

Loyalty Fund Reaches Half Million Mark

ANNUAL CAMPAIGN ENTERS FINAL PHASE; CLASS PHONATHONS IN APRIL

Francis L. Gragnani '40, Providence College's 1979-80 Loyalty Fund General Chairman, announced today that the College has received Iannuccilli, M.D. '61, Frank M. D'Alessandro, M.D. '55, Richard A. DeBlasio '56, Robert J. Paci '64 and Daniel J. Ryan '69, the school received more than 2,000 pledges totaling over $200,000.00.

The fund is now in the Regional

Hafey, the golden anniversary class of 1930 has received over $5,000 in pledges while the silver anniversary class of 1955, led by class agents Francis "Butch" Carey and Charles Sullivan has obtained almost $30,000 in pledges - the largest silver more than one-half million dollars in pledges from Alumni, Friends, Parents, Faculty and Corporations around the United States. "Our returns to date are truly encouraging and I'm very impressed with the increased generosity being shown by many of our Alumni", said Gragnani.

Last year the Loyalty Fund broke all previous records with 7,019 pledges for over $470,000.00. As of the last week in February, the Fund had already received over 5,700 pledges totaling $500,997.00. This figure is roughly $100,000 ahead of last year's record breaking pace.

William T. Nero, Associate Vice President for Development, along with Chairman Gragnani attributed the increased participation and fund returns to many factors, among them a growing awareness of the college's need for financial support. Nero also noted what he called "the most valuable factor" for the fund's success - interested and effective volunteers and volunteer leadership.

The first phase of the fund, Special Gift Phonathons, was conducted in September. Under the leadership of Special Gift Chairmen such as Robert E. Finneran '53, James G. Hagan '58, William D. Slattery, Jr. '53, Edward A.

phonathon phase which consists of phonathons conducted by alumni volunteers in 25 different cities across the country. As of March 1st, 16 regional phonathons had been completed raising a total of $55,059 in pledges from 1,229 alumni.

Chairman Gragnani also noted that with the end of the regional phase starts the third phase of the fund - the Class Phonathons. "Our goal of $525,000 is the largest in the history of Providence College. In order to attain such an ambitious objective, we must rely on our Class Phonathons to round out our fund and put us over goal. We also hope to better last year's Alumni participation rate of 40% because this statistic influences the acquisition of gifts from other sources."

The Class Phonathons are held on Providence College's Lower Campus from April 8 through April 16th. They are coordinated by the Development Office with the assistance of three Class Solicitation Chairmen, Henry T. Kaveny '27, Wallace R. Tasca '40 and John E. Martinelli '65.

Separate Anniversary Class phonathons for the classes of 1930 and 1955 were held earlier in the year. Under the leadership of Anthony J. DeNicola and Leo R.

Gragnani asked that anyone who has not yet pledged to the 79-80 Loyalty Fund do so as soon as possible to minimize the financial expenses and volunteer time needed to wrap-up the 1979-80 fund solicitation.

Areas not completed as of March 1st: Maine, Vermont, Northern and Southern Florida, Illinois, other mid-western States, and Northern and Southern California.

ANN MANCHESTER '75 NAMED DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC INFORMATION

Ann M. Manchester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Manchester of Rumford, RI, has been appointed Director of Public Information at Providence College.

In this position, Miss Manchester will serve as editor of PROVIDENCE UPDATE, the alumni newsletter, and PROVIDENCE, the college's magazine. In addition, she will be responsible for the preparation and distribution of official college statements and press releases to the news media.

A 1975 alumna of Providence, Miss Manchester was graduated with a BA in Humanities. From 1973-74, she was a participant in the Providence-in-Europe program in Fribourg, Switzerland.

UPDATE

Speaker Matthew Smith

MATTHEW SMITH NAMED SPEAKER OF RI HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

On January 25, 1980, Matthew Smith, Professor of History, and Archivist at Providence College, became the Speaker of the Rhode Island House of Representatives. Serving his eighth year in the Rhode Island General Assembly, Smith is representative for the 70th district of Providence.

Smith began as the Providence College Archivist in 1967. At that time, he began compiling many of the college's private manuscripts which were primarily concerned with the national, local, civil, economic, and social life of Rhode Island during the post-civil war period. Later, he collected and compiled manuscripts which recreate the history of Providence College since it was chartered in 1917.

