, 5 feet 10 inches and Paul Ryan, 6 feet, who weigh 180 and 190 respectively. Next to them at the tackles are the Leo's, Bouzan and Davin, who, respectively, pack 212 and 205 pounds is 6 foot 4 inch and 6 foot 1 inch frame.

Ben Polak, 6 feet, and Jim Boras, 6 feet 1 inch, respectively, plant 185 and 190 pounds respectively, the center, Norm Eichner, 6 feet 2 inches—195 pounds.

Home Eleven Scores Twice During First Five Minutes

Backs Race 68 and 57 Yards to Touchdowns.—Friars Tally on Aerial.

(Special to the Providence Journal.)
Niagara Falls, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Two well-executed plays in the first five minutes gave Niagara's Purple Eagles the margin by which they defeated the Providence College eleven here today. Three thousand spectators watched Niagara close its season with a 19 to 6 triumph. It was Niagara's homecoming game.

On the second play of the contest,
Morgan Davies, sophomore ace, ran 68 yards for Niagara's first touchdown, and soon afterwards Bob Freeman raced 57 yards to a second Niagara score.

These two runs upset the Friars, and as a result Niagara dominated the play until the middle of the second period. At this point, with Leo Ploski playing a leading role, Providence marched to a touchdown. The drive was culminated with a 16-yard aerial, Ploski to Anthony Parreau. Parreau made the catch on the two-yard line and stepped over the goal line for the only Friar score.

The Friars had the edge in the third period, but their attack weakened in the final quarter. Their hopes of victory vanished when Davies raced 18 yards to Niagara's third touchdown near the finish. This touchdown was made possible when Benigo recovered a Friar fumble deep in Providence territory.

Niagara played a good all-around game in its first start for its new coach, Jack "Taps" Gallagher.

Niagara won the toss and elected to receive. Davies took the kickoff on his 15 and ran to the 32. On the next play, Davies started towards his right end behind a four-man interference.

Ryan, Friar wingman, was swept out of the way as Davies shot outside tackle. He reversed his field before the Providence secondary could shift to avoid blockers and was away at top speed.

Dougan, Providence tackle, made a valiant attempt to drive Davies out of bounds on the Providence 40, but two Niagara blockers toppled the Friar tackle, and the Niagara runner covered the remaining distance unmolested. Albano place-kicked the point.

Hammond took the kickoff and galloped to his own 37-yard line.
After three line thrusts had failed to net yardage, Moge punted to Davies, who was dropped by Ryan on the Niagara 43. The locals repeated their scoring play a few minutes before, Bob Freeman, husky fullback, making the score this time.

Freeman slid through his right tackle, ran by Parreau when the Friar halfback slipped on the wet turf, and ran straight down the middle of the field, Ploski in the safety position, set himself for the tackle, but Freeman shifted his pace, swung clear and picked up speed again to complete his 57-yard dash for the second score.

Eichner headed a surging Friar line which broke through and blocked Albano's attempted placement. Following an exchange of kicks shortly after these scoring plays, Niagara almost came through with another score when Freeman broke away for a 50-yard run which was halted by Leo Dartin, who hauled him down from just as he appeared headed for a touchdown. The Providence line stiffened with its goal again threatened and the Friars took the ball on downs on its own 10 yard line.

In the second half, the Friars started a strong blocking attack which carried them deep into Niagara territory before Korach of the locals intercepted a Ploski forward to halt the advance. Korach punted out to midfield and the Friars started another drive goalward which was successful. In this march Moge and Ploski ran the backs for two scores, Moge down to put the ball on the Niagara 27 yard line.

A lateral pass for five yards and a forward was grounded before Plack's kick. A flat pass over center to Ryan for a 10-yard gain. With fourth down and five yards to go, the same pass formation was called with Plack upsetting the Niagara secondary with a long pitch to Parisseau who took the ball on the run on the ten-yard line and continued over for the score.

Plack's place kick was high, but wide of the bars.

Shortly after the kickoff, Polak intercepted a Niagara forward and ran 40 yards for a score, which was nullified when Moge was ruled off-side on the play.

The third period was bitterly contested, with Providence making three first downs to one for the locals, but failing to uncover a drive which would produce a score. Early in the final period the Friars made three straight first downs on running plays to bring the ball from their own 16-yard line to the Niagara 47, but the advance stalled when Tosi, Purple center, intercepted a flat pass over the middle of the field. Niagara in turn marched to the Providence 25, only to lose the ball on downs.

