Message

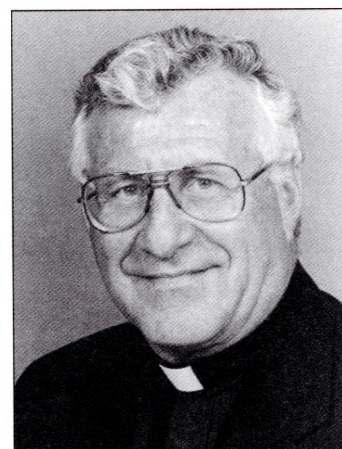

FROM THE PRESIDENT

I take this occasion to extend my congratulations to each member of the 2000 graduating class. Your days at Providence College have “dwindled down,” not to an end but to fulfillment. Thank you for choosing Providence as your Alma Mater, for sharing with us four of the most precious years of your life, and for making our ideals of truth and goodness, scholarship and service your own. You have added enormous joy and richness to our campus.

Congratulations also to the parents of our graduates. Most of you have sent your sons and daughters to Providence College at great personal cost. We recognize and appreciate the sacrifices you have made. We are grateful beyond words that you had confidence enough in us to entrust your most precious possessions, your sons and daughters, to our care for four years. We have treated your confidence as a sacred trust.

I also convey my congratulations to the graduates of our School of Continuing Education and our Graduate School. With the poet, Robert Frost, your journey to graduation has taken you on a road “less traveled.” Frequently, you have had to balance time for study with the demands of work and obligations to family. We acknowledge and applaud your achievements and are delighted to welcome you fully into the Providence College Family.

As you begin a new phase of your life in a new century and a new millennium, my prayer and hope for each of you is that you may always enjoy God’s love and compassion and that you will find personal happiness and fulfillment in what you do. I also challenge you to devote some of your time and talents to improving the lot of the less fortunate and to making the people around you better and your corner of the world a brighter place. Avoid the trap of thinking that there is nothing one person can accomplish in the face of massive social problems and widespread human suffering. Take to heart the words of Ralph Waldo Emerson: “Sometimes when I consider what tremendous consequences come from little things—a chance word, a tap on the shoulder, or a penny dropped on a newsstand—I am tempted to think . . . there are no little things.”

*College President
Rev. Philip A. Smith, O.P.*

RECESSIONAL

Intermezzo and
March from First Suite in E Flat
Gustav Holst

O say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming!
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there:
O say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

The National Anthem

Mother of Truth, we proudly pledge to thee
Undying love and steadfast loyalty.
From thee we learned the wondrous work of God,
His goodness, grace, and holy power;
Clear hast thou shown what pathways must be trod;
All fearless now we brave life's hour!

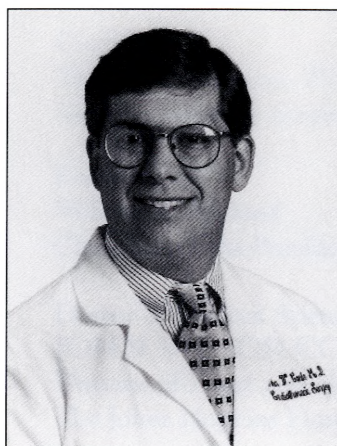

Alma Mater From "Finlandia"
by Jean Sibelius

Though failure frown, though kindly fortune smile,
Firm our advance, naught can us e'er beguile.
To honor bound, to love and virtue sworn,
Lift we our voice in full acclaim.
Our lives shall thee with noble deeds adorn;
Hail Providence! We praise thy name!

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS

JOHN VICTOR CONTE, JR.,
M.D.

*Director of Heart and Heart/Lung Transplantation
The Johns Hopkins Hospital*

John V. Conte, Jr., M.D., is the director of heart and heart/lung transplantation and co-director of lung transplantation at Johns Hopkins Hospital, where he is also assistant professor of surgery.

A nationally recognized authority on heart and lung transplantation, Dr. Conte is an active researcher in organ preservation, immunosuppression, and gene therapy in organ transplantation. He is the author of extensive articles and abstracts and has received grants worth nearly $1.4 million.

Since 1998, Dr. Conte has served as clinical instructor to medical students, general surgery residents, and cardiothoracic surgery residents at Johns Hopkins Hospital, where he is also coordinator of the cardiothoracic residents' didactic lecture series. He has given numerous talks, lectures, and presentations throughout the United States, Canada, Europe, and Japan.

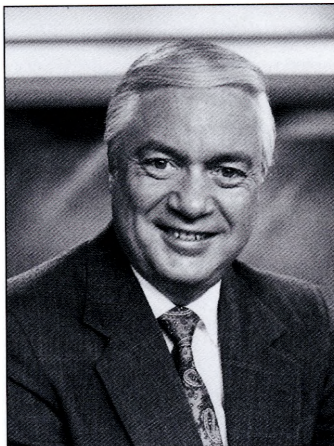

Prior to his appointment at Johns Hopkins, Dr. Conte was director of the Heart and Heart/Lung Transplantation Program at the University of Maryland Medical Center from 1995-98, in addition to serving as staff surgeon, assistant professor of surgery, and director of the mechanical assist device program.