Smith, a professor of History, teaches courses in American, urban, Civil War, and Golden Age History.

A native Rhode Islander and Providence college alumnus, Smith resides in Providence with his wife and four children.

In 1978, Miss Manchester received her MA degree, Cum Laude, in Public Communication/Journalism from Purdue University, West Lafayette, Indiana. While a graduate student at Purdue, she also served as a Graduate Teaching Assistant in the Department of Communication.

Before coming to Providence, Miss Manchester was a part-time reporter and promotion/production assistant at WPRI-TV12, East Providence. Her work at WPRI included field reporting, promotional copywriting, camera and electronic graphics operation, and occasional hosting of an interview talk show.

Since September 1978, she has also been a Visiting Lecturer in the Department of Business Administration at Providence College's School of Continuing Education.

FACULTY NOTES

Dr. William E. Hudson, Assistant Professor of Political Science, recently published "The Federal Aid Crutch: How A Sunbelt City Comes to Depend on Federal Revenue," which will appear in the Spring issue of THE URBAN INTEREST: "The New Federalism Paradox," which will appear in the June Issue of THE POLICY STUDIES JOURNAL; and to be published in the next issue of THE TEXAS BUSINESS REVIEW, "Local Dependence on Federal Revenue: The El Paso Case." In addition, Dr. Hudson will participate in the 1980 meeting of the Midwest Political Science Association in Chicago, and at the 1980 American Political Science Convention in Washington, D.C., he will present a paper entitled: "Political Dependence on Federal Funds in the Sunbelt and Frostbelt."

Sr. Leslie Ellen Straub, O.P., Assistant Professor of Anthropology, recently returned from archaeological studies in Guatemala and Honduras. Details of this trip will follow in a later issue of PROVIDENCE Magazine.

Sr. Mary Ann Folmar, O.P., Special Lecturer in Religious Studies, will attend the International Congress of Catherinian Studies in Rome, and deliver a paper entitled: "St. Catherine of Siena, and Julian of Norwich: Message of Hope for the Church."

Dr. Zygmunt J. Friedemann, Political Science Professor and State Representative for Warwick, is this year's recipient of the International Institute of Rhode Island's "Outstanding Citizenship Award." The award is presented annually to a naturalized American citizen, in recognition of personal achievements and services to the community.

COUNSELING CENTER NAMES
NEW RECRUITMENT DIRECTOR

John J. McGrath has been appointed Coordinator of Recruitment Services at the Providence College Counseling Center.

As coordinator, McGrath will be responsible for all recruitment visits by companies and organizations coming to the Providence College campus. In addition, he will provide assistance to local employers in their hiring needs. By counseling undergraduates in goal clarification, self assessment and communication skills, McGrath plans to better prepare students for effective interviews with recruiters.

Prior to this appointment, McGrath was a consultant at Bradley Associates, a private career counseling firm that serves professional and executive clients in the Boston area. Before that, he served as coordinator of a federally funded work program at the Washington State Division of Employment Security.

McGrath received both his BA and MA degrees in English, from Fordham University, New York.

He resides in Providence.

PC Alumnus on Broadway!

Upon graduation from Providence in 1977, Nicholas Walker attended the University of California at Irvine, where he received a Masters of Fine Arts in Acting. Today, Nick can be seen on Broadway, in the Circle-In-The-Square Theatre production of George Bernard Shaw's comedy, "Major Barbara," as well as on the daytime television drama, "The Doctors." Providence audiences will remember Nick from the PC productions of "1776," "Godspell," "The Fantasticks," "Saint Joan," and "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," among others.

PC UNDERGRADS PRESENT RESEARCH PAPERS AT NATIONAL CONFERENCES

Two Providence College undergraduate students recently participated in the American Chemical Society's Third National ACS Student Affiliate Research Symposium in Houston, Texas.

David M. Tschaen '80 (Chemistry) and Karen J. Ferrante '80 (Clinical Chemistry/Biology) orally presented their research paper on the inflammatory arthritic condition, at the symposium. Forty undergraduate students from across the nation were selected to participate in the program.