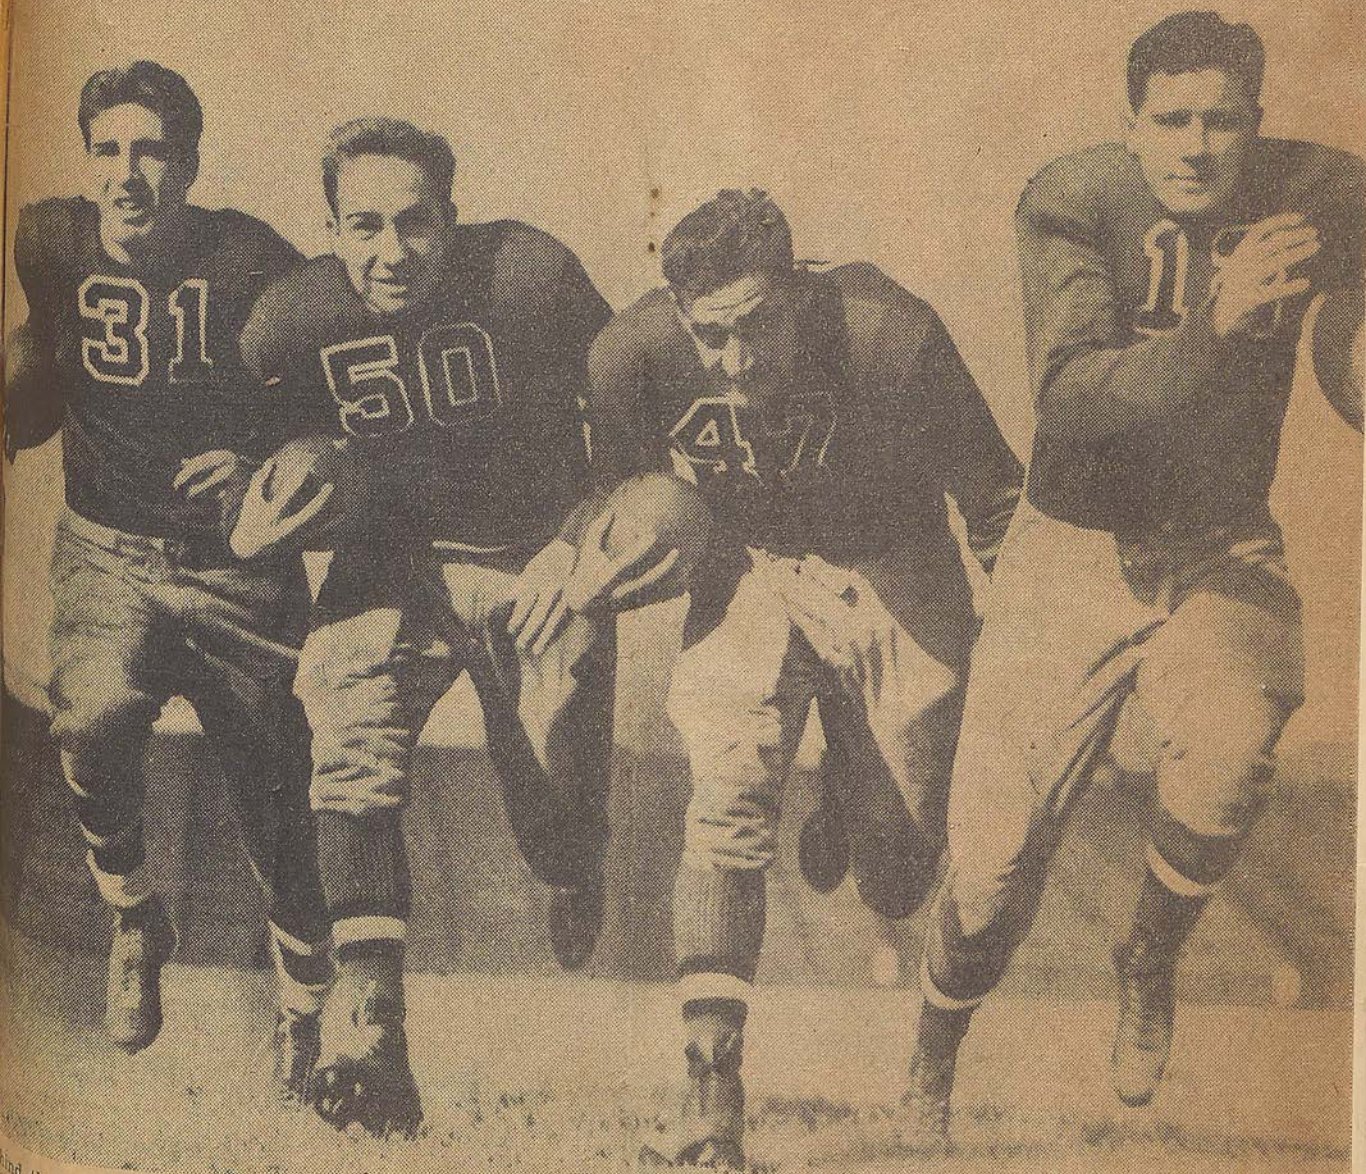

Trying desperately to shake a man into the open to collect what might have been a tying score, cost the Friars the game, when a lateral pass formation went askew, with McMahon of Niagara retrieving a free ball on the Providence 18-yard line. On the next play the busy Davies picked a hole in the right side of the line, and with the Providence secondary playing deep for an expected forward pass, had no trouble in sidestepping his way to the goal line for the third Niagara touchdown. Hagstrom blocked Albano's placement try.

Davies Runs Back First Kick-off 68 Yards—Freeman Goes 50 to Score

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—Niagara's Purple Eagles presented their new coach, Jack Gallagher, a smashing 19-6 triumph over the Providence College Friars here today in the final home game of the season.

Morgan Davies sent 2500 fans into a frenzy in the opening play when he took the kick-off and raced 68 yards for a touchdown. Bob Freeman ran 50 yards for another tally on the second Niagara play of the game. Late in the final quarter Davies scored the third touchdown. Albano kicked from placement.

Providence averted a whitewash in the second period when Leo Plaski threw a 17-yard scoring pass to Tony Pariseau.

won by the Friars, 6 to 0. That was the year the Dominicans completely stopped Ken Goff, one of the ablest backs in Rhode Island football history.

They didn't meet again until 1934 after athletic relations were resumed between the two colleges. Providence won that game, 21 to 7, and last year it triumphed, 13 to 0.

In both of the last two contests, the Friars have had to stop Bobby Mudge, who also has achieved a high place in State football history, in order to triumph. They face the same task this year, for Mudge still is on the warpath for State.

State has other capable backs, but Mudge will be the player the Friars will closely watch. He will be playing his final football game for State, and it's certain that he will be determined to end his career in a blaze of glory.

Mudge also will have added incentive in that he will be out to avenge past reverses at the hands of the Friars. A dangerous runner, Mudge is apt to break through at any time for a scoring run, a feat which he often has accomplished.

Without doubt State's chances depend on Mudge. He can swing the battle their way. If he is stopped its chances of victory will become doubly difficult.

Both teams will be out to avenge past defeats. The Rams lost their objective game to Connecticut State last Saturday, but they can yet save the season by defeating the Friars. Providence, which often has stepped out of its class this season, also can make up lost ground by winning tonight.

On a basis of past performances, Providence has the superior line and State the better backfield. The Friar line averages 186 in weight against 167 for State. The Providence backfield averages 177 pounds against 164 for State.

Both teams have played better football than their records might indicate. Providence gave both Holy Cross and Boston College stern battles before accepting defeat, and it might have beaten Western Maryland and St. Anselm with a better share of the breaks.

Football players of Rhode Island State and Providence College bade farewell to the tackling dummies of the practice field late yesterday afternoon. Tonight they will meet in their annual clash, which ends the season for both of them.

With the teams more evenly matched than in any of their previous meetings, considerable interest is attached to the game and a large crowd is expected to watch the hostilities at Cranston Stadium.

The teams are in fighting moods and indications point to a spirited battle that probably will see considerable open football. Both teams have saved tricks for this contest, which will determine the small college championship of Rhode Island.

As was the case in their previous games, all won by the Dominicans, Providence will have the edge in weight and State the advantage in speed. The age old controversy of brawn versus speed is up for decision.

Despite the fact that these foes have met but three times, there is an intensity to their rivalry that approaches that of a traditional series. Each one of their contests has been productive of high calibre football and keen competition.

These two teams first met in 1931 at Brown Field in a Charity game

D'IORIO, MUDGE, McCARTHY PLAY BRILLIANTLY FOR STATE

Baffling Attack Gives Keaneymen Two Touch- downs in Second Period, One in Fourth

BY JOE NUTTER

Striking with a withering aerial barrage, the Rhode Island State College Varsity eleven won its first triumph over Providence College by a 19 to 0 verdict on the Cranston Recreation Field last night. The game closed the seasons for both teams.

After a scoreless first period during which the fast-driving Ram reached the Providence two-yard line, then fumbled and lost the ball, Rhode Island threw down the gauntlet in reckless fashion and in a turbulent second period tallied two touchdowns. Alternating between a spread and double wingback formation, the Ram dazzled the Friar defence in two master strokes that carried across the last white line.

On the first march, which started with the first play of the second period, Rhode Island travelled 68 yards, 51 of which was through the air lanes. A spread formation, with Fred McCarthy dropping back to take a passer's role, set Providence College back on her heels, and the touchdown pass, McCarthy to D'Iorio carried 38 yards. Albanese added the point by placement.

Coming back mid-way through the period, Rhode Island picked up the spread formation again and drove 60 yards for a second touchdown. The entering wedge into vulnerable territory came when it was ruled that Angelica had interfered with an Elliott to D'Iorio aerial, and Rhode Island got the ball on the Friar two-yard line. Coming into the close double wingback set-up, it took Rhode Island two plays to drive over for the touchdown, with the fleet and capable Bobby Mudge scoring.

