FROM THE PRESIDENT

Welcome to Providence College's 85th Commencement and congratulations to the Class of 2003! Thank you for choosing Providence College as your Alma Mater, for sharing four of the most important years of your life with us, and for making our ideals of truth and justice, scholarship and service your own.

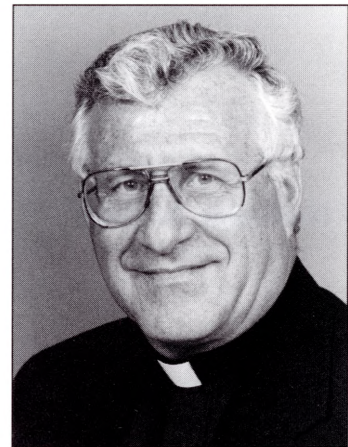

Congratulations are due to the parents of our graduates, many of whom have sent your sons and daughters to Providence College at great personal cost and sacrifice. I am grateful beyond words that you entrusted your most precious possessions, your sons and daughters, to our care for four years. We have treated your confidence in us as a valued and sacred trust.

Congratulations are also in order for the graduates of our School of Continuing Education and our Graduate Studies Program. Your academic journey has taken you along a steeper path and on a road less traveled than that of our traditional undergraduates. Frequently, you have had to balance the difficult and changing obligations to family, work, and academics. I acknowledge and applaud your achievements and am delighted to welcome you fully into the ranks of our Providence College graduates.

Global and national events have cast a shadow over us today and make this a bittersweet Commencement. We celebrate in a world darkened by war and violence in Iraq and by the threat of terrorism at home and abroad. We gather in a nation deeply divided along the lines of partisan interests and political ideology, ethnic origin and religious conviction, by race and class. We gather as the Providence College community profoundly saddened by the recent loss of a member of our 2000 class who died in Iraq.

We are living in difficult times, but adversity has always brought out the best of the American spirit. In his book, The Greatest Generation, Tom Brokaw described and memorialized ordinary men and women during the Second World War who were called upon to make extraordinary sacrifices in the face of historic challenges. In his words, they were "united . . . by common values—duty, honor, . . . courage, service, love of family and country. . . ." I am confident that this same depth of faith and resiliency of spirit lives on in the Class of 2003 and that you will face the challenges of today in a way that will affirm faith in tomorrow and fashion a future bright with promise and hope.

As you begin a new phase of your life, I pray and hope that each of you will experience God's grace and compassion, enjoy the love and support of family and friends, and find personal happiness and fulfillment in whatever career or vocation you pursue.

*College President
Rev. Philip A. Smith, O.P.*

THE NATIONAL ANTHEM

“The Star-Spangled Banner”
Francis Scott Key
Led by Melissa M. Holt '03

O say, can you see, by the dawn’s early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight’s last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight
O’er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming!
And the rockets’ red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there:
O say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O’er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

THE ALMA MATER

Mother of Truth, we proudly pledge to thee
Undying love and steadfast loyalty.
From thee we learned the wondrous work of God,
His goodness, grace, and holy power;
Clear hast thou shown what pathways must be trod;
All fearless now we brave life's hour!

Though failure frown, though kindly fortune smile,
Firm our advance, naught can us e'er beguile.
To honor bound, to love and virtue sworn,
Lift we our voice in full acclaim.
Our lives shall thee with noble deeds adorn;
Hail Providence! We praise thy name!

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS

DR. DONNA GEFFNER

*Director
The Speech and Hearing Center,
St. John's University*

Dr. Donna Geffner has devoted her professional life—nearly 35 years—to the field of speech-language pathology and audiology.

The director of The Speech and Hearing Center at St. John's University in Jamaica, N.Y., she is a national authority who has proven her expertise in more than 50 articles and book chapters, more than 250 academic papers, and as a frequent contributor to television and radio programs.

The Brooklyn, N.Y., native graduated from Brooklyn College in 1967 and earned her master's degree in speech pathology in 1968 and a doctoral degree in speech pathology and audiology in 1970—both from New York University. She joined the faculty of St. John's University in 1970 as an instructor and was named professor of speech communication in 1982.

Geffner founded The Speech and Hearing Center in 1976. The facility is dedicated to the diagnosis and treatment of speech, language, and hearing disorders in children and adults. She also founded the undergraduate program in speech and hearing in 1976 and, in 1985, established the master's degree program in speech-language pathology and audiology.

She has been the St. John's director of graduate programs in speech-language pathology and audiology since 1992. She established the master's-level State Teacher Certification Program in Speech and Language and recently spearheaded the development of a doctor of audiology degree in partnership with two other universities.

Geffner's accomplishments have been widely recognized. Her program, "Stuttering," part of a special NBC-TV series, received an Emmy Award nomination in 1978. A member and fellow of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association (ASHA) since 1969 and its president in 1999, Geffner was awarded the President's Medal for Outstanding Faculty Achievement from St. John's in 1987.

She lives in Manhasset, N.Y., with her husband, Sandor Schaeffer.

Sister Ann Sakac, O.P. has given abundantly of her time and talent to Mount St. Mary College in Newburgh, N.Y. In return, the college has given her a building.

In October 2002, she was feted at a celebration marking her 25 years as the school's president. The trustees announced then that the new 266-bed dormitory under construction would be named Sakac Hall.