PC will also be represented at the 34th Annual Eastern Colleges Science Conference, to be held April 10-12, at S.U.N.Y. College, New York. Participating in the ECS Conference are:

Rene A. Boucher '80 (Biology)
 Kimberly Carter '81 (Biology)
 David D'Ambra '80 (Chemistry)
 Michele M. DiSalvo '80 (Biology)
 Maryann Pacholski '80 (Biology)
 Susan E. Regan '80 (Biology)

Topics to be presented by PC students range from a study to establish a critical analysis for jaundice in newborns, to an investigation of locomotion in marine organisms.

Over 50 eastern schools are participating in the conference, with 200-300 research papers slated for presentation.

Dr. James Belliveau (Chemistry), Dr. Gerard O'Leary (Biology), Mary Blazik (Chemistry) and Dr. William Griffiths (Clinical Chemistry) have been serving as faculty advisors for these research projects.

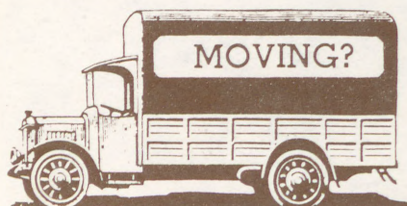

PC PREPARES CELEBRATION HONORING ST. CATHERINE OF SIENA

During the week of April 27, 1980, Providence College will be celebrating the 600th Anniversary of the death of St. Catherine of Siena. St. Catherine, the great Dominican Saint, was proclaimed a Doctor of the Church in 1970. She was an extraordinary woman for her time, helping the laity in every walk of life — whether they were kings, government officials, or housewives. She also played a major role in the reform of the Church. Catherine serves as a model for women today in every walk of life.

SPORTS WRAP-UP

LADY FRIARS AMONG BEST IN NATION!

There are those who say it's a man's world. It may be, just don't tell Providence College's Lady Friars.

It was the best of winters for the Lady Friars, who came up with championship teams in basketball and ice hockey and, while the men Friars did well, too, at the end when it was all said and done, it was the Lady Friars who were in the spotlight.

First in hockey, then in basketball. For the record, both sports had their best season ever at PC. The women skaters finished 20-3, the women hoopsters 22-7. Both all-time records for wins in a season.

The hoopsters went all the way to the second round, or the round of 16, in the national tournament before running into a buzz-saw, nationally sixth-ranked Rutgers University and bowing in Alumni Hall, 70-54.

But, along the way, the Lady Friars of coaches Tim and Lisa Gilbride beat then 10th-ranked Cheyney State to win their own first PC Women's Invitational Tournament, and then at the end, upset Syracuse, then Queens and Boston University to become only the second New England team ever to win the Northeast Regional championship.

It was truly a remarkable season led by a couple of seniors — co-captains Lynn Sheedy (Warwick, R.I.) and Mary Ann McCoy (Westwood, Mass.), who, combined, averaged 25 points per game. Sheedy will leave as the Lady Friars' all-time scorer with 1,261 career points and with 571 career assists. McCoy will leave as No. 1 all-time in rebounding with 1,056; No. 2 in scoring with 1,224 points and No. 2 in assists with 324.

For both, the trip to the nationals was a most fitting climax to a great four-years. They played in four straight post-season tournaments and on three straight 20-win plus teams.

In many respects, the women skaters were even more successful. Their three losses were all to New Hampshire, which hasn't lost a game in the three years they've had varsity women's hockey. In fact only one tie (the PC, of course) a year ago mars an otherwise perfect record for UNH.

Anyway, the Lady Friars of coach Tom Palamara hosted the first ever Eastern AIAW tournament, tantamount to the national championships because virtually every college which has women's ice hockey is in the East, and finished second, bowing to UNH in a well-played finale, 5-2.

But PC had little trouble with everyone else throughout the year. Like the women hoopsters, the skaters had many stars in a well-balanced galaxy.

Sophomore Mary Ellen Riordan (Quincy, Mass.) led the PC scorers with 35 goals and 24 assists for 59 points. Juniors Kathy Lenahan (Orange, Conn.) (23-35-58) and Connie Richer (Marlboro, Mass.) (15-33-48) were right behind.

In goal, senior Jill Spencer (Foster, R.I.) and freshman Jane Ford (Watertown, Mass.) split the job and both were outstanding. Spencer was 10-0 with five shutouts, 139 saves and an 0.60 goals against average. Ford was 103 with two shutouts and a 2.61 goals against average.

So, it's easy to see it was a great year. Don't ever tell the Lady Friars it's a man's world. Their records speak for themselves.