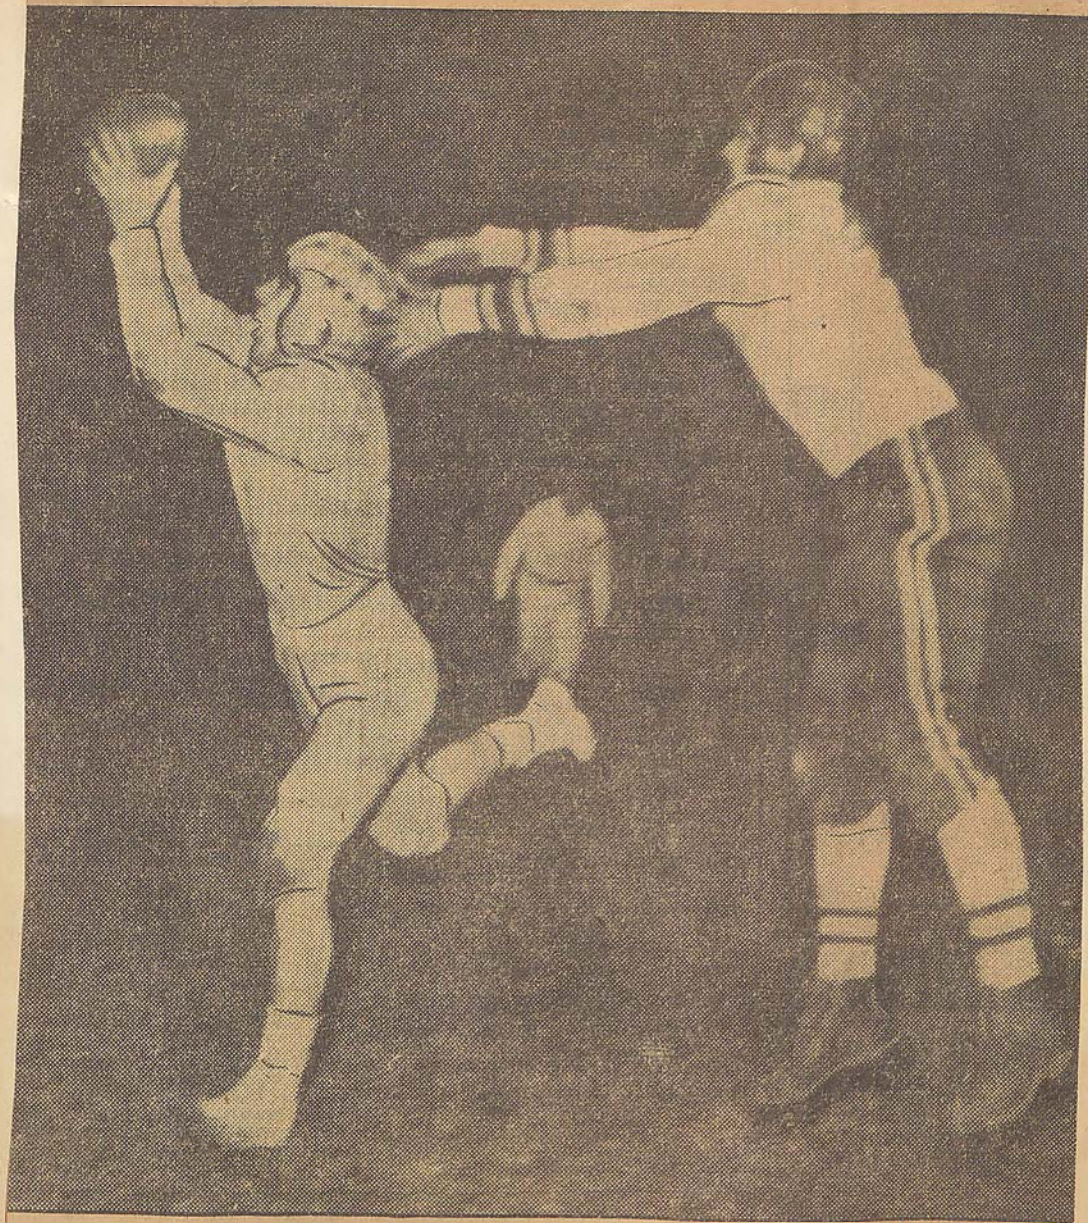

Rhode Island closed the scoring a moment before time ran out on this old season, when it recovered a Friar fumble on the Providence nine-yard line, and three plays later, Mudge outran the defenders on a wide sweep around the Friar left flank to score.

Lou D'Iorio was the outstanding man on the field, and Bobby Mudge was right with him. Fred McCarthy did a fine job throwing passes, although he overthrew some of his receivers when a catch would have been a certain touchdown. The middle of the Ram line did a great job in the face of the Friar power-thrusts. Rhode Island was airtight under the aerial game, and refused to let Providence gain a yard through the air-lanes. As a matter of record Rhode Island intercepted a flock of Friar passes and converted them to her own ends. Angelica and Moge were the best gainers for the Friars. The game was hard fought all the way and the tackles fairly resounded across the greensward.

Statistics showed Providence holding a 15-10 edge in first downs and a 215 to 84 edge in yards gained by rushing. Rhode Island completed four of 15 passes for 99 yards, and intercepted four of the nine Friar passes. Providence completed two passes for eight yards. Providence reached the Ram 27-yard line on the final play of the game in her best advance.

The verdict gave Rhode Island five triumphs in nine starts, and left Providence College with one victory in eight games.

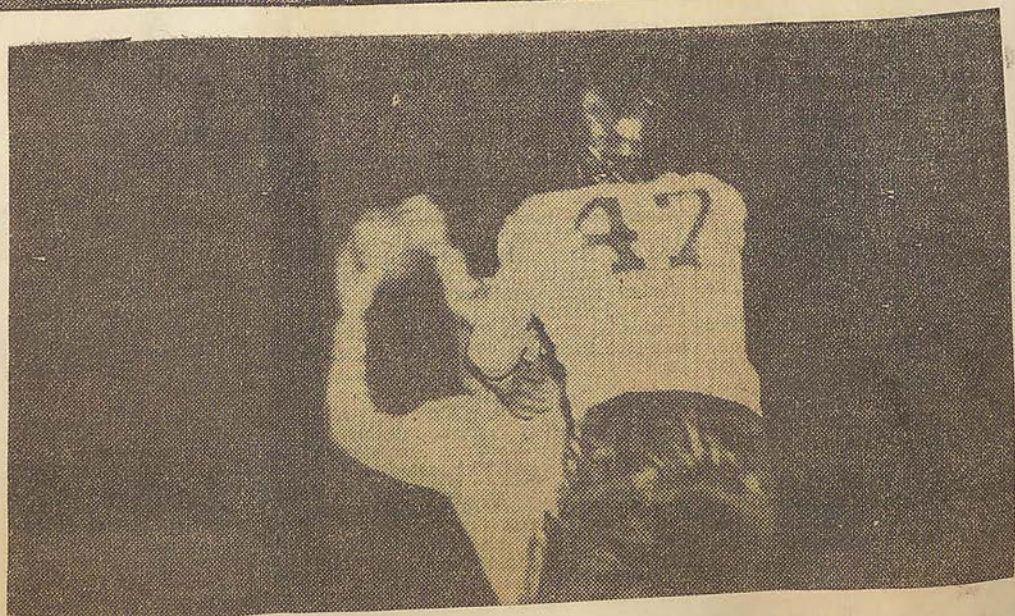

ONE OF STATE'S HIGH-FLYING RAMS

State's Aerial Attack Bewilders Dominicans

Victory; Aids in Two Scores
Before 7000.

By MICHAEL J. THOMAS

Rhode Island State College scored its first football victory over Providence College at Cranston Stadium last night. With nearly 7000 spectators looking on, the Rams put on an aerial circus and toppled the Friars 19 to 0.

Relying on long distance passing nearly each time they were in scoring position, the Rams staged a fine display of passing pyrotechnics that bewildered the Dominicans. Two of their scores were the result of aerials, and they paved the way for the third touchdown by intercepting a Friar pass in the final two minutes.

The victory, their fifth of the campaign, won for the Rams the State small college championship. The defeat was the seventh straight for the Friars.

Fred McCarthy, a guard, who dropped out of the line to hurl aerials for the Rams, was the leading figure in State's victory. His last game for the Rams probably was his best. He tossed the two passes that accounted for two of State's scores, and along with the other State linemen, he played a fine defensive game.

Rifling long passes with deadly accuracy in a manner that brought Brick Miller of California All-American fame, McCarthy provided the Rams with their scoring punch. Each time he stepped into the backfield, the Friars knew that a pass was coming but he invariably hit his target.

Bobby Mudge and Lou D'Iorio, also playing their final game for the Rams, played prominent roles in the State triumph. Mudge scored two of Ram touchdowns and was a hard man for the Friars to stop. D'Iorio continually was in the Providence backfield making tackles.

Two of the State touchdowns were made in the second period, the first on a drive extended from the first. On the last play of the initial quarter, Albanese intercepted a Friar aerial on the Providence 33, and the Rams marched from this point to a score in the second quarter.

They made their first five yards on a Providence off-side penalty. Mudge then threw a pass to Albanese for a first down on the Friar 48. On a tricky play from spread formation, Albanese shot through guard to the 40. Mudge carried to the 38, and on the next play McCarthy threw a pass to D'Iorio, who caught the ball on the three-yard line and raced over for a touchdown.

D'Iorio outwitted two Friar backs, who apparently had him well covered, on this play. D'Iorio, however, raced behind two enemy backs to the spot he was supposed to reach, and made a brilliant catch.

Elliot paved the way to State's second score by intercepting a Friar pass on his 46 and running to the Providence 37. The Rams advanced to a score on three plays. Mudge knifed through tackle for a first down on the 20. McCarthy then hurled a pass intended for D'Iorio. But just as the latter was to make the catch on the one-yard line, he was knocked down by Carl Angelica, and the officials ruled interference on the play.

State was given the ball on the one-yard line, and on the second play, Mudge scored.

There was no further scoring until near the finish when the Rams capitalized another break. Robertshaw, who was a ball hawk throughout the game, recovered a Providence fumble on the Friar 10, and on third down Mudge, facing behind a screen of blockers, swept his right end for six yards and a touchdown.

Providence had a number of scoring opportunities, and on more than one occasion appeared headed for a touchdown, but either their attack petered out or the breaks went against them.

Displaying a strong running attack the Friars were still in the ball game until mid-way in the final period. The turning point for the Friars came in the third period.

With Angelica and Moge, who, incidentally, were Providence's ablest backs, making consistent short gains, the Friars marched from their 20 to State's 40. Angelica made 20 yards on an off-tackle slant in this advance. At this point Ploski threw a pass to Gus Hagstrom, who made a brilliant catch and raced to the State 25, but a Friar was detected holding on this play, and instead of gaining 15 yards the Friars lost 15. This broke up their march.