A 1981 cum laude graduate of Providence College, Dr. Conte received a master of science degree in physiology and his doctor of medicine degree from Georgetown University. He completed his surgical residency at Georgetown University Hospital where he was named chief resident. He also completed a two-year residency in cardiothoracic surgery at Stanford University and spent an additional year as chief resident in cardiothoracic surgery and transplantation at Stanford.

He has been honored by the Georgetown University Medical Center with research awards and with the Hugh Hussey Award for Medical School Teaching at the Georgetown University School of Medicine.

Since 1982, Dr. Conte has been in the U.S. Naval Reserves and presently holds the rank of Commander, U.S. Navy Primus Program. He and his wife, Dianne, reside in Ellicott City, Maryland with their children, Patrick and Abigail.

When a young Walter Cryan took his place behind the WPRI-TV anchor desk in Providence in 1965, Lyndon B. Johnson was in the White House and America was being torn apart by violence at home and abroad. The civil rights movement was in full swing and American involvement was escalating in the Vietnam conflict.

WALTER F. CRYAN

CBS/12 News Anchor, Retired

At the time of his retirement earlier this year, Cryan's career at the same station had spanned 35 years, surviving seven station owners, 11 news directors, and seven U.S. presidencies. In 1996, The Academy of Television Arts and Sciences inducted Cryan into the Silver Circle, an honor reserved for those who have been in broadcasting for 25 years or more in New England.

To sustain a career at the same news station for 35 years is a remarkable achievement, but Cryan further distinguished himself by setting a standard for excellence in local news throughout New England. As his career wound down, Cryan shared his unique perspective with viewers in a special series of reports called "Cryan's Chronicles." Each week, he revisited memorable news events with an historic perspective on how they shaped our community.

In addition to covering local news, Cryan has made countless contributions to the Rhode Island community. He co-hosted the country's oldest Fourth of July Parade, held in Bristol, for eight years and hosted the Meeting Street Center Telethon for 22 years. Cryan also sits on the board of trustees for Meeting Street Center, which serves special needs students. In 1994, the school presented him with its Unsung Hero Award.

While building his legacy in local news reporting, Cryan and his wife, Ruth, raised a large and loving family of nine children in Attleboro Falls, Massachusetts.

Cryan is a native of Cambridge and Lawrence, Massachusetts. He received his bachelor of science degree in communications from Boston University in 1956. He also covered news and sports in the Armed Forces Network in Europe and was a track announcer at the Foxboro Raceway from 1963-1985. This year, Cryan's alma mater honored him with the Distinguished Alumni Award.

SISTER MARYADELE
ROBINSON, D.C.

Executive Director, Catholic Charities' Labouré Center

Sister Maryadele Robinson is executive director of Catholic Charities' Labouré Center, a community-based family service center in urban Boston. She also serves as director of the Community Health Division of Catholic Charities in the Archdiocese of Boston.

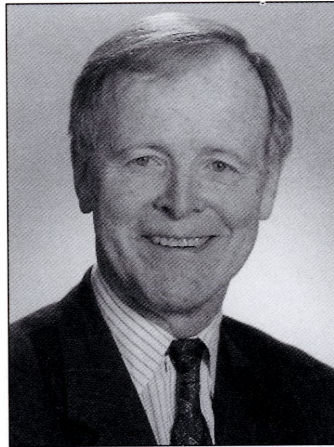

Admired and respected by the leaders in her community and the clients she serves, Sister Maryadele has dedicated her life to helping needy children, families, and elders. Since 1908, the Labouré Center has been a vital resource for the residents of South Boston, offering generations of families day care for children, a well-baby clinic, visiting nurse services, and elder services. Under Sister Maryadele's leadership, the agency has branched out to serve greater and more diverse members of the community. She is now spearheading the development and financing of a new $8 million home for the agency.

Last year, the University of Massachusetts, Boston, honored Sister Maryadele as the recipient of the Robert H. Quinn Award for Outstanding Community Leadership. In addition, Cardinal Bernard Law, archbishop of Boston, presented her with the Catholic Charities Medal in appreciation for the ways in which she has served the church and youth of South Boston. Sister Maryadele is also the recipient of the Shamrock Award for Community Service from the South Boston Citizens Association.

Prior to her work in Boston, Sister Maryadele spent eight years at the Catholic Social Agency in Allentown, Pennsylvania, where she became supervisor and was responsible for developing and supervising multi-service programs, including foster care and a day treatment program for adolescents. Her early career was devoted to youth, as a clinical caseworker/coordinator for the Astor Group Home Program in the Bronx for severely emotionally disturbed children, as a caseworker for the DePaul Center in Vineland, New Jersey, and as a junior high teacher at St. Ambrose School in Endicott, New York.

Born in Syracuse, New York, Sister Maryadele received her bachelor's degree in education from St. Joseph's College in Emmitsburg, Maryland, and her master of social work degree from the State University of New York in Albany.

Edward L. Scanlon has been executive vice president of NBC since 1987. During his tenure, NBC has transformed itself from a domestic television network into a global multimedia communications company, launching two cable networks—CNBC and America's Talking—and building significant programming services around the world.