SEXTET AT ECAC: JUST A GOAL AWAY IN HOMESTRETCH

Just a goal away.

So near, and yet to far away.

The NCAA hockey championships are in downtown Providence, in the Civic Center, this year and those first two paragraphs best tell it all about the Providence College hockey team.

Senior captain, Jeff Whisler

Back in October, before the wild and crazy ECAC hockey season began, those allegedly in the know didn't even have Providence ranked among the top eight in the East. But that was understandable because the Friars did lose six players — four of whom signed professional contracts.

But those in the know also didn't know much about Lou Lamoriello and his young 1979-80 hockey club; didn't know it was an unselfish group, a club with talent guided by four seniors, some excellent underclassmen and perhaps the best freshman class of hockey players ever recruited by PC.

So, what happens? The Friars end up winning 21 games, the most in their history; reach a national ranking of fourth during the season, not only make the ECAC playoffs, but are seeded second and gain home ice for the first time in 16 years.

First came an 8-3 blowout at home against Colgate and a subsequent trip to the Boston Garden for the ECAC finals. Next, disaster. A 6-5 loss to Cornell, the eventual champion, as the Big Red scored four unanswered goals in the final period. There was a happy ending, though, a 6-5 victory in OT against Clarkson in the consolation game. Some thought there might have been, and should have been, a playoff to determine the second ECAC team to the NCAA finals.

But the NCAA committee voted against such an idea and, in addition to Cornell, Dartmouth, the runnerup ECAC team, was sent to the Civic Center.

So, the Friars ended up a goal away from realizing a dream — a rare trip to the Final Four.

But, when you think about it, the whole season was like a dream. Here was a team of 29, which included 10 freshmen and 9 sophomores, going all the way to the ECAC finals when it wasn't even picked, in pre-season, to finish in the top eight. Here was a team which won more games than any other Friar hockey team. Here was a team that, after losing its first four games, went 21-7 the rest of the way and never lost two games in a row. Think about that stat: the Friars never lost two games in a row after it lost the first four to start the season.

In many ways, it was the best season ever at Providence. Perhaps even as good as the '64 team which won the ECAC title and played in the NCAA tournament. It was a team, this 1979-80 Friar team, which was enjoyable to watch, enjoyable to be with and a team without a real star. A very unselfish team that somehow always got the job done.

Everyone, in their own way, contributed. The four seniors — defensemen Dan Haskins and Frank Johnson, plus centers Jeff Whisler and Denis Martin — will graduate knowing that they'll be in the first class at PC which has played in four straight ECAC tournaments and the class with the best four-year hockey record at PC.

For those seniors, especially Whisler, the captain and a guy who played in a record 123 straight games (he never missed a start in the four years he was at PC), the ending may have been a bit disappointing. Just a goal away and so near, yet so far away.

But Whisler can leave knowing he scored the team's last goal in PC's winningest year ever — a slap shot 8:45 into OT to beat Clarkson in the ECAC consolation game.

It was most apropos!

FRIARS HANG TOUGH AGAINST NATIONAL HOOP POWERS

In terms of the won-loss record (11-16), basketball was not a success at Providence College this winter. But if one watched the team play, thought about who it played against and just who was on the team, one couldn't be disappointed.

It was an exciting winter despite those 16 defeats because, except for a blowout at Purdue and a 20-point loss at home to Syracuse, PC was in every game.

Before going into great detail, consider the following:

- Of the 24 opponents on the PC schedule this winter, 11 went into post-season play: Purdue, Georgetown, Duke, Holy Cross, Villanova, Syracuse, Louisville and St. John's to the NCAA; Connecticut, Boston College and St. Joseph's to the NIT.

- Four of those NCAA teams reached the round of eight and two — Purdue and Louisville — went to the Final Four.

- Ten of the 16 defeats were by six points or less. To go a step further, PC lost to Brown by a point, to Holy Cross at the buzzer, to Boston College on a pair of free throws with time expired and to St. Joe's with six seconds left.

- A step further. PC lost to Georgetown by five and Georgetown came within a point of reaching the Final Four. The Friars lost to Duke by four when Duke was ranked No. 1 in the country. PC lost to Louisville by six and Louisville is in the Final Four. Then there were six and four point losses at the end to St. John's, when the Redmen were ranked No. 7 in the nation. It should also be noted the Friars played Syracuse and Louisville on back-to-back Saturdays when both teams were No. 2; Purdue when the Boilermakers were No. 7 and Georgetown when the Hoyas were No. 13.