Only for this penalty the Friars might have scored and they would have been only one touchdown down instead of two.

The Friars, who twice gambled successfully by refusing to kick with a yard to go on fourth down when outside the opposition 40, were unable to get inside the State 30 at any time.

Game played: November 13, 1936

The Rams completely stopped Providence's aerial attack, as the Friars failed to click on any of their seven attempts, four of which were intercepted. The Dominicans, however, had a wide edge in rushing, making 215 yards by land to 84 for State. First downs also were in Providence's favor 15 to 10. State made 99 yards by passing.

FRIAR FRESHMEN DEFEATED 7 TO 0

Temporary Weakness of Line in First Period Enables St.
John's Prep to Win.

Danvers, Mass., Oct. 2.—A temporary weakness of the Providence Freshmen line in the first period, enabled St. John's Prep to score a touchdown and defeat the Friar yearlings, 7-0 on the local field this afternoon.

Except for that temporary let-down, the Providence team played the locals, made up of New England scholastic stars, to a standstill and threatened several times, only to lose the ball on downs or be compelled to kick.

The touchdown came after three successive first downs through the Friar Cub's line with Henry Toscykowski finally tallying from the eight. Kelley's placement made the extra point.

Alexander, Grady and Sweeney picked up several fine gains for the visitors and Griffin and Barnini did some fine work in the line. Babe Michaud led the St. John attack on several occasions.

H. C. CUBS FACE YOUNG FRIARS

Crusader Freshmen Open Season Today Against Providence Yearlings

The Holy Cross freshman football team, the fourth under the helm of Coach Albert "Hop" Riopel, will open its four-game schedule this morning at 10 o'clock on Fitton Field, opposing stiff competition in the Providence College Cubs.

Having drilled since the opening of school, Sept. 23, Coach Riopel, who boasts a brilliant record of only one defeat in three seasons, has moulded together a strong combination of former prep and high school stars.

Cahill to Call Signals

Ronnie Cahill, former Leominster High ace, will be the pivot man of the Purple attack, calling signals for a high-stepping trio of ball carriers in Gerasimos, left half and star from Philadelphia; Titus, a product of Brooklyn Prep, and Andy Giardi, fullback from Hartford. Giardi demonstrated his ability in a varsity-frosh scrimmage recently by weaving his way 30 yards to score against the highly-touted first-string defense.

Coach Riopel expects to open with Cimino, New Britain, Conn., and Waleski, Mt. Carmel, Pa., ends; Sarno, Medford, and Belinskas, former St. John's High star, tackles; Seich and Bogdan, both New Britain, Conn., lads, at guards, and Ball, Clinton product, at center.

The young Friars, who dropped their opening game with St. John's Prep by one touchdown, will have the advantage of their one-game experience. They will be represented by a young band of stalwarts in Barnini and Leo, ends; Haran and Griffin, tackles; Beaulian and Esielonis, guards, and Burdge, center.

The Providence freshmen will present a backfield starting quartet which outweighs the varsity. Shattuck, scaling close to 200 pounds, will be at fullback, and he will have Nick Alexander, a 190-pound halfback from Amsterdam, N. Y., and Paul Sweeney, another 190-pound back, from Pittsfield, to aid in the running attack. The signal calling task is being handled by Bob Gendron, 170-pound former all-Rhode Island scholastic ace.

FRIAR CUBS TIE HOLY CROSS 6-6

(Special to the Providence Journal)
Worcester, Oct. 12.—Providence College's big and rangy Freshman football forces turned a fourth period break into a touchdown to hold Holy Cross Freshmen to a 6 to 6 deadlock in a stubbornly-fought battle here this morning.

Right End Jim Barnini saved the day for the Providence yearlings when he snatched a Holy Cross Freshman fumble and ran 45 yards for a touchdown. Paul Sweeney's try for the extra point, which would have given the visitors a victory, was unsuccessful.

The Crusader Cubs swept out front in the third period with a series of passes and line smashes with Ronnie Cahill and Andy Giardi featuring the march. Giardi finally went over for a touchdown from the one-foot mark. Cahill's try for the point struck the uprights.

The Friars threatened to score late in the first period, hammering the left side of the Purple line for consistent gains which carried them to the 23 as the quarter ended. They continued their advance with Nick Alexander and "Red" Gendron doing outstanding work until they reached the three-yard line. Here the locals dug in and held for three downs after which Alexander was thrown by Cimino for a 14-yard loss and the Crusader Cubs took the ball on their own 17.

FRIAR FRESHMEN IN 0-0 DEADLOCK

Harvard Jayvees March Nine
Times to Shadows of P. C.
Goal but Are Stopped.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 16.—A powerful Harvard Junior Varsity football team drove nine times into the shadows of the Providence Freshman goal but on each occasion the Crimson was repulsed and the contest between the elevens ended in a scoreless tie today on Soldiers Field.

The one offensive drive by the visitors was in the last five minutes of the game, when they reached the Harvard six-yard line.

Otherwise, the home team, in its opener, had a distinct advantage throughout the game, almost always holding possession of the ball in Friar territory. But the visitors, with dogged determination, constantly recovered the ball on downs between its 25-yard stripe and the goal line.

"Traff" Hicks, son of the former Harvard football star, and Bob Burnett led the Harvard offensive.

Within the first 12 minutes of the contest the Crimson had twice crossed the visitors' 20-yard line and each time their advance was stopped. The brilliant defence was repeated in the second session.

Early in the third quarter, a 15-yard holding penalty was set against the Friars as they were on their own 20 and the ball was put back on the five. Pomfret hit the centre of the Harvard line for 15 yards, but a few minutes later he had to kick and the Crimson had the ball on its 40. Later Sweeney got away for one of the largest gains in the game. He ran 45 yards from his own 14, but on the Jayvee 36 his attempted lateral was recovered by a Crimson player.

Stopping opposition drives nine times within their own 20-yard line, the Providence College freshman football team fought the Harvard junior varsity eleven to a scoreless tie on Soldiers field, yesterday, in the Crimson's first game of the season.

Harvard, coached by Art Lane, former Princeton captain and tackle, carried the attack all the way, Providence never being able to launch a sustained march. However, when the Crimson got within the Providence 20-yard line, the freshman bucked up and stopped their offense.

The Providence College Freshman football team will make its first home appearance this afternoon when it faces the Boston College Freshman eleven at Hendricken Field at 2:30 o'clock. Both teams are well-fortified with former schoolboy stalwarts and the keen rivalry that exists between the colleges should result in a highly interesting and colorful encounter.

The Friar Freshmen have turned in creditable games against some of the strong elevens in their class. The games have been played with the Holy Cross Freshmen, 6-6, and the Harvard Jayvees, 0-0. The visiting Freshmen from Boston turned back the Dartmouth first-year eleven, 9-0, earlier in the season and played a scoreless tie with the Brown Freshmen two weeks ago.

Coach Dave Couhig will keep intact the team that has started most of the Freshman games. Capt. "Red" Gendron, former Attleboro high and Mt. St. Charles dependable, will be at quarterback; Nick Alexander of Amsterdam, N. Y., the Freshmen's southpaw passer, at right halfback; Paul Sweeney, outstanding performer from Pittsfield, Mass., at left halfback, and Larry Shattuck, former Fitchburg luminary, at fullback.

The line will comprise Leo and Barnini at ends; Haran and Morrell at tackles; Beaubian and Esielonis at guards, and Burdge at centre. Burdge is the brother of Charlie Burdge, former P. C. football and baseball star and later Friar Freshman coach, who is now in charge of football at Warren high. Beaubian is a former East Providence high player.

The Boston College Freshman backfield will have Vito Ananis, former Rindge Tech and Worcester Academy star, at left halfback Roger Battles, fleet-footed back, who learned his football at Boston English and Andover, will call signals for the visitors. Charlie McCarthy of Brighton, an outstanding punter, will play the right halfback assignment, and Peter Cignetti, all-scholastic performer from Malden high, will be at fullback.

Unbeaten Eaglets Score in All Periods But Second

A rugged, hard-hitting Boston College Freshman football team, displaying as strong a scoring punch in the air as on the ground, defeated the Providence College Freshman eleven, 20-0, yesterday afternoon at Hendriken Field. The visitors had a definite edge in power and scored in each period except the second.

