THE SIXTY-SIXTH COMMENCEMENT

Providence Civic Center

MAY THE TWENTY-EIGHTH
NINETEEN HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-FOUR

THE NATIONAL ANTHEM

O say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming!
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there:
O say, does that star spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

ALMA MATER

From "Finlandia" by Jan Sibelius

Mother of Truth, we proudly pledge to thee
Undying love and steadfast loyalty.
From thee we learned the wondrous work of God,
His goodness, grace, and holy power;
Clear has thou shown what pathways must be trod;
All fearless now we brave life's hour!

Though failure frown, though kindly fortune smile,
Firm our advance, naught can us e'er beguile.
To honor bound, to love and virtue sworn,
Lift we our voice in full acclaim
Our lives shall thee with noble deeds adorn;
Hail Providence! we praise thy name!

MOST REVEREND ERNEST BERTRAND BOLAND, O.P.

A 1950 alumnus of Providence College, Bishop Boland has devoted nearly three decades of his life toward establishing a solid educational system for the predominantly Muslim population of Pakistan. The Providence native studied for the priesthood in Somerset, Ohio and Washington, D.C., and was ordained to the Dominican Order in 1955. Upon completing a one-year teaching position at Aquinas High School in Columbus, OH, he was among the first group of Dominican missionaries to staff the Order's newly-assigned territory of Bahawalpur, West Pakistan. As a missionary during the developing years of this impoverished desert territory, the future bishop initiated an intensive program of constructing and staffing facilities to educate Pakistani youth. In 1962, he was appointed director of the school system for the Diocese of Multan, and as such, he created and administered a scholarship program for the needy. As a result of his guidance and determination, the Diocese now includes 11 parishes and 36 schools, which provide an education to more than 5,000 students each year. Named the third Bishop of Multan in 1966, Bishop Boland is responsible for administering to the spiritual needs of nine million people in the Diocese, of which 36,000 are Roman Catholic.

RAYMOND LEO FLYNN

A native of South Boston, Ray Flynn served four terms as a Massachusetts state legislator and six years as a city councillor, before being elected Mayor of Boston this past November. He graduated from South Boston High School, where his athletic abilities won him a full basketball scholarship to Providence College. One of PC's all-time great shooting guards (1,025 points), Flynn led his team to the 1963 NIT Championship during his senior year. For his outstanding play, he was named both an All-American and the NIT's Most Valuable Player. A dean's list student, Flynn was also voted an Academic All-American. Following his graduation, Flynn worked as a teacher and a probation officer, before winning a seat in the Massachusetts House of Representatives in 1971. After his successful career as a legislator, Flynn was elected to the Boston City Council in 1978 and chaired the Committees on Housing and Neighborhood Development, Government Finance, Neighborhood Services, and the Special Committee on School Matters. Mayor Flynn, who earned his master's degree in education from Harvard in 1981, currently serves as vice-chairman of both the Democratic National Platform Committee and the Community and Economic Development Committee of the National Conference of Mayors.

WILLIAM J. GODBOUT

As founder and chief executive officer of Godbout Electronics and CompuPro Corp., William Godbout has been a guiding force in the development of the microcomputer industry. He attended Providence College and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where as an undergraduate, he was recruited by IBM. A former military intelligence specialist in the United States Army, Godbout served in both the US and abroad on various assignments, including the staff of the Technical Committee and the faculty of the US Intelligence School. He was also assigned to research and development for numerous projects in electronics. He founded his own company, Godbout Electronics, in 1971, and two years later, formed CompuPro Corporation, a division of Godbout Electronics that manufactures microcomputers systems. In 1983 CompuPro was spun-off as an autonomous corporate entity. He has also participated in the development of various high-tech firms, including Morrow Designs, G & G Engineering and Gifford Computers. In addition to writing numerous articles for technical publications, Godbout lectures in computer science at the University of California at Berkeley, California State University at Hayward and the University of Hawaii.

THOMAS J. MINICUCCI

As a junior high school teacher in the South Bronx, Tom Minicucci has won the hearts of thousands of underprivileged black and Hispanic teenagers, through his informal style of teaching that reaches well beyond the confines of his classroom. By visiting his students' homes and conducting field trips, at his own expense, to the countryside, museums and athletic events, Minicucci is highly visible and accessible to his students as he strives to instill a sense of dignity among the streetwise youth of the area. After graduating from PC in 1965, he worked as an activities assistant at the Allen Stevenson School while simultaneously earning his master's degree in curriculum planning at Teachers College, Columbia University. He was employed as a substitute teacher in the New York Public School System, before securing a full-time position at the Alexander Burger Intermediate School in 1967. Since then, he has served as an advisor to problem children in addition to teaching subjects ranging from mathematics to social studies to music. Born in Waterbury, CT, Minicucci is active in numerous community organizations for youth, including the South Bronx Community Theatre, the Parent Advisory Committee of Salesian High School, and a specially designed high school placement program known as "A Better Chance."

COMMODORE GRACE MURRAY HOPPER

A pioneer in the field of computer programming and the US Naval Department's oldest officer on active duty, Commodore Hopper is world reknown as the creator of COBOL (Common Business-Oriented Language), the most widely used programming language for computers. After graduating from Vassar in 1928, she earned her master's and doctorate degrees at Yale University. She returned to Vassar in 1931 and rose to the position of associate professor of mathematics. Her military career began in 1943 when she enlisted in the U.S. Naval Reserve. Upon commissioning as a lieutenant, she was assigned to the Bureau of Ordnance's computer project at Harvard, where her work on the Mark I-III large-scale digital computers won her the Naval Ordnance Development Award in 1946. Commodore Hopper held a number of top posts with Sperry Rand Corporation (formerly Remington Rand) from 1949-1971, and during this time she developed the world's first compiler, the A-O system. Hopper retired from the Naval Reserve in 1966 with the rank of commander. In less than a year, she was recalled to active duty, and in 1973 was promoted to the rank of captain on the retired list of the Naval Reserve. This past November, Hopper, 77, was promoted to the rank of commodore. She currently serves with the Naval Automation Command in Washington, D.C.