So, once again the Friars were right in there with the iron. It's a credit to Walters and his club that it did so well when you consider it was a club that had NO DEPTH and was pretty much a six-man team. Of the six, five return; John Nolan, a guard who was the sixth man and then a starter at the end, will graduate this spring.

Game-after-game the Friars were ready, mentally and emotionally. And game-after-game it was difficult because the Friars had to be patient offensively, play tenacious defense and find it damn near impossible at the end to win because there just weren't enough offensive answers.

"They gave us everything they had, every day in practice and in every game. I wish they could have won a few more — even half of those 10 games we lost by six points or less," said Walters. "Every game was a challenge, a struggle offensively. But every game, except Purdue and Syracuse, we were right in there until the end. Every time we asked for a little more, we got it. But it was never enough because there was always someone better. We are not happy, not happy at all, with the final record. But we are happy, over-all, with the effort. We really couldn't ask for anything more."

For the statistically-minded fans, PC had three players finish the season averaging double figures — juniors Jerry Scott, 14.9 Rudy Williams, 14.7, and sophomore Bill Fields, 11.4. As a team, the Friars averaged only 63.1 per game and gave up 62.7

The most pleasant surprise was the play of freshman Ricky Tucker, a point guard from Philadelphia who quickly became the darling of PC fans with game-long hustle and great exuberance. He averaged 8.4, but led the club with 143 assists.

The Friars finished last in the BIG EAST Conference. What next year will be like is difficult to say, even though five starters return. Walters and the Friars need help, a lot of help.

The day after the season ended Walters was in Florida on a recruiting trip, and stopped in Washington, Philadelphia, New Jersey and New York on the way home.

That should tell us all something!

AREA CLUB NOTES

In March, the College President, Very Rev. Thomas R. Peterson, O.P., William T. Nero '55, Associate V.P. for Development and Robert Finneran '53, President of the Alumni Association, went "on the road" to visit Alumni groups across the country.

The Alumni Association wishes to give special thanks to the people mentioned in the following outline who hosted the various activities . . .

J. Eugene Quinn '61, hosted a luncheon at the Bardmoor Country Club in Largo, Florida on March 8th. Gene is president of this beautiful resort complex.

Dr. & Mrs. Adolph Motta, '43, assisted by William Doyle '44, hosted a reception and buffet at Sea Ranch Lakes Beach Club in Fort Lauderdale, Florida on March 12th.

Eugene Hanley '54 organized a gathering of P.C. grads on March 25th in St. Louis, Mo. at the Chase Park Plaza.

Chicago area grads met at a reception on March 28th at the Marriott O'Hare in Chicago. Michael Doody '68 and Earl Epstein '43 serve as Alumni Chairmen in the Chicago area.

A new Minnesota Alumni Club was launched at an Alumni luncheon in Minneapolis on March 29th. Larry McMahan '61, Richard Cesario '67 and Ray Creegan '70 organized the event. News of future activities will be forthcoming by mail to Minnesota alums.

For the third year in a row Mr. & Mrs. Gordie Holmes '61 held an Alumni Family Field Day at their home in Yorba Linda, Calif. The Holmes' are great hosts and even arranged for items from the P.C. bookstore to give as prizes at the fun get-together.

To bring together Alumni in Northern California, Mike Barrett '62 hosted a reception at his Pub on Battery St. in San Francisco. This event at Barrett's Pub has become an annual affair which area grads look forward to.

The New York Area Club sponsored a "Career Day" on January 3rd at the New York Athletic Club. Maurice Paradis '58 and Tom Farley '68 served as co-chairmen of the project, which is designed to provide counseling about career possibilities in New York to Providence College students in the area. A large group of Alumni volunteers from the business and professional community participated in the session which attracted almost 50 students.

The Club's next event will be its annual Ascension Thursday Dinner on May 15th. David M. Carberry '47, club president, will soon announce the people to be honored at the May dinner. Details will be sent to area Alumni by mail.