Strong defensive play and several fumbles kept both teams scoreless in the second quarter, but the Eaglets' offensive drives could not be stemmed by the Friar Freshmen in the other periods. Two of the Eaglets' scoring plays covered 50 yards each, and the third was a short pass after the B. C. ground attack was stopped by the Friars at their two-yard line.

Led by Vito Ananis, former Worcester Academy star, and Pete Cignetti, ex-Malden High all-scholastic performer, the Eaglets marched 77 yards in four plays in the opening period to make their first touchdown. Ananis brought the ball to midfield to set the stage for the scoring play.

Cignetti smashed off tackle from this spot and went deep into the Friar secondary, where he cut back toward the sidelines. His teammate, Henry Woronicz, right end, was waiting there and Cignetti tossed him a lateral at about the 25-yard line. Woronicz stepped out with, high churning strides and crossed the goal line after eluding two Friar tacklers.

In the third period Ananis returned a P. C. punt to midfield and then tossed a 30-yard pass to Woronicz, who almost broke loose for a score but was pulled down from behind by Capt. "Red" Gendron on the Providence 12-yard line. A five-yard penalty against the Friars for offside put the ball on the eight-yard stripe, but here the Eaglets ran into a stubborn defence.

The Providence line gave only a yard or two at a time and the Eaglets made a first down by inches on the P. C. two-yard mark. Finding the P. C. Freshman line too formidable to pierce the visitors went into the air and Ananis passed to Harrison to finally break through the Providence defence. Lester Burdge, aggressive Friar Freshman centre, blocked Reardon's placement for the extra point.

Early in the fourth quarter George Ryan, Eaglet centre, intercepted a Providence pass on the Friar's 45-yard line to pave the way for the visitors' third score. An offside penalty set the Eaglets back to midfield but Ananis whipped a 25-yard pass to Woronicz on the following play and Woronicz taking the ball in the clear, ran unmolested across the Providence goal line. Ananis place-kicked the extra point.

The P. C. Freshmen failed to make a serious threat with their ground attack but almost scored with their air attack in the dying moments of the first quarter. Larry Shattuck's 40-yard runback on the B. C. kickoff following their first score and a 14-yard gain by Nick Alexander, Friar quarterback, placed the ball on the B. C. 25.

Here the Friar Freshmen attempted three passes and two of them fell from the receiver's hands. Either of these muffed passes might have been a touchdown, for the receivers were in the clear. A Friar drive that carried over into the opening minutes of the second period was stopped at the B. C. 14-yard line, where Cignetti intercepted a pass.

The Friar Freshmen did not threaten again until the fourth period, when three successful passes brought the ball to the B. C. 17-yard line, but this drive was spiked when Powers intercepted a P. C. pass. All the Providence aerial threats were stopped by an alert Eaglet secondary, when the visitors' goal line was menaced.

The victory was the second of the season for the Boston College Freshmen, who are undefeated. They played a scoreless tie with the Brown Freshmen and beat the Dartmouth Freshmen, 9-0, in their other games this season. It was the first loss for the Friar Freshmen in three games.

While the visiting team was strong as a whole, the work of Ananis, Cignetti, Woronicz, Harrison, who prepped at Moses Brown; Swenson, a former La Salle player, and McCarthy was most notable during the game. Capable work on the P. C. Freshmen eleven was turned in by McHugh, Smith, Beaubian, Sweeney, Shattuck, Capt. Gendron, Alexander and Barnini.

Vito Ananis, Boston College Freshman left halfback, shown on a sweep around his right end in the second period of yesterday's game with the Providence College Freshmen at Hendricken Field. Ananis travelled nine yards but fumbled as he was tackled with Charles Beaubian, Providence guard, recovering. The break did the home team little good for it lost the ball on a fumble a few moments later. Ananis is No. 18, Pete Cignetti, fullback, is leading the interference. The Eaglets won the game 20-0.

The Providence College Freshman football team will meet the Marianapolis Seminary eleven this afternoon at Hendricken Field at 2:30 o'clock. The Freshmen will be seeking their second victory of the season, but will meet stiff opposition from a heavy Marianapolis team that is considered the best outfit ever to represent the Thompson, Conn., school on the gridiron.

Coach Dave Couhig of the Providence Freshmen squad will start the same team that has worked together so far this season with few changes. In their last game the Friar yearlings turned in capable work against a heavier Boston College Freshman team. The starting backfield of Capt. Gendron, Sweeney, Alexander and Shattuck is one of the best units to wear Freshman uniforms for the Friars.

The Providence College Freshman football team showed too much power for the Marianapolis Seminary eleven yesterday at Hendricken Field, winning a 50-0 victory over the visitors from Thompson, Conn. There was a single touchdown in the first period and the Freshmen completely outclassed the visitors during the rest of the game.

Capt. "Red" Gendron scored the first touchdown in the first period, kicking over centre to climax a 65-yard march. Later in the first quarter the Friars started another drive that carried over to the first play in the second period when Shattuck scored from the two-yard line.

Dorr, guard, recovered a fumble of the kickoff on the Marianapolis 25-yard line less than a minute later and Gendron threw a 25-yard pass to Leo for another touchdown. Shattuck rushed the point. From this point on touchdowns came thick and fast to the end of the game.

FRIAR FRESHMEN ON WINNING END

Paced by the brilliant individual efforts of Charlie Pomfret and Robert "Red" Gendron, the Providence College Freshmen romped to a 39-0 victory over the Naval Training Station team at Freebody Park, Newport, yesterday afternoon. Pomfret, sent in as a substitute, tallied three of his team's touchdowns and was responsible for a fourth, while Gendron scored one and set the stage for another.

The Friarlets left little doubt as to their superiority as they took command shortly after the opening kickoff and raced through the weak, but willing Navy team. The first inkling of what was to follow came on the fourth play of the game when Gendron returned a Training Station punt 15 yards to his own 45-yard line. On their first play from scrimmage the Friarlets clicked beautifully and Gendron, running behind perfect interference, swept out around his own right end to sprint 55 yards for a score. Paul Sweeney place kicked the point after touchdown.

The P. C. Frosh, came right back to hang up their second score a moment later, when Don Morrel recovered a Navy fumble on the home team's 18-yard line. Gendron swept the end for 15 yards and Nick Alexander sliced through tackle for the score. Again Sweeney's kick was good for the extra point.

The entire first team was replaced at this point and the Middies held their own against the scrubs for a while, but late in the period, Pomfret made the first of four spectacular dashes, when he intercepted a pass on his own 36-yard line and dashed 64 yards for a touchdown. The try for the extra point failed.

Through the remainder of the second period and throughout the third period, the Naval Training Station team showed its best football of the afternoon, and with Capt. John "Tarzan" Penzik, carrying the brunt of the attack made considerable yardage through the P. C. line, but was unable at any time to get within scoring distance.

With the start of the final period, Pomfret took up the burden again as he ran through the Navy secondary with demoralizing effect.

Shortly after the start of the period, he took a punt on the Navy 44-yard line, sidestepped two tacklers, broke for the sidelines and outraced the secondary to cross the goal line.

Providence kicked off, and after one running play had lost six yards, the Newporters elected to pass. Straight down the field, the pass went, right into the waiting arms of Pomfret. The Friarlet flash streaked to the right with the players of both teams rapidly being left far in the rear. Until he reached the eight-yard line, Pomfret seemed unconcerned as to what was going on around him but at that point, he let up and then flipped a lateral to Alexander and the latter galloped unmolested over the final line for the touchdown. It was a nice gesture on the part of Pomfret as he could have easily made the remaining distance himself. A pass. Pomfret to John Barnini, was good for the point after touchdown.

After Alexander had intercepted a forward on the P. C. Freshman 47-yard line and returned it to the Newport team's 45-yard stripe, Pomfret added the finishing touches to the day's work when he took the ball from centre and slid through tackle for his team's sixth score.

FRIAR FRESHMEN SUBDUE

RAMLETS 38 TO 0

IN ROUGH GAME

Hendricken Field Contest Nearly Turns Into Brawl

Rugged Charging and "Neck-tie" Tackling Mark Game as Teams End Season.

The Providence College Freshman football team crushed the Rhode Island State Freshman eleven, 38 to 0, yesterday afternoon at Hendricken Field as both outfits closed their seasons. Displaying a varied offensive that State was rarely able to stop, the Friar first-year team outclassed a courageous band of Ramlets.

At times the game developed into a near-brawl, but the officials managed to avert an outbreak. The rugged charging and "necktie" tackling by both sides caused hard feelings that came close to flaring into warfare several times.