A member of the Newburgh, N.Y., Dominican Sisters, Sister Sakac has served Mount St. Mary College in academic and administrative capacities since 1969, when she was named professor of English at the liberal arts and sciences institution. On her way to being named the college's fourth president in 1977, Sister Sakac served as director of residence life/assistant dean of students, acting registrar, chair of the Division of Arts and Letters, and acting president.

During her presidency, enrollment at Mount St. Mary has increased from 877 in 1977 to approximately 2,500 men and women today; undergraduate programs have been added in accounting, business management and administration, communication arts, and computer science; and graduate programs have been established in business, education, and nursing.

A Wallington, N.J., native, Sister Sakac graduated in 1958 from Villanova University. She attained a master's degree in English and a doctorate in higher education/English from The Catholic University of America in 1964 and 1969, respectively. She specialized in late 19th- and early 20th-century British literature.

Sister Sakac—who has received numerous honors, including the Saint Cabrini Gold Medal Human Resources Award in 1999—is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Commission of Independent Colleges and Universities of the State of New York and serves on the City of Newburgh Economic Advisory Committee. She was a trustee of St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh from 1981 to 1999.

CHARLES M. SENNOTT

London Bureau Chief
The Boston Globe

An award-winning foreign correspondent and best-selling author, Charles M. Sennott has been on the frontlines of nearly every dramatic development in the Middle East since the first Gulf War in 1991. Now serving as London bureau chief of The Boston Globe, he has just returned from the war in Iraq.

His coverage of the first Gulf War touched off an intense interest in the burning issues that have shaped the Middle East. In the aftermath of the 1993 World Trade Center bombing, Sennott began tracking the militant Islamic movements which were inspired by Osama bin Laden and which later came to be known as Al Qaeda.

As the Globe's Middle East bureau chief in Jerusalem from September 1997 through September 2001, he covered the Israeli-Palestinian peace process and was there when it collapsed with the outbreak of the second intifada, or Palestinian uprising. He was among the first Western reporters to arrive in Afghanistan after the September 11 terrorist attacks on America and covered some of the conflict's most intense fighting. Just recently, he returned from two months in northern Iraq, where he faced the unique dangers of working as an independent journalist—not “embedded” with the U.S. military.

Sennott has navigated not only the frontlines of conflict but also the spiritual terrain of the Middle East's three monotheistic faiths—Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. From Christmas 1999 to Easter 2001, he set out on a “journalistic pilgrimage” along the path of Jesus's life, resulting in the highly acclaimed book, The Body and the Blood: The Holy Land's Christians at the Turn of a New Millennium.

A Massachusetts native, Sennott holds a bachelor's degree in history from the University of Massachusetts-Amherst and a master's degree from Columbia University's School of Journalism. He began his reporting career in 1984 at a National Public Radio affiliate in Amherst, Mass. He worked as regional reporter for The Record of Hackensack, N.J., before being hired by the New York Daily News, where he spent four years as a special assignments reporter and one year as city editor.

He returned to Massachusetts in 1994 as a special projects reporter for the Globe. His 1996 exposé of the U.S. arms industry, “Armed for Profit,” garnered a National Headliner Award for Investigative Reporting, the Livingston Award for National Reporting, and the Aronson Award for Social Justice Journalism. Sennott has been a featured Middle East expert on ABC News' Nightline, NPR, the BBC, Fox News, and CNN.

Sennott's first book was Broken Covenant, which chronicled the rise and fall of Covenant House founder Rev. Bruce Ritter. Last year, he co-authored a book on religion in the Middle East, Cradle of Faith.

He and his wife, Julie, live in London with their four children.

William D. Slattery, Jr. '53 is the embodiment of Providence College's goal of producing "responsible and productive citizens"—which he has proven through contributions to numerous professional, religious, and College causes.

Slattery has a close association with his alma mater. A longtime member of the College's President's Council and the National Alumni Association, he began volunteering for the Annual Fund during the 1976-77 year and was the first alumnus to serve as chair of every level of the fund. As chair of the Annual Fund in 1985-86, he led a drive resulting in a record total of more than $4 million. An active phonathon volunteer, he also served on the Capital Campaign Committee Executive Committee and the Building and Grounds Committee.

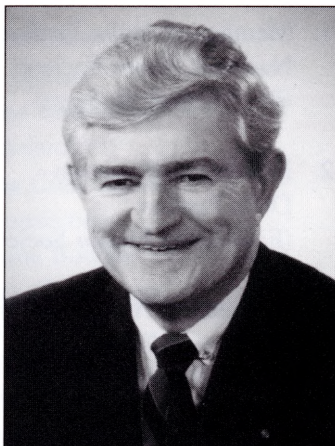

In return for his dedication to the College, Slattery was awarded the Faithful Friar Award in 1988 and the Mal Brown Award in 1993.

The owner of The William D. Slattery Agency in Pawtucket, R.I., he has been involved in the real estate profession for 50 years and is a former president of the Real Estate Listing Association and a former state director and president of the National Association of Independent Fee Appraisers.

A tireless supporter of the Catholic Charity Fund of the Diocese of Providence, he served as its general chairman in 1988. He was also a member of the fund appeal's executive committee and chair of the appeal's special gifts committee for the Blackstone Valley. He received the Msgr. Thomas J. McKitchen Memorial Award for Distinguished and Meritorious Service from the diocese.

Slattery also received the designation of Papal Knight of St. Gregory from Pope John Paul II. Made on the recommendation of diocesan bishops, the award recognizes meritorious service to the Catholic Church.

He lives in Pawtucket with his wife, Barbara.