The Washington Area Club has announced a full slate of activities for the remainder of the academic year. The schedule is . . . Sunday, April 13th, a Theatre Night at the Hartke Theatre . . . Wednesday, April 16th, a Luncheon at the Touch Down Club, featuring Michael Harrigan former Chairman of the President's Commission on Olympic Sports . . . Friday, May 9th, a repeat of last year's very popular gathering to view the annual Evening Parade at the Marine Barracks and Saturday, June 7th, the club's annual President's Dinner at the Bolling Air Force Base Officer's Club. Detailed information on these events and other items of interest will be contained in a special mailing to Washington Area Alumni. Anyone wishing to volunteer their services to assist the Club's efforts should contact its president, Peter McCarthy '60, at (202) 694-1809.

The New Haven Area Club will hold its annual Veritas Dinner on Friday evening, May 9th, at the Sheraton Park Plaza Hotel in New Haven. This function continues to be the largest event sponsored by a P.C. Alumni Chapter, and this year the committee is seeking to break their own attendance record of 900 people.

Details and ticket information can be obtained by contacting the dinner chairman, William Mooney '54, at (203) 265-7761 or by mail at P.O. Box 970, New Haven.

The Hartford Area Club will fete U.S. Congressman Christopher J. Dodd '66 at its annual Friars Award Dinner. The event is scheduled for Saturday evening, May 3rd, at the Sheraton Hartford Hotel. Tickets are $25. per person and can be obtained by contacting the dinner chairman, Thomas Miano at (203) 522-8181, or club president Vin Callahan '52 at (203) 528-4124. Proceeds from the dinner are used to fund the organization's student aid program.

The Mal Brown Club (greater Providence Area Alumni Chapter) has scheduled its traditional Awards Dinner and Dance for Saturday evening, April 19th in Raymond Hall on the P.C. campus. Dr. Vincent I. MacAndrew M'42 will be honored with the Mal Brown Award for his 35 year record of loyalty to the College. Claire Greene, a college employee for 15 years, currently serving as reservation supervisor for Slavin Center, will receive the Very Rev. Vincent C. Dore Award, the club's accolade for dedicated service by a college faculty or staff member. The McDonnell Award, which is usually given to a person who has faithfully worked on behalf of the College "behind the scenes," will be presented collectively to the ten members of the P.C. Food Service staff that have been with P.C. for 20 years or more. A special plaque of appreciation will be placed in Raymond Hall listing their names . . . John E. Fuyat, Sr., James Murray, Kenneth Ingham, Henry Brown, Frank Antoscia, James Fay, Joseph Vorro, James Mulholland, Ernest O'Leary and Francis McGovern. Awards will also be presented to the male and female senior varsity athletes with the highest academic standing.

Tickets for the event, which includes a complete roast beef dinner, are $10. per person and can be obtained by mail from the Alumni Office. Stephen A. Fanning, Jr. '50 is Chairman of the event.

After being inducted into the Providence College Athletic Hall of Fame at a special luncheon on February 9th, the former Friar athletic greats pictured at right were introduced to the 9,000 fans on hand for the PC vs. Louisville basketball game during Alumni Homecoming weekend. The new members of the Hall are L to R: Lou Lamoriello '63, Don Mezzanotte '60, Larry Drew '46, Pete Louthis '43, Bob Reilly D'42, Al Hagstrom '37, and Leo Smith '28. Frank Fitzpatrick '37 and Ray Belliveau '38 were inducted posthumously.

The annual series of phonathons staffed by alumni volunteers across the country are the primary reason for the dramatic growth of the Loyalty Fund in recent years. Last year over 500 PC grads participated in contacting fellow alumni by telephone on behalf of the college. Recently our first alumni husband and wife team volunteered to work at a campus phonathon. Shown at left are Mike Killoran '78 and Judy Panek Killoran '79.

As a member of the New England Colleges Fund, Inc. Providence College receives a proportionate share of the funds raised by this organization each year. But to receive its annual grant, at least 30% of the college's alumni body must contribute to Providence College during the preceding fiscal year. Help insure Providence College's eligibility this coming year by sending your tax-deductible gift or pledge to the PROVIDENCE COLLEGE ALUMNI LOYALTY FUND today. If you don't, PC could be about $40,000 poorer next year.

February 29 - March 2 was Parents' Weekend at Providence College. Over 1400 parents converged on the campus that weekend, enjoying the many activities planned for them, including Casino Night, the PC-Boston College hockey game, and a dinner dance. One other event which was offered was a Special Performance of the Rhode Island Premiere of the Rock Opera, "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat," presented by the PC Theatre Program.