EDWARD L. SCANLON
Executive Vice President, NBC

As executive vice president, Scanlon manages all employee and labor relations and global talent contract negotiations. He also is involved in the infusion of new management into the company's broadcast and cable creative areas.

For his professionalism, Scanlon was honored in 1992 by the Metropolitan New York Senior Human Resources Managers with The Outstanding Human Resources Professional Award.

Scanlon is also a GE officer and serves on many NBC boards and the GE Pension Committee. He joined NBC from RCA, where he was senior vice president of employee relations. From 1985-87, Scanlon played a key role in the merger between RCA and GE by helping to integrate the common businesses, developing some stand-alone businesses, and overseeing the sale of certain RCA units.

Scanlon began his career with RCA in 1957, where he initially was responsible for opening new manufacturing facilities. He then moved on to several positions in employee relations, manufacturing, and business development for RCA's domestic and international markets. He was named vice president of industrial relations for RCA Records in 1972. In 1977, when the Hertz Corporation was part of RCA, Scanlon was appointed executive vice president for Hertz and a member of its board of directors. He then served as vice president for RCA Operations before being appointed senior vice president.

Born in Woonsocket, Rhode Island, Scanlon received a bachelor's degree from Providence College in business management in 1955 and later earned an MBA from the Rutgers University Graduate School of Business. He is a member of the board of trustees at Providence College and serves on the board of directors for the Ronald McDonald House in New York City. Scanlon and his wife, Andree, reside in Chatham, New Jersey. He is the father of two children, Kristin Scanlon Collins and Paul Scanlon.

CHRISTINA HOFF SOMMERS,
PH.D.

*Resident Scholar,
American Enterprise Institute*

Christina Hoff Sommers, Ph.D., the W. H. Brady Fellow at the American Enterprise Institute in Washington, D.C., is a leading scholar in ethics, moral education, and feminism and culture.

Prior to her appointment in 1997 to the American Enterprise Institute, one of America's largest and most respected "think tanks," Sommers was associate professor of philosophy at Clark University. She has served as a visiting lecturer at the University of Pittsburgh Semester at Sea, an educational voyage around the world, and taught at the University of Massachusetts,

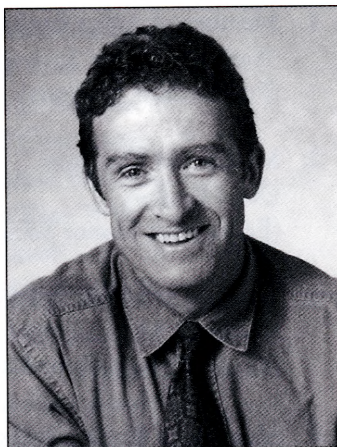

Boston, from 1978-80. She currently holds the rank of affiliate associate professor of philosophy at Clark University.

She is the author of The War Against Boys, to be published in June 2000 by Simon & Schuster; Who Stole Feminism?, published in the spring of 1994 by Simon & Schuster; and Vice and Virtue in Everyday Life, now in its fifth edition. She has written numerous articles on philosophy and ethics and her popular writings have appeared in The Washington Post, The Wall Street Journal, USA Today, National Review, The New Republic, and The Chronicle of Higher Education.

Sommers has served as a presenter at numerous institutes and conferences and was a panelist for the PBS ethics documentary, "Right and Wrong."

She is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of New York University with a bachelor of arts degree in philosophy. Sommers spent a year at the University of Paris (Sorbonne) and received her doctor of philosophy degree from Brandeis University. She resides in Chevy Chase, Maryland, with her husband, Fred, and is the mother of two children, David and Tamler.

Michael P. Leonard is a feature correspondent for NBC News whose stories regularly appear on Today. In addition to his regular Today assignment, Leonard's stories have appeared on NBC Nightly News with Tom Brokaw, Dateline, NBC Sports, and MSNBC. He has covered political conventions, presidential inaugurations, Super Bowls, Olympics, and championship boxing matches, to name just a few of his assignments.

MICHAEL P. LEONARD

Feature Correspondent, NBC News

Leonard joined NBC News in October 1980 and, using the small town of Winnetka, Illinois, as his base, he has traveled across the country and around the world in search of the offbeat and overlooked. International assignments have taken him to Australia, China, Korea, Europe, and the British Isles. Most often, though, he can be found roaming the overlooked territory of everyday American life, exploring all 50 states for the true characters and humorous situations that brighten our day.

Prior to joining NBC News, Leonard worked as a feature reporter and sports anchor for KOOL-TV in Phoenix, Arizona, from 1978-80. He got his television start in June of 1978 at a public television station, KAET, in Tempe, Arizona. Other part-time broadcast jobs included a three-year stint as a professional hockey color commentator for the Phoenix Roadrunners. Before he began his full-time television career at the age of 30, Leonard worked a variety of jobs, from salesman to construction worker.

Born in Paterson, New Jersey, Leonard received his bachelor of arts degree in economics in 1970 from Providence College, where he played for the varsity hockey team. He and his wife, Cathleen, are the parents of two daughters and two sons, including Matthew '93, Megan '95, and Kerry, who is graduating today.