The Providence Freshmen staged a power drive in the first period and covered 51 yards with Capt. "Red" Gendron completing the march by scoring from the one-yard line. Shattuck passed to Gendron to add the point. The Ramlets struck back with a pass attack and running game, aided by two five-yard penalties, that reached the P. C. 12-yard line, where Esielonis recovered a fumble to halt the march.

In five plays that carried over into the second period the P. C. Freshmen worked a deceptive running game for a march of 88 yards with Shattuck covering 38 yards on the touchdown dash. Pomfret rushed the point. Following this score Duranleau punted Sweeney's kickoff right back to avert Providence from recovering the ball in the Ramlet end zone for another touchdown.

Duranleau's punt was downed on the Ramlets' 35, and from this spot the Friar Freshmen scored again in five plays. Gendron hurled a pass to Alexander for the last 19 yards and a touchdown. Hale and Duranleau alternated in driving to the Providence 20-yard line following this score but State lost the ball there or downs.

Pace intercepted a Friar pass on the P. C. 24 late in the second period but the half ended as Hale made a first down on the Providence 12. At half time the Friars held a 20-0 lead.

A 50-yard march in the third period, featured by a 30-yard runback on the opening kickoff by Gendron and Shattuck's hard smashes through the State line gave the Friars another score. Gendron intercepted Duranleau's pass on the Ramlet 40-yard line late in the third period and added another touchdown with a 32-yard romp on the third play.

The final Providence score was made in the fourth period with Grady and Carter featuring in a 46-yard march that was turned into a scoring drive when Carter whipped a 20-yard pass to Brochu, who crossed the State goal line unmolested. Late in the fourth quarter Don Morrell went into the Providence backfield and personally carried the ball 57 yards in six plays, reaching the State nine-yard line as the game ended.

Among the outstanding players in the Providence Freshman victory were Gendron, Shattuck, Alexander, Pomfret, Morrell, Grady and Galpert, but the whole squad turned in an able performance. On the State eleven, Duranleau, Hale, Pace and Whaley were the standouts.

FRIARS TO ATTEND FOOTBALL BANQUET

chedule Opens on Dec. 4.
10 Contests Are Listed at Home.

The curtain will be rung down on the Providence College football season tomorrow night when the members of the Varsity and Freshman squads, together with the coaching and managerial staffs, will gather in the Narragansett Hotel at a dinner given by the Providence College Athletic Association.

Much commendation can be heaped upon the Senior members of the Friar squad, for they have aided in producing two successful seasons out of their three years of competition. The Seniors are Carl Angelica, Ray Belliveau, Jim Borboras, Leo Bouzan, Leo Davin, Ed Gill, Gus Hagstrom, Tom Hammond and Bill Lawler.

With this fine nucleus for the 1936 team the Friars faced a bright future when they departed for their training camp at the Pier early in September. But a series of injuries that started at the camp continued throughout the season and resulted in a complete reversal of pre-season expectations.

The Friars opened their season at home for the first time in many years and easily turned back a lighter Colby College eleven 27 to 0. It was the second victory for the Friars in the two games that have been played by the teams.

Providence bowed to Holy Cross 21 to 6 although the Friars battled the Crusaders on even terms most of the game. The Friars made 11 first downs, the same number compiled by Holy Cross, and gained 175 yards with their running and aerial attack.

Following this game the Friars took on the rugged Western Maryland team and lost a 13 to 6 decision. One of the severest mishaps of the season came in this game when Carl Angelica, sterling halfback, suffered injuries which kept him out of competition for more than a month.

Cleo O'Donnell's St. Anselm eleven bowled over the Friars, 7-2, the following week and the "injury jinx" struck another hard blow at the Friars, putting Ray Belliveau, first-string quarterback, out of action for the rest of the season. With a make-shift backfield the Friars bowed to Boston College, Springfield, Niagara and Rhode Island State in ensuing games.

The Providence College Freshman team enjoyed a successful season, winning three and tying two of their seven games. Sweeping victories were scored over the Rhode Island State Freshmen, Marianapolis and the Newport Naval Station. The Holy Cross Freshmen and the Harvard Junior Varsity were held to ties while the Boston College Freshmen and St. John's prep of Danvers, Mass., scored victories over the Friars.

Will Lead Friar Eleven Next Fall

Ben Polak of Warren, who was elected captain of the 1937 Providence College football team last night. Polak, who is 18 years old, is one of the youngest, if not the youngest, college football captain in the country.

POLAK OF WARREN IS ELECTED P. C. FOOTBALL LEADER

18-Year-Old Youth Believed Youngest College Captain in Nation.

Ben Polak, 18-year-old Warren Junior, was elected captain of the 1937 Providence College football team at a meeting of the lettermen held yesterday at the college. The announcement of Polak's election to the Friar football captaincy was made last night at a football dinner given in honor of the 'Varsity and Freshman squads at the Narragansett Hotel.

Polak has not yet reached his 19th birthday and is probably the youngest captain-elect in the country. He will be 19 in January and will be one of the youngest captains in the nation when he assumes leadership of the Friar eleven next September.

The new Friar captain has been an unsung standout in the Providence College line for two years, and last night when the 'Varsity letters and Freshman numerals were awarded, stepped up and received his second 'Varsity football letter. He started football at Warren high where he played during his Senior year.

Entering Providence College in September, 1934, Polak joined the Freshman football squad with plans to become either an end or a half-back and saw action in both positions. But the next year, when he moved up to the 'Varsity, line material was needed and Polak was converted to a guard—a post he has filled capably ever since.

'Varsity letters were awarded to 21 Friars and numerals were presented to 31 Freshmen by Rev. Edward H. Schmidt, director of athletics. Graduate Manager John E. Farrell, toastmaster for the occasion, introduced Harry Sandager of Cranston, Coach Joe McGee and Father Schmidt, each of whom spoke briefly to the players and guests.

Tom Hammond, Fall River, Mass.; Bob Johnston, Providence; William Lawler, Springfield, Mass.; John Lyons, Haverhill, Mass.; William Moge, Springfield, Mass.; Anthony Pariseau, Attleboro, Mass.; Leo Ploski, Albany, N. Y.; Ben Polak, Warren; Paul Ryan, Haverhill, Mass.; and Ray O'Mara, Staten Island, N. Y., manager.

Freshman numerals were awarded to: Nick Alexander, Amsterdam, N. Y.; John Barnini, Pittsfield, Mass.; Charles Beaubien, East Providence; Donat Brochu, Warren; Lester Burdge, Warren; Joseph Byron, Providence; William Carter, New Bedford, Mass.; Raymond Conboy, Providence; James Corrigan, Providence.

Frank Dalessio, Barrington; Philip Dorr, Providence; Stanley Esielonis, Shirley, Mass.; Peter Foley, Edward Foley and Nino Fabbri, all of Providence; Herbert Galpert, Revere, Mass.; Capt. Robert Gendron, Attleboro, Mass.; Thomas Grady, North Providence; Thomas Griffin, New Britain, Conn.

FRIAR ELEVEN TO

SCHEDULE IN 1937

Xavier Returns to Slate
After Absence of 10 Years

Night Game Listed Here with
to Be Played at Home.

Providence College will play four games at home during the 1937 football season according to the eight-game schedule announced by Graduate Manager John E. Farrell at the Friars' football dinner last night at the Narragansett Hotel. The highlight of the slate will be a night game with Xavier University of Cincinnati that will in all probability be staged at the Cranston Stadium.

The Xavier eleven, which returns to the P. C. schedule after a 10-year interval, will be the first of four Friar opponents who will be met at home with Springfield College, Niagara University and Rhode Island State completing the quartet. Holy Cross holds the opening date on the list in a game which is carded for Worcester on Oct. 2. Efforts will be made to schedule an opponent for the preceding Saturday which has been left open.

The Friars will meet the Crusaders, St. Anselm College, City College of New York, which is back on the schedule after a season's absence, and Western Maryland, in their away from home clashes. Western Maryland has been moved to a late November date from the spot that will be held by Xavier next year. The game with the Terrors is listed for Thanksgiving Day at Baltimore.

Boston College and Colby are not on the 1937 list. A conflict in schedules prevented the Friars and Eagles from being signed for a game next year but efforts will be made to resume relations in 1938.

The night game with Xavier will open the Friars' home season if a game is not arranged for Sept. 25, the Saturday before the Holy Cross clash. Xavier University is a capable Midwest eleven that uses the Notre Dame system of play as taught by Clem Crowe, Notre Dame graduate.

The university has a student body of 1500 and will be major opposition for the Friar eleven. Last year Xavier shut out Centenary, Centre and St. Louis University and lost by a single touchdown to Mississippi State, which went to the Orange Bowl that season. Clem Crowe took charge of the Musketeers, as the Xavier sport teams are known, for the last six games of the 1935 slate and the only loss under his regime was to Mississippi State.

* * *

During the present campaign, which will not come to a close for Xavier until it meets South Carolina on Thanksgiving Day, the Musketeers have defeated Transylvania, Adrian, West Kentucky State, Ohio Wesleyan and Wittenberg and have dropped games to Kentucky, Davis-Elkins, Centre and Detroit.

Providence met Xavier in 1927 at Cincinnati when Joe Myer, another Notre Dame graduate, was in charge of the Musketeers. The Xavier eleven defeated the Friars 27 to 6 that year. According to present plans the Friars will go to Cincinnati in 1938 for a return game with the Xavier team.

Rhode Island State will be met in a night game which is listed for the Cranston Stadium. Other New England opponents include Springfield and St. Anselm, two of the leading small college elevens in this section of the nation. Benny Friedman's City College team will renew relations with the Friars in what developed into a keen rivalry during the '34 and '35 campaigns.

The 1937 schedule follows:

Sept. 25—Open.
Oct. 2—Holy Cross at Worcester; 8—Xavier University of Cincinnati (Friday night); 16—St. Anselm at Manchester, N. H.; 23—Springfield College; 30—C. C. N. Y. at New York City.
Nov. 6—Niagara University; 12—Rhode Island State (Friday night); 20—Open; 25—Western Maryland at Baltimore, Md.

'HANK' SOAR TO PLAY FOOTBALL WITH N. Y. GIANTS

Former Schoolboy and Friar Star Signs for Figure

Said to Be $3000.

"Hank" Soar, who was called the leading schoolboy football player developed in Rhode Island in a decade when he played at Pawtucket high, has signed a contract with the New York Giants of the National Professional Football League, it was learned last night.

Terms of the contract call for 15 games at a salary of $200 per game, it was reported. Soar was in New York a week ago to confer with the officials of the Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers, pro football eleven, and returned to Pawtucket with a blank Giant contract.

Thorough consideration of the Giants' terms decided Soar in favor of joining the New Yorkers and he forwarded the signed contract to the New York office of the team. In addition to offers by the two teams mentioned, the Cleveland eleven of the American Pro League was interested in Soar.

Sought by pro teams even while playing for Providence College, the big Pawtucket husky completed two seasons with the Friars, but dropped out of college in the latter part of his junior year. He was the outstanding member of the P. C. eleven and the star in several important victories.

After leaving college Soar last year joined the Boston Shamrocks of the then newly-formed American Pro Football League, and again made the sport headlines for his stellar play. He received several offers from professional baseball clubs, but turned them down.

At Pawtucket high, Soar competed in three sports, winning letters and all-State awards in baseball, football and basketball. He competed in Freshman football, basketball and baseball at Providence College, but confined his sport activities to football and baseball during his two varsity years.

Hank Soar's Untutored Toe Is Marvel of Pro Football

HANK SOAR
Shamrocks' triple threat

By PAUL V. CRAIGUE

Every so often, the greatest of phrasemakers is silenced by a person whose talents defy description or a situation which is greater than words. You'll pardon this humble key clouter, therefore, if he simply says that Hank Soar is a "natural."

His placekicking success with the Shamrocks is a token of this 22-year-old lad's inborn ability. Although he never even tried for a point after touchdown at Providence College, Hank has already nudged over three field goals and four point conversions in American League competition. He set a league record, with a 42-yard hoist in the Brooklyn game and he toed home a 29-yard boot against Cleveland last week.

Hank's kicking prowess was uncovered in pre-season practice at Norwood, when George Keanneally happened to see him "fooling around" with Don Blanchard and hitting the bullseye from all angles. A few pointers from the wily "Giggy" and a little experience in actual competition have made Soar one of the greatest place-kickers in football.

Friar Got Him Tryout

The Pawtucket whirlwind might still be playing for Providence College if a Dominican Friar, one of Coach Kenneally's South Boston neighbors, hadn't been extremely persistent in his efforts to land the boy a tryout. Playing with a small college team and forced to get by with little assistance, Hank hadn't been given the opportunity to show his real worth. But that priest knew a football player when he saw one, as this Fall's developments have proved.

Kenneally was conferring with Nick Morris at the time and he asked the Holy Cross ace what he thought of Hank.

"Well, he's a tough egg and we always put two or three men on him," said Nick. "He never accomplished much against us, but that wasn't his fault."

Boston College players told the same story, so Kenneally decided he'd take a look for himself.

You've seen the result. Hank's passing has been even more sensational than his place-kicking. His ball-toting has left nothing to be desired and he has handled occasional punting assignments in equally satisfactory fashion. Not even Harry Newman or Ken Strong has been able to keep up with Boston's inspired leader in the race for individual honors in the new league.

Pro Game Soft to Him

"This game is easy," says Hank. "I won't say they don't play harder in this league than they do in college, but the superior blocking makes it much easier for a back. A fellow has to do most of the work himself in college, but these pro players clean out like the P. W. D."

Boston fans will have only three more opportunities to see Hank and his place-setting pals this Fall. They'll entertain Syracuse Sunday, in an attempt to grab their sixth straight victory. Cleveland will be here Nov 11 and the New York Yankees will return at some later date, still unsettled. Tomorrow's game will wind up the first half-season, since the schedule calls for home-and-home series with all five other teams, and third games with New York and Syracuse.

Both Shamrocks and Redskins are at top strength, as they prepare for this week-end's competition. Tony Morandos' shoulder is as good as new and he'll be in there at center for the "Rocks. His teammates are fit and fresh, after a week of comparative ease.

It's hardly likely that Cliff Battles will see much action in the exhibition affair with the Providence Steamrollers, but the Redskins' ace ball toter has fully recovered from his ankle injury. Jim Musick's knee is apparently as strong as ever and Flavio Tosi's shoulder will be in perfect shape before the next league game with the Chicago Cardinals, a week from Sunday.

All-Opponent Football Eleven Selected By Friar Gridsters

W. Maryland, B. C. Place Three Men; Holy Cross Two

It is customary at this time of the year for THE COWL to publish an All-Opponent eleven. This team is based on the consensus of opinion of the Providence College Varsity.

It must be remembered that these selections were made on the basis of what these particular men did while playing against the Friars, and not on how they played for the entire season.

Western Maryland and Boston College shared the honors by each placing three men on the team. Holy Cross won two positions while State, Niagara, and Springfield each gained one berth. Benjamin, Western Maryland; Dominick, Boston College; Tosi, Niagara, and Campbell, Western Maryland, were almost unanimous choices. The remaining positions were closely contested with a narrow margin determining the winner.

The All-Opponent team is as follows:

Player	College	Pos.
Benjamin	W. Maryland	End
Dominick	Boston College	Tackle
Kissell	Boston College	Guard
Tosi	Niagara	Centre
Luciano	Holy Cross	Guard
Forthman	W. Maryland	Tackle
O'Donnell	Holy Cross	End
Mudge	R. I. State	Quarterback
Gintoff	Boston College	Halfback
Huston	Springfield	Halfback
Campbell	W. Maryland	Fullback

Honorable mention: Ends—D'Iorio, State; Sullivan, St. Anselm; Cahill, B. C.; Tackles—Horner, W. Maryland; Depetrillo, State; DiGiovanna, Niagara; Janusas, B. C.; Moncewicz, H. C.; Guards—McCarthy, State; Ortenzi, W.

Maryland; Keaney and Gilman, B. C.; Carr, H. C.; Beninigo, Niagara; Centres—Worth, B. C.; Mautner, H. C.; Backs—Sandowski, W. Maryland; Kidd, Brucato, Bartolomeo, and Osmanski, H. C.; Spirida and Butcka, St. Anselm; Davies, Niagara; and Di Natale, B. C.

Frosh Select All-Star Team

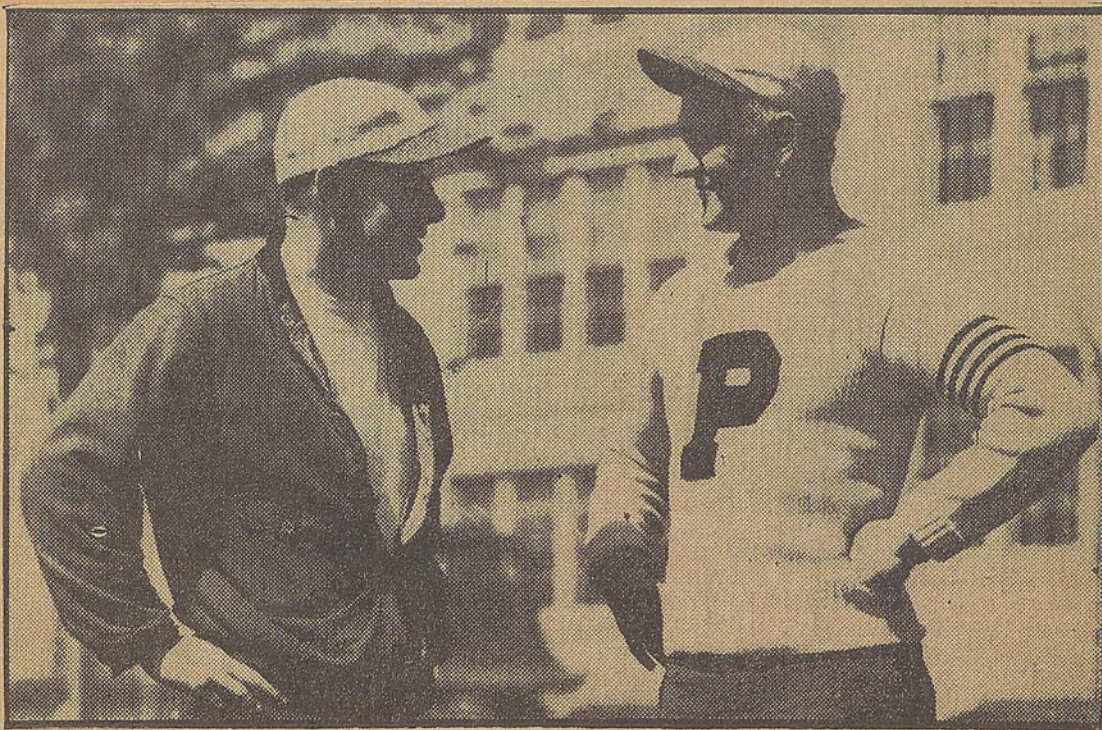

In response to the request of the Sports Department that members of the Freshmen football squad select an All-Opponent team. THE COWL publishes for the first time an eleven composed of men whose collegiate football career is yet to be fully realized.

Holy Cross led the list with four men while Boston College was runner-up with three. The Harvard Jayvees gained two positions, and Naval Training and St. John's rounded out the eleven. The Providence yearlings voted Ananis and Woronicz of Boston College as the two outstanding players whom they faced during the entire season.

Pos.	Player	College
End	Woronicz	Boston College
Tackle	Sarno	Holy Cross
Guard	Bannon	St. John's Prep
Centre	Ball	Holy Cross
Guard	Tufts	Harvard Jayvees
Tackle	Brooks	Newport Naval
End	Jameson	Harvard Jayvees
Quarterback	Cahill	Holy Cross
Halfback	Ananis	Boston College
Halfback	Giardi	Holy Cross
Fullback	Cignetti	Boston College

Honorable mention: Ends—Cimimo, H. C.; Harrison, B. C.; Trout, St. John's; Knapp, Harvard. Tackles—Tamulis, Marianapolis; Rosenthal, St. John's; Schmidt and Barkin, Harvard. Guards—Bogden, H. C.; Swenson, B. C.; Baum, Harvard. Centres—Pace, State; Dornington, St. John's. Backs—Duranleau, Lovett, and Hale, State; Griskevicius, Marianapolis; Penzik, Newport; McCarthy, B. C.; Hicks and Burnett, Harvard; Kelley, Michaud, and Toscykowski.

La Salle's Strategy Board

Students and Friends Mourn Death of Frank Moriarty

MASS OF REQUIEM SUNG AT COLLEGE

The Thanksgiving holiday was saddened for Providence College students by the news of the death of Francis Moriarty, 23, popular and talented Sophomore from Brooklyn, New York. Moriarty died Friday, November 27, at 12:20 p.m. in St. Joseph's Hospital, victim of myelogenous leukemia, a rare blood disease which causes an overabundance of white corpuscles.

Moriarty first complained, about three weeks ago, of a sore throat. Dr. John H. Brothers, college physician ordered him to the hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital, Dr. Michael O'Connor, and Dr. James Fagan, inclined to the belief that it had been present previously, and was brought to a crisis by the acute throat infection.

Students Give Transfusions

After he had been at the hospital more than a week, physicians resorted to blood transfusions. When the need for blood became known at the College, students flocked to officials to volunteer their services. On Saturday, November 21, Nicholas DeFeo, New Haven, Conn. Junior, gave a pint of blood in an indirect transfusion. The next Monday, Leo Bouzan, of Newton Centre, Mass., a tackle on the football team, was called upon to donate another pint, on Wednesday of the same week, a third transfusion was given, this by a Junior, who preferred to be unnamed.

Hope of saving Moriarty's life was slight as early as the first transfusion. He was given the last rites of the Church, Monday, November 23, by Rev. J. B. Reese, O.P., College Chaplain. His condition became slowly weaker throughout the week. As weak as he was, however, he managed to murmur his thanks to the students, unknown to him, who had donated their blood. At 10 o'clock Thursday night, he lost consciousness. Friday he was so bad that a fourth transfusion was impossible, although an-where he was found to be suffering from a blood disease. Whether or not, the leukemia was caused by the throat condition could not be determined, but attending physicians, who included, besides Dr. Brothers, Dr. William T. Streker, chief-of-staff at other fellow student, Silvio A. Batastini, was ready if needed. Death came quietly at 12:20 p. m. Friday, just one week ago.

Family at Bedside

Present at his bedside were his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moriarty, who had scarcely left his side since his admittance to the hospital, the Rev. Wm. R. Clark, O.P., his sister, Elizabeth; his brother, Joseph; an aunt, Mrs. Nellie Donovan of the Bronx; an uncle, Mr. Michael Ford, of Brooklyn; Miss Elizabeth Whalen, R. N.; and Silvio A. Batastini.

A low mass of requiem was celebrated last Saturday morning at 8 a.m. in the college chapel for the repose of the soul of the deceased. Before the mass, the casket was opened for those who wished to pay their final respects to the body. The Mass was attended by members of Moriarty family, students and friends. The Mass was read by the Rev. Nicholas H. Serron, O.P. Moriarty was a member of the Third Order of St. Dominic, and thus was laid to rest in the white habit of the third order.

This Monday, in Harkin's Hall, at nine o'clock, Providence College students attended a solemn high mass of requiem, for the repose of the soul of their departed fellow student. The Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Paul D. Redmond, O.P., with the Revs. William R. Clark, O.P., and Urban E. Nagle, O.P., acting as deacon and sub-deacon respectively.

Chaplain Sings Funeral Mass

On the same day, at ten o'clock, funeral services attended by the youth's relatives were held in St. Mary, Queen of Heaven Church, in Brooklyn. At the mass, the Rev. John B. Reese, O.P., chaplain of Providence College, was celebrant and was assisted by the Rev. Joseph A. Manning, O.P., deacon, and the Rev. Robert D. Reilly, O.P., sub-deacon. The Rev. Fathers Reilly and Master-son were acolytes. Father Moriarty, pastor of St. Patrick's Church of Fall River, a cousin of the deceased, blessed the casket at the grave and recited the final prayers. Also present were Father Crawford, pastor of Moriarty's parish church, two Jesuit fathers from Brooklyn Prep School, who were Moriarty's former teachers, and four members of the Brooklyn clergy. The following residents of Metropolitan New York acted as student delegates: Edward M. Burke, Walter F. Doolan, Paul A. Kearney, John V. Lynch, George F. McGuire, and Raymond J. O'Mara.

Moriarty's death was regarded as a personal loss by virtually the entire student body. His good nature, wit, and readiness to serve, endeared him to all those who came in direct contact with him, while his sterling performances in such events as the Soph-Frosh Mixer and "The Student Quints," musical comedy given last year at the college, made him a figure familiar to and popular with all.

Moriarty came to Providence College with the intention of joining the Dominican Order, and stories of the entertainments he staged last year at Guzman Hall have already become part of the Hall's tradition. He changed his plans, however, and this year enrolled simply as a student.
